By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April Term, thereof, 1905, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public sale on Monday, 5th day of June, 1905, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being county court day, upon a credit of 6, 12 & 18 months, the following described property, towit:

Situated in Boone county, Ky., and bounded as follows.

Tract A.—Beginning at a point in the Covington & Lexington Turnpike, a corner of lot No. 4 of said division; thence with a line of lot No. 4 passing a stone on the west side of said pike n 87½ w 4 72 chains to a stone; thence n 17 w 3 65 chains to a stone; thence n 87½ w 3 65 chains to a stone; thence n 87½ w 18.01 chains to a stone, a corner with lot No. 1 in a line of lot No. 3; thence with a line of lot No. 3 n 5 e 10.42 chs. to a stone, a corner of lot No 1; thence with a line of lot No 1 s 85½ e 24.83 chs passing a stone on the west side to a point in the aforesaid pike; thence with the pike s 17 w 6 25 chains to the beginning, containing 22.7 acres. (There is excepted out of this lot a passway 8 feet wide, along the line between this lot and No. 1, for the use and benefit of lot No. 3.

Tract B.—Beginning at a stone a corner of Richard Glacken in a line of lot No. 4; thence with a line of said Glacken n 84½ w 12.07 chains to a stone; thence n 5 e 12.12 chains to a stone a corner with said Glacken in a line of Ecit Carpenter; thence with said line s 84½ e 13 07 chains to a stone, corner with said tracts in a line of lot No. 1; thence with lines of lots 1, 2 and 4, s 5 w 12.08 chains to the beginning, containing 15.15 acres. (There is reserved from this lot a passway 16 feet wide, beginning at a stone a corner of lots 1 and 2 in a line of lot 3; thence along the line between lots 1 and 2, s 85.4 e 24 83 chains to the Covington & Lexington Turnpike.) Lot No. 6 of said division above referred to is bounded thus:

Tract C.—Beginning at a point in the Covington & Lexington Turnpike, corner with Jeff Carpenter; thence with his line s 85½ e 11 12 chains to a stone; thence s 4½ w 12.75. chs to a stone a corner with lot No. 5; tuence with a line thereof n 87½ w 14 chains to a corner of lot No 5 in said turnpike; thence with the turnpike n 17 e 13.55 chains to the beginning, containing 16.27 acres. (There is included in this lot about 2.16 acres, and same is excepted out of same which belongs to the O. N. & C. & T. P. Railway Company, and being the same property conveyed to said T. J. Dixon by Special Master Commissioner, J. W. Duncan, by order of the Boone Circuit Court, at its regular August Term, A. D. 1901, and recorded in Deed Book 45, pages 521, 522, &c.)

And, also the following described lands, lying and being in Boone county, Ky., near the Covington & Lexington pike, 1½ miles south of the town of Florence, and consisting of two parcels:

Parcel 1.—Beginning at a stake in Stephenson's line, corner of lot No. 5; thence with said lines s 45 w 138 poles to two beeches in Clarkson's line; thence with it n 45 w 19 poles to a sugar tree; thence n 45 e 138 poles to a stake in Stephens' line; thence with it s 45 e 19 poles to the beginning, containing 16 2 5 acres

Parcel 2.—Beginning at a stone in a line of John——; thence s 45 w 138 poles to a stake in Clarkson's line; thence with it n 45 w 9½ poles to two beeches; thence n 45 e 138 poles to a stake in Stephens' line; thence with it s 45 e 9½ poles to the beginning, containing 8 1 5 acres and being the same conveyed to T. J. Dixon, Committee, by Lewis Rice Executor, by Deed recorded in Deed Book 41, page 487, Boone County Court Records.

(The Judgment recites "That the share of the infant defendant Alfred Tanner shall not be paid by the purchaser or purchasers at said sale, but shall remain a lien on the land, bearing interest until said infant becomes of age, or until the guardian of the infant executes bond as is required by Section 493 of the Civil Code.)

Tracts "A," "B" and "C" will be sold separately, and parcels No. 1 and 2 will be sold together as a whole.

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien reserved therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C. C.

ICE Cream Time

is here and you need Vanilla and Lemon flavors.

We can save you money by selling it to you in bulk, and quality is first-class.

OUR PRICES.

1 oz. Vanilla or Lemon..05c
6 oz. Vanilla or Lemon..25c
1 pt. Vanilla or Lemon..65c
1 qt. Vanilla or Lemon..$1.25
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder saves half the cream, pk..13c
Pippey's Foamaline.....20c
Grated Pine Apple, can.....13 & 23c
Lemons, dozen.....15c
Red Sugar, lb.....15c

See our Special sale of Pitchers, while they last.....10c.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,
—GROCER.—
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington, COVINGTON, KY.

IF YOU INTEND TO GET A NEW BUGGY

Come See us Before Buying.

If you want a factory buggy, we can save you from $10 to $20 on them (the agent's profit). We handle many factory makes. Our long experience has prepared us in selecting a vehicle over those that have not made it a study. To prove what we say TRY US.

If you want a first-class hand-made BUGGY or CARRIAGE come see us, and we will sell you one that cannot be duplicated in the State for the money.

If you want your vehicle PAINTED OR REPAIRED you can get it done Here as Cheap as any one can do it.

All Work Shall be as Represented. BRADFORD BROS., Florence, Ky.

Max Herbst & Co.,

NOW LOCATED AT

531 Madison Ave., - Covington, Ky.,

(Near Sixth Street.)

With a stock, ready for service, of MEN'S, BOYS' and CHILDREN'S CLOTHING. Public inspection invited to compare Fabric, Patterns, Workmanship and Prices.

Merchant Tailoring a Specialty.....

LUCIEN RICE of many years' experience, is now connected with the above firm.

Hoosier Disk Drill-Drop Corn Planter.

THIS HOOSIER PLANTER is termed a Drill Drop Planter (or, by some styled cumulative drop) from the fact that when in operation the feed plates run continuously, drop one grain at a time to a valve and collecting the grains on the valve until a sufficient number is collected for a hill, when the valve is opened either by a wire check rower or hand lever, and the grains dropped into the furrow. When desiring to drill corn, the valve is simply held open, and the grains drop to the ground. It has 1¼-inch cold rolled steel axle and extra strong wheels with large heavy hubs and spokes; these wheels being supplied with concave or open tires, as desired. The double disks are made from special steel which insures perfect scouring. Both hand and foot levers can be used to raise or lower the disks. Spring device used for connecting front frame to rear frame; admits of heavy pressure on furrows and allows them to raise up in passing over obstructions, and also relieves weight on tongue. Feed thrown out of gear when disks are raised. Foot drop attachment enables operator to finish end rows without help. Pivoted marker with malleable head. Tip-over corn hoppers. Compressed Oil cups located over chilled cone disk bearings. Easily reached and turned with the fingers.

Supplied with one set of plates with holes for large corn and one for small corn. Change of distance and change of number of grains required for a hill, made by changing speed of feed rod. With the three sizes of sprocket wheels on axle and feed rod, grains can be dropped nine different distances, or the number of grains in a hill can be varied to suit. Corn may be drilled either 10, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18, 20, 24 or 26 inches apart, or the number of grains may be varied from 1 to 5.

Mersman Hardware Co.,
25 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.
Branch Stores—LUDLOW, KY. LATONIA, KY.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,

Salvage and Wrecking Contractors

All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.

BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,

BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.

Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.,

Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

The Fine Harness and Saddle Stallion,

OSCEOLA!

Will make the season of 1905 at my stable near Bracht Station, on the farm known as the Dick Jones farm, in Kenton county, Ky., at $10 to insure a living colt, money due when mare foals or is parted with.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE.

OSCEOLA is a beautiful black, 16½ hands high, weighs 1,250 lbs. and has fine style and action.

OSCEOLA, sired by old Ledger 12202; Ledger was sired by Crown Chief 4089, sire of Roland, 2:28, by Milford Mambrino; he by Old Mambrino Chief 11, sire of Lady Thorn, 2:18½, Woodford Mambrino, 2:21½, Mambrino Patchen and others. Ledger's first dam, Kate Livingston by Forrest Temple 136; he by Edwin Forest 49, sire of Daily Haskins, 2:29½; 1st dam by Madam Temple, dam of Flora Temple, 2:17½, (Queen of the turf for several years, known as the bob-tail mare by Imp. Spotted Arabian); 2d dam, Corban's Old Tom Crowder; 3d dam, Bellfounder; 4th dam by Messenger. Ledger is the sire of Bob K., 2:28½, 4th heat with 6 weeks' handling and Ledger E. J., who showed a 2:24 gait in his year-old form, paced a mile in :56, Green Kentucky Prince paced trial mile in 2:15 with one season's handling at Hartwell, O. Osceola's dam by Joe Downing, sire of Dock Jameson, 2:26, and grand sire of Edwin Forest, jr., 2:11½. OSCEOLA is a fine saddle horse, slow or fast, also a fine driver and a splendid breeder. A premium of the season for the best colt will be given at my place Sept. 20th, 1906

I will also stand at the same time and place my fine BIG JACK at $10 to insure a live colt. He is 16½ hands high, wonderful bone and length, big head and ears, black with mealy points; he is one of the best breeders in Ky.

I showed him at the Falmouth fair last season against the best jacks in Grant, Harrison and Pendleton counties, and won first premium. His colts have won five premiums the last two seasons—two first and three second.

If a mare is parted with after being bred the insurance money becomes due.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur.

JOE READNOUR,
Key West, Ky.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of Reuben Hager, deceased, must come forward and settle the same, and those having claims against said estate must prove them according to law, and leave them with C. G. Riddell at Rabbit Hash, Ky.

JOHN LEATHERS, Admr.

THE FINE YOUNG JACK,

Honest Pat will make the season of 1905 at my stable one mile west of Idlewild, Boone County, Ky., at $8 to insure a living colt, money due when fact is known or mare parted with. Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur. T. E. RANDALL.

JOSEPH A. HUEY,

Pleasure Hill Stock Farm,

Union, Ky.,

Presents for public service, season 1905, a sire of Merit,

BRISTO 19732,

Terms of service $10.00 to insure a living foal.

BRISTO is a beautiful black, 15½ hands, of splendid style and action.

Sired by Baron Wilkes, 2:18, sire of Bumps, 2:08½; Racnel (4) 2:06½, Baron Bell, 2:09, Oakland Baron, 2:09½, Rubenstein, 2:05, Dulce Coe, 2:08½, Centrifice, 2:09, Nydia Wilkes, 2:09 and 115 others in 2:30 list. First dam by Squire Talmage, sire of Strader B., 2:22½, Nevada, 2:23½, Lottie K., 2:26½, etc. Second dam by Almont 33, sire of Fannie Witherspoon, 2:16½, Piedmont, 2:17½, Aldine, 2:19½. Third dam by Gold Dust 150, sire Lucille Gold Dust 2:16½, Fleety Gold dust, 2:20, Indicator, 2:23½.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

I have started a new blacksmith and wagon shop in Constance, and am prepared to do all kinds of iron and wood work. Shoeing a specialty. All work done at very reasonable prices. Give me a call. GEORGE R. OHERNE.

FOR SALE.

Boone County Roller Mills at Petersburg, Ky. Inquire of BEN BELDEN.

Take the Recorder.

PIPER & WALTON,

Merchant Tailors

142 E. Fourth St.,

Cincinnati, Ohio.

Have Spring Suitings to show you.

For McCormick or Deering

BINDERS,
MOWERS,
RAKES,
HAY TEDDERS,
SWEEP RAKES,
STACKERS,
CORN BINDERS,
CORN SHREDDERS,
GASOLINE ENGINES,
FARM WAGONS,
DISC HARROWS,
PEGTOOTH HARROWS,
5-tooth CULTIVATORS,
and GRINDERS,

Apply to

ELMO GAINES, Grant, Ky., or W. D. CROPPER, Burlington, Ky.

PHONE 178, Boone Co. Line.

Orders earnestly solicited. Promptness and satisfaction guaranteed.

SEASON 1905.

CEDAR GROVE STOCK FARM,

The English Shire Draft Stallion,

SAM AUTHERRAN 32750!

Will make the season of 1905 at O. P. Conner's farm.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE.

Sam is a mahogany bay, 16½ hands high, with heavy mane and tail, fine style and action, weighs 1500 lbs.

Sam Autherran was foaled at Bellville, England, in the spring of 1900 on the farm of R. J. Senix; he was sired by King John 32097; dam, Queen Ella 1927.

I will also handle Max Ledger the combined Saddle Stallion, at different points in the county.

Terms of both horses, same—$10 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare is parted with.

I am also prepared to get barren mares in foal.

For further particulars call on or address L. A. CONNER, Burlington, Ky.

The Standard Bred Trotting Stallion,

COL. WILLIS 37706,

will make the season of '05 at Wm. Wilson's near Beaver Lick, Ky., on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and at my stable at Florence, Ky., on Friday and Saturday, of each week, at $10.00 to insure a living colt, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

DESCRIPTION & PEDIGREE.

Col. Willis 37705, is a chestnut sorrel, 16 hands high, and is a fine harness horse, foaled May 12, 1898. Col. Willis' sire Col. Kip 15677, (2:20½), bay horse, 16½ hands high and weighs 1250 lbs., sire of the champion yearling of 1892, Pawling 2:31, (2-yr-old) 2:20½; (3-year-old) 2:21. First dam, Salina Collins, was sired by Geo. Willis 17777.

Care taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur. JAS. P. TANNER, Owner.

WM. WILSON, Handler.

J. P. HEMPHILL

THE DRUGGIST

at Rising Sun, Ind.,

.....Carries a full line of....

DRUGS,
PAINTS,
OILS AND
VARNISHES.

In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet his Kentucky friends.

—CALL AND SEE HIM,—

Yours Respectfully,

J. P. HEMPHILL,
Rising Sun, Indiana.

BLACKSMITHING.

Those who want horseshoeing, or repairing of any kind of farm implement, done, are requested to call at our shop in Bullitsville. We do any and all kinds of iron or woodwork. J. M. BIBELE & SON.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7, 1905. NO. 21

County Correspondence.

HATHAWAY.

June 5.—Corn is growing nicely.

Several of the local growers finished setting tobacco last week.

Mrs. Sarah White spent Friday night with her son James over at Flickertown.

C. B. Mason and M. R. Ryle were on the Cincinnati tobacco market, last Tuesday.

Mrs. Etta Clements, of near Hathaway, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Florence Smith, last Friday.

Several of the citizens of this neighborhood attended the Sunday school convention at Union, last Wednesday.

Misses Katie and Lutie Stephens, of Fusey Ridge, and Cora Aylor, of Gunpowder, were pleasant guests of Miss Fannie Smith, last Wednesday.

Quite a number went from here last Thursday to Belleview to see the Indians play ball. Most everyone came home well pleased with their trip and the game.

Big Bone Baptist church building has been given a thorough renovating on the inside and the walls nicely painted. The new paper on the interior walls adds much to the appearance of the auditorium.

COMMISSARY.

June 3.—When money talks even a woman will pause to listen.

Belief in what you are doing is better than doing what others believe.

Mrs. Lonlaker visited her daughter, Mrs. Jane McGuire, last Monday night.

There is no patent on trouble, yet a great many men have been arrested for making it.

Gilly Weisickle and family, of near Sullivans Heights, visited John Deck, of Woolper, last Sunday.

J. J. Walton, W. B. Walton and James Rogers were callers at J. J. Lillard's, last Saturday evening.

Gilly Weisickle, near Sullivan Heights, sold a cow last week to Joe West of Scrap Ville. Price $57.50.

Elbert Kelly and family, of Lonesome Hollow, visited Richard Louden and family, of Scrapville, Thursday.

Miss Bertha Smith, of Shady, was visiting Harry Acra and wife on Middle Creek, last Sunday and Monday.

When we see Ralph Cason pass and go down North Meridan, we know he is going over on Ashby to see his best girl.

Gilly Weisickle, near Sullivan's Heights, has for sale 7 shoats that will average 65 or 70 pounds. Also a good horse.

Flave Louden and family, near Rabbit Hash, were visiting his father and mother Richard Louden, of Scrap Ville, last Sunday.

There is not a town in the State more orderly than Commissary, and it is all because of the good management of it's Mayor.

Geo. D. Rance, who moved this spring from Lost Section to New Kentucky, accidentally fell and either broke or fractured a rib.

We suggest that "Here and There" use for the heading of some of his writeups, "Now and Then." We think this would be very appropriate.

The box social that was to have been held in Belleview, last Saturday night, was called off on account of the serious illness of Louie Snyder.

T. J. Walton transacted business in Rising Sun Thursday. He bought a new hay fork, which he will have put in the barn that he is having repaired.

Carl Kelly, of North Hogan, Ind., came over Wednesday and returned Friday. He reports things blue on North Hogan on account of the wet weather.

Miss Avice Parsons, of Middle Creek, who has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Popham, of North Hogan, Indiana, the last two months, returned home last Tuesday.

Mrs. Jacob Anderson and daughter, of Indiana, former residents of Old and New Kentucky, returned home Tuesday from a visit to friends and acquaintances in New Kentucky.

While returning from our last outing we passed the Williamson Carpet Factory in McVille. Mr. Williamson informed us that his factory had turned out 800 yards of home woven carpet this spring. Who can beat it?

Last Monday evening we decided to take a little outing. Tuesday morning went to Aurora, where we met our old neighbor, H. P. Parsons, of Middle creek, in whose company we visited Omer Popham and mother. The principal part of the distance was along the Stove-pipe natural road. It seems to us that the patrons of that route take very ... pride, in their route. After feeding our horse and partaking of an excellent dinner set by Mrs. Popham's little daughter, Ettie, we returned to Aurora, reaching there in time to escape the heavy rain storm. It is very discouraging to the farmers along South Hogan because of the back water from the river and the local rains. We traveled up the stream five miles and did not see ten acres of corn that had been planted, while very little tobacco had been set. After the rain we went to Frank Cantwell's, near Salem church, and spent the night with his pleasant family. Wednesday we visited the families of James Nettles, Geo. Rains and Asa Delph, all formerly Boone county people. They are all pleasant entertainers and we enjoyed our visit very much. We met and had a pleasant chat with Doc French. Also had an introduction to Miss Pearl Wade, Salem's most accomplished young lady. We spent the night with Mr. Nettles, who entertained with a music party in honor of our visit. Thursday we returned home.

HEBRON.

The social given at C. E. Clore's last Saturday night, was a complete success in every feature. The attendance was 200 and everyone reports a most delightful time. The receipts were $7.80

WALTON.

Mrs. C. L. Senior, of Northside, has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. R. Craven, this week.

Miss Mary Grubbs returned to her home at Glenoce, after a pleasant visit with her cousin, Miss Kate Grubbs.

Miss Fannie May, the charming young daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Buck, has returned to her home from college at Midway.

Miss Carrie Matson returned home, Monday, from a pleasant visit at the home of her friend, Miss Johnnie B. Carpenter, of Richwood.

G. A. Parker, of Dayton, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Senior, of Northside, were pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. Brit Senior, last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah Holder, of Covington, and Mrs. E. A. Lermond and daughter, Effie, of Cincinnati, were guests of their sister, Mrs. T. J. Stephens, on Memorial day.

Following is the Honor Roll of Walton Graded School, ninth month:

1st Grade—Mary Jane Houston, Nellie Johnson.

2d Grade—Genevieve Haley, Hazel Valladingham, Viola Fornash, Ruth Fullilove, Fleming Fields, Clifford Youell, Harry Mayhugh, Clayton Roberts, Zula Mayhugh, Mary Hance, Stanley Stephenson.

3d Grade—Agnes Haley, Mamie Griffith, Isabel Tompkins, Susie Johnson, Ethel McKibbin, John Conrad, Maggie Johnson, Clifford Laws.

4th Grade—Bay Hicks, Edith Richey, Lena Bowlington, Bessie Houston, Scena Byland, Hoard Johnson, Holton Craig, Lambert Rouse, Milton Hance.

5th Grade—Edna Watson, Robert Lassing, Mary Graham, Eunice Sullivan, Jessie Cleek, Edith Fields, Marguerite Youell, Stanley Vallandingham, Raymond Roberts.

7th Grade—Pearl Stephenson, Harry Plunkett, Clifton Mayhugh, Milton Richey, Lewis Sullivan, Howard Huey.

8th Grade—Robert Robinson, Robert Coffman, Clifford Rouse, Mabel Powers, Myrtle Murphy, Harry Dahling, Robert Rouse.

Freshmen—Hattie Hearne, Earl Robinson, Lucy Hearne, Harris Watson, Maud Hume, Carrie Watson, Mary West, Mamie Haley, Wilella Hance, Jane Hance, Garnett Huey, George Hoffman.

Sophmore—Charles Dennedy, Robert Craig.

Junior—Zella Mayhugh, Estelle Huey, Gladys Wilson, Leslie Jones, Lucile Hind, Pauline Curley, Katie Bentz.

Senior—Nannie Chambers, Charles Jones, Hattie Taylor.

FLICKERTOWN.

June 5.—James Bruce was calling on friends here Sunday.

Ben Hensley and wife were Sunday guests at Elbert Kelly's

Born, June 5th, to Charles Hensley and wife, a bouncing boy baby.

Ott Scott and family visited relatives and friends near Consumesary, Sunday.

Misses Lulie Akin and May Hewitt visited in Petersburg neighborhood, Sunday.

Mrs. John Burk, of Aurora, was the guest of her parents here several days last week.

Mrs. Will Price and family, of Constance, were visiting Mrs. Sebree and family, Sunday.

Mrs. Samuel Pope, jr., of Locust Grove, was the guest of Mrs. George Aylor several days last week.

Mrs. Sarah White, of Hathaway, visited James White and family, of this place, last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Walter Campbell, of the Forks of Woolper, was the guest of her father and mother at this place, Sunday.

James Gaines is having his house painted, Pope Bros., of Waterloo and Beech Grove neighborhoods, doing the work.

Richard Johnson, of Illinois, left for his home this morning after a visit of several weeks with relatives in this county.

William Rector and two sons, of Petersburg, visited James White and wife, of this place, last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Bertha Smith returned home Sunday after a visit of several days with her sister, Mrs. Irvin Rue, near Burlington.

James Snyder and wife, Herbert Snyder, Miss Aggie Snyder and Miss Alice Beck spent Sunday with Clayton Campbell and wife.

John Sebree's two daughters, Misses Virgie and Susie, of Petersburg, were guests of Miss Jennie Sebree, last Saturday and Sunday.

Charles Clore, of near Burlington, and his cousin, Richard Johnson, of Illinois, were calling on Charles Hensly and family, Sunday.

Dying of Famine

is in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers, of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying different medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me." Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at all drug stores, price 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

F. W. Kassabaum, of Aurora, Ind., was in town last Monday. He was using crutches, because of a limb he got broken about three months ago. He was putting up some work in the Dillsboro cemetery, when a small cyclone crossed the cemetery, blowing a rail against his leg, breaking it.

Chas. Wilson, of Sunny Side has an attack of genuine old fashioned ague.

UNION.

Lyman Rice is the guest of his parents this week.

Miss Marietta Riley spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mrs. Lida Conner is able to be up after several days illness.

The Sunday School Convention, last Tuesday, was well attended.

Tom Sommers is ill with pneumonia at the home of S. H. Hicks.

Mrs. L. B. Dickerson spent Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Voshell.

Will Carpenter and wife are entertaining a little son at their house.

J. W. Taliaferro and wife, of Erlanger, attended church here, Sunday.

Miss Virginia Conner spent last Friday with Miss Linda Fields, of Walton.

Miss Minnie Rouse, of Owenton, is the pleasant guest of Miss Hattie Rouse.

Misses Lottie and Madge Williams spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents.

Tom Lipscomb and wife, of Richwood, were the guest of friends at this place Sunday.

Mrs. Hellen Corbin was the guest of her sisters, Mesdames Lane and Anderson, last week.

Miss Kathryn and Bessie Cleek, of Erlanger, were guests of friends at this place, Sunday.

Mrs. John Stephens and daughter, Miss Lizzie, of Bullittsville, are guests of Mrs. J. W. Conner.

Mrs. John Matson and Mrs. Duffee, of Kensington, were the guests of Mrs. Lida Conner, Friday.

Elbert Wilson and wife were guests of their grandmother at Bank Lick, several days last week.

John Garrison and wife attended the funeral of Mrs. Homer Clutterbuck at Burlington, last Friday.

Mark Judge, of Montana, was the guest of his brother, T. J. Judge, for several days last week.

Mrs. Threlkild, of Owen county, and Mrs. Landrum and children, of Erlanger, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Harriet Taliaferro.

Mrs. W. M. Rachal entertained the following at dinner last Wednesday—Mesdames Eva Youell, Sallie Anderson, Misses Vie Youell and Annie Riley.

GUNPOWDER.

Mrs. O. P. Rouse is on the sick list.

J. G. Vaughn, who we reported seriously sick in our last is improving.

Elbert Senior and family were visiting at Crescent Springs, last Sunday.

Mrs. J. H. Tanner is improving slowly, but is still confined to her room.

George Barlow, who was seriously sick the latter part of last week, has improved sufficiently to be out again.

On account of the wet weather there are several in this neighborhood that have not planted their corn.

W. C. Rouse, of Limaburg, was supplying our burg with some very fine strawberries, one day last week.

E. H. Snyder and family, Charlie Aylor and wife and Erlee Rouse and family, were guests of B. A. Rouse and wife Sunday.

Lost—Traveling satchel on Lexington pike between Erlanger and car line. Return to B. A. Floyd, Gunpowder, Ky., and receive reward.

J. L. Rouse, of Arkansas, is spending a few days with his Boone county friends, after which he will return to Milan, Indiana, where he expects to make his future home.

No doubt the many friends of Uncle John Bradford, will be grieved to hear of his death, which occurred last Saturday at his home near Florence. In his death the community loses one of its best citizens, and his children a kind parent. His remains were taken to Big Bone and interred in the cemetery at that place, last Monday. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.

BELLEVIEW.

June 5.—L. L. Snyder is still very poorly, and his symptoms are not encouraging.

Sunnyside passed through early Monday morning for Rabbit Hash. Watch and see where he will bob up.

James Rogers spent Saturday and Sunday with his new grandson, at Erlanger, son of O. M. Rogers and wife.

Eld. Riley preached at the Christian church, last Saturday evening, Sunday morning and evening. The attendance was large and attentive.

We were sorry to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. Will Wingate, last Saturday morning, and extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Lourena Scott's children gave her a surprise dinner at her home Sunday. It was enjoyed and the children hope to spend many more such days with their mother.

We chronicle the death of one of our most industrious citizens, John Rowland, who departed this life in a city hospital on the 25th ult., after an operation by which he was relieved of a 14-lb. tumor. His remains were brought home and after funeral services conducted by Eld. E. C. Riley, were interred in the new cemetery. He leaves a wife and 6 children to mourn his death.

LIMABURG.

James Waters gave the young folks a dance Saturday night.

Miss Annie Brown spent a few days last week with Mrs. Owen Aylor.

Miss Lillie Ryle and friend attended the convention at Union, Tuesday.

Miss Nellie Taylor, of Alexandria, is the pleasant guest of Miss Mae Farrell.

Jack Stephens purchased of C. E. Beemon a nice young heifer. Price $35.

Ed Anderson and family were Sunday guests of Mrs. Jane Anderson on Elijah's creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Baker entertained a large number of their friends and relatives with a dinner, Sunday.

Miss Edna Beail and a Miss Baker, of Indiana, were guests of Mrs. Geo. Baker from Friday until Sunday.

For Sale—Two feather beds and pillows, 12 foot extension table and a Brussel carpet. Apply to Mrs. O. W. Gaines, Bullittsville.

BIG BONE.

June 6—Fine weather.

Dr. Ryle and wife visited at Rabbit Hash, Monday.

Some few have plowed their corn over and it looks fine.

Dr. Slater has purchased a new piano and a rubber tire buggy.

A large crop of tobacco has been set in this part of the county.

Farmers are in good shape—wool 32 cents a pound and lambs $4 to $4 50 per head.

Mrs. Mace Conly has returned to Covington after a week's visit with her friends here.

The Rebekah Lodge at this place initiated seven members recently. The Rising Sun lodge did the work, and it was fine.

Deputy Collector J. M. Baker, of Covington, was here a few days last week, returning home last Monday via Burlington.

The farmer who set around during the months of March and April and whined because the weather did not suit him is still whining because he has not got his corn and tobacco out.

GRANT.

Willow peeling is done for this year.

The lunch box social did not come off as advertised.

Robert Sandford, of Covington, is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Viola Caldwell was a visitor here several days last week.

The Ohio was on quite a rampage several days the first of last week.

Herbert McKim, Ebelby Cowen and James Allphin attended church here Sunday night.

Silas Rosal, of North Bend, Ohio, was visiting relatives at McVille, several days last week.

We extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Richard Ryle and family in the loss of a daughter and sister.

Several farmers who had corn planted in the creek bottoms before the recent heavy rains, will have it all to replant.

We were grieved to hear of the death of Mrs. William Wingate, of Rabbit Hash, which occurred on the 3d of June.

Mrs. Hahn, of Connersville, Indiana, was called to Rabbit Hash on account of the death of her mother, Mrs. William Wingate.

The ground was most too wet Tuesday for setting tobacco. Some complain of something destroying their plants in the beds.

Mrs. Henry Lindenburn and Miss Rose Lindenburn, of Newport, spent several days last week visiting friends and relatives here.

Hebron and Bellevue ball teams play on the Believe grounds Saturday June 10th. Come out and see a good game. These teams played a 14 inning game last season of 1 to 0.

The Burlington Grays have made three dates with our boys here for a game on the Bellevue grounds and have failed to appear. The boys here are getting a little bit tired of that kind of business.

While riding his bicycle on the streets here Sunday evening, Omer McGuire ran against Mrs. Henry Clore, knocking her down. A black eye and several bruises are the result of his carelessness.

We will answer the Rabbit Hash problem of May 24th issue by propounding one for him: While a dog is chasing a cat at the rate of 10 miles an hour, a goat is chasing the dog at the rate of 12. How far will the cat be ahead when the goat overtakes the dog?

BULLITTSVILLE.

June 5.—Everybody is done setting tobacco and the greater part of it is growing nicely.

We extend our sympathy to Homer Clutterbuck in the loss of his wife.

Some of our alfalfa growers harvested their first crop of the season last week.

The farmers here all plowed their corn once and some are nearly done the second time.

Albert Gray had a chicken hatched last week that had three legs. It lived three or four days.

Temp Graves and Milton Gaines went to Big Bone, last Sunday for a load of the healthgiving water.

The Hebron and Garrison ball teams will cross bats Saturday afternoon at Wm. Riley's race track, near here.

Mrs. Mary Masters was taken suddenly ill while attending the street fair at Lawrenceburg, last Thursday.

The Garrison ball team did not go to Warsaw, Sunday, as reported. The game has been postponed indefinitely.

Several from this neighborhood attended the street fair at Lawrenceburg, last week, and all say every feature was first class.

Judging from the amount of shooting we hear, crows have been bothering some of our neighbors' chickens for some time.

Mrs. Lida Stephens, wife of Frank Stephens, died Saturday May 27th, of inflammation of the bowels. The remains were taken to Petersburg for interment on Monday. The bereaved husband and son have the sympathy of all.

Everybody in this neighborhood witnessed the game of ball between the Boones and the Nebraska Indians at Burlington, last Wednesday. We believe the Indians could have made 1000 runs and Boones none had they been so inclined.

Hugo Task.

It was a huge task, to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Ia., but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache, and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c.

WATERLOO.

Willie Satchwill has made himself a present of a new buggy.

Vernon Pope and sister were shopping in Rising Sun, Monday.

Perry Beemon and son were guests of Doc Clore and family Sunday.

Mr. Critcher, of Sedamsville, was in this neighborhood last week buying cattle.

Ray Conner and Hubert Brady play ball on Sunday with the Blue Jeans at Rising Sun.

Lewis Clore entertained a large crowd of young folks with a play party Saturday night.

Kirb and Hubert Clore and Hogan Ryle attended the dance at John Summer's, Tuesday night.

Doc Clore, who has been laid up for some time with a severe case of rheumatism, is improving.

Miss Jennie White, of Napoleon, Gallatin county, spent last week with Walter Marshall and family.

An evening last week Lewis Merrick killed a horn owl that measured 4 feet and 4 inches from tip to tip.

Bert Scott and Wilber, of near Mt. Tabor church, Ind., spent Saturday and Sunday with friends and relatives near here.

Mrs. Georgia Clore got hurt Thursday afternoon while witnessing the game of ball at Bellevue. One of the players knocked a foul ball that struck her on the head. Luckily she received no serious injury.

Mr. Editor, I have been requested to ask you through the columns of your paper what has become of that list of Delinquent Taxpayers, that the sheriff was going to advertise?—[You are respectfully referred to the sheriff for the information desired.—ED.]

ERLANGER

The work on the large lumber yard is progressing nicely.

Mr. Roscoe Zinn has returned from a trip to French Lick Springs, Ind.

W. J. Powell Rifle, after a visit away of several weeks, is welcomed home.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sayers, entertained Saturday evening, Rev. J. E. Martin and wife, of Louisville.

Miss Lucy E. Hoover returned home Sunday from a pleasant visit with relatives in Indianapolis, Ind.

Mrs. W. P. Gardner and daughter, Miss Pearl, have returned from a pleasant visit with friends in Walton.

Miss Emma Hinton, of Florence, had for her guests last week, Mrs. A. C. Thomas and Miss Ida Zinn, of this place.

Mrs. Belle Piatt Morton and little daughter, Martha, of Houston, Texas, are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Piatt.

The many friends of Mrs. George J. Schvepfel will regret to learn of the death of her brother, H. J. McLane, of Cincinnati.

RICHWOOD.

Prof. A. C. Collins was here, Saturday.

Do not forget the Grange festival June 10th, at the hall.

Will Carpenter (Jerry's Will) is the proud papa of another boy.

Richwood beat Walton's 2nd team Saturday afternoon, and Bank Lick Sunday afternoon.

Those games of ball were something terrible, the score running up to the thousands, nearly.

Our ball grounds have been moved nearer Richwood, near Wm. (Bunts) Carpenter's house.

A large crowd attended the fishing party given by Ben Woodford and Miss Johnnie Carpenter.

Miss Watson and Robert Rouse, of Walton, were guests of Miss Johnnie Carpenter Saturday and Sunday.

Merritt Wolfe and Gus Schneider, of Erlanger, and Jimmie Hickey, of Florence, were visiting here Saturday.

M. L. Tanner's family, J. R. Carpenter and wife, Walter Wylie and Clara May Grubbs, and Wm. Woodward were guests of M. Grubbs, Sunday.

Program of the Boone County Sunday School Association to be held at Walton, June 15th and 16th:

THURSDAY EVENING.

8:00 Stereopticon Lecture on Holy Land—E. A. Fox.

[Admission free. A voluntary offering by Assembly.]

FRIDAY MORNING.

9:30 Song Service.

9:45 Devotional Service, conducted by W. L. Selby.

10:00 Welcome address—D. T. Buck.

Response by Pres. P. H. Duncan.

10:20 Greetings and Expressions of interest in work; two minute speeches.

10:35 Essential Features in every successful S. S.—F. S. Politt.

Chorus.

11:00 Duties of Superintendent in and out of S. S.—T. C. Ecton.

11:20 The above subject discussed by Superintendents.

11:30 How to make our County Conventions profitable and successful—S. E. Slater.

11:55 Reports from Sunday Schools; Appointments of Committees.

Dinner.

1:30 Song service and devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. Maddox.

1:45 Hinderances among teachers.—D. E. Castleman.

2:00 Preceding subject discussed by the teachers led by M. D. Early.

2:15 Home cooperation; its value and how to secure it—E. C. Riley.

2:45 Reading minutes; Report of Secretary and Committees.

3:10 Our State Work—E. A. Fox.

3:30 Special Song Service.

3:45 Ministers place and duties in the Sunday School—Geo. A. Miller.

4:00 Address—Howard Cramlett.

4:15 Adjournment.

P. H. DUNCAN, Pres.

Grace M. Russell, Sec'y.

The RECORDER is in receipt of a Mexican postal card, from Howard Smith, son of A. W. Smith, of Walton. The card was mailed at Ciudad Tuarez, Mex.

FLORENCE.

Little Elizabeth Fisk is recovering from a severe attack of appendicitis.

Philip Spilman, of Covington, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends here.

Edwin Skirvin, of Covington, spent Sunday with his mother on Price's pike.

Mrs. Oscar Clarke and children, of Cincinnati, are guests of Mrs. John Clarke.

Miss Florence Walker has been confined to her room with rheumatism for three weeks.

Charlie Whitson and family, of Walton, spent Sunday with Mrs. John R. Whitson.

Mrs. Nannie Hedges and son, Clifford, of Gunpowder, were guests of Mrs. Joe Lisle Sunday.

Mrs. McGregor, of Norwood, is spending a few days with her niece Mrs. Veranda Goodridge.

The Children's Day exercises will take place Saturday evening at the Christian church. A nice program has been arranged under the management of Miss Emma Hinton and every one is invited to attend. Admission free.

The death of Mr. John Bradford occurred Saturday morning. Mr. Bradford was one of the oldest residents of Boone county, being in his 88th year. The funeral took place from the home on Union pike, Monday, and the interment at Big Bone.

MIDWAY.

We are glad to report the sick all on the mend.

Jerry Carr lost a cow last week of milk fever.

George Jack, of Covington, was visiting his brother Merritt, here Sunday.

Earl Williams visited his parents back of Rising Sun, Saturday and Sunday.

J. L. Jones and wife spent Sunday at Gunpowder, guests of John H. Aylor and family.

Several from here attended the ice cream supper at South Fork church, Saturday night.

Apples and peaches are dropping off very badly; early cherries are fine, but late ones are very inferior.

Mrs. Samuel Taylor and Mrs. David Warren left Saturday for Lexington, where they will spend several days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie Roter entertained several friends from Rising Sun, Sunday, among whom were the manager of the Winn Clothing Co. of that place.

Will Hume, who has been employed at Lakeland, for some time, was married recently, and he and his bride spent several days last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hume, of South Fork. Will's many friends here wish them success through life.

Rev. S. M. Adams visited a number of his friends in this neighborhood, last week, who were proud to see him able to be out again. While here he called on an old friend, who has not been out of his yard for near two years, and spent a little while very much to the enjoyment of the friend. The Doctor has an amiable knack for conciliating as well as consoling the afflicted and dependent, and strengthening their hopes of an eternal felicity.

PLEASANT VALLEY.

John Wingate and wife were Sunday guests of his son Leslie.

J. M. Riddins and wife, of Burlington, were Sunday guests at Steve Robins'.

Miss Grace Sodon, of Walton, was the guest of Mrs. Asa McMullen, last week.

Earn Blankenbeker and wife and Jas. Utz and wife, of Union, dined with George Barlow and wife, Sunday.

Rev. Maddox, of Daviess county, will preach at Gunpowder church on the first and third Sunday in each month.

Miss Hattie Rouse, a charming young lady of this neighborhood, and Mrs. Stella Irvon, attended the Sunday School Convention at Union, last Thurday.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. R. W. Clark is entertaining her sister.

F. P. Walton and wife, of Covington, were guests at George Blythe's, Monday.

Miss Nellie Martin left yesterday for a two weeks' visit with her mother at Lakeland.

M. T. Garnett came in from Florida last Tuesday. He is looking well and says Florida is a great State.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Vaughn, of Cincinnati, came over last Friday to attend Mrs. Clutterbuck's funeral.

Miss Bertha Smith, of Flickertown neighborhood, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Irvin Rue, several days last week.

Mrs. J. Q. Elston, of Buffalo, and her little niece, Julia Reed, of Louisville, visited relatives in Burlington, several days last week.

Dr. R. E. Ryle, of Big Bone, made the RECORDER a brief call last Monday. The doctor is looking like he is on the prosperous side of life.

G. W. Lohn, of Cincinnati, assistant superintendent of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., was a guest at D. M. Snyder's, last Friday.

Mrs. Rankin Revill returned to her home in Covington, Monday morning, after a visit of several days with J. C. Revill and family at this place.

The many friends of Mr. W. T. Snyder, of Francesville neighborhood, who was very ill last week, will be glad to hear that he is very much improved.

Mrs. John Kenney and Mrs. Hall, of Idlewild neighborhood, were shopping in Burlington, last Saturday afternoon, and while here made this office a pleasant call.

Dr. Rouse, chairman of the county board of health, reports the county free from small pox again. There were four cases at Belleview in the last few weeks but he does not think there will be any more.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. . . . KENTUCKY.

JUNE...1905

Sun.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thu.	Fri.	Sat.
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30

N. M. 3rd. F. Q. 10th. F. M. 18th. L. Q. 24th.

The imperial palace in Peking is to be connected by telephone with the offices of the different ministers.

In Germany the number of servant girls who have savings banks accounts is nearly three times as large as that of shopgirls who have them.

Lake Diwa is the only large sheet of fresh water in Japan worthy of mention. It is 36 miles long, 12 miles wide and its greatest depth is about 300 feet.

The emperor of Germany takes his meals with his whole family, even the children being allowed at the table from the time they are old enough to sit in a high chair.

A bankrupt sawyer recently stated in a London court that his trade had been ruined by the advance in the price of sugar. Confectioners and candy manufacturers were economizing by doing without wooden boxes and cases.

The leading public men of France are alarmed over the increase of insanity, crime and disease in that country directly attributable to absinthe and other alcoholic drinks. The Paris Temps declares that the production and consumption of natural and hygienic drinks should be favored, while the manufacture of spirits based on badly-rectified alcohol should be hindered in order to combat a social and national peril.

If President Roosevelt had paid for the railroad trips he has taken since he became president he would be poorer than he is by $118,398. He has never gone anywhere except in a private car or a special train. He has lived on the trains which carried him. So have his guests. Both he and they have fared sumptuously. He has taken, all told, 40 trips since entering the White house in September, 1901, and has covered 56,407 miles.

London lays out for poor relief $22,000,000 a year, and 28 out of 1,000 of the population receive relief as paupers. In one district, West Ham, 40,000 persons were recently reported as on the edge of starvation. There is not work enough there for all the workers, but a large proportion of the destitute are incapable of performing labor. They are human wrecks, and must be supported by charity or perish.

That the American people have an eye for the beautiful and a profound respect for the same is evidenced by the fact that the average number of visitors who pass through the doors of the congressional library at Washington each day number 2,400. This is independent of events which bring large crowds to the city, such as a meeting of the G. A. R. or an inauguration. These are considered extraordinary and are not counted in the general average. The greatest number of people to pass the doors in any one day was noted on March 4 last, when 48,000 viewed the building.

The time seems to be approaching when the question of providing sanatoria for consumptive patients, either by the state or by private philanthropy, must receive practical consideration. If private means can not make the necessary provision, then the public may conclude that it can not afford, either on the grounds of humanity or self-protection, to allow conditions to remain as they are. All elements of the population are interested in this problem, but the poor and persons of ... are mainly concerned in its solution.

In a recent communication to our state department, Consul Hamm, of Hull, Eng., describes the operations of the street-railway system of that city, which is owned and operated by the municipality, and submits facts and figures showing that under this control the system is highly successful. The fare on all lines in Hull is two cents a mile, and ten miles of double-track road are in operation. Last year the gross income from the street-car business was $445,000; the cost of operation about $233,000. This left a gross profit of $212,000.

One of the very few Spirit birds that have been brought to the western world is now in possession of a New York dealer. He prices it at $1,000. This bird comes from the East Indies and is about the size of a crow. The plumage is an iridescent green, with the exception of the head, each of which is a white color. The bird has orange beak, legs and feet, and yellow caruncles at the base of the neck. In different lights the feathers show violet, purple and green, but its body seems all white. It is a very beautiful specimen.

SUMMARY OF THE IMPORTANT NEWS

Interesting Happenings That Occurred During the Past Few Days.

ACTION OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

Exciting Events in the United States and Foreign Countries Condensed For the Busy Reader—Crimes and Casualties.

War Items.

The number of Russian vessels of all descriptions sunk and captured by Adm. Togo's fleet in the great naval battle in Korea straits now stands at 29. It is possible that three additional warships were sunk in the fight Saturday and others later. Nearly 3,000 prisoners were taken, including Rear Adm. Nebogatoff. Adm. Rojestvensky's battleship was also sunk.

Adm. Rojestvensky has arrived at Sasebo on board the torpedo boat destroyer Bulny at 6 p. m. May 29. The admiral is seriously wounded in the head, back and chest. Adm. Togo reports that in the naval engagement in the Korea straits the Russians lost 22 war vessels of all kinds. Two succeeded in reaching Vladivostok. About 3,000 prisoners were taken. The flagship of Adm. Rojestvensky was among the vessels sunk and the admiral, badly wounded, struggled in the waves. Later he was picked up by a Russian torpedo boat.

A Tokio correspondent reports that the cruiser Gromobol, of the Vladivostok squadron, with nearly 800 men on board, issued from Vladivostok in the hope of joining the remnant of Rojestvensky's fleet and that it struck a Japanese mine and sunk with all hands. The correspondent says it is believed that Vice Adm. Skrydloff was on board the Gromobol.

Adm. Togo reports that all the captured ships sent to Sasebo have arrived and that their crews have been landed. Adm. Rojestvensky, who was wounded, has entered the naval hospital.

The correspondent of the Glasgow Herald, at St. Petersburg, wires his paper that the czar is obstinately set against the proposition for suing for peace.

The Japanese losses in the battle of the Sea of Japan were 113 officers and men killed and 424 officers and men wounded. The completion of the revised list shows that the losses were under the original estimates.

It is likely that Rr. Adm. Nebogatoff will be court-martialed and probably shot for surrendering the ships under his command to the Japanese in the naval battle in Korea straits. An examination of his ships show that, though the guns were rusty and the bottoms of the vessels covered with seaweed there was no lack of fighting resources. There were heaps of ammunition and no trace of damage by the Japanese shells.

In response to thousands of suggestions and inquiries received by the Japanese navy department has decided to erect an enormous lighthouse on Okinso island as a monument to commemorate Adm. Togo's naval victory.

When the Japanese boarded the torpedo boat destroyer Bedovi after completely disabling her, Adm. Rojestvensky was the last man to be discovered. He was hiding at the bottom of the destroyer and was bleeding freely from many wounds.

The Japanese celebrated the victory at the naval battle of the Sea of Japan in Honolulu by a big torchlight and Japanese lantern procession. Four thousand Japanese turned out in the parade.

Three Rnssian warships which escaped during the great sea battle in the Korean Straits are now in the custody of the American naval authorities at Manila. They were gathered in by Rr. Adm. Train, commander of the United States naval forces in the Philippines, while seeking refuge from possible Japanese pursuers.

Miscellaneous News.

Without a dissenting vote both branches of the Philadelphia councils withdrew the ordinance authorizing the lease of the city gas works to the United Gas Improvement Co., for a period of 75 years.

The president had intended to begin his southern trip early in October, but within a day or two he has concluded to postpone the departure until the 17th. The trip will consume about two weeks.

The beautiful bronze statue of Gen. Slocum, by McMonnes, was unveiled in New York. Two great stands facing the statue were filled with people. The arrival of the presidential party was signalled by the firing of a salute of 21 guns. The president delivered an address.

Ex-Gov. Robert Wilkinson Furnas, of Brownville, Neb., died of diabetes in a Lincoln hospital. Ex-Gov. Furnas has been a resident of Nebraska since 1855, when he came from Ohio.

Secretary Morton received information that the original commission of John Paul Jones as a captain in the navy has been located in Philadelphia and he will initiate an effort to obtain it for the navy department.

Two miners were killed at the Walpole mine at Iron Mountain, Mich., by a fall of overhanging ore. Both are buried 600 feet below surface and crews are at work digging for them.

President Roosevelt has authorized the announcement that Charles J. Bonaparte, of Baltimore, would be appointed secretary of the navy to succeed Paul Morton, who earlier in the day stated he would retire July 1 to go to New York to take charge of plans for the construction of the subway system for operation in connection with the surface lines.

Joseph M. Weber has arranged with a number of Chicago and New York capitalists to erect in Chicago a hippodrome to cost $1,400,000.

An attempt to assassinate King Alfonso was made at midnight in Paris. As his majesty drove with President Loubet from a gala performance at the Grand opera house a bomb thrown by an anarchist exploded with deadly effect near the royal carriage. The two escaped unharmed, but five persons were seriously injured and a number of cavalry horses were killed or maimed. Several arrests were made.

The monthly circulation statement issued by the controller of the currency shows that at the close of business May 21 the total circulation of national bank notes outstanding amounted to $488,327,516.

The United States bureau of forestry has begun three extensive projects under its forestry planting operations for the season. Fifty thousand trees are to be planted in the Pikes Peak forest reserve; 300,000 along the lines of the Delaware & Hudson River railroad, and the Northern Pacific road.

John E. Madden, a well-known race horse owner and trainer, has decided to retire from the turf.

In the trial of Wm. G. Crawford, charged with conspiracy with Machen and Lorenz to defraud the government, the latter testified that he turned state's evidence not to save himself and with no hope of reward. He said he was not guilty of all the charges against him, and deemed it a duty to himself to give all information to the government.

With the gentle touch of a hand upon a golden telegraph instrument, President Roosevelt, from the white house, gave the signal which formally opened to the world the Lewis and Clark Centennial exposition at Portland, Ore., a monument to the memories of Capts. Merriwether Lewis and William Clark, the pioneers, who 100 years ago blazed the trail which opened up to the world the "Old Oregon country."

The monthly comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures shows that for the month of May, 1905, the total receipts were $43,758,933 and the expenditures $46,719,055.

Jewels worn by Queen Isabella of Spain are to be sold soon to build a library at Leland Stanford university. The gems were purchased by the late Mrs. Leland Stanford for $1,000,000.

The Russian Grand Duke Vladimir has been sentenced to death by the Terrorists.

The postmaster general ordered the transfer of the field division headquarters of the rural free delivery service, now konwn as the Cincinnati division, to Indianapolis, effective July 1.

The president has appointed as second lieutenants of infantry Charles W. McClure, son of Maj. Charles McClure, 14th infantry; Pickens E. Woodson, of Texas, formerly of the Rough Riders, and John H. Ellerson, of Virginia.

Secretary Taft presented to the president an invitation from the Ohio state fair to attend the fair in September. The president was obliged to decline on account of other engagements.

Princeton university has secured possession of the "Merwick" estate and will transform it into a graduate college.

As a result of a ten days' investigation into alleged violation of the mining laws of Illinois, a Franklin county grand jury has returned four indictments against the Zeigler Coal Co., in whose mine nearly 50 miners were killed.

President Diaz has appointed Joaquin D'Casasus to be ambassador of Mexico in the United States to succeed the late Manuel Aspiroz.

The steamboat H. M. Carter ran into the pier of the railroad bridge across the Red river at Alexandria, La., and sank.

The first chamber of the states general at The Hague voted $280,000 for the purchase of a site for the palace of peace to be erected by Andrew Carnegie.

The war department received a cable from Gov. Magoon, of the Isthmian canal zone, stating that Edward Green, an American, died on the isthmus of malaria May 28. He also reports two new cases of yellow fever, Wm. O'Brien and L. Mannoni.

The Avenue theater, Pittsburg, was destroyed by fire. The grand opera house adjacent was damaged.

Cornelius P. Shea, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, was arrested in Chicago on the charge of criminal libel, preferred by Robert J. Thorne, assistant general manager of Montgomery Ward & Co.

Brig. Gen. George B. Davis has been reappointed judge advocate general of the army for a term of four years from May 23 last.

The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business May 31, 1905, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,000,346,118, which is an increase for the month of May of $3,128,187.

The monthly statement of the coinage executed at the mints of the United States shows that during May the coinage amounted to $4,079,075, as follows: Gold, $3,270,000; silver, $564,584; minor coins, $244,491.

There was an earthquake throughout Montenegro. About 500 houses collapsed and 200 persons were killed or injured.

A Pottawatomie Indian at Pokagon, Mich., tried to wreck a Grand Rapids & Indiana passenger train, but the attempt was frustrated by a freight train crew.

Congressman Benjamin F. Marsh died at his home in Warsaw, Ill.

At the end of next month a delegation of 100 prominent Hungarians, led by Count Eugene Zichy, will leave for Tokio to present a sword of honor to Marshal Oyama in the name of the Hungarian communities.

Papers in an action for absolute divorce brought by Brodie L. Duke were served in New York on Mrs. Alice Webb Duke, whose marriage to Mr. Duke in December last was the beginning of sensational litigation.

During a fog off Dungenness the British battleship Caesar collided with the British bark Afghanistan. The Afghanistan sank two minutes after the collision. It is feared that 23 men on board the bark were drowned.

Douglas M. Kilpatrick, former United States subtreasurer and prominent in commercial circles, died in New York, aged 61. For many years he was a leader in the carnival celebrations.

The officials at Mare Island navy yard have received from Washington formal instructions to permit the Russian auxiliary cruiser Lena, now interned, to proceed to Asiatic waters for use as a hospital ship. She will put to sea within a month, and it is expected her first destination will be a Japanese port, where wounded Russians can be taken aboard.

The business of the German government paused and a million or so of persons took a half holiday to welcome an 18-year-old girl who some time most probably will be the German empress.

When Mrs. F. H. Dunn, near Kewanee, Ill., began her housework she left her infant daughter on a piece of carpet on the porch. Looking out of the door half an hour later she was horrified to see a monster snake about the child. Mrs. Dunn's screams frightened the reptile, later killed by her husband.

Ellis Glenn, the most famous male impersonator of the world, is free, at Parkersburg, W. Va. For five years she has faced the penitentiary on a forgery charge. Once she was tried, but the jury disagreed, and she has been out on bond for four years.

Mrs. Thomas C. Platt, wife of Senator Platt, sailed for Europe on the St. Paul. Senator Platt did not accompany his wife abroad, but drove to the pier to see her off. He was too feeble to leave the carriage, and remained there until the ship left the pier.

Rv. Thomas Richey, D. D., emeritus professor of ecclesiastical history at the General Theological seminary, New York, is dead, aged 74 years. Dr. Richey was well known as an author of religious works.

Rolla M. Dance, secretary of the civil service board, at the request of Mayor Weaver, tendered his resignation. Dance is a close friend of Jas. P. McNichol, one of the republican leaders of Philadelphia. Mayor Weaver proposes to make municipal ownership his slogan and intends, it is said, to get control of the gas works and probably the traction interests.

Johann Hoch, convicted wife murderer and confessed bigamist, was sentenced by Judge Kersten to be hanged June 23.

During a thunder storm in Chicago three churches were struck by lightning and two of them completely destroyed. Besides the churches several other buildings were struck and damaged. The total loss is estimated at $200,000.

Two men were killed and two seriously burned in the Edgar Thomson furnace, Braddock, Pa. About the same time a friend of one of the men was killed in Pittsburg by falling from a street car.

John Tittle, a farmer, 55, and his son, James, 17, were instantly killed and his daughter Bertha, 13, was fatally injured by being struck by an express train on the bridge on the Pennsylvania railroad near Port Royal, Pa.

Gov. Higgins, of New York, has signed both the Raines bill and the Ambler bill, designed to abolish disreputable hotels operating under the present provisions of the liquor tax law.

The Milwaukee exposition building occupying a city block was totally destroyed by fire. The loss is $300,000, insured for $75,000.

Peter L. Kimberly, prominent throughout the United States and Canada in mining circles, died suddenly of apoplexy. Mr. Kimberly's wealth is estimated at $10,000,000.

John Walthouse was stabbed to death with a sharpened file in a St. Louis boarding house. Julius Schulte, a machinist, was arrested on the charge of having stabbed Walthouse. They quarreled over a girl.

Sixteen warships will attack the defenses of Washington and Baltimore at midnight of June 11, and continue their offensive operations for six days and nights. Meanwhile the fortresses along Chesapeake bay and the Potomac river, Washington and Baltimore, will put forth every defense of which they are capable.

Mr. Justice Harlan, of the United States supreme court, was the guest at a banquet in honor of his 72d birthday by the Louisville Bar association.

Richard L. Farnham, a director of the Panama railroad, has arrived in England. His mission is the chartering of several ships for the Panama canal commission, and he is making a tour of the ship yards.

The New York chamber of commerce adopted resolution favoring the conclusion of commercial treaties of reciprocity between the United States and Germany, France, Russia, Switzerland and Austro-Hungary.

HIS GOOD OFFICES.

Russian Press and Public Pleased Over President's Offer.

They Want an Honorable Peace—Negotiations, If Begun, Must Be Direct, Without the Intervention of the Other Powers.

St. Petersburg, June 5.—President Roosevelt's tender of his good offices to bring about peace is received with general favor in the press and by the public and a desire that some steps should be taken towards securing an honorable peace is increasingly manifest.

The Russian declares that the president should be commended as an act of friendship tending to bring about Japan's terms of peace and Russia's acceptance of an offer which would not mean surrender on humiliating terms. The paper maintains at the same time that negotiations, if begun, must be direct and that there must be no intervention by other powers.

The Bourse Gazette says that Russia must make the best possible use of the friendly offices of the United States and Great Britain.

This paper, as well as the Syntochestva and the Nashazvisn and others advance the idea that Japan will be disposed to grant better terms to the Russian people than to the bureaucrats who began the war. These papers reiterate the demand for a zemsky zabor to settle the question. Even the Greshdinin declares peremptorily for peace, the Novoe Vremya alone dissenting from the general chorus by saying that the peace is not so essential as "foreign and internal enemies" imagine, and picturing Great Britain, the United States and the continental powers as beginning to tremble in face of "the yellow peril."

ADM. YAMAMOTO.

He Dispatched Flowers For the Room of Adm. Rojestvensky.

Tokio, June 5.—Adm. Yamamoto, minister of the navy, has dispatched flowers for the room of Rr. Adm. Rojestvensky. Accompanying the flowers was a letter to the wounded Russian officer saying:

"I beg to express my respects for you in discharging your duty like a soldier in fighting desperately for the sake of your fatherland. I can not refrain from sympathising with you in your wounded condition and hope the accommodations of our hospitals and ability of our naval surgeons will ease your suffering and speedily restore your health."

Adm. Yamamoto sent a general letter to the wounded Russian officers and men expressing the hope that their suffering would soon be ended and that they would speedily recover.

Tokio, June 5.—Vice Adm. Togo visited Vice Adm. Rojestvensky at the naval hospital at Sasecivo Saturday and expressed his sympathy for the admiral's wounds. He praised the desperately courageous fight of the Russians.

FEUDISTS' BATTLE.

One Killed, Two Mortally, Two Dangerously and Two Seriously Hurt.

Lexington, Ky., June 5.—In a feud battle in Wolfe county, near Lee City shortly after noon one man was instantly killed, two mortally wounded, two dangerously wounded and two seriously shot. Andrew Wilson, a lumber dealer and farmer, was dead when the firing ceased. Henry Freeman is wounded 13 times, 11 bullets entering the body and two in the head. Harland Dykes is shot in the body and can not recover. James Dykes, his brother, is shot in the breast and thigh and is in a dangerous condition. John Allen, a merchant of Insko, Ky., was shot in the face and arm. Lee Allen was dangerously wounded in the thigh.

The battle was the sequel of a fight several weeks ago between Andy Wilson and Green Patrick and Hiram and Peter Davis, when the Davis' boys were wounded.

ENEMIES BECOME FRIENDS.

J. H. Hyde and J. W. Alexander Agree To Work Together.

New York, June 5.—As the result of a conference between James W. Alexander and James H. Hyde it was agreed that the combined forces of the two factions of the Equitable Life Assurance society management would be concentrated on the selection of Robert T. Lincoln, of Chicago, former ambassador to England, son of the late President Lincoln, and at present the head of the Pullman Palace Car Co.

Chicago, June 5.— Robert T. Lincoln, of this city, was asked if he would accept the office of chairman of the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society, should the position be offered to him. In reply Mr. Lincoln said that under no circumstances would he accept the office.

Attack on Vladivostok Expected.

Vladivostok, June 5.—It is expected here that a Japanese attack on the fortress will not be long delayed. There is, however, a calm and determined spirit manifested by the population in face of the forthcoming crisis.

Death of Gen. H. V. Boynton.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 5.—Gen. H. V. Boynton, president of the Chickamauga park commission, died here. Gen. Boynton had been ill since March. He had a notable career as a soldier and newspaper man.

RAILROAD RATE LEGISLATION

It Is Unconstitutional and Unnecessary to Confiscate the Property of the Railways.

Testifying before the Senate Committee at Washington, Inter-State Commerce Commission Prouty said in discussing the proposition to give to that Commission the power to regulate railway rates:

"I think the railways should make their own rates. I think they should be allowed to develop their own business. I have never advocated any law, and I am not now in favor of any law, which would put the rate making power into the hands of any commission or any court. While it may be necessary to do that some time, while that is done in some states at the present time, while it is done in some countries, I am opposed to it. . . . The railway rate is property. It is all the property that the railway has got. The rest of its property is not good for anything unless it can charge a rate. Now it has always seemed to me that when a rate was fixed, if that rate was an unreasonable rate, it deprives the railroad company of its property protanto. It is not necessary that you should confiscate the property of a railroad; it is not necessary that you should say that it shall not earn three per cent. or four per cent. When you put in a rate that is inherently unreasonable, you have deprived that company of its rights, of its property, and the Circuit Court of the United States has jurisdiction under the fourteenth amendment to restrain that. . . . I have looked at these cases a great many times, and I can only come to the conclusion that a railroad company is entitled to charge a fair and reasonable rate, and if any order of a commission, if any statute of a state legislature, takes away that rate, the fourteenth amendment protects the railway company."

CONCERNING CHURCHMEN.

Pope Pius goes on as he began, preaching and practicing the simple life. He has been reducing display on the one hand and salaries on the other.

Mrs. John W. Cox, wife of a New York architect, is the first woman to become principal of the Chautauqua institute, one of the best known Quaker school.

Gov. Hoch of Kansas is an ardent Methodist. Since his going to Topeka as governor he has been much in demand as a speaker at church affairs of different denominations. The governor feels even more at home in a church affair than he does at a political convention.

A Capuchin, expelled by the French government from the convent of Bayonne, has just been decorated by the Spanish government for an act of heroism. Near his convent of refuge in Burgos a child was badly burned. To save it from death by the process of grafting, this brave monk gave 29 pieces of his own skin.

Rev. Frank D. Chada has been for 12 years pastor of the Bohemian work in Baltimore. His church now has 80 members and there are 270 pupils enrolled in the Sunday school, 30 in the kindergarten, and 180 girls in the sewing school. The church also maintains boys' and girls' clubs and a mothers' meeting.

Feeding at a London Club.

The Constitutional club has 5,345 members. Last year it provided upwards of 90,000 luncheons, over 22,000 breakfasts and about 55,000 dinners. It paid nearly £12,000 in salaries, and gave a Christmas box of £1,526 to the servants.

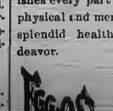
Woman's Way.

McFlub—No, I never scrap with my wife.

Sleeth—Doesn't pay, eh?

McFlub—Hardly. Win or lose she always demands an indemnity.—Chicago Sun.

"The Simple Life"



Proper Food is Really the First Step in Right Living.

One of the evils of our complex modern way of living, is our unnatural and unhealthy foods.

To have really good health and a good stomach it is necessary to eat simple nourishing food. EGG-O-SEE is the ideal food, and reaches the proper requirements in this direction more nearly than any other cereal now on the market.

To make EGG-O-SEE the kernels of the choicest California white wheat are first cleansed by brushes, then thoroughly steam cooked, then flaked and crisped to a maple tint and delicately flavored with natural fruit juice and pure grain sugar.

In these delicious flakes, lies the mighty strength-giving power of the whole wheat grain that evenly nourishes every part of the body, and gives physical and mental energy that means splendid health and successful endeavor.

A large package at any grocery 10c

THE EGG-O-SEE CO. Quincy, Ill.

SAVED SO AS BY FIRE

PART II.

OUR BIBLE STORY by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1905, by J. M. Kyson.)

Scripture Authority:—"In the days of Lot they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded; but the same day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all. Even so shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed."—Luke 17:28-30.

"If any man's work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss; but he himself shall be saved; yet so as by fire."—1 Cor. 3:15.

Read also Gen. 19:15-29.

THOU must not tarry longer! It is not time for tears, but for action, for the judgment of the Lord draweth nigh. Thy weeping cannot recall the past. It were the better part of wisdom to make the most of the present!"

Thus spake the Lord's messengers to Lot, as he sat bowed in grief on his return from his daughters, to whom he had gone with his warning of the coming destruction of Sodom, and who had mocked him and scorned his message.

The gray dawn of the morning had yielded to the brighter, clearer light whose coming proclaimed the arrival at the eastern gates of the heavens of the king of day. Never had fairer day begun over Sodom. The gentle breezes played softly through the tree tops and ever and anon dipped low and fanned the cheeks of the inhabitants as they passed hither and thither on pleasure or business bent. The birds sang, and no discordant note broke the harmony of the morning.

The sharp, authoritative voice of his guests aroused Lot, and, turning to his wife and two daughters, who had stood in silence during his recital of the results of his visit to his married daughters, he said, in broken, husky voice:

"Come! Let us be going."

With a despairing look about the handsome room, at the rich curtainings and the soft couches, Mrs. Lot bowed her head on her daughter's shoulder and moaned:

"Oh! must we go? Oh, why is God so cruel?"

Frightened at his wife's speech and fearing that it would displease the Lord's messengers, Lot responded, sharply:

"We must! Come!"

"But must we leave all our beautiful things behind? Oh! May we not pack up, and take some of our treasures with us?"

"Oh, yes, papa; if we must go, let us not go empty-handed!" broke in one of the daughters, in beseeching tones, wringing her hands and throwing herself at her father's feet. "There is that new mantle of mine, and that jewelry, and that pretty pottery you bought in the market place the other day from that Egyptian trader. Oh! may we not take some of our beautiful things?"

How dare he tarry? Overcome by the fierce conflict he sank upon the couch, and beating the air with his clenched fists, he moaned over and over again:

"Woe is me! Woe is me!"

And in the moment of such indecision when the soul is halting between the choice of the things of this life and the things of God, how merciful God is in His dealings.

But the morning was wearing away! And the messengers of the Lord hastened Lot, crying in sharp, authoritative voice:

"Arise, take thy wife and thy two daughters, which are here; lest thou be consumed in the iniquity of the city!"

And while Lot lingered, the men laid hold, upon his hand, and upon the hand of his wife, and upon the hands of his two daughters, exclaiming:

"Come, thou must! Else the wrath of God will overtake you, and thou wilt miserably perish in the destruction of the city!"

As they crossed the courtyard of the house to the street, the servants ceased their exciting converse over the strange happenings, but no one asked whither they were going or why they went, for the violence of the night, and the words of the Lord's messengers were known to them, but they believed them not, and had they dared they would have laid violent hands upon the two men, and prevented the flight of their master and mistress and his two daughters.

One of the group reached forth his hand in an uncertain, aimless manner, as one might do in the darkness when feeling for something which the eye could not see, and at last, after circling the air, he touched the garment of one standing near and, laying his hand upon him, he asked, eagerly:

"What is it? I hear hurried footsteps! Who has fled?"

"It is our Master Lot and his family, hastening from the city with the two strangers," responded the one addressed, fiercely.

At the mention of the two strangers, the first speaker uttered a vile imprecation, and hissed through his teeth:

"And they leave me this!" motioning despairingly towards his eyes that looked out in glassy, dead stare from their sockets. "Ah, if we had only gotten hold of those fellows last night before this strange curse fell upon us, they never would be leaving the city thus.

"When they came last night I liked not their looks, and felt that they came to stir up trouble in our city, and when I overheard them speaking to my master of the wickedness of the city and that the place was to be destroyed, a fierce hatred seized me."

"And was it you who stirred up the people against them?" asked the other.

"That it was! And had sudden blindness not overtaken us so that we could not come at the door, we should have seized them and torn them in pieces."

Thus talking, they watched the fleeing forms until they disappeared.

"Gone!" laconically exclaimed another of the group, and then, seized by a sudden inspiration, he cried: "And whose shall all these things be?" motioning towards the house.

By way of response a simultaneous rush was made for the door through which Lot and his family had just come, and the blind man, with slow, uncertain footsteps, followed as best he could, and soon high carnival reigned within.

In the meantime the messengers, clinging fast hold of their half-reluctant charges, hastened towards the city's gate. Past the busy scenes of the city's life, without stopping to note the dark sneers, or heed the mocking laugh and insulting speech of the groups of people that filled the streets, they soon came to the market place where for so many years Lot had ruled. There was his seat of authority, there were the merchants gathered, there were all the activities and interests over which he had ruled so successfully, and now dignity, honor, treasure gone, he was being swept helplessly by the scenes of his triumphs and out of the city by these two strangers!

Lot breathed a sigh of relief when the awful ordeal was over, and the messengers had gotten them well out of the city, but they never paused in their flight until they came to the place where Lot had first pitched his tent years before, and where, yielding to the attractions of Sodom, he had moved thither. Then spake one of the messengers, saying:

"Escape for thy life; look not behind thee, neither stay thou in all the plain; escape to the mountain, lest thou be consumed."

And Lot said unto them:

"Oh, not so, my Lord! Behold now, thy servant hath found grace in thy sight, and thou hast magnified thy mercy, which thou hast showed unto me in saving my life; and I cannot escape to the mountain, lest some evil take me and I die. Behold now, this city is near to flee unto, and it is a little one. Oh, let me escape thither (is it not a little one?) and my soul shall live."

And he said unto him:

"See, I have accepted thee concerning this thing also, that I will not overthrow this city, for which thou hast spoken. Haste thee, escape thither; for I cannot do anything till thou be come thither." And with this parting warning, the messengers of the Lord disappeared, leaving Lot and his wife and daughters to make their way alone.

"Come! Let us hasten!" cried Lot, feeling the terror of the impending judgment, and heeding the parting warning.

Thus on they continued their flight, and the only sounds which broke the stillness of the morning air were the songs of the birds as they skimmed on the bosom of the sun's golden light, then streaming over the earth, and an occasional sob and moan from Mrs. Lot.

But soon her steps began to lag behind, and to Lot's urgent appeal that she remember the warning to linger not or look behind, she returned impatient and angry reply. Her heart and her treasure were behind her, and how could her feet move where her heart and desire did not go also?

In agony of fear, Lot half dragged, half pushed his wife along, the while pleading with her to remember the warnings and the destruction which lay behind.

"Let go! Not another step will I take!" at last she exclaimed, fiercely. And then, losing herself completely, she began to rave over the treasures and life which she had left behind.

"Sodom to be destroyed! I don't believe it!" she shouted. "Go on to Zoar, if you want to! I'm going back to Sodom!" and tearing herself loose from the grasp of her husband, she sped back over the plain.

Lot dare not pursue after her, for the words of the Lord's messengers sounded in his ear: "Look not behind thee; neither stay thou in all the plain." And so, beating his bosom in the agony of despair, he continued on his way with his two daughters, who were weeping bitterly.

So they came to Zoar, and as they entered a sudden, fearful roar rent the air, the earth trembled beneath their feet, a lurid flash crossed the heavens, brighter than the sun's glare, and then darkness covered Zoar, while over the plain below there rose the fire and smoke, as though from a mighty furnace.

And away off to the north west, on Hebron's lofty heights, a solitary soul kept silent vigil. Early that morning Abraham had sought the place where he stood before the Lord. No sleep had closed his eyes that night. And now, as he looked towards Sodom and Gomorrah, and towards all the land of the plain, he beheld, and lo, the smoke of the country went up as the smoke of a furnace. And Abraham, as he stood there, had the sweet consciousness of the Lord's presence, and that his prayer had been heard, and Lot delivered from the overflow, and as he bowed his head reverently, he said:

"Thanks be to Thee, Thou God of heaven and earth, for thy changeless love and thy enduring mercy. Let me not depart therefrom."

CORPORATION CONTROL.

Record of Democrats Beyond Reproach—Republicans Divided on This Issue.

The democratic record on control of railroad rates is beyond reproach from the people's standpoint. Not only has the democratic party declared continually in its platforms for control of public monopolies, but the votes of democratic members of congress have been uniformly cast for controlling the power of railroad corporations to charge exorbitant rates. In the last congress the democratic members were unanimous for the Davey bill, which provided that the interstate commerce commission should have the power to fix maximum rates, but this bill was voted down by the republican majority. The Esch-Townsend bill which was passed by the house of representatives and which the democrats voted for, in lieu of a better measure, was much more complex than the Davey bill. It had some good provisions but lacked the plain and direct conditions of the bill that the democrats proposed. Why the republicans forced a bill that was complex and uncertain in many of its provisions can be judged by their past position on railroad legislation.

For ten years the interstate commerce commission has asked congress to grant it more power to deal with the railroads, especially the power to fix maximum rates. During all these years the republicans have controlled congress, but beyond passing the Elkins bill, which has done more harm than good to the people, which bill the railroad combinations favored, no legislation for the relief of the people has been accomplished.

President Roosevelt has taken up the fight for the people against the railroads and has declared substantially for the democratic contention, but a large faction of his party, with a majority of the United States senate, are secretly opposing the legislation he recommends. This opposition of many of the republican leaders to controlling the railroads was to be expected, for they and their party have been receiving campaign funds from the corporations and in many states it is notorious that the railroad attorneys, agents and lobbyists have dictated the nominations for state and federal officers in most of the republican conventions. As the democrats in the last congress proposed the policy which the president has adopted so they will continue this policy in the coming congress. As long as President Roosevelt continues to recommend legislation that agrees with democratic platforms and principles he may rely upon the support of all true democrats. The problem of the coming congress is how many republican members will be found honestly aiding the democrats and the president to control the railroads.

The exultant democracy of Chicago, through the Iroquois club, promised to stand by the present, even to the end of aiding in giving him a third term, if such is necessary to complete the reforms he has initiated. That extraordinary statement from political opponents shows how strongly the business men and other voters of the country feel on this paramount issue of controlling railroads and other corporations. Whatever course the republican majority in congress may take the democracy may be relied upon to vote for any plain, straightforward bill that will give the interstate commerce commission power to fix maximum rates and will cooperate with the president and the faction of his party that he represents in passing such legislation.

THE MACHINE IN CONTROL

Everything at Washington Is Run Through by Republican Workmen.

A republican congressman may honestly favor reforms that the people are everywhere demanding, but experience shows us that but on in a thousand has the nerve to be independent when he gets to Washington. The atmosphere of Washington is surcharged with machine politics. In the house of representatives three men rule the republican machine and the balance obey. Speaker Cannon, Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, and Grosvenor, of Ohio, the majority of the committee on rules, dictate legislation. No bill, even a private one, can be considered without the speaker is first seen and promises to "recognize" the member who wants to pass it. When it comes to public bills, such as tariff, trust or railroad legislation, if any republican member should be bold enough to introduce a bill that would reform present abuses, the committee to whom it is referred would never report it, unless the triumvirate above named, favor its consideration.

This machine, through which all legislation must pass, resents any show of independence in a republican member and shows him but slight consideration if he persists in his independent attitude, and he soon finds all the avenues of legislation for his district closed to him. The republican machine at Washington rules just as rough-shod over those who oppose its policy as the lesser end of the machine does here at home.

——Democrats have not been so happy in ten years. The government of high protection is bucking the tight combine of protected trusts. Which ever way it ends democracy wins.—St. Louis Republic.

——It is true that the United States senate, defying reciprocity treaties, has made serious mistakes. The senate stands a little too tenaciously for the classes and in standing with tenacity for the classes it hurts the masses of whom the classes are an important part. When the masses suffer, the classes better look out.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

DEFICIT IN THE TREASURY.

Trusts or People Must Suffer So That the Shortage May Be Met.

The growing deficit in the national treasury, reaching on May 17 the enormous sum of $36,753,556, and increasing so the deficiency for this month to the same date is $3,063,999. Last year about this time Secretary Shaw professed to be tolerably certain there would be no deficit, or at least but a small one, but his prognostications have proved so often erroneous that like the predictions of the weather bureau any old weather-wise sailor is more accurate.

The republicans have boasted so much about their business management of our financial affairs and their ability to meet any emergency that may arise, that it will be interesting to watch how they propose to overcome this difficulty. At present they are debating amongst themselves who is to suffer for their extravagance and favoritism. Primarily the deficit must be charged to tariff protection, the rates of duty being so high that many schedules produce no revenue and others a large decrease.

But there is also the serious charge of extravagant appropriations to be met by the republicans. Knowing the public income was falling off they have still continued to increase appropriations until what was in 1896 less than $300,000,000 is now over $500,000,000, without figuring the cost of the postal service. The most shallow business mind knows that expenditures cannot exceed income unless the income is increased by borrowing, or drawing on savings, the latter is what Uncle Sam has been doing, but he is now near the end of his string. He must either economize, or borrow, or increase the taxes. There are two ways of increasing taxation, first by imposing more internal revenue taxes, or by reducing duties on goods that compete with trust products and so increase foreign importations. And the duty paid on this increase would replenish the fund in the treasury.

This is the financial issue that the republicans face and must meet when congress convenes. The democrats have warned them every session that this would be the result, that high protection and extravagance could not go hand in hand for long without disaster.

TO REVISE THE CABINET.

Secretary Morton Cannot Be Consistently Retained by the President.

So Mr. Paul Morton is to leave the cabinet next spring and return to his former occupation of railroading. He will doubtless be again active in the distribution of rebates and in fixing up discriminating rates in favor of shippers who are able to demand them. His experience in public affairs will be valuable in helping him to know how in future to escape detection by the agents of the department of commerce and labor. He will doubtless be able to put a nail in the coffin in which the bill for regulating rates will be buried. Who will sit in his place at the cabinet table and advise the president how the railroads plunder the people? From what Secretary Taft said and the president indorsed in his last Chicago speech to the Chicago democrats, the administration has nailed its colors to the mast, for power to be given the interstate commerce commission to fix minimum rates. No wonder a professed railroad man must get out of the cabinet; but what will the president do with his other advisors, they are all secret friends of the railroads, and have railroad passes in their pockets.

THE FIELD OF POLITICS.

——At this distance from the scene it looks as if the steel trust had taken one foot out of the trough.—Chicago Tribune (Rep.).

——Roosevelt and Taft are making us think that the democratic party got the majorities last year.—St. Louis Republic.

——"Taft warns the railroads," says the headlines. How this must appeal to Senator Aldrich's sense of humor!—Atlanta Constitution.

——For just about 24 hours at a time Mr. Roosevelt can be one of the most determined tariff revisionists in the country.—N. Y. World.

——Funny, isn't it, that the people elect and pay salaries to legislatures for the purpose of raising their taxes higher every year.—Rochester Herald (Ind Dem.).

——Would you believe it? The "stand pat" higher criticism begins to doubt the infallibility of the New York Tribune, as the "republican Bible."—Albany Argus.

——Secretary Shaw is ordering economy in lights in federal buildings to save the deficit. He will have difficulty in keeping that deficit in the dark.—Washington Post.

——Senator Foraker of Ohio is a candidate for the presidential nomination in 1908, with a slender chance, it is thought, of coming in among the "also rans."—Binghamton Leader.

——Secretary Morton will resign July 1. Three days later the country will celebrate.—Indianapolis News.

——It is not a democratic lie that the manufacturers do this—not this time! It is the discovery and probation of a republican administration now. President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft have the grace to be indignant, and the honesty to declare that this government will buy abroad then, since the manufacturers themselves make that the cheapest market. It is a fine revelation and it disturbs the priests of protection mightily!—Utica Observer.

STATE ITEMS OF INTEREST

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

Reuben Gill Was in the Act of Loading the Family Shotgun.

Winchester, Ky., June 3.—Reuben Gill, aged about 25 years, was accidentally shot in the left leg by a gun in the hands of a young lady, as a result of which his leg was amputated at the knee joint.

He was calling on Miss Minnie Lowry, when the subject of burglars came up, and she declared that some one had been prowling around lately. It was suggested that the shotgun be loaded. She held the gun while he loaded it, and in attempting to close the breech it exploded, wounding Gill in the leg. The young lady, her sister and her mother are prostrated by the affair.

ON HIS WIFE'S GRAVE.

The Dead Body of Harvey W. Alexander Was Found.

Lexington, Ky., June 1.—Lying across the grave of his wife in the Lexington cemetery, cold in death, Harvey W. Alexander, a promising young man of this city, was found by Riley Dodson, a grave digger. Alexander was seen by Dodson just before the storm sitting at the grave of his wife, with a handkerchief to his eyes, but thinking the man was only weeping he paid no particular attention to him. Alexander's wife was buried just two years ago to the day on which he died on her grave, and his family think that constant worry over her demise caused him to collapse.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF BLACK.

His Invitation To the Confederate Reunion Withdrawn.

Louisville, Ky., June 3.—Gen. John C. Black, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., will not be invited to attend the reunion of Confederate Veterans in this city June 14, 15 and 16. John W. Green introduced a resolution at the meeting of the executive committee in charge of the reunion authorizing Gen. John B. Castleman to ask Gen. Black to come, but after a prolonged discussion Mr. Green withdrew his motion.

Breckinridge Castleman has arranged to feed 10,000 people at the barbecue and burgoo feast, to be given June 15 at Western park.

FELTNER TRIAL ENDS.

A Fine of $3,000 and Imprisonment For Two Years.

Winchester, Ky., June 2.—The trial of Felix Feltner, charged with contempt of the circuit court of Clark county, closed with the most severe penalty ever inflicted here for a similar offense. The verdict imposed a fine of $3,000 and imprisonment in the county jail at hard labor for two years. A motion for a new trial was made and an appeal was taken to the court of appeals. A special term of court will be held in September to try B. F. French, the Hargises and others charged with the same offense.

Hargis In Jail Again.

Winchester, Ky., June 1.—Judge James Hargis and B. F. French were arrested in this city charged with the murder of J. B. Marcum. The warrant was sworn out by Mrs. Arbrella Marcum, widow of J. B. Marcum. The warrant included Alex Hargis and Ed Callahan. The latter is supposed to be in Jackson.

For a Fair Trial.

Russellville, Ky., June 1.—Testimony was taken in the case of Polk Fletcher, John Sacre and Jim and Guy Lyon for a change of venue. The men are charged with rape. The general opinion of nearly all the witnesses was that the prisoners could get a fair and impartial trial here.

A Dry Victory.

Cynthiana, Ky., June 2.—Judge Lafferty, attorney for the saloons, filed an agreement on the part of all the saloonkeepers to keep closed on Sundays in future. The cases against them were settled at the lowest fine. The result is a victory for the drys.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Louisville, Ky., June 2.—On the tobacco breaks the burley offerings reached 356 hhds and the dark offerings numbered 112 hhds. Burley ranged in price from $4.25 to $14, while dark varied from $3.50 to $7. The market was satisfactory.

Rives the Nominee.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 3.—Joseph E. Mosely and C. M. Meacham, of this city, by mutual agreement withdrew from the race for the democratic nomination for state senator in the Sixth Senatorial district, and Frank Rives, a lawyer of this city, was declared the nominee.

McCarty Arrested.

Louisville, Ky., June 3.—W. M. McCarty was arrested at the Victoria hotel. Detectives Simons and Murray allege that he has been passing worthless checks at Bowling Green. McCarty had several checks on Louisville banks.

Louisville Races End.

Louisville, Ky., June 3.—With the running off of an excellent card the spring meeting of the New Louisville Jockey club ended. The attendance during the 21 days has been of the record-breaking character.

A COMMON NUISANCE.

The Poolrooms of Covington Ordered Closed By Judge Shaw.

Covington, Ky., June 1.—By a decision rendered in the circuit court by Judge Shaw, the poolrooms in Covington closed their doors, the judge holding that they were a common nuisance within the meaning of the statutes.

The attorneys for the poolrooms excepted to the court's decree and will carry the case to the court of appeals.

The opinion prevails, however, that the decision by Judge Shaw will stand as the court of appeals has in very few instances dissented from rulings made by him.

IN A BATH ROOM.

John Fesler, of Nevada, Suddenly Expired at Mount Sterling.

Mount Sterling, Ky., June 3.—John Fesler, 61 years old, of Gold Fields, Nevada, died suddenly here. He was in a bath room preparing to take a bath, when he fell to the floor and expired from acute indigestion. He was a native of this county, but went west several years ago engaging in the mining business. He was a brother of Joel Fesler, the horseman, and was visiting at his home when he died. He was widely known over the south and west.

IMAGINATION KILLED HIM.

He Had Drank From a Pool Containing a Dead Snake.

Owensboro, Ky., June 2.—Ed W. Bozarth, aged 20, is dead at his home in Hawesville as a result purely of the imagination, so the physicians say. Some weeks ago Bozarth drank water from a pool in which there was a dead snake. He imagined that he was poisoned and worried continually over having drank the contaminated water. The mental agony thus caused brought on a serious physical condition, which resulted in his death.

FOR SAFE KEEPING.

Bob Baker Transferred From Jail To the Penitentiary.

Frankfort, Ky., June 2.—To prevent the carrying out of threats of violence by a mob to Bob Baker, a negro of the town, Gov. Beckham had him transferred from the jail to the state penitentiary for safe keeping. Baker is alleged to have offered an insult to the wife of Pete Baxter, a white man. He struck Baxter with a saw, and was given a sentence in the city court. A delegation of negroes called on the governor and asked him to protect Baker.

Assessments Raised.

Frankfort, Ky., June 2.—The state board of equalization passed on four counties as follows: Bullitt, increased 5 per cent.; Barren, 10 per cent., and Breathitt, 25 per cent., all on lands and personalty. The assessment of Casey county was accepted without change.

Papa Will Forgive.

Greenup, Ky., June 2.—Coonrad Harr has returned from Cincinnati, where he searched in vain for his 15-year-old daughter, Miss Cora Harr, who eloped with a young man named Edward Boggs. Mr. Harr says he will withdraw all opposition to their marriage if they will return home.

No Time Behind the Bars.

Winchester, Ky., June 2.—The Hargises and B. F. French, who were arrested charged with complicity in the Marcum murder, and Mose Feltner and Sam Fields have walked the streets in the daytime apparently without guards. They stayed at the jail building at night.

The Bump Was Fatal.

Bowling Green, Ky., June 1.—Mrs. George Gaddis accidentally struck her head against a door Sunday while visiting a neighbor. A slight bump was raised, but no attention was paid to the accident. Wednesday morning Mrs. Gaddis died from a blood clot on the brain.

Veteran Pilot Is Dead.

Newport, Ky., June 3.—Andrew L. Pierce, 74, one of the best-known pilots along the Ohio river, died at his home, 314 West Fifth street. He was the oldest in point of service of all the Newport pilots and was the last of three brothers, all of whom were pilots.

Azrael Robbed Hymen.

Newport, Ky., June 3.—Since the sudden death of Harry Mitchell, a rolling mill man, it has developed that he was engaged to be married to Miss Sallie Lynn, of Keturah street, and the ceremony was to have taken place the latter part of June.

Refuse Motion For Change of Venue.

Russellville, Ky., June 3.—A motion for a change of venue has been refused in the cases of W. R. Fletcher, John Sane, James and Guy Lyon. They are accused of beating and robbing Vincent Glader and assaulting his daughter.

Woman Burned To Death.

Louisville, Ky., June 3.—Mrs. Barbara Sommers, who lives at 2269 24th street, was burned to death, and her mother, Mrs. Anna Gump, 72, is lying at point of death from burns received while trying to save her daughter.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
Wednesday, - - June 7, 1905.
W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

A Sunday School will be organized at Woolper school house next Sunday at 3 p. m.

The kodac men are certainly a source of very great annoyance to Miss Alice Roosevelt while she is visiting in Cincinnati.

At this distance Senator Blackburn appears to have gone away back and set down, in so far as the next Senatorship is concerned.

Rev. Miller will deliver his lecture in the Christian church in Petersburg on the night of the 13th inst. Proceeds to be used for the benefit of the church. All are invited.

County Attorney D. E. Castleman and J. C. Revill are at Georgetown attending the commencement of the college. Mr. Castleman was one of the orators chosen for the occasion.

The Japanese naval victory of a few days since makes Admiral Dewey's performance in Manila Bay and Admiral Sampson's scrap at Santiago, look like children's play. Admiral Togo is a modern wonder when it comes to a naval performance.

It turns out that Philadelphia made a mistake at the last city election and chose a mayor who is an honest man, the discovery of which fact is causing an immense amount of trouble in the Quaker metropolis. It has, for many years, been considered a very bad policy and judgment on the part of Philadelphia officials to manifest a single honest trait, hence the present trouble.

Wherever alfalfa and corn have been combined in the feeding ration for beef cattle it has been a success. Capt. W. S. Smith of Iowa reports his own feeding experiment on this ration to 111 head of beef cattle. He bought the cattle at 3 cents, and run them part of the past winter on stalk fields and to straw stacks, and fed them besides on alfalfa hay and corn. He finds that his corn fed made him 40 cents a bushel, and $7.00 a ton for alfalfa which was above the market price there. In reporting the results to the Sioux City Journal, Captain Smith states that the cattle were purchased at a weight of 846 lbs. and made the remarkable gain of 285 lbs. to the head in the five month's feeding, averaging 131 lbs. when sold. To accomplish this Mr. Smith figures that it cost him 16½ cents per day. He says that his net profits on the cattle, deducting labor, etc., was $1,429.70.

If the population of a fair-sized city were wiped out of existence by a single cataclasm, if the families of 80,000 strong, able-bodied men were thrown dependent on the world through the instantaneous workings of a great pestilence, would not civilization, particularly if in a measure responsible for what had happened be called upon not only to find relief for the victims but to furnish safeguards against a repetition of the disaster? It is because the world doubts its own motives that it can gaze upon such a sacrifice of human life as is not being offered on the mountains of Manchuria and find justificaion in its patriotism? And if there is found in this grisly monument of the dead incentive to higher things sufficient for its cost, to what account must we debit the sorrow and suffering of the hundreds and thousands bereft and helpless ones, paying out of all proportion to their means or their deserts? To hold that one nation whose sons are machine-slaughtered in an accident called war, is glorified thereby, while another, losing a tithe of the number through the accident of a plague, forfeits the respect of her sisters, is carrying a regard for convention beyond limits where intelligence may flow. It is not only the privilege but the duty of civilized people to readjust, ruthlessly if need be, the traditional standards of national and personal morality to fit the broader understanding of man's duty to mankind which we boast to-day. Yet so far removed are our practices from our principles that the slaughter of a hundred thousand brave men is accepted as calmly as a recognized preliminary to the national adjustment of the differences between Japan and Russia. Is there wonder that "those living in darkness" accept only tentatively our doctrine of peace on earth?"

The new skirts positively invite crinoline their folds.

Flannel waists have big wafer spots in Persian coloring.

A rebellion against over-elaboration is predicted for autumn.

Two or three featherbone cords are used in the silk drop skirt.

Cuffs, revers, collars, vests and belts are all fashioned of leather.

Velvets that imitate furs are among the leading millinery novelties.

Necklaces of amethysts are in high favor for wear with white dresses.

A new chiffon veil can hide a multitude of sins in the way of a shabby hat.

There are bags of that bright new orange which appears so startling in belts.

Brown, of the golden and chestnut hues, will be the leading shade for dress stuffs.

One of the peculiarities of the summer coats is that most of them have their sleeves lined with taffeta, but the other parts of the coat are left unlined.

All black evening frocks are frequently set off with girdles of pompadour ribbon, while dull grays and indifferent blues will get life from touches of orange.

Yachting parasols are among the novelties for fine dresses. They come in all scarlet or white with wooden handles sometimes carved like the keel of a boat.

Rough finished pongees are much sought by fashionable women, particularly in the delicate shades, such as pastel blue, helletrope, reseda, biscuit and oyster white.

The season's golfing hat has a wider brim than heretofore and is composed of rough, soft straw, the only adornment being a band of canvas embroidered in bright colors.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You will be kind.
You will not use slang.
You will try to make others happy.
You will not be shy or self-conscious.
You will never forget the respect due to age.
You will not swagger or boast of your achievements.
You will think of others before you think of yourself.
You will be scrupulous in your regard for the rights of others.
You will not measure your civility by people's bank accounts.
You will not forget engagements, promises, or obligations of any kind.
You will never make fun of the peculiarities or idiosyncrasies of others.
You will not bore people by constantly talking of yourself and your affairs.

PUBLIC SALE
—OF A—
Boone County Farm
at 3 o'clock p. m.,
Saturday, June 24, 1905.

As administrator and Trustee of the A. P. Collins estate, I will, on the above date, sell to the highest bidder on the premises near Richwood Sta., Cincinnati Southern R. R., the Farm of 105 Acres.

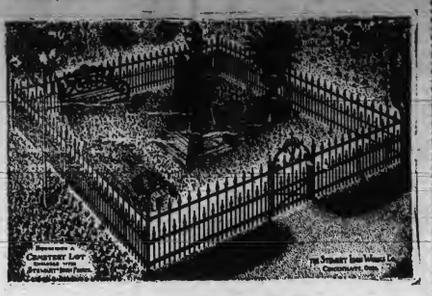
This is considered one of the best farms in Boone county, all in grass—timothy, red clover and blue grass, with the exception of 23 acres of rye which has been sown in red clover, timothy and blue grass mixed.

It is the nucleus of making one of the most attractive and valuable stock farms in Northern Kentucky. The typography of it is perfect and the superior quality of the soil is not excelled, to which claim you will subscribe after you have examined it.



The improvements embrace a good six room house and porches, cellar, barn, and all kinds of outbuildings and good fencing. It is well watered with wells, cisterns, pond and never failing springs.

A private avenue runs to the Lexington pike. The house is about 8 minutes walk to Richwood Sta., C. N. O. & T. P. Railroad. Commuter rates to the city 7½c a trip with four trains daily. Telegraph, telephone, express and postoffice.

Possession with the privilege of harvesting the growing crop, will be given as soon as the terms of the sale are complied with.

Terms made known day of sale.

A. C. COLLINS, Admr.
and Trustee of estate.

For Best Prices Call or Write to
HENRY QUICK, Hebron, Ky.,
—SPECIAL AGENT FOR—
The Stewart Iron Works Company,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

MY STOCK OF
—NICE, FRESH—
Groceries!
is renewed every week.
I don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find my prices right.
COUNTRY PRODUCE
taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.
W. C. WEAVER,
Burlington, Ky.

FARM FOR SALE.
A good farm of 227 acres, near Rabbit Hash, Boone county, Ky. Capable of being divided.
THOS. N. STEPHENS,
Rabbit Hash, Ky.

ICE
Cream Time
is here and you need Vanilla and Lemon flavors.
We can save you money by selling it to you in bulk, and quality is first-class.
OUR PRICES.
1 oz. Vanilla or Lemon..05c
6 oz. Vanilla or Lemon..25c
1 pt. Vanilla or Lemon..65c
1 qt. Vanilla or Lemon..$1.25
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder saves half the cream, pk.13c
Pippey's Foamaline.....20c
Grated Pine Apple, can.....13 & 23c
Lemons, dozen.....15c
Red Sugar, lb.....15c
See our Special sale of Pitchers, while they last.....10c.
GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,
—GROCER—
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, KY.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

The Sheriff of Boone County Kentucky, hereby gives notice to the Delinquent taxpayers of Boone county, that he will, in compliance with Chapter 109 of the Ky. Statutes and amendments thereto, proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, all or so much of the property hereinafter described, listed to the respective person named as per assessors returns for 1904, as may be necessary to pay State and County tax assessed against same together with all penalties, cost of advertising and commissions, at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., on Mouday, July 3, 1905, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 3 o'clock p. m., the following described property. Reference is had to the Original Assessor's book at County Clerk's office, Burlington, Ky., for the more particular description of the property herein advertised.

Mrs. Mary E. Kendall, 92 acres...$11.50

B. B. ALLPHIN, S. B. C.

One of the oldest churches in this country is found in the red wood forests of California. It is near San Jose and is maintained by a mining settlement, the minister working as a miner during the week. It is built in one of the hollow trees and accommodates a congregation of twenty-five; with space for a recess channel which contains a small organ.

CURES STOMACH TROUBLES

THE body gets its life from food properly digested. Healthy digestion means pure blood for the body, but stomach troubles arise from carelessness in eating and stomach disorders upset the entire system. Improperly masticated food sours on the stomach, causing distressing pains, belching and nausea. When over-eating is persisted in the stomach becomes weakened and worn out and dyspepsia claims the victim.

Thedford's Black-Draught cures dyspepsia. It frees the stomach and bowels of congested matter and gives the stomach new life. The stomach is quickly invigorated and the natural stimulation results in a good appetite, with the power to thoroughly digest food.

You can build up your stomach with this mild and natural remedy. Try Thedford's Black-Draught today. You can buy a package from your dealer for 25c. If he does not keep it, send the money to The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., and a package will be mailed you.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

NOTICE.

Men who were drafted in 1864 and paid money to be exempted from service in the army or to employ a substitute, can get $900 returned to them by presenting their claims. I am prepared to make application on such claims. H. CLAY WHITE, Atty.
Williamstown, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

W. M. KENNEY,
DEALER IN
Fine Wines and Liquors,
Best $2 whisky in the city.
141 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

DON'T FORGET
that we sell the Krause Riding Cultivator,
THE BEST MADE.
Write for Prices.
W. M Rachal & Co.,
UNION, KY.

ANTHONY BENTLER,
AUCTIONEER,
19 Covington Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KY.
Will cry sales anywhere in Boone or Kenton county. Prices reasonable.

FOR SALE.
Farm of 38¾ acres, good new house of 5 rooms, good water in the yard year round; on rural route and telephone line, near Plattsburg. SAM'L HENSLEY, Petersburg, Ky.

BLACKSMITHING.
Those who want horseshoeing, or repairing of any kind of farm implement, done, are requested to call at our shop in Bullittsville. We do any and all kinds of iron or woodwork. J. M. BIRKLE & SON.

Subscribe for the Recorder

Deposits Earning Interest.
THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY, Inc.
N. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, KY.
Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice,
ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.
Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.
It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.
In its several departments, THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY
Acts as Agent; Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc; Attends carefully to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.
—ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL.—
CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.
Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.
JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President
C. W. SIMRALL, Sec'y & Treas.
Long Distance Telephone, South 214.

J. G. BENTLER & SON,
Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.
Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing
and Wagon Repairing of all kinds,
All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.
Grinding of all Kinds to Order.

Hay and Grain,
AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,
By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.
Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.
Successors to Clemens Hellman.
LUMBER DEALERS,
Manufacturers of
Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.
White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar. Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings, Etc.
COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.
Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122
H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.
Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

Spring is here
AND WE ARE READY TO SHOW THE MOST —COMPLETE LINE OF—
Men's, Hoys' and Children's
CLOTHING
We have a very large assortment to select from, and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL AND WORKMANSHIP. Kindly come in and inspect our
Men's Suits at.....$5. $7.50, $10, $12.
Boys' Suits at.....$3.50 to $10
Children's Suits at.....$1.50 to $5.00
Men's Pants at.....$1.00 to $5.00
Men's Cotton Pants.....50 and 65c.
Just the thing for out door work.
ROLFES & WACHS,
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

"Always Reliable."
W. N. HIND & CO.
Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,
210-12 W. Fifth Street,
Cincinnati, - Ohio.

NOTICE—The partnership of W. B. Norman & Alice Norman, doing business under the name of W. B. Norman, has been dissolved. The said W. B. Norman having purchased the interest of said Alice Norman, takes all accounts and assumes all indebtedness.
W. B. NORMAN,
ALICE NORMAN.

Millinery and Dry Goods.
A becoming Hat and Dress makes a plain face pretty, and a pretty face prettier, so do me the honor to call and see my display in Hats and Ladies' Furnishings, Children's Wear and Notions.
Miss Lou W. Allen
Petersburg, Ky.

Local News.

The river is falling rapidly.

This is the month of roses and weddings.

The farmers are on the jump—so are the weeds.

Overseer O. P. Phipps has a force of men doing time on the public roads.

Just now no reason why there should not be a large crop of black berries.

Geo. W. Anderson, of Constance, was in town Monday, hunting purchasers for several useful books.

Capt. Fenton, of Newport, has been the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Edgar Berkshire, for several days.

With June comes hot weather, and there will be no further use for stoves and grates for several months.

A dry June for a good crop year and that the farmers in this part of the country are very desirous for both.

The harvest machine men are out among the farmers, to ascertain what machinery they will need this year.

Everything points to a good wheat crop in this county, but in some parts of the State the rust is injuring it badly.

Mesdames J. G. Furnish and Addie Westbay and Otto Crisler came down from Covington, last Friday to attend Mrs. Homer Clutterbuck's funeral.

R. B. Huey, of Walton, came in Monday, and had the advertisement of R. B. Huey & Co., changed. They are now carrying a nice stock of groceries.

The ice cream and strawberry festival for the benefit of the band; last Wednesday evening, was not a great financial success. About $10 was cleared.

For Sale—Two houses, barn and out buildings. The old John Conner stand. Plenty of fruit and shade trees. Address Geo. Gebhardt, Erlanger, Ky.

W. E. Vest sold a horse to an Ohio party, last week, for $260. It was a light harness horse he recently purchased of Frank Robinson, of Richwood, for $160.

Fourteen of the forty old Confederate soldiers in the county, met in Burlington, last Monday, in regard to attending the reunion at Louisville on the 14th inst.

Everybody who sowed grass seed this spring is talking about the good stand. For several years it has been almost impossible to get grass seed to come up and grow.

Ex-Sheriff D. Beall has charge of theConstance toll-gate, succeeding William Souther, who had been in charge of the gate 25 years, when his wife died a few days since.

The clover harvest is right here with wheat showing a disposition to get ready for the harvest. A busy time for farmers is at hand and will continue for the next two months.

The colored teachers' institute for the counties of Boone, Grant and Kenton, will be held in Burlington, this year. It will bring together quite a number of colored pedagogues.

One thousand two hundred and seven people each paid 25 cents to see the Indians play ball at Burlington and Bellevue last Wednesday and Thursday, and a crowd of 1,200 is expected at Walton today.

Ye scribe is under obligations to Miss Mary Snyder, of Petersburg, for a couple of quarts of the largest and most delicious strawberries he has seen or tasted this season. In size they were nearly equal to a hen egg.

The RECORDER is under many obligations to Sidney Gaines and Edson Riddell for valuable assistance rendered last Wednesday. Tuesday being decoration day the paper for the edition was not received until Wednesday at noon.

No Secret About It.

It is no secret, that for Cuts, Burns, Ulcers, Fever Sore Eyes, Boils, etc., nothing is so effective as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "It didn't take long to cure a bad sore I had, and it is all O. K. for sore eyes," writes D. L. Gregory, of Hope, Tex. 25c at all drug stores.

A gentleman not far from town, in talking about stock up and stock out, a few days ago, remarked: "I voted to permit stock run at large, and am keeping my stock up as the law requires, but some of my neighbors, who voted to keep stock up are getting lots of good grazing along the public highway by allowing their stock to run at large."

It takes a drive over the Burlington and Bellevue pike to make a person realize the very great damage done that road by the heavy rain fall of a few weeks ago. It looks like a special effort was made to destroy the thoroughfare by tearing up the road bed in some places, and by covering it with dirt in others.

A Bad Scare.

Some day you will get a bad scare, when you feel a pain in your bowels, and fear appendicitis. Safety lies in Dr. King's New Life Pills, a sure cure, for all bowel and stomach diseases, such as headache, biliousness, costiveness, etc. Guaranteed at all drug stores, only 25c. Try them.

A CARD OF THANKS.—We desire to thank the friends, relatives and neighbors for the unceasing kindness and sympathy shown us in our sad bereavement, also we wish to especially thank Dr. J. M. Grant for his care and attention, and Brother Early for his kind remarks, and the school master for floral offering.

ANNA B. RYLE, SON AND DAUGHTER.

Mr. John Bradford, of Florence, whose critical condition was mentioned in this column last week, died last Saturday morning. He was one of the county's very old citizens and the father of Charles and William Bradford, the well known carriage and buggy makers in Florence. Mr. Bradford, was an unassuming, agreeable gentleman of the old school, of which but few are left, and his death removes another link in the chains that bind the present and the past. Peace to the good old man's ashes.

To Trustees and Teachers:—Examinations for County Certificates will take place at Burlington on the third Friday and Saturday in June, July and August. Believing that the granting of "Special License," if continued will prove detrimental to the common school interest, I shall not exercise that prerogative in the future. Therefore, those who expect to teach will please undergo the regular examination and procure a certificate. Examination for appointment to State College will take place at the same time and place of regular examintion on June 16th and 17th.

D. M. SNYDER, Supt.

I have bought a shop in Lawrenceburg, Indiana, to which place I will move on the 12th of this month, and continue to barber and do repair work. I have instructed Clutterbuck Bros., of Burlington, to accept all kinds of repair work for me and to deliver it for me when finished. I will guarantee all work to give satisfaction and should any of my guaranteed work of past dates fail to give satisfaction, kindly give it to the above or bring it to me and I will gladly correct any mistakes. Thanking my Boone county friends for past patronage and asking a continuance of same, I am Very Truly,

R. W. CLARK.

Six months ago Mrs. Nancy Hedges passed away after a lingering illness of about two years, in her home at Taylorsport, at the age of 78 years. She was the widow of Shelton Hedges, who had preceded her to that home immortal, about 15 years ago. Grandma was of a kind and loving disposition, dearly beloved by all who knew her. Her two children, Mrs. Ed Rouse, of Taylorsport, and Mrs. John Conner, of Hebron; together with eleven grand children and a host of other relatives and friends, are left to mourn their loss. Although our hearts aee heavy and tears make dim our eyes, when a vision of her sweet, old face comes to us through memory's open door, yet into our hearts comes echoes of the blessed words which speak peace to our souls, "Blessed are those that die in the Lord, for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven," and surely Grandma was one of God's chosen ones. Yet in fancy we can feel her presence near us, and hear her last words spoken to her dear ones. Her patience and faith were a beautiful thing to witness, as she waited for God's summons, and watched through life's west window for the dawning of the heavenly morning, and we could almost hear, as we stood by hear side. "The rush of the fitful tide and the dripping oars of the boatman as he wafted away death's bride." Grandma's old arm chair, now empty, only serves to remind us that over there where all is bright and no sin or sorrow comes to mar the peace of God's eternal day, Grandma is waiting and watching for us all, and some blessed day when our pilgrimage here is ended, with our Father's help and mercy, we may clasp hands once more with her and hear her kind and loving voice as she speaks words of joy and welcome to each of us, who have loved her so. A. RELATIVE.

The crowd in town last Monday was very small. Not many old Confederates responded to comrade Grimsley's call for a meeting.

Mrs. Charlotte Clutterbuck, wife of Homer Clutterbuck, died last Wednesday at 3 p. m. While Mrs. Clutterbuck had been ill for some time her death was unexpected to her many friends and cast a gloom over the entire community. Mrs. Clutterbuck was the youngest daughter of the late Erastus Garrison and Elizabeth (Reed) Garrison, now Mrs. O. J. Ryle. She was born October 21st, 1881, and was united in marriage to Homer Clutterbuck, December 21st 1899. The deceased was not a member of any church, but possessed a beautiful, christian spirit, and a lovely disposition, her life being spent in trying to advance the happiness and comfort of all with whom she was associated or came in contact. Her stay in this world was not long, but was full of good and kind deeds. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Selby, pastor of the Methodist church, at the residence at 10 a. m. last Friday morning, after which the remains were placed in the vault in the Odd-Fellows' cemetery, from which they were interred last Tuesday. The pall-bearers were Miss Olga Kirkpatrick, Miss Hettie Riddell, Miss Nellie Martin, Miss Sheba Roberts, Miss Artie Hughes, Miss Charlotte Hall, Miss Jennie Blyth and Mrs. Katie Riddell. The bereaved and heart-broken husband, mother and sister have the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement, but they should be consoled with the thought that her removal from them is only the transplanting of a flower in a more beautiful and brighter climb.

The floral offerings from friends were numerous and beautiful.

Mrs. William Wingate, of Rabbit Hash neighborhood, died of heart trouble last Saturday. The remains were interred last Monday. Mrs. Wingate was a daughter of the late William Rice, and a cousin of W. J. Rice and Mrs. R. S. Cowen, of Burlington.

It was clearly demonstrated in this office, one afternoon last week, that a gasoline engine cannot be operated with coal oil. By mistake the tank was replenished with coal oil instead of gasoline, and the first draught the engine got of the oil it threw up its job.

Wm. Zimmer, and wife, of Cincinnati, and Miss Emma Dreece and H. H. Sprague, of Delhi, Ohio, were guests of Mayor George Thomas, of Commissary, last Sunday. They took in the sights at Rock Springs and other noted places in the vicinity of Commissary. Mayor Thomas always takes a delight in showing strangers the freaks of nature in his picturesque neighborhood. The visitors enjoyed the day very much.

Not much business before the county court last Monday.

Have Your Coffee
GROUND
—OR—
PULVERIZED
On the most Up-To-Date electrically driven Coffee Mill in the city. We invite you to have us grind it and save yourself the trouble.

Golden Blend,
20c lb.

Money Worth
Blend
17c lb
3 lbs. For 50 Cents.

Don't use any other Brand.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, - KY.

J. P. HEMPHILL
THE DRUGGIST
at Rising Sun, Ind.,
....Carries a full line of....
DRUGS,
PAINTS,
OILS AND
VARNISHES.
In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet His Kentucky friends.
—CALL AND SEE HIM.—
Yours Respectfully,
J. P. HEMPHILL,
Rising Sun, Indiana.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN.

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.
Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.
PRICES REASONABLE.
Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone county.

SEAL BLEND COFFEE, per pound.. 15c
Favorite Java Blend Coffee, lb..... 20c
Quaker Oats,..... 7½c
Invincible Oats..... 5c
New York Cheese..... 15c
Pure Maple Sugar..... 15c
2 lbs. California Prunes for..... 15c
Clover Springs Creamery Butter, lb..... 30c
Jackson's Best Patent Flour, bbl.. $5.75
Big Four Flour per bbl..... $5.40
Telephone Flour per bbl..... $5.85
—THE—
HAMILTON
GROCERY CO.,
39 and 41 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, KY.

B. L. RICE. M. J. CROUCH.
RICE & CROUCH,
REAL ESTATE
And Note Brokers
Farms Bought and Sold.
Notes Negotiated. Money to Loan.
Office—UNION, KY.

FOR SALE.
White Plymouth Rock eggs for sale—pure stock. Fishel and Orebaugh strain 13 for $1.00. JAS. T. BRISTOW,
1mch8 Union, Ky.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Boone Circuit Court.

Israel Rouse, Admr., of Nancy Clark, Pltf.
vs. Notice.
Elizabeth McGlasson, &c., Defts.

Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against the estate of Nancy Clark, deceased, must present them to the undersigned properly proven according to law. He will begin his sittings to hear proof of claims June 1, 1905, in the Circuit Clerk's office and continue from day to day (Sun days excepted) until June 30, 1905
Witness my hand this May 30, 1905
J. A. DUNCAN, M. C.

JOSEPH HERRMAN,
—DEALER IN—
FANCY GROCERIES,
SMOKED MEATS,
Fruits & Vegetables
Erlanger, Kentucky.
Opp. Erlanger Deposit Bank.
Eggs and Butter exchanged in trade or cash. Boone county trade solicited.
PLEASE CALL AND GET MY PRICES.
Phone—South 1054 Y—Call 3.

The state board of equalization has added 8 per cent to the assessed value of land and personal property in this county, and accepted the value of town lots as returned by the assessor.

MEDICURA STOCK FOOD!
Cheapest and best to use. Fully guaranteed. 5 feeds for one cent. Eight cents per month per head. The greatest tonic food and fattener in the world.
FOR HOGS AND CATTLE, It cures and prevents disease. Saves ..... Grain and 40 days time in fattening.
FOR HORSES AND COLTS, A blood purifying Tonic. Expels ..... worms, gives new life and strength.
5 FEEDS FOR 1c for 12 FOWLS. MAKES HENS LAY MORE EGGS.
Your money refunded if it ever fails.

Hay, Grain, Mill Feed,
ALL WAYS KEPT ON HAND.

A New Grocery.
We have added a complete line of Fancy and Staple Groceries and canned goods, which we are selling at the Most Reasonable Prices.
R. B. HUEY & CO.,
WALTON, -- KENTUCKY.

KASPER LEHMANN,
—DEALER IN—
BOOTS and SHOES,
Custom Work Promptly Attended To.
Store: Corner Lexington Pike and Vine Street,
Formerly South Erlanger. - - ELSMERE, KY.

H. G. BLANTON,
FUNERAL & DIRECTOR

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
Special Rates to Traveling Men.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
Lexington Pike, - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission & SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone South 55) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

B. B. ALLPHIN. B. B. HUME.
ALLPHIN & HUME,

Livery and Sale Stables,
First-Class Turnouts for Hire at all Times.
GOOD RAYMOND CITY COAL A SPECIALTY.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.

CEILINGS. SKYLIGHTS. CORNICES.
The Porter Iron Roofing & Corrugating Co
27 and 29 West Front Street,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Iron, Steel, Galvanized & Felt Roofing.
Our Agents will give you wholesale prices.
Agents:—Bruce Anderson, Constance, Ky. M. J. Crouch, Union, Ky.
Our Unexcelled "Heating Drums" are the best. Inquire for Prices.

OH, HOW DELIGHTFUL!
The Perfect Deodorizer and Disinfectant
FRAGRINE
Refreshes. Perfumes. Invigorates. Endorsed by Physicians.
Most Pleasant of Toilet Requisites.
Most healthful of Household Necessities. Call and try it at
JOHN ALLISON'S, Undertaker, Covington, Ky.

RED-HANDED TERRORISTS AMONG RUSSIAN NOBILITY

THE BOMB-THROWERS ARE NOT CONFINED TO THE PEASANT CLASSES ONLY.

SLAYER OF SERGIUS WAS A PRINCE

His Unguarded Statements Sent Many Others of the Czar's Household to Prison Cells—The Terrible Punishment Prescribed by Nicholas.

St. Petersburg.—"It was the best of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity, it was the season of light, it was the season of darkness, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair, we had everything before us, we had nothing before us, we were all going direct to Heaven, we were all going direct the other way—in short the period was so far like the present period, that some of the noisest authorities insisted upon its being received, for good or for evil, in the superlative degree of comparison only. There was a king with a large jaw and a queen with a plain face on the throne of England; there was a king with a large jaw and a queen with a fair face on the throne of France. In both countries it was clearer than crystal to the lords of the state preserves of loves and fashions that things in general were settled forever." It was with this introduction that Charles Dickens proceeded to reveal, in the "Tale of Two Cities" the vital details of the awful drama of the French revolution, picturing that character whom none can put out of memory who has once read the story—Madame Defarge, the female creature who sat knitting, always and persistently knitting, knitting into a fiendish record, descriptions of those selected to die on the guillotine when once the wheel of fortune should bring the revolutionists in power.

There is knitting of this kind in Russia to-day. Nor is it the coarse and tangling work of the [illegible] Count Tolstoi has not been knitting, certainly his finger of warning has pointed in many directions. Ominous records have been woven in the most unsuspected quarters. Because the condemned are not marched in physical line to the guillotine, shall it be said their fate is the less methodically planned. There are those who are content to protest, and Tolstoi is one of these. But also there are those who count, and those who kill. The reign of terror is not less at hand because the Russian bomb displaces the French guillotine. The insecurity is not less general than in those "tranquil" days which ushered in the French revolution. London "Punch," with keen irony, published a cartoon entitled "France is Tranquil;" and the same peace now reigns in Russia. Evil plots are hatched within exclusive clubs, and who are privileged to enjoy the melancholy warmth of the czar's hospitality and that of the grand dukes, harbor at the same time murderous thoughts, their normal impulses cankered by the invidius teachings of nihilism. The death of Sergius and the revelations which have followed that tragedy give evidence of this. The grand duke's slayer was known both to the murdered man and to his widow, the Grand Duchess Elizabeth. He belonged to their stratum of society. He had no personal grievance. He expressed great regret to the grand duchess when she visited him in his cell after the assassination, that he had caused her so great a grief. He fell back before her reproaches upon an impassioned explanation of the doctrines of the terrorists, as if there were to be found in them some adequate excuse for his crime. If the grand duchess found in these teachings no consolation she at any rate elicited the information that many revolutionists are members of the Russian nobility. Russian aristocracy, he told her, is honeycombed with revolutionary adherents. At least one was a palace official in the czar's own household.

Such, it subsequently appeared, was the undercurrent of revenge in the hearts of Russians on the afternoon of February 17, when a sledge in which two men were seated shot out ahead of the grand duke's carriage as it was passing through Senate square, Moscow, on the way from the palace to the Kremlin. The sledge then slowed up, thus making the carriage to pass, while one of the men, dressed as a workman, peered earnestly into the duke's carriage, into eyes that he knew. He was a prince and in his hand was a bomb. What occurred is best described by an eye-witness:

The Senate square was deserted and presented a melancholy appearance at the moment when I entered it at a little before three o'clock. The snow was deep and the weather lowering; some men were engaged in clearing the sidewalks of the thick ice and snow which covered them. I had remarked nothing unusual and had not even noticed the grand duke's carriage, which must nevertheless have passed very close to me.

"All at once, as I was approaching the entrance, I was horrified and almost stunned by the most terrific explosion. The shock, which nearly threw muffled behind rich draperies, but they are not the less deadly. The bomb that killed Grand Duke Sergius was thrown by an Obolenski—a name which denotes one of the most distinguished families of the Russian aristocracy. This fact is no longer a secret—the sort which the Russian police like to embalm within their own inscrutable comprehension. From every indication there is more nihilism invited officially to the palace of the czar than you would meet with in a visit to the Russian underworld. It may be depended upon that there are many persons of title who know more of the real spirit of the Russian terrorists than they would care to discuss in a tete-a-tete in the czar's reception rooms.

The Deed of a Prince.

There can be no doubt that many me off my feet, lasted but the fraction of a second. As soon as I had recovered my presence of mind, I saw a yellowish column of smoke rising from the ground, while there reached my ears a great crash of broken glass in the direction of the arsenal. At the same moment several people ran out on to the square. I saw them look and then run toward something in the snow. I hastened my steps and perceived a carriage drawn by a dying horse. The impression was like a frightful nightmare.

"The police had formed a circle around the debris of the carriage and kept away the public, after making a passage for the grand duchess, who came running without any hat, simply a fur wrap thrown over her shoulders. There she was kneeling in the snow beside the remains of her husband. She could just be seen through the encircling police. Very soon some officers and priests arrived to transport on a stretcher to the Monastry of Tchoudov, near Petit Palais, the remains of the grand duke, which were assembled with difficulty, as the body had been frightfully mutilated. The coachman had been wounded in the back and the head, but he was still in his seat and holding the reins when they took him down and removed him to the hospital. The handle of the carriage door had been thrown to a distance of 200 feet. The following morning his cigar case was found in the snow."

The spread of the nihilist doctrines among the aristocracy is an enigma, and is not a hopeful evidence of the greater intelligence which is to be expected at the hands of this class in any attempt to right the wrongs of Russia. The provocation in this case was admittedly great. Sergius was perhaps the most universally hated official of all Russia. No man can spend $1,500,000 a year in pursuit of his own pleasure and deserve better than contempt, and he invites a serious fate if he is a Russian and is a governor in authority and is a cruel and arbitrary autocrat. The grand duke and his wife, aware of the danger which accompanied his every movement, traveled always under the watchful eyes of the police, but the police had eyes only for "suspicious" characters.

It was at the request of the secret police that the grand duchess visited young Prince Obolenski in his cell on the day following the tragedy, their attempts to secure information having failed. Her desire that all involved in the conspiracy by which her husband lost his life, should be apprehended, appears to have made her most adroit at a time when grief was uppermost, or perhaps she was really concerned to know what her husband could have done to have incurred the enmity of another member of the nobility. With as much composure as she could summon, she asked the assassin: "What have I done that you should wish to bring upon me such a grief?" His answer—regret for her sorrow, but insistence upon the necessity for his act—was no better than the creed of all anarchists.

The grand duchess expressed surprise that the prisoner, as a member of the aristocracy, should so far forget his rank and his obligations as to join with the misguided workmen in an attempt to bring about the fall of the government. She characterized his action as unworthy the son of a noble family. It was at this point that Obolenski, not wishing to assume individual responsibility for his deed, declared that he was by no means the only one in high official life who had sworn the oath of the terrorists. The grand duchess, realizing that the man was forgetting his surroundings and might be led to reveal more, quickly arose, declared that she could not listen to baseless insinuations against the loyalty of men who were still her friends. The ruse succeeded. Obolenski insisted that he was by no means alone; that many others of his rank were ready and waiting the opportunity to commit a similar deed when the interests of the people should require it.

Unknown to the prince the chief of the secret police had overheard the interview and had had notes taken by a secretary concealed with him above the ventilator in the ceiling of the cell. Agents of the police were detailed to watch every personage who had been indicated in the interview, and a search was made of the homes and personal papers of each. Finally the trail led to the headquarters of the terrorists in Moscow, which was found to be acting in conjunction with the central revolutionary chiefs in London. On March 18 the police surrounded and raided the Moscow headquarters and found a store of infernal machines and explosive weapons, together with printing presses and revolutionary documents, included among the latter being a letter to the central committee and correspondence relating to the assassination of the Grand Duke Sergius.

Incidentally the police were able to clear up the mystery of the unknown man who was suddenly blown to pieces on the morning of March 11 by the accidental explosion of a bomb in his room in the Hotel Bristol in St. Petersburg. Although the passport carried by the dead terrorist was issued in London, ostensibly to an Englishman, it was discovered that he was a Pole, and spoke scarcely a dozen words of English.

The police, in tracing his movements prior to the explosion, found that he had two addresses here, and documents were found indicating that he was watching for members of the imperial family and ministers of state. He frequently visited the government offices. The police learned that he was connected with the plotters who caused the death of the Grand Duke Sergius.

From day to day since the raid on the revolutionary headquarters the police have made arrests as rapidly as the reports of the secret service agents warranted, until it is known that some 300 prisoners have been taken. Every possible secrecy has been maintained, and not one word of official information has escaped from the authorities. It is, however, known that many of the prisoners are members of the Russian nobility, and the positive documentary evidence against several of them is beyond question. In the case of Prince Obolenski, the assassin of Grand Duke Sergius, in spite of the public excitement and the pressure to know the fullest details, the police have steadfastly pretended that they have been unable to identify their prisoner and that his name and history are unknown. This policy is pursued out of consideration for the other members of the distinguished Obolenski family, and also to conceal the truth of the widespread cancerous growth of revolutionary recruits in official and aristocratic circles.

The terror of the czar as a result of the disclosures as to the spread of nihilism among the upper classes could hardly be more clearly shown than in his punishment of the official in his own household whom Prince Obolenski indicated as being implicated in terrorist plots. After the arrest of this man the czar personally examined the evidence against him and ordered him brought to his library. What took place at this interview has not, of course, been told, but it is known that the emperor personally named the punishment. Seeking to find something measurably worse than death, the emperor directed an immovable iron mask to be riveted over his face. Chained to a little window in the prison tower overlooking the palace he was kept in solitary confinement until he died, an awful example to any other conspirators who may be partaking of the czar's bread.

Spider-Web Factory.

Ten years ago a French missionary started the systematic rearing of two kinds of spiders for their web, and a spider web factory is now in successful operation at Chalais-Meudon, near Paris, where ropes are made of spider web intended for balloons for the French military aeronautic section. The spiders are arranged in groups of 12 above a reel, upon which the threads are wound. It is by no means easy work for the spiders, for they are not released until they have furnished from 30 to 41 yards of thread each. The web is washed and thus freed of the outer reddish and sticky cover. Eight of the washed threads are then taken together, and of this rather strong yarn cords are woven which are stronger and much lighter than cords of silk of the same thickness.

Smallest Colored Adult.

Rock Island, Ill., claims the smallest colored adult in America in the person of Minnie Dimery. Her height is 42 inches and she weighs 49 pounds. She is 43 years of age. Though well-formed and healthy, she is below the average in intelligence, her mental development being that of a child of six years. Her parents and brothers and sisters are normal in every respect.

SCIENTIFIC SPECIALS.

Incandescent gases under slight pressure give light composed of lines, but under pressure a continuous spectrum.

According to recent measurements the magnetic energy of the earth seems to be decreasing at the rate of 1.6 per cent. in 46 years. While this would be alarming if permanent, the measurements are so incomplete as to indicate the decrease may be only one phase of the variation over a long period.

Considerable reduction in the cost of fuel has been accomplished by the introduction of water gas in glass melting and blowing in Bohemia and Stockholm. In one instance where coal gas had been previously used in an incandescent lamp factory making from 5,000 to 7,000 lamps a day, the introduction of Dellwick gas effected a saving in the cost of fuel of 80 per cent. in soldering the glass bulbs and heating the lamps during the vacuum pumping.

The snake's tongue proves to be a most remarkable organ. A Maryland woman student finds that its chief function is connected with a sense of feeling without touch, and may be a finer development of the sense that enables some people to avoid striking obstacles in the dark. The forked tip and the numerous folds behind it greatly increase the surface exposure. The cells of the epidermis are interlaced by a network of extremely fine fibers, which center in a deep nerve plexus beneath the epidermis and extending out into the folds.

A substance possessing curious properties is announced in Germany—a compound of carbolic acid, saponine and camphor with a little turpentine. This mixture, it is asserted, will solidify when heated and melt again when cooled. Solidification with heat is a property of albuminous substances such as the white of an egg, but such substances will not liquefy again on cooling, the coagulation being a permanent chemical change. The mixture described above to which the name "cryostase" has been given, will apparently solidify and liquefy as often as desired, when heated and cooled to the proper points.

PORTLAND EXPOSITION NOTES.

The manufacture of gold pens will form one of the many interesting working displays at the Lewis and Clark exposition.

St. Louis artists will have a comprehensive exhibit of Missouri art at the Lewis and Clark exposition as an offset to the general belief that Missouri produces mainly apples and army mules.

The Illinois building at the Lewis and Clark exposition is a replica of the home in which Abraham Lincoln lived while a resident of Springfield. This property is said to have been the only real estate the martyred president ever owned.

The Massachusetts building at the Lewis and Clark exposition has as its distinguishing feature a replica of the famous Bulfinch front of the old state house in Boston. When the state house was rebuilt Massachusetts went to an expense of $3,000,000 to retain this front.

Youth's Optimism.

"So you wish to marry me? Have you seen mamma?"

"Yes; but I don't believe you'll ever grow to look like her."—Houston Post.

COMPLETELY RESTORED.

Mrs. P. Brunzel, wife of P. Brunzel, stock dealer, residence 3111 Grand Ave., Everett, Wash., says: "For fifteen years I suffered with terrible pain in my back. I did not know what it was to enjoy a night's rest and arose in the morning feeling tired and unrefreshed. My suffering sometimes was simply indescribable. When I finished the first box of Doan's Kidney Pills I felt like a different woman. I continued until I had taken five boxes. Doan's Kidney Pills act very effectively, very promptly, relieve the aching pains and all other annoying difficulties."

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists. Price 50 cents per box.

HER WEAKNESS GONE

HOT FLASHES AND SINKING SPELLS CONQUERED AT LAST.

Mrs. Murphy Tells Her Fellow-Sufferers How She Got Rid of Serious Troubles by Simple Home Treatment.

"I have been bothered for several years," said Mrs. Murphy, "by stomach disorder, and finally I became very weak and nervous. Flashes of heat would pass over me, and I would feel as if I was sinking down. At such times I could not do any household work, but would have to lie down, and afterwards I would have very trying nervous spells."

"Didn't you have a doctor?" she was asked.

"Yes, I consulted several doctors but my health did not improve. One day a friend asked me why I did not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She assured me that they had proved of the greatest benefit in the case of her daughter. In fact, she praised them so enthusiastically that my husband got me a box."

"And what was the result?"

"Before I had taken half of the first box my condition was greatly improved. The quickness with which they reached and relieved all my troubles was really surprising. After I had used only three boxes I had no more heat-flashes or weak spells. Thanks to them, I have become a well woman."

Mrs. Mary D. Murphy lives at No. 1903 Force street, Fort Wayne, Indiana. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the remedy which she found so satisfactory, furnish directly to the blood the elements that give vigor to every tissue of the body. They can be depended on to revive failing strength, and to banish nervousness. Their tonic properties are absolutely unsurpassed.

As soon as there is drag, or dizziness, or pallor, or poor circulation, or disordered digestion, or restlessness, or pains, or irregularities of any kind these famous pills should be used. They have cured the most obstinate cases of anæmia, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous prostration and even partial paralysis.

If you desire information specially suited to your own case write directly to the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N.Y. Every woman should have a copy of Dr. Williams' "Plain Talks to Women," which will be mailed free to any address on request. Any druggist can supply the pills.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness, cures leucorrhœa and nasal catarrh.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of instructions Free.

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

CHEAP RATES California, Washington, Oregon, Colorado. We secure reduced rates on household goods to the above States for intending settlers. Write for rates. MAP of CALIFORNIA FREE. Trans-Continental Freight Co., 248 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

PENSIONS on age at 62.—Civil War; or on disability, war, and for widows. Have records of most loyal soldiers, marine and navy of Ohio men. 30 years practice. Law and advice FREE. A. W. McCORMICK & SONS, 918 Walnut St., CINCINNATI, O.

PATENTS 48-page book FREE, FITZGERALD & CO., Box E., Washington, D. C.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

The appetizing flavor and satisfying quality of LIBBY'S POTTED AND DEVILED MEATS is due to the skill of the Libby chefs and to the purity and strength of the ingredients used.

Libby's (Natural Flavor) Food Products

For Breakfast, Dinner and Supper.

Corned Beef Hash, Veal Loaf, Brisket Beef, Soups, Boneless Chicken, Vienna Sausage

They are ready to serve—Your Grocer has them

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

FOXTAIL MILLET.

Several Varieties of the Plant Are Being Grown in America—Are Large in Form.

Under the name of Japanese millets several kinds of foxtail millet are being grown in this country. Most of these millets are large in form and yield heavily in seed and forage, under favorable conditions, but do not withstand drouth well, and when a dry spell comes they yield to it quicker than do most of our common millets.

There have also been introduced

KOREAN FOXTAIL MILLET.

from Korea millets known as foxtail, which differ considerably from the millets grown in this country and also from the Japanese, says Farmers' Review. We illustrate the Korean millet. This millet has done well on the grounds of the agricultural department in Washington, but as yet little experimentation has been done with them in the country as a whole.

TO ESCAPE INSECTS.

Rotation of Crops Much Good in Bidding Farm of Destructive Life.

On a farm of good size the best way to keep the destructive insects down is to rotate crops. I find that in that way I can generally escape the worst of the insect pests, says a Michigan farmer in the Farmers' Review. Where the same crop is planted on the same field year after year the insects have a chance to establish themselves in colonies. In the case of the plant lice on corn roots there is little danger the first year because the ants are the real mischief-makers. If the field has been in oats the previous year we may expect to find no ants there, for lice do not feed on the roots of the oat plant. Not till corn has been on the same land for several years will the ant invasion become serious, and without the ant invasion we have nothing to fear from the lice.

The Hessian fly is quite easily stamped out by taking away his food supply for one year, but we must do that by depriving this insect of all of his mainstays in feeding—wheat, rye and barley. Not only must we put the land into something else than those crops, but we must be careful that in the field planted to corn or potatoes no volunteer wheat, rye or barley is permitted to grow.

One Bee Tree.

In June last we cut a bee-tree. The bees, though considerably scattered about by the tree breaking when it struck the ground, were hived and at once went to work. When we went after them, however, the hive was empty. In passing the spot four months later we noticed bees flying, and found the swarm under a portion of the tree. They had built a number of combs, a foot in depth, and had considerable brood and honey, all out in the open air.

Good Drinking Fount.

A good drinking fount for little chicks is made by filling a shallow crock or pan with pebbles about the size of hickory nuts or as large as walnuts, and then filling with water. The chicks can drink between the pebbles, but cannot get wet or drown. The vessels should be scalded out two or three times a week.—Commercial Poultry.

Milk a Perfect Food.

It needs to be frequently repeated that milk is a perfect food, and alone would sustain life. Eggs, bananas and some other foods will do the same. But Irish potatoes will not. Pure, unskimmed milk is adapted to all ages, and is difficult to surpass as food.

Have the Collar Fit.

The collar is a thing a horse must wear all day, when at work. Not only that, he must pull against that collar all the time while doing his work; so it should fit the shoulders as perfectly as possible.—Farm Journal.

Keep Incubator Clean.

After every hatch thoroughly wash the incubation chamber with hot soapsuds and leave it open until perfectly dry and sweet. No amount of ventilation will counteract the ills of a foul chamber.

ROUGH FEED FOR HOGS.

Animal Man Makes Many Observations, and Gives Out Results of His Experiments.

George M. Rommel, of the bureau of animal industry of the United States department of agriculture, has been making some very interesting observations for several years relative to experiments along the line of feed for hogs. Although the capacity of bulk found in cattle and sheep is generally lacking in hogs, Mr. Rommel's observations show that hogs will thrive on a reasonable amount of roughage.

The results of investigation conducted by many experiment stations are given:

The Kansas experiment station has reported a series of experiments with drought-resident crops. Three of these experiments had to do with alfalfa hay. In the first place, the hogs used were of mixed breeding—Berkshire and Poland China—representing about the average of Kansas farm hogs. The alfalfa was of good quality.

Two lots were fed, one receiving the hay whole in greater quantity than it would consume, the other having ground hay. In the second test the meal-fed lot received some cotton-seed meal—0.16 pound to each pound of Kafir corn, which did not affect the hogs seriously. This test was conducted during the most severe weather of the winter, the thermometer registering 32 degrees F. below zero, February 12, ten days after the experiment began.

In the third test the grain was wet with water at the time of feeding. The alfalfa hay had been cut late and was rather woody.

The Utah station fed one lat of hogs on a mixture of equal parts by weight of chopped wheat and grain, wet. Another lot had the same grain ration with chopped alfalfa hay added. "The alfalfa used was well cured and was prepared by running through an ensilage cutter, the blades of which are arranged for cutting into half-inch lengths." The pigs were thrifty grade Berkshires.

The Montana station fed three lots of hogs to compare the feeding values of a certain ration with sugar beets and alfalfa hay as roughage with a ration of grain only. The lot on grain alone received a ration consisting, during the early part of the experiment, of two parts of damaged wheat and one part of oats, barley taking the place of the wheat during the latter part of the experiment. The hay-fed lot had same ration with alfalfa hay added. The alfalfa hay was run through a cutting box, moistened, and mixed with meal. The hogs were by a Berkshire boar out of high-grade Poland China sows. They had previously had the run of a stubble field, with some clover pasture.

The average of these experiments show that 593 pounds of grain were required for 100 pounds of gain, when no hay was fed, and 505 pounds of grain and 89 pounds of alfalfa hay when hay was fed, a saving of 88 pounds of grain to be credited to the hay fed.

THREE-HORSE DOUBLETREE.

Versatile Instrument Which One Agriculturist Declares Is Best in Market.

Here is a sketch of a three-horse "double-tree" that is the best I have ever used, writes a correspondent of the Rural New Yorker. It is light, and can be used as a two-horse doubletree by changing two clevises and taking off the short single tree. The doubletree is four feet from center to center of outside holes. The single trees are two feet six inches; short one is ten inches. Irons on single trees are all six inches. The short single tree should be made with a hook on the under side so that all will be on a line.

THE THREE-HORSE "DOUBLETREE."

FARM NOTES.

The Frances peach seems to rot badly on the tree.

What are the objections to keeping sheep on a dairy farm?

It is reported that peach stones from California canneries are dried and sold for fuel. They are said to give out more heat than coal in proportion to weight.

At a hotel in Charleston, S. C., we found baked apples and strawberries on the card for breakfast. Careful observation showed that the majority called for apples.

Feed the Cows Well.

Many a cow with fair results could be made to produce double if she had the proper material in the shape of food to work up into milk; the machine may be all right, but the material all wrong. We must have both to have success. She must of necessity consume large quantities of nutritious food if she gives a large and paying amount of milk. She cannot consume dry feed enough and digest it to work her milk producing power to full capacity, without succulent, easily digested foods.—Midland Farmer.

NOVEL PLAN OF COERCION.

Unionists Pay Fares in Pennies to Nonunion Conductors—Often Join Union.

Lynn, Mass.—A novel scheme is being put into practice in Lynn by the members of the labor organizations to force conductors of electric cars who do not already belong to the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes to join it.

Patrons of electrics well know with what horror conductors in general look upon pennies. Only women who are out on shopping tours are accustomed to give these when paying fares, and in return they get the stony glare, and sometimes are "accidentally" carried beyond the point where they desire to stop.

Every union conductor wears a button in the lapel of his coat, and when this button is missing it is the cue for the union men of other crafts to give that conductor five pennies.

One conductor got 130 pennies, most of them from union men who were on their way to a ball game. When the conductor learned the cause of the flood of cents he joined the union.

DECREASE IN COAL OUTPUT

Production of Illinois and of Country Falls Off in 1904 to Great Extent.

Washington.—Not as much coal by 6,000,600 tons was mined in 1904 as during the previous calendar year. The total of anthracite and bituminous coal mined last year in the United States was 351,196,953 tons, compared with 357,356,416 tons during 1904.

Illinois is one of the states showing a decrease in tonnage. Ranking second as a coal producing state, the Illinois output in 1904 was 35,990,796 tons, compared with 36,957,104 tons during the previous year. Pennsylvania heads the list, mining 73,156,709 tons of anthracite and 97,916,733 tons of bituminous coal during 1904, compared with 74,607,068 tons of anthracite and 103,117,178 tons of bituminous coal in 1903.

Since 1814, when 22 tons of anthracite, the first mining recorded, was taken out of the earth in Pennsylvania, there have been produced in the United States 5,577,210,577 tons of coal, of which 514,152,432 tons was furnished by Illinois.

CHINESE WOMAN A DOCTOR

First of Her Nationality and Sex to Take a Physician's Degree in United States.

Philadelphia.—Miss Li Bi Cu of Hingghua, China, who has spent the last four years in this city, taking a medical course at the Woman's college, will graduate from that institution this year with high honors. So far as is known, Miss Li is the first Chinese woman to study medicine in this country. She was born in Hingghua, where her father is considered the most prominent man of that community. He is also the leading spirit in the Methodist church of that province.

The Chinese maiden has been in this country more than eight years, and has spent all of her time in hard study. She first studied at Herkimer college, New York. She graduated from that institution with honors, and decided to take her medical course in this city.

Whisky Is Not Property.

The supreme court of Kansas decided that whisky is not "property," in the usual sense of the term, and that in depriving a citizen of the right to sell it the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States is not violated.

MARKET REPORT.

Cincinnati, June 2.

CATTLE—Common	$2 65	@	4 25
Heavy steers	5 50	@	5 75
CALVES—Extra		@	6 00
HOGS—Ch. packers	5 30	@	5 37½
Mixed packers	5 25	@	5 30
SHEEP—Extra	4 00	@	4 10
LAMBS—Spring	7 60	@	7 75
FLOUR—Spring pat.	6 00	@	6 35
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	1 05	@	1 07
No. 3 red	95	@	99
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	54½
No. 2 white		@	54½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	32½
RYE—No. 2	81	@	82
HAY—Ch. timothy		@	12 25
PORK—Clear mess		@	14 00
LARD—Steam		@	6 77½
BUTTER—Ch. dairy		@	14½
Choice creamery		@	23
APPLES—Choice	2 50	@	3 00
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 25	@	1 45
TOBACCO—New	5 00	@	13 00
Old	4 50	@	14 75

Chicago.

FLOUR—Winter pat.	5 10	@	5 20
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	1 06¾	@	1 07¾
No. 3 red	1 00	@	1 05
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	52¼
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	32¼
RYE—No. 2	76	@	80
PORK—Mess	12 55	@	12 60
LARD—Steam	7 22½	@	7 25

New York.

FLOUR—Win. strts.	4 50	@	4 65
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 05¼
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	58¾
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	35½	@	37½
RYE—Western		@	82
PORK—Family	13 37½	@	13 87½
LARD—Steam	7 10	@	7 15

Baltimore.

WHEAT—No. 2 red.	1 02	@	1 02¼
CORN—No. 2 mixed.	55¾	@	56
CATTLE—Steers	4 00	@	4 50
SHEEP—No. 1	3 00	@	3 50

Louisville.

WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 02
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	56
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	35
PORK—Mess		@	11 00
LARD—Steam		@	6 50

Indianapolis.

WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 01½
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	40
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	30½

WAS WATCHING MARKET.

No Change in the Price of Tintypes, But Bananas Go Up and Down.

It is quite evident that some persons are born for a business career. This is demonstrated in some cases in very early life, says Youth's Companion. The other day Mrs. Cobb saw her ten-year-old son Edward going out the gate with a neighbor's boy.

"Where are you going?" she called from the window.

"We're going down to have our pictures taken at the tintype place," answered her boy, tossing a ten-cent piece in the air.

Mrs. Cobb had been wondering what queer train of thought had awakened this vain desire when suddenly she heard once more the click of the gate. Looking out, she saw Edward coming in alone, munching a banana.

"Was it too cloudy to have the tintype taken?" she asked.

"No, ma'am."

"What was the matter?"

"Well," said Edward, "Tommy had his taken, but I didn't. I found out that bananas had dropped to three for ten cents. So I bought 'em. You never can tell the price of bananas, but tintypes is always the same."

Piscatorial Expert.

Mrs. Homely—That blond, Mrs. Blublud, is constantly fishing for compliments.

Mr. Homely—And she constantly seems to get them.

Well, I could, too, if I carried the same kind of bait!"

"It isn't a question of bait, my dear. It is a question of artful casting."—Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.

Thought She Couldn't Live.

Moravia, N. Y., June 5.—Mr. Benjamin Wilson, a highly respected resident of this place, come very near losing his wife and now that she is cured and restored to good health his gratitude knows no bounds. He says:—

"My wife has suffered everything with Sugar Diabetes. She has been sick four years. She doctored with two good doctors, but kept growing worse. The doctors said she could not live. She failed from 200 pounds down to 130 pounds. This was her weight when she began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and now she weighs 190, is well and feeling stronger every day.

"She used to have Rheumatism so bad that it would raise great bumps all over her body and this is all gone, too.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are a God-send to those who suffer as my wife did. They are all that saved her. We can't praise them enough."

"Perhaps the man who boasts that he wears no man's collar tells the truth," remarked the Observer of Events and Things; "he may wear a woman's."—Yonkers Statesman.

Agricultural and Horticultural Colonies on the Kansas City Southern Railway.

Lockesburg Colony in Sevier County, Arkansas, containing about 30,000 acres, and Loring Colony in Sabine Parish, Louisiana, containing about 24,000 acres, are now open for settlement. Lands range in price from $7.00 to $15.00 per acre, and are sold on easy terms to actual settlers. Lockesburg Colony is well suited for General Farming, stock raising and commercial fruit growing. Loring Colony lies in a splendid fruit, truck and tobacco region, and is good for corn and cotton also. Both are situated in a beautiful country, with a healthy climate and excellent water. Write for books concerning Lockesburg and Loring Colonies and "Current Events" Magazine to S. G. Warner, G. P. & T. A., K. C. S. Ry., Kansas City, Mo.; F. E. Roesler, Immigration Agt., K. C. S. Ry., Kansas City, Mo.

As long as there are many persons ready to be duped by glittering promises of great gains, there will be clever crooks only too willing to dupe them.—Troy Times.

To Wash Lace Collars.

Shave Ivory Soap in boiling water; add a pinch of soda and drop the collar in, stirring it until the dirt is removed. Rinse in a pint of hot water to which has been added a teaspoonful of gum arabic and a few drops of coffee or real Indian tea. To iron, pick out and press on white flannel, press with a moderately hot iron.
ELEANOR R. PARKER.

Theatrical item from the Burlington (Kan.) Jeffersonian: "The gallery in the opera house has been fastened to the wall so that it cannot possibly fall."

Don't Get Footsore! Get Foot-Ease.

A wonderful powder that cures tired, hot, aching feet and makes new or tight shoes easy. Ask to-day for Allen's Foot-Ease. Accept no substitute. Trial package FREE. Address A. S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Some men never learn the difference between fame and notoriety, and some men are forever mistaking reputation for character.—The Commoner.

Piso's Cure cannot be too highly spoken of as a cough cure.—J. W. O'Brien, 322 Third Ave., N., Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6, 1900.

Some men are so level-headed that it's a wonder they can get hats to fit them.—N. Y. Times.

Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women—Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts." These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some uterine derangement. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the ablest specialists agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

The following letters from Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrely are among the many thousands which Mrs. Pinkham has received this year from those whom she has relieved.

Surely such testimony is convincing.

Mrs. J.G. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have suffered everything with backache and womb trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved, I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backaches and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my menstrual periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

Mrs. Emma Cotrely, 109 East 12th Street, New York City, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women of the relief I have found in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I commenced taking the Compound I suffered everything with backaches, headaches, menstrual and ovarian troubles. I am completely cured and enjoy the best of health, and I owe it all to you."

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any substitute.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN.

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass., her advice is free and cheerfully given to every ailing woman who asks for it. Her advice and medicine have restored to health more than one hundred thousand women.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman [illegible] understands a Woman's Ills.

Facts Are Stubborn Things

Uniform excellent quality for over a quarter of a century has steadily increased the sales of LION COFFEE, The leader of all package coffees.

Lion Coffee

is now used in millions of homes. Such popular success speaks for itself. It is a positive proof that LION COFFEE has the Confidence of the people.

The uniform quality of LION COFFEE survives all opposition.

LION COFFEE keeps its old friends and makes new ones every day.

LION COFFEE has even more than its Strength, Flavor and Quality to commend it. On arrival from the plantation, it is carefully roasted at our factories and securely packed in 1 lb. sealed packages, and not opened again until needed for use in the home. This precludes the possibility of adulteration or contact with germs, dirt, dust, insects or unclean hands. The absolute purity of LION COFFEE is therefore guaranteed to the consumer.

Sold only in 1 lb. packages. Lion-head on every package.
Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

She Knew.

Her Father—What! Marry that fool. Why, he hasn't any idea of finance.

His Daughter—Don't you believe the half of it. He stopped right in, the middle of his proposal to ask how much you were worth.—Brooklyn Eagle.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children

Bears the Signature Of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

PUSHECK'S KURO KILLS GERMS,

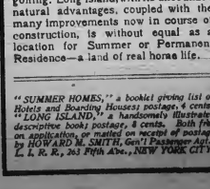
CURES: Rheumatism, Weakness, Nervous Debility, Misuse, Dyspepsia and all Blood and Skin diseases.

No other Medicine like It.

The Oxygen in it purifies the blood, Eliminates Uric acid and poisonous products, and the Medicine corrects the digestion, strengthens the Nerves and builds up the entire system.

You can get "PUSHECK'S KURO" on trial by sending this advertisement and your address to Dr. C. PUSHECK, 193 WASHINGTON ST. CHICAGO, ILL.

If it does not benefit you, it costs nothing.



Also FOR SALE by BEST DRUGGISTS.

SUMMER

"WHERE COOLING BREEZES BLOW"

Long Island

THE IDEAL TERRITORY FOR A SUMMER HOME OR AN OUTING

250 miles of coast line on Ocean, Sound and Bays.

Trending east and west, is cooled in summer by the prevailing south winds from the ocean.

Unexcelled surf and still water bathing, boating, driving, automobiling and golfing. Long Island, with its unbounded natural advantages, coupled with the many improvements now in course of construction, is without equal as a location for Summer or Permanent Residence—a land of real home life.

"SUMMER HOMES," a booklet giving list of Hotels and Boarding Houses; postage, 4 cents. "LONG ISLAND," a handsomely illustrated descriptive book; postage, 4 cents. Both free on application, or mailed on receipt of postage by HOWARD M. SMITH, Gen'l Passenger Agt., L. I. R. R., 261 Fifth Ave., NEW YORK CITY.

BASE BALL.

Green's Nebraska Indian base ball team came in on scheduled time last Wednesday, and when "play ball" was called by the umpire at 3 p. m. at least 900 people had assembled in and around the ball park, 816 of whom paid for admission at the gate. From every voting precinct in the county came a considerable delegation, while Kenton county, especially Erlanger, was liberal in patronage.

In their preliminary practice the Indians showed that they are expert ball tossers, which gave the Boones a slight attack of stage fright that cost them two errors and contributed one run to the Indians in the first inning. After that the home team settled down and continued to blank the Indians until the fifth inning; when two hits, three errors and two bases on balls netted the Indians five more runs. This was the disastrous inning for the Boones, who immediately came down out of the air and put a stop to the run getting on the part of the visitors for the remainder of the game, during which time both teams put up a first-class article of ball, although up to the ninth inning the Boones had not seen third base, and it was the unanimous opinion on the part of the 900 spectators that they would be shut out. When the Boones came to the bat in the ninth inning, Bullock, the first man up, struck out, then Walton made a safe hit to right field and the trouble began for the Indians. Gordon followed Walton with a safe hit over the third base, when Slayback advanced Walton and Gordon to second and third bases by a drive to right field. Luck made a hit to left field scoring Walton and Gordon, when pandemonium broke loose and a shut-out was gone glimmering. Slayback was on base and only one man out, and things began to look rosy for the Boones, when Brady a safe hitter stepped to the plate. Brady got first base without a hit but Slayback was put out trying to make home. Two men were down when Souther was hit by the pitcher and given his base, but Kirkpatrick, the next man up, and the first Boone to register a hit, batted to second base and was thrown out at first, retiring the side and closing the game. When the Boones made their rally in the ninth inning it looked for a while like there was no telling what might happen. The Indians played a snappy game throughout, at the close of which the manager told manager Crisler that they saw from the start that they had no time for loafing.

BOONES	AB	R	1B	SB	SH	E
Souther, 2b	4	0	0	0	0	1
Kirk, rf	4	0	1	0	0	0
Houston, p	4	0	0	0	0	0
Bullock, lf	4	0	0	0	0	1
Walton, 3b	4	1	1	0	0	1
Gordon, c	4	1	1	0	0	1
Slayback, 1b	4	0	1	0	0	1
Luck, cf	3	0	1	0	0	0
Brady, ss	4	0	0	0	0	1
	35	2	5	0	0	6

INDIANS	AB	R	1B	SB	SH	E
Small Bird, ss	5	1	2	0	0	0
Wauboose, 2b	4	0	0	1	1	0
Taboshekeshick, c.f	5	1	0	0	0	0
Mogeedee, 3b	5	1	1	0	0	0
Archequette, cf	4	1	0	0	0	1
Rapp, lf	3	1	1	0	0	0
Nineham, rf	4	1	1	0	0	0
Forgee, 1b	4	0	0	0	0	2
Gazyhebauesa, p	4	0	0	0	0	0
	38	6	5	1	1	3

Boones	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	—2
Indians	1	0	0	0	0	5	0	0	0	—6

Earned Runs—Boones 2, Indians 1; Base on Balls—Off Huston, 2; Gazyhebauesa, 1. Struck out by Houston, 5; by Gazyhebauesa, 8. Hit by pitcher—Souther, Hawes. Time of game—one hour 45 minutes. Attendance—900.

The Indians make their list of shut-outs as long as possible, and expected to add one to the list when they met the Boones.

The Indian who caught the game said they seldom found a ground that would compare with that of the Boones—that the diamond is perfect and the out field first class, and he said further, "a player who misses a grounder on that diamond ought to be fined $10.

The visitors merited the nice treatment accorded them, and the manager did not hesitate to say he would be pleased to come back again next year.

They did not appear in paint, beeds and feathers, but it was plain to see that eight of the thirteen men were Indians.

Quite a number of old citizens who never saw a game of base ball before willingly paid 25 cents to see Wednesday's game.

Quite a good number proved their loyalty to home people last Wednesday by rooting enthusiastically for the visitors.

The RECORDER gladly changes to a 2 the naught it predicted last week for the Boones. It did not believe that any of them would ever land safely at first base.

Manager Green, of the Indians, saw an old fashioned bedstead at the hotel, Thursday morning. He asked landlord Blyth what he would take for it, and being told $30 he bought it instantur, and gave Mr. Blyth $35 and told him to ship it to him at Lincoln, Nebraska.

Ben Luck the best pinch hitter in the county came along with that safe bingle as usual, just at a time it would count most. Ben's stick work has been a great benefit to the Boones when in tight places.

Bullock made a long run and pulled down a hit that looked good for a home run for the Indians.

The Indians were pleased with the crowds that greeted them at Burlington and Bellevue, and Walton will give them another big crowd today.

The Boones defeated the Domineers, of Cincinnati, last Saturday, 4 to 2. Gray pitched a good game for the Boones.

The only place at which the Boones are having trouble this year is at the bat. They cannot connect at critical times.

The Indians played the Bellevue team at Bellevue on Thursday afternoon in the presence of a crowd of 400 people, winning the game 15 to 0. Conner's pitching was the feature on the part of the home team. He struck out quite a number of the Indians.

A foul ball from the bat of one of the Bellevue team struck Mrs. Lewis Clore above the eye, and for some time it was thought she was badly hurt.

The Anderson Ferry ball team gave the Boones a first-class drubbing, last Monday, the score being 6 to 1 in favor of the visitors. The game was lost by the home team simply because of its weakness at the bat, while the visitors did effective stick work. The Boones will lose most of their games this year unless they learn how to practice batting.

In last Saturday's game Luck made the most sensational catch that was ever seen on the home grounds.

Next Saturday afternoon the Boones will play the Cincinnati Spiders at the Burlington park.

In northern Italy there is a co-operative association for every 1,000 inhabitants.

For Sale—McCormick binder—guaranted to do good work. Apply to R. J. Akin, Plattsburg neighborhood.

For Sale—Good pony, safe for women or children to drive. Apply to Thomas Garrison, near Big Bone Grange Hall.

The new bank has purchased the northeast corner of the lot owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Walton in Burlington, and will build a two story banking house thereon.

For the first time in 12 years it is said that American hogs are now being sent into Canadian markets. This condition is due to the scarcity and high price of suitable hogs of Canadian origin for ideal use, says the National Provisioner. Even American porcines are said to have found their way last week into Canadian markets. Hogs quoted at $5.40 at Chicago and $5.45 and $5.50 at Buffalo last week brought $7.25 in Toronto, which accounts for the usual movement. Ontario hogs of proper quality are scarce and the Canadian packers must keep their plants running.

Everyone who has had experience in growing berries know that the crops that are grown at the least expense per quart are those that yield the greatest income per year if the crop itself is of good quality. It does not pay to grow poor berry crops, yet sometimes the seasons are unfavorable and it is impossible to produce good crops even with wise provision and the best of care. Humus has a great deal to do with the ability of the soil to retain moisture, and it often contains plant in most excellent forms. Stable manure in moderate quantities, where the soil is not naturally filled with humus, will supply this important element of success. Crops of clover or cowpeas plowed under will do it also. The very biggest and best berries are often found where the plants grow wild with their roots imbedded in soil that is almost half composed of leaf mould.—Nat. Fruit Grower.

Undoubtedly Texas has made rapid strides in the improvement of her cattle, and the demand there for bulls with which to grade up the common cattle has been and is yet large. Referring to this matter, C. A. Stannard, of Emporia, Kansas, a noted Hereford breeder himself, says: "The prospect or trade is of the beef breeds of cattle this spring are better than in any similar season in the past three years. Now the tendency is toward stronger prices and an enlarged demand, while for three years preceeding values were tending down. When I speak of an enlarged demand I know whereof I speak. I know of one man who wishes to purchase 200 Hereford bulls, of another who wants 100 Shorthorns bulls, and of another buyer for two or three carloads. There are others of whom I know that would be buyers in smaller lots. A federal government order for 100 bulls, 2 to 3 years old, has just been placed. These have come under my personal observations and there are doubtless many more men wanting bulls of whom I have not heard."

There is no reformation without agitation.

You do not have to grovel in order to be humble.

Every community has those who are inordinately proud of being humble.

Pierce Kent, of Mason, this county, celebrated his one hundredth birthday last Sunday, May 28, 1905 by driving eight miles to attend the regular services at the Catholic church here.—Williamstown Courier.

IF YOU INTEND TO GET A NEW BUGGY

Come See us Before Buying.

If you want a factory buggy, we can save you from $10 to $20 on them (the agent's profit). We handle many factory makes. Our long experience has prepared us in selecting a vehicle over those that have not made it a study. To prove what we say TRY US.

If you want a first-class hand-made BUGGY or CARRIAGE come see us, and we will sell you one that cannot be duplicated in the State for the money.

If you want your vehicle PAINTED OR REPAIRED you can get it done Here as Cheap as any one can do it. All Work Shall be as Represented.

BRADFORD BROS., Florence, Ky.

Through Thick And Thin

GRAIN

The McCormick Binder

Has cut its way to enduring fame. No matter how long or short the straw, or in what condition the grain may the McCormick does splendid work. It is, therefore, the farmer's friend, and will remain true to him "through thick and thin," enabling him to increase his profits and materially augment his bank account during the lean as well as during the fat years. You are invited to examine our samples before buying.

Get our Price on Binder Twine Before You Purchasing.

Mersman Hardware Co.,

25 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Branch Stores—LUDLOW, KY. LATONIA, KY.

SPECIALS!

As a further introduction of the quality, style and tailoring of Clothing we are offering, the . . . following prices will prevail . . .

$10.00 For a handsome, carefully finished and up-to-date patterns Men's Suits.

$15.00 For Ready-to-wear Tailor Made Suit, like custom work.

$7.50 Men's Coats and Trouser Suit.

Young Men's Suits..... $7.50

Boys' and Children's Suits..... $3.00

Men's Trousers..... $1.00

Children's Trousers..... 35c

Merchant Tailoring

Favorable prices to our customers, to introduce what can be made for the money.

Max Herbst & Co.

531 Madison Ave., COVINGTON, KY.

Lucian Rice, Mgr. Near Sixth Street.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,

Salvage AND Wrecking Contractors

All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.

BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,

BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.

Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.,

Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

The Fine Harness and Saddle Stallion,

OSCEOLA!

Will make the season of 1906 at my stable near Bracht Station, on the farm known as the Dick Jones farm, in Kenton county, Ky., at $10 to insure a living colt, money due when mare foals or is parted with.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE.

OSCEOLA is a beautiful black, 16¼ hands high, weighs 1,250 lbs. and has fine style and action.

OSCEOLA, sired by old Ledger 12358; Ledger was sired by Crown Chief 4089, sire of Roland, 2:28, by Milford Mambrino; he by Old Mambrino Chief 11, sire of Lady Thorn, 2:18½, Woodford Mambrino, 2.21½, Mambrino Patchen and others. Ledger's first dam, Kate Livingston by Forest Temple 126; he by Edwin Forest 49, sire of Bally Haskins, 2:29½; 1st dam by Madam Temple, dam of Flora Temple, 2:17½, (Queen of the turf for several years, known as the bobtail mare by Imp. Spotted Arabian); 2d dam, Corban's Old Tom Crowder; 3d dam, Bellfounder; 4th dam by Messenger. Ledger is the sire of Belle K., 2:28½, 4th heat with 8 weeks' handling and Ledger E. jr., who showed a 2:24 gait in his year-old form, paced a mile in :56, Green Kentucky Prince paced trial mile in 2:15 with one season's handling at Hartwell, O. Osceola's dam by Joe Downing, sire of Dock Jameson, 2:26, and grand sire of Edwin Forest, jr. 2:11½. OSCEOLA is a fine saddle horse, slow or fast, also a fine driver and a splendid breeder. A premium of the season for the best colt will be given at my place Sept. 20th, 1906

I will also stand at the same time and place my fine BIG JACK at $10 to insure a live colt. He is 16½ hands high, wonderful bone and length, big head and ears, black with mealy points; he is one of the best breeders in Ky.

I showed him at the Falmouth fair last season against the best jacks in Grant, Harrison and Pendleton counties, and won first premium. His colts have won five premiums the last two seasons—two first and three second.

If a mare is parted with after being bred the insurance money becomes due.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur.

JOE READNOUR,
Key West, Ky.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

I have started a new blacksmith and wagon shop in Constance, and am prepared to do all kinds of iron and wood work. Shoeing a specialty. All work done at very reasonable prices. Give me a call. GEORGE R. OHERNE.

FOR SALE.

Boone County Roller Mills at Petersburg, Ky. Inquire of BEN BELDEN.

THE FINE YOUNG JACK,

Honest Pat will make the season of 1905 at my stable one mile west of Idlewild, Boone County, Ky., at $8 to insure a living colt, money due when fact is known or mare parted with. Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur. T. E. RANDALL.

H. VON LEHMEN,

—HAND—MADE—

Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,

ALSO SECOND HAND,

[illegible], PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,

CHEAP.

No. 152 Pike Street,

COVINGTON, - KY.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of Reuben Hager, deceased, must come forward and settle the same, and those having claims against said estate must prove them according to law, and leave them with C. G. Riddell at Rabbit Hash, Ky.

JOHN LEATHERS, Admr.

Rogers Bros.

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade.

PIPER & WALTON,

Merchant Tailors

142 E. Fourth St.,

Cincinnati, Ohio.

Have Spring Suitings to show you.

For McCormick or Deering

BINDERS,
MOWERS,
RAKES,
HAY TEDDERS,
SWEEP RAKES,
STACKERS,
CORN BINDERS.
CORN SHREDDERS,
GASOLINE ENGINES,
FARM WAGONS,
DISC HARROWS,
PEGTOOTH HARROWS,
5-tooth CULTIVATORS,
and GRINDERS,

Apply to

ELMO GAINES, Grant, Ky., or W. D. CROPPER, Burlington, Ky.

PHONE 178, Boone Co. Line.

Orders estimates solicited. Promptness and satisfaction guaranteed.

SEASON 1905.

CEDAR GROVE STOCK FARM,

The English Shire Draft Stallion,

SAM AUTHERRAN 32750!

Will make the season of 1905 at O. P. Conner's farm,

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE.

Sam is a mahogany bay, 16½ hands high, with heavy mane and tail, fine style and action, weighs 1500 lbs.

Sam Autherran was foaled at Bellville, England, in the spring of 1900 on the farm of R. J. Senix; he was sired by King John 32697; dam, Queen Elia 1927.

I will also handle Max Ledger the combined Saddle Stallion, at different points in the county.

Terms of both horses, same—$10 to insure a colt to stand up and suck, money due when colt is foaled or mare is parted with.

I am also prepared to get barren mares in foal.

For further particulars call on or address L. A. CONNER, Burlington, Ky.

The Standard Bred Trotting Stallion,

COL. WILLIS 37705,

will make the season of '05 at Wm. Wilson's near Beaver Lick, Ky., on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and at my stable at Florence, Ky., on Friday and Saturday, of each week, at $10.00 to insure a living colt, money due when colt is foaled or mare parted with.

DESCRIPTION & PEDIGREE.

Col. Willis 37705, is a chestnut sorrel, 16 hands high, and is a fine harness horse, foaled May 12, 1898. Col. Willis' sire Col. Kip 16377, (2:20½), bay horse, 16½ hands high and weighs 1250 lbs., sire of the champion yearling of 1892, Pawling 2:31, (2-yr-old) 2:20½, (3-year-old) 2:21½. First dam, Salina Collins, was sired by Geo. Willis 17777.

Care taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur.

WM. WILSON, Handler.

JOSEPH A. HUEY,

Pleasure Hill Stock Farm,

Union, Ky.,

Presents for public service, season 1905, a sire of Merit,

BRISTO 19732,

Terms of service $10.00 to insure a living foal.

BRISTO is a beautiful black, 15½ hands, of splendid style and action.

Sired by Baron Wilkes, 2:18, sire of Bumps, 2:03¼, Racnel (4) 2:08¼, Baron Bell, 2:09, Oakland Baron, 2:09¼, Rubenstein, 2:05, Dulce Coe, 2:08¾, Centrifice, 2:09, Nydia Wilkes, 2:09 and 115 others in 2:30 list. First dam by Squire Talmage, sire of Strader H., 2:22½, Neva, 2:23¾, Lottie K., 2:26¾, etc. Second dam by Almont 33, sire of Fannie Witherspoon, 2:16¼, Piedmont, 2:17½, Aldine, 2:19½. Third dam by Gold Dust 150, sire Lucille Gold Dust 2:16½, Fleety Gold dust, 2:20, Indicator, 2:28¾.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14, 1905. NO. 35.

County Correspondence.

RABBIT HASH.

It was sad news to the numerous friends of Mrs. Eunice Wingate to learn of her sudden death, Saturday morning, June 3rd, She was a daughter of William and Elizabeth Rice, was born Feb. 27th, 1856; was married to William Wingate Aug. 23d, 1871. Unto them eight children were born, five of whom are living. The deceased was a woman of open, genial disposition, good and hearted and no mother was kinder to her children than she was. Surely she will be missed by her family and her host of relatives and friends. To the family we extend our sympathy. We can only console them by saying the good wife and mother can never come back to them, but they can, by leading the right kind of life, meet her again where she will be awaiting them, and where there will be no parting.

Solon Rice, of the classical town of McVille, has been, all the sprlug, bragging to Dr. Hopkins of what a fine bred colt he was going to own, offering to sell it to the Doctor for $100. Having talked the doctor almost into the notion of buying it, he went up last week with the money, expecting to purchase it. But, lo and behold! instead of seeing a fine bred colt, nothing met his gaze but a long eared mule. To say Rice was mad would be putting it too mildly, and we advise all who want to talk hoss to Solon to do so over the telephone.

We only wish we had the ability to write about two columns for your paper per week. We never thought taking quotations and prices from other papers was news to your readers, or when neighbors live in one hundred yards of each other, to put their names in the paper every time one goes to see the other, becomes very monotonous to the readers. Cut all such matter out and some write-ups would look rather small. What the readers want is news, and not self-praise.

From the way a certain Dudeville gentleman talked to us, recently, we thought we would not escape a contusion of the integuments under the orbit, with extravasation of blood and ecchymosis of the surrounding cellular tissue which was in a tumefied state with abrasion of the cuticle—or, otherwise, a black eye; but his anger cooled down and we escaped the assault.

We had the pleasnre of meeting Rev. Edgar Riley, last week, for the first time since he was a small boy. We remarked to him, "if the old adage is true, 'bad when you are young, good when you are old,' that he must be one of the best men in the State." We understand that he is making quite a success in the pulpit, which we are glad to hear.

It is amusing to hear some of the excuses people put up for being against Blackburn for senator. If they would read a little more and not take so much for granted, they would not make such laughing stock of themselves. Who is Paynter anyhow?

The way some of the ladies talked to us, last week, and the way their eyes flashed fire, we thought we would have to be picked up with a blotting paper when they got through with us; but everything is lovely now and we are still in the land of the living.

The prospects for a crop is just about as poor in this neighborhood as we ever saw. Corn and tobacco are in a very bad condition. Grass will be short. Wheat not much sown. Surely the farmer has a poor future ahead of him this year.

We often wonder why is it that some people never stop work or were never kuown to go to a funeral, no matter who it was. We suppose they never expect to die and need a funeral.

We often wonder why some people will go five or six miles to help decorate strangers' graves and never have time to put a single flower on the graves of their own dead.

Miss Stella Ryle, of Dog Town, was the guest of Misses Lollie and Helen Ward, last Sunday. She took several of the boys' hearts back with her.

Will Hahn and wife, of Connersville, Ind., were here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Hahn's mother, returned home last Tuesday.

C. C. Craig and wife have the sympathy of the entire community in the death of their little girl, on Monday June 5th, of pneumonia.

Mr. Editor, to settle a bet, please inform us who is the best looking young lady in Burlington.—[The query Editor has resigned.—ED.]

Two of our young men had a regular stand up and knock down not long ago. Boys, that will never do—It don't look well.

Since the mail line has no opposition the farmers have to pay dearly for everything they have shipped. Serves them right.

The Hatbaway and Rabbit Hash telephone line is settling poles. This line will make six lines centering at this place.

Misses Pamella Stephens and Hattie Calvert, of Rising Sun, are visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

Ollie Holmes, of Ludlow, was down last week. He is running an engine on the Southern railroad.

B. H. Stephens, of Big Bone, attended the funeral of his niece, Mrs. Wm. Wingate, last Monday.

Mrs. Lollie Ward Harris, of Indianapolis, is the guest of her brother George, this week.

The smiling countenance of our old friend, Wm. Grimsley, was seen in town, last Friday.

Miss Mary Kirtley, of East Bend, was the guest of Mrs. Maggie Kirtley, last week.

Master James A. Wilson was visiting his grandmother at this place, last week.

Z. T. Kelly is building a new house on his farm, at the mouth of Middle creek.

Mrs. Annie Hager is to be highly commended for her many kind acts.

Miss Brenda Craig's school closed at Maple Hill last Tuesday.

WALTON.

What might have been a serious accident, but for the timely aid of several men, occurred last Sunday afternoon. While out driving Dr. B. K. Menefee's horse became frightened at a dog running along the roadside, and turned the buggy over into a ditch, but, fortunately, no one was seriously injured.

The Children's Day Exercises which were given at the Christian church on Saturday evening, were very successful. A splendid program was prepared under the direction of Misses Cecil Menefee and Carrie Watson and Mr. Taylor Grubbs.

Misses Harriet Taylor and Miss Estelle Huey and Prof. Dickey attended the commencement exercises at Georgetown College.

Miss Cecil Menefee returned home Monday, from a pleasant visit at the home of her friend, Miss Mary Crutcher, of Critteuden.

A large crowd of Walton fans will witness the game of base ball between the Indians and the team at LaGrange.

The Burlington Grays will play Walton on Saturday. Williamstown will also play the same team.

A large crowd is expected to attend the Sunday school convention, next Friday.

Mr. B. B. Hume bought a very fine horse of Mr. Wilson, of Verona, last week.

The rain Saturday afternoon prevented the base ball game with Erlanger.

RICHWOOD.

A Walton man made an offer to bet that Walton team No. 1 could shut out Richwood team, but so many started to accommodate him he gracefully withdrew. We get beaten often but have never been shut out yet, and Walton would have to work.

Edward Stephens and family returned here over three weeks ago, but their household goods are still ohasing some where between here and Cocoa, Florida.

Miss Angie Odenwald, of Ludlow, was the guest of Mrs. Gaines Robinson a few days last week.

Maurice Haley, formerly of this place, has been appointed on the Covington police force.

A good many of our folks went to Walton to see the Indians scalped (?).

A brother of telegrapher, Dickerson, is stationed at the railway office here.

A large crowd attended the Excelsior Grange festival, Saturday night.

Whooping cough which has been prevalent here is subsiding.

Wm. Glacken's folks, who have been sick are much better.

The Richwood boys have received their base ball uniforms.

Frank Clark is back on the railroad.

FRANCESVILLE.

June 10.—We are having some more cool, cloudy weather.

Mrs. Sydney Blankeubeker, of Louisville, arrived at her father's last Saturday. She and her sister, Mrs. Johnnie Garr, of Indiauapolis, are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wash Watts.

Our young people attended the social given at the elegant residence of C. E. Clore, last Saturday night, and will attend the strawberry festival at Odd-Fellows Hall tonight, Saturday.

By the way, we think that Charles Beall, sr., is the Gilly Weisickle of this neighborhood, as every correspondent has one. He and Mrs. Beall and son went to the city Friday of this week.

William Hoshal Kilgour, of Cincinnati, and Miss Emma Harvey, of Williamstown, will be married on the 21st of this month. They will go to housekeeping in the city.

Mr. Bob White, whose obituary notice appeared in the Recorder of May 31st, was interred in the cemetery at Sand Run, instead of Sand Hill.

Miss Dink Scothorn and sister, and Mrs. C. W. McFee attended the game of ball with the Indians at Burlington on the 7th inst.

Commissary has some very wise sayings and interesting items, although he is continually throwing bouquets at himself.

Mr. Editor do you think we will get that rural free delivery route that was promised?—[I do not know, but hope so.—ED.

Bro. Davis, of West Virginia, preached here last Saturday and Sunday week, to an appreciative congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts entertained W. B. Graves, wife and daughter, Lenora, of Hebron, last Sunday.

Miss Della Roberts, of Burlington, is the guest or her brother, Harry, near here this week.

We congratulated Mr. Grant on the finding of his teeth, when we saw him last week.

We missed the Idlewild correspondence this week.

Huge Task.

It was a huge task, to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Ia., but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache, and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach, Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c.

BELLEVIEW.

Uncle Lewis Snyder is very low.

Mrs. Odella Cook, of Patriot, spent last Monday with your scribe and wife.

John Deck and wife, of Woolper, spent last Sunday at uncle Lewis Snyder's.

Conner will pitch a game of ball for Aurora against Anderson Ferry in the near future.

Master David Ryle, who attends school at Liberty, Missouri, is spending his vacation with his father, John P. Ryle, of Rabbit Hash.

Hebron and Belleview ball teams played an interesting game at the local park, last Saturday. Cosby, of Aurora, was in the box for the home team, and was in the game from start to finish, bringing his team out of many critical places by retiring his opponents by the strikeout route. Score 7 to 6 in favor of Belleview.

It is with sadness that we chronicle the death of Bob, our house cat. He was called Bob because his tail was abbreviated one day by a hatchet in the hands of a bad boy. Notwithstanding Bob flourished and grew fat on rats and mice, of which there is an abundance in our domicile, he got out of the narrow way and began to kill and eat the young chickens of the neighbors, being caught in the act a few mornings since by Mrs. T. J. Wingate, which settled poor Bob's fate. She gathered him up, tied a paper sack over his head, and carried him over to Mrs. Sebern Berkshire, who had also suffered from his depredations. In a short time Bob's neck was across a log at the wood pile Mrs. Birkshire wielded the axe, and when she was done, alas! poor Bob's spirit had winged its way to that undiscovered country.

IDLEWILD.

Growing tobacco looks well.

Farmers are having their machines put in order for harvest.

Lightning killed a fine steer belonging to Hon. N. S. Waltou, a few days ago.

Mrs. V. W. Gaines, of Ludlow, was a guest at her uncle's near here, last week.

June the month of brides and roses has proven to be one of showers and storms.

B. R. Gaines and M. L. Souther have had telephones put in their residences.

Tempieton Gaines and wife are sojourning at Dreunou Springs for a short time.

Mrs. John Walton, of Home City, is visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cropper.

Mr. and Mrs. Let Nichols visited their danghter, Mrs. Frank Cason, of Covington, a few days since.

Mrs. Bert Gaines eutertaiued with an elegant dinuer, one day last week, as did also Mrs. J. E. Smith.

Miss Emma Graves, of Missouri, is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. J. J. Duncan, near Burlington.

W. P. Cropper, of North Bend, treated his many friends to a delightful fish fry, last Saturday afternoon.

Winston Gaines attended the commencement at Oxford, Ohio, where his brother Bernard is attending college.

The condensed news items in the Recorder each week would be worth the subscription price if it contained nothing else.

We regret losing Mr. Clark from the county, but hope he will ever prosper. Sorry to hear that Mr. Belden, of Petersburg, has sold his mill.

When we see God's blessed sunshine in the morning, it gives happiness to our hearts, firmness to our steps and brightness for the labor of the day.

Please inform me as to the name of the Indian woman who piloted Clark and Lewis to the Pacific ocean in 1805. I think it was Salamsuche.—[That was her name.—ED.]

Elijah Parker, of Gasburg, was here Saturday on business, and presented us with a copy of the Confederate Veteran published at Nashville. It is a publication worthy its cause.

Mrs. B. R. Gaines attended the commencement exercises of the Aurora High school. Her niece, Miss Sarah Parker, of Petersburg, was one of the graduates. While in Aurora Mrs. Gaines visited her only aunt, Mrs. Martha Riddell and children.

When death entered the home of our friends, the Clutterbucks, last week, it severed the strongest tie of a home by taking one so beloved, so useful, so essential to the happiness of all. The bereaved husband has the sympathy of all, trusting that he and his loved one will be eternally united in heaven.

GASBURG.

June 10.—Wheat harvest will be on hand next week.

Mrs. Jane Terrill improves slowly.

A big crowd of excursionists spent Sunday at Split Rock.

Several parties have been trying to purchase Split Rock and fix it up in fine style as a summer resort.

A large delegation from this part of the country will attend the Confederate reunion in Louisville this week.

Robt: Terrill, of upper Goose Creek, and Wm. Alden, of Petersburg, were calling on lady friends here Sunday.

Capt. J. D. Parker, of Cincinnati, and Mr. Luther Terrill and wife, of Anderson, Indiana, visited relatives here and in Petersburg last week.

Mrs. H. Lee Early and children, of Home City, Ohio, visited at your reporter's Sunday. Mr. Early is in Washington, D. C. on important business.

George Batchelor's ferret escaped again from its cage and killed 65 chickens and 9 turkeys making 125 chickens it has killed this season. The Hartman Bros., of Lawrenceburg Ferry, had a ferret to escape one night a couple of weeks ago and it killed nearly all of their young chickens and turkeys, and would, doubtless, have killed all of them had not their dog caught and killed it, which was probably the best thing the dog ever did.

PLEASANT VALLEY.

H L. Tanner has a new surrey.

Clarence Norman has a new rubber tire buggy.

A. C. Vaughn, of Pleasant Ridge, O., visited his father here, Sunday.

Leslie Wingate and wife dined with his father, John Wingate, Sunday.

Misses Lulie and Nettie Rouse entertained with a delightful dinner, last Wednesday.

Rausom Vaughn, of Cincinnati, attended Childreu's Day Exercises at Hopeful, last Sunday.

Irvin Tanner and wife, of Covington, were guests of his father and mother, H. L. Tanner and wife, last Saturday and Sunday.

FLORENCE.

Born, on the 9th to Fred Schram and wife a girl.

Miss Irene Cahill spent Friday with her grandma in Elsmere.

Miss Nellie Crigler, of Lebanon, O., is the guest of her mother.

Harry Miller, of Covington, is boarding with Mrs. S. F. Clutterbuck.

Arch Wilhoit and wife, of Covington, spent Saturday with Mrs. Susan Wilhoit.

The directors of the Florence bank had a meeting and declared a dividend the other day.

Mrs. Frank Mitchell, of Erlanger, spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Nannie Crigler.

Miss Lucy McChirg, of South Erlanger, was the guest of her cousin, Maggie Golway, last week.

Mrs. A. W. Smith and daughter, Ritta, have returned from Wilson, North Carolina, where they attended the wedding of Miss May Carpenter and Rev. L. B. Hastins.

The Childreu's Day Exercises at the Christian church was well attended Saturday night. A dialogue by Irella Tanner and Ida Cody was excellent and a recitation entitled, "Tommy's Prayer," by Gladys Rouse, was the best on the programe.

FLICKERTOWN.

John Smith lost a good steer one day last week.

Mrs. Stephen Gaines has been real sick for several days.

Dick Hensley has been nuder the weather for several days.

Harry Acra and family were visiting Mr. Let Nichols, Sunday.

G. C. Voshell was here one day this week looking after his farm

Claborn Campbell and wife visited Egbert Nichols and wife last Sunday.

Tom Hensley has a new buggy. Look out, girls, Tom means business.

Mrs. Kate Smith, of Addyston, O., is at the bedside of her sick daughter, Mrs. Charles Hensley.

Miss Prudie Acra, and Miss Lou Acra, were visiting their grand parents, of Flickertown last Sunday.

Miss Lou Acra, Miss Aggie Snyder and Miss Alice Deck visited Miss Eva Akius, Saturday night and Sunday.

The Sunday school was organized at Woolper school house. The officers are as follows: John Sebree, Superintendent; Henry Smith, assistant Superintendent; Miss Lulie Aklus, Secretary; Miss Genie Sebree, Asst Secretary; Charles Sebree, Treasurer; Miss Nellie Sebree, Organist.

BULLITTSVILLE.

O. W. Gaines had a force of hands working the creek road, Friday.

The farmers are catching up with their work and crops of all kinds are looking fine.

Several from here attended the fish fry at the Sand Hill school house, Saturday afternoon.

Howard Hays came home from the city last week with a broken arm, the result of too much heroism.

Rev. Daniels and family, of Coviugton, spent Several days last week with Rev. M. D. Early and family.

The Woolper ball team and the Garrison Allsorts crossed bats at Riley's race track Saturday afteruoon, the score being 13 to 2 in favor of the Allsorts. Both sides played good ball throughout the game with the exception of the fifth inning when the Woolper boys went skyward and let the Allsorts make nine runs. The same teams play again next Saturday on the Woolper grounds. The Allsorts went to Lawrenceburg Sunday and hitched up with the Newtown Grays, one of the best teams in Dearborn county, defeating them by a score of 6 to 2. About 100 people witnessed the game, about half of them from this county. When the Garrison boys lined up on the fair ground 4 with faded uniforms (all different) and five in citizens' clothes, the Grays said, "Oh what a shame that we came ont here to play a gang of mountain monkeys," but when the game was called they soon found that they had misjudged, and all they could do with the assistance of their manager as umpire was to score 2 runs, one in the fourth luning and one in the last. Gray, McMurry and Barnard did the battery work, which they never did better in their lives, while every man in the field covered himself with glory. The Grays dubbed Marion Keaton grandpa, and said he could out play any old man they ever saw. The same teams will play again next Sunday at the Lawrenceburg fair grounds. Game called at 2 p. m.

Dying of Famine

Is in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers, of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying different medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me." Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at all drug stores, price 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

GUNPOWDER.

Elbert Senior had the misfortune to lose a valuable cow, last Sunday.

A large audience attended Childrens day exercises at Hopeful, last Sunday.

Tom Corbin, of Erlanger, was in our burg last Sunday, the guest of Elbert Senior.

Will Dixon and sons and H. F. Utz and wife dined with B C. Surface and wife, last Sunday.

Miss Ottie Surface, Leslie Barlow and Noah Zimmerman, were Sunday guests of J. S. Surface.

The recent rains made a splendid season for setting tobacco and the crop is about all pitched.

Miss Roland and Miss Lizzie Rouse, of Spring Place, Ga., are visitiug their relatives and friends here.

Mesdames Cora Blankenbeker and Lizzie Bartell, of Florence, spent a few days last week with Mrs. J. H. Tanner.

Some of our farmers who did not get their corn planted before the wet weather set in, finished that job last week.

The dry weather, last fall injured the meadows very greatly and with few exceptions the yield of hay will be light.

William Kirkpatrick is the first in this neighborhood to begin harvesting. He was handling his crop of clover last week.

PETERSBURG.

June 12—Charles Wilson, of Sunnyside, was in town, Saturday.

Ben Belden is yarding 5000 bus. coal.

Miss Mattie Papet, of Indianapolis, is visiting her parents here.

M. F. Wingate will spend several weeks at Freuch Lick Springs.

W. H. Crisler will quit the stage and go to farmiug. Willie is a star.

Miss Martin, of Chillicothe, Ohio, is the guest of Miss Jean Berkshire.

The question of a saloou in towu is agitating the minds of our city dads.

Miss Corda Ryle, of Florence, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. B. Berkshire.

Col. George R. Berkshire is improving in health and is able to take a drive.

Mrs. Susan Wingate, Mrs. Medline Hensley and J. H. Snyder are among our sick.

David Arnett, the cattle boss at the distillery, has gone to his home in Shelbyville.

The cattle have all been shipped from the distillery, most of them going to Eastern markets.

R. A. McWethy and W. T. Stott will attend the Confederate Reunion at Louisville this week.

The river is rising and a coal-boat stage is promised, with 5,000,000 bushels on the way down.

Only one guager and two storekeepers on duty here now. Billy Newhall has charge of the books.

Robert Anderson, a popular young man of Aurora, was calling on Miss Hazel McWethy, Sunday.

Miss Myrtle Hurd, a pretty young lady of Covington, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Jenette Hurd.

Charles Sturgeon is suffering the consequences of a friendly wrestle by being laid up with a broken leg.

Miss Pearl Crisler spent several days last week, with Mr. and Mrs. L. Ferris on Walnut Hills, Ohio.

Dr. Carl Grant, one of the best young M. D.'s in the city of Louisville, was visiting his parents here, last week.

Col. Sam Pink and Dr. G. M. Terrill, two Lawreuceburg gallants, were here calling on their lady friends, Sunday.

Misses Artie and Stella Ryle, of Commissary, were guests of Judge Arnold and wife, Saturday night and Sunday.

Misses Sadie Parker, Alice Berkshire, Amanda Terrill and Hazel McWethy graduated from Aurora High School, last Thursday.

W. O Alden is at home from College at Lexiugton. Dr. Leslie Waltou, of Nicholasville, visited his mother here, several days last week.

Allie Winstou, of Idlewild, was in town Sunday afteruoon and took several of our pretty young ladies buggy riding behind his spirited stepper.

Prof. E. C. Rice and wife gave their pupils an outing on Taylors creek, Saturday. The children, as well as the older folks, enjoyed the day very much.

Mrs. Medline Hensley, desires to tbauk the kind friends of the town through the columns of the Recorder for their kind attention to her during her recent sickness.

Mrs. Lina Hensley spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. Charles Craig, of East Bend, who had the misfortune to lose one of their children recently, with pneumonia.

The National Stock Co., presented "Lady Budley's Secret," an emotional drama, at the Opera House, Saturday night. Next Saturday night "A Burglar," a laughable comedy.

Mrs. Agnes Grant has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Botts, who resides in Georgia. On her return she stopped off at Danville, Ky., to visit her sister, Mrs. A. McConnell.

The I. O. O. F., Lodge held memorial services in memory of their departed brothers who are buried here, Sunday morning. The K. of P.'s will hold theirs on the fourth Sunday in this month at 2 p. m. Music and speeches.

Miss Carrie Collier entertained the Erstwhile Club at her beautiful home in the new addition, Sunday evening. Misses Inez and Ethiean Hensley, of Lawrenceburg, and Myrtle Hurd, of Covington, were guests of honor.

Here and There, asked "What has Joe Blackburn ever done to the people that they should want to lay him on the shelf?" What has Joe Blackburn ever done that he should want to inflict himself on the patients of a loyal people for six more years?

William Black, an old and respected citizen of this place, who was visiting his son, Ab, who lives just across the river from here, was found dead in the tobacco patch last Saturday morning. Mr. B. had been hoeing tobacco with his little grandson and had started to the house for supper, the grandson going on ahead. When the elder Black did not arrive search was made for him with the above results. Mr. Black was a quiet, industrious, unassuming old man and had many friends here. He was born near Big Bone.

Last Friday Mr. and Mrs. Rice celebrated the closing of their private school, by giving the children an outing in Mr. Holton's woods. Through this woods a small stream of water plays with its winding banks, and babbles softly over its pebbles, clear as orient pearls, as it passes on to the grand old Obio. It was an ideal place for an airing for the children, a luxuriant growth of blue grass, closely cropped by Mr. Holton's thoroughbreds, forming a carpet over which the children played; stately trees with extended branches formed a canopy that shielded the mothers and fathers as they watched the much diversified hilarity displayed by the seventy children that were unbridled and turned loose; small pools of water had formed here and there in the streamlet, that contained crawfish, small fish and tadpoles. Some of the children came with pole and line and amused themselves fishing; swings had been prepared which kept going throut the day. Among the notable events of the day was the killing of a huge moccasin by Madames Stott and Berkshire which measured 6 feet in length and 8 inches in circumference. Mrs. Rice captured, by killing a huge groundhog.

Last Saturday I attended the fishfry at Sand Hill school house. About 150 guest were present and enjoyed the real old fashioned fishfry. I was met and extended a hearty welcome by Miss Bessie Cropper, who was the hostess and promoteress of the festive occasion, assisted by her aunt, Mrs. Lorena Cropper. I was also welcomed by Governor Stitt, that grand, courteous old gentleman, who appeared to be general superintendent. I found in mingling with the guests that there were representatives from many points outside of Boone county. I met Perry Cropper, of Louisville; T. R. Snyder, of Avon, near Lexington; Dr. Dick Crisler, of Ludlow, who came to personate his son, Carlton, who is in New York City; Dr. Walton and wife, Dick Stephens and wife and Mrs. Dodsworth, of Home City; Dr. Wilder and wife and Robert Bradford, of Cincinnati. Erlanger was represented by the beautiful Miss Sebree, and Missouri was very beautifully represented by the charming little friend, Miss May Baisly. I met another young lady, whose name I failed to catch. A very prominent character from Rat Row was mingling among the guests. After everyone had satisfied their appetites with fish, boccakes and refreshing coffee, several baskets were filled with the loaves and fishes that were left. Everyone present had left their cares behind and determined to get all the enjoyment out of the day that could be had. Your correspondent in his travels through life's desert will often look back to Miss Bessie's fish fry on June 10th, 1905, and recall it as the most delightful oasis he has met in tbe past.

ERLANGER.

Mr. George Holms, of Cumminsville visited friends here Sunday.

Mr. Estill Billiter, of Frankfort, was visiting relatives here last Sunday.

Miss Bernice Duncan was the pleasant guest of the Misses Kirtley, last week.

Miss Eva Shaw Riggs, who has been quite ill for several days, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Minnie Watt and daughter, Miss Loretta, left, Sunday, for a visit with friends in Indianapolis.

Rev. J. H. Moore, of Louisville, returned home this morning after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Webb.

Mr. Warner Sayers and Mr. Kenneth Edwards, of Ludlow, left Saturday morning to enter college at Lexiugton.

The ladies of the M. E. church will give an entertainment and supper Friday evening June 16th. Admission 25 cents.

The entertainment given at the Christian church of Florence, in the interest of Children's Day by Miss Eunice May Hinton, was quite a success being witnessed by an appreciative audience.

RABBIT HASH.

Mrs, Ida Wilson presented herself with a gasoline stove, last week.

The Grangers will have a meeting at Colon Kelly's, next Saturday afternoon.

Warren and Robert Lassing, of Walton, are guests of their cousin, Robert Brady.

H. D. Brady and wife made a shopping expedition to Cincinnati, last Saturday.

Rev. [illegible]ilton, attended the burial of Chas. Craig's baby here Tuesday.

Mrs. Ed Ryle and son-in-law, Wm. Akers, of Latonia, have been visiting relatives here.

Ethel and Bernice Aylor, of Lawrenceburg, are visiting their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Stephens.

S. C. McConnell has returned from Danville, where he went to be present at the graduation of his sister, Marie.

Rev. Roland, Presiding Elder and Bro. Selby, the Pastor, held quarterly meeting services at East Bend, Saturday and Sunday.

A. C. Dolph fell while hauling wood and dislocated his shoulder blade, and as the bone could not be replaced because of being swollen, he is in a serious condition.

Henry McConnell, who has been attending college in N. C., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben McConnell, of East Bend, last week. He has now gone to Louisville, where he has a position.

Little Coralie, Chas. Craig's youngest child, died of pneumonia and whooping cough last Monday. Her remains were interred in the cemetery at the M. E. church, Tuesday afternoon. We extend our sympathies to the grief stricken parents in the loss of their little one.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, . . . KENTUCKY.

JUNE...1905

Sun.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thu.	Fri.	Sat.
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30

N. M. 3rd. F. Q. 10th. F. M. 17th. L. Q. 24th.

Russia might have done better if she had intrusted her navy to Capt. "Charlie" Barr, of the yacht Atlantic.

As a curious effect of the war, the China Review notes, sharks have migrated from the far East to European waters, having been frightened, it is thought, by submarine explosions.

A clock that will run for 30,000 years without winding is the latest use to which that wonderful substance, radium, has been applied. The instruments are being sold at $50 each.

The municipal laboratory of Paris has been examining the experiments made by Dr. Vogel, who has manufactured a very succulent cheese from the small Chinese beans known as "soy beans."

Twenty thousand frogs a year are used for dissection and experimental purposes in the University of Pennsylvania medical laboratories. Both medical and dental classes view the experiments.

By breeding and feeding his fowls in a special way, a chemist in Wiesbaden, Germany, has been able so to increase the natural quantity of iron in eggs that they are medicinal and useful for the cure of various diseases.

J. M. Herring is the very appropriate name of the fish inspector at Hilo, Hawaiian Islands. In a recent report he says that the food fishes of Hawaii are rapidly disappearing because of the slaughter of those not fully grown. Ignorant natives and Japanese fishermen are responsible.

The United States has paid out in pensions on account of the war of the revolution, $70,000,000; the war of 1812, $45,000,000; Indian wars, nearly $6,000,000; the Mexican war, $32,000,000; the war with Spain, $3,250,000; the civil war, $2,728,000,000—a total of over $2,884,000,000.

Adm. Winfield Scott Schley is one of the most gallant of men. No one can say with truth that he was ever lacking in courtesy to the ladies. He is the perfection of old-fashioned politeness, a regular Lord Chesterfield of this hurrying bustling age, when so few have time for politeness.

A London tailor, suing for wages, testified that he worked from Thursday morning to late on Saturday night without a break, and when he collapsed on his bench and was taken home his employer dismissed him summarily because he could not work on the Sunday as well. He won his case.

It is stated that the Amazon River Wireless Telegraph Co. is now shipping material for its wireless plant between Para and Manaos. The installation will, it is expected, be completed early next summer. There is probably no cable in the world more frequently interrupted by breaks than that between Para and Manaos, and it is to obviate the delays thus caused that a wireless service is being installed.

Speculators who failed to buy radium when the market was down a year and a half ago missed the opportunity of their lives to get rich. Had they purchased radium in November of 1903—only a few pounds of it, they could have become independently wealthy. A bull in radium who had been wise enough to buy an ounce for $64,000 in November, 1903, and held for July delivery, in 1905 would have realized exactly $826,000 on his investment. Radium is retailing in British markets for $890,000 an ounce, and little to be had at that price.

An offer of $4,000, probably the largest value ever placed on a pair of animal's horns, was made at the sportsmen's show in Madison Square garden, New York, recently, for a pair of magnificent horns that once were proudly borne by one of the largest bullocks ever seen in South Africa. The offer was refused, the fact illustrating the growing interest that is being taken in mounted heads and horns of wild animals. They were secured from King Lewanika, of the Barotsie land, now a portion of Rhodesia.

The stamp collecting hobby is a never-failing gold mine to the United States government. Stamp collectors and dealers every year pay into the treasury many thousands of dollars for stamps you might say they get absolutely nothing in return. Some of the stamps sent to New York and in Europe are worth as much at $25,000 worth of stamps of this country are all those. When you know that you have a rare stamp and more stamp deal you all over the world, you begin to realize what a tremendous sum of money is represented.

WORLD'S NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM.

Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs of Recent Interesting Happenings.

EVENTS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

The Doings of the Government Officials—Crimes and Casualties and Other Notes of General Interest.

War News in Brief.

The czar has at last been neard from at Washington and the result is not unfavorable to peace. In his recent audience with Mr. Meyer, the American ambassador, the czar intimated a willingness to take under advisement the subject of peace and expressed a warm appreciation of the friendly words of Mr. Meyer, speaking as the personal envoy of the president. The reception of Mr. Meyer was characterized by the greatest cordiality and friendliness.

An identical note, the text of which, by authority of the president, was made public at the white house by Secretary Loeb, has been forwarded to the governments of Russia and Japan by President Roosevelt. In the interest of humanity the president urges the warring nations to conclude peace. It is suggested by the president that the negotiations for peace be conducted "directly and exclusively" between the belligerent nations. President Roosevelt was confident that the result of the international negotiations for peace in the far east had been successful and that the final blow in the Russo-Japanese war had been struck.

It is asserted in political circles in Rome that the Italian government has added its efforts to those of the United States in offering good offices to Russia with a view of peace.

Rr. Adm. Enquist, at Manila, with the Russian disabled warships, received a cable from the czar ordering him to remain there at the disposition of the American government.

The All-Russian Zemstov congress has sent an address to the czar demanding in no uncertain tone the immediate convocation of a national assembly to pass upon the question of peace or war, to heal internal strife, and to unite the people for the rejuvenation of Russia.

A press correspondent is informed that reports have been received at army headquarters from Vladivostok indicating that the naval defeat was due largely to lack of leadership after Rojestvensky was wounded.

Miscellaneous News Items.

The storthing declared the union between Norway and Sweden under one king to be dissolved and that the king has ceased to act as king of Norway. The storthing further empowered the present state council to act as a government of Norway until further notice and to exercise the power heretofore appertaining to the king. King Oscar recorded a decided protest against the method and action of Norway.

It is reported that the Norwegian government, in view of King Oscar's apparently definite refusal to consider the offer of the storthing to place a prince of the house of Bernadotte on the throne, has privately approached the Danish royal family to ascertain if an offer of the throne would be received by a member of it, preferably Prince Charles, son of Crown Prince Frederick. The general opinion expressed in Copenhagen is that such an offer would be refused.

All hope that King Oscar or Crown Prince Gustav will yield to the request of the Norwegian storthing to place a prince of the house of Bernadotte on the throne of Norway has now disappeared, according to a high authority. The Danish royal family has also set the stamp of disapproval on the acceptance of the throne by a Danish prince.

Premier Ramstedt, in an interview, says the Swedish government will refuse to recognize the revolution in Norway and will submit to the riksdag motions conformable to this standpoint.

The situation in Sweden and Norway is attracting much interest in Austria and Hungary. This is especially true and Hungary are compared.

Philadelphia mayor's shake-up in the departments has extended to the police force. Twenty-five policemen faced the police board of inquiry to answer various charges of dereliction of duty.

Col. William H. Chesebrough died at his residence in London of peritonitis after a two weeks' illness. Col. Chesebrough was a civil war veteran and was on the staff of Gen. R. C. Schenck.

In the case of G. A. Nuckles against J. F. Hooper from Marshall county, Alabama, the supreme court of Alabama held that transactions in cotton futures is not gambling, but is a legitimate business.

Martial law has been declared in Erivan, where a Mussulman mob fired on Armenians in a bazaar, killing and wounding over 20. The fighting was continued.

John Frazier, a negro, was hanged at Desarc, Ark., for the murder of Webster Southerland, a time-keeper on the Searcy & Desarc road near Desarc, November 5 last.

Crown Prince Frederick William and Duchess Cecilia of Mecklenburg Schwerin were married in the palace chapel, Berlin, and batteries in Berlin and in every garrison town in Russia and in every sea of which the German warships floated began firing a 21 gun salute at the same moment. In the chapel one of the most distinguished assemblages that could be gathered in Europe saw the simple wedding service of the Lutheran church.

Incident to the wedding of the crown prince and Duchess Cecilia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Emperor William has created Chancellor Von Buelow a prince.

Foreign Minister Delcasse has resigned and his resignation has been accepted. Premier Rouvier will assume temporarily the portfolio of minister of foreign affairs. The resignation of M. Delcasse is due to the failure of the French policy in Morocco.

Gen. Capriano Castro was re-elected as president of Venezuela. Gens. Gomez and Velutini were re-elected as first and second vice presidents respectively.

The Daughters of the American Revolution at a meeting of the committee on the continental hall, voted unanimously to continue the work on that building in Washington.

Number 1 passenger train on the Wisconsin Central, west-bound, plunged into the Red Cedar river from the high steel bridge, one mile west of Colfax, Wis. Engineer George Phillipps, Fireman Severans and five tramps who were riding on the blind baggage car are missing and are believed to be drowned.

Twenty-two guests of a Nashville hotel were taken suddenly ill shortly after dinner. Ice cream was served at the meal and attendant physicians attributed the sickness to some preservative used in the milk or to ptomaine poisoning.

Attorney General Moody decides that the eight hour law passed August 1, 1892, applies to the laborers and mechanics at work on the Panama canal. It does not apply to clerks or other employes of the government.

Submarine boat "A-8" was lost off the breakwater at Plymouth. Three explosions are said to have occurred on board before she foundered. Fourteen of the crew were drowned.

Secretary of State John Hay sailed on the White Star liner Baltic. Before sailing Hay said he has recovered his strength, and he intends to resume his duties immediately upon his return to Washington.

Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Barry, United States army, selected for duty with the Russian army in Manchuria, and Capt. Sydney A. Cloman, aide to Gen. Barry, will leave Dresden shortly for St. Petersburg.

Richard Croker has sold his Richfield Springs stock farm, his last holding in racing property. He has lost $200,000, it is estimated, from recent sales of interests connected with racing.

The army in the Philippines is opening a campaign in the new military district of Samar against the fanatical Pulajanes. Two of the leaders and 42 of their followers have been killed.

J. H. Gfeenbee, 94, only surviving member of the convention which voted for the secession of North Carolina from the union in 1861, is dead at Marion, Va.

Harvey Bolding shot and killed his divorced wife and Harvey Hill near Gibson, Miss. Bolding was divorced last January from the woman and subsequently remarried.

President Roosevelt paid his first visit to the Albemarle farm which Mrs. Roosevelt recently purchased from William N. Wilmer, the New York banker.

Joseph H. Choate, the returning ambassador to the court of St. James, was welcomed home by the Pilgrims of the United States at a banquet in New York.

The loss in Grand Rapids Mich., attributable to the flood which now seems to be subsiding, is estimated at $250,000. The loss in all Western Michigan is placed at $1,000,000. So far five lives were lost.

Germany has notified her acceptance of the invitation to the proposed conference on the Moroccan situation. This is believed to mean that no negotiations for a mutual arrangement between Berlin and Paris is now possible.

The bureau of engraving and printing delivered to the post office department 77,540,000 postage stamps in sheets and 107,990 in books. This is the largest delivery of stamps ever made in one day.

Justice Rufus W. Peckham, of the United States circuit court, at Albany, N. Y., denied an application for a writ of error in the case of Mrs. Mary Rogers, of Vermont, convicted of the murder of her husband.

Paul Morton was elected to the position of chairman of the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society. Immediately following the acceptance of Morton the resignations were tendered of President Alexander, First Vice President Hyde, Second Vice President Tarbell, Third Vice President Wilson and Fourth Vice President McIntyre.

The fishing tug Grace M. of Lorain, O., while evidently fishing in Canadian waters, four miles north of the international boundary line, was sighted by the Dominion government cruiser Vigilant to the east of Middle Island. In a chase the two vessels collided and the tug was sunk. Two of the crew were drowned.

The navy department has been advised through the British embassy of the intended visit to American waters this autumn of Prince Louis of Battenberg with a squadron of British warships, consisting, it is understood, of four cruisers.

Frank O'Leary, of Buffalo, N. Y., died at the government hospital on Swisburne island of yellow fever. He was taken ill on board the steamer Seguranca while en route from Colon to New York.

The wage conference of representatives of the Republic Iron and Steel Co. and of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, resulted in a compromise for the year ending July 1, 1906. The men will receive an increase of about 7 per cent.

Announcement was made that the contract for granite to be used in building the mausoleum as a memorial to President William McKinley at Canton, O., has been awarded to a Milford, Mass., company. It is estimated that $250,000 worth of pink granite will be needed.

The New York court of appeals affirmed the conviction of Lawyer Albert T. Patrick for the murder of Millionaire Rice by chloroform in New York in order that he might possess his estate.

The precipitation in the vicinity of Peoria, Ill., for 12 hours ending at noon was four inches, one of the heaviest for years. In some places the storm took the form of a cloudburst.

Three torpedo boat destroyers will be launched at Yokosuka on Saturday next, June 17.

A fish weighing 470 pounds and 7½ feet long was caught at Sandy Hook, a mile south of the Eads bridge, St. Louis, by Herman Abel and William Lyons. It belongs to the alligator species.

Three members of a touring party, one woman and two men, were drowned, and two other persons had narrow escapes from death when a large touring car plunged through an open draw at the Rush street bridge, Chicago.

On an oil stove Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt cooked the breakfast of the president, the couple at the time being all alone in the little cottage recently bought by Mrs. Roosevelt from W. N. Wilmer, near Scottsville, Va.

Joseph Richardson Coomes, 68, a lieutenant in the confederate army, who while a prisoner of war at Rock Island, Ill., in 1863, with seven other confederate prisoners, planned the Ku Klux Klan, died at his home in Norfolk, Va.

The success that has attended President Roosevelt in seeking for peace is hailed in Italy with general rejoicing, it being felt that the president thus benefits the whole world.

Dr. Brown Ayres, president of the University of Tennessee, has received from William Jennings Bryan a draft for $40. This is offered as a prize for the best essay by a student of the University of Tennessee upon the subject, "The Principles of Free Government."

The Des Moines river at Keokuk, Ia., rose seven feet in three hours. There is an almost equally remarkable flood in the Mississippi river.

Claude L. Elliott, of Dupont, a green brakeman on a Pennsylvania work train, was killed on the Louisville division near Columbus, Ind. He dropped his pipe on the main track just as a fast passenger train came along. He stooped to pick it up and was struck.

Frank G. Bigelow, the defaulting bank president of Milwaukee, pleaded guilty to an indictment of ten counts, returned by the federal grand jury, charging violation of the national bank law, and was sentenced to a concurrent sentence of ten years at hard labor in the federal penitentiary.

All records for shooting with five-inch guns were broken by four gunners of the first-class battle ship Kentucky on the northern drilling grounds, 20 miles outside Sandy Hook.

William H. Rogers, for 14 years a member of the editorial staff of The New York World, is dead in New York from acute neuralgia. He was born in Janesville, Wis., in 1865.

On March 5 last Miss Nannie Burr and Miss Gertrude Conrad, of Maysville, Ky., threw a bottle containing their address in the river. Letters were received from Charles Meyer and James M. Locke, of Belle Hellene, La., who found the bottle while fishing.

Plans are being made to erect in New York a hotel to be 15 stories high and having nearly 1,000 rooms. It will be built at a cost of about $15,000,000. The new hotel will rival any similar structure in the world.

Contractors on the Vera Cruz & Pacific railroad have decided to exclude Chinamen from the ranks of their laborers. They have experimented with them and find that their work is unsatisfactory.

Near Waterloo, Ia., Mrs. W. J. Schrock was murdered and her remains placed in the coal house and then set on fire presumably by tramps. The woman was burned to a crisp.

In the fighting at Pantchatin, near Vodei, European Turkey, it is said that the Greeks lost three killed while the Bulgarians lost 28 killed or wounded, besides 17 prisoners who were executed by their captors.

The heirs of Mrs. Mary J. Winthrop estate have finally come to an agreement by which Princeton theological seminary will receive $1,750,000.

A correspondent at Simla, British India, says that the government of Burmah has refused to grant the Standard Oil Co. a license to store refined petroleum at a site on the Rangoon river.

An authoritative confirmation of the report that the traction lines of Eastern Indiana and Western Ohio are to be consolidated was made. The net work of interurban lines between Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Columbus will soon be under one control.

The Merchants' and Planters' bank of Greenville, Miss., made an assignment.

THE TIME AND PLACE.

Russia is Waiting For Japan to Begin Peace Negotiations.

Also the Peace Terms—Emperor Nicholas Would Prefer That Paris Should Be the Scene of the Initial Step.

St. Petersburg, June 12.—Russia is waiting for Japan to fix the time and the place when and where the Japanese terms will be placed in the hands of Russia's representative. The foreign office expects that the delay will be brief.

The emperor's government would prefer that Paris should be the scene of the initial step, but it is explained that neither the place nor the personality of the Russian representative matters greatly.

The Russian representative will not be a plenipotentiary with full power to negotiate. His duty will practically be confined to the reception and transmission to his government of the Japanese terms for decision as to whether they afford a basis for actual peace negotiations. He will be clothed with power to effect an agreement for the suspension of hostilities, which suspense will probably be for a very limited period, during which Russia must decide the momentous question of peace or a prolongation of the war. During this temporary armistice both countries probably will be free to continue the movement of troops and munitions of war within prescribed limits, although nothing definite on this point will be known until the meeting takes place.

If Russia finds that the terms are on a basis on which negotiations can proceed, regular plenipotentiaries will be appointed, the number being decided by the belligerents themselves, and then it is not impossible that the negotiations might be transferred to Manchuria, as President Roosevelt is believed to have suggested.

A BUFFALO DINNER.

The National Editorial Association Entertained at Ranch 101.

Bliss, Okla., June 12.—Forty thousand people were entertained by Miller Bros. at the 101 ranch, the visit of the National Editorial association to the ranch being made the occasion for a buffalo hunt, a buffalo dinner and an Indian celebration. The editors, many of whom were accompanied by ladies, arrived on the Santa Fe in a special train.

In the editorial party were many Oklahoma editors, who had accompanied the members of the national association on their trip through the territory. The general public had been invited to the entertainment. The Santa Fe railroad, which runs through the ranch, carried 20,000 people to 101 and as many more drove in to attend the show. An immense grand stand extending the arena was built for the visitors. The arena itself was half ... long and a third of a mile wide.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Invitations For Proposals For the Construction of Railways Made.

Washington, June 12.—The war department has made public the invitations signed by Secretary Taft for proposals for the construction of railways in the Philippines under the act of congress passed in February for that purpose. An elaborate scheme of transportation is involved. The Philippine government agrees to protect all grantees against Ladrones, insurgents, rebels and outlaws. One-half of one per cent. from the gross earnings is to be paid the Philippine government as taxes. The prospectus cites the provisions of the law guaranteeing interest for 30 years at four per cent. on the first lien bonds, but it is provided that not more than $1,200,000 shall be paid in interest in any one year.

FISH HATCHERY.

The Government Has Placed One at Cedar Lake, Ind.

Chicago, June 12. — The United States fish commission, with the assistance of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville Railway Co. (Monon), has established a fish hatchery at Cedar Lake, Ind. The inclosure is 40 by 200 and it is expected that as many as 50,000 young fish, principally bass, will be hatched every year. As soon as the minnows are large enough to avoid destruction by the larger fish they will be given the freedom of the lake.

Hotel To Cost $15,000,000.

New York, June 12.—Plans are being made to erect in this city a hotel to be 15 stories high and having nearly 1,000 rooms. It will be built at a cost of about $15,000,000. The new hotel will rival any similar structure in the world.

Woman Convicted of Murder.

Liberty, Mo., June 12.—The jury which has been sitting for the past week in the case of Agnes Myers, of Kansas City, charged with the murder of her husband, Clarence Myers, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

Not An Officer Was Saved.

St. Petersburg, June 12.—It is stated by the admiralty that in the battle of the Sea of Japan not a single officer was saved from the battleships Navarin, Borodino, Imperator, Alexander III, and the Kakaz Souvaroff.

RAILWAY RATE LEGISLATION

Biennial Convention of Conductors Ask Congress Not to Pass Adverse Railroad Laws.

At the biennial convention of the Order of Railway Conductors recently held at Portland, Oregon, resolutions were unanimously adopted voicing their sentiments as to the effect of proposed railway rate legislation on the 1,300,000 railroad employes, whom they in part represented. These resolutions "indorse the attitude of President Roosevelt in condemning secret rebates and other illegalities, and commend the attitude of the heads of American Railways, who, with practical unanimity, have joined with the President on this question." They then respectfully point out to Congress the "inadvisability of legislation vesting in the hands of a commission power over railway rates, now lower by far in the United States than in any other country," because such regulation would "result in litigation and confusion and inevitably tend to an enforced reduction in rates, irrespective of the question of the ability of the railroads to stand the reduction, especially in view of the increased cost of their supplies and materials." They further protested against such power being given to the present Inter-State Commission because "the proposed legislation is not in harmony with our idea of American jurisprudence, inasmuch as it contemplates that a single body shall have the right to investigate, indict, try, condemn and then enforce its decisions at the cost of the carriers, pending appeal, which is manifestly inequitable."

The conductors base their demand for only such legislation if any, as would "secure and insure justice and equity and preserve equal rights to all parties concerned" on the ground that the low cost of transportation "is the result of the efficiency of American railway management and operation which have built up the country through constant improvement and development of territory, while at the same time recognition has been given to the value of intelligence among employes in contrast to foreign methods, where high freight rates and lowest wages to employes obtain."

In pressing their claim against legislation adverse to their interests, they point out the fact that "the freight rates of this country average only two per cent. of the cost of articles to the consumer, thus making the freight rate so insignificant a factor in the selling price that numerous standard articles are sold at the same price in all parts of the country."

RECENTLY RELATED.

In a recent article on Americans an English writer gives the following as a characteristic American after-dinner story, its subject being a politician in bathing: "All at once a shark, a man-eater, was coming the other way, and swam up squarely in front of him. They eyed each other for a moment and then the shark—blushed and sped away."

Locker Sampson, whose name is inseparably connected with the Rowfant library, now awaiting some rich customer on the shelves of a New York book house, once complained to Bedford, the famous bookbinder, that one of his recently bound treasures "cockled;" that is to say, opened of its own accord. Bedford, scrutinizing first the book and then the owner, said with great severity: "You've been reading it."

An Englishman in Canada writes home in considerable excitement as follows: "The majority of Canadians never read an English paper of any kind whatever; all their literature is American. All the booksellers' shops are filled with American books, American reviews, American papers. And with what result? There can be only one result—Canadians will think 'Americanly.'"

Gen. Miles has a story of a corporal in a regiment under his command in the old Indian fighting days. This corporal was much chaffed by his comrades for his oft-repeated expressions of belief in "fatality" and "destiny." One day it appears that the corporal, while off duty, was preparing to take a little horseback exercise and recreation. A private observed that the corporal took care to attach a brace of pistols to his saddle. "Hello!" shouted [illegible] the corporal, "what are you taking the guns for? They won't save you if your time has come." "True for you," grimly responded the corporal, "but I may happen to meet an Apache whose last day has come."

THE GENERAL DRIFT.

Alderman Hamburger, of New York city, has been in office three and a half years, and has married 6,000 people.

Alexis Sergevitch Suvonin, editor of the Novoe Vremya, now 70, has been for years the greatest figure in the Russian journalistic world.

Joseph Davis, a desperate robber, saturated with kerosene a bale of jute in the jute mill of the state prison, San Quentin, Cal., the other day, and set fire to it. The fire was put out after a short but hard fight.

A remarkable instance of longevity and one probably without parallel in Maine, if not in New England, is illustrated in the family of Mrs. Deborah Chase, of Chase Lake. Mrs. Chase is 84 years old, in excellent health, and has ten living children, the youngest being 45 years old. The only death in this family for a period of 50 years was that of Mr. Chase, about 30 years ago. There are 25 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

THE SCUM OF EUROPE COMING TO AMERICA

Immigration Frauds Flooding This Country with Paupers and Criminals.

STARTLING REPORTS OF INVESTIGATORS

The United States Being Made a Penal Colony for Hungary—The "White Slave" Trade Brings Thousands of Immoral Women to Our Shores—Forged Inspection Papers a Grave Danger to Us.

Washington.—The United States a penal colony of the Baltic states.

The United States a dumping ground for the paupers of southern Europe.

The United States the Mecca of thousands of immoral Hungarian women.

There are in the desks of government officials in Washington reports containing evidence to prove the above statements that are so strongly worded that they dare not be published until the government is ready to act, for the reports are but an arraignment of the governments of southern Europe for complicity in wholesale schemes for the violation of United States immigration laws.

These reports are received from the most trustworthy sources, one of which is from a government agent, paid to investigate the conditions abroad, and whose persistency in that direction has so aroused at least one European nation that its paid spies have followed him all over Europe; whose mail has been rifled, and who was arrested and fined in the city of Buda-Pesth when he violently objected to this procedure.

Out of this later incident will grow a vigorous effort on the part of the government to so change the immigration laws as to put a stop to the dumping of Europe's undesirable classes upon our shores.

An Investigator Selected.

Marcus Braun, born in Hungary, though now a citizen of the United States, was selected by President Roosevelt to act as a special agent of the United States in investigating the wholesale violations of our immigration laws. The request for such an appointment came through the anti-vice societies of Philadelphia, which were anxious to put a stop to the "white slave" traffic by which thousands of Hungarian women were being sent to the United States for immoral purposes. Mr. Braun's instructions were to investigate the subject of immigration of Europeans into the United States in general. He has been shadowed almost since the day of his appointment both in this country and in Europe, and every effort has been made to secure evidence that would convict him of being a spy. His mail has been rifled, and it was when he caught a Hungarian detective in the act of breaking open his trunk in a Buda-Pesth hotel that he administered to him such punishment as brought upon himself the vengeance of outraged Hungarian justice in the form of an arrest and fine to the extent of ten dollars. Fortunately the Hungarian detective secured nothing of value in the way of evidence, but there have been times when his search might have proven of more value to his government, for Mr. Braun has had in his possession and has forwarded to Washington damaging documents that the Hungarian government would not like to have confront them. These reports have never been printed. They have never been examined save by three or four heads of important government departments, and by the president, but sufficient has leaked out to enable us to give the gist of emigration conditions abroad, as outlined by Mr. Braun as follows:

Tens of thousands of foreigners are permitted to emigrate to this country without the fumigation of their baggage as provided by law.

The organized gangs of crooks who connive at this evasion stamp the emigrants' belongings with counterfeit government labels and a counterfeit United States consular stamp, indicating that their baggage has been properly fumigated.

These counterfeits are accepted at Ellis Island without question, and luggage from European centers, scourged with bubonic plague, cholera, trachoma, smallpox and the germs of deadly fevers, is permitted to enter our ports daily.

For this counterfeiting service the Italian gangs in particular charge five lire, or one dollar.

In several of the European countries it is the custom to promise convicted criminals immunity from punishment if they will emigrate to this country or if their relatives will send them here.

1,000,000 Immigrants.

The fiscal year will end June 30, and by that time 1,000,000 will have passed through Ellis Island and other immigration depots within the past 12 months. The reports submitted by the inspectors abroad show conclusively that out of this number one in every ten is either a criminal or is otherwise an undesirable citizen for the United States, and these undesirable citizens are coming to our shores either by the aid and encouragement of European governments, or under the "padrone" system by which an undesirable class of men, women and children are brought to this country under contract by individuals. These "bosses," or padrones, as they are called, hire out the immigrants and collect their wages, paying them just enough to keep body and soul alive. The workers are thus virtual slaves.

The "White Slave" Traffic.

Mr. Braun was sent to Europe primarily to investigate the "white slave" traffic on the complaint of anti-vice societies in New York and Philadelphia, that thousands of women are being sent here every year for immoral purposes, chiefly from Hungary, and that the Hungarian government winks at the practice. Mr. Braun received verbal instructions from Mr. Roosevelt in the matter and was directed also to make inquiry into the sending of paupers and criminals to this country. He made a startling report on this subject a year ago which never was published.

Many startling disclosures have been made in these reports. Among these things is the fact that if every penal offender in jail in this country were released to-morrow the jails could be refilled to their utmost capacity by the criminals sent to this country by the official brooms of European governments.

Horror of the Situation.

The awful horror of this situation may best be realized when it is known that immigrants land in this country at the rate of thousands daily.

In 1903 immigrants from Russia, Slavonia and Poland came in at the rate of one a minute for every working hour of Ellis Island.

During the last fiscal year undersirable immigrants arrived at the rate of two per minute, tens of thousands of them criminals, tens of thousands of dissolute women, and hordes of them with diseased baggage bearing counterfeit stamps of certification.

Broughton Brandenburg, the well-known investigator of immigration, who was on the continent pursuing lines of work parallel to Mr. Braun's, gave the following statement to the New York World regarding the causes leading to the arrest of that investigator in Buda-Pesth:

"It seems to me as though the Hungarian secret police have got hold of a report, or, rather, an advisory forecast of his formal report, which Mr. Braun should have mailed from Buda-Pesth about the time of his arrest.

"These advisory letters he has always sent at frequent intervals. They contain opinions and fragmentary facts, which are usually eliminated in the formal report he makes on his return from his tour. I fancy the Hungarian police would be more edified by such a letter than by the report even though the last report made was of so sensational a character that after a discussion in the department as to whether it should be printed or not in the annual it was referred directly to President Roosevelt. There are four copies. One is in the hands of Mr. Sargent, another in the care of Secretary Metcalf, and a third on the president's desk, while the fourth, retained by Mr. Braun, is in New York in very safe hands.

"Inasmuch as my agents and correspondents operating on the continent have at several times crossed trails with Mr. Braun, I am not violating a confidence in disclosing some of the things which Mr. Braun unearthed. They are but fair samples of the whole, and show in a startling manner how we are being duped as a people by the immigration incitation agencies of Europe—not alone steamship agencies and immigration agents, but continental governments and charitable societies officered by people of high reputation.

Exporting Criminals.

"For instance, Mr. Braun learned of the practice in communities where the jails were overcrowded of liberating prisoners and giving them assistance to go to the United States, thus treating us as if we were no more than a penal colony sustained for their benefit. In one community in Hungary where he conducted investigations he found that in the past three years 280 prisoners had been liberated either at the expiration of their sentence or before their terms were served, and that the police records showed 180 of them to have been sent to the United States. In connection with this a member of the Hungarian parliament, in making a speech, deplored the laxness of the government in allowing criminals who had been deported to the United States to return with their pockets filled and wits sharpened for further nefarious operations.

"Mr. Braun also made specific disclosures concerning institutions near Buda-Pesth from which parties of pauper children were sent in the care of fictitious parents, paid for the job. When this 'family' was safely passed through Ellis island the 'father' and 'mother' divided their ready-made progeny, and, going from city to city, abandoned the little ones on the streets to be picked up by the police and placed in American asylums.

"Of violations of the contract labor law he found abundant traces. Agents representing presumably one of the large railroads with terminals in New York was busy soliciting Austrian laborers around the head of the Adriatic and shipping them in small parties to New York. They were conducted to a small town on the line of the railroad and sorted out into the gangs which the railroad supplied to contractors, manufacturers and others along the line in need of cheap labor.

Nominal Husbands.

"On one occasion Mr. Braun was sitting eating his lunch in a railway station at Frankfort when a [illegible] women entered and sat down near him. From their conversation he was apprised in a very short time of their disorderly character, and by paying close attention learned that one of them was even then on her way to the United States, with the intention of going to St. Louis to join a large party of women recruited from St. Pauli, in Hamburg. She had letters from scores of others who had entered the United States in defiance of the laws, describing their adventures and relating how the agents who were conducting the scheme provided each with a nominal husband at the foot of the gangplank. From later observations and investigations he was convinced that thousands of these women had entered the United States in the months of May and June alone.

"In Jerusalem he found a most interesting and amusing variation of fraudulent naturalization. For a long period of time a large colony of Jews had been living there in more or less luxury on the proceeds of begging letters which they sent out to religious and charitable people in all parts of the world. The Turkish police, divining at last that there was something illicit in the livelihood of these people, demanded a share, and when they did not get it the letter-writing beggars had their houses broken open, were dragged out and beaten until they did divide. At last one of them secured a citizenship paper from his brother in Chicago and on the next occasion of a police visit he appealed to the consul, Dr. Merril, and the police were set back. Immediately the demand for American citizenship papers raised the market as high as $100 per certificate, and now the colony is enjoying the full privileges of American protection, though many of them have never seen the Atlantic.

Caught in the Act.

"Perhaps the most sensational thing in the suppressed portion of the last report was Mr. Braun's presentation of true copies of the secret agreement between the Hungarian government and the Cunard line, in which the Hungarian government agreed to deliver to the Cunard line at the port of Fiume all the emigrants from Hungary at a fixed price.

"The agreement read that no other line should be allowed to compete and that there should be a minimum of 30,000 the first year. It is presumed that that agreement is at present operative and if I remember correctly next year the minimum is to be 100,000. Learning that this agreement was about to be signed, Mr. Braun waited until it was concluded and then bribed it out of ministerial hands for the pitiful sum of $104. He sent a cable to Mr. Sargent and from that day the plot has been thickening to destroy his usefulness in Hungary. Being a Hungarian, born in Buda-Pesth, he was invaluable in that portion of Europe. From the day of that cablegram he was dogged, he has since learned.

"On the night of January 6 last Mr. Braun and I were the speakers before the Twentieth Century club in Brooklyn and I was accompanied to and from the meeting by one of my agents. The next morning he reported to me that Mr. Braun was being trailed by a man whom he had addressed in German, French and Italian without getting him to understand. I passed the information on at once and the conclusion reached was that the New York end of the Russian third section was looking after Mr. Braun, but it now appears that at that time he was shadowed night and day by Hungarian agents, so that even though he took unusual precautions to guard knowledge of his sailing on this third tour the Hungarian police must have been apprised at once.

"On the 24th he was expected to obtain the records of the deportation of criminals at the expense of the Hungarian government from an official in a town near Buda-Pesth. My correspondents have not informed me as to the result, but suffice it to say the advisory letter which he sent on or [illegible] the first of the month must have been something well worth the while. The question is: Did the Hungarian police get it and what ammunition will it supply the Hungarian government to reply to the protest of the United States against the tampering with Braun's mail? He is expected in the north of Europe on the 18th, but will probably await the outcome of this peculiar tangle."

It is the custom of the department of commerce and labor to print the reports of its various commissioners and agents in the annual report of the commissioner in chief.

Only a portion of Mr. Braun's papers appeared in his year's report. They were not even given to the senate. They were simply turned over by Commissioner Sargent, copies were laid on the president's desk and then they were apparently pigeon-holed, as nothing has been heard from them since.

Grave Dangers to This Country.

Following are interesting extracts from Mr. Braun's report:

"Two grave dangers threaten the people of the United States from the present emigration movement. The first of these, and the one more immediate in its possible effects, is the danger of diseases such as are common to the masses of the people in many European countries, but which are as yet comparatively unknown in the United States. The second grave danger referred to is the dumping by European countries of their paupers and dependents upon the American people.

"That this danger is tangible is shown in the fact that a majority of the deportations are for the reason that the persons involved are likely to become public charges. The annual reports of the bureau showing the amount of money possessed by each immigrant when he lands demonstrate the fact that a very small percentage have sufficient means on their arrival to guarantee self-support until able to create an income. Whether possessed of resources in the shape of relatives and friends or not, it is evident that the ignorant foreigner must possess unusual energy and persistence or else be blessed with unusual good fortune to avoid a condition immediately subsequent to his arrival where he is likely to need public or private charity.

"But for the prompt action of the bureau in deporting a number of persons whose passages to the United States were paid by charitably inclined people, relief organizations, or even by official bodies having charge of the poor, there would have been a general movement throughout Europe to ship all native paupers to the United States as the easiest way in which to relieve the communities on which they now constitute a burden. Such a movement actually obtained some headway in England with the opening of the recent rate war between the Atlantic steamship lines, and during the interval between the first sale of tickets at reduced rates and the action of the American authorities in deporting such assisted persons.

Naturalization Frauds.

"The present system of issuing naturalization papers in the United States is a prolific source of fraud in the emigrant traffic. An American naturalization certificate carries on its face no means of identifying the real owner. His name is merely stated. An original or certified copy of one of these papers can be sent to an intending emigrant in any foreign country and used by him to secure a passport on the ground that the certificate is his own and he, as an American citizen, is entitled to enter the United States regardless of his possible undesirability under the immigration law. As a rule the alleged citizen speaks some language requiring the services of an interpreter, generally of limited intelligence, and careful cross-examination is impossible. When his application for a passport has been approved by the American consul nothing is left for the embassy to do but to grant a passport upon these representations, which passport guarantees admission to the United States.

"Another form of [illegible] portation of women from the Levant and elsewhere by naturalized American citizens. All these women are required to do is to state under oath that they are the wives of the men sending for them and they are allowed to depart for the United States without restriction, becoming American citizens by virtue of their husbands' naturalization.

"If they are refused transportation because of coming within the prohibited classification of the American immigration law they send to the United States for a certified copy of their alleged husband's naturalization papers and secure a passport in that manner. There is no proof of marriage under the present system. Should the United States government decide to require a passport from each immigrant, certified by the officials of the land of his nativity, this abuse could be stopped."

It is the opinion of Mr. Braun, as well as others well versed in immigrant conditions in this country, that over 200,000 aliens come here who, although they may be able to earn a living, are yet of bad character, bad antecedents or of diseased blood. Their coming benefits nobody but the steamship companies.

PLATINUM PROSPECTS

RESOURCES OF UNITED STATES UNDER INVESTIGATION.

Geological Survey Invites Contribution of Samples from Owners of Placer Deposits for Examination.

Owing to the increased demand for platinum, especially in the electrical industry, the United States geological survey is about to make an examination of the platinum resources of the United States, says Electricity. It is proposed to collect the heavy sands from all placer mines in the United States where evidences of platinum have been observed. The samples thus obtained will be used in determining the best methods of extracting the various minerals which have economic value. It is hoped that the separation and sale of these useful minerals, such as magnetite, zircon, gold, platinum, etc., will in many places become a permanent and profitable industry.

As a preliminary step to this investigation, the survey invites the owners of placer deposits to contribute for examination samples of material likely to contain platinum. These samples, which should be sent by mail, must weigh not more than four pounds each. It is suggested that the gravel be concentrated before it is mailed. Careful note should be made on the package, or in a letter accompanying it, of the total quantity of original gravel which the concentrate represents, in order that an accurate idea may be obtained of the value of the gravel for the purposes under investigation. The sand should be dry when mailed and great care should be exercised to pack it securely, preferably in canvas bags, for transmission through the mails. Each package of sand should be accompanied by exact information as to the name and post office address of the sender, the name of the mine or claim from which it came, and the state, county, city, village or district in which the deposit is located.

After the survey has made an examination of these samples, experts will be sent to all localities where preliminary tests give evidence of platinum. The expert will report on the size of the deposit and superintend the collection of representative samples for concentration. Experiments in the concentration of platinum sands will probably be carried on in connection with the exhibits of mining machinery at the Lewis and Clarke centennial at Portland, Ore., between June 1 and October 15 of this year.

Native platinum has been found most frequently in gold-bearing sands. On account of its weight it remains in the sluices with gold and other heavy material. It is most readily distinguished by the following characteristics:

(1) Its great weight. In panning it remains behind even gold in the pan.

(2) Its white color. It is whiter than lead and is distinguished from amalgam by its smooth surface, whereas the surface of amalgam as seen under a good glass is rough.

Platinum seems to be more generally distributed through California than through any other state. It has been found in Butte, Del Norte, Humboldt, Mendocino, Placer, Plumas, San Luis, Obispo, Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz, Shasta, Siskiyou, Tehama, Trinity and Yuba counties. Curry, Coos, Lincoln and Josephine counties in Oregon have produced platinum. It has been discovered in Nez Perces county, Idaho.

SETTING TIDES TO WORK.

Utilization of Waste Water-Power in California Means Vast Economy.

The entrance to Mission bay, near San Diego, formerly known as False bay, is so narrow that the tidal flow through it in and out of the broad basin is very rapid and strong, save during short intervals at slack, high and low water. The tidal area of Mission bay, says the San Francisco Chronicle, is very extensive, so that a vast volume flows in and out at each flood and ebb. It is now proposed to utilize this neglected source of tidal power through the agency of horizontal turbines and apply it to useful purposes. There can be no question about the feasibility of the scheme, and its successful development is a simple engineering operation.

There is probably enough power going to waste during the [illegible] flow of the tides to generate enough electricity to light the city of San Diego, providing that the turbine plant installed is equipped with a storage battery station in which the electricity generated by the dynamos driven by the turbines can be stored for use when needed.

This San Diego scheme illustrates the growing disposition which prevails everywhere throughout the state to utilize sources of power which have been hitherto neglected, whose value, through the progress made in the generation and application of electric energy, has become apparent to every one. And through the increasing employment of these natural sources of power we are enabled to reduce the consumption of coal and wood. Reducing the coal consumption means, of course, a lessening of the imports of that mineral and the retention of the money formerly sent abroad to pay for it to be employed in the upbuilding of domestic industries; while the reduction of the use of wood as fuel stops the ravages of the woodchopper on our forest lands. We are, therefore, profiting in various ways by these new utilitarian developments.

Like Fire.

It is easier to start a rumor than it is to head it off.—Chicago Daily News.

BOONE CO. RECORDER
Wednesday, - - June 14, 1905.
W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Manila is becoming Americanized rapidly. The city is involved in a first-class light scandal.

When President Eliot laid down the rule, "Always associate with your superiors," he marked out a lonely existence for some.

It took the June 2d edition of the Rising Sun Recorder six days to make the trip from Rising Sun to Burlington, a distance of about 12 miles.

The Indiana Commission for the St. Louis Fair has turned back to the State $16,000 of the $120,000 appropriation. That is a record for honesty that causes very favorable comment in these days of grafts and rake-offs.

As usual the Democrats have very fine prospects of electing a Governor in Ohio, this fall, but on election day the voters will forget and use too many Republican ballots. It is at the ballot the Democrats fail to make good in the Buckeye State.

The wonderfully inefficient work of the Russian gunners in the naval battle with Togo, makes people wonder how they managed to hit the fishermen's boats in the North Sea. The attack on these defenseless craft must have been made at very short range.

The largest flower in the world it is said, is the bolo, which grows on the Island of Mindanao, one of the Philippine group. It has five petals, measuring nearly a yard in width, and a single flower has been known to weigh twenty-two pounds. It grows on the highest pinnacle of the land, about 2,000 feet above the level of the sea.

For handsome ladies, good whisky, fine horses and "delicious" beef cattle, Kentucky has no equal. Only a few days ago six hundred of the latter, thirty-three car loads, were shipped from Cynthiana to Baltimore, thence to England. They were bought from the farmers of Harrison county at from 5½ to 6 cents a pound.

It is not generally known that Indiana was threatened with a famine in the year 1904, but such is the case if the vital statistics gathered by the secretary of the State Board of Health are reliable. His report shows that there were three hundred and six deaths from starvation during the year. The report is silent as to how many got dangerously hungry in the same period.

Several of Boone's old Confederate soldiers will journey to Louisville this week, comrades of the dark and perilous period in the sixties. The ranks of the Confederates are thinning rapidly and in a few years those who were at the front in Dixie will be too scarce to attract attention. Here is hoping you will have a good time, you old Johnnie Rebs.

Just common ordinary cornstalks 53,000,000 tons of which are allowed to rot yearly in the seven western States producing the greatest amount of corn, is the material from which, experimentally, a Chicago company has already produced excellent paper at a cost ranging from $24 to $25 per ton. The cost of manufacturing paper from wood pulp or rags is estimated at from $60 to $75 per ton.

They have some ugly snakes, or a very poor quality of whisky over in Dearborn county. The following dispatch from Lawrenceburg to the Cincinnati Enquirer is offered in proof of the above assertion: "Colonel 'Bob' Nowlin, Road Supervisor of Miller Township, killed a rattlesnake on his farm that measured five feet, and the buttons on his tail showed that he was over 18 years of age."

A dispatch from Tokyo says Vice Admiral Togo visited Vice Admiral Rojeevensky at the Naval Hospital at Sasebo Saturday and expressed his sympathy for the Admiral's wounds. He praised the desperately courageous fight of the Russians and expressed the hope that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky would soon be able to return to Russia. Rojestvensky was deeply moved by the Admiral's words and thanked him. He congratulated Japan on the valor and patriotism of her sailors and said it lessened his sorrow of defeat to know the high character of

The ripest question among farmers just now is how to best save the hay. We presume at this writing the bulk of the clover crop is ready to harvest—some of it, perhaps, is already cut. Do not let it get too ripe. When apparently about two-thirds of the blooms show signs of ripening is the time to cut. With a heavy crop no little care is necessary in curing. And yet many put up clover quite green. We have done so with good results, and at other times with bad results. One thing is very certain—it must not be put up wet with either dew or rain. It must be entirely free from foreign moisture. One season with another, we like this method. Begin to cut in the morning as soon as the dew is pretty well dried off. Rake up and shock in very tall, slim shocks in the afternoon. Let stand until noon the next day, then haul in and mow compactly in the barn or stack. Of course, the weather is presumably dry and sunny. Heavy clover thus treated may heat some, but if free from external moisture, it will cure nicely, almost like bright tobacco.—Up-to-Date Farmer.

Twenty-six divorces were granted by an Indianapolis, Indiana, Judge on Monday of last week, and he did not consider that much was doing in that line on that particular day.

PUBLIC SALE
—OF A—
Boone County Farm
at 3 o'clock p. m.,
Saturday, June 24, 1905.

As administrator and Trustee of the A. P. Collins estate, I will, on the above date, sell to the highest bidder on the premises near Richwood Sta., Cincinnati Southern R. R., the Farm of 105 Acres.

This is considered one of the best farms in Boone county, all in grass—timothy, red clover and blue grass, with the exception of 23 acres of rye which has been sown in red clover, timothy and blue grass mixed.

It is the nucleus of making one of the most attractive and valuable stock farms in Northern Kentucky. The typography of it is perfect and the superior quality of the soil is not excelled, to which claim you will subscribe after you have examined it.

The improvements embrace a good six room house and porches, cellar, barn, and all kinds of outbuildings and good fencing. It is well watered with wells, cisterns, pond and never failing springs.

A private avenue runs to the Lexington pike. The house is about 8 minutes walk to Richwood Sta., C. N. O. & T. P. Railroad. Commuter rates to the city 7½c a trip with four trains daily. Telegraph, telephone, express and postoffice.

Possession with the privilege of harvesting the growing crop, will be given as soon as the terms of the sale are complied with.

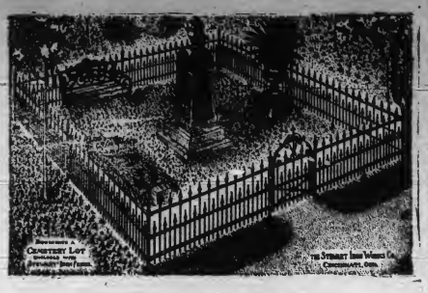
Terms made known day of sale.

A. C. COLLINS, Admr.
and Trustee of estate.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

William Maxon, ... pltf.
vs | Equity. No. 2479.
Sylvester Maxon, &c., ... defts.



By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April term thereof, 1905, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public sale on Monday, the 3d day of July, 1905, at one o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being county court day, upon a credit of 6, 12 & 18 months, the following described property to-wit.

Lots Nos. 86 and 87 as laid down on the original plat of the town of Taylorsport, Boone County, Kentucky, said lots fronting 66 feet on second street, and extending back same width 165 feet to Middle street, record of evidence of which may be found in Deed Book 26, page 468; Deed Book 27, page 331 and Deed Book 29, page 373, Boone County records, County Clerk's office.

(The Judgment herein recites—"the shares of said infant Defendants shall not be paid by the purchaser, but shall remain a lien on the land, bearing interest until the said infants become of age, or until the Guardians of the said infants execute bond as is required by law, as set out in Section 497 of the Civil Code of Practice.")

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C. C.

For Best Prices Call or Write to
HENRY QUICK, Hebron, Ky.,
—SPECIAL AGENT FOR—
The Stewart Iron Works Company,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

MY STOCK OF
—NICE, FRESH—
Groceries!
is renewed every week.
I don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find my prices right.

COUNTRY PRODUCE
taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

W. C. WEAVER,
Burlington, Ky.

FARM FOR SALE.
A good farm of 227 acres, near Rabbitt Hash, Boone county, Ky. Capable of being divided.
THOS. N. STEPHENS,
Rabbit Hash, Ky.

ICE
Cream Time
is here and you need Vanilla and Lemon flavors.
We can save you money by selling it to you in bulk, and quality is first-class.
OUR PRICES.
1 oz. Vanilla or Lemon..05c
6 oz. Vanilla or Lemon..25c
1 pt. Vanilla or Lemon..65c
1 qt. Vanilla or Lemon..$1.25
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder saves half the cream, pk.13c
Pippey's Foamaline.....20c
Grated Pine Apple, can.....13 & 23c
Lemons, dozen.....15c
Red Sugar, lb.....15c
See our Special sale of Pitchers, while they last.....10c.
GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,
—GROCER.—
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, KY.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

William Maxon, ... pltf.
vs | Equity. No 2478.
Sylvester Maxon, &c., ... defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April Term, thereof, 1905, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public sale on Monday, 3d day of July, 1905, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being county court day, upon a credit of 6, 12 & 18 months, the following described property, towit:

Three (3) lots in the town of Taylorsport, Boone County, Kentucky, and designated and laid down on the plat of said town as lots Nos. 103, 104 and 105.

Or sufficient number of said lots to produce the sums of money so ordered to be made.

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien reserved therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C. C.

Where there is faith in the possibilities of man, faith in the power of God does little good.

Wine of Cardui Cured Her.

213 South Prior Street,
Atlanta, Ga., March 21, 1903.

I suffered for four months with extreme nervousness and lassitude. I had a sinking feeling in my stomach which no medicine seemed to relieve, and losing my appetite I became weak and lost my vitality. In three weeks I lost fourteen pounds of flesh and felt that I must find speedy relief to regain my health. Having heard Wine of Cardui praised by several of my friends, I sent for a bottle and was certainly very pleased with the results. Within three days my appetite returned and my stomach troubled me no more. I could digest my food without difficulty and the nervousness gradually diminished. Nature performed her functions without difficulty and I am once more a happy and well woman.

OLIVE JOSEPH,
Treas. Atlanta Friday Night Club.

Secure a Dollar Bottle of Wine of Cardui Today.

PIPER & WALTON,
Merchant Tailors
142 E. Fourth St.,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
Have Spring Suitings to show you.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

The Sheriff of Boone County, Kentucky, hereby gives notice to the Delinquent taxpayers of Boone county, that he will, in compliance with Chapter 109 of the Ky. Statutes and amendments thereto, proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, all or so much of the property hereinafter described, listed to the respective person named as per assessors returns for 1904, as may be be necessary to pay State and County tax assessed against same together with all penalties, cost of advertising and commissions, at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., on Monday, July 3, 1905, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 3 o'clock p. m., the following described property. Reference is had to the Original Assessor's book at County Clerk's office, Burlington, Ky., for the more particular description of the property herein advertised.

Mrs. Mary E. Kendall, 92 acres...$11.50

B. B. ALLPHIN, S. B. C.

BLACKSMITHING.
Those who want horseshoeing, or repairing of any kind of farm implement, done, are requested to call at our shop in Bullitsville. We do any and all kinds of iron or woodwork. J. M. Bibkle & Son.

Subscribe for the Recorder

Deposits Earning Interest.
THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY, Inc.
N. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, KY.
Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice,
ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.
Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.
It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.
In its several departments, The Covington Savings Bank and Trust Company
Acts as Agent; Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc; Attends carefully to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.
—ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL.—
CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.
Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.
JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President
C. W. SIMRALL, Sec'y & Treas.
Long Distance Telephone, South 214.

J. G. BENTLER & SON,
Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.
Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing
and Wagon Repairing of all kinds,
All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.
Grinding of all Kinds to Order.
Hay and Grain,
AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,
By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices.
Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.
Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.
Successors to Clemens Hellman.
LUMBER DEALERS,
Manufacturers of
Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.
White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar. Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings., Etc.
COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.
Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122
H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.

Spring is here
AND WE ARE READY TO SHOW THE MOST
—COMPLETE LINE OF—
Men's, Hoys' and Children's
CLOTHING
We have a very large assortment to select from, and guarantee Fit, Style, Material and Workmanship. Kindly come in and inspect our
Men's Suits at.....$5. $7.50, $10, $12.
Boys' Suits at.....$3.50 to $10
Children's Suits at.....$1.50 to $5.00
Men's Pants at.....$1.00 to $5.00
Men's Cotton Pants.....50 and 65c.
Just the thing for out door work.
ROLFES & WACHS.
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

A. W. SMITH'S
PHARMACY,
WALTON, - - KY.
See our Crepe Paper Novelties. Dennison's Lunch Sets.
12 Doilies, 12 Knapkins, Table Cloth, 2 yards, 25c
Drink our Delicious Soda Water.
Our Ice Cream is superior. Our Candy is the very best.
High Grade Cigars and Tobacco.
FANCY STATIONERY IN MANY FORMS.

CHAS. GARNETT, AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day.
Fees for selling stock reasonable.
Public Sales given special attention.

W. M. KENNEY,
DEALER IN
Fine Wines and Liquors,
Best $2 whisky in the city.
141 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Local News.

So far June has produced no sunstrokes.

Mrs. Elmer Beall has been quite sick for several days.

Nearly cool enough for frost several nights last week.

The price of tobacco went off considerably last week.

D. M. Snyder has begun building an addition to his residence.

The population of Burlington is decreasing rapidly this week.

Sammie Adams has laid aside his crutches and uses a cane only.

Send the RECORDER the names of your visitors, and other items.

For Sale—Good Jersey cow and calf. Apply to Jack Sandford.

Richard White is attending the Confederate reunion at Louisville.

Get that binder ready for work, as it will be only a few days before it is needed.

For Sale—Eight weeks old, male Jersey calf. Apply to Elmer Kelly, Waterloo.

Isreal Rouse, of Limaburg, was doing some repairing on the bank roof, last Monday.

The Ohio Valley Masonic Association will hold its annual meeting at Rising Sun on Saturday the 24th inst.

The cool nights this month have done much to render less effective the warming property of Old Sol's rays.

O. J. Ryle and B. W. Adams left this morning to attend the Confederate reunion at Louisville this week.

Lecture in Walton, tomorrow, Thursday night. The Sunday school convention will be held on Friday.

The weather has been so cool that tobacco plants have not made much growth since they were transplanted.

Unless there is too much rain immediately preceding and during harvest a good crop of wheat will be cut in this county.

Nice rain fell last Saturday night and Sunday, giving tobacco growers an excellent chance to finish setting their tobacco.

For Sale—Two yearling bulls, one Shorthorn, the other Black Polled Angus, Cheap. Apply to John H. Aylor, Gunpowder.

Have your watch repaired by R. W. Clark, of Lawrenceburg, Ind. Clutterbuck Bros. will collect and deliver work at Burlington.

Seventeen-year locusts are said to have made their appearance by the thousands in some localities, and have stripped trees and bushes of their foliage.

Judging from the snake stories that are going out from Dearborn county, Indiana prospects are good for a very fine crop of blackberries over there this year.

For Sale—Two houses, barn and out buildings. The old John Conner stand. Plenty of fruit and shade trees. Address Geo. Gebhardt, Erlanger, Ky.

The many Boone county friends of Judge John S. Phelps, of Fayette county, will be sorry to hear of his death, which occurred Monday at his home near Lexington. He was in his 65th year.

Dr. George F. Smith is the recipient of a Swiss clock from Nicholas Studer of Weisburg, whose mother brought the timepiece with her when she came to this country from Germany nearly 100 years ago.—Lawrenceburg Press.

A corps of Salvation Army workers has left Pittsburg in a boat loaded with Bibles, tracts and other religious literature. The boat will stop at every town along the Ohio until Louisville is reached, those in this county not excepted.

When the Nebraska Indians wound up their tour of this county last week, Boone county people had parted with their coin to the amount of at least $400 to see them play three games, in which only three measly runs were made off of them.

A swarm of bees has taken up its abode in a walnut tree to which W. C. Goodridge has hung a gate across the road leading into his house. Mr. Goodridge does not want to move his gate, neither does he desire to destroy the tree, hence he is in somewhat of a dilema.

No Secret About It.

It is no secret, that for Cuts, Burns, Ulcers, Fever Sore Eyes, Boils, etc., nothing is so effective as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "It didn't take long to cure a bad sore I had, and it is all O. K. for sore eyes," writes D. L. Gregory, of Hope, Tex. 25c at all drug stores.

After having worked up a good business here R. W. Clark, barber and jeweler, concluded he could do better in Lawrenceburg, where he will engage in his two trades and will be glad to receive his Boone county friends. Here is wishing him all he can do in his new location.

A. J. Thomas, of Richwood, and Chas. Utzinger and brother, of Idlewild, transactad business in Bulington, yesterday.

L. L. Snyder, an old citizen of Bellevue, passed away at 7 a. m. yesterday after a protracted and patient illness.

A couple of colored women, sisters, were lodged in jail Monday night for scrapping. Constable Eddins made the arrest.

The dirt roads need considerable attention this spring. In many places the heavy rains of a few weeks ago scooped out the center of the roads to such an extent that the water flows therein instead of following the ditches at the side.

Assessor O. S. Watts, County Attorney Castleman, W. W. Conner, J. C. Byland, and A. B. Rouse will appear before the state board of equallzation today, and endeavor to pursuade it of its error in increasing Boone's amount of taxable property.

A Bad Scare.

Some day you will get a bad scare, when you feel a pain in your bowels, and fear appendicitis. Safety lies in Dr. King's New Life Pills, a sure cure, for all bowel and stomach diseases, such as headache, biliousness, costiveness, etc. Guaranteed at all drug stores, only 25c. Try them.

The last of Kentucky's registered bond issue of $500,000, made in 1885, was paid off a few days ago when ten bonds of $1,000 each, with $200 interest, were presented at Frankfort for redemption. This leaves the State in debt to the extent of twenty-six coupon bonds of $1,000 each, and there is a cash balance of over $400,000 in the treasury to pay current expenses.

An Illustrated Lecture Sermon with Lantern and Slides by Rev. Marion Crosley, of Indianapolis, at the Universalist Church, Burlington, Sunday evening, June 18th. These pictures are finely colored, correctly representing important places in the Holy Land, with attractive scenes drawn from the teachings and life of Christ. Something of interest to everyone. Admission free. Mr. Crosley will preach on Saturday evening preceding and Sunday morning and afternoon.

W. L. Aylor, of Bullittsville, came very near being killed while crossing the Big Four railroad at Anderson's Ferry about 8 o'clock, last Sunday morning. He was coming home from the city, driving a one horse spring wagon, and at the point above mentioned the wagon was struck by an engine and smashed into kindling wood, while Mr. Aylor was thrown about 30 feet, and rendered unconscious for about three hours. The engine that struck the vehicle was not attached to a train, and it is said it did not whistle until it was close upon the wagon, when Mr. Aylor saw it and whipped up the horse, which crossed the track and was not hurt. Several persons saw the accident, and the unfortunate man was carried into Elkwood Park, and a physician summoned, who succeeded in restoring him to consciousness. Mr. Aylor was brought to his home at Bullittsville, considerably bruised up, but will be all right again in a few days.

BASE BALL.

The Kentucky University ball team will play the Boones at the Burlington ball park next Monday afternoon. It is one of the strongest teams in Kentucky. Come out and see the game. This team defeated the Nebraska Indians 6 to 4 one day last week, and is one of the strongesta amateur teams in the state.

The Erlangers and the Boones will play on the grounds of the latter next Saturday afternoon.

The Burlington Grays have an appointment to do business with the Walton base ball team on the latter's diamond next Saturday afternoon.

The game of base ball between the Indians and Rising Sunners resulted in a score of 2 to 1 in favor of the Indians.—Rising Sun Recorder.

Between six and seven hundred people witnessed the game of ball between the Nebraska Indians and the Blue Jeans Friday afternoon of last week. The Indians kindly permitted the Sunners to score twice while they piled up sixteen runs.—Rising Sun Local.

The Nebraska Indians have played about a dozen games of ball in Kentucky this season, and with the exception of one game they lost at Lexington, last week, the Boones are the only team that was able to keep the Indians' score below 10.

Capt. Jackson and Mount Slayback, of the Burlington Grays, went to Walton last Wednesday and assisted the ball team at that place to get defeat from the Nebraska Indians. One run was scored by the Walton aggregation, Capt. Jackson pushing that over the plate. The Indians didn't do a thing but make 24 runs.

Have Your Coffee
GROUND
—OR—
PULVERIZED
On the most Up-To-Date electrically driven Coffee Mill in the city. We invite you to have us grind it and save yourself the trouble.

Golden Blend,
20c lb.

Money Worth Blend
17c lb

3 lbs. For 50 Cents.
Don't use any other Brand.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, - KY.

"Always Reliable."
W. N. HIND & CO.
Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,
210-12 W. Fifth Street,
Cincinnati, - Ohio.

Millinery and Dry Goods.
A becoming Hat and Dress makes a plain face pretty, and a pretty face prettier, so do me the honor to call and see my display in Hats and Ladies' Furnishings, Children's Wear and Notions.
Miss Lou W. Allen
Petersburg, Ky.

The Cash Store
—WITH—
'Little Profts.-Lots of Customers'
WILL GREEN, Jr.,
RISING SUN, IND.
Positively Saves you Money
—ON—
DRY GOODS, NOTIONS,
CARPETS, CURTAINS,
UNDERWEAR, &c.
BARGAINS IN EVERY LINE
You can't miss it.
Try Green.
Big lot Remnants Cheap.

Some men could reconcile the Bible and science if only the Bible would be reconciled to their sins.—Chicago Tribune.

J. P. HEMPHILL
THE DRUGGIST
at Rising Sun, Ind.,
....Carries a full line of....
DRUGS,
PAINTS,
OILS AND
VARNISHES.
In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet his Kentucky friends.
—CALL AND SEE HIM.—
Yours Respectfully,
J. P. HEMPHILL,
Rising Sun, Indiana.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.
Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.
PRICES REASONABLE.
Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone county.

SEAL BLEND COFFEE, per pound.. 15c
Favorite Java Blend Coffee, lb..... 20c
Quaker Oats,.....7½c
Invincible Oats.....5c
New York Cheese.....15c
Pure Maple Sugar.....15c
2 lbs. California Prunes for.....15c
Clover Springs Creamery Butter, lb.....30c
Jackson's Best Patent Flour, bbl.. $5.75
Big Four Flour per bbl..... $5.40
Telephone Flour per bbl..... $5.85
—THE—
HAMILTON
GROCERY CO.,
39 and 41 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, KY.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Boone Circuit Court.

Isreal Rouse, Admr.. of Nancy Clark, Pltf.
vs. } Notice.
Elizabeth McGlasson, &c., Defts.

Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against the estate of Nancy Clark, deceased, must present them to the undersigned properly proven according to law. He will begin his sittings to hear proof of claims June 1, 1905, in the Circuit Clerk's office and continue from day to day (Sundays excepted) until June 30, 1905
Witness my hand this May 30, 1905.
J. A. DUNCAN, M. C.

For McCormick or Deering
BINDERS,
MOWERS,
RAKES,
HAY TEDDERS,
SWEEP RAKES,
STACKERS,
CORN BINDERS,
CORN SHREDDERS,
GASOLINE ENGINES,
FARM WAGONS,
DISC HARROWS,
PEGTOOTH HARROWS,
5-tooth CULTIVATORS,
and GRINDERS,
Apply to
ELMO GAINES, Grant, Ky., or
W. D. CROPPER, Burlington, Ky.
PHONE 178, Boone Co. Line.
Orders earnestly solicited. Promptness and satisfaction guaranteed.

FOR SALE.

White Plymouth Rock eggs for sale—pure stock. Fishel and Orebaugh strain 13 for $1.00. JAS. T. BRISTOW, Union, Ky.
1mch3

MEDICURA STOCK FOOD!
Cheapest and best to use. Fully guaranteed. 5 feeds for one cent. Eight cents per month per head. The greatest tonic food and fattener in the world.
FOR HOGS AND CATTLE, It cures and prevents disease. Saves ..... Grain and 40 days time in fattening.
FOR HORSES AND COLTS, A blood purifying Tonic. Expels ..... worms, gives new life and strength.
5 FEEDS FOR 1c for 12 FOWLS. MAKES HENS LAY MORE EGGS.
Your money refunded if it ever fails.

Hay, Grain, Mill Feed,
ALL WAYS KEPT ON HAND.

A New Grocery.
We have added a complete line of Fancy and Staple Groceries and canned goods, which we are selling at the Most Reasonable Prices.
R. B. HUEY & CO.,
WALTON, - - KENTUCKY.

KASPER LEHMANN,
—DEALER IN—
BOOTS and SHOES,
Custom Work Promptly Attended To.
Store: Corner Lexington Pike and Vine Street,
Formerly South Erlanger. - - ELSMERE, KY.

H. G. BLANTON,
FUNERAL DIRECTOR

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
Special Rates to Traveling Men.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission & SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone South 55) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

B. B. ALLPHIN. B. B. HUME.
ALLPHIN & HUME,

Livery and Sale Stables,
First-Class Turnouts for Hire at all Times.
GOOD RAYMOND CITY COAL A SPECIALTY.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.

CEILINGS. SKYLIGHTS. CORNICES.
The Porter Iron Roofing & Corrugating Co
27 and 29 West Front Street,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Iron, Steel, Galvanized & Felt Roofing.
Our Agents will give you wholesale prices.
Agents:—Bruce Anderson, Constance, Ky. M. J. Crouch, Union, Ky.
Our Unexcelled "Heating Drums" are the best. Inquire for Prices.

OH, HOW DELIGHTFUL!
The Perfect Deodorizer and Disinfectant
FRAGRINE
Refreshes. Perfumes. Invigorates. Endorsed by Physicians.
Most Pleasant of Toilet Requisites.
Most healthful of Household Necessities. Call and try it at
JOHN ALLISON'S, Undertaker, Covington, Ky.

FROM ALL OVER THE STATE

MYSTERIOUS CASE.

Wife of a Paducah Doctor, Who Was Sued For Divorce, Dead.

Paducah, Ky., June 8.—Detectives Baker and Moore are at work on the mysterious death of Mrs. Ida Hessig, the young wife of Dr. H. T. Hessig, a prominent physician and until recently a distiller. About 6:30 o'clock Wednesday morning Dr. Hessig found her body in her room. He claims the telephone rang in her room two or three times, and as she failed to answer it he became alarmed and looked over the transom, finding his wife apparently a corpse. In his night clothing Dr. Hessig ran down the street to the negro cook's house and summoned her. They went back and broke in the door.

For several months a suit between the couple has been pending for divorce. Mrs. Hessig was the plaintiff. She had asked for a large sum of alimony. The couple had several quarrels and fights, and had been in police court more than once.

Some weeks ago Dr. Hessig went into voluntary bankruptcy, placing his liabilities at $15,000, with no assets He claimed his wife had been subject to epileptic fits for four years, and in his opinion she died of an attack of this kind.

HE MAY RECOVER.

The Boy Fell and Was Impaled on An Iron Picket.

Louisville, Ky., June 10.—"Togo," a pet squirrel belonging to Joseph Reynolds, 14, of 102 East Gray street, escaped from his cage and ran up into a maple tree in the front yard. The boy climbed the tree and had almost secured possession of the little animal, which made no effort toward further escape, when a partly-decayed limb broke. Reynolds was precipitated upon the iron fence below and impaled on one of the pickets. The paling entered the boy's left side near the spinal column and was slightly deflected by a rib, but passed through the body. Some hope is entertained for his recovery. The squirrel fell with the boy, but made no effort to get away and was replaced in its cage.

IN THE NEW JAIL.

An Indiana Visitor at Louisville Was Robbed of a Watch.

Louisville, Ky., June 8.—J. H. Beckman, of Ferdinana Ind., came here to buy fixtures for a new bank. He attended the reception at the new county jail, which is to open for the transaction of bonafide criminal business. While in the throng examining the cells, etc., he was relieved of a gold watch and Masonic charm. After this experience Mr. Beckman sought Jailer J. Riney Pflanz and said he knew the new jail was all right, and hoped the first new guest would be the individual who robbed him.

Poolrooms Must Remain Closed.

Covington, Ky., June 8.—The Covington poolrooms must remain closed for all time, if an opinion handed down by Judge Shaw in the Kenton circuit court holds. In the event of proprietors attempting to open up again after the Latonia races, Sherm McInerney will be empowered, under the opinion, to demolish their paraphernalia.

To Build a Belt Line.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 10.—The Hopkinsville Belt Line Co. filed articles of incorporation. The capital is $100,000 and the incorporators are: H. M. Dalton, J. B. Jackson, L. C. Cravens, W. R. Wicks, J. B. Russell, J. M. Renshaw and M. O. Mason. They will build a line of railroad around the city to connect with three railroads.

Judgment For $10,000.

Nicholasville, Ky., June 8.—Judgment for $10,000 was rendered against R. F. Johnson & Co., of Richmond, Va., in Jessamine circuit court, the suit having been brought on their bond by the county school superintendent. The charges were that school books were sold in Ohio at a less price than here.

A Snowball Battle.

Louisville, Ky., June 7.—Judge Gordon's court was crowded with perspiring witnesses to testify in the case of N. S. Weatherton vs. Meade Robinson, jr., and George Lieb, wherein $5,000 was demanded for a broken jaw sustained in a snowball duel January 1. Weatherton was awarded $200.

O. M. Johnson Ends His Life.

Latonia, Ky., June 8.—O. M. Johnson, one of the best known residents of Latonia, was found dead in his bed with a bullet hole in his head. He had committed suicide some time during the night, as the body was cold when found. He had used a revolver in the commission of the deed.

Passed on Campbell County.

Frankfort, Ky., June 10.—The state board of equalization passed on Campbell county and raised the assessment on lands and personality 2 per cent. The preliminary raise was 8 per cent., but after a hearing the board reduced the raise to 2 per cent.

Preacher Succumbs To Smallpox.

Barbourville, Ky., June 10.—Rev. W. C. Judd, a well-known Methodist preacher, died at his home near here of smallpox, after an illness of short duration. The interment took place at Trace Branch cemetery.

WENT BACK FOR HER HAT.

The Matron Was Locked in the Old Jail at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., May 9.—When prisoners were being moved from the old Jefferson county jail to the new building, at Center and Green streets, Mrs. Ada Ballou, one of the matrons who had started out with the last batch of female prisoners, remembered that she had left her spring hat behind. She hurried back after it, but when she returned to the first floor she found the doors locked.

The telephones had been removed from the old jail and Mrs. Ballou could find no way to communicate her plight to outsiders. She stood for hours at the iron-barred windows, but could not succeed in attracting attention. Late in the afternoon Jailer John R. Pflanz, who had begun to worry over her absence, instituted a search and found her hungry and nervous, but not much frightened. She had been imprisoned five hours.

SHOT FROM AMBUSH.

Dr. Edward Courtney Assassinated In Bracken County.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., June 10.—News was received here that Dr. Edward Courtney had been assassinated in Bracken county. He was shot from ambush. Until a few years ago he was popular, but formed a partnership with W. M. Karney, of Groves county. During their partnership they quarreled and Dr. Karney was killed. Since that time a feud existed in the neighborhood, and every one went armed, the community being torn to pieces since the killing of Karney, who was a member of all secret orders. Efforts have been made to drive Courtney from the neighborhood. Courtney was under bond for Karney's murder.

OLLIE HURST'S DEATH.

Kye Cummings Arrested Charged With His Murder.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., June 10.—A few days ago Ollie Hurst was found drowned in the Kentucky river near Hardsburg. His death was supposed to be accidental. Facts have developed which resulted in the arrest of Kye Cummings, charged with the murder of Hurst, and senational developments are expected. The families of both are prominent and it is said bad blood has existed between them.

Foul Play Suspected.

Paducah, Ky., June 10.—Coroner James Crow and County Attorney Eugene Graves decided to send the stomach of Mrs. Dr. Hessing to Louisville to be analyzed. Detective Moore said that there is enough evidence in the hands of the officials to warrant an arrest.

Wounded in a Church.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., June 10.—At a Methodist church in Garrard county two men named Tuder attempted to shoot a man named Murphy. The latter ran into the church for protection when the Tuder boys fired on him through a window, fatally wounding him.

Brought in a Good Well.

Campton, Ky., June 10.—Welsh, Salmon & Co., who have been drilling for oil on the J. T. Coons farm, about two miles northeast of this city, have brought in a good producer at a depth of about 130 feet. It is claimed that the well will produce about 50 barrels of oil a day.

Committee on Dredging.

Louisville, Ky., June 8.—The directors of the board of trade appointed a special committee to appear before the United States board of engineers in Cincinnati June 9 to consider the question of dredging the Ohio river above and below Louisville.

Jett's Case Continued.

Cynthiana, Ky., June 9.—In the circuit court when the case of the commonwealth of Kentucky against Curtis Jett was called Judge Fryer asked Prosecuting Attorney Dean what [illegible] to do with that case, and on motion it was continued.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Louisville, Ky., June 9.—Five hundred and thirty-eight hhds of burley were offered on the tobacco breaks at prices varying from $6.30 to $18. One hundred and forty-six hhds of dark were offered and prices ranged from $3.45 to $8.50.

Famous Ball Player Insane.

Louisville, Ky., June 9.—"Pete" Browning, probably the most famous ball player Louisville ever produced, was declared insane in the Jefferson criminal court. Softening of the brain is the cause.

Made An Assignment.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., June 10.—John M. Potter, of Bowling Green, made an assignment to Scott Isabel. His failure is caused by the recent closing of the Potter & Sons bank. His liabilities will reach $30,000 with assets of $16,000.

Three Men Indicted For Murder.

London, Ky., June 10.—The Clay county grand jury returned an indictment against Tilford, Ed and Fred Benje, charging them with the murder of Representative J. J. C. Howard two months ago in Clay county.

ROOSEVELT'S TARIFF VIEWS

Something for the "Standpatters" to Take Into Their Calculations.

Between the two extremes of tariff for protection only and tariff for revenue only are the conservative protectionists, whom the late Samuel J. Randall was the chief in his day. These believe in a tariff for revenue amply sufficient to meet the demands of honest and economical government and levied in such way as to give our manufacturers incidental protection. It was not intended to create domestic monopolies but to stimulate our industries and encourage competition. The difference between Mr. Randall and Mr. Mills was, says the Washington Post, that the former preferred to raise revenue from iron and steel and their resolvents, and the latter would sooner have put a duty on tea and coffee. The difference between Mr. Randall and Senator Foraker in their views of this question was even sharper. Randall favored a tariff for revenue with incidental protection; Foraker advocated a tariff for protection with incidental revenue.

President Roosevelt is a conservative. In some of his writings, discussing the question as a doctrinaire, he seems to agree with Mills, but as a practical statesman, clothed with the responsibilities of official duty, he agrees with Randall, and has advised the leaders of his party to reduce duties until they are within the bounds of moderation, and thus reform the tariff until it shall cease to be a shelter for monopoly.

His recommendations fell on deaf ears. There was one conclusive answer to all his logic—the country was prosperous. It was no use to argue with the standpatters that the prosperity was as much due to the settlement of the coinage question and the railroad developments of the great valley of the Mississippi as it was to the tariff, and that it came and abided with us in spite of, and not because of, excessive protection. You would as well have entered upon a discussion of the fine arts with a "convocation of politic worms" supping off the flesh of some Polonius. It was natural. The party had achieved the greatest of political victories, and on this occasion victory was unusually insolent.

But they had reckoned without the president of the United States, and that president Theodore Roosevelt. His is a unique position. In a political sense he is the most independent of all the presidents. He was the issue and he was indorsed as none who had preceded him had been indorsed. If we leave Washington out of the account. It was Monroe's politics that prevailed in 1820. It was the cause of the union that triumphed in 1864, but in 1904 it was Theodore Roosevelt the man who swept all before him. He knows that. The country knows it. Even the standpatters know it, or, if they don't, they will probably find it out before the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder is in shock.

The president is in earnest. He believes things. What is more to the purpose, he has the gift of making men believe in him. He has thrown down the gauntlet to the standpatters. He will be a brave man that takes it up.

These are matters for Senator Hale, Senator Aldrich, Speaker Cannon and Mr. Grosvenor to ponder.

Meanwhile, some of the candidates for the republican nomination for president might find melancholy profit in a cogitation of them.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

——Speaker Cannon calls on the president every day or two, but there is a dearth of news about their getting together on what congress should do.

——"American goods can be purchased as cheaply as those of foreign make," says D. M. Parry. If that is true, there does not seem to be much need of a tariff.—Washington Post.

——The republican organs are as pleased with the work of the recent republican state convention in Ohio as if they had been dreading the worst.—Binghamton (N. Y.) Leader.

——It is so long since we were promised a list of the good trusts that it is almost forgotten, yet when Commissioner Garfield has time we hope he will spur up the young men in his office to make up the list.

——There is no doubt that all the stand-patters in the cabinet will have to go, but what will the Iowa people do with Secretary Shaw roaming around the state talking against railroad and tariff legislation?

——The trust barons and the railroad magnates are beginning to discover that most of us are on to their game whether congress is or not, and dividends of 40 per cent. that some of them have been extorting will soon be a thing of the past.

——Tariff reform may have subordinated for the moment to the interest of the naval engagement, but it is a big, live issue which nothing less than an issue of war can overshadow. Interest in the tariff will be throbbing when the Russo-Jap war is a dead and forgotten topic.—St. Louis Republic.

——The administration having decided that supplies for the Panama canal are to be bought in the open market, because of high trust prices, the question will naturally occur to most of us, why can't we do the same?

——The president, it is asserted, has in the case of the purchase of canal supplies, merely served notice on the trusts that they cannot hold up the government. They may, however, be enabled to overcome their chargrin by more effective holding up of the private consumer, with which interference does not seem to be seriously threatened.—Indianapolis News (Ind.).

THE PLATFORM IN OHIO.

More Interesting for What It Does Not Say Than What It Does Say.

When one does not know just what to say, one may either keep silence altogether or use a great many words that mean nothing. The republicans of Ohio seem to have taken refuge in both these devices. In their platform, adopted recently, they say nothing of the Panama purchases or of the railroad rate question, and for the rest they fall back on the old and familiar platitudes. We are informed, says the Indianapolis News (Ind.), that the country has been prosperous; that this prosperity is due to a republican administration and much more of the same sort, all of which is interesting, though hardly vital. It seems to us that there is a certain reserve in the indorsement of the president the convention declares that by the great plurality given to the president "Ohio obligated her citizens to sustain him and the republican congress chosen to cooperate with him in carrying into effect the pledges and promises of the republican platform upon which they were elected." Thus the president is permitted to the platform of last year, and indorsed along with that very congress with which he may find himself in conflict at no distant day. The real question is whether the Ohio republicans will stand with the president or with the senate. They prudently say that they will stand with both of them. So the corner is turned. On the railroad question we have this eminently safe statement:

"President Roosevelt's comprehensive enforcement of the republican laws against monopolies, combines and trusts in restraint of trade—laws whose validity the supreme court of the United States has sustained—has our hearty encouragement and support. We also indorse every effort for the active enforcement of existing laws to stop all unjust discriminations and special favors in the form of rebates or any other device, and we favor such further legislation on that subject, with adequate penalties, as may, after full investigation, seem to the republican congress and administration wise and conservative, yet adequate to prevent unfair advantage to any, and to promote and insure the rights of all individuals, interests and localities."

This is so obviously a dodge that it is not even shrewd. What the country wanted to know was what the Ohio republicans thought of the proposition to increase the powers of the interstate commerce commission, and to fix and regulate railroad rates.

The tariff question is treated in the same way. The most important event of recent years is the announcement of the president that the Panama canal commission will buy what it needs at the lowest price it can get without reference to the tariff. On the very day that the Ohio platform was adopted, Senator Scott, of West Virginia, managed to say very clearly what he thought of the presidential policy—and he does not think well of it. But the Ohio republicans simply reaffirm the platforms of last year and declare that they "stand by the principles of protection to American labor and American industries." So does the president stand by those principles—and yet, there is the Panama order.

Such are some of the evasions of this platform. They are the most important things in it. We have another evasion in the declaration that "the American navy should be made and kept equal to every need"—which is the same thing as saying that a man's hat should be neither too small nor too large for his head. A word is spoken for the building up of our merchant marine, but even this is not clear. The most outspoken declaration is that on the constitutional amendments, which is followed by another concerning the sacredness of the ballot. There must, it is said, be no "unjust discrimination, based directly or indirectly on race, color or previous condition." Of course it did not require much courage for an Ohio republican convention to say that.

The rest of the platform is devoted mostly to state issues. The suggestion of Secretary Taft that Ohio should have a civil service reform law is ignored, as might have been expected. A salary law and a revision and strengthening of the banking laws are favored. As a whole, the platform is more interesting for what is does not than for what it does say.

——If some of our republican statesmen would legislate as they talk what a deal of trouble would be saved and how much the people would save also.

——The expected has happened, the Ohio republicans at their state convention "stand pat" on the tariff that fosters the trusts. The cartoon with the hogs with all their feet in the trough certainly applies to these patriots who swear by "the old flag and an appropriation."

——Gov. Cummins ought to keep away from the rate restriction issue. He was the big hoodoo of the Iowa idea and his boasting of his rate proposition only confirms the impression that it is a lost cause in the present make-up of the republican senate.—St. Louis Republic.

——If a majority of the republican members of the house of representatives really favor reform, they should show their good faith by electing a speaker who favors that policy. Under the rules the speaker has almost unlimited power and can aid or delay legislation in many ways. He can appoint committees that will carry a stand-pat policy or that secretly forward recovery once begun, and a little book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," may be obtained by any one who makes a request for it by writing to the Dr. Williams Medical Co., Schenectady, N.Y. This valuable diet book contains an important chapter on the simplest means for the cure of constipation.

Where Lies the East?

"Yes, I've just returned from a two months' visit in the east," the Portland young lady was saying, "and, oh, I had such a lovely time! Those easterners are so different from us, though."

"What points did you visit?" inquired the newcomer in Oregon. "I do hope you saw dear old Boston."

"Boston!" the Portland girl ejaculated, "I should say not. I was in Montana."—Portland Oregonian.

Personal View.

"Graft is surprisingly common," said the apprehensive citizen.

"That is where you are wrong," answered Senator Sorghum. "A real good graft is getting to be one of the scarcest things in our once proud and luxurious civilization."—Washington Star.

It Pays to Read Newspapers.

Cox, Wis., June 12.—Frank M. Russell, of this place, had Kidney Disease so bad that he could not walk. He tried Doctors' treatment and many different remedies, but was getting worse. He was very low. He read in a newspaper how Dodd's Kidney Pills were curing cases of Kidney Trouble, Bright's Disease and Rheumatism, and thought he would try them. He took two boxes, and now he is quite well. He says:—

"I can now work all day, and not feel tired. Before using Dodd's Kidney Pills I couldn't walk across the floor."

Mr. Russell's is the most wonderful case ever known in Chippewa County. This new remedy—Dodd's Kidney Pills—is making some miraculous cures in Wisconsin.

——Humorista must have a terrible time in Japan. There are no old maids there.—Chicago Chronicle.

Where Old Ocean's Salty Breezes Blow—An Ideal Summer Territory.

Long Island as a summer resort grows in popularity each year, for once a dweller on this exceptionally favored Atlantic Coast Island always a dweller is the rule; its natural attractions are marvelous in variety, its South or Ocean Shore is most widely known, for here the surf bathing is particularly fine and the sweltering heat, so often encountered at other Atlantic points, is a thing unknown, because this beautiful Island alone trends East and West directly across the Summer South winds, blowing fresh and cool over the Atlantic.

It has besides the open ocean the Great South Bay and other inland seas further to the east, where safe sailing and still salt water bathing is at its best.

On the North or Sound Shore the attractions of salt water are also most excellent; the surf of course is lacking, but instead this shore has bluffs and hills tree-clad to the high water mark.

Fishing both in fresh and salt water is a noted attraction of Long Island.

Golf and tennis enthusiasts are splendidly cared for, as L. I. links and courts are unsurpassed.

The splendid system of highways has always attracted the rider, driver and automobilist.

Hence, all in all, for rest or sport afoot or ashore no coast resort has more to offer.

——A self-made man usually has a homemade look.—N. O. Picayune.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease. A certain cure for swollen, sweating, hot, aching feet. At all Druggists, 25c. Accept no substitute. Trial package FREE. Address A. S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Unrealized.

Aunt Jane—Is your husband all you thought he was?

Emma—Well, yes, I think he is; but I am sorry to say he is far from being what he thinks himself to be.—Modern Society.

Correct.

Professor—Name one of the principal horrors of war.

Student—Graduating essays on the horrors of war, sir.—Chicago Sun.

——If you have that tired feeling which makes you reluctant to move, just get somebody to give you a shove into the roadway of a street that is popular with the automobilists.—Indianapolis News.

NAMES BEST DOCTOR

MR. BAYSSON PUBLISHES RESULTS OF VALUABLE EXPERIENCE.

A Former Pronounced Dyspeptic He Now Rejoices in Perfect Freedom from Miseries of Indigestion.

Thousands of sufferers know that the reason why they are irritable and depressed and nervous and sleepless is because their food does not digest, but how to get rid of the difficulty is the puzzling question.

Good digestion calls for strong digestive organs, and strength comes from a supply of good rich blood. For this reason Mr. Baysson took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the cure of indigestion.

"They have been my best doctor," he says. "I was suffering from dyspepsia. The pains in my stomach after meals were almost unbearable. My sleep was very irregular and my complexion was sallow. As the result of using eight boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, about the merits of which I learned from friends in France, I have escaped all these troubles, and am able again to take pleasure in eating."

A very simple story, but if it had not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills it might have been a tragic one. When discomfort begins with eating, fills up the intervals between meals with pain, and prevents sleep at night, there certainly cannot be much pleasure in living. A final general breaking down must be merely a question of time.

Mr. Joseph Baysson is a native of Aix-les-Bains, France, but now resides at No. 2439 Larkin street, San Francisco, Cal. He is one of a great number who can testify to the remarkable efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the treatment of obstinate disorders of the stomach.

If you would get rid of nausea, pain or burning in the stomach, vertigo, nervousness, insomnia, or any of the other miseries of a dyspeptic, get rid of the weakness of the digestive organs by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are sold by druggists everywhere.

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Uterine Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Can we dispute the well-known fact that American women are nervous?

How often do we hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly;" or, "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and make you irritable; you can't sleep, you are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

The relation of the nerves and generative organs in women is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Fits of depression or restlessness and irritability. Spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps. Pain in the ovaries and between the shoulders. Loss of voice, nervous dyspepsia. A tendency to cry at the least provocation. All this points to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration as surely and effectively as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. M. E. Shotwell, of 103 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I cannot express the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, headache, loss of appetite. I could not sleep and would walk the floor almost every night.

"I had three doctors and got no better, and life was a burden. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has worked wonders for me.

"I am a well woman, my nervousness is all gone and my friends say I look ten years younger."

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick and weak and discouraged, exhausted each day, when you can be as easily cured as other women.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

For Hot Weather

A FREE BOTTLE OF

MULL'S GRAPE TONIC

to any one who will write for it now.

HAVE YOU

CONSTIPATION

Stomach Troubles, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Blood Poison, Skin Diseases, Sores, Sudden Bowel Trouble, Diarrhea, Cholera, Etc.?

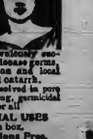
No one whose bowels are healthy and active contracts these complaints. Mull's Grape Tonic cures Constipation and all these terrible Bowel troubles because it cleanses the Blood and makes the intestines practically new. It feeds the starved condition and brings them back to life—nothing else will. For hot weather ills it has no equal.

WRITE FOR THIS FREE BOTTLE TODAY

Good for ailing children and nursing mothers.

FREE COUPON.

Send this coupon with your name and address and your druggist's name, for a free bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic, Stomach Tonic and Constipation Cure.



Mull's Grape Tonic Co., 147 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

Give Full Address and Write Plainly.

The $1.00 bottle contains nearly three times the 50c size. At drug stores.

The genuine has a date and number stamped on the label—take no other from your druggist.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC FOR WOMEN

Combined with its peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness, cures leucorrhœa and nasal catarrh.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

PATENTS 48-page book FREE, highest references. ITTIG BRALD & CO., Box K, Washington, D. C.

ISAAC and ISHMAEL

OUR BIBLE STORY by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1903, by J. M. Edson.)

Scripture Authority:—"And Abraham called the name of his son that was born unto him, whom Sarah bare to him, Isaac . . . And the child grew, and was weaned; and Abraham made a great feast, the same day that Isaac was weaned. And Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian, which she had born unto Abraham, mocking. Wherefore she said unto Abraham, Cast out this bondwoman and her son; for the son of this bondwoman shall not be heir with my son, even with Isaac. And the thing was very grievous in Abraham's sight because of his son."—Gen. 21:3, 8-11.

THE sweet, merry laughter of a little child floated out upon the morning breeze, and a mother's tender voice could be heard, as she talked to and played with her darling.

The sounds reached the ears of a woman seated in her tent at some little distance away, and, shifting her position uneasily, as though the harmony and joy in the other tent had struck a discord in her own, she sighed, and muttered to herself:

"And now what of Ishmael?"

"What's that, mother?" quickly spoke up a boy who was tinkering over some boyish contrivance in the tent door, but who, at the sound of his mother's sigh and half inaudible words, dropped his work and looked up at her, inquiringly. "Did you speak my name?"

The woman started as one does when suddenly made conscious that the inward emotions have been betrayed. Instantly his sympathetic nature was aroused, and springing lightly to his feet, he went towards his mother, and, throwing himself at her feet and looking up into her face, he asked again, more insistently:

"What is it, mother?"

Don't, mother, don't!" exclaimed the boy, in great distress, while at the same time he caressed her, tenderly. "What is troubling you? Has"—

A little goo at the tent door startled them, and they both looked up just as a sturdy boy of between two and three years of age came toddling in. As he caught sight of Ishmael he uttered a gleeful shout, and came running towards him with outstretched hands. A smile lit up the troubled face of the older boy, and for the instant, forgetting the distress of his mother, he stooped to take the baby and have a frolic with him, as was his wont, for ever since the coming of little Isaac, Ishmael had been his loyal admirer and faithful guardian and playfellow, but as he stooped down, his eye fell upon the face of his mother, who with dark, almost evil look, was taking in the whole scene.

At that instant a shadow fell across the doorway, and the form of a woman appeared. Her quick eye took in the tableau before her. The strained, drawn, hard look on the face of the Egyptian mother, the puzzled, troubled expression in Ishmael's face, and the impatient wail of her little son as he tugged sturdily at the older boy's garments and sought to obtain the accustomed attention which was for some reason he could not understand being withheld.

"Ah, here you are, you little runaway! Come, see what mother has for you," holding up a new garment of rich coloring and finest texture, which the proud mother was preparing for the great festal occasion which was to mark the weaning of the boy and his formal recognition as the sole heir of Abraham's possessions and position.

At the sound of Sarah's voice, Hagar looked up with a startled and guilty expression, and, trying to smile, she bowed low, and then spreading a rug at Sarah's feet, she said, with an effort at composure:

"Will not my mistress be seated?"

"Not this morning, Hagar, there is so much to do in preparation for Isaac's feast, which my hands alone must do, that I cannot," and with a pretense of not having noticed the jealousy and unhappiness of the other woman, she picked up her baby and hastened from the tent.

Suddenly the mother stopped in front of him and exclaimed, fiercely, almost incoherently:

"The new garment, the great feast? Do you not know what that means for you? Oh, Ishmael—"

"But what of it, mother?" stammered the boy, in a dazed sort of way.

The failure of the boy to appreciate the situation seemed to exasperate the mother, and she exclaimed, passionately:

"What of it! Cannot you understand that you have no part or lot with Isaac? As son of Abraham thou art not to share in aught that is his save such beggarly portions as he may give you during his life. The new garment is for the heir! The feast is for the heir! And Abraham and the great sheiks of all the country round will make merry as Isaac is proclaimed heir! And you," seizing the boy by the shoulders and almost shaking him in the frenzy of her grief and despair, "and you are just Ishmael, son of the bond-slave!"

The first dawning feelings of jealousy and sense of wrong suffered began to rise in the boy's soul as his mother's words and her bitter grief cut deep into his sensitive nature. A feeling of resentment rose within him against those who could cause his mother so much grief, and the fact that his mother's thought was for him, made him all the more responsive to her mood. And with the feelings of jealousy and resentment came a new stirring within of self-reliance and independence. The proud spirit of the boy was touched, and an ill-defined, vague purpose took possession of him that day to achieve apart from anything that Abraham could or would do for him.

On the day before the feast Sarah said to Abraham:

"I like not the manner of Ishmael, of late. He cometh no more to our tent to visit Isaac, and I fear he is angry."

And then Sarah went on to tell what she witnessed in Hagar's tent some time before, since which time Ishmael had not been the same.

"It were better that he be not present at the feast to-morrow, lest the celebration in Isaac's honor cause the fires of jealousy to burn within his heart," Sarah continued. "He hath no part with thine heir. Let him go with the sheep herder who leaves with the flocks for the distant pasturage to-day."

Abraham shook his head slowly, while his countenance bore a troubled look.

"It seemeth hard to deny the boy the pleasures of the morrow. I fear thou art needlessly anxious. Should not Ishmael, my son, share in our joys and pleasures, and our plans?"

"Nay," quickly responded Sarah, "but dost thou not remember that the son of the bondwoman can have no part with the son of promise? Hast thou forgotten how the Lord hath spoken, saying that He would make His covenant with Isaac, and not Ishmael?"

The force of Sarah's words evidently impressed Abraham deeply, for as he turned to go, he said in quiet, sad tone of voice:

"I will arrange it according to thy wish."

Late that afternoon Ishmael trudged along behind the flocks, bitter resentment filling his heart.

"They are sending me off to get rid of me for the feast to-morrow," he muttered. "It is not fair! Mother says I have as good right to be there as Isaac, for am I not Abraham's son?"

Such was the burden of Ishmael's thoughts, and the longer he pondered the situation, and the farther he journeyed from home, the more positive became the conviction that grievous injustice was being done him. Suddenly he stopped, as a thought flashed into his mind, and he exclaimed:

"I'll do it! I'll do it!"

That night when darkness had fallen and the herder was rounding up some of the scattering sheep, Ishmael slipped away and started back towards home. The next morning he lingered on the outskirts of the tented area, for he dared not make his presence known. As he lay hidden in the bushes near enough to see and hear, he watched the guests arrive, and listened to the busy hum of voices as the visiting and merry-making went on. He saw the gifts as they were borne to Sarah's tent to be presented to little Isaac, and later he saw the latter in his gorgeous robes, such as the heir is accustomed to wear on such occasions, being borne aloft, while the assembled guests bowed before him and then with loud acclaim proclaimed him Abraham's heir and wished him long life and prosperity and power. Then came the feasting, and Ishmael, who had eaten nothing since the night before, found his hunger overcoming his fears, and leaving his hiding place he crept in to where some of the servants were feasting and making merry. Gladly they made place for him, for the boy was a general favorite with them, and while they cast knowing glances at each other, they plied him with questions as to where he had been and why he was not sharing in the festivities.

With a sneer in the direction of Isaac, and a shrug of the shoulders, Ishmael snarled:

"Why should all be given to Isaac? Am I not Abraham's son?"

"The boy is right," chuckled one dark-visaged fellow, by way of encouragement, and then noting the responsive nods on every side, and the brightening of Ishmael's countenance, he continued: "Here's to Ishmael, Abraham's heir."

The spirit of reckless fun then seized the rest of the group. One fellow threw over Ishmael's shoulders in lieu of the robes of the heir one of the brilliant rugs lying on the ground, and all bowed before him in mock motion drew the attention of the rest of the company, and Sarah beholding, took in the situation at a glance, while the guests thinking it only some merry frolic of the servants turned again to their feasting and chatter.

But not so Sarah, and after the guests had all departed and she and Abraham were alone, her pent-up feelings burst forth:

"Cast out this bondwoman and her son," she fiercely and abruptly exclaimed. "For the son of this bondwoman shall not be heir with my son, even with Isaac!"

In bewildered surprise and sorrow, Abraham by questioning learned of the incidents of the afternoon, but the harsh measures which his wife proposed seemed very grievous unto him, for he loved Ishmael, but natural affection often brings one at cross purposes with faith and the plans of God.

Abraham bowed his head in grief and spake not.

"Cast out this bondwoman and her son," again demanded Sarah, "for he shall not be heir with my son, even with Isaac!"

And Abraham, the father of Ishmael, the son of the bondwoman, and the father of Isaac, the son of promise, strode out into the night in silence, to fight out the issue alone with God.

STRIKE IN THE HENNERY.

Arbitration Committee Worsted in Argument on Merits of the Case.

Once upon a time (very recently) a hen went upon a strike and refused to lay. Other hens followed her example, and the scarcity of hen fruit which resulted caused eggs to retail for something like 50 cents per dozen, says the Boston Post. In other words, strictly fresh eggs laid by scab hens were worth about five cents each in the shell. Even cold storage eggs which were deadly explosive and had to be handled with care brought 30 cents.

The people got together and remonstrated with the hens, but it did no good. Finally an arbitration committee waited on the hens and tried to persuade them to go back to work. The arbitration committee pointed out that only the rich could afford to eat eggs, but the hens refused to return to work. The arbitration committee then told the hens that if they persisted in the strike they would bring race suicide on themselves.

Then a wise old hen arose and spoke as follows:

"In the spring when us hens wish to sit the people give us porcelain doorknobs to sit on. If the porcelain doorknobs are as good as eggs to sit on, they ought to be as good to eat as eggs. Tell the people to eat porcelain doorknobs."

The arbitration committee could not answer this argument, and departed in tears.

Moral—Deceit will come home to roost.

PIECE OF "TOWN'S MIND."

Cutting Rebuke of Insolence Administered by Judicial Celebrity of Massachusetts.

About 50 years ago Justice William T. Spear was a well-known lawyer in Plymouth, Mass. He took a deep interest in the affairs of the community, and his acquaintance with parliamentary usage lifted him above those who simply vote others into office. As nearly as might be, says Youth's Companion, he was the "Town's Mind," to use the large phrase invented by the forefathers.

In this character Judge Spear never failed to attend town meeting and rarely failed to speak with force and clear intention, but on one occasion he faltered unexpectedly in setting the little state in motion. He rose in the house of freedom with all his accustomed dignity, and began with authority:

"I am not here, Mr. Moderator—"

He hesitated a moment, then began again:

"I am not here, sir—"

Again he paused, and in the silence a young man in the assembly cried out:

"Tell us where you are, then!"

Fifty years ago it was considered indecorous for a young man to take an active part in the proceedings of the town meeting. He was there to vote—silently—and was expected to restrain the speech of his deep attentive mind. No wonder, then, that Judge Spear turned upon the audacious speaker with a mighty frown.

"I am not here, sir," he thundered, "to be barked at by every puppy that crawls into the town house!"

Then, turning to the moderator, Judge Spear proceeded as usual to regulate the calendar of the town year.

FOLLOWED THE FASHIONS.

Tiny Miss Kept Herself Informed on What Was in Style and Out.

The little daughter of a fashionable mother is accustomed to hear a great deal about the things that have "come in" or "gone out" of style, relates the New York Times. After a visit to Sunday school she attempted to repeat to her younger brother some of the miracles performed by our Lord. He was a most attentive listener, and when she had finished said:

"Do you believe that, sister?"

"Why, of course I believe it, Jacky. It is true."

"I didn't know things could really happen like that."

"Oh, they don't now," she replied in a superior tone. "All that sort of thing was years ago and has gone entirely out of style."

Upon one occasion she had visited several stores with her mother during the autumn millinery openings. As they were returning home they passed a market, with its wares displayed in the window.

"Oh, mamma!" she cried. "Look, quick! Turkeys are coming in style again. The windows are full of them."

Rapacity of Rats.

No place is sacred to the rat. From a sleeping man to an elephant there is nothing which he will not eat. Rats have eaten their way through a live pig and bitten off the legs of live birds. Some years ago the keepers of the London zoological gardens could not understand what made the elephants so restless, so uneasy on their feet. Investigation showed that at night the rats came out and gnawed off the thick skin growing about the nails on the monsters' feet. Apparently they must have fancied the horn of the rhinoceros, too, for regularly the keepers used to find flattened rats where the rhinoceros had been lying.

Words of Wisdom.

"What," asked the unlearned youth, "is the best time to write poetry?"

"After you have inherited enough money to live on for the rest of your days," replied the wise guy.—Chicago Daily News.

Will Need Them.

Russia has decided to have a number of first-class battleships built in American shipyards, the details of construction remaining to be worked out. In addition to those built in this country it is probable that a yard will be constructed at a Baltic port to be manned by Russian workmen, but under American engineering and mechanical supervision.

Hard on Debtors.

At Kotta, in Saxony, persons who fail to pay their taxes each year have their names published in a list which hangs up in all restaurants and saloons of the city. Those who are on the list must not be supplied with either meat or drink at these places, under penalty of loss of license.

Fortunate Scribe.

It may be remarked that there are comparatively few newspaper men who pay $50,000 for house rent in a lifetime, and yet that is the sum Ambassador Whitelaw Reid is asked to pay for a single year's occupancy of the ambassadorial home in London.

Bank by Post.

Inhabitants of the rural districts of France may now obtain from the postmen on their rounds postal orders, etc., and may hand them money for deposit in the savings banks, thus avoiding the trouble of going to the nearest post-office for these purposes.

Japanese Fashion Leaders.

In Vienna, two Japanese ladies, wife and daughter of the Japanese minister, are fashion leaders and, at a recent court ball there, wore white chrysanthemums on pink and white Japanese crape, with white flowers in their dark hair.

Pathetic Conundrum.

Al De Mustard—Your wife's costume to-night is charming. It simply beggars descrpition.

Justin de Bunch—And that reminds me of a conundrum—why am I like a description?—Ohio State Journal.

Hangman in Great Britain.

Technically, any inhabitant of the United Kingdom is liable to be called upon to undertake the uncongenial task of hangman. The salary is £1 sterling a week as a retaining fee, and £2 sterling after an execution.

Would Do for an Excuse.

She—Is there any insanity in the Snobbs family?

He—No. It's too bad there isn't; it would give them a legitimate excuse for some of their actions.—Detroit Free Press.

Longevity of Horses.

Civilization does not tend to the horse's longevity. In the wild state he lives to be 36 or 40 years old, while the domestic horse is old at 25 years.

Sudden Fall.

After working years to gain the right kind of a reputation some men find it possible to get the wrong kind in ten minutes.—Chicago Tribune.

Costly College History.

The history of the last ten years of the University of Chicago's life is being prepared and printed at cost of $60,000.

Bound to Rule.

The woman who feels that she was born to command generally succeeds in getting a husband.—N. Y. Times.

Floating Sand.

Islands of floating sand are sometimes seen in the River Llano, in Texas.

MARKET REPORT.

Cincinnati, June 10.
CATTLE—Common	$3 25	@	4 25
Heavy steers	5 50	@	5 65
CALVES—Extra		@	6 25
HOGS—Ch. packers	5 37½	@	5 45
Mixed packers	5 30	@	5 35
SHEEP—Extra	4 00	@	4 15
LAMBS—Spring	7 50	@	7 60
FLOUR—Spring pat.	6 00	@	6 35
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	1 03	@	1 05
No. 3 red	94	@	98
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	56
No. 2 white		@	56½
RYE—No. 2	81	@	83
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	32¾
HAY—Ch. timothy		@	11 75
PORK—Clear mess		@	14 65
LARD—Steam		@	6 70
BUTTER—Ch. dairy		@	13
Choice creamery		@	22½
APPLES—Choice		@	2 50
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 25	@	1 35
TOBACCO—New	5 00	@	13 00
Old	4 50	@	14 75
Chicago.
FLOUR—Winter pat.	5 10	@	5 20
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	99	@	1 00
No. 3 red	1 00	@	1 06
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	53¼
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	31½
RYE—No. 2		@	79
PORK—Mess	12 50	@	12 55
LARD—Steam	7 12½	@	7 15
New York.
FLOUR—Win. st'rts.	4 60	@	4 65
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 04
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	59½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	35	@	35½
RYE—Western		@	82
PORK—Family	13 87½	@	13 87½
LARD—Steam	7 15	@	7 30
Baltimore.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	97¼	@	97¾
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	58
CATTLE—Steers	4 00	@	4 50
SHEEP—No. 1	3 00	@	3 50
Louisville.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 00
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	56
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	35
PORK—Mess		@	11 00
LARD—Steam		@	6 50
Indianapolis.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 00
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	48
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	30½

New York Central Lines Still Lead.

At the conference of the managers of the New York Central Lines, held in New York June 6th, all lines being represented by their General Managers and Passenger officials, it was decided, beginning with the regular summer change, Sunday, June 18th, to quicken the speed of the "Twentieth Century Limited" so as to make the time between New York and Chicago sixteen hours instead of twenty hours, the New York Central Lines having made the twenty-hour time during the past three years, and having also made the run between New York and Chicago in twenty hours with their "Exposition Flyer" for the one hundred and eighty days of the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893, twelve years ago.

The New York Central Lines make the point that the New York Central has had in service the "Empire State Express"—which has been the fastest train in the world for its distance, 440 miles—for fourteen years, having held the world's record for that time, and for three years and 180 days having held the world's record for a thousand mile train in twenty hours.

The proposed schedule of eighteen hours is simply the extension of the time of the "Empire State Express" through from Buffalo to Chicago, the time having been made for fourteen years between New York and Buffalo. On this new schedule, the train will leave Chicago at 2:30 p. m., arriving Grand Central Station, New York, at 9:30 next morning, and, returning, will leave New York 3:30 p. m., reaching Chicago 8:30 a. m. following day.

At the same time, the "Lake Shore Limited" will be quickened up an hour and will make the time from Chicago to New York in 23 hours instead of 24, leaving Chicago 5:30 p. m. by the Lake Shore and arriving New York 5:30 p. m. by the New York Central.

The "Southwestern Limited" train, No. 11, which now leaves Grand Central Station at 1:00 p. m., will, beginning June 18th, leave at 2:04 p. m., saving an hour to an hour and a half on the present journey to St. Louis and Cincinnati.

It often happens that man will put himself to no end of trouble to find the key to a woman's heart, when all the time the door is wide open.—Life.

Agricultural and Horticultural Colonies on the Kansas City Southern Railway.

Lockesburg Colony in Sevier County Arkansas, containing about 30,000 acres, and Loring Colony in Sabine Parish, Louisiana, containing about 24,000 acres, are now open for settlement. Lands range in price from $7.00 to $15.00 per acre, and are sold on easy terms to actual settlers. Lockesburg Colony is well suited for General Farming, stock raising and commercial fruit growing. Loring Colony lies in a splendid fruit, truck and tobacco region, and is good for corn and cotton also. Both are situated in a beautiful country, with a healthy climate and excellent water. Write for books concerning Lockesburg and Loring Colonies and "Current Events" Magazine to S. G. Warner, G. P. & T. A., K. C. S. Ry., Kansas City, Mo.; P. E. Roesler, Immigration Agt., K. C. S. Ry., Kansas City, Mo.

"De man dat tells de plain truth 'bout a fishin' trip," said Uncle Eben, "has yoh esteem, but he's liable not to be very good company."—Washington Star.

Do not believe Piso's Cure for Consumption has an equal for coughs and colds.—J. F. Boyer, Trinity Springs, Ind., Feb. 15, 1900.

Don't run yourself down. Others will cheerfully do it for you.—N. Y. Times.

THREE YEARS AFTER.

Eugene E. Lario, of 751 Twentieth Avenue, ticket seller in the Union Station, Denver, Col., says: "You are at liberty to repeat what I first stated through our Denver papers about Doan's Kidney Pills in the summer of 1899, for I have had no reason in the interim to change my opinion of the remedy. I was subject to severe attacks of backache, always aggravated if I sat long at a desk. Doan's Kidney Pills absolutely stopped my backache. I have never had a pain or a twinge since."

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists. Price 50 cents per box

All Nervous, Blood, Liver, Kidney and Stomach Disorders, Rheumatism, Catarrh and General Debility are quickly cured with Pusheck's Kuro. Illustrated booklet and all medical advice free. Write at once. Dr. C. Pusheck, Chicago. Pusheck's Kuro is $1.00 by mail or at druggists.

Never strike a man when he is down. Ten chances to one he will get up again.—Detroit News.

Ancient Egypt

Know the Virtues of the "King of Foods."

Since the earliest annals of Old Egypt, wheat has been recognized as the king of foods.

It has held its sway down to the present day, notwithstanding the fact that in many forms of making wheat into food products, some of the best elements are lost.

Bread has been aptly termed, "the staff of life," as it alone of known foods has all the elements that are needed to sustain life.

Egg-O-See contains all the best elements of wheat in a far more healthful and delicious form than any bread, crackers or ordinary wheat foods. In addition to the best whole wheat delicately flaked and crushed, it is made still more digestible by the addition of refined diastase, the highest grade of malt.

There are no premiums or gifts in the Egg-O-See package; nothing but full measure of the highest grade of cereal food in the world.

EGG-O-SEE — A large package at any grocery — 10c

THE EGG-O-SEE CO. Quincy, Ill.

DON'T HESITATE!

If you contemplate a journey, save time, money and trouble by using.

LOW RATES SOUTHWEST

ON THE FIRST AND THIRD TUESDAYS OF EACH MONTH

We have lots of information about the Southwest, valuable alike to the investor and home-seeker. If you are interested, tell us what you want, how much you have to invest and we will gladly furnish the information.

The opportunity today is brighter and better in the Southwest than any where else.

Write today for a copy of our book, "The Coming Country," and particulars about rates. Address

GEORGE MORTON
G. P. & T. A. M. K. & T. RY. ST. LOUIS, MO.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS
CONSUMPTION

A. N. K.—E 2078

Let Common Sense Decide

Do you honestly believe, that coffee sold loose (in bulk), exposed to dust, germs and insects, passing through many hands (some of them not over-clean), "blended," you don't know how or by whom, is fit for your use? Of course you don't. But is another story. The green berries, selected by keen judges at the plantation, are skillfully roasted at our factories, where precautions you would not dream of are taken to secure perfect cleanliness, flavor, strength and uniformity.

LION COFFEE

From the time the coffee leaves the factory no hand touches it till it is opened in your kitchen.

This has made LION COFFEE the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES.

Millions of American Homes welcome LION COFFEE daily. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity. "Quality survives all opposition."

(Sold only in 1 lb. packages. Lion-head on every package.)
(Save your Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

WINCHESTER

"LEADER" AND "REPEATER" SHOTGUN SHELLS

Carefully inspected shells, the best of powder, shot and wadding, loaded by machines which give invariable results account for the superiority of Winchester "Leader" and "Repeater" Factory Loaded Smokeless Powder Shells. Reliability, velocity, pattern and penetration are determined by scientific apparatus and practical experiments. They are THE SHELLS THE CHAMPIONS SHOOT

Personal Mention.

J. L. Clore made a business trip to Lexington, last Thursday.

Miss Estell Huey, of Walton, is a guest of her aunt, Mrs. A. W. Gaines.

H. C. McNeal, of Constance, was looking after business in Burlington, Monday.

Sheriff Allphin and wife are attending the Confederate reunion at Louisville.

Misses Jonette and Pattie Revill are at home from Georgetown to spend their vacation.

Moses Aylor, of Hebron neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington, Monday.

R. C. Gaines and daughter, and Edward Rice and son, were among the visitors in town Monday.

O. J. Ryle, wife and son left yesterday morning to attend the Confederate reunion at Louisville.

James Pierce orders his paper changed from Home City, Ohio, to 105 East Greenup street, Covington.

J. Wash Watts, of Bullittsville, and daughter, Mrs. Garr, were transacting business in Burlington, Monday.

Dr. Furnishs' frequent professional visits to this part of the county necessitates his keeping a horse at Erlanger.

Kirb Sullivan and family, of Walton, were guests of his father and mother near town, last Saturday and Sunday.

James Clore went to Lexington, last Thursday, where he was the guest of the Nebraska Indian base ball team.

A. B. Rouse was at home last Sunday and Monday. He reports everything going Paynterward to the satisfaction of the Judge.

Yancy Clore and wife, of Francesville neighborhood, visited his sister Mrs. Ezekiel Rice, of Waterloo neighborhood, last Sunday.

Mrs. Selms and daughter, Miss Belle, who are guests of Miss Julia Dinsmore, of Bellevue neighborhood, were in Burlington a short time last Monday.

Miss Permelia Corbin, who had been in a Cincinnati hospital for several weeks, returned to the home of her sister, Mrs. D. M. Snyder, last Monday.

Joe Weaver, retired merchant and extensive farmer, of Union precinct, was among the visitors to town, last Friday. His farm interests being so pressing he remained a very short time.

Mrs. John Dolherty, of Covington, has returned home after a week's visit with her brother Joseph Scott, of Florence. Miss Nellie Scott, of Florence, is visiting friends in Covington.

Hon. J. W. Kennedy, of Boone county, and who has twice represented Boone in the legislature, was in town Tuesday and saw the Indians kick Williamstown at the ball park.—Courier.

Mrs. Geo. F. Piper and daughters, of Birmingham, Alabama, arrived Monday evening to spend several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Virginia Huey, and her sisters Mesdames Geo. Blyth and N. E. Riddell.

Joseph Chambers, of Cincinnati, was a guest of W. J. Rice and wife, last Friday. Mr. Chambers will remember the scenes of his youthful triumphs so long as life is his, and his annual visit to the old homestead always affords him great pleasure.

Henry Hughes and wife, of Nebraska, arrived last Thursday for a visit to Mr. Hughes' brother George and other relatives here. Mr. Hughes looks like time has favored him, while prosperity has not been a stranger. His old friends are glad to have him with them.

ROSTER OF OLD COMPANY 22D KENTUCKY CAVALRY. MORGAN'S COMMISSION, DUKE'S BRIGADE.

First Captain, Sam Morgan, killed at Augusta.
Second Captain, T. B. Franks.
Lieutenant Winder Monroe, resigned.
1st Lieutenant, Tom H. Morgan, killed at Lebanon.
2d Lieutenant, Cale West, made Provisional Governor of Utah.
3d Lieutenant, Ledgwick.

PRIVATES:

Anderson, Allen, Adams, Akin.

Bigstaff, Birnard, Broadus, Bristow; Burbrage, Roll; Burbrage, Dick; Butter.

Corbett, Cohen, Coons, Claybern, Clare, Cleek; Corbin, Benj.; Corbin, Jackson; Collins, Campbell, Chism, Cravins.

Evans, Elam, Emerson.

Floy, Silas.

Garrison, Gibson; Garrett, D. J.; Garrett, D.; Garrett, Erastus; Grassty, Grant, W. W.

Huey, J. S.; Huey, J. T.; Huey, J. L.; Huey, Dan; Hughes, Houston, Hambrick, Hatchett, Hopkins; Helm F. P.

Irvin.

Kendrick.

Lavin, Lewellin, Lewis.

Major, Tom; Morgan, Key; McLarry, Mifford, Markland.

Norman, B. F.

Owen.

Powers, Price; Penny, Will; Penny, Smith; Piatt, Will; Piatt, Asael; Ryle, J.; Ryle, O. J.; Ryle, W. T.; Riley, Lafe; Rice, Solon; Ryle, Benj.

Simpson, W. E.; Steele; Smith, Douglas; Smith, Ed; Sullivan, Robert; Scott, James; Sprague, Jesse: Smith, Geo.

Tupman, Will; Tupman, Benj.; Turk, Thomasson.

Vaughn.

Weatherhead, Worley; Wilson, Jos; Williams, Joe; Williamson, Frank; Woodward.

The above list was furnished by W. W. Grant, one of the company.

Don't be a chronic borrower of your county paper, and at the same time a regular paying subscriber for a foreign paper that has no interest for you, your kith nor kin.

HATHAWAY.

June 13.—Farmers are busy. The weeds are growing rapidly.

Joe Weaver, of Union, was here one day last week.

R. Lee Huey spent a few days last week in Lincoln county.

C. B. Mason, with some assistance, caught 35 nice fish, last Thursday.

George Smith will attend the Confederate Reunion at Louisville, this week.

Raymond Smith and wife, of Big Bone, visited his parents on Gunpowder, Sunday.

W. S. White visited his daughter, Mrs. John Kelly, at Columbus, Indiana, last week.

Robert Adams, of Sherman, Grant county, was here last week looking to his real estate interests.

Claud Ryle and wife entertained your scribe and wife handsomely with lemonade, ice cream and cake, recently.

W. L. Aylor and family, of Aurora, were guests of his father and mother, J. H. Aylor and wife, near here, last Sunday.

LIMABURG.

Coy Waters is the owner of a handsome new buggy.

Several here have just finished planting their corn.

Mrs. Loretta Kendall, of Covington, is visiting her relatives here.

Miss Myrtle Brown from Virginia is visiting at the home of her uncle, Mr. Joe Brown, near here.

Anyone wishing to buy a good, fresh cow would do well to call upon L. A. Tanner, who has one for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Aylor entertained a number of their friends and relatives with a dinner, Sunday.

W. C. Rouse, who has been supplying this and other vicinities with nice strawberries, says the season is over.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kelly, from near Waterloo, were guests of Hubert Rouse and wife, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Nellie Taylor returned to her home in Alexandria, Wednesday, after several weeks' visit with Miss May Farrell.

Mrs. Pearl Byland, of Ludlow, was the guest of her brother, W. E. Anderson and her sister Mrs. Charles Moore, several days last week.

J. P. Utz had for his guests Thursday Mrs. Jemima Tanner and Frank Carpenter, of Gunpowder, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Peemon, Mrs. Delila Utz and Mrs. Z. Carpenter.

BUFFALO.

A nice rain fell here last Saturday. It was much needed.

Mrs. George Moore and children visited her mother in Union, Thursday.

James Sebree had a phone put in his home last week, on the farmers line.

Robert Reed, of Union, spent Saturday and Sunday with his sister at this place.

Ed Utz and wife spent Sunday very pleasantly with Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Elston.

Mrs. Susie Utz and Miss Jessie were guests of Rev. Lee Utz, of Florence, last Thursday.

Master Lee McNeely was the guest of his cousin Miss Emma Clements last Sunday.

Mrs. Eva Huey, of Cincinnati, is spending a few weeks with her children of this place.

Mrs. Lizzie Neal, of Bellevue, has been the guest of friends and relatives here for several days.

Mrs. Mary Aylor and son were visiting Mr. Ezra Aylor and wife of near Burlington, a few days ago.

Mrs. J. H. Slater, of Campbellsburg, has been visiting her old friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Mason, for several days.

Miss Eva Sebree entertained at dinner, last Saturday, Misses Lillian Bristow, Alma Blankenbeker and Clara Riley.

Mrs. M. F. Davrainville, of Newport, and Mrs. W. F. Ashburn, of Mt. Adams, returned home last Thursday, after attending the funeral of their uncle, Mr. John Bradford.

COMMISSARY.

June 10.—Little courtesies are the wayside flowers of life.

Our old friend, Henry Hunt, of Bromley, is entertaining a new baby boy.

Mrs. Harry Craven and granddaughter spent last Sunday with Mr. Ben Cason.

For Sale—Thinrind sow with nine nice pigs. Call on Ben Cason, of Middle Creek.

Mrs. Faunie Rindall entertained several of her friends from this neighborhood, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Clyde Berkshire spent Thursday with her sisters, Mrs. Fannie Randall and Miss Pearl Botts.

Wednesday at noon Cecil Snelling had sold 5,000 sweet potato plants—he has a large quantity of them yet.

John Ed Louden and wife, of North Hogan, Ind., was visiting in McVille last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Flave Louden, near Rabbit Hash, spent last Sunday night with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Leomer Louden.

Mrs. Ida Louden, of near Rabbit Hash, spent Saturday night and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. [illegible] back.

Rev. Maddox, the new minister of the Baptist church at Bellevue, spent the first of the week with Bro. T. J. Walton and wife.

Flave Louden, near Rabbit Hash, and Geo. Ranes, of New Kentucky, were guests, last Sunday, of Richard Louden, of Scrap Ville.

Our old friend and neighbor, John Scott, spent last Sunday with J. J. Lillard. Mr. Scott is very much crippled up yet from his recent hurt.

Robert Ferguson, of New York City, who has been staying at Miss Julia Dinsmore's the past month, started on his return home, last Monday.

Hade French, from near French, Indiana, was a guest of his uncle and aunt, Ben Cason and wife, of Middle creek, last Saturday night and Sunday.

Ben Hensley and wife, of Woolper; Mrs. Day, of Bullittsville; Ed Kelly and wife, near Lonesome Hollow, and Miss Julia Louden, of Scrap Ville, were guests of Elbert Kelly and wife, of Lonesome Hollow, last Sunday.

Mrs. Parsons, of Middle creek, was informed Tuesday by telephone by her niece, Mrs. Bee Clegg, of Union, that Mrs. Clegg's sister, Mrs. Una Rouse, of Spring Place, Ga., was coming to visit her relatives and would arrive in Erlanger Wednesday.

IF YOU INTEND TO GET A NEW BUGGY

Come See us Before Buying.

If you want a factory buggy, we can save you from $10 to $20 on them (the agent's profit). We handle many factory makes. Our long experience has prepared us in selecting a vehicle over those that have not made it a study. To prove what we say TRY US.

If you want a first-class hand-made BUGGY or CARRIAGE come see us, and we will sell you one that cannot be duplicated in the State for the money.

If you want your vehicle PAINTED OR REPAIRED you can get it done Here as Cheap as any one can do it.

All Work Shall be as Represented. BRADFORD BROS., Florence, Ky.

Through Thick And Thin.

GRAIN

The McCormick Binder

Has cut its way to enduring fame. No matter how long or short the straw, or in what condition the grain may the McCormick does splendid work. It is, therefore, the farmer's friend, and will remain true to him "through thick and thin," enabling him to increase his profits and materially augment his bank account during the lean as well as during the fat years. You are invited to examine our samples before buying.

Get our Price on Binder Twine Before You Purchasing.

Mersman Hardware Co.,

25 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Branch Stores---LUDLOW, KY. LATONIA, KY.

SPECIALS!

As a further introduction of the quality, style and tailoring of Clothing we are offering, the . . . following prices will prevail . . .

$10.00 For a handsome, carefully finished and up-to-date patterns Men's Suits.

$15.00 For Ready-to-wear Tailor Made Suit, like custom work.

$7.50 Men's Coats and Trouser Suit.

Young Men's Suits	$7.50
Boys' and Children's Suits	$3.00
Men's Trousers	$1.00
Children's Trousers	35c

Merchant Tailoring

Favorable prices to our customers, to introduce what can be made for the money.

Max Herbst & Co.

531 Madison Ave., COVINGTON, KY.

Lucian Rice, Mgr. Near Sixth Street.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,

Salvage AND Wrecking Contractors

All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.

BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,

BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.

Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.,

Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

Mr. T. D. Jackson was exhibiting some very fine, home-grown, Irish potatoes on the streets one day last week.

Not much fishing has been indulged in yet this season.

If you know enough to help you will have too many contracts to waste any breath in criticism.

People who protect themselves from the world's problems are the first to suggest its panaceas.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

I have started a new blacksmith and wagon shop in Constance, and am prepared to do all kinds of iron and wood work. Shoeing a specialty. All work done at very reasonable prices. Give me a call. GEORGE R. OHERNE

FOR SALE.

Boone County Roller Mills at Petersburg, Ky. Inquire of BEN BELDEN.

THE FINE YOUNG JACK,

Honest Pat will make the season of 1905 at my stable one mile west of Idlewild, Boone County, Ky., at $8 to insure a living colt, money due when fact is known or mare parted with. Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur. T. E. RANDALL.

H. VON LEHMEN,

—HAND-MADE—

Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,

ALSO SECOND HAND

PHAETONS, PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,

CHEAP.

No. 152 Pike Street,

COVINGTON, - KY.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of Reuben Hager, deceased, must come forward and settle the same, and those having claims against said estate must prove them according to law, and leave them with C. G. Riddell at Rabbit Hash, Ky.

JOHN LEATHERS, Admr.

Rogers Bros.

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade.

JOSEPH A. HUEY,

Pleasure Hill Stock Farm,

Union, Ky.,

Presents for public service, season 1905, a sire of Merit,

BRISTO 19732,

Terms of service $10.00 to insure a living foal.

BRISTO is a beautiful black, 16¼ hands, of splendid style and action. Sired by Baron Wilkes, 2:18, sire of Bumps, 2:08¼, Racnel (4) 2:08¼, Baron Bell, 2:09, Oakland Baron, 2:09¼, Rubens [illegible] Nice, 2:09, Nydia Wilkes, 2:09 and 116 others in 2:30 list. First dam by Squire Talmage, sire of Strader H., 2:22½, Neva, 2:23½, Lottie K., 2:26¾, etc. Second dam by Almont 33, sire of Fannie Witherspoon, 2:16½, Piedmont, 2:17½, Aldine, 2:19½. Third dam by Gold Dust 150, sire Lucille Gold Dust 2:16½, Fleety Gold dust, 2:20, Indicator, 2:23½.

JOSEPH HERRMAN,

—DEALER IN—

FANCY GROCERIES,

SMOKED MEATS,

Fruits & Vegetables

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Opp. Erlanger Deposit Bank.

Eggs and Butter exchanged in trade or cash. Boone county trade solicited.

PLEASE CALL AND GET MY PRICES.

Phone—South 1054 Y—Call 3.

B. L. RICE. M. J. CROUCH.

RICE & CROUCH,

REAL ESTATE

And Note Brokers.

Farms Bought and Sold.

Notes Negotiated. Money to Loan.

Office—UNION, KY.

G. G. Hughes,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

BURLINGTON, KY.

Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Prompt Attention given to Collections. Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON, E. T. CLAYTON.

Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,

ATTORNEYS-at-LAW

Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

D. E. Castleman,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

W. E. VEST,

Real Estate Agent.

Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK

(Incorporated 1886.)

CAPITAL,.....$80,000

Surplus and undivided profits $0,000

—)o(—

Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptremitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK

(INCORPORATED 1893.)

ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY

Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000

Surplus,.....$8,000

Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

INSURE AT HOME

The Farmers' Mutual Fire

INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF BOONE COUNTY,

Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.

Its RATES are LOWER Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.

HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE in keeping their property insured.

Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.

Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, - Walton, Ky,
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "

Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

C. L. GRIFFITH,

DEALER IN

REAL ESTATE

and Negotiable Notes,

WALTON, KY.

If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.

Dr. J. L. Adams,

DENTIST,

208 F. & T. Bank Building,

COVINGTON, - KY.

—Will be in office—

AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.
AT UNION 1st MONDAY in each month.

For the Best Flour, Try

OLD KENTUCKY

BLENDED PATENT.

GUARANTEED.

ooo

For Something Good, Try

VIRGINIA OAK

WINTER PATENT.

—WARRANTED.—

ooo

Clifford E. Nadaud,

515 Chamber of Commerce, CINCINNATI, O.

Room 10 Boone Block, COVINGTON, KY.

Dr. G. M. Terrill,

DENTIST,

Walnut Street.

LAWRENCEBURG, - INDIANA.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 21, 1905. NO. 36

County Correspondence.

BELLEVIEW.

June 19—Jimmie Allphin, of Burlington, was here, Friday.

Miss Estelle Huey, of Walton, was visiting relatives here, last week.

E. E. Kelly and family were visiting friends out on the hills, Sunday.

Miss Lizzie Rogers returned home, last Friday, from school at Midway.

Bro. W. C. Riley, of Bullittsville, attended Bro. Lewis Snyder's funeral.

Albert Conner, of Locust Grove, was mingling with friends here Saturday.

Rabbit Hash hit a good many last week, but he told the truth from start to finish.

Miss Alice Deck, of Woolper, was a guest of Gilly Weisicle and family, last Sunday.

Gilly Weisicle wants to know why he deserves a lick from the Francesville pencil shover.

R. B. Huey, of Walton, was the guest of his mother and sister at this place one night last week.

Ira Ryle, of Commissary, was the guest of Louvette and Miss Lizzie Rogers, one day last week.

Orin Phipps was down Saturday to purchase lard of Rogers Bros., for use at the County Infirmary.

T. Z. Roberts staked off a telephone line last Saturday as a switch from his house to A. Corbin & Sons.

Louvette Rogers is athome from Louisville spending his vacation with his parents, brothers and sisters.

A quantity of tobacco plants that were set during the local rains, the past two weeks, have perished.

G. T. Rue and wife left, last Saturday, to spend several days with their son, George and family, at Coal City.

Al Rogers has something that is fine in the way of a driving nag. It ain't no mule, so come up, Dr. Hopkins, and take a look.

The boys who attended the Confederate Reunion at Louisville, last week, returned home Saturday morning, well pleased with their trip.

E. L. Grant went to Louisville, last week, to have his foot operated on because of rheumatism. He is reported doing well since the operation and will be at home in a few days.

We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Gregg up, of Dawson Springs, Hopkins county, last Sunday. He was the husband of Susie Platt, who we all knew from childhood—knew her only to love her.

A HERO OF THE FAITH IN CHRIST.

At his home in Belleview, on the morning of Tuesday, June 13, 1905, at 6:30 a. m., the subject of this sketch fell asleep in Jesus at the ripe age of 78 yrs. 6 months and 8 days. In peace, sweet and blessed as is that of the babe when exhausted with its tossing, it nestles in sleep upon its mother's breast, so the spirit of this hero passed out of the earthly house, the body of clay, weary, worn and wasted, into the everlasting habitation—the glorified, spiritual body of the tender Father's giving, for "God giveth it a body as it hath pleased Him."

Lewis Lunsford Snyder was born in this county near Petersburg on the 5th day of December, 1825. He was united in marriage with Elizabeth McMurray, on the 13th day of April, 1848. To this union two sons and three daughters were given. A widow and two daughters survive him, Mrs. Susie Grant and Mrs. Alice Powell, to monrn his death. He united with the Petersburg Christian church in 1850; in 1880 he moved his membership to Belleview church, of which he was an elder and one of its charter members; he was one of the loyal spirits who sustained the church when it was young and weak, in this town. So long as his physical strength permitted, he filled his place in the house of God, and now he is promoted to the House not made with hands. He was a plain, simple, honest, faithful disciple of our Lord; he was loyal in every way to the church. His tall, stooped form and white hair and beard were always seen in his place Lord's day. We shall miss him from our services. He was the oldest man in our church, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him; he was as modest as he was honest and as loving as loyal; he has left the church militant to join the church triumphant. In the glad sunshine of infinite love this sainted man, father, brother and friend rests, Psalms of victory are his and a fadeless crown, and bye and bye into the blessedness of his estate on the Mount of God and amid the joyous hallelujahs of the redeemed of the Lord, the dear ones by whom he was so much beloved, and to whom he is lost awhile, may enter to go out no more forever.

A brief service was held at the house by Elder Edgar Riley. It was attended by a large crowd of church members, neighbors and friends. After services the remains were placed in their final resting place in the new cemetery, at 3 p. m., Wednesday, June 14th. The entire community extends their sympathy to the bereaved widow and children.

Dying of Famine

is in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers, of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying different medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me." Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at all drug stores, price 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

Ben Cason, of Middle creek, was in town Monday. He is one of the largest farmers in his neighborhood, and has laid by some of his corn, and has a good stand of tobacco on six acres. Some of it good size.

BUFFALO.

Mrs. Allie Utz was the guest of Mrs. Susie Utz, last Friday.

J. S. Mason and daughter were in the city, last Saturday week.

J. W. Aylor and wife were visiting Robt. Aylor and wife at Belleview, last Friday.

Joe Huey and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday with Lucian Love and wife.

Mrs Alice Neal, of Covington, is spending a month with friends in the country.

Miss Georgia Shinkle, of Landing, is spending a few days with her sister at this place.

Mrs. James Kinney entertained quite a number of her friends at dinner, last Wednesday.

Master Clide Clements is suffering with a very sore foot, the result of running a nail in it.

Mrs. James Sebree and Mrs. Homer Clore went to the city, one day last week, on a shopping tour.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Elstun went to the city, last Thursday, to attend the Commencement at Newport, where their nieces Misses Stella and Pearl Davrainville, graduated.

HATBAWAY.

Several days warm weather last week.

W. L. Stephens delivered his tobacco at Rising Sun, Thursday at 7½c per lb.

Mrs. Pearl Brady, of near Landing, spent last Thursday night with Clay White and family, of this place.

Rev. Layton Maddox, pastor of Big Bone church, is teaching a class in Latin at his home near the church.

G. L. Smith returned home last Friday morning from Louisville, where he attended the Confederate Reunion. He was delighted with the trip.

Mesdames Claud Ryle and children and Cynthia White and two daughters, and Miss Alma Ryle spent one day last week with Mrs. Florence Smith, of Gunpowder.

The farmers in this vicinity are quite a busy set of men at present. They have all of their tobacco set and it is starting off very nicely, while the corn is growing very rapidly, and it will not be many days until harvest will be here. Everything in this neck o' woods, in the crop line, is looking well and promises a fair crop.

Mrs. H. O. Adams and Miss Roxie Aylor, of Riddell's Run, went to Rising Sun not long since and were returning home, when the gentleman mate they were driving got scared at something on the roadside and upset the buggy, hurting Mrs. Adams and bruising Miss Aylor considerably, but fortunately, no bones were broken in the mix-up.

The writer was at Waterioo, one day last week, and called on P. E. Gully, the "hello" man at that place, and was informed that as he had just painted up his fine driving cart he was going to make a special drive out some day in the near future, rigged up in the following style: He will hitch his buggy hay to his red wheeled shay, put on his yellow coat and his stripped pants that he thought he was cheated out of, and his palmoseleabrimo sombrero, standing collar, red necktie, his shoes that will shine to a finish, when he draws up on the reins of his fast stepper and away he will go—no telling where.

GRANT.

New beans, cabbage and beets are on the bill of fare.

Not the usual acreage of tobacco set here this season.

Lots of men who never even tried to catch a fish are liars.

Henry Rains, of Indiana, visited his sister here last Sunday.

B. B. Allphin, of the hub was in town a short time, last Sunday.

Our town has a full-fledged and well equipped board of trustees, and there is talk of electing a mayor.

S. D. Rice, W. W. Grant, Dr. Williamson, Isaac Flick, R. A. Brady, and J. J. Walton attended the Confederate reunion at Louisville, last week.

Gideon Kite manager and Owen Preaser brought the Waterloo team to town Saturday to mix up the earth with the locals, but instead were defeated 15 to 5. The local team defeated East Bend 31 to 7 on the latter's grounds last Sunday.

Two games of base ball at the Belleview park next Saturday afternoon—the game with the Moors Hill team will be followed by a game with the Kentucky University team of Lexington. Come and ... champion team of Boone county do up the visitors.

Several local fox hunters went across the river last Saturday night for a fox hunt. While the dogs were hunting for a trail the men laid down in a barn and went to sleep. When they awoke Sunday morning part of the dogs had swum the river and some home, and the others had a coon treed in the vicinity of the Barkworks.

WALTON.

Roy Stamler spent Sunday at home.

Mrs. Ramsey of Indian Ty., was visiting relatives here, last week.

Mrs. Nan Vest, of Covington, has been visiting friends and relatives here.

Miss Mary Harris, of Florida, is the pleasant guest of Miss Carrie Watson.

Miss Stella Senior left, Monday, for a ten days' visit with friends in Louisville.

Miss Mary Hedges, of Union, was the guest, the past week, of the Misses Senior, and attended the S. S. Convention.

Miss Lutie Baker, of this place, and Mr. William Young, of Nicholson, were quietly married in Covington, last Wednesday, by Rev. D. T. Buck.

Notwithstanding the bad weather, the Sunday School Convention was a great success. A splendid program had been arranged and was carried out. The musical program led by Rev. J. I. Wills was splendid. Plenty of dinner was prepared by the ladies.

COMMISSARY.

June 17—A smile is appropriate for both summer and winter.

Mrs. Sutton living below McVille is quite sick.

Harry Acra and wife, of Middle creek, visited on Ashby, last Sunday.

T. Z. Roberts, of Middle creek, is putting a metal roof on James Goodridge's house.

Mrs. Georgia Louden accompanied Rose Louden to Aurora, last Saturday, to have some teeth extracted.

Misses Grace Slayback and Stella Garland, of Erlanger, have been visiting Mrs. Harriet Slayback since Tuesday.

Richard Eggleston, of Paducah, an old resident of this county, is visiting relatives at Rising Sun, Ind., and in this county.

We had the pleasure, last Wednesday evening in Belleview, of meeting and shaking hands with our old friend, James Setters, of Tennessee.

Willie Snelling and sisters, Ethel and Artie, of Rock spring, visited their brother, N. B. Snelling and wife near Lawrenceburg, Ind., last Saturday.

Gilly Weisickle, of near Sullivan Heights, sold the shoats advertised in last issue of the RECORDER to T. J. Walton for $21, lumping sale. It pays to advertise in these columns.

Pete Stewart, at one time a citizen of McVille, is now of Louisiana, is here on a visit. Mr. Stewart brought back with him one of Lonisiana's fair daughters as a wife.

We had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of Doc Mannin, of Hebron, last Thursday. We found him to be an accommodating, talkative and jovial old fellow. Hope to meet you again, Doc.

We were laughed at because our write up was last in the RECORDER last week. It makes no difference to us where we are put. If the editor thinks it best to leave the best until the last it does not matter to us.

Cecil Snelling has out quite a crop of sweet potatoes, cabbage and beans. He says he intends to show the young ladies who have been snubbing him because he has but one leg, that he can make a living for two.

Omer McGuire, near here, Everett West, of Scrapville, Leslie Acra, of Middle creek and Charley Rue, near Belleview, took a ride on their wheels and went over to Arch Acra's, and spent part of the day, last Sunday.

Mrs. O. N. Scott and Mrs. Hugh Arnold, of Petersburg; Mrs. Lourenia Scott, of this place; Mrs. Ernest Grant, of Grant's Delight; Mrs. Bernard Rogers and Miss Flo Arnold, near Belleyue, were guests at W. T. Ryle's, last Friday week.

We wish some one who has the nerve would inform Old Reliable who is the prettiest girl in Burlington. He asked the editor, and for an answer was told that the query editor had resigned, which means that he would resign rather than answer the question.

A nice lot of lambs purchased of Will Arnold, James Rogers, Boone Rogers and Ernest Grantpy live stock dealers. F. A. Utz and J. J. Walton, passed threngh here last Saturday. The price was in accord with size and quality. The lot averaged $4 per head.

John Presser and son, Joe, McVile carpenters, finished the repairs of T. J. Walton's barn and painting his house, last Wednesday. Their next job is the painting of R. A. Brady's house, and then they go to either Joe Walton's or Zack Kelly's near Rabbit Hash.

Miss Stella Ryle lives within the corporate limits of Commissary, and Here and There making her a resident of Dogtown is a fling at Commissary. We admit we have a few dogs within the corporate limits, but they are good and well behaved, unless some outside goes to howling around.

Our old bachelor friend, Billy Slayback, is quite a mathematician. He says, "when a couple marries it is addition; when a little one arrives, it's multiplication; when dissension loons up to cloud the horizon of their happiness, it's division, and when the final parting comes it's subtraction."

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Parsons, of Middle creek, visited O. C. Utz and wife, of near Union, last Saturday and Sunday. They met their four granddaughters and five great-grandchildren, besides several old acquaintances, and a pleasant time was had by all. This is the second time they have met their granddaughters in 15 years.

UNION.

Miss Louise Bristow is at home from school.

Courtney Williams has a new rubber tire buggy.

Coleman Lassing has returned home from Danville College.

Miss Lottie Williams spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents.

Ben Northcutt and family spent last Sunday with W. J. Conner.

Rev. Simons preached at the Presbyterian church, Sunday morning.

Miss Mary Hedges spent several days last week with Miss Stella Senior, of Walton.

B. L. Houston and wife, of Carthage, Ohio, spent Saturday, and Sunday with Mrs. M. C. Norman.

Mrs. Roland Rouse and children, and Miss Lizzie Rouse, of Spring Place, Ga., are guests of friends here.

Mesdames Myrtle Clements, Alice Neal and R. L. Howlett and daughter, Ethel, were guests of Mrs. Dora Bannister, Wednesday.

Goldon Grange has referred Children's Day Celebration from June 24th to an indefinite time on account of the busy rush of harvest time.

Mrs. Sam Hicks entertained a number of the little folks, last Tuesday, in honor of her little daughter, Mary Elizabeth's 8th birthday. Delightful refreshments were served.

The following were pleasantly entertained at dinner, Sunday, by Miss Stella Tanner, near Richwood: Misses Eva Smith, Fanny Long, Alva and Madge Williams, Opha and Marrietta Riley; Messrs. George Scott, Harry Riley, Jesse Delhaunty, Courtney Williams, J. O. Williams and Frank Smith.

LIMABURG.

Thermometer up to 90 in the shade here Saturday.

Spencer Aylor and family and Chas. Aylor and wife spent Sunday with T. B. Aylor.

The farmers in this vicinity will begin cutting wheat the latter part of this week.

Mrs. Anna Mitchell from down on Gunpowder is taking music lessons from Miss Pearl Aylor.

Mr. Hammit Carter, recently from Virginia is visiting old acquaintances in the neighborhood.

Mrs. A. M. Yesley has gone to Columbus, Ohio, to place herself under the treatment of Dr. Cole, of place.

Mrs. W. C. Delph entertained her nieces, Mrs. Louetta Kendall and Miss May Farrell at her attractive home Wednesday. Mrs. Kendall returned to her home in Covington, Saturday.

Owen E. Aylor and family and Misses Ettie and Sadie Beemon dined with Mr. Joe Brown and family Sunday, and afterward attended the Children's Day exercises at Pt. Pleasant church.

FLORENCE.

Mr. and Mrs. McGregor, of Norwood, are visiting at Mrs. Joe Laile's.

Miss Minnie Rouse of Owenton, was visiting Mrs. T. L. Utz, last week.

Miss Annie Judge, of Union, was visiting Mrs. J. R. Whitson last Sunday.

Miss Nancy Latham is spending this week with Mrs. Geo. Kyle in Covington.

Miss Therese O'Conner, of Indianapolis, was the guest of Mrs. Mike Cahill last week.

Joe Scott and sister Emma were pleasantly entertained by the Misses Miller last Wednesday.

Mrs. John Dorothy, of Cumminsville, spent last Wednesday with Mrs. Lawrence Kinney on Price Pike.

Mrs. James V. Hall, of Evanston, Ill., attended the funeral of her niece, last Friday and returned to her home Sunday.

Mary Elizabeth Fisk, youngest daughter of Harry Fisk and wife, died last Wednesday after a severe illness of two weeks. Appendicitis and cerebro meningitis caused her death. The family has the sympathy of the entire community in their loss.

W. H. Rice has been appointed Police Judge of Florence. Judge Brown having resigned. Mr. Rice received his appointment from Gov. Beckham, last week. A. G. Fisk and Dr. Tanner were appointed trustees of the town to fill vacancies caused by the removal of Isaac T. Castleman and Arnold Bauers from the town.

BULLITTSVILLE.

Several from here attended the Confederate reunion at Louisville, last week.

Ben Passons, of Flickertown, has a good driving horse for sale at a reasonable price.

Dogs made a raid on John Cropper's sheep last Thursday night and crippled one sheep so it will die.

Robt. McIntosh was excused from working the road, by Judge Cason, on account of heart trouble.

The Garrison Allsorts and the Woolper Wonders will cross bats at the Garrison park Saturday afternoon July 1st.

C. A. Gaines bought a seven year old all purpose mare from Lystra Smith, of Flickertown neighborhood, one day last week.

W. L. Aylor, whose wagon was wrecked by a train at Anderson Ferry last Sunday week, is getting along nicely and will be able to be at his post again in a few days.

The Allsorts went to Lawrenceburg Sunday and defeated a combination of the Newtown Grays, the Lawrenceburg Twilights and the Lawrenceburg Regulars by a score of 3 to 1.

While at the ball game on Woolper last Saturday afternoon, we had a pleasant chat with Hon. Chas. Wilson, one of the Recorder's most finent quill pushers. Charlie is one of the few people in the world who always looks on the bright side of life.

The Garrison Allsorts went to Woolper Saturday afternoon and donated a new ball to that club. Score 10 to 5 in favor of the Allsorts when McMurry let down in the last half of the ninth inning, letting the Woolper boys make 6 runs making the score 11 to 10 in their favor.

Jacob Utzinger, of the Lonesome Heights of Garrison creek, and Miss Laura Beall, daughter of John Beall, of Francesville, were united in holy ... Rock at the residence of Rev. M. D. Early at 2 p. m. last Wednesday. May happiness and prosperity be theirs through life, is the wish of the writer.

RICHWOOD.

O. O. Dixon has been quite sick.

Richwood defeated Banklick, Sunday, 27 to 6.

Remember the A. C. Collins sale next Saturday at 3 p. m.

Walter Grubbs hauled 30 bushels of cherries last week.

Mt. Zion M. E. Church ladies will give a festival at the home of Frank Robinson, June 24th.

James Tanner, of Florence, J. C. and Gaines Robinson, Cary and J. W. Carpenter and families were guests of J. T. Powers, Sunday.

Huge Task.

It was a huge task, to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Ia., but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache, and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c.

HAMILTON.

Harvest will begin in this neighborhood this week.

Thomas Miller, of Landing, went down on the excursion, Sunday.

Charlie Feldhaus is working in the Big Bone Grange Hall neighborhood.

Miss Myrtle Hodges, of Sparta, spent several days, last week, with her sister, Mrs. Cynthia White.

Mrs. Kate Bondurant and daughter, Lilla, of Hathaway, spent the day, last Sunday, with T. B. Wilson and family of this place.

Mrs. Anna Adams has returned to her home in Covington after a visit of several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Huff.

PETERSBURG.

June 19.—The thermometer registered 98 here, Sunday.

Mrs. Shutts and Miss Emma Pease are on the sick list.

Raymond Weindel, of Frankfort, was calling on his parents, Sunday.

Miss Clara Schroeder, of Patriot, Indiana, was visiting Miss Maud Belden, last week.

Miss Anna Kauffenberger, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., was the guest of her aunt, Amelia Vesenmier, Sunday.

Alex, son of Judge Geo. E. Downey, of Aurora, and a Mr. Pitcher of the same place were calling on Miss Sadie Parker, Sunday.

The National Stock Co., goes to Hebron, Saturday night. They give good shows and are splendid people and are delighted with their new home.

As news is so very scarce we are tempted to follow in the foot-steps of Commissary and swipe some smart sayings from Collins and Ram's Horn.

Miss Sallie McWethy left, Thursday, for Mt. Sterling, where she represents the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church at its annual session.

Goodrice Park has gotten to be quite a poplar place for young people to assemble these warm evenings and by the soft light of the moon spend pleasant moments together.

The handsome, affable and talented young men, Rev. Percy Tumy and Dr. Charles Elfers, of Rising Sun, were the guests of Misses Alice Berkshire and Ione Buchanan, Saturday.

When French's show boat passed here Friday morning, one of the big mastiff dogs jumped over board and swam after it. He is a monster and the boys have exhibitions every day on the streets with him.

Frank Morgan, a wealthy capitalist of Waynesburg, Pa., has bought Ben Belden's mill property as well as his residence, and will make this his home. We are sorry to lose Mr. Belden and his interesting family from our midst. They will be missed by both young and old and it will be hard to fill their places. Miss Maud was a favorite among the people and had a kind word for everyone.

VERONA.

E. C. Showers is having one of his large barns recovered.

Wheat fields are taking on a golden color, indicating that harvest is near at hand.

Mrs. Turner, who purchased the J. H. Callahan property some time since, has moved to her home.

Miss Bessie Powers and Miss Ethel Myers are pleasant guests of Miss Grace Conrad, of Dry Ridge.

Miss Maggie and Susie Johnson of Walton, were guests of their grand mother, Mrs. J. M. Powers the past week.

Garden truck never looked finer than it does at present. Corn is growing nicely. Tobacco looks very well for the time it has been set.

Edgar McClure was seen to be rising an hour earlier a few days since, and explained by saying he had taken another 10 pound boy to raise.

O. K. Whitson is having a large barn erected for the purpose of housing the big crop of tobacco he is having grown by Mershon & Hudson.

Everett Smoots met with quite a serious accident last Sunday evening. While driving in his buggy near the depot his horse scared at something. Mr. Smoots endeavored to stop the horse, and jumped out when he was kicked in the face and run over. The buggy was badly smashed. Mr. Smoots was picked up unconscious, and taken to Dr. McCormack's office, where his wounds were dressed. He was removed to his home, and is getting along very nicely.

FLICKERTOWN.

Mrs. Stephen Gaines is reported some better.

... Stephens made our town a ... ing visit, last Thursday.

George Hensley and family, visited Mrs. Lonaker, Sunday.

Ben Hensley and wife were shopping in Aurora, Saturday.

Miss Bertha Smith visited her aunt, Mrs. Chas. Finn, Sunday.

Henry Jarrell spent Saturday night and Sunday at Corcoran.

James Gaines made a business trip to Rabbit Hash, one day last week.

E. Barett, of Lawrenceburg, was here Monday looking after his farm.

Wm. Smith, of Addyston, visited Charles Hensley and family several days last week.

Wm. Vest was here Saturday surveying a line between G. C. Voshell and Sam Hensley.

Miss Lulie Akins dined Miss Eva Akins and Charles Sullivan and Elbert Sullivan, Sunday.

Ed Hensley and wife, of Locust Grove, were Sunday guests of Charles Hensley and wife.

Mrs. Jessie Wilson and son James were guests at James White's, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Martha Collins, Mrs. Jno. Klopp and Miss Lou Akin were guests of Ben Akin and wife, last Thursday.

Deputy Sheriff B. B. Hume, of Walton, was in Burlington, Monday, and purchased J. L. Clore's wagonette for use in his passenger traffic at Walton.

GUNPOWDER.

June 19.—Henry Clore and wife were guests at Harvey Tanner's, Sunday.

Some of our local lamb buyers were busy, last week, shipping lambs.

Elbert Senior bought a handsome Jersey cow of W. R. Tanner, last week.

Hirbs and Edo Rouse moved to Enoch Rouse's farm a few days since.

Miss Pearl Phillipps, of Lindlow, is visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

Wheat harvest will be on in a few days and an unusual good crop will be harvested.

Children's day exercises will be held at Ebenezer the first Sunday in July at 10 o'clock a. m.

We are experiencing some very warm weather. The thermometer has registered as high as 94.

H. Lowtz, who is up-to-date in the telephone business, was doing some work on the Farmers' line, last week.

Several from this neighborhood attended the Sunday School Convention at Walton, last Friday. They report an interesting meeting and speak in the highest terms of the good people of Walton for the hospitalities shown.

IDLEWILD.

June 19.—It rained Monday.

Farmers are ready for harvest.

Mr. J. T. G. has lost his artificial teeth for keeps.

Miss Myrtle Conner is with her parents near here.

Charlie Graves is helping Thomas Whitaker with his harvest.

Miss Ida Berkshire attended the reunion at Lonisville, last week.

W. B. Graves, of Hebron, is decorating the residence of Clinton Gaines, sr.

Miss Mattie Kreylich visited Miss Grace Bullock at Hebron, last Saturday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Graves and Miss Annie Rolman have returned to James T. Grant's from Louisville.

The corner stone must be built on the love and fear of God for societies to stand the tidal waves of sin.

The Martha Gaines Mission Society will meet on the afternoon of the 24th inst. at Mrs. Thomas Grant's.

The General Association of Kentucky Baptists will be held this week at Russellville, Logan county.

Miss Mabel Cropper, of Louisville, is the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cropper near here.

It is not the vast amount of labor that counts in this life for us, but it is the way in which we perform it.

We congratulate Belleview and Gunpowder Baptist churches on having secured Rev. E. H. Maddox as their pastor.

Messrs. E. K. and C. E. Stephens and families, of Bullittsville, were after church guests of your reporter, last Sunday.

Dr. A. E. Threlkeld and wife, of Wheatly, Owen county, are visiting Mrs. Threlkeld's parents and other relatives here.

Miss Lizzie Stephens will go to Slater, Missouri, from which place she and her father will visit Mrs. John Gaines at Denver, Colorado, returning to their old home in September.

Rev. Forbes, of Arkansas, is visiting his old Confederate comrade, Rev. M. D. Early near here. He preached an interesting sermon to a large congregation at Bullittsburg, last Sunday.

We are the happy recipients of the picture of the home of Rev. Sproles and wife in California. They also sent inside and outside views of their church; also photographs of themselves.

PLEASANT VALLEY.

Uncle John Vaughn, who has been quite sick, is improving.

Elbert Vaughn and wife, of Dayton, were guests of his father, Sunday.

If you want to see James Beemon grin, just say to him, "hello, tooley."

Cliff and Pat Norman called on their best girls at Burlington, last Sunday.

Mrs. Mamie Rouse, of Florence, was a guest at John Crisler's, Wednesday.

Mrs. Will Kirkpatrick was the guest of Mrs. J. M. Barlow, one day last week.

Katie Wingate entertained quite a number of young people, Sunday, with ice cream.

H. L. Tanner and daughter, Miss Katie, were Sunday guests of A. C. Vaughn and wife, in Cincinnati.

Lonelle Wingate and wife entertained at dinner, last Sunday, Mrs. Hester Ryle and Mrs. J. H. Slater, of Campbellsburg.

Mrs. Early Ronse and daughter, Miss Hattie, entertained Mrs. Maggie Vaughn, of Dayton, Misses Nora and Artie Borders, a few days since.

RABBIT HASH.

... Iges has tobacco big enough to top.

Miss Katie Craig has a fine lot of raspberries this season.

Elbert Stephens Ryle, of Petersburg, is visiting relatives here.

R. A. Brady and wife visited H. D. Brady's family, Sunday.

Crops are looking well. Wheat almost ripe and is a good crop.

Miss Johns, of Covington, visited her sister, Mrs. Hopkins, last week.

Y. F. Hopkins and Jerome Wilson attended the Latonia races last week.

Flave Londen's baby cut its foot with a hoe, almost severing an artery.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Kelly have gone to Covington to visit the latter's mother, Mrs. Ellis, who is sick.

The Modern Woodmen gave an ice cream supper at the hall, Saturday night. It was well attended.

Mrs. Emma Stephens and daughters, of Fusey Ridge, dined with Mrs. Ida Wilson, of Kidlet Hill, last Thursday.

O. F. Craig shot and killed a hawk recently which measured 4 feet, three inches from tip to tip. How is that for a man of 73 years?

Z. T. Kelly and J. H. Walton went to Anrora, last week and purchased 14,000 feet of lumber which they rafted down the Ohio. Mr. Kelly will build a house on the place where Joe Stephens lives, and Mr. Walton, a tobacco barn.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, . . . KENTUCKY.

Nearly one-half of the soldiers in the Russian army are unable to read and write. In the German army the percentage is only 0.07.

Policeman Freeman, at Washington, D. C., is a protege of Senator Kittredge. He is 22 years old, stands six feet seven inches in his stocking feet, and weighs 300 pounds.

The czar holds some $6,000,000 worth of stock in the Pennsylvania railroad, the New Jersey Central, the New York Central and the Canadian Northern Pacific, which yields him handsome returns.

A large lump of butter has been found hurled in an Irish bog. No one knows how old it is. It is thought that it is at least one hundred years old, possibly ten centuries. The butter is said to be in excellent condition.

The duke of Sutherland is one of the greatest land owners in the world. He owns about 1,250,000 acres in Scotland, and many thousand acres in England. His landed property is exceeded only by that of the czar and of the Esterhazy family. Despite his vast wealth, the duke is unassuming and democratic.

Texas or Illinois has more miles of railway than Italy, which ranks next to Germany, Russia, France, Austria-Hungary and Great Britain among European countries. New York, which stands below the two states named, has more miles of railway than Spain, and more than Belgium, the Netherlands and Switzerland.

China has recently issued an edict prohibiting, except in the treaty ports, the sale of metal rimmed spectacles. Tan shoes are also tabooed, and anyone dealing in them renders himself liable to decapitation. This latter drastic regulation is due to the fact that yellow is the imperial color to be worn by none save members of the royal family.

In its consular reports the department of commerce and labor calls attention to the fact that about two-thirds of all Persia's supply of cotton textiles are imported from England. There is no reason why American cotton goods should not find an excellent market there. As in other Eastern countries, the people of Persia generally wear garments made of cotton.

Our watchful and enterprising consular representative at Beirut, Syria, Mr. Ravndal, sends a report from that point to the state department concerning trade opportunities in the island of Cyprus. It appears from this that in Cyprus, as in Syria, the age of machinery is just dawning. Both provinces present virgin territory for American manufacturers and exporters of agricultural machinery.

Of the 550,000 miles of main-track railway in the world, very nearly two-fifths, or 214,000 miles, are in the United States at this moment. All of Europe has only 180,000 miles. The German empire, which ranks next to the United States, has 33,000 miles. England, the earliest of all the countries in the railway field, from which we got our first locomotives, cars and rails, has 22,000 miles, England in this case meaning the United Kingdom.

According to dispatches from India there have been approximately 13,000 deaths as the result of the present earthquakes in the Kangara and Palampur districts, which would put the catastrophe high up among the lists of the greatest of modern times. Places of honor in this catalogue of destruction are held by the great earthquake at Lisbon, November 1, 1775, which left the city a heap of ruins and destroyed 60,000 lives.

Prof. Roentgen, whose fame as the discoverer of the X-ray is world-wide, also possesses the distinction of being perhaps the most modest great man in the world. Recently an international congress was held in Berlin to celebrate the tenth anniversary of his valuable discovery, and many eminent men attended it. Prof. Roentgen had promised to be present, but at the last moment he cabled that he could not face the crowd gathered to glorify his work, and so he telegraphed his regrets.

The electric power generated by the Yuba river is used for the greatest variety of purposes, among which are the operation of mining machinery and gold dredges, the lighting of 20 cities and towns, the working of street railways, pumping for irrigation and for reclamation, power for railroad shops, flouring mills, woolen mills, smelting and refining, state institutions, navy yard, and all kinds of manufacturing establishments. Even the daily papers of Oakland are printed on presses run by the Yuba river.

The presidents of several of our large colleges, who were recently asked to tell what they considered the greatest moral danger confronting a college student in a large city, unwittingly furnished a strong argument in favor of the small college in a rural community when they practically united in the statement that the chief danger, under the conditions stated, was the "frittering away of the student's time in trivial, self-indulgent occupations and animal pleasures, and the temptation to explore phases of life to which he had been a stranger."

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE BUSY READER.

All Important Happenings That Have Recently Transpired Throughout the World.

EVENTS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

Crimes and Casualties, the Movements of Government Officials and Other Interesting Events Culled, Condensed and Noted.

A movement to have the peace negotiations between Russia and Japan take place in Chicago, should a change from Washington be desired, has been inaugurated.

Gov. John A. Johnson sent a message to the president inviting the Russian-Japanese plenipotentiaries to meet in St. Paul, Minn., in the event of some other place being selected than Washington.

The Japanese correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Moji, Japan, says: "The rainy season has started in Manchuria, and the mud in the roads is knee deep, but this will not interfere with military operations."

The St. Petersburg Gazette publishes a sensational interview with the secretary of the Chinese legation to the effect that Russia must conclude immediate peace, as Gen. Linevitch's army is entirely surrounded.

A dispatch from the headquarters of the Russian army at Godzyadan describes fighting in the vicinity of Liao Yangwopeng from 2 till 8 o'clock on the morning of June 16. The Russian artillery at first forced the Japanese to retreat along the whole line. In the meantime another force of Japanese turned the Russians' right flank, compelling the Russian detachment to retire from Liao Yangwopeng. At this moment a strong Japanese infantry column was observed approaching.

It was announced at the navy department that the contract for the annual supply of tobacco for the navy, aggregating 150,000 pounds, would be awarded to Butler & Bosher, of Richmond, Va., whose bid was 34½ cents per pound.

Amid the cry of "thieves" and "crooks" and under the protection of a squad of police, the committee on street railways of Philadelphia city council referred to the city solicitor for his opinion as to their legality four bills repealing ordinances granting street car companies the right to use 110 miles of street to lay tracks without the city receiving any compensation for the franchises.

Theodore P. Delyannis, the popular premier of Greece, was stabbed and mortally wounded by a professional gambler named Gheraka'is, at the main entrance of the chamber of deputies, Athens.

The joint exercises of the army and navy appear to demonstrate that it would be almost impossible for a small fleet to run the batteries at Fort Monroe, Va., and get into Hampton Roads. The mortars and searchlights have done most satisfactory work.

Commissioner of Pensions Warner received a contribution of $1,924 to the conscience fund of the treasury. It came from a pensioner and represented the sum total of the pension money drawn by him since the civil war.

Auctioneers of all the principal states gathered in Chicago in response to a call issued several months ago for the purpose of organizing an international association.

The government of Panama, in accordance with the desires of the canal commission and the local bankers, has decided to coin 1,000,000 silver pesos. This step is calculated to relieve the demand for silver.

Great Britain, as one of the powers signatory to the Madrid convention of 1880, in answer to the request of the sultan of Morocco to join an international conference for the consideration of the Moroccan question, has announced that its preference is not to take any part in it.

The state department has been officially advised of the acceptance by Italy and Austria of the invitation to participate in a conference for the settlement of affairs in Morocco.

Much uneasiness prevails in official quarters in Paris concerning the Franco-German situation growing out of the Moroccan question.

The strained relations between Germany and France over Morocco continue to give rise to serious apprehensions, but while openly admitted that there are real difficulties involved, the officials protest against this being made the basis of exaggerated reports.

Presbyterians will petition the state legislature to have the town of Talmage, N. C., named for the late Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, changed. They say it is not worthy of the name it bears.

President Roosevelt expects to pass the greater part of October 23 at Tuskegee, Ala., and arrangements already are making for a demonstration by the students of the Tuskegee institute in his honor.

Two hundred brickmakers employed by the Chicago Brick Co. went on strike because lumber was delivered at the plant by non-union drivers employed by the Lumbermen's association.

Deputy United States Marshal D. G. Williams, of Danville, Ill., has unearthed $1,308 in counterfeit money on a farm near Ridgefarm.

Louisville, decorated to an extent hitherto unknown and smiled on with typical summer weather, extended the hand of hospitality to a never-ending stream of arriving veterans, who came to attend the 15th annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans.

For the second time in five years the United Confederate Veterans and auxiliary organizations gathered in Louisville, Ky., for their annual reunion. Chaplain Gen. Jones, in his invocation, prayed that the blessing of Almighty God may rest upon the president of these United States and "that he may be enabled to be the president of the whole country and of every section."

The United Confederate Veterans re-elected their old officers as follows: Commander-in-chief, Lieut. Gen. Stephen D. Lee, Mississippi; commander trans-Mississippi department, Lieut. Gen. W. L. Cabell, Texas; commander army of Tennessee department, Lieut. Gen. Clement A. Evans, Georgia; commander army of Northern Virginia department, C. Irvine Walker, South Carolina.

Beneath the shot riddled battleflags that floated over many a sodden field and to the thrilling strains of "Dixie" that oft had cheered them on to victory or defeat, the veterans who wore the gray marched in review before thousands of people gathered in Kentucky's chief city, Louisville, to do them honor.

Orders were received at the New York navy yard from the navy department at Washington to remove the guns in the fighting tops of the battleship Alabama. Orders have been issued also that the guns are not to be replaced in the fighting tops of the battleship Indiana, which is being repaired. It is reported that the guns are to be replaced by range finders, and that similar orders were to be issued regarding other battleships.

Plans have been ordered for a million dollar passenger steamer with a speed of 24 miles an hour to run between Detroit and Cleveland.

The increase in assessments by the Royal Arcanum has caused a storm in the large membership of the order throughout Virginia. Members everywhere are threatening to revolt.

A granite shaft erected in memory of those who lost their lives in the disaster to the excursion steamer General Slocum in East river was unveiled in the Lutheran cemetery in Middle Village, L. I.

Secretary of State John Hay arrived from Europe on the steamer Baltic, much improved in health, but plainly showing that he was far from being a well man.

Princess Margaret, of Connaught, niece of King Edward, and granddaughter of Queen Victoria, was married to Prince Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden, son of the Swedish crown prince, at Windsor.

Commissioner of Pensions Warner decided that after July 1 all orders for medical examination of pension claimants shall emanate from the medical branch of the bureau under direction of the medical referee.

The treasury department issued a warrant for $583 in favor of President Roosevelt, which represents the two months' extra pay allowed to officers in the Spanish war under an act passed by congress in 1899.

The greatest scandal Chicago has ever seen, according to State's Attorney Healy, is to follow the disclosures made before the grand jury by John C. Driscoll when the former secretary of the Associated Building Trades and Coal Team Owners' association revealed the entire history of the dealings between employers and union labor leaders, particularly that branch of union labor represented by the Chicago Teamsters' union.

A new dry dock, over 700 feet long, and of proportions sufficient to accommodate the most powerful warship afloat, is to be built at the Newport News shipyards. The work will cost $1,000,000.

It is probable that no successor to Grand Duke Alexis, who resigned his position as high admiral of the navy will be appointed, and that the affairs of his department will be entrusted to a responsible ministry.

Mrs. Paul Kass killed her four small children and then committed suicide at her home near Kieler, Wis. Ill health.

Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller is to retire from the United States supreme bench and to be appointed by the president as a member of the international board of arbitration. Secretary of War Taft is to be appointed chief justice.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending June 15 number 177, against 194 last week, 181 in the like week in 1904, 165 in 1903 and 177 in 1902.

Mrs. Sarah Burrier Rhodes, who was born in Carroll county, Ohio, on July 25, 1800, died at Marshall, Okla. Michael Rhodes, whom she married in Michigan, died 22 years ago at Fort Wayne, Ind. She was the mother of 13 children.

Gladstone Dowie and Judge Barnes have practically completed the deal for the purchase of the Gonzales ranch in the Stat of Tamaulipas. This tract comprises 1,000,000 acres.

Through the explosion of a cask of oil at the plant of the National Tube Co. at McKeesport, Pa., four men were burned so seriously that they will die.

The treasury department began the issue of a new $20 gold certificate of an entirely original design to take the place of the old certificates.

Mt. Vesuvius has entered upon a new phase of activity which has resulted in widening the recently made opening next to the crater.

A reception was given to Vice President Fairbanks and Mrs. Fairbanks at the home of his brother, W. D. Fairbanks, at Mansfield, Ill.

Assistant Secretary Melville W. Miller, of the department of the interior, presented his resignation to the president and it was accepted. In succession the president appointed Jesse Wilson, of Indiana.

The General Paper Co., sued by the government to determine whether it is a combine in restraint of trade, has lost its contention before the United Stats circuit court, Milwaukee, that it should not be compelled to produce its books to supply evidence in response to the prosecutor's search for evidence.

With the opening of the Truckee-Carson canal below Reno, Neb., the first irrigation system constructed by the government under the reclamation act, a new area was opened for Nevada and the entire west. The main canal runs from Derby, 15 miles east of Reno, on the Truckee river, to a point 10 miles above Leetville, on the Carson river a distance of 31 miles.

Johann Hoch, arch bigamist and convicted of wife murder, is in a cheerful frame of mind. A representative of a New York publishing house called to see the uxoricide and told him that if he would agree to write a complete and readable history of his life he would pay him $[illegible].

Mrs. William Jennings Bryan and Miss Bryan sailed for Europe on the steamer Vaderland.

Eighty tons of gold—$45,000,000—together with silver and currency amounting to $10,000,000, or $55,000,000 in all, were hauled through the streets from the old subtreasury in the Rand-McNally building to the New federal building, Chicago.

The Paris Journal prints the official announcement of Premier Rouvier's nomination as minister of foreign affairs, and that of M. Merlou as minister of finance.

J. Graham Phelps Stokes, the millionaire philanthropist, and Rose Harriet Pastor, former cigar maker and ghetto girl, will be married in New York on July 18. The ceremony is to be marked by simplicity. Miss Pastor's wedding dress cost less than $40. It is all ready.

Samuel Davis, America instructor of the Panama police, died in Panama. His death is deplored, as the police had greatly improved under his instruction. Davis formerly was a detective sergeant of the New York city police.

Gen. Arthur L. Wagner, U. S. A., of Washington, who went to Asheville, N. C., about six weeks ago in search of health, died suddenly of tuberculosis, contracted while in service in the Philippines.

Dr. James M. Ayers, of Hamilton, O., who has been since 1898 the United States consul at Rosario, Argentine, was officially notified that he had been removed from office.

Profits of $1,250,000 in three years are said to have been made by the Continental Finance Co., and an allied concern, known as the Continental Financing Co., of Chicago, for both of which concerns the Western Trust and Savings bank was appointed a receiver.

A. C. Sefton, of Mt. Vernon, was found dead by campers in a grove near Columbus, O., with a bullet hole in his head and the revolver lying near, indicating suicide.

Fire practically destroyed the entire town of Johnson City, five miles from Marion, Ill. Forty buildings, including the entire business section, were burned.

Pascal P. Pratt, millionaire merchant and banker, died in Buffalo, N. Y. He had undergone an operation and never rallied from the shock.

In a pitched battle on a negro excursion train, returning from Atlanta, Ga., to Columbus, 11 negroes were killed and three dangerously wounded.

As the result of a quarrel among members of a fishing party on the Dan river, ten miles south of Poplar Bluff, Mo., Charles Booth, Charles Vanderpool and Cleveland Parrett were shot and killed.

The St. Louis Typographical union rescinded its action of June 8 in accepting a contract calling for a nine hour day and an advance of $1.50 a week in wages for the union job printers.

The flags of every nation represented in Havana are at half-mast over the legations and consulates in honor of the death of Gen. Maximo Gomez, and from Cabanas fortress a gun booms every half hour. In every street there are long rows of Cuban flags draped in mourning.

Thousands of dead fish are floating on the surface of Spruce Run creek, a tributary of the Raritan river, near Somerville, N. J., as the result of a break in the Tidewater Oil Co.'s pipe line near Glen Gardner, N. J.

The great Armour ice houses at Pewaukee, Wis., were struck by lightning and practically destroyed. In addition to the ice houses the residence of the superintendent, the barns and the boarding house, with 50 rooms, were destroyed. Loss $225,000.

During a thick fog which has prevailed on the upper lakes for the past week, the steel freight steamers Etruria and Amasa Stone collided ten miles off Presque Isle light, in Lake Huron. The Etruria went to the bottom.

Thirty-five Koreans were examining a torpedo which washed ashore on the coast, when the torpedo exploded and all the Koreans were blown to atoms.

Relatives were notified of the serious illness of Francis Murphy, 69, the temperance apostle, who is living on his California farm.

Mayor R. W. Speer has telegraphed to President Roosevelt a formal invitation to the Russian and Japanese peace plenipotentiaries to hold their sittings in Denver.

Harvey Smith, John Collier and Will Jackson, three negro murderers, were hanged at Decatur, Ala.

His Own Great Foolishness.

Nordy—Your wife seems to think you'll get bunkoed if she lets you out of her sight. You must have once done something very foolish to have a woman looking after you like that.

Butte—I did. I married her.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Perennial Failure.

"Old Doughcraft has made another assignment. It's getting to be chronic with him, isn't it?"

"O, yes! The boys on the street refer to him as 'Old Peach Crop.'"—Cleveland Leader.

The discovery of a scientific name and one or two germs of laziness has enabled several people to put on airs of importance while loafing.—Chicago Tribune.

SAVED CHILD'S LIFE.

Remarkable Cure of Dropsy by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sedgwick, Ark., June 19.—The case of W. S. Taylor's little son is looked upon by those interested in medical matters as one of the most wonderful on record. In the connection his father makes the following statement:—

"Last September my little boy had dropsy; his feet and limbs were swollen to such an extent that he could not walk or put his shoes on. The treatment that the doctors were giving him seemed to do him no [illegible], and two or three people said his days were short, even the doctors, two of the best in the country told me he would not get better. I stopped their medicine and at once sent for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I gave him three pills a day, one morning, noon and night for eight days; at the end of the eighth day the swelling was all gone, but to give the medicine justice, I gave him eleven more Pills. I used thirty-five Pills in all and he was entirely cured. I consider your medicine saved my child's life. When the thirty-five Pills were given him, he could run, dance and sing, whereas before he was an invalid in his mother's arms from morning until night."

Narrowing the mind does not cause it to rise.—Chicago Tribune.

It Cures While You Walk.

Allen's Foot-Ease is a certain cure for hot, sweating, callous, and swollen, aching feet. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25c. Don't accept any substitute. Trial package FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

No man ever bought fortune by the sale of his friends.—Chicago Tribune.

I am sure Piso's Cure for Consumption saved my life three years ago.—Mrs. Thos. Robbins, Norwich, N. Y., Feb. 17, 1900.

Graft seems to be indigenous to all places and all climes.—Chicago Chronicle.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a positive cure for all those painful ailments of women. It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements of the Womb and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life. Every time it will cure

Backache.

It has cured more cases of Leucorrhœa than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development. That

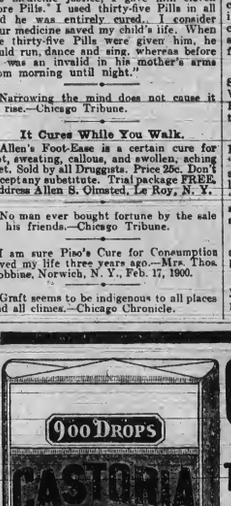
Bearing-down Feeling, causing pain, weight and headache, is instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the female system. It corrects

Irregularity,

Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility. Also

Dizziness, Faintness,



Extreme Lassitude, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, some derangement of the Uterus. For

Kidney Complaints

and Backache of either sex the Vegetable Compound is unequaled,

You can write Mrs. Pinkham about yourself in strictest confidence.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored

LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee.
Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot." First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

DON'TS { 3 (Don't boil it too long. Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving. Don't use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future.
(Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.)
(Lion-head on every package.)
(Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

CUPID PLAYS PRANKS IN BOSTON SOCIETY

PRETTY ROMANCES IN WHICH MILLIONAIRES AND WORKING GIRLS ARE THE PRINCIPALS.

SETS BLUE-BLOODED TONGUES WAGGING.

A Common Occurrence Which Hub Society Refuses to Get Used To—Wealth Looks for Beauty Wherever It May Be Found—Poverty Not a Bar to Love.

Boston.—The little sod, Cupid, has set this city by the ears again as only Cupid can every now and again. The pranks of the little archer have had blue-blooded Boston at his mercy time after time, but this latest escapade has beaten all other efforts, and has left society in a state of collapse from which it is not expected to recover soon.

Boston society—the society which lives in the alphabetical streets of the Back Bay, is more exclusive than a hermit, that graduates from Harvard to State street and from the Puritan club to the Somerset—is shocked again.

It is the same old shock—the shock that hits Boston just so often and knocks its eyeglasses off—a Boston Bluestocking has gone and married a shopgirl.

According to the Boston correspondent of the New York World you would think that Boston would be used to such an occurrence by this time. Harrison Grey Otis started it when he chose the daughter of an East Boston baker for his bride, and since that day probably no less than 40 scions of old Puritan families have found their fates behind the counters at Jordan's or White's or even Houghton s.

But Boston simply won't get used to it; it insists on being shocked every time it happens, hence the fact that Marlborough street resounds with "Did-you-evers" and "I-want-to-knows," and even the flowers in the public gardens are shaken.

This time the shockers are the usual characters; Harvard man, tall, handsome, blue-blooded, broker, rich, 22 years old.

Shopgirl, poor, beautiful, young, good, of humble parentage.

Marries Machinist's Daughter.

Names? Oh, yes, that is a detail, though the case is so like all the others of the past that any names might do. This time, however, the young man happens to be an Adams, which is very, very important among Boston names, as everyone knows. He is only an Adams by the second marriage of his mother, however, and retains his father's name of Clapp—William F. Clapp in full, age 22, son of Mrs. Samuel G. Adams, of No. 384 Marlborough street. The bride was Miss Ellen Gertrude Reise; her father is simply a machinist at the government arsenal in Watertown.

It is the most complete of romances, for it grew out of another of the same kind, in which Miss Reise's twin sister was one of the principals. So, to tell it correctly, the first romance must be referred to first.

The father of the twin girls, Mary J. and Ellen Gertrude Reise, was a sergeant in the army, stationed in San Francisco, when the girls were born, 27 years ago. He was a good soldier, but a better father, so when he could he got out of the army and came east to do more in the world. Machinery was his trade, and he obtained a position at the Watertown arsenal, where he is still employed. He and his wife brought up the girls in a pretty little cottage at No. 70 Dexter avenue, Watertown, and there the couple still live with their two younger children.

When the twins became of an age when they could work and thus add to the family income, they obtained employment in that home of romance, The dry goods establishment of Jordan, Marsh & Co., where they were placed at the glove counter. Over this establishment there should fly a flag bearing the coat-of-arms of Cupid, two hearts stuck together with an arrow, for it is from Jordan's that so many beautiful young shopgirls have emerged the brides of Boston's bluest-blooded young men.

The Reise sisters were among the prettiest girls in Jordan's, and that is saying a great deal for them. It is like saying that a young woman is the prettiest girl on Fifth avenue. They were at the same counter, looked very much alike, and this fact and their beauty made them much talked about.

One day a young man, Horatio Bigelow—another good old Boston name—and the son of Albert S. Bigelow, the copper millionaire, saw the girls. He was attracted by their beauty, but managed to choose between them, and selected Mary as the object of his adoration at first sight.

The next thing was to get an introduction, and this is not the easiest matter when the girl is a Jordan girl. Young Bigelow knew, perhaps by experience, that he could not win his way to Mary Reise's heart by any flirtation over the counter. So he wisely went "higher up" and asked the manager of the store, whom he knew, to introduce him. Bigelow was then a junior at Harvard, and the reputation of Harvard juniors is not so terribly good that the managers of big Boston stores are throwing their best and prettiest salesgirls into their company without knowing something about them. However, the manager had faith in this junior, and Bigelow and Miss Reise met.

Fear Family's Disapproval.

Whether it was love at first sight on her part as well as his nobody knows now. At any rate it was not long before the girl found herself growing fond of the handsome young student. She knew little about him—he refrained from telling her of his father's great wealth or his family connections. When she did learn all these things, however, Mary Reise was properly staggered, and, when he besought her to be his she rebelled, fearing the consequences when his family should hear that the scion had made such a mesalliance.

Horatio Bigelow, though, was not to be put off in this way, for he loved Mary Reise. He told his family about it, and his family was beautifully, magnificently shocked, and when a Boston family, backed up with $30,000,000, gets shocked, it is something worth seeing.

It should not be! said the family. Never! It was a foolish idea on the part of the boy. He must be sent around the world to see other places, other faces, and forget the pretty daughter of the humble arsenal machinist. A shopgirl! Ugh!

Young Bigelow was no fool. He loved Mary Reise, she loved him, and he preferred her, only too wisely, to any of the spectacled, erudite, blue-blooded Back Bay young persons who, in his family's estimation, would make the sort of a bride he should have. He knew his family thoroughly, and was aware of the fact that to cross them would be disagreeable. So he agreed to the trip around the world, but he had a trick up his sleeve all the time.

To Mary Reise alone he confided it. They would be married on the sly and go on the round-the-world trip together. It would be a fine honeymoon!

At first the young woman objected, but love finally conquered, and, on the 3d of August, 1899, in a little Episcopal mission church out in Ruxbury, they were wed by Rev. Edward L. Atkinson. You see, even to the name of the clergyman this was a true Boston romance, for Rev. Mr. Atkinson is of the family of the great Boston statistician who tells you how to live on two cents a day and solves the Philippine problem weekly in the Transcript.

The bride was on her vacation from the store, and went to Newport to spend it. So did young Bigelow. On September 1 it was time for him to start on his trip around the world, and off to San Francisco he went. From there he and his bride telegraphed the Bigelows in Boston that the wedding had taken place and also informed the bride's parents. Then they went aboard the vessel to Japan and let the families do all the worrying.

Of course there was something terrible in the way of worrying around the Back Bay. Also out in Watertown. But by the time Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow, Jr., got home the tempest had died down, the Bigelows and the Reises were so glad to get the youngsters home that they forgot all about being angry, and the matter was settled.

Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow went to Norwich, Conn., to live, happy and contented, and the bride's twin sister, Ellen Gertrude, was invited to pay them a visit.

This was the beginning of the second romance, the one that at present has Boston upside down.

Around the corner from the Bigelow dovecot at Norwich lived Samuel G. Adams, a rich Bostonian, member of the big wool firm and very blue-blooded. He had married, as a second wife, Mrs. Clapp, a wealthy Boston widow, who had one son, a fine, handsome young fellow, William F. Clapp, freshman at Harvard.

Young Clapp knew young Bigelow, and went around to see him. He also saw Mrs. Bigelow's twin sister—and—well, here was a scion of a Boston family and a Jordan & Marsh shopgirl. The result could have been only what it was. They fell in love.

Leaves College to Earn Living.

All during the summer the courtship went on, and by the time young Clapp was about to return to Boston with his parents everything was ripe for another romance. The young people said nothing about their affection to anyone, and nobody but the Bigelows knew of it. Ellen Reise went back to her place in the big store, and young Clapp went back to Harvard, for, of course, he was a Harvard student.

But he could not wait to graduate, so he left college at the close of his freshman year, little more than a boy. He entered a broker's office in State street, but soon left there and obtained an important position with the New England Telephone company, which stationed him at Taunton.

From there the courtship was continued, and one day, not long ago, Miss Ellen Gertrude Reise resigned from Jordan & Marsh's and took the train to Providence. There she was met by young Clapp, and they were married.

The Clapps, senior, were in Europe, but have returned since and everything is forgiven, as it should be in all Boston romances and always is.

ROUGH-AND-READY FIGHTER

Rangers of the Southwest Who Are Chosen for Their Skill with Horse and Gun.

The Arizona rangers were organized in 1901, to furnish a strong police arm to the territorial government. Since this efficient body of rough-and-ready fighting men has taken the field there has been a most remarkable betterment in conditions. Organized bands of cattle rustlers then existed and made a fat living off the legitimate cattlemen. The county law officers were unable to cope with these daring marauders.

The territory of Arizona has twice the area of New York state and less than half the population of Newark, N. J., so there is plenty of room for the desperado to swing. But the ranger is so named because he, too, knows the ranges. The rangers usually work together in squads of two or three, and as there are only 26 of them it means that they are widely scattered, but they keep in close touch with the office of Gov. Brodie, with whom they file a weekly report showing just what they are doing.

The men are selected from hundreds of competitors, after undergoing thorough tests to determine their ability as horsemen and their skill in roping, trailing and shooting. Capt. Rynning, of Douglas, is at the head of the rangers.

The individual members of the company are not known to the public. The original company was once lined up and photographed, but since then the wisdom of keeping the individuality of the men secret has been learned. This element of secrecy more than doubles the effectiveness of force, for no gang of outlaws can now be brought together without the risk of including a ranger who will upset all the wicked plans at the right moment.

This little band of men made 453 arrests during the year ending June 30, 1904. Five of these were murderers and 155 had committed felonies. In taking this number of men it is highly to the credit of the company that only one of the bad men was killed. That does not read like a border tale, but it shows how carefully the rangers work.

One thing which makes every Arizonan proud of the rangers is the important fact that there has not been a train robbery or a lynching since the rangers were organized.

The most interesting facts about this little company are to be gathered from Capt. Rynning's report, which shows that on the average each man rides 390 miles a month, or a total for the entire force of 10,140 miles. The rangers have worked in conjunction with the live-stock sanitary board and the Arizona Cattle Growers' association, and they have restored hundreds of lost cattle, sheep and goats. Smugglers, Chinese unlawfully in the country, and persons who sell whisky to Indians are also under their ban.

Canada Woodlands.

While the destruction of our forests, due to the heavy demand for paper pulp has been decried, it looks as though we should not suffer for pulp making material while Canada has such tracts as the newly opened district of Algoma. Here there are reported to be more than 100,000,000 cords of pulp wood alone, and if this is not sufficient the Thunder Bay and Rainy River districts can supply 200,000,000 cords more. Canadian territory has been developed largely along the lines of the railroads and waterways, and she can furnish timber to the United States for centuries to come by opening new country.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

A HOME PURCHASING COMPANY.

Brought To a Termination By the Arrest of the Active Head.

Paducah, Ky., June 17.—The affairs of the People's Home Purchasing Co. came to an abrupt termination with the arrest of its active head, J. E. Bordeaux, on the charge of conducting a business without a license and for failure to make the deposits with the state treasury as required by law of foreign corporations. The company is chartered under the laws of New Jersey and has been conducting a business similar in some respects to that of building and loan companies. Depositors are promised a home on installment plan. A rigid investigation is in progress and there may be further arrests. A receiver has been asked for on behalf of the patrons. The amount of money taken in can not be learned at this time, but it is thought to be large.

A fraud order has been issued against the concern by the postal authorities at Washington. The company had customers in many states.

'SHINERS ARRESTED.

The Largest Copper Still in the State Was Destroyed.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., June 15.—Deputy Collectors McClure and Seitz and Marshal Castle raided a moonshine still near the Morgan and Rowan county line, and destroyed the largest copper still in the state, yet found with thousands of singlings and beer. The officers arrested Dave Lewis and William Estill, two desperate 'shiners. They were handcuffed and while the officers were cutting down the still Lewis broke away in the darkness and is at large with handcuffs on. Officers are searching for him.

BRIEF WATERSPOUT.

Up To the Eaves of the Houses Rose the Flood.

Sparta, Ky., June 16.—This little hamlet was visited by a genuine waterspout, drowning live stock, washing houses from their foundations and doing much damage to the tobacco crop. Half the town was almost inundated, the water being up to the eaves on some of the residences. This was caused by the railroad culvert south of town becoming clogged up by the debris. The downpour covered a radius of three or four miles and lasted only about 10 minutes.

MRS. MARCUM.

She Was Rigidly Quizzed By Judge Hargis, On Trial For Murder.

Jackson, Ky., June 16.—The examining trial of Judge Hargis, Alex. Hargis and B. F. French was begun before Magistrate Allen. Mrs. Marcum, wife of the murdered man, was the only witness introduced. She was still on the stand when court adjourned. Judge Hargis is conducting his own defense. A sensational feature was the rigid cross-examination given Mrs. Marcum in person by the man she charges with having her husband killed.

Robbed a Veteran.

Lexington, Ky., June 15.—Tom Costigan is locked up here charged with picking the pocket of Joseph Hughes, of Lockhart, Tex., a confederate veteran stopping over here en route to the reunion at Louisville. Costigan, when arrested, had Hughes' pocketbook.

Bowling Green Water Works.

Frankfort, Ky., June 15.—The state board of valuation and assessment fixed the valuation of the Bowling Green Water Co. for the purpose of franchise taxation. It placed its total capitalization at $100,000, of which $50,000 is the valuation of tangible property, and $50,000 value of franchise.

Death From Unnatural Causes.

Paducah, Ky., June 17.—The inquest into the sudden death of Mrs. Ida Hessig, who was found dead in her room a week ago by her husband, Dr. S. T. Hessig, was finished and the jury returned a verdict that she came to her death "from unnatural causes."

State Normal School.

Lexington, Ky., June 17.—Plans are on foot to wrest from the State college here control of the State Normal school and located at different points into three parts, located at different points in the state.

Both His Legs Were Broken.

West Point, Ky., June 17.—Ed McAfee, who was acting in place of J. G. Brashear, master of bridges for the Texas railroad, fell at Irvington and both legs were broken. He is also injured internally.

Weds Wealthy Farmer.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., June 17.—James Whaley, of Sharpsburg, a wealthy farmer, and Mrs. Kate Tipton, of this city, were married here. The groom is 78 years old and the bride was a widow of 50 and a sister of Judge E. C. O'Rear, of Frankfort.

Stock Yards Receiver.

Louisville, Ky., June 17.—Harry P. McKnight, suing for himself and the other stockholders of the Central Stock Yards Co., has filed a suit in which he asks the appointment of a receiver for the concern.

SUN LIFE INSURANCE CO.

The Court of Appeals Decided Against the Policyholders.

Frankfort, Ky., June 16.—The Kentucky court of appeals decided against the policy holders in the Sun Life Insurance Co. of America in their efforts to secure a distribution among them of the reserve funds of the company following its withdrawal from business, and the assumption of its outstanding policies by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The policy holders who were plaintiffs in the Jefferson Chancery court had agreed to the transfer to the Metropolitan company and the court here says they are bound by their contract of agreement, but that, had they refused to agree, they could only secure, under section 659 Kentucky statutes, the surrender of the value of the policy.

KILLED IN BED.

A Big Posse Is After the Aged Woman's Murderer.

Albany, Ky., June 15.—A lynching may result from the brutal murder of Mrs. Calvin Bains, 65, as she slept. She lived five miles southeast of here. She was beaten to death while her husband worked in the garden near the house. Her two daughters say they were in the barn at the time of the murder.

A big posse has left this place and is scouring the country to find the guilty parties. Two strange men were seen in the neighborhood, and it is believed they killed the old woman for the purpose of robbery. The coroner has held an inquest. His verdict was: "Murdered by unknown parties."

INDICATIONS OF TROUBLE.

Mose Feltner Taken From Jackson To Winchester.

Lexington, Ky., June 17.—It was decided to take Mose Feltner back to Winchester from Jackson. There are strong indications of trouble and the county attorney believes that if Feltner takes the stand against the Hargises and French this will be the signal for an outbreak. He advised Sheriff McChord, of Clark county, in whose custody Feltner remains pending the convening of the Estill circuit court, that it might be unsafe for Feltner to remain. Feltner will refuse to return to Jackson unless the governor provides a military escort.

MURDER RESULTED.

Negro Was Drinking From a Faucet Used By White Men.

Paducah, Ky., June 16.—Walter G. Taylor, timekeeper for the W. J. Oliver Construction Co., was probably fatally shot by an unknown negro at Wickliffe. The negro was drinking from a faucet where white men got their water when Taylor ordered him to desist. Refusing, the white man struck the negro, who pulled a pistol and shot him. A posse is in pursuit, and if the negro is captured he will be lynched. Taylor was removed to Memphis, Tenn.

CONFEDERATE VETERAN DEAD.

He Died With Twenty-Three Notches In His Gun.

Louisville, Ky., June 17.—Andrew Jackson Cogar, 70, confederate veteran from Midway, Ky., who was one of the most famous sharpshooters in the civil war, was found dead from apoplexy in bed at the South Carolina reunion headquarters. He claimed to have killed 23 federals at the battle of Manassas.

Carried a Portable Register.

Paducah, Ky., June 16.—Edgar Morrison, a street car conductor, was arrested on the charge of conspiracy with intent to defraud the Paducah City Railroad Co.' It is alleged that by the use of a portable register stolen from the office the company has been defrauded out of about $2,000 in a few weeks.

Three Sisters Drowned.

Brandenburg, Ky., June 16.—Misses Hallie, Fannie and Annie Belle Booth, daughters of Dr. Galt Booth, residing at Crecilius, 15 miles below here, were drowned in the Ohio while bathing. Misses Hallie and Fannie lost their lives in an effort to save their sister Annie.

More Tax Raises.

Frankfort, Ky., June 16.—The board of equalization passed finally on the following counties: Franklin and Garrard, no change; Oldham, 10 per cent. raise on lands; Gallatin, 20 per cent. raise on lands; Jesamine, 10 per cent. raise on lands and 12 per cent. on town lots.

Gov. Beckham Names Paducah.

Frankfort, Ky., June 17.—Gov. Beckham named Paducah as the place for the annual encampment of the Kentucky State guard this year. The details of the encampment have not all been perfected yet, but the time will be early in August.

Death of Leonard Trapp.

Newport, Ky., June 17.—Leonard Trapp, one of the wealthiest and best-known citizens of Campbell county, is dead at his home on the Licking pike, about two miles west of Alexandria. Trapp was a farmer and stock raiser.

BOONE CO., RECORDER
Wednesday, - - June 21, 1905.
W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

It Russia and Japan are both ready for peace then peace there will be.

The firm of Strive & Thrive builds success on the ruins of the firm of Whine & Pine.

It is thought that Japan will demand of Russia something like the trifle of $650,000,000 in the way of an indemnity.

The Court of Appeals handed down an opinion, last week, in which it holds that the Standard Oil Company's wagons are liable for a license of $5 per year each.

The Houston Chronicle says there are thousands of acres of land that was grown to cotton last year now idle, and of that which is in cotton on account of the wet spring will not produce over half a crop.

The Government ordered copies of a photograph of the President's hunting party destroyed because the abbreviated skirt of a young lady in the party revealed too plainly in the picture a pair of very pretty ankles.

It is a difficult thing to do to pay two women a compliment while they are together.—Ex.

The Recorder has a versatile friend at Petersburg with whom it is no "difficult thing" whatever. He can say more nice things about a whole bevy of ladies than any man on earth.

About the biggest sensation at the Confederate reunion in Louisville, last week was the appearance of eleven Cherokee Indians who fought under the Stars and Bars. They claim that they were the last Confederates to surrender. They bore their battered battle flag which they carried while in the service.

There is an orchard in Texas, at Morrill, that has 12,500 acres in fruit; and there is another near Morrill that has 1,000 acres in peaches. Last year there were shipped from Texas 8,000 cars of fruits and vegetables. The development of the fruit industry in all the Southern States is remarkable.

With six members of the last General Assembly, including the President of the Senate, under indictment on charges of bribery, perjury and conspiracy, and the practical certainty that at least as many more indictments are yet to come, Arkansas is facing one of the greatest political upheavals that any member of the solid South, with the possible exception of her northern neighbor—Missouri has ever experienced.

A Pittsburg woman has found a new use in which to put her small children. Her objection to the erection of telephone poles on her property were being disregarded, and instead of appealing to the courts, as soon as the holes was dug for a pole she would chuck one of her little children in it completely baffling the force of men who were planting the poles. A new use to which kids can be put.

It is now claimed that the sailors on Rojesvensky's fleet were dissatisfied throughout his long voyage, and much to that fact is due the very poor showing the admiral made when he came in contact with the enemy. With dissatisfied seamen and vessels that were but little better than tubs, Russia was wasting time and lives when she sent her Baltic fleet to Japanese waters. The fleet made an imposing showing on paper, but the Japs were thoroughly informed as to its weak points, of which Admiral Togo was quick to take advantage.

It may be surprising to farmers in this territory to learn that from the 6,000,000 farms of the United States sufficient potatoes are not raised to satisfy the demands for home consumption. It is estimated that the amount raised each year in this country is a little more than three bushels for every man, woman and child in the country, amounting to 250,000,000 or 275,000,000 bushels a year. However, it has been necessary to import more than a million and a half bushels of this tuber. In one week of the summer of 1904, 60,000 sacks of foreign potatoes of an old crop were imported in New York city and sold for over a dollar a bushel. It is time for farmers to be alive to the fact that they are neglecting a source of great revenue.

Personal Mention.

Miss Essie Parish is home from Ironton, Ohio.

Rev. Edgar Riley was a guest at Dr. Crisler's, last Thursday night.

Henry McNeal and daughter, were visitors to Burlington, Monday.

A. W. Corn, of Bullittsville, was among the visitors to town, Monday.

Mrs. Elmer Beall, who has been quite sick for ten days, is improving some.

Real estate deals were slack, last week, and W. E. Vest spent several days at home.

Master Fred Drinkenberg, of Florence, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Ed Hawes this week.

Jerry Beemon, of Limaburg hill tops, was calling in Burlington a few hours, last Monday.

Miss Grace Beemon, who has been visiting her sister Mrs. John Hogan, returned home Monday.

William Kirkpatrick, of Limaburg neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington Friday.

Master Joe Furnish, of Covington, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Revill, of this place.

Miss Nellie Kirkpatrick, was the guest of Mrs. William Starr, of Gunpowder a couple of days this week.

William Ackemyer, of Bullittsville, was one of those from a distance transacting business in Burlington, last Saturday.

J. M. Conner and wife, of Cincinnati, passed through town, last Friday afternoon, enroute to their sons down on Clore's Ridge.

Hamet Carder, many years ago a citizen of this county, but who has been away for several years, is now among his friends in Constance neighborhood.

Mrs. Maud Williams and Miss Elizabeth Stott, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. H. W. Ryle and son, Floyd, of Erlanger, are guests at Mrs. Anna Kirkpatrick's.

Tony Bentler and John Furlong, of Covington, came out last Saturday evening and spent Sunday in the pure air and amid the inviting shade of Burlington.

Miss Rose Adams, of Big Bone, was a guest of her uncle Buford Adams and wife a few days last week, and attended the examination for teachers on Friday and Saturday.

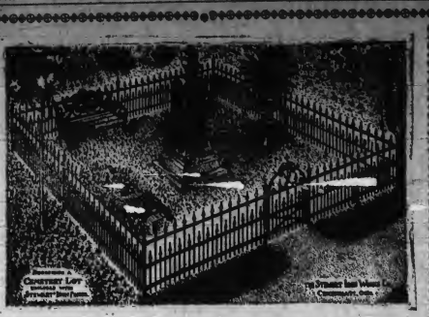
Geo. Greenup, of Dawson Springs, was in Burlington last Saturday and Sunday. His wife who died in March was Susie Piatt, daughter of the late Dr. Robert Piatt, of Bellevue.

Misses Charlotte and Bessie Hall attended the graduation exercises of the Newport High School, last week. The Misses Davis Inville, two of their cousins, were members of the graduating class.

J. M. Thompson, one of Petersburg's hustling business men, spent last Friday in Burlington, Mr. Thompson has about recovered from the injury he received last winter, and looks fat and "sassy," and is on the move again in search of deals with the farmers for livestock, etc.

O. J. Ryle wife and son returned home last Saturday from Louisville, where they attended the Confederate reunion. Oscar reports the greatest week's pleasure of his life. From the number of badges and medals he brought home, it is supposed he took all the degrees of the reunion.

W. F. McKim and family took their final leave of Burlington for their new home at Latonia, last Saturday. Mr. McKim and son Herbert will engage in the grocery and drug busines, in which they have had a long and successful experience, and which their many friends here are certain will continue with them in their new location.



Millinery and Dry Goods.

A becoming Hat and Dress makes a plain face pretty, and a pretty face prettier, so do me the honor to call and see my display in Hats and Ladies' Furnishings, Children's Wear and Notions.

Miss Lou W. Allen
Petersburg, Ky.

The Cash Store
—WITH—
'Little Profits.-Lots of Customers'
WILL GREEN, Jr.,
RISING SUN, IND.
Positively Saves you Money
—ON—
DRY GOODS, NOTIONS,
CARPETS, CURTAINS,
UNDERWEAR, &c.
BARGAINS IN EVERY LINE
You can't miss it.
Try Green.
Big lot Remnants Cheap.

For Best Prices Call or Write to
HENRY QUICK, Hebron, Ky.,
—SPECIAL AGENT FOR—
The Stewart Iron Works Company,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

MY STOCK OF
—NICE, FRESH—
Groceries!
is renewed every week.
I don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find my prices right.
COUNTRY PRODUCE
taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.
W. C. WEAVER,
Burlington, Ky.

ICE
Cream Time
is here and you need Vanilla and Lemon flavors.
We can save you money by selling it to you in bulk, and quality is first-class.
OUR PRICES.
1 oz. Vanilla or Lemon..05c
6 oz. Vanilla or Lemon..25c
1 pt. Vanilla or Lemon..65c
1 qt. Vanilla or Lemon..$1.25
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder saves half the cream, pk.13c
Pippey's Foamaline.....20c
Grated Pine Apple, can.....13 & 23c
Lemons, dozen.....15c
Red Sugar, lb.....15c
See our Special sale of Pitchers, while they last.....10c.
GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,
—GROCER.—
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, KY.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.
William Maxon, pltf.
vs | Equity. No. 2479.
Sylvester Maxon, &c., defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April term thereof, 1905, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public sale on Monday, the 3d day of July, 1905, at one o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being county court day, upon a credit of 6, 12 & 18 months, the following described property to-wit.

Lots Nos. 86 and 87 as laid down on the original plat of the town of Taylorsport, Boone County, Kentucky, said lots fronting 66 feet on second street, and extending back same width 165 feet to Middle street, record of evidence of which may be found in Deed Book 26, page 468; Deed Book 27, page 331 and Deed Book 29, page 373, Boone County records, County Clerk's office.

(The Judgment herein recites—"the shares of said infant Defendants shall not be paid by the purchaser, but shall remain a lien on the land, bearing interest until the said infants become of age, or until the Guardians of the said infants execute bond as is required by law, as set out in Section 497 of the Civil Code of Practice.")

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C. C.

FOR SALE.

Farm of 33⅓ acres, good new house of 5 rooms, good water in the yard year round; on rural route and telephone line, near Plattsburg. SAM'L HENSLEY, Petersburg, Ky.

THE GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE

Thedford's Black-Draught comes nearer regulating the entire system and keeping the body in health than any other medicine made. It is always ready in any emergency to treat ailments that are frequent in any family, such as indigestion, biliousness, colds, diarrhœa, and stomach aches.

Thedford's Black-Draught is the standard, never-failing remedy for stomach, bowel, liver and kidney troubles. It is a cure for the domestic ills which so frequently summon the doctor. It is as good for children as it is for grown persons. A dose of this medicine every day will soon cure the most obstinate case of dyspepsia or constipation, and when taken as directed brings quick relief.

DANVILLE, ILL., Dec. 22, 1903.

Thedford's Black-Draught has been our family doctor for five years and we want no other. When any of us feel badly we take a dose and are all right in twelve hours. We have spent lots of money for doctor bills, but get along just as well with Black-Draught. IRA H. BADER.

Ask your dealer for a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and if he does not keep it send 25c. to The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. and a package will be mailed to you.

THEDFORD'S BLACK DRAUGHT

PIPER & WALTON,
Merchant Tailors
142 E. Fourth St.,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
Have Spring Suitings to show you.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.
William Maxon, pltf.
vs | Equity. No. 2478.
Sylvester Maxon, &c., defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April Term, thereof, 1905, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public sale on Monday, 3d day of July, 1905, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being county court day, upon a credit of 6, 12 & 18 months, the following described property, towit:

Three (3) lots in the town of Taylorsport, Boone County, Kentucky, and designated and laid down on the plat of said town as lots Nos. 103, 104 and 105.

Or sufficient number of said lots to produce the sums of money so ordered to be made.

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien reserved therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C. C.

Subscribe for the Recorder

Deposits Earning Interest.
THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY, Inc.
S. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, KY.
Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice, ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.
Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.
It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.
In its several departments, The Covington Savings Bank and Trust Company
Acts as Agent; Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc; Attends carefully to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.
—ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL.—
CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.
Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.
JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President
C. W. SIMRALL, Sec'y & Treas.
Long Distance Telephone, South 214.

J. G. BENTLER & SON,
Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.
Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing and Wagon Repairing of all kinds,
All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.
Grinding of all Kinds to Order.
Hay and Grain,
AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,
By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices.
Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.
Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.
Successors to Clemens Hellman.
LUMBER DEALERS,
Manufacturers of
Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.
White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar, Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings., Etc.
COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.
Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122
H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.

Spring is here
AND WE ARE READY TO SHOW THE MOST
—COMPLETE LINE OF—
Men's, Hoys' and Children's
CLOTHING
We have a very large assortment to select from, and guarantee Fit, Style, Material and Workmanship. Kindly come in and inspect our
Men's Suits at.....$5. $7.50, $10, $12.
Boys' Suits at.....$3.50 to $10
Children's Suits at.....$1.50 to $5.00
Men's Pants at.....$1.00 to $5.00
Men's Cotton Pants.....50 and 65c.
Just the thing for out door work.
ROLFES & WACHS,
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

A. W. SMITH'S
PHARMACY,
WALTON, - - KY.
See our Crepe Paper Novelties. Dennison's Lunch Sets.
12 Doilies, 12 Knapkins, Table Cloth, 2 yards, 25c
Drink our Delicious Soda Water.
Our Ice Cream is superior. Our Candy is the very best.
High Grade Cigars and Tobacco.
FANCY STATIONERY IN MANY FORMS.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day.
Fees for selling stock reasonable.
Public Sales given special attention.

W. M. KENNEY,
DEALER IN
Fine Wines and Liquors,
Best $2 whisky in the city.
141 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Local News.

A very fine rain fell here last evening.

Some corn will get its last plowing this week.

A good piece of meadow is an exception this spring.

Attorney Tolin has purchased a new buggy—rubber tires.

The home grown strawberry is a delicacy of the past again.

There is a stray, brindle cow on the streets of Burlington.

The season has arrived when gasoline stoves get in their work.

Jack Sandford has signed to play ball with the Grays this season.

There has been considerable cloudy weather so far this month.

Pomona Grange will meet with Golden Grange at Union, July 8th.

Aaron Garder sold $400 worth of bees, to a Michigan firm some time since.

County Clerk Adams is increasing the culinary department of his residence.

June is half gone and it has not heated things up as it usually does by this time.

The growers in this locality was favored with another tobacco season last Thursday.

N. E. Riddell was appointed administrator of the estate of John Rowland, deceased, last Friday.

Some farmers were plowing their corn the third time last week, while others were just done planting.

The delay of the advertisers to send in their copy has delayed the printing of the premium list for the fair.

Warsaw is feeling that "Richard is himself again." The new furniture factory is ready to begin business.

The Odd-Fellows' lodge at Big Bone Springs is on a boom. Members are coming in in flocks, as it were.

While in Rising Sun next Saturday do not fail to call at W. M. Green's big store to make your purchases.

Kirby Smith fell down the stairway at Charles Gaines', last Wednesday, and bruised himself considerably.

William Hedges gave out last Saturday that he will have ripe peaches on the local market some time this week.

Plow right, fertilize right, harrow right, cultivate right, harvest right, sell right, and live right and you will be all right.

As administrator of Barney Menke T. F. Curley, of Walton, will have a sale of personal effects on the 24th inst.

Livestock of all kinds is doing well. How could it do otherwise with the abundance of nice grass in the pastures.

Mr. Oscar Gaines and his two bright little granddaughters were in one day last week to see some of the mysteries of a printery.

Exciting time in the old town late last Saturday afternoon. Four dog fights in progress on one of the principal streets at one time.

Attorney Sidney Gaines and Dudley Rouse visited Gunpowder, last Thursday afternoon, on fishing bent. They made a clean score—0.

John Baldon brought his engine home for repairs last week, and will have it in first class order by the time to begin threshing wheat.

Bro. Doc Mannin, of Hebron, will have to start out a little earlier if he wishes to get a chance at stock advertised in the RECORDER for sale.

The Boone county delegation that waited on the State Board of Equalization at Frankfort, last week, succeeded in getting the raise on lands and personal property reduced from 8 to 5 per cent.

M. T. Garnett and Johnnie Duncan took a day's outing at the Forks of Gunpowder, one day last week. They found the fishing good but the catching was away off. Three craw-fish made up their string.

Lost—Between Erlanger and Burlington a Q. & C. R. R. Book, with signature L. Shearer; 1 Memorandum Book, and to letters addressed to L. Shearer, Erlanger. The finder will please return to L. Shearer, Erlanger.

Some of the dealers who loaded up with tobacco last year during the excitement and held on to their purchases, are beginning to grow nervous because of the present outlook, it being very evident that if the market continues as has ruled so far this year, they will lose very considerable amounts.

No Secret About It.

It is no secret, that for Cuts, Burns, Ulcers, Fever Sore Eyes, Boils, etc., nothing is so effective as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "It didn't take long to cure a bad sore I had, and it is all O. K. for sore eyes," writes D. L. Gregory, of Hope, Tex. 25c at all drug stores.

BASE BALL.

Boones vs Ft. Thomas,
at Burlington Park,
SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1905.
Game called at 3 p. m.

This is the only club that ever shut the Boones out.

R. S. Bruce, of Liberty, Missouri, arrived here yesterday to visit relatives and friends. It was fifteen years ago that he visited this his old home, and many of his old acquaintances did not recognize him yesterday when they met him. It is a pleasure to say that Mr. Bruce has prospered in Missouri, and that he and his son Richard are among the most prominent citizens of their city.

A Boyle county farmer brought to the Danville News office two samples of wheat, one of which a northern variety, is a wonder and promises to revolutionize wheat culture in this State. The samples shown have double heads. The head starts single from the stem but ends with double rows at the top, and it is predicted that this variety will easily make forty to fifty bushels to the acre.

In his peregrinations a few days ago the writer met quite a bevy of his old acquaintances, viz: James Hogan and son and daughter, Eddie and Fannie, of Sedamsville, and Charles Parsons, Ben Rue and Geo. Rue, of Cleves. The latter three were accompanied by Tony Rue, of Bellevue, who had gone to Cleves to visit his son, George. It is always a pleasure to meet old friends, and especially those of years ago when all parties were in the bloom of youth.

The following persons passed successful examinations, last Friday and Saturday, for certificates as teachers in the common schools of this county: E. O. Myers, Verona; Miss Rose Adams, Big Bone; Miss Ollie B. Ransom, Bank Lick; Miss Etna McAtee, Grant; Miss Grace Anderson, Limaburg, William Alden, of Petersburg, and William Duncan, of Burlington, passed for appointment to the State College.

The boy on the farm, who can refer to "my horse," or "my calves," or "my carriage," or "my" anything is not the boy who is eager to leave the farm as soon as he is in long trousers. The same thing is true of the girl who can speak of "my things." In homes where everything is held in title by one person there is generally discontent. Every member of the family works, and every member should own something individually.—The Stockman.

Improved stock leads to better care, as a rule. Thus it is the benefit of pure blood, combined with the best management and keeping that make the most successful and profitable results on the farm. The farmer who undertakes to make the farm pay without good stock and good care, and, it may be added, good treatment, is spending his life getting experience which is essential to success, while the more progressive farmer goes straight to prosperity with these important requisites.

The following transfers of real estate have been recorded since the last report was published.

S. Sederburg to Edgar Souther, 16.43 acres in Pt. Pleasant neighborhood—$800.

Theresa and F. P. Walton to the Peoples Deposit Bank, lot in Burlington—$500.

W. H. Moore and wife to Ethaline Ryle, 80 acres near Big Bone church—$1,200.

Louisiana Stephens, &c., to John B. Dixon, 48.88 acres near Crescent—$1,982 80.

Supt. Snyders' sons, Grover and Cleveland, dispatched a mammoth black snake, one day last week, after an exciting engagement with it. Its length was six feet and seven inches, and its circumference was in proportion. Having killed the reptile they discovered a very large lump about its middle, when they proceeded to hold a postmortum, which revealed a full grown fox squirrel of which its snakeship had evidently made a meal only a short time before, as the process of digestion had not begun. Irvin Rue assisted with the postmortum, and says when the squirrel was brought to view they thought it was a Jersey calf.

The American Tobacco grower receives an average of about ten cents a pound of stripped tobacco from which he must get his pay for the plant, his labor, his time and his investment in a farm. The United States Government gets six cents for every pound manufactured. The English Government gets an avarage of seventy-five cents for each pound. The Italian and Austrian Government get more than one dollar. The manufactures make millions in profits and the dealers are well paid. The consumers pay well for the luxury, and what is the reason the producer is not well paid for the material? They will be when they understand these matters and provide themselves with means to control the market.—Ex.

Have Your Coffee GROUND —OR— PULVERIZED

On the most Up-To-Date electrically driven Coffee Mill in the city. We invite you to have us grind it and save yourself the trouble.

Golden Blend, 20c lb.

Money Worth Blend 17c lb

3 lbs. For 50 Cents.

Don't use any other Brand.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, - KY.

PUBLIC SALE
—OF A—
Boone County Farm
at 3 o'clock p. m.,
Saturday, June 24, 1905.

As administrator and Trustee of the A. P. Collins estate, I will, on the above date, sell to the highest bidder on the premises near Richwood Sta., Cincinnati Southern R. R., the Farm of 105 Acres.

This is considered one of the best farms in Boone county, all in grass—timothy, red clover and blue grass, with the exception of 23 acres of rye which has been sown in red clover, timothy and blue grass mixed.

It is the nucleus of making one of the most attractive and valuable stock farms in Northern Kentucky. The typography of it is perfect and the superior quality of the soil is not excelled, to which claim you will subscribe after you have examined it.

The improvements embrace a good six room house and porches, cellar, barn, and all kinds of outbuildings and good fencing. It is well watered with wells, cisterns, pond and never failing springs.

A private avenue runs to the Lexington pike. The house is about 8 minutes walk to Richwood Sta., C. N. O. & T. P. Railroad. Commuter rates to the city 7½c a trip with four trains daily. Telegraph, telephone, express and postoffice.

Possession with the privilege of harvesting the growing crop, will be given as soon as the terms of the sale are complied with.

Terms made known day of sale.

A. C. COLLINS, Admr.
and Trustee of estate.

C. J. WOLFF,
SPECIALIST FOR
TRUSSES, BRACES, CRUTCHES, Etc.
Personal attention given every case. Experience 40 years.
13th & Race, opp. Washington Park, Cincinnati, O.

The Courier is reliably informed that Judge Westover, for many years editor and owner of this paper, has leased the Owen County Democrat and will return to Kentucky and take personal charge of the paper about July 15th next. We congratulate the good people of "Sweet Owen" on this prospective accession to their fine social, commercial and political strength.—Williamstown Courier.

J. P. HEMPHILL
THE DRUGGIST
at Rising Sun, Ind.,
....Carries a full line of....
DRUGS,
PAINTS,
OILS AND
VARNISHES.
In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet his Kentucky friends.
—CALL AND SEE HIM.—
Yours Respectfully,
J. P. HEMPHILL,
Rising Sun, Indiana.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN.

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.

Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.

—PRICES REASONABLE.—

Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone county.

SEAL BLEND COFFEE, per pound..	15c
Favorite Java Blend Coffee, lb.....	20c
Quaker Oats,.....	7½c
Invincible Oats.....	5c
New York Cheese.....	15c
Pure Maple Sugar.....	15c
2 lbs. California Prunes for.....	15c
Clover Springs Creamery Butter, lb.....	30c
Jackson's Best Patent Flour, bbl..	$5.75
Big Four Flour per bbl.....	$5.40
Telephone Flour per bbl.....	$5.85

—THE—
HAMILTON
GROCERY CO.,
39 and 41 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, KY.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Boone Circuit Court.

Israel Rouse, Admr., of Nancy Clark, Plff.
vs. Notice.
Elizabeth McGlasson, &c., Defts.

Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against the estate of Nancy Clark, deceased, must present them to the undersigned properly proven according to law. He will begin his sittings to hear proof of claims June 1, 1905, in the Circuit Clerk's office and continue from day to day (Sundays excepted) until June 30, 1905.

Witness my hand this May 30, 1905.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C.

For McCormick or Deering

BINDERS,
MOWERS,
RAKES,
HAY TEDDERS,
SWEEP RAKES,
STACKERS,
CORN BINDERS.
CORN SHREDDERS,
GASOLINE ENGINES,
FARM WAGONS,
DISC HARROWS,
PEGTOOTH HARROWS,
5-tooth CULTIVATORS,
and GRINDERS,

Apply to
ELMO GAINES, Grant, Ky., or W. D. CROPPER, Burlington, Ky.
PHONE 178, Boone Co. Line.
Orders earnestly solicited. Promptness and satisfaction guaranteed.

FOR SALE.

White Plymouth Rock eggs for sale—pure stock. Fishel and Orebaugh strain 13 for $1.00. JAS. T. BRASHOW, Union, Ky.
1mch3

MEDICURA STOCK FOOD!

Cheapest and best to use. Fully guaranteed. 5 feeds for one cent. Eight cents per month per head. The greatest tonic food and fattener in the world.

FOR HOGS AND CATTLE, It cures and prevents disease. Saves ..... Grain and 40 days time in fattening.

FOR HORSES AND COLTS, A blood purifying Tonic. Expels ..... worms, gives new life and strength.

5 FEEDS FOR 1c for 12 FOWLS. MAKES HENS LAY MORE EGGS.

Your money refunded if it ever fails.

Hay, Grain, Mill Feed,
ALL WAYS KEPT ON HAND.

A New Grocery.

We have added a complete line of Fancy and Staple Groceries and canned goods, which we are selling at the Most Reasonable Prices.

R. B. HUEY & CO.,
WALTON, -- KENTUCKY.

KASPER LEHMANN,
—DEALER IN—
BOOTS and SHOES,
Custom Work Promptly Attended To.
Store: Corner Lexington Pike and Vine Street.
Formerly South Erlanger. - - ELSMERE, KY.

H. G. BLANTON,
FUNERAL & DIRECTOR

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED
—STABLE.—
Special Rates to Traveling Men.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission & SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone South 55) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

B. B. ALLPHIN. B. B. HUME.
ALLPHIN & HUME,

Livery and Sale Stables,

First-Class Turnouts for Hire at all Times.
GOOD RAYMOND CITY COAL A SPECIALTY.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.

CEILINGS. SKYLIGHTS. CORNICES.
The Porter Iron Roofing & Corrugating Co
27 and 29 West Front Street,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Iron, Steel, Galvanized, Felt and Porteroid Rubber Roofing.
Our Agents will give you wholesale prices.
M. J. Crouch, Agent, Union, Ky.

The Perfect Deodorizer and Disinfectant
FRAGRINE
Refreshes. Perfumes. Invigorates. Endorsed by Physicians. Most Pleasant of Toilet Requisites.
Most healthful of Household Necessities. Call and try it at
JOHN ALLISON'S, Undertaker, Covington, Ky.

The Making of Ishmael

OUR BIBLE STORY by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1905, by J. W. Nelson.)

Scripture Authority:—"And Abraham rose up early in the morning, and took bread, and a bottle of water, and gave it unto Hagar, putting it on her shoulder, and the child, and sent her away: and she departed, and wandered in the wilderness of Beersheba . . . And God was with the lad, and he grew, and dwelt in the wilderness, and became an archer. And he dwelt in the wilderness of Paran: and his mother took him a wife out of the land of Egypt."—Gen. 21:14, 20, 21. Read Gen. 21:12-21.

ISHMAEL'S head was in a whirl and his heart beat like a trip-hammer. What was this that Sarah was saying? "Cast out this bondwoman and her son?" The words fell upon the boy's ear as he lay concealed in the bushes not far from the tent door. That evening as darkness fell he had yielded to an irresistible impulse, and crept close to Abraham's tent, wondering the while whether they knew he had returned and had been present at the feast. But as Sarah poured her complaint into Abraham's ear he soon learned that she did know.

"Mother," exclaimed the boy, after he had told her all, "why is it that we have to suffer so? Is there no place for me? Does not God care?"

"Oh, my son!" moaned the mother, "it is all a deep mystery to me! I understand it not, save that in thy birth was not realized the promise of God to Abraham. And when Isaac was born to the aged Sarah then all thought concerning thee was changed."

And while they talked thus together and groped for the light, Abraham struggled alone in the darkness before God's altar. It was a conflict between affection and faith, between the natural and the spiritual, for Ishmael, the son born after the flesh, could have no place or part in God's plans for Isaac, the son of promise. And God said unto Abraham:

"Let it not be grievous in thy sight because of the lad, and because of thy bondwoman; in all that Sarah hath said unto thee, hearken unto her voice; for in Isaac shall thy seed be called. And also of the son of the bondwoman will I make a nation, because he is thy seed."

God asks us to do the hard thing sometimes, that out of it blessing may come. It was so with Abraham, and in obedience and faith he followed the pathway pointed out by God.

Sarah noted the air of quiet decision with which Abraham entered the tent, and her quick intuition told her what his answer would be to her demand. Reaching out her hand and placing it lovingly upon her boy as he lay sleeping by her side, she closed her eyes contentedly, and went to sleep.

But in the tent of the other woman no sleep came to close her eyes, and as she sat and watched by the side of her boy, who had dropped off to sleep overcome by the weariness and excitement of the day, her mind ran back over the years to the time when the angel had spoken to her in the wilderness after she had fled from her mistress, assuring her that the Lord would multiply her seed. As the years had come and gone since then she had quite forgotten the details of the angel's message, but to-night with the vividness as though it were but yesterday she recalled his words:

"He will be a wild man; his hand will be against every man, and every man's hand against him; and he shall dwell to the east of all his brethren."

At the time they had meant little to her, but to-night, with the words of Sarah beating relentessly upon her heartstrings, they came with new light and meaning. As the night dragged out its weary length, the conviction grew upon her that she must go, and as the first early streaks of dawn told of returning day she arose and busied herself with her preparations. Then awakening her son and bidding him rise, she said, with a calmness and decision which surprised even herself:

"Come, my son, let us be going."

"Going, mother? Where?" stammered the astonished boy, and then recalling the incidents of the night before, he quickly added: "Oh, mother, has Abraham told us to go?"

Footsteps sounded on the outside of the tent and before the mother could reply the voice of Abraham was heard calling, tenderly:

"Ishmael, my son! Ishmael!"

Hagar stepped to the tent door and calmly faced the perturbed Abraham, who had not expected to find anyone awake, and while he was struggling to speak some word out of his full and overburdened heart, she quietly said:

"We are ready to go."

Mechanically Abraham held out the bread and the bottle of water which he had brought with him, and placed them upon her shoulder. He was too overcome by astonishment to question: "Who told you?" He wondered if an angel had spoken to her and thus made his [illegible] taking task easier.

"The Lord th's night hath spoken good concerning the lad," at last he managed to say, as Hagar and Ishmael turned to go. "He hath declared that of him He will make a great nation."

Hagar nodded by way of reply, while Ishmael looked doggedly before him. Then they walked away towards the south in the gray of the early morning, and Abraham stood with bowed head and tear-dimmed eyes watching them until at last they were lost to view in the distance.

"Why art thou astir so early, and where hast thou been?" queried Sarah as Abraham returned to his tent with slow and heavy step.

"God hath granted thy wish," responded Abraham, with choking voice, averting his face that his wife might not see the tears which welled from his eyes. "They are gone."

And out in the wilderness of Beersheba Hagar wandered alone with her son. Alone? Nay, did she but know it, the Lord was near to comfort and help her in her need. But she felt alone. Desolation and death seemed to lie before her. She struggled to remember what the angel had promised her concerning the lad, she tried to find comfort in the assuring words which Abraham had spoken as she departed, but the wilderness surrounded her, no shelter opened to receive her, no hand was visible to help, and the distress of the moment drove all other thoughts away.

And Ishmael, trudging on in silence by his mother's side, noted the deepening look of distress in her face, felt the spirit of her discouragement, and within him there rose a purpose and ambition which he had not known before. During that walk in the wilderness Ishmael, the boy, was transformed into Ishmael, the brave-hearted man of the wilderness. The hopes which he had had as a son of Abraham faded before the enlarging ambition which came as he realized the old life was behind, gone forever, and that before him were new possibilities and untried powers. He tried to comfort his mother, but she would not be comforted.

"Let us rest here, for we cannot go farther to-night," said Hagar, wearily, as they came to a sheltered place amidst the rocks where the grasses grew. Seating themselves, they ate of the bread and quenched their thirst, and then prepared to lie down to sleep.

"To-morrow we will press on towards mine own country," spoke Hagar, half to herself, giving expression to the thought which was running through her mind. And then, moved by an impulse born of the old memories that crowded in upon her, she told Ishmael of Egypt, of her early life there, of her service in Pharaoh's household, and of how she had been given to Sarah, Abraham's wife, when she and Abraham had been sent away.

"That was many years ago," concluded the mother, thoughtfully, "but surely there will be some one who will remember Hagar and give her shelter."

The boy listened to the story attentively, but his mind kept reverting to the words which Abraham had spoken as they departed that morning. In fact they had been running through his mind all day, and his mother's story and the thought of going to Egypt did not seem to attract him.

"What did he mean, mother?" at last asked the boy, speaking that which was uppermost in his heart.

"Who? What?" she questioned, in perplexity.

"Why, Father Abraham! Don't you remember he declared that God had said that He would make of me a great nation?"

The mother started. She had been so filled with the thought of getting back to Egypt, of finding a haven there, that she had for the moment forgotten the promises concerning Ishmael. And while she tried to explain as best she could the boy dropped off to sleep. But his question started a new train of thought for her. Again she recalled the words of the angel: "He will be a wild man; his hand will be against every man, and every man's hand against him." Surely this could not mean Egypt. And in her sleep that night Hagar dreamed that a great mountain rose up and filled the pathway to Egypt and a hand pointed back to the wilderness.

And in obedience to the thought and the impression of the night Hagar continued her wanderings in the wilderness, and another day dragged out its weary lengths and again they lay down to rest with the silent stars as watchers. Footsore and weary they started the next morning after having partaken of their last bit of bread and having drained their last drop of water from the leathern bottle. Fierce did the sun beat down upon them, and fevered became their heads and parched their lips. At last Ishmael, completely overcome, sank to the earth, unconscious, and with breaking heart the mother half dragged, half carried him to the shelter of some shrubs growing near.

Seizing the water bottle, she tried to squeeze from it one refreshing drop of water to cool the racing fever of the boy, but only the dry crackling of the skin came to mock her efforts. In the frenzy of her grief she flung it from her, and then realizing how powerless she was to give her boy any relief, and unable longer to look upon his unconscious suffering face, she fled from the spot, weeping bitterly, and crying:

"Let me not see the death of the child!"

And in that moment of her anguish she lifted her streaming eyes to heaven, and cried for help.

And the angel of God called to Hagar out of heaven, and said unto her:

"What aileth thee, Hagar? Fear not; for God hath heard the voice of the lad where he is. Arise, lift up the lad and hold him in thine hand; for I will make of him a great nation."

And God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water; and she went, and filled the bottle with water, and gave the lad drink. "And God was with the lad; and he grew, and dwelt in the wilderness, and became an archer. And he dwelt in the wilderness of Paran: and his mother took him a wife out of the land of Egypt."

TARIFF TUMULT IS RAGING.

Trouble in the Republican Camp Over President Roosevelt's Panama Policy.

It is deeply significant to find republican newspaper, and representative ones, over the country generally applauding the Roosevelt and Taft policy of purchasing the Panama supplies where they may be bought cheapest; and especially to find the authoritative admission in these papers that tariff revision is a live issue.

For many, many moons, says the St. Louis Republic, the republican press of the nation has been with one voice declaring the tariff question dead; they have sung one long continuous and joyful requiem over its alleged demise.

The abrupt abandonment of high tariff logic by the administration has jolted a new tune out of them.

There is not a paper in the country with the temerity to oppose the plan of buying Panama supplies in the cheapest market. Those which do frankly indorse the plan to dodge the issue with discursive and disingenuous prattle about the principle of protection and high wages; but even these latter cannot argue around the well-known fact that the protected trusts can and do sell goods at a reduced rate abroad and still make a profit on them, which is to say that the reduced price does not affect American wages. The American high wages do not necessitate the high rates charged to American consumers. A reduction of the tariff would be an unqualified gain for the consumer—a gain without a loss to the wage earners.

When republican papers admit these truths it is time to proclaim the complete resuscitation of the tariff issue. Tariff discussion is in nothing less than a tumultuous state. The stand-pat politicians are metaphorically standing up on their hind legs and "hollering." The republican party has been convicted both by the logic of its own conduct and out of its own mouth. President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft for the party admit that its "protection" pretensions are out of date. They propose to behave as free-traders and overstep the schedules which by their action they brand as extortionate and fraudulent.

They must either evade the tariff or cheat the taxpayers and the treasury. They very properly and wisely choose the course which hurts the party, but does not hurt the people. They could not buy the goods at home without paying tribute to boggish combines and defrauding the people.

Naturally the party's pet trusts are at the bottom of the howl. Their sacred cries, per the mouths of the politicians to whom they contribute in campaign time and whom they generally maintain in the interim, fill the land. But the press, which is closer to the people and does not necessarily depend upon political victories for sustenance, is telling the truth. It is self-evident truth within easy view of all the people, and the republican papers, even if they desired, would not dare attempt to gainsay it. Moreover the republican papers know full well that the majority of republicans throughout the country have been for some time cognizant of tariff evils and in favor of revision. The tariff issue is decidedly alive and kicking.

POINTS AND OPINIONS.

—In the cabinet, out of the cabinet, $50,000 a year. Next!—N. Y. World.

—The railroad idea of controlling railroad rates seems to be control congress.—Atlanta Journal.

—It seems that Secretary Taft arose from the "lid" long enough to recline for a moment or two on the "standpatters."—The Commoner.

—The Washington Post says: "Secretary Shaw's deficit stands pat." It looks like it is moving forward all the time.—Wilmington (N. C.) Messenger.

—The cabinet member who advised President Roosevelt to settle the Bowen-Loomis difficulty by removing both of them from office came as near to the vox populi as that elusive voice is apt to get to the official telephone.—Albany Argus.

—What a patient people we are, the land frauds although by far the greatest ever perpetrated in this country hardly create a ripple on the political pond, and yet we have United States senators and congressmen involved and the end is not yet.

—Our "stand pat" friends recognize the deficit and suggest more taxation of the internal sort to meet it. Why not stop the waste that Senator Hemenway laments? Do certain statesmen look for popularity in fresh taxes?—Buffalo News (Rep.).

—It is said that Secretary Shaw is ambitious to be the next president of the United States. Think of the man's trusting himself through a long and exciting campaign on that thank-the-Lord-for-high-prices platform of his!—Binghampton Leader.

—"I am going to give some thought to the question of tariff and revenue," says Mr. Sibley, of Pennsylvania. When a Pennsylvania member thinks real hard about the tariff, you can usually count on the contract being let to add several new layers to the top of the Chinese wall.—Albany Argus.

—Secretary Shaw is seeking to cultivate the notion that the federal deficit is a trivial affair, hardly worth talking about. The secretary's idea is that a deficit yields readily to the "touch," and the people have it to burn.—Binghamton (N. Y.) Leader.

—The American Protective Tariff league suggests an appeal to the courts to compel the United States to pay Dingley tariff rates on any Panama canal supplies bought in foreign countries. That question will cause a lot of trouble until Sereno Payne comes forward and tells the administration what to do.—Washington Post.

REPUBLICANS IN A RUCTION

Members of the Party Who Are Not in Sympathy with Governmental Policies.

The threat to purchase Panama canal supplies in the cheapest market may be said to constitute the cap-sheaf of the administration's grain cock of offense to the sensibilities of the republican statesmen who are not in sympathy with the new drift in governmental policies; and it is said that three cabinet officers, Secretaries Shaw, Wilson and Metcalf, are so displeased with this latest turn of affairs that there is a possibility that they will cease to be members of the president's official family. Secretary Shaw, stanch "standpatter" that he is, is said to be uncompromisingly hostile to this cheapest-market proposition, and it is thought possible that his attitude may lead to his early retirement from the cabinet.

As to the question of congress's taking action to compel the purchase of supplies in the American market, it is thought that the matter will be permitted to rest where it is, in view of the certainty that any attempt to force the procurement of supplies in this country would lead to a revisionist agitation that might prejudicially affect the case of the high protectionists. It is said that, as a rule, callers at the white house are in expression of approval of the president's policy, not only in respect to the tariff question, but also as regards the matter of railway-rate regulation. Representative Charles R. Davis, of the Third Minnesota district, who is a pronounced advocate of the president's rebate and canal-purchase policies, is quoted as saying, after a visit to the white house:

"Congress will have to wrestle with this (the canal-purchase) problem, and it will have a big thing on hand. It may open the door for revision of the tariff, both for increased revenue and for other purposes. There is a sentiment for tariff revision along certain lines, and this may afford the opportunity that has so long been sought.

"As to the rebate proposition, the president is right, and our section of the country will uphold him in the fullest sense. It is a dead-sure thing that we are not going to let the senate committee or interstate commerce fix this thing for us. We propose to have a suitable law covering this question and it will not be unfair to the railroads. If the roads are not violating laws they need not be afraid of legislation that will protect the country."

It looks, therefore, says the Albany Argus, as if congress would have enough on its hands at the next session without essaying action that will lead to an agitation of the tariff question and provoke a popular demonstration in demand for revision. The administration has got the reactionist statesmen in that state of mind that is described as guessing.

THE HOGS IN THE TROUGH

Tariff-Bloated Manufacturers Howling Over the President's Policy.

"To sum up the president's sentiments in the case, he is determined that 'the hogs shall take their feet out of the trough,'" says "a close friend" of Mr. Roosevelt to the Washington correspondent of the Tribune, in commenting on the Panama open-market order.

"He believes it little short of criminal for the big manufacturers to charge the home consumers a third more or double the price for goods than is charged the people of Europe." Is it any wonder the tariff-bloated manufacturers are "howling" over such heresy?

"Congress will soon stop this open-market business," threatens Mr. Dalzell. He is as cocksure about it as if duties affecting the steel trust were his personal affair. But will congress or even the republican majority in the house rebuke President Roosevelt? Do Messrs. Dalzell and Grosvenor, for instance, imagine that they can command a stronger following than the administration?

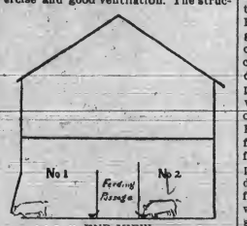
How will they go about it to prove, when the deficit is rolling up into the tens of millions and new taxes are proposed, that the taxpayers do not care if the Panama canal costs an extra $20,000,000 so long as a few tariff favorites are enriched? And if they are beaten, what then? Will there not be danger that all the tariff revisionists, with the president at their head, will come down on the fold of Dingleyism?

If the "outraged" manufacturers are wise they will call off their spokesmen in congress and grade their prices to meet the government's needs without more ado. If they prefer a fight, they may feel to their lasting regret the temper of this new big stick which Mr. Roosevelt has imported from Panama. If President Roosevelt really sets to work to make "the hogs take their feet out of the trough," a revision of the Dingley schedules in the interests of the domestic consumer is likely to become as much of a live issue as railroad rate regulation.

—Some of the tariff experts are inclined to concede that a man may stand pat and yet not find it advisable to see the play through to a finish.—Washington Star.

—The president's letter regretting the departure of Secretary Morton from the cabinet is certainly all that Secretary Morton could desire.—Boston Globe.

—The Portland Oregonian thinks the president was quite justified in cutting short his vacation to face troubles that awaited him at Washington. They are catalogued: "Bowen-Loomis-Venezuela imbroglio; Oregon land fraud cases; beef trust scandal; oil trust investigation; railroad rebate problem; tobacco trust inquiry; treasury deficit; Germany's threat of tariff retaliation; San Domingo row; Japanese-Russian war; federal appointments."

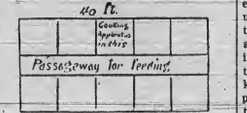


PENS FOR FATTENING.

In Pork Raising, the Most Important Matter Is Careful Selection of Shoats.

One of the most important things in pork raising is to buy the number of healthy young shoats you desire to fatten, if you do not have enough from your own brood sows. If you buy them from your neighbor, or raise them yourself, be sure that they belong to a hardy and easy-feeding family, says the Orange Judd Farmer.

These should be put into a large well-built barn with plenty of room for exercise and good ventilation. The structure I now have, Fig. 1, is a two-story building 20 feet wide and 40 feet long.



END VIEW.

The upper story is divided into three feed bins with chutes extending to a cooking apparatus near the middle of the lower floor.

On the lower story, Fig. 2, I have two rows of pens separated by a passageway running lengthwise. A trough nearly 8 feet long is in each pen at the side nearest the feeding passage. Into this trough the water and the carefully cooked meals are poured over a 6-inch board which slants downward from the feeding passage to the side of the trough. One pen is used as a cooking-room.

Along the sides of the hog barn on the outside are nine uncovered pens, corresponding in width to the inside pens. They are 16 feet long, and are separated from the inside of the barn by a door hung on hinges at the top, so that it may easily swing either way when a hog pushes against it.

GROUND PLAN.

During the summer I give the smaller pigs the run of a two-acre orchard. A small creek flows through this orchard and in it the pigs take an occasional bath, thus keeping their skin clean and healthy as well as getting rid of the tormenting flies. Only the shoats are allowed to enjoy the run in the orchard, as the older hogs are kept in confinement in order that they may assimilate their food properly.

Pointer to Beginners.

In taking up a breed of fowls the amateur should be careful to select a breed for which there is not only a good demand at the present time, but for which there promises to be a demand in the future. The future popularity of a variety of fowls cannot always be judged by its present popularity, which may be only spasmodic. The variety that has maintained its popularity year after year is the best one for the amateur to tie to. There are plenty of this kind and they will be as popular ten years hence as they are to-day, or more so. It is an old saying that "you cannot down a good man," and it is equally true that you cannot down a good variety of fowls. Merit wins in spite of all obstacles. We would advise the amateur to be careful in making a selection.—Farmers' Review.

Fiber in Feeds.

There is one point that some feeders lose sight of and that is the value of fiber in feed of cows or in fact of any animals adapted to the consumption of fresh and dried grasses. Fiber is coming to be recognized as a very important constituent of the feed of cows. Where it has been ignored, as in the great feeding yards connected with distilleries, the results have not been good. Just how much fiber the cow must have in her food to do her best is not now known, but the more it is investigated the more does it appear that the amount is quite large. We can easily overdo the matter of feeding concentrates.—Farmers' Review.

To Catch the Lightning.

Ground your wire-fences with a wire and iron rod so lightning will go down easily. Thousands of dollars' worth of stock are electrocuted every summer by these wire fences.

The Reliable Incubator.

The incubator does not have to get "broody" before beginning its work. It is always ready. Neither does it change its opinion about continuing the work.

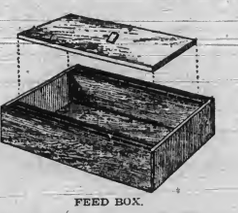
Don't stop feeding the hens shells just because they are out-of-doors and can shift for themselves. There is no line, not even an imaginary one, between the days when the hen likes shells and when she does not. All days are alike, in that respect.—Farm Journal.

MEAT AS CHICKEN FOOD.

Rhode Island Experimental Station Tells of Several Tests in This Direction.

In a recent report of experiments in feeding chickens, the Rhode Island experimant station says:

"The use of the proper proportion of animal food will pay a handsome profit through decreased mortality and increased weight of the chicks. In feeding bear in mind that chicks in a state of nature spend practically all of their working hours in search of food, and that they do not fill their crops in ten minutes every two hours. Feeding should be, as far as the time of the attendant renders profitable, a continuous process, but by no means a continuous gorge.



"The experiment which led up to this conclusion was with an incubator hatch of 219 chickens. These were separated into lots of about 50 each and placed in similar brooders. For 30 days all conditions were kept alike except the rations. Pen A was fed a balanced ration of grains, meat and green food. The chicks grew and thrived and not one chick showed symptoms of digestive disorder. The deaths amounted to 3.9 per cent. In pen B all animal food was withheld; the deaths were 9.5 per cent. of which 75 per cent. had bowel trouble. Pen C was fed on grain alone, all animal food and all green food being omitted from the ration; the deaths were 32.7 per cent., of which 76.5 per cent. showed digestive trouble. In pen D all grain food was omitted; the deaths of chicks were 63.7 per cent, of which 85.8 per cent. showed bowel trouble. All the living chicks were weighed at the close of the test, and pen A showed the greatest average weight for all breeds.

"This experiment shows conclusively that outside of brooding and conditions during incubation chicks may be killed by improper feeding. Where one does not wish to buy the prepared beef scraps, the bones and scraps from the table will go far toward feeding the baby chicks at first if put in shape so they can eat them."

A HOME-MADE FEEDER.

Farmer Sends Sketch of Device of His Own Design Which Is Composite of Several Others.

I send you a sketch of an outdoor feeder of my own design that I use for stimulative feeding. It combines some of the principles of the Miller, Simplicity and Manum feeders, says S. G. Kilgore, in Gleanings in Bee Culture. To make take a common 12-pound shipping case; knock off the two glass sides and replace with a piece five-sixteenths inch thick, same size as sides. Then cut four pieces the same thickness, and place two on each side on the inside so there will be two spaces for the feet to come up in, each one-half inch wide. In putting these boards in they should be one-fourth inch from the bottom of the box. Run melted paraffine around on the inside of the box to stop any leaks, and to keep sirup from soaking into the wood; and, lastly, put on a cover with a small hole in the top with a button to cover it, and our feeder is complete. No bees can drown in this feeder, and it holds much more than the Simplicity. When it needs refilling push the button back; put in the funnel and fill. I feed up till clover blooms, and never have robbing. For larger feeder I use a 24-pound case with three troughs for feed.

FEED BOX.

SELF-VENTILATING COOP.

Poorly-Aired Chicken Apartments Are Cause for Many Deaths Among Fowls.

More chickens are injured by poorly ventilated coops than from any other cause, says the Prairie Farmer. The coops must be closed at night for fear of enemies, and so, too often, the chicks suffer for fresh air. Take a grocery box and nail three or four hoops over the top. Over them stretch cotton and secure the ends and edges, as shown in the cut. The air will now gently circulate in the coop all night, though the slatted front be closed. Hinge the front, as shown, to provide shade for hen and chicks.

Feeding Young Lambs.

When the lambs are two weeks old, they can be taught to eat a little grain. Ground oats and peas and linseed meal make a good ration. When a little older add a little cracked corn to the ration.—Farm Journal.

Not the Hive, But Management.

It is not always the kind of hive that accounts for a large crop of honey. Right management and attention to business go a long ways farther.

If the best results are to be expected in sheep husbandry, some succulent food must be provided. Mangels and turnips are best and are very cheaply grown.—Farm Journal.

Have you ever tried boiling the small potatoes for the hogs? Grand feed for them. They relish the tubers and they make splendid feed.

TO ARRANGE PEACE.

Washington Was Selected as the Meeting Place.

M. Nelidoff Has Already Accepted the Chairmanship of the Russian Mission—Conference To Convene the Middle of August.

St. Petersburg, June 19.—Russia has finally and definitely accepted Washington as the meeting place of the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries, the foreign office having waived its request for reconsideration at the personal direction of the emperor, whose desire to give the fullest and fairest opportunity to President Roosevelt's proposal for a peace conference is thereby manifested.

In certain quarters here envy and jealousy of the United States are ill-concealed. The entire collapse of the negotiations was predicted Saturday and there was almost open exultation at what was declared to be a "rebuff to Roosevelt."

Washington, June 19.—Russia and Japan have tentatively decided each to appoint three plenipotentiaries to represent them in the Washington conference. M. Nelidoff, it is understood, has already accepted the chairmanship of the Russian mission, and is being consulted about selection of his associates, but Washington has not yet heard whether Marquis Ito's health will permit him to come as the ranking Japanese plenipotentiary. The belief here is that Field Marshal Yamagata will be designated in Ito's place should the marquis be unable to accept. It is expected that the conference will convene here about the middle of August.

Pending the official announcement of the plenipotentiaries little progress toward the arrangement of an armistice is being attempted on either side.

A RAILWAY DISASTER.

Twenty-Five People Killed in a Collision on Western Maryland Road.

Baltimore, June 19.—The death roll of Saturday night's disaster on the Western Maryland railroad now roots up 25 and this number is likely to be increased from among the list of those grievously mangled. All the dead were employes of the railroad returning to their homes in the small towns along the railroad to spend Sunday. With the exception of the train crews they had been at work repairing the damage done to the roadbed ten days ago by a minor freight wreck at Mt. Hope Station, near this city. The train, which was No. 5 passenger, west-bound, carried a large number of passengers, all the coaches being filled.

The fearful impact drove the passenger tender into the baggage car and demolished it and the mail car. In an instant the scene resembled a shambles. Along the track on both sides were scattered dead and frightfully mangled men, while most of those who had been in the baggage car and on the engines were pinioned in the wreckage out of immediate reach of helping hands.

TEAMSTERS' STRIKE.

Matter Taken Out of the Hands of Shea and the Board of Strategy.

Chicago, June 19.—It is freely predicted by both the members of the Employers' association and labor leaders that the teamsters' strike, which has been in progress for over two months, will be a thing of the past before the end of the present week. Efforts are now being made in two different directions to bring about an adjustment of the difficulty. According to one of the officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor the strike will be called off entirely by the strikers themselves. As a step toward this end, it was decided at an executive meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor to begin missionary work with members of the Teamsters' Joint Council. The plan is to work on these officials and bring a majority of them to favor calling off the strike.

THE DEATH OF GEN. GOMEZ.

Flags of Every Nation Represented at Havana at Half-Mast.

Havana, June 19.—The flags of every nation represented in Havana are at half-mast over the legations and consulates in honor of the death of Gen. Maximo Gomez, and from Cabanas fortress a gun booms every half hour. In every street there are long rows of Cuban flags draped in mourning and even the poorest tenements have crepe tied to the windows. The Spanish club joined in the mourning by hoisting the Castilian flag at half-mast. The body of Gen. Gomez was taken to the palace where it now lies in state in the principal salon surrounded by great masses of flowers sent by relatives, friends, comrades, the government departments and social and political organizations.

The King of Norway.

London, June 19.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Mail says he learns on excellent authority that the majority of the members of the Swedish riksdag are ready to accept King Oscar's third son, Prince Karl, as king of Norway.

To Settle Far Eastern Affairs.

London, June 19.—According to the Daily Mail's Paris correspondent, Emperor William has been sounding the powers with the object of convening an international conference to settle far eastern affairs.

GOOD NEWS FOR PIE LOVER

Yankee Genius Invents a Wood Pulp Plate That Banishes Indigestion Forever.

Bangor, Me.—"There is hope!" The dreaded indigestion that lurks in the famous Yankee pie is now averted by the patent wood-pulp pie plate which is being turned out at rate of 300,000 a day for one-fifth of a cent apiece by a pulp mill in Shawmut village.

The Yankee love of pie is only held in check by the Yankee caution against indigestion caused by the bottom crust being heavy from the lard and other fats which are baked into the pie and have no chance of escape. The tin pie plate, which has hitherto served as the cooking utensil for the pie, has always allowed a greater or less accumulation of this indigestible material at the bottom of the pie.

"A genius from the Vermont "pie belt," where they have pie three times a day, conceived the idea of a porous pie plate which would absorb the fatty substances of the lard when the pie was baked. He experimented with various substances and finally hit on wood pulp, which can be worked up into pie plates with ease and accuracy. He rolled out a pie plate of wood-pulp, let it harden and baked a pie on it. Result—no fatty undercrust, no indigestion, and complete immunity from harm on the most unlimited pie diet.

He took his scheme to the big pulp makers at Shawmut, and a pie plate factory has been established there which is turning out sheaves of "non-indigestible" pie plates to an impatient market.

WENT FOR YEARS UNSHORN

Death of California Democrat Who Made a Vow in Lincoln's Time —Was Old School Gambler.

Marysville, Cal.—The most radical and picturesque of all California democrats is dead here, in the eightieth year of his age. "Jim" Bayse, the deceased, for a quarter of a century kept inviolate a vow made when Abraham Lincoln was elected president by the republican party. He at that time entered into a solemn compact with himself that his hair would not be shorn nor his walking stick be allowed to rest on the ground until the democracy would again secure the governmental reins. And so it was that during all the years between Lincoln and Grover Cleveland Bayse carried his cane under his arm or grasped it in the middle as it lay horizontally in his hand, and never came in contact with the barber's shears.

He was of the old school of gamblers, and, like all his class, had a large heart and an innate pride. On the election of Cleveland a coterie of his republican admirers made up a purse and presented him with a gold-headed cane in recognition of his steadfastness in the keeping of his vow.

Blasts Rout Sitting Hens.

Farmers along the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad near West Chester, Pa., have a somewhat unusual complaint. They will probably not bring suit against the company, but they claim their hens will not sit, and that the company is to blame. The building of the new low grade freight line is causing all the trouble. A large amount of blasting is being done, and the farmers claim the hens will not remain on the nests while it is in progress. They also say the shock of the blasts kills the little chicks before they are hatched. There will be few little chickens along the main line this spring.

MARKET REPORT.

Cincinnati, June 17.

CATTLE—Common	$3 25	@	4 25
Heavy steers	5 35	@	5 50
CALVES—Extra		@	6 25
HOGS—Ch. packers	5 35	@	5 40
Mixed packers	5 25	@	5 35
SHEEP—Extra	4 10	@	4 15
LAMBS—Spring	7 15	@	7 25
FLOUR—Spring pat.	6 00	@	6 35
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	1 02	@	1 04
No. 3 red		@	92
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	57
No. 2 white		@	57½
RYE—No. 2	81	@	83
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	33
HAY—Ch. timothy		@	11 50
PORK—Clear mess.		@	14 15
LARD—Steam		@	6 70
BUTTER—Ch. dairy		@	13
Choice creamery		@	21½
APPLES—Choice	3 25	@	3 75
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 25	@	1 50
TOBACCO—New	5 00	@	13 00
Old	4 50	@	14 75

Chicago.

FLOUR—Winter pat.	5 10	@	5 20
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	98
No. 3 red	98	@	1 05
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	54½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	31½
RYE—No. 2		@	77
PORK—Mess	12 65	@	12 70
LARD—Steam	7 20	@	7 22½

New York.

FLOUR—Win. st'ts.	4 60	@	4 65
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 06
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	61½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	35½	@	37½
RYE—Western		@	82
PORK—Family	13 47½	@	13 75
LARD—Steam	7 10	@	7 25

Baltimore.

WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 00
CORN—No. 2 mixed.	58½	@	58¾
CATTLE—Steers	4 00	@	4 50
SHEEP—No. 1	3 50	@	3 50

Louisville.

WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	98
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	56
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	35
PORK—Mess		@	11 00
LARD—Steam		@	6 50

Indianapolis.

WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	98½
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	48
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	30¾

MADE NEW STRENGTH

QUICKER THAN DOCTOR'S TONICS, SAYS TYPHOID PATIENT.

Young Lady Left by Fever in Very Weak State Uses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with Gratifying Results.

After a fever, such as typhoid or scarlet, has run its full course there remains the recovery of strength. The tonic that will most rapidly increase the red corpuscles in the blood is the one that will most quickly restore color to the pale cheeks, strength to the weak muscles, and elasticity to the sluggish nerves. So far nothing has ever been produced superior to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for this purpose.

Miss Midendorf had been ill with typhoid fever for fourteen weeks. She had a good physician who carried her safely through the critical stages. When he left, nothing remained to be done except to build up her strength, which was very feeble, and he gave her some prescriptions for that purpose. Here, however, she met with disappointment.

"I took the doctor's tonics," she says, "for two months after I had recovered from the fever, but they did not do me the good I looked for. My strength came back so slowly that I scarcely seemed to be making any progress at all. Just then I read in a book thrown in our yard some striking testimonials showing what wonderful blood-builders and strength-givers Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are. I got a box of them soon after this and after I had taken only about half of them I could see a very great improvement in my condition. When I had used up two boxes, I felt that I did not need any more medicine. I have remained strong ever since."

Miss E. B. Midendorf lives at No. 1501 Park street, Quincy, Ill. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best remedy to use in all cases of weakness, from whatever cause the system may be run down. In cases of debility due to overwork they minister fresh strength and overcome nervous symptoms. They are a specific for anemia or bloodlessness. They are particularly helpful to girls on the verge of womanhood. They meet all the requirements of the period known as the change of life. They correct spring languor. They strengthen weak digestion and rouse up sluggish organs. No other tonic combines so many virtues. All druggists sell them.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Where?

"Do you think women are fonder than men?" he asked.

"No," replied the old bachelor. "Where is there a man who would work half as hard at anything as the average woman does to fool people c- her age?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

No More Liquor Cures.

A London doctor announces that one will never want to drink if one will sit on a dish of apples. The drinking should now stop.

KYLE SLEPT PRETTY WELL.

But the Drummers in Neighboring Rooms Could Not Say as Much.

Representative Kyle, of Ohio, has a high, sweet tenor voice, and is known to his colleagues as "the sweet singer from Ohio." He is in great demand at dinners, where he sings old Scotch songs melodiously, says a Washington paper. When he was out campaigning in his district last fall he arrived at a country hotel where half a dozen drummers were to put up for the night also. Kyle told the landlord he wanted a quiet room where he could sleep undisturbed, as he was very tired.

Next morning at breakfast the drummers were protesting loudly because their rest had been disturbed by the snoring of the man in room 16. They variously described the snoring as the worst they had ever heard. Most of them said they had not slept a wink.

"How did you sleep?" asked one of the drummers of Kyle.

"Fine," said Kyle; "never heard a thing from the time I struck the bed until this morning. I got a great night's rest."

"In heaven's name, where did you sleep?" asked the drummers.

"In room 16," Kyle replied.

No Room for Doubt.

"So you are going to marry the dude bookkeeper, are you," said the restaurant cashier. "Well, I hope you will be happy."

"Sure I will," answered the blonde waitress. "He makes $20 a week and weighs 35 pounds less than I do. Happy? Well, I guess yes!"—Chicago Daily News.

Plenty of Poor.

Moderate wealth is defined by a magazine writer as "annual income of not less than $2,000 nor more than $10,000 a year." If this is correct a lot of moderately wealthy people are to-day in straitened circumstances.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Agricultural and Horticultural Colonies on the Kansas City Southern Railway.

Lockesburg Colony in Sevier County, Arkansas, containing about 30,000 acres, and Loring Colony in Sabine Parish, Louisiana, containing about 24,000 acres, are now open for settlement. Lands range in price from $7.00 to $15.00 per acre, and are sold on easy terms to actual settlers. Lockesburg Colony is well suited for General Farming, stock raising and commercial fruit growing. Loring Colony lies in a splendid fruit, truck and tobacco region, and is good for corn and cotton also. Both are situated in a beautiful country, with a healthy climate and excellent water. Write for books concerning Lockesburg and Loring Colonies and "Current Events" Magazine to S. G. Warner, G. P. & T. A., K. C. S. Ry., Kansas City, Mo.; F. E. Roesler, Immigration Agt., K. C. S. Ry., Kansas City, Mo.

"Riches may hab wings when dey's goin'," said Uncle Eben, "but when dey's comin' dey seems to travel on crutches."—Washington Star.

Let Libby Serve Your Soup

Tomato, Julienne, Consommé, Chicken, Mulligatawney, or Oxtail will please the most fastidious. They are quickly prepared—delicious to eat—always satisfactory.

Libby's (Natural Flavor) Food Products

Corned Beef Hash — Boneless Chicken — Vienna Sausage
Ox Tongues — Soups — Ham Loaf

Your Grocer has them.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

Punishment to Fit the Crime.

Judge—It seems to me I've seen you before.

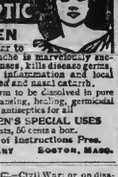
Prisoner—You have, my lord. I used to give your daughter singing lessons.

"Twenty years."—Answers.

I Always Had a Headache

but since using Dr. Pinebeck's Kuro it has disappeared entirely. This is the best medicine I ever used and I have informed many in Clayton about it.

Robert Gold, Clayton, Wash.



When a man undertakes to prove his importance he is inclined to overstep the mark.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

ALL DONE OUT.

Veteran Joshua Heller, of 706 South Walnut Street, Urbana, Ill., says: "In the fall of 1899 after taking Doan's Kidney Pills I told the readers of this paper that they had relieved me of kidney trouble, disposed of a lame back with pain across my loins and beneath the shoulder blades. During the interval which has elapsed I have had occasion to resort to Doan's Kidney Pills when I noticed warnings of an attack. On each and every occasion the results obtained were just as satisfactory as when the pills were first brought to my notice. I just as emphatically endorse the preparation to-day as I did over two years ago."

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., proprietors. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

Combines with this peculiar toning and cleansing power a positive destruction of disease germs. As a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness, cures incontinent and nasal catarrh.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

PENSIONS on age at C.—Civil War, or on disability, any war, and for widows, have records of municipal soldiers' service, and ages of Ohio men. 22 years practice. Lawyers and advice free. A. D. McCORMICK & SONS, 618 Walnut St., CINCINNATI, O.

$25.00 Cream Separator

FOR $25.00 we will ship you, subject to examination, one DOMORE CREAM SEPARATOR, capacity 300 pounds per hour; the capacity of most $50.00 machines is only 250 pounds; capacity per hour of $34.00 machine is 350 pounds. Guaranteed the equal of Separators that retail everywhere at from $75.00 to $125.00.

OUR OFFER. If you want a Cream Separator on our $25 proposition, write the binding understanding and agreement that you do not find it to be exactly as represented in this ad. cut at once and send it to us, and you will receive by return mail, free, postpaid, our LATEST SPECIAL CREAM SEPARATOR CATALOGUE. You will get our big offer and our free trial proposition and you will receive the MOST ASTONISHINGLY LIBERAL CREAM SEPARATOR OFFER EVER HEARD OF. Address

SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., CHICAGO.

SUMMER

"WHERE COOLING BREEZES BLOW"

Long Island

THE IDEAL TERRITORY FOR A SUMMER HOME OR AN OUTING

250 miles of coast line on Ocean, Sound and Bays.

Trending east and west, is cooled in summer by the prevailing south winds from the ocean.

Unexcelled surf and stillwater bathing, boating, driving, automobiling and golfing. Long Island, with its unbounded natural advantages, coupled with the many improvements now in course of construction, is without equal as a location for Summer or Permanent Residence—a land of real home life.

"SUMMER HOMES," a booklet giving list of Hotels and Boarding Houses; postage, 4 cents. "LONG ISLAND," a handsomely illustrated descriptive book; postage, 4 cents. Both free on application, or mailed on receipt of postage by HOWARD M. SMITH, Gen'l Passenger Agt., L. I. R. R., 263 Fifth Ave., NEW YORK CITY.

WANTED

NON-UNION

Compositors

Book and job, for permanent positions in Chicago. Wages first-class men $19.50 Per Week, 54 Hours. Only competent compositors wishing permanent positions need apply. Give references as to character and ability. Address

United Typothetae of America
Monadnock Block, Chicago

CHEAP RATES California, Washington, Oregon, Colorado. We secure reduced rates on homeseeker tickets to the above States for intending settlers. Write for rates. MAP of CALIFORNIA FREE. Frank Continental Freight Co., 8 Eagle Block, Chicago, Ill.

PATENTS 48-page book FREE, highest references. FITZGERALD & CO., Box R., Washington, D. C.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

A. N. K.—E 2079

Constipated All His Life

Wilbert Thompson never knew a well day—he had been constipated all his life—many doctors treated him, but all failed to even help him—his health failed rapidly and on January 21, 1903, Mrs. Thompson asked us to suggest a treatment for her husband. We thought the case too serious and recommended that a specialist be consulted—but he also failed to help the patient—NOW HE IS WELL.

MR. and MRS. WILBERT THOMPSON, 801 Main St., Peoria, Ill.
MULL'S GRAPE TONIC CURED HIM.

Mull's Grape Tonic Cured Him

Mrs. Thompson first wrote us as follows: "My husband, aged 23, suffers from shaky pains in his stomach and sometimes thinks it is his heart. Let me know by return mail what causes the pain, if you can. Mrs. Thompson has been treated by several doctors, but they have given him up."

We promptly advised that a first-class specialist be consulted. We quote: "We want to sell Mull's Grape Tonic, because we know it will cure constipation, but 50c. a bottle is no object to us when a human life is at stake, and if your husband's case is as serious as you state, we suggest you consult a reliable specialist, not the advertising kind, promptly." At the same time, knowing that Mull's Grape Tonic could do no harm, we advised its use until a physician could be consulted. January 25th, Mrs. Thompson wrote that a physician had been consulted. He diagnosed the case as being chronic constipation and dyspepsia. His treatment was followed faithfully, but there was no perceptible improvement in Mr. Thompson's health. Then he began taking Mull's Grape Tonic and on September 3, 1903, we received the following letter from Mrs. Thompson:

"You will remember that I wrote to you last January in regard to my husband's health. It is four months since he quit taking Mull's Grape Tonic for constipation, which he suffered from since birth. He took just 24 bottles of it and is perfectly cured. He is much stronger and has gained considerably in flesh. I cannot thank you enough for Mull's Grape Tonic. It is worth its weight in gold. Just $12 cured him and he has spent hundreds of dollars with doctors who did him no good. It did all you claimed it would."

Very respectfully yours, MRS. W. H. THOMPSON, 801 Main St., Peoria, Ill.

Mr. Thompson stopped taking Mull's Grape Tonic in June, 1903. He has been completely cured and has taken no other medicine since that date. Almost two years and no return of the disease, should prove a permanent cure.

LET US GIVE YOU A BOTTLE

For Hot Weather Ills

CONSTIPATION

Stomach Troubles, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Blood Poison, Skin Diseases, Sores, Sudden Bowel Trouble, Diarrhea, Cholera, Etc.

No one whose bowels are healthy and active contracts these complaints. Invariably they are the result of Constipation which means decayed, poisoned and dying bowels or intestines. Check diarrhea and you are liable to fatal blood poison—a physic makes you worse. There is only one right course and that is to treat the cause. Revive and strengthen the bowels and intestines. We will prove to you that Mull's Grape Tonic cures Constipation and all these terrible Stomach and Bowel troubles because it cleanses the Blood and makes the intestines practically new. It feeds the starved condition and brings them back to life—nothing else will.

WRITE FOR THIS FREE BOTTLE TODAY

Good for siling children and nursing mothers.

The $1.00 bottle contains nearly three times as much as the 50 cent size.

CAUTION: Do not accept MULL'S GRAPE TONIC unless it has a date and number stamped with indelible ink on the label

FREE COUPON

Send this coupon to Mull's Grape Tonic Co., 147 3rd Ave., Rock Island, Ill., and receive an order on your druggist for a free bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic, Blood Tonic and Constipation Cure.

My Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____

Write yours and your druggist's name and address plainly on a separate piece of paper and mail at once with this coupon.

BASE BALL.

The Boones and the Erlangers played in the presence of a small crowd at the Burlington ball park last Saturday afternoon, the score being 21 to 1 in favor of the Boones. It is due the Erlanger team to say that the line-up presented last Saturday did not represent its real strength.

The Anderson Ferry team defeated the Boones again on the grounds of the former by a score of 6 to 2. Hughes pitched the first six innings of the game, after which Houston was put in the box and kept the Anderson Ferry boys digging in the sand the remainder of the game. He was in fine form and Anderson Ferry rejoices that he did not go in the box at first. Hughes has had no practice this season and was in no form.

The Burlington Stars defeated the Meadow Larks, last Saturday, 6 to 5.

The Boones and the Ft. Thomas teams play at the Burlington park again next Saturday afternoon.

The Grays journeyed to Walton, last Saturday, where they played the team at that place a good game until the closing of the ninth inning, when, unfortunately for all concerned, a wild ball got in play, causing a squabble that broke up the game, the score being 6 to 5 in favor of the Grays with one Walton player retired. Some of the Grays refused to play and the umpire called the game 9 to 0 in favor of Walton. The RECORDER has heard two or three statements from each side, and they vary so that it is its unbiased opinion that no one knows the straight of the matter, and therefore declines to permit any newspaper controversary over it.

The Bellevue and Moores Hill ball teams will play at Bellevue next Saturday afternoon.

The Burlington Grays and the Hebrons will play on the grounds of the latter, Saturday afternoon.

The old Confederate B. F. Norman, had some excitement on his trip to Louisville to attend the reunion, last week. He was riding with Deputy Sheriff B. B. Hume to Covington. Mr. Hume was leading a horse behind his buggy, and as they approached the Five Mile House, Mr. Norman had Mr. Hume very much interested in some of his adventures the account of which he was relating, when a negro riding a bicycle came up behind the lead horse, which made a lounge, striking the hind wheel of the buggy, throwing it over, Norman falling on top of Hume. The buggy had patent shafts, which came loose and the horse started to run, Mr. Hume holding to the reins, succeeding in quieting it after it had gone about 30 yards. When he looked back he saw Mr. Norman grasping the negroe's throat, while a big gun was shoved up in his face, exclaiming, "you are under arrest sir." Mr. Hume could not understand where the "old man" got the gun, but upon examination he discovered that his gun had fallen out of his pocket when the vehicle turned over, and that Mr. Norman had discovered it and come out of the wreck with it. The negro thought his time had come, and was speechless, but when everything was straightened up he was restored to liberty, and Hume and Norman continued their trip on to Covington.

On his way to Walton, last Saturday, Capt. Raymond Jackson, of the Grays, and the two young ladies accompanying him, had a very exciting experience. As they were going through Florence the Captain attempted to pass a wagon driven by a dealer in old rags and old iron, when one of his buggy wheels locked with the hind wheel of the rag wagon. The spirited young animal driven by Captain Jackson became frightened and her heels went up in the air several times. Fortunately the Captain and his fair companions escaped injuries of any consequence, but the buggy was broken in several places, while the animal was cut and bruised some about her legs. One wheel on the rag wagon went down in the mix-up. The Captain sent to Erlanger and secured another horse and buggy and continued his journey on to Walton.

The lecture at the Universalist church, last Sunday night, was well attended, and while very instructive it would have been much more interesting had the illustrations been submitted to a more powerful light. The greatest inconvenience of the evening was the misbehavior on the part of some who disregarded the comfort of those who wanted to hear the lecture. Behave or stay away from such places.

A Bad Scare.

Some day you will get a bad scare, when you feel a pain in your bowels, and fear appendicitis. Safety lies in Dr. King's New Life Pills, a sure cure, for all bowel and stomach disease, such as headache, biliousness, costiveness, etc. Guaranteed at all drug stores, only 25c. Try them.

The following came in by telephone, Monday morning from that old Rebel, W. W. Grimsley, residing at the mouth of Big Bone creek: "I am home from last week's Confederate reunion at Louisville, and can say, truly, that I never had a nicer time. Postmaster Thomas H. Baker, of Louisville, about the most prominent Republican in that city, met the Boone county delegation—4 ladies and 20 ex-rebel soldiers—at the boat. He sent the ladies in a hack to his delightful city home, and put the men on a street car and paid their fare to his home. Soon after arriving at Mr. Baker's, who, by the way is a native of Big Bone neighborhood, he sprung that famous brand, "The Blue and the Gray," on the crowd, and each of the twenty experts pronounced it as fine as they ever sampled. Mr. Baker and his estimable wife had made ample arrangements for our entertainment, and they left nothing undone that was calculated to contribute to the comfort and pleasure of their several guests, to each of whom they certainly endeared themselves for all time. Nothing ever passed off nicer than did the reunion, Joe Wheeler's speech alone being worth the time and trip had there been nothing else to enjoy. The procession was two miles in length, Texas and Alabama having the largest delegations. Among the Texans was one old negro who carried his old musket and had his cartridge belt buckled around him, while he carried two live chickens tied to his back. Columbus, Ohio, had a band of Morgan's men in the procession. We visited the Confederate Home at Peewee, and saw Willis Passons, and 200 other old soldiers, and they all said that they are being well cared for. The reunion was a grand success from start to finish, and the Boone county boys will always acknowledge their appreciation of the excellent care taken of them by Thomas Baker and his good wife. We came very near forgetting to mention the large and beautiful Rebel flag that Mr. Baker swung to the breezes at his residence during the reunion."

The month of May was generally pleasant and favorable to plant growth. Some localities report an excess of rain. Farming is well advanced, and crops, generally, in good condition. Wheat on the first of June was in good condition and gave promise of an average yield. But since the first of the month rust has appeared in some localities that will weaken the straw and prevent the head from filling with good, plump berries. To what extent the crop will be injured by this disease can not yet be determined. It is hoped the last few days of dry weather, together with the cool nights, checked the rust in time to insure a fair crop. The usual acreage of oats were sown and promise a good yield. The rye crop is fully up to the standard. About the usual acreage of burley tobacco has been planted. There seems to have been quite a falling in acreage of the dark variety. Meadows, pastures and clover are doing well. It is very gratifying to note that our farmers are experimenting with alfalfa. Too much care and attention can not be given this valuable forage plant. Live stock of all kinds are reported healthy and in good condition. Our State seems to be free from the scourge of hog cholera once more, and it is to be hoped it will be a long time before it makes its appearance among us again. The fruit crop will not be a full one. But nearly all sections will have some, while a few sections will have an abundance. The grape crop, while not a full one, is fair, and there will be plenty for home use. Gardens are early and generally in good condition.—Kentucky Crop Report.

Wm. Fleming, of Constance neighborhood, who fell and hurt himself at Lebanon, Ohio, a few days ago, while working on a telephone line, lost his mind and became violent last Sunday, and was committed to a hospital in Covington.

Following are the dates for holding Kentucky fairs this year:

Crab Orchard—July 19, 3 days.
Madisonville—Aug. 1, 5 days.
Danville—Aug. 2, 3 days.
Harrodsburg—Aug. 8, 4 days.
Fern Creek—Aug. 15, 4 days.
Shepherdsville—Aug. 15, 4 days.
Lawrenceburg—Aug. 15, 4 days.
Guthrie—Aug. 17, 3 days.
Shelbyville—Aug. 22, 4 days.
Springfield—Aug. 23, 4 days.
Nicholasville—Aug. 29, 3 days.
Bardstown—Aug. 30, 4 days.
Florence—Aug. 30, 4 days.
Elizabethtown—Sep. 5, 3 days.
Monticello—Sep. 5, 4 days.
Glasgow—Sep. 13, 4 days.
The Kentucky State Fair, Lexington—September 18, six days.
Henderson—Sep. 26, 6 days.
Falmouth—Sep. 27, 4 days.
Owensboro—Oct. 10, 5 days.

In a few years the red-head wood pecker will be a bird of the past in this part of the country. It likes to have plenty of forest in which to maneuver.

IF YOU INTEND TO GET A NEW BUGGY

Come See us Before Buying.

If you want a factory buggy, we can save you from $10 to $20 on them (the agent's profit). We handle many factory makes. Our long experience has prepared us in selecting a vehicle over those that have not made it a study. To prove what we say TRY US.

If you want a first-class hand-made BUGGY or CARRIAGE come see us, and we will sell you one that cannot be duplicated in the State for the money.

If you want your vehicle PAINTED OR REPAIRED you can get it done Here as Cheap as any one can do it.

All Work Shall be as Represented. BRADFORD BROS., Florence, Ky.

Through Thick And Thin
GRAIN
The McCormick Binder

Has cut its way to enduring fame. No matter how long or short the straw, or in what condition the grain may the McCormick does splendid work. It is, therefore, the farmer's friend, and will remain true to him "through thick and thin," enabling him to increase his profits and materially augment his bank account during the lean as well as during the fat years. You are invited to examine our samples before buying.

Get our Price on Binder Twine Before You Purchase.

STANDARD BINDER McCormick make a special price of 10c per lb. by the bale.

Mersman Hardware Co.,
25 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.
Branch Stores—LUDLOW, KY. LATONIA, KY.

THE FINE YOUNG JACK,

Honest Pat will make the season of 1905 at my stable one mile west of Idlewild, Boone County, Ky., at $8 to insure a living colt, money due when fact is known or mare parted with. Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur. T. E. RANDALL.

H. VON LEHMEN,
—HAND-MADE—
Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,
ALSO SECOND HAND
PHAETONS, PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,
CHEAP.
No. 152 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, - KY.
REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

JOSEPH A. HUEY,
Pleasure Hill Stock Farm,
Union, Ky.,
Presents for public service, season 1905, a sire of Merit,
BRISTO 19732,
Terms of service $10.00 to insure a living foal.

BRISTO is a beautiful black, 15¾ hands, of splendid style and action.

Sired by Baron Wilkes, 2:18, sire of Bumps, 2:03¼, Racnel (4) 2:08¼, Baron Bell, 2:09, Oakland Baron, 2:09½, Rubenstein, 2:05, Dulce Coe, 2:08¼, Centrifice, 2:09, Nydia Wilkes, 2:09 and 116 others in 2:30 list. First dam by Squire Talmage, sire of Strader H., 2:22½, Neva, 2:23¾, Lottie K., 2:26¾, etc. Second dam by Aimont 33, sire of Fannie Witherspoon, 2:16½, Piedmont, 2:17½, Aidine, 2:19½. Third dam by Gold Dust 150, sire Lucille Gold Dust 2:16½, Fleety Gold dust, 2:20, Indicator, 2:23½.

JOSEPH HERRMAN,
—DEALER IN—
FANCY GROCERIES,
SMOKED MEATS,
Fruits & Vegetables
Erlanger, Kentucky.
Opp. Erlanger Deposit Bank.
Eggs and Butter exchanged in trade or cash. Boone county trade solicited.
PLEASE CALL AND GET MY PRICES.
Phone—south 1054 Y—Call 3.

B. L. RICE. M. J. CROUCH.
RICE & CROUCH,
REAL ESTATE
And Note Brokers.
Farms Bought and Sold.
Notes Negotiated. Money to Loan.
Office—UNION, KY.

ANTHONY BENTLER,
AUCTIONEER,
19 Covington Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KY.
Will cry sales anywhere in Boone or Kenton county. Prices reasonable.

"Always Reliable."
W. N. HIND & CO.
Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,
210-12 W. Fifth Street,
Cincinnati, - Ohio.

SPECIALS!

As a further introduction of the quality, style and tailoring of Clothing we are offering, the following prices will prevail

$10.00 For a handsome, carefully finished and up-to-date patterns Men's Suits.
$15.00 For Ready-to-wear Tailor Made Suit, like custom work.
$7.50 Men's Coats and Trouser Suit.

Young Men's Suits..... $7.50
Boys' and Children's Suits..... $3.00
Men's Trousers..... $1.00
Children's Trousers..... 35c

Merchant Tailoring
Favorable prices to our customers, to introduce what can be made for the money.

Max Herbst & Co.
531 Madison Ave., COVINGTON, KY.
Lucian Rice, Mgr. Near Sixth Street.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,
Salvage AND Wrecking Contractors
All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.
BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,
BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.
Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.,
Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.
Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

FARM FOR SALE.
A good farm of 227 acres, near Rabbitt Hash, Boone county, Ky. Capable of being divided.
THOS. N. STEPHENS,
Rabbitt Hash, Ky.

BLACKSMITHING,
Those who want horseshoeing, or repairing of any kind of farm implements done, are requested to call at my shop in Bullittsville. We do any kinds of iron or steel work. GIBBS & SON.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections
Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections.
Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029.
Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged. Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL,..... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits 30,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in..... $50,000
Surplus,... $8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Every Farmer in the County
should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, - Walton, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.
AT UNION 1st MONDAY in each month.

For the Best Flour, Try
OLD KENTUCKY
BLENDED PATENT.
—GUARANTEED.—
For Something Good, Try
VIRGINIA OAK
WINTER PATENT.
—WARRANTED.—
Clifford E. Nadaud,
515 Chamber of Commerce,
CINCINNATI, O.
Room 10 Boone Block,
COVINGTON, KY.

Dr. G. M. Terrill,
DENTIST,
Walnut Street.
LAWRENCEBURG, - INDIANA.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 28, 1905. NO. 37.

County Correspondence.

WALTON.

John Stamler is quite ill.

Mr. Richard Jones is visiting relatives in Walton.

Miss Tina Bieber, of Latonia, is the guest of Miss Curley.

Misses Hulse and Carrie Watson were visiting in Covington, last week.

The Baptist Sunday school gave a picnic at the Florence fair grounds, last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Beverely, of Campbellburg, were pleasant guests of Mr. Walter Beverely and wife a few days since.

A score of 13 to 8 in favor of Walton was the result of the base ball game between Walton and Williamstown, Saturday.

The ladies Aid Society of the Christian church will give a lawn fete in the church yard on the 8th of July. All are cordially invited.

Mrs. Sarah Graham and her cousin, Mrs. Jennie Ramsey, will spend this week with Mrs. Graham's brothers in Nicholasville and Lexington.

TAYLORSLPORT.

The Aphorism, "Nothing succeeds like success," may well be quoted in regard to the ice cream festival held at Taylorsport, Saturday night, June 17, for the benefit of the Organ Fund. The idea was started some months ago, in a modest way, by two pie parties by the young people, realizing the small sum of $10. Then the subject of an ice cream festival was taken up and from start to finish our townpeople and friends near by worked with a will and enthusiasm that must need bring success, and now we wish to extend thanks to everybody for their kindness: Those who donated the delicious cake, of which there were many, and all consumed; those who patronized us from near and far, and especially to Mr. Hubert Conner for the delightful entertainment afforded by his graphophone. We are more than gratified at the sum realized, which assures us of the possibility of securing a good instrument to replace the one donated, and in use ever since the church was built. It was an ideal night for such an entertainment, and perfect order prevailed. Everybody had a good time. C.

RABBIT HASH.

We are to lose two good Democratic votes this fall, by a scheme concocted by the Republicans and carried out by Dr. Hopkins in such a manner that would have put "Red" Hell, of Cincinnato shame in his balmiest days.

We know it is true for the Doctor gave us the particulars. While handling a barrel of sugar last week, Col. C. G. Riddell slipped, sprainingis back very badly, and Dr. Hopkins was called in to attend him. He had to use his electric battery on him. The Doctor says that after giving him all he could stand the Colonel commenced to beg him to let up. Hopkins saw his chance and took advantage of it. He said he would let up under one condition (and all the time he was applying more electricity). "What is that?" feebly asked the Colonel. "Raise your right hand above your head and solemnly swear that you will vote the Republican ticket this fall, or I will give you more." The Colonel told us he had him and he took the oath, but he says he did Bro. Mirrick worse. Bro. Minlick went to have a tooth pulled and the wily Doctor got hold of the wrong tooth, and after having Bro. Minlick down on the floor for about ten minutes, he administered the same oath he did to Riddell. It has caused a great deal of speculation as to what the rest of the Democrats in the neighborhood will do when they want a doctor. The Doctor says he was getting even with Riddell for the oath he administered to Bro Calvert a few weeks ago.

GUNPOWDER.

B. L. Rice and family passed here last Saturday.

J. H. Aylor was hauling corn from Erlanger, last week.

Walter Crigler, of Hebron, attended church at Hopeful Sunday.

O. B. Utz, of Union, was among the visitors at Hopeful, last Sunday.

Miss Lelia Floyd has for her guest this week Miss Oma Hankins, of Hebron.

Mrs. J. C. Hankins, of Hebron, spent a day with Mrs. Florence 'Floyd last week.

Ben Riley and wife, entertained Lawrence Kenney and family, last Sunday.

Mrs. Susie and Miss Jessie Utz, of Buffalo, attended church at Hopeful, last Sunday.

Henry Quick and family, of Hebron, visited his sister Mrs. J. H. Tanner, last Sunday.

Lon Rouse and family, of Erlanger, broke bread with Ephraim Tanner, last Sunday.

Mrs. Arthur Tanner and children, of Ludlow, are visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

Crops of all kinds are doing well and if it continues seasonable the farmer will reap a bountiful harvest.

Robert Norman and family, of Ludlow, spent several days last week with relatives in this neighborhood.

Miss Nellie Scott had for her guests Misses Oma Hankins, Lelia Floyd and P. J. Allen, last Sunday afternoon.

Last week was rather a bad week for harvesting and there has been but little wheat out in this neck of the woods.

William Kirkpatrick, with a full force of men, was doing some good work on our roads last week. Will knows how to fix them.

E. H. Surface out a field of clover, on Monday of last week and there was no time for handling it until last Saturday, on account of the wet weather. He got it in the shock Saturday afternoon.

BELLEVIEW.

James Rogers harvested a fine lot of clover hay last week.

Mrs. Perry Clore and children spent last Sunday with G T. Rue and wife.

Garnett Huey, of Walton, is visiting his grandmother, uncles and aunts here this week.

W. H. Pope, of Huntsville, was calling on your scribe and wife, one afternoon last week.

Mrs. J. Frank Grant, of Baltimore, Md., is here visiting relatives. She arrived last Friday.

Archie L. Acra and Hemp Rogers, of Rising Sun, were over last Saturday looking for hogs.

Heury Wingate and family, of Waterloo, were guests of Mrs. Wingate's parents last Sunday.

Reapers have begun their work in the wheat fields, and the crop here promises a good yield.

Frank Huey and family, of Muncie, Indiana, are visiting relatives here, at Burlington and at Walton.

W. C. Riley and O W. Gaines, of Bullittsville, were inspecting this part of the county, last Saturday.

Mrs. Belle Clore, Mrs. Viola Rogers and Miss Mary Huey visited relatives in Burlington, last Thursday.

Old Reliable, of Sunnyside, was mingling with friends here last Saturday. He surely has found his mate at last—we heard no bowling.

It is but little use to try to make a person more than they were cut out to be. It is an old saying, "you can't make a silk purse out of a sow ear."

We had the pleasure of meeting our old friend, Cyrus Bruce, of Mineral, the other day. He begins to show his age but seems to be enjoying good health.

Daddy Rogers went down to Bellevue, last Saturday evening to see the Kentucky University boys play ball. Daddy says they play ball like he use to play.

Andrew B. Acra, of Middle Creek, passed through last Saturday enroute for Rising Sun. These old batchelors are continually purchasing some new rigging to make a good appearance.

Corn is looking fine; tobacco doing well since the recent rains; oats good; meadows are excelent; gardens never better; potatoes extra and run in size anywhere from a goose egg to a pumpkin.

Elder Edgar C. Riley will be with the Christian church congregation next Sunday, and will preach morning and evening at the usual hours. Sunday school at 7 p. m. All are invited to attend both services.

If you have something to sell the best way is to order an advertisement of the editor, as often your reporter forgets, and often he gets up the advertisement in such an awkward form that people cannot tell whether it is a joke or a guy. So go to headquarters.

RICHWOOD.

Bradberry Bedinger has sold his place to a Mr. Kinney.

Excelsior Grange meets Saturday, July 1st, at 7:30 p. m.

Several of our boys took the trip to High Bridge, Sunday.

Miss Johnnie Carpenter has been quite sick, but is some better.

Miss Ida Grubbs left, Tuesday, for a two weeks' trip through the north.

Wood Carpenter played with Walton ball team against Williamstown.

Wm. Carpenter will move to the N. W. Cor. of Pike and Louisville Aves., next week.

We would like to have Andy Collins as our neighbor, and hope we will get one as good.

Garney Richardson was at the festival with his phonograph and some choice records.

Rev. Gory, of Paris; Geo. Odenwald, of Ludlow; Prof. A. U. Collins, of Covington, were guests of Gaines Robinson Saturday.

The sale of the late A. C. Collins farm last Saturday was attended by a large crowd. W. E. Vest bought the farm at $60 per acre.

Benj. Stephens and family, of Covington, and Mr. and Mrs. Lon Robinson, of Cincinnati, were guests of Frank Robinson and wife, and attended the festival Saturday night.

R. Woodford Carpenter and Miss Lizzie Fields quietly slipped to Covington, last Tuesday and were married by Rev. Darlington, of Scott Street M. E. church. The Richwood wind band serenaded them at Woodie's home Thursday night. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter a long and prosperous life voyage.

We had a real live horse thief in our town last week. He had stolen a fine mare and mule colt in Grant county but sold it to James Huey for $65. Mr. Huey becoming suspicious, 'phoned to police head quarters and found out that the horse had been stolen. He then went to the man and demanded his money, which the man returned and a posse was organized and he left hurriedly for parts unknown. The Sheriff of Grant county came through here, and said the fellow is a desperate fellow by the name of Lowe, and the horse belonged to his sister and was valued at $200.

The festival given by the ladies of the Mt. Zion M. E. church for the benefit of their church, was a grand success. The yard of Mr. Robinson was an ideal place for the occasion and was beautifully decorated with flowers and Chinese lanterns. The menu was elaborate and bountiful the waiters, pretty and attentive and there was no confusion, disorder or boisterous talk. The managers and promoters are to be congratulated on their first attempt which ended so successfully financially and socially. The ladies wish to thank all donors and those of other churches who kindly helped, and all friends for their liberal patronage.

COMMISSARY.

June 24.—A pretty girl can teach a man anything but common sense.

Ira Ryle lost a valuable cow from eating Paris green, Thursday.

For Sale—About 50 locust fence posts. Inquire of Commissary.

Ben Cason, of Middle Creek, sold the sow and pigs advertised, to James Acra, for $16.

Ye scribe was a guest of A. C. Porter last Sunday. The day was spent very pleasantly.

Herbert Kirkpatrick, of Burlington, bought two calves of Alf Porter, Wednesday. Price—$15.

Mrs. Laura Marshall, of Middle creek, spent last Sunday with William Pope and family.

Harry Acra, of Middle creek, has for sale a three year old horse, a yearling colt and a good milk cow.

There may be as good fish in the sea as were ever caught, but what's a fellow going to do when out of bait?

Mrs. W. B. Walton and mother, Mrs. Harver, called on J. J. Lillard and Commissary, last Saturday evening.

Miss Isabelle Selms, of New York City, who has been visiting Miss Julia Dissmore, returned home last Monday.

Zimmer, the Constance fruit dealer, was here Tuesday picking cherries bought of Gilly Weisickle and Ed Botts.

Mrs. Harriet Slayback and Miss Blanche Garland were guests of William Snelling, of Rock Spring, last Sunday.

H. H. Parsons and wife, of Middle creek, visited their son Hubert and wife, of Cincinnati, from Sunday until Tuesday.

W. T. Ryle, of Commissary, Woody Sullivan, of Sullivan's Heights, and their wives were guests of James Botts and wife, last Sunday.

Asa Delph and family, of New Kentucky, and Jesse and Leomer Louden and their wives were guests of Richard Louden, last Sunday.

Solomon Winkle and family of near Idlewild, were visiting Mrs. Winkle's father, and mother, Nick Fleek and wife, on J. J. Walton's place.

A Mr. Weindel and wife, of Covington, son-in law of Charles Sebree, of Woolper, are spending several days visiting Mr. Sebree and family.

With all their many accomplishments, why is it that young ladies are such poor grammarians? Billy Slayback says it is because but few can decline matrimony.

Orin Phipps and wife, of Burlington, Mike Corbin and wife, of Belleview, and W. B. Walton and wife were guests, last Sunday, of Ben Cason and wife, on Middle creek.

Herbert Grant and betterhalf, living on the pike between Berkshire school house and Idlewild, were out pleasure riding, last Sunday, and called on Clyde Berkshire and wife.

Miss Fannie Clore, of Bellevue, gave a graphophone entertainment last Monday night at the Woolper school house. The audience was as large as could be expected considering the busy season.

Miss Grace Slayback and Miss Stella Garlaud, two accomplished young ladies of Erlanger, who have been visiting Mrs. Harriet Slayback near here the past week, returned home last Sunday.

J. J. Walton passed through Commissary, Thursday, with 26 head of cattle purchased at the Union Stock Yards, Cincinnati, and three registered thoroughbreds he purchased in Salem, Washington county, Indiana.

Ed Berkshire and wife and Miss Bessie Berkshire attended church at Erlanger, last Sunday. As per previous arrangements they met some of Mrs. Berkshire's relatives from Newport. Each party had well filled baskets to satisfy the inner man, and the day was spent very pleasantly socially as well as spiritually.

Last Tuesday we were standing in front of our office door (that of the post office), when a stranger walked around the corner and handed us a nickle, saying he picked it up on the sidewalk around the corner, and supposed some child had dropped it. His honesty so surprised us that we did not as much as think of thanking him. In about half an hour we learned that he had stopped for dinner with a farmer a half mile out from town. A committee was sent down to thank the stranger. The spokesman made a 15 minutes speech which was frequently interrupted by applauses. He wound up by tenderiug the stranger the freedom of the town, hoping he would remain its guest for at least a month. While about an hour after the return of the committee, the stranger came back and asked if we always make such a fuss when a nickle is lost, found and returned. We replied, "no, not always, but we are doing business this week on six cents, and if you had made off with that nickle we would have been busted sure."

FLICKERTOWN

Miss Alice Deck and mother were in Aurora, Saturday.—Chas. Voshell, of Sparta, Indiana, was here last Saturday.—John Smith was the first to cut wheat in this neighborhood.—The rain last week gave the growers a chance to finish setting tobacco. Mrs. Lizzie White and daughter, Miss Hattie, and Mrs. Sallie Clore, were Sunday guests at Chas. Hensley's. Miss Nettie Hensley was their guest Saturday night and Sunday.—Mrs. Fred McCarty, of Covington, visited her daughter, Mrs. Cory Hensley, several days last week.—Mrs. Will Sebree and children attended the birthday dinner at James Jarrell's last Sunday.—Samuel Hensley sold his Woolper farm to Mrs. Price, of Constance, for $700, cash.—Mrs. Alice Deck and brother, Elmer, were Sunday visitors at John Weisicle's.—Miss Georgie Lou Sullivan was the guest of Charles Beemon and wife, Sunday.—Richard and Tom Hensley shopped in Aurora, last Saturday.—Miss Lou Hoffman, of Petersburg, was a guest at Ben Hensley's Saturday night and Sunday.—One of Chas. Finn's boys got badly choked, Sunday evening.

BUFFALO.

Homer Clore was in the city last Tuesday.

Mrs. Homer Clore has been suffering with neuralgia.

Elijah Stephens was the first in this neighborhood to lay his corn by.

Mrs. J. W. Aylor spent last Wednesday with her old friend in Buffalo.

J. L. Ryle and J. Q. Elstun took a load of calves to market, last Wednesday.

Misses Cora and Jennie Aylor spent last Sunday with J. H. Aylor and wife.

Orien Shinkle, of Landing, was visiting his sisters at this place last Saturday.

Mrs. Annie Huey and children spent last Thursday with Mrs. Florence Bristow.

Miss Louise Bristow was the pleasant guest of Miss Jessie Utz, one night last week.

For Sale—Two good, fresh Jersey milch cows, 3 and 4 years old. Call on J. Q. Elstun.

John Horton and wife are entertaining a little daughter, who arrived at their home last Saturday.

R. P. Shinkle and Edward Brady of Landing, were in this neighborhood trading horses last Saturday.

Mrs. Mary Howlet aud Miss Mary Aylor spent the day not long since with Mrs. Perry Johnson, who is sick.

S. H. Marshall and family will move to Florence, this fall, and this neighborhood will lose one of its best citizens.

The many friends of Walter Hager, at this place, was greatly shocked by his death and extend their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family.

Glad to hear that Mrs. W. E. H. Baker, who got her hand cut and burned so badly while canning fruit, by a can bursting in her haud, is about well again.

PETERSBURG.

June 26—The farmers are in the midst of a splendid wheat harvest.

Stepheu Burns is suffering with the greatest of afflictions—blindness.

Mrs. J. A. Dawson's mother and sister, of Michigan, are visiting her.

The potato crop is a fine one and they are now selling at 45 per bushel.

Frauk Morgan, of Waynesburg, Pa., has charge of the Belden mill property.

Harper Rueker and sister, of Point Pleasaut, were visiting at Solon Early's Sunday.

A little son of Stephen Gaines ran a damson thorn through his foot, Saturday. Dr. Grant had to cut it out.

J. A. Wallace, one of the editors of the Warsaw Independent, was the guest of Dr. Weindel and wife, last week.

Miss Myrtle Hurd has returned to her home in Covington after spending two weeks with her cousin, Miss Jane Hurd at this place.

Children's day exercises of the Christian church at Gordon's Hall, Sunday night, was largely attended and very enjoyable, notwithstanding the extreme heat.

Morton and Reuben Hurd left, Monday morning, for Cleveland, O., where they will operate a steam shovel for a big Construction Co., and will, most likely, go on to Panama before returning.

About 300 persons attended K. of P. Memorial Exercises at the cemetery, Sunday. Lawrenceburg, Aurora and Burlingtou lodges were represeuted. J. H. Russes and Atty. Beilby, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., and Rev. Duncan made talks while Burlington Band rendered sweet strains of music.

The writer accompanied by Col. G. C. Graddy, Burgess Howard, Elmo Gaines, Walter Gordon, Elbert Hensley, Prof. Rice and wife, A. Stott and wife, Loyd Norris, Frank Shetzer, of Ludlow, (Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Stott chaperons,) and the following pretty young ladies, went on a hayride to Hebron, Saturday night: Misses Hazel McWethy, Georgia and Sera Parker, Maud Belden, Ettie Hensley, Zerelda Smith, Edna Berkshire, Maud Harrell, Frankie Stott, Ione and Ethel Buchanan, Lula Thompson, and Alice Berkshire. It was a lovely evening for an outing and all were in the highest of spirits and intoxicated with mirth. The first stop made was at the residence of Hon. N. S. Walton, where the thirst of the tourist was slacked, and it was here that the chaffeur discovered that one of the taps that holds the wheel of the tourist car, was missing. Consternation and disappointment reigned supreme for a while, but finally Cy found the missing tap and the journey was resumed; the next stop was at Idlewild when a message was sent to Hebron by phone, "that we were coming," the reply came back, "don't talk so much, but come on." The next stop was at Will Riley's well where lunch was served and washed down by cool draughts of sparkling water from that historic well. During lunch and at different intervals Miss Georgia Parker entertained the tourist with her charming and well rendered music song, "Hawthorn." Miss Georgia had just returned from the Confederate Reunion at Louisville and was well supplied with all the latest Southern melodies. Arriving at Hebron the entire party witnessed "A Wife's Secret" at the Opera House."

Huge Task.

It was a huge task, to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Ia., but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache, and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50c.

W. H. Pope, from the headwaters of Middle creek, was in town, one day last week, and reported everything in the crop line in his neighborhood, as exceedingly promising.

BELLEVIEW.

Tom Wingate made a flying trip to Cincinnati, Sunday.—Mrs. Eva Clore, of Cincinnati, is visiting relatives here.—While trying to ride a colt belonging to Al Rogers, last Sunday, Forest Rice had several teeth kicked out by the animal, which threw him and then kicked him. He finally mastered the colt and received $5.—The Dearborn Stars, the best amateur team of Dearborn county, Indiana, came over to take Belleviews' scalps, last Saturday, but had the tables turned on them in a manner suitable to Bellevue fans. Downey in the box for the locals did the best pitching, with the exception of one game pitched by Crosby, that has been done on this ground this season. The visitors were good ball players and worked hard for the game but the locals were in good form and played ball from start to finish. Score 8 to 4 in favor of Bellevue. Struck out by Downey 12, by Ketchum 6. Belleview goes to Hebron next Saturday. Gasburg plays the second team here next Saturday.—Don't forget the double header here the 4th of July. The Rough Riders of Aurora, play the locals two games morning and evening. This is a strong team and something worth seeing.

CONSTANCE.

Constance Juniors are considered invincible and can get no team to meet them.—Mrs. Jennie Miller and son, of Cincinnati, were guests of her sister, Mrs. Dr. Murat, last Sunday.—Willis Rucker, of Danville, Ill., is visiting Dudley Peno and family.—Wm. Louze, whose foot was amputated, recently, is getting along nicely.—Willis Rucker caught the body of a baby floating in the river. Dr. Murat held the inquest.—Several horses have broken through the bridge at Bromley, recently. Fortunately no serious injuries have resulted.—Dr. Furnish, of Coviugtou, was called here a few days ago to consult with Dr. Murat in a case of surgery.—Mrs. Price has received the $1,000 insurance her husband carried on his life, and will purchase a home with it.—Our obliging mail carrier, Chester Hood and Miss Callie Lee Clore, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clore, of Hebron, were married last Thursday. We wish them a long and prosperous married life.—Irvin Hood is a first-class mail agent. He made a run to Chattanooga, Sunday.—The Bell Telephone Company will run its line down on this side of the river in a few weeks, and Constance will have telephone connection with Cincinnati and Covington.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Bolsinger, of Ohio, were pleasaut guests of Mrs. William Tanner a few days since.—C. W. Hood and wife visited his parents here last Friday.—Messrs. Warren and Summers have returned to their home in Tennessee after a week's visit with friends here. Eiza Zimmer has gone to Cleveland, Ohio, where he has a position in business.—Misses Ida and Edna Dunkle of Ludlow, were guests of Mrs. E. Anderson, Sunday.—Miss Celia Anderson and Mrs. Sylvester Armstrong, attended camp meeting at Carthage, Ohio, last week.

IDLEWILD.

June 26.—James T. Gaines sold his lambs to Wm. Stephens at $4 25 and $4 50 per head.

When was the K. of P. Lodge organized, where and by whom?

Crops are growing nicely, and the weather is fine for harvesting.

Fletcher Clore and wife attended services at Petersburg, last Sunday.

Barlow, of Gunpowder, drove 75 lambs, this week, he bought of E Hoiton.

The Sunday School Convention of North Bend Association will meet at Sand Run, July 8th.

Maud Wiugate and brother, of Petersburg, visited their aunt in Burlington, last Saturday.

Charles Shinkle and family, of Ohio, visited Mr. Shinkle's parents at Bullittsville, last Sunday.

Thomas Johnson, of Delaware, Ind., is visiting his relatives, the Jones boys in this neighborhood.

Dr. Threlkeld and wife visited Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Crouch near Lawrenceburg ferry, this week.

Mr. J. G. Gaines, of Petersburg, was the guest of his nephew, W. A. Gaines near here, one day this week.

Mike Clore, of Hebron, is carrying the mail since J. C. Hood and Miss Callie Lee Clore, of Hebron, were married.

Mrs. Courtney Walton entertained in honor of her friends, Dr. Threlkeld and wife, of Owen county, last Wednesday.

Geo. Kreylich and family visited his cousin, Charles Cleveland and family, of Kenton county, a few days ago. Mr. Cleveland will leave, soon, for Huntsville, Alabama.

Mr. Editor, have the remains of the first U. S. Admiral, John Paul Jones, been received from France and consigned to their last resting place?—[The remains have not arrived yet.—ED.]

The ladies of Bullittsburg neighborhood will have a social in picnic style at the residence of Rev. Early and wife to celebrate the tenth anniversary of their marriage, on Wednesday. Mrs. Early expects her mother, Mrs. Faulkner, of Texas, to arrive by the 28th to spend the summer with her.

Dying of Famine

is in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers, of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying different medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me." Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at all drug stores, price 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

BEAVER.

The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few.

Mrs. John Snow has been quite sick for several days.

Miss Janie Jones visited her brother Jesse at Gunpowder, last Friday.

J. L. Jones attended the Masonic Association, at Rising Sun, the 24th.

Mrs. Sallie Cleek and Chas. Macnarder, each, lost a cow last week of milk fever.

Mrs. Lear Fullilove has gone to Texas to visit her brothers, Daniel and Dallas Grigsby.

Claud Utz, our hustling telephone man, made a business trip to the city, last Thursday.

Miss Alice Bouches, of Louisville, is the pleasant guest of Miss Emma Cleek, this week.

There will be considerable wheat and rye harvested here this week if the weather is favorable.

Earl and Mary Grubbs, of Latonia, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Moore all of last week.

There will be an all day Union Sunday School picnic in Denedy's woods near Richwood, next Saturday.

Miss Maggie Gregory, of Patriot, Indiana, returned home last Thursday after spending a couple of weeks very pleasantly with her aunt, Mrs. G. M. Moore.

We saw in a recent issue the question asked: "Who is Paynter, anyhow?" He is the distinguished gentle man who is destined to be the next U. S. Senator from Kentucky.

Mrs. T. J. Hughes and Miss Katie Green returned home from Mt. Sterling, on the 20th inst., where they were attending the annual meeting of the Ladies' Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. C. S.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O Cleek entertained the following guests last Thursday: Mrs. J. H. Sleet, Mrs. W. H. Griffith, Mrs. W. C. Johnson, Mrs. G. W. Cesman, Mrs. Barnett Sleet, Mrs. Clinton Blankenbeker, Mrs. Howe Cleek.

Some of the farmers here cut a lot of clover hay the first of last week, expecting the sunshine to come in time to cure it: but their expectations were not realized, consequently they have a lot of hay in a very bad condition.

Geo. W. Hoard, who spent the winter and spring in Florida, returned last week. He reports prospects good there, and says those who moved there from here a few years ago are getting along nicely and are well pleased with the country.

Miss Lena Dorman, of Latonia, formerly of Mudlick, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Dorman, was married on the 15th to James R. Conley, of Latonia, by Rev. H. C. Runyan at his residence. They have the best wishes of her friends here.

G. A. Slayback had a good family horse killed by lightning on the evening of the 20th. Mr. Slayback had just put the horse in the barn and went to the house. The lightning hit in the center of the barn and ran down the side, doing little damage other than killing the horse.

There seems to be considerable complaining in some parts of the county of the timothy meadows being very poor, while here we boast of some as fine meadows as ever grew out of the earth. W. H. Griffith has 15 acres exceptionally fine timothy. J. C. Hughes and others of the neighborhood have splendid meadows.

The heaviest rain we have had here this season fell on the night of the 20th inst. Branches were swollen and did great damage to water gaps, bridges, &c. The abutments under the Midway bridge on the Beaver and Big Bone pike were washed out leaving it in a dangerous conditiou. The gates have been thrown up and no toll will be collected until some repairs are made.

Married, on the 21st inst., William Sheets and Miss Mayme Miskell. The groom is a sober and industrious young man, and has already made some progress on the prosperous side of life by accumulating something in the way of a start, and is a son of Henry Sheets, a prosperous farmer of near here. The bride is a blonde of rare beauty, and the daughter of the wily and irrepressible R. F. Miskell. We hope that flowers may bestrew their path as they journey through life.

UNION.

Mrs. Mary Allen spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Rachal Rice.—The Presbyterian Ladies' Society entertained the Richwood ladies, last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Rachal. Delightful ice cream and cake were served.—Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Bristow spent Sunday with Louis Stone in Gorgetown.—Ernest Clements, of Erlanger, spent Saturday with his sister.—Mrs. Dora Bannister entertained the following at dinner, Sunday: Mesdames Lane, Anderson, Threlkeld, Talaferro and Miss Anna Riley and Messrs Perry and J. H. Corbin.—A number of the young people from this place were delightfully entertained at the pleasant home of Miss Osa Howlett, near Big Bone, last Sunday.—Mrs. Robertson and daughter have returned home from a visit with relatives at Pleasureville.—Several from here attended the festival near Richwood, Saturday evening.—Golden Grange will entertain Pomona Grange the second Saturday in July.—Mesdames Rouse, and Threlkeld, of Owenton; Sallie Anderson and Harriet Talaferro spent Thursday with Mrs. J. H. Corbin near Florence.—Miss Hattie Rouse accompanied by her cousin, Miss Minnie Rouse, spent the past week with relatives in Erlanger.—Mesdames L. H. Voshell and Elizabeth Huey left, Saturday, for a visit of several days with Mrs Ben Norman at Beatyville.—Mrs. A. J. Huey and children are the guests of her sister, Mrs. Quisenberry, at Indianapolis, Ind.

Invitations have been issued announcing the marriage of Mr. Claud E. Slater, son of Dr. C. E. Slater, of Erlanger, and Miss Catherine May Gurney, daughter of Mr. Linn Gurney, of same city, at the Erlanger Methodist church at 6 p. m. July 5th.

The Testing of Abraham

PART I.

OUR BIBLE STORY by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1900, by J. M. Edson.)

Scripture Authority:—"And it came to pass after these things, that God did prove Abraham, and said unto him, Abraham; and he said, Here am I. And He said, Take now thy son, thine only son, whom thou lovest, even Isaac, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt-offering upon one of the mountains which I tell thee of."—Gen. 22:1, 2. Read all the chapter.

"By faith Abraham, being tried, offered up Isaac: yea, he that had gladly received the promises was offering up his only begotten son; even he to whom it was said, In Isaac shall thy seed be called: accounting that God is able to raise up, even from the dead; from whence he did also in a figure receive him back."—Heb. 11:17-19.

THE sharp, clear note of a horn sounded on the soft afternoon air, and three people seated in the comfortable shade of the ample tent paused in their conversation to listen, and looked out across the fruitful fields in the direction from which the cheery blast had come.

"That is Jerah's horn, if I mistake not," quickly spoke up a tall, comely young man, rising to his feet. "I must be going, Eliezer has his hands more than full these days in taking the accounting of the flocks and herds, and I must help him."

"The reports thus far are good, my son?" questioned the aged father, lifting his eyes to the face of the young man and studying it with quiet earnestness.

"There has never been a better year that I remember, father. And I know Eliezer is well pleased, for repeatedly during the last few days, as the reports have come in, he has exclaimed: 'How hath the Lord prospered my master!'"

Neither parent spoke for some time, but letting their eyes rest on the spot where their son had disappeared, they seemed to be lost in thoughts and plans for him. Abraham was the first to break the sweet silence, as he said, with fervor:

"How graciously Jehovah hath dealt with us. He hath withheld nothing from us."

"Yea, and the Lord hath spoken nothing but good concerning our son, Isaac," rejoined Sarah, confidently.

"It is in my heart to make an offering unto the Lord this day in token of His goodness and mercies," responded Abraham, rising.

Going to the flocks, Abraham selected one of the finest of the lambs, and, bearing it in his arms, he sought out the altar in the midst of the grove where it was his wont to call upon the name of the Lord, and offer sacrifice unto Him. Carefully he laid the wood on the altar and upon this placed the little lamb. As he took his knife in hand, prepared to shed its blood, a voice called him, saying:

"Abraham!"

"Behold, here am I," quickly responded Abraham, staying his hand and waiting reverently with bowed head, for he knew it was the Lord talking with him.

"Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of."

The voice ceased. Abraham's hand dropped nerveless at his side. Cold beads of perspiration stood out upon his forehead. A mist like a cloud fell over his eyes, shutting out the bright sunshine. His brain whirled in confused helplessness, and a strange dread seized hold upon his heart. His limbs shook beneath him, and sinking to the ground, he heard again the words:

"Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of."

It was God speaking. He had obeyed that voice before, but could he obey now? His only begotten son whom he loved! Oh! could he walk in the pathway which God had marked out?

Long and fierce was the conflict, but at last victory, and a calm peacefulness which always comes when the soul has placed itself unreservedly in the hands of God and walks with Him into the furnace of fiery trial. He could not understand, and he knew it was not for him yet to see the reason why. Out of the agony and confusion of heart and mind two thoughts came at last to calm and help him. One was that God had spoken, and that he must obey. The other was that God, who had so miraculously given him and Sarah a son in their old age, could also restore him to them, though he were dead.

The afternoon had slipped away and the twilight was deepening into the darkness of night, and still Abraham lay in the dust at the foot of the altar. So lost was he with his inward contemplations that he did not hear the tread of footsteps, but the gentle pressure of a hand upon his shoulders aroused him, and lifting his head he looked up into the face of his son, in whose eyes there shone mingled wonder and loving sympathy.

"Father, we have wondered at thy prolonged absence, and I came in search of thee."

The father struggled to speak, but his voice choked, and Isaac's quick perception told him that his father had had some kind of a vision and that God had spoken to him, but his reverent regard for his father and his father's God restrained him from questioning him as to the experiences of the afternoon, and why he was prostrate before the altar.

Silently Abraham rose to his feet, and as he did so his eyes fell upon the little lamb which still lay bound upon the altar. Quickly glancing up at Isaac, and noting the questioning look in his eyes as he, too, saw the lamb and the wood carefully laid for the sacrifice, he said:

"The Lord hath required a better sacrifice!"

And stooping down Abraham took the knife which had slipped from his hand earlier in the afternoon, and cutting the thongs which bound the patient creature, rubbed its stiffened limbs, and then, placing it on the ground, let it go.

"To-morrow morning, my son, we will go to the land of Moriah, to a place the Lord will show us, to offer up a burnt offering to the Lord there," said Abraham, as they walked slowly homeward.

Isaac understood not the full import of his father's words, but he felt the deep fervor, and the intense pathos of his father's voice, and as his father drew him to himself in tender embrace, his heart stirred with a devout longing to be in close fellowship and sympathy with him in this new call to worship and service. Returning his father's pressure, he said, earnestly:

"All that God hath said unto thee, do! Thy God is my God! Let me worship and serve Him with thee!"

"Yea, that thou wilt, my son, for it is the only way of blessing," responded the father with a Godly fervor which sought to stifle and still the agony of his breaking heart.

No other word was spoken, and the young man as he walked by his father's side pondered deeply over all these things. They found Sarah waiting impatiently their coming in the tent door, and to her questions as to what had detained him, Abraham returned reluctant reply. A new conflict was raging within his heart. Could he tell her all? He had been so deeply absorbed in God's command and of Isaac's part therein that he had not taken any thought as to what explanation he should make his wife, or how much he should tell her of what God had said to him. She noted his evident confusion and pressed him eagerly for answer.

But could he tell her? Could he tell her? With great effort to control his feelings and hide from her the great sacrifice which God had called upon him to make, he related to her the incidents of the afternoon, telling her how God had spoken to him and had called him to offer burnt offering upon a mountain in the land of Moriah. He told her all, save that Isaac, their only begotten and well-beloved son, was the offering which God required.

"Well," she exclaimed, somewhat impatiently, when he had concluded, "I see nothing in this that should cause you such confusion and reluctance in the telling of it. Should not God call you to worship Him in the land where we sojourned so many years, and where God's messengers renewed the promise of the coming of our son Isaac?"

She paused to take breath after her rapid speech, and then continued, little realizing what her words meant:

"God has marvelously prospered us, the son of promise is with us to-day to comfort our hearts, and fill all the future with the brightness of hope, and should we withhold anything from Him of all that He has given us? Nay, go serve thy God whither He has called thee, and let Isaac go with thee that he too may be one with thee in worship!"

Abraham bowed his head in assent to his wife's words, but spake not, and Isaac, who had listened to his mother's speech with sympathetic approval, turned and left the tent, saying to himself:

"I will get things in readiness, that we may get started early in the morning."

He sought out Eliezer, his counselor in all plans, for the faithful servant of his father had guarded and cared for him from the time he was old enough to toddle out among the flocks and herds. He told him of his father's experience of the afternoon, and of the call to worship God on a mountain in the Land of Moriah, and then planned with him for the trip.

"Jerah, who came in but to-day, is a devout soul, and shall go with us, and I am minded to take the young man Aram, for he has often spoken of a desire to have a part in our service of sacrifice."

"And the lamb?" questioned Eliezer, "have you selected it to take with you?"

"I was going to ask you to go with me and help me choose the likeliest one in the flock," eagerly rejoined Isaac.

And suiting the action to the words, he took the older man by the arm and together they walked out into the beautiful moonlit night, and went hither and thither among the gentle sheep seeking a goodly offering for the Lord.

And Abraham sitting silent and alone before his tent looked out into the night and pondered over the offering which the Lord had asked. What could it mean? Earnestly he groped in the darkness of mystery for the answer. Could it be that the Lord required more than the blood of a lamb for acceptance with Him? A new thought in the worship of God was coming to him, and what Abraham saw in symbol and mystery that night we know the blessed fullness of to-day, as we realize that God withheld not His only begotten son, but freely offered Him up as a sacrifice for sin that in Him we might have deliverance from sin and might receive the gift of eternal life.

DANGER THAT THREATENS.

Division Between Revisionists and Stand-Patters Menaces the Republicans.

The republican party is the most perfect, in discipline and in clan, of all the political machines the Anglo-Saxon has created either in the old world or the new. Its zeal is almost fanaticism and is altogether irresistible, says the Washington Post. Assuming to have all the conscience and all the patriotism of the land, it has never hesitated to confuse right and wrong when it thought it to be best for the material interests of the party to do so. Hence it is the G. O. P.

It believes in paternalism and it believes in the privilege. It made a satrapy of each of the 11 states, and yet, in the name of state's rights, it seated a man in the chair at Washington who had been defeated for that great place. It created rag money, and made a legal tender of it, and yet it has long posed as the sound money party; and to this day our currency system is a sleeping volcano simply because the republican party lets "I dare not" wait on "I would."

This party is about 50 years of age. Is it at its zenith? Perhaps. Will it now begin to decline? That depends. One thing, however, is certain—it intends to survive the democratic party. But is there any democratic party? It is doubtful.

When the democratic party was beaten in 1864, 1868 and 1872 it was yet formidable—it yet believed something, it was coherent in preachments and cohesive in tactics. But now there are more sorts of democracy in America than there are religions in Christendom, and it would pester all the tongues of Babel to define the innumerable vagaries and mischievous heresies the party calls its principles.

And herein is the danger that threatens and may destroy the republican party. This is a representative republic, or would be if men like Mr. Bryan and Gov. La Follette would let it be. In the very nature of things there must be two parties in such a government. If the democratic party is dead, or can show no visible means of support, and it is both—then the republican party cannot escape dissolution, and ought not to escape it.

This tariff question would be an easy thing to make ground of divorce between the standpatters and revisionists. Unfortunately there is an intricate confusion in the commingling of the paternalists and the individualists of the G. O. P. Secretary Taft is a revisionist, but he would run Uncle Sam's hand into that railroad mess up to the elbow. Senator Hale is a standpatter, but it is quite likely that he would prefer that intelligent selfishness, without government intermeddling, have a turn at the railroads.

There is Sam McCall—but who ever saw the ideal triumph?

TWO REPUBLICAN FACTIONS

Stand-Patters Are Those Who Stand in the Way of National Progress.

The faction of the republicans who call themselves "stand-patters" have little to be proud of in that term. When the late Senator Hanna issued his orders to the party to "stand pat" and prevent revision of the tariff that fosters the trusts, it was an acknowledgment that the republican party was in league with the corporations. As far as the tariff is concerned, the republicans still stand pat, and the greater faction of the party declares the tariff must not be disturbed, while the administration faction all declare they are ardent protectionists. Between the stand-patter and the protectionist there is no great gulf fixed, so far they have both united, there is a plainly marked path from one faction to the other and at each end the guide board has the legend taken from the republican national platform, which reads:

"Protection which guards and devitops our industries is a cardinal policy of the republican party. The measure of protection should always at least equal the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad."

To stand pat, therefore, means to stand in the way of progress. Protection means the same, and those who declare for it are the incarnation of negation. They decline to take from the trusts and corporations even part of the power they gave them to plunder the people.

Revival of Ship-Subsidy.

The republicans of Ohio in their state platform do not come out squarely for ship-subsidy, but they hint at it so strongly that, without reading between the lines, the delegation in congress from Ohio, with the exception of the solitary democrat, will find themselves justified in voting for such a raid on the treasury. It does not take much inducement to make an Ohio republican congressman vote for whatever the trusts demand, and the steamship trust has always commanded their votes whenever opportunity offered. There is, however, one hope for the American taxpayer, and that is the large treasury deficit, which certainly must have the effect of enforcing retrenchment, if not reform, in making lavish appropriations, upon the most extravagant congressman.

——Some Pennsylvania politicians are agitating the question of dividing Pennsylvania into two states, naming the west half "Allegheny." Why? Is it possible that the corporation and trust barons are dissatisfied with having only a two-thirds majority in the senate?—The Commoner.

——When you buy your next cheap suit of "all wool" clothes, if you will examine it closely, the wool will be found to be about all mercerized cotton. The cause is the protective tariff on wool and woolen goods, for real wool comes high, if you must have it; but don't grumble if you voted with the stand-patters.

DISCOVERY IS BELATED.

The Eyes of Business Men Are Opening at Last to Danger of Prosperity.

The Commercial club, of Chicago, has discovered that "We are face to face with a hostile and retaliating attitude on the part of some of the great commercial nations of the world, and that this attitude especially threatens and endangers the prosperity and welfare of the agricultural interests of the country." Considering that Chicago did not elect a single member of congress pledged to reform the tariff, or that is even known to favor the round-about republican way of reducing the tariff taxes through reciprocity, the commercial interests of Chicago must have had their eyes shut to the actual condition of affairs when they voted last fall.

The fact that "the prosperity and welfare of the agricultural interests of the country" are threatened did not seem to worry that Commercial club until the export business of Chicago is endangered. But having handed over to the republicans the next congress, which will be controlled by "stand-patters" from the speaker down to the spittoon-cleaners, what do the Chicago commercial interests propose to do about it. They must either be content to "stand pat" for the next two years, or convert their representatives in congress to tariff reform or instruct them to vote with the democratic members, who are all pledged to revise the tariff, so that foreign markets will be open to us and to prevent the trusts selling cheaper abroad than here.

There are a good many farmers who were just as blind to the fact that their prosperity and welfare is endangered, when they voted last fall for a republican stand-patter to represent them in congress, as the commercial interests of Chicago were, and some of them have even not yet discovered the mistake they made, as the huisiness men evidently have.

Now the price of farm products is decreasing because the demand abroad for our surplus is less, in consequence of the retaliatory tariffs of other nations, those deluded farmers who have been voting for protection will soon have their eyes opened as the business men of Chicago evidently have. Some people have to suffer first to discover what ails them, wise men look ahead and take precautions for their future safety.

The root of the trouble is beginning to force itself upon public attention; that foreign nations will not buy our products unless we buy an equal amount of theirs, and the moral is vote for congressmen who are pledged to revise the tariff.

ROBBERY IN PROTECTION.

Cover Under Which the Trusts Are Enabled to Fleece the People.

When President Roosevelt declared that the material which Uncle Sam must purchase for the Panama canal is to be bought in the cheapest market he struck a big blow for tariff reform. Nothing has opened the eyes of the hide-bound republican partisan so much as to know officially from the highest republican authority how great the increased profits the trusts and combines are robbing him of under the fostering care of the protective tariff. The most powerful organ of protection has been the New York Tribune, but even this champion of the sacred tariff is compelled to indorse the act of the administration in ordering the supplies purchased in the open market. The appointment of Whitelaw Reid, the owner and editor of the Tribune, as minister to England was probably the price paid for this support of the "free trade" policy.

But the question which interests most of us more than the political gyrations of that republican organ is, why are the people to be robbed by the trusts under the guise of protection any more than Uncle Sam?

IN THE POLITICAL DRIFT.

——If the tariff is let alone the trusts don't much care about the investigations they are undergoing.

——Anyhow, the "stand-patters" gave their game away when they displayed such fright at the president's threat to call them.—Binghamton (N. Y.)

——Mr. Taft may keynote at the Ohio convention, but all the samey, Mr. Shaw had orated first, before a Methodist Sunday school out in Cleveland.—Albany Argus.

——There is no reason why the government should have the privilege of buying in the cheapest market when that privilege is refused to the citizen.—N. Y. Mail.

——If, according to the president's reported declaration, the republican presidential race is to be an open one, is not there some danger that the slim Mr. Fairbanks will fall through it?—Albany Argus.

——If the women really want to drive Senator Smoot out of the senate, they should begin early bombarding their senators with letters threatening to use their influence against them if their demands are not heeded. Remember that petitions, however numerously signed, have but little effect.

——While there may be no immediate revision of the tariff, there is going to be a revision of the estimates of the manufacturers who figured they were going to get rich in furnishing Panama canal supplies.—Washington Post.

——Kansas is showing the utmost exasperation against trusts and syndicates such as the Standard Oil trust and the binding twine trust, but yet a majority of her people voted for representatives in congress who refuse to revise the tariff which fosters and protects other trusts which rob the people of Kansas indirectly of a much greater amount than the trusts above named do.

The Cheerful Idiot.

"When I was on the farm," began the Cheerful Idiot, who had been humming "Annie Laurie."

"Where you should have stayed indefinitely," remarked the Tired Citizen, with considerable heat.

"When I was on the farm," went on the Cheerful Idiot, "we had a donkey we called Maz Welton, because his brays were so bonny. Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!"—Baltimore American.

Not So Great.

Mifkins—What do you think of that fellow Uppson?

Bifkins—Not much. If he was to jump in a mill pond his waves wouldn't drown any ducks.—Chicago Daily News.

It's true that morality has nothing to do with art, but the people who insist on this must strongly overlook the fact that immorality has nothing to do with it, either.—Life.

Of Wide Interest.

Breed, Wis., June 20.—Special.—Chas. Y. Peterson, Justice of the Peace for Oconto Co., has delivered a judgment that is of interest to the whole United States. Put briefly, that judgment is, "Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best Kidney medicine on the market to-day."

And Mr. Peterson gives his reason for this judgment. He says: "Last winter I had an aching pain in my back which troubled me very much. In the morning could hardly straighten my back. I did not know what it was but an advertisement led me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. After taking one box I can only say they have done more for me than expected as I feel as well now as ever I did before."

Pain in the back is one of the first symptoms of Kidney disease. If not cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills it may develop into Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism or some of the other deadly forms of Kidney Disease.

High finance is now getting so high that some people expect to get to Heaven from the top of it.—Life.

Pusheck's-Kuro is a wonderful medicine and cures where all others have failed, especially in Rheumatism, Pains, Weakness and Stomach Trouble. It is the best Blood and Nerve Tonic. Sent on trial. Dr. C. Pusheck, Chicago. Book free. Write.

Even the married man can't serve two masters.

IN STRICT CONFIDENCE.

Women Obtain Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Help.

She Has Guided Thousands to Health.—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Fred Seydel.

It is a great satisfaction for a woman to feel that she can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness, and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only, a woman full of sympathy for her sick sisters, and above all, a woman who has had more experience in treating female ills than any living person.

Over one hundred thousand cases of female diseases come before Mrs. Pinkham every year, some personally, others by mail, and this has been going on for twenty years, day after day.

Surely women are wise in seeking advice from a woman of such experience, especially when it is absolutely free.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence of women, and every testimonial letter published is done so with the written consent or request of the writer, in order that other sick women may be benefited as they have been.

Mrs. Fred Seydel, of 412 North 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Over a year ago I wrote you a letter asking advice, as I had female ills and could not carry a child to maturity. I received your kind letter of instructions and followed your advice. I am not only a well woman in consequence, but have a beautiful baby girl. I wish every suffering woman in the land would write you for advice, as you have done so much for me."

Just as surely as Mrs. Seydel was cured, will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female ills.

No other meaning in all the world has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Therefore no prudent woman will accept any substitute which a druggist may offer.

If you are sick, write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helpful.

Ancient Egypt

Knew the Virtues of the "King of Foods."

Since the earliest annals of Old Egypt, wheat has been recognized as the king of foods.

It has held its sway down to the present day, notwithstanding the fact that in many forms of making wheat into food products, some of the best elements are lost.

Bread has been aptly termed, "the staff of life," as it alone of known foods has all the elements that are needed to sustain life.

Egg-O-See contains all the best elements of wheat in a far more healthful and delicious form than any bread, crackers or ordinary wheat foods. In addition to the best whole wheat delicately flaked and crushed, it is made still more digestible by the addition of refined diastase, the highest grade of malt.

There are no premiums or gifts in the Egg-O-See package; nothing but full measure of the highest grade of cereal food in the world.

Egg-O-See — A large package at any grocery — 10c

THE EGG-O-SEE CO. Quincy, Ill.

MILLIONS USE

THE WORLD'S FAVORITE

For Preserving, Purifying and Beautifying the Skin, Scalp, Hair, and Hands.

Cuticura Soap combines delicate medicinal and emollient properties derived from Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. The only soap at one price—namely, 25 cents—that produces such results. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Mailed Free, "All About the Skin, Scalp, and Hair."

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.)

(Save the Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

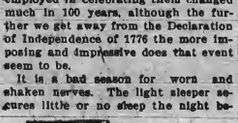
Down With the Fourth

The Fourth will dawn as it always does,
And the powder will flash as before;
The rocket will whiz and the candle will fizz,
And the Chinese cracker will roar.
And the iron cannon will sit on the hill
And salute with a dozen booms;
While the stick of punk will smolder away
And greet you with stifling fumes.

The Fourth will dawn as it always does,
And the powder will burn in the street;
And the spit-devil's fire will circle around
Till it gets mixed up with your feet.
And the policeman will take out his book
And register down the mishaps,
While John in his laundry will not be safe
From flying torpedoes and caps.

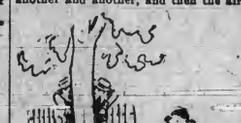
The Fourth will dawn as it always does,
And the country cousins will go
To a pine platform somewhere in a grove
To hear an eloquence blow,
Of Bunker Hill and Liberty bell
And the tale of King George's reign;
The same old speech of a hundred years,
But always worth hearing again.

The Fourth will close as it always does,
To the scream of the parting bombs;
And the blistered boy will repair to his room,
To count his fingers and thumbs.
Bring out bandags and arnica vial,
Away with the cracker and gun;
"Two weeks in bed!" but then he will say:
"I'm more than paid in de fun!"
—Chicago Daily News.



The Glorious Day

It Brings Wildest Joy to Every Boy After a Disturbed Night to the Light Sleeper.



There is not a holiday of any kind that does not strike joy to the heart of the American small boy, but it remains for just two of them all to invite in him any interest. One of these is Christmas and the other is the glorious Fourth of July. All the other holidays are good because they give him a chance to get away from school, to go skating, fishing or a-frogging, but these two have in themselves something of interest for young hearts. Nor have the means and the methods employed in celebrating them changed much in 100 years, although the further we get away from the Declaration of Independence of 1776 the more imposing and impressive does that event seem to be.

It is a bad season for worn and shaken nerves. The light sleeper secures little or no sleep the night before the Fourth, for there is one continual serenade of explosions. To add to the aggravation, the night is hot and all the available windows must be kept open as far as possible. There is no keeping out the noises under these conditions, and it is probably a fact that more sleep is lost during the night of July 3 than on any other night of the year, perhaps more than in all the other nights put together, taking into consideration the entire country. For all over the United States practically the same thing is going on, and in the cities at any rate it is safe to say that half the inhabitants lie awake. Think of it! Thirty millions of people losing a night's sleep!

HE SITS UP IN BED.

"Boom," a tremendous noise comes from away downtown somewhere, and Grufftone starts from a troubled doze into which he had fallen. His digestion has not been good for some days past and his temper has assumed a correspondingly yellow tinge. The stifling night is enough of itself to put him out of sorts, and not a breath of air is stirring. He is but half awake when another "boom," louder and nearer at hand than the other, drives away what remains of his unconsciousness, and he sits up in bed with a sleepy expression on his face and a sentence of condemnation for the small boy on his lips. In sitting up, however, he has forgotten that the bedstead has a hard and sharp-cornered post at either side of his head, and he has come in contact with one of the corners with sudden and unexpected severity. This accident is not calculated to increase his affability and smoothness of disposition, but it does thoroughly waken him. Then he hears the rattle as of musketry with now and then the deep, loud pounding of artillery, small firecrackers going by the bunch, giving much the sound of the rattling fire of rifles, while the single big fellows are distorting one's sense of the reasonableness of things by their terrific explosions. So the thing keeps up all through the long and tedious watches of the night with aggravating monotony. The only variety is in the combinations and permutations of "big and little" sounds as they would seem to a sleepy man. First there is a small "crack," then another and another, and then the air

"DON'T BE AFRAID."

seems to be rent in twain by the report of a cannon cracker. With sounds of half a dozen intensities the thing keeps up an all-night bombardment, and it is probable that never are the same combinations of "small and large" sounds repeated throughout the entire time. It is the kind of variety that drives one insane, for he begins to try thinking up new combinations of sounds until there is a continuous procession of haunting explosions going through his mind like an endless chain made up of phantom links. It moves and moves until Grufftone is just dozing off again, when a frightful explosion right in front of the house brings him to full consciousness. This sort of thing is a doubtful preparation for Grufftone, and millions of others in his situation, and bodes ill for his equanimity on the morrow. This may account for the growing indifference exhibited by elder people towards the glorious Fourth and its old-time celebration. At any rate, as people grow older, they certainly do lose their interest in the noise and roar of the Fourth and feel more like retiring to some quiet spot in the country where they can rest in peace. But the youth of the land are as determined as the youth of old and the noise they make is as fierce as ever noise has been. Somehow, there is inborn in them the idea that the spirit of patriotism in themselves is in direct proportion to the amount of noise they make and the quantity of stuff they cause to be destroyed by fire. Peculiar though this idea seems, it is widespread. Perhaps it is fostered by the fireworks concerns, but certain it is that there is no calculating the amount of money and energy that is annually thrown away in fireworks, powder, fire, lights and noise on the Fourth of July. This is, no doubt, the cynical frame of mind that Grufftone has got into because of his night's experience. But when he sees the little fellows having good sport with the firecrackers and nigger chasers in the morning he gets the fever again and feels a little like taking a hand with them. Crackers and burned fingers and punk are the principal ingredients of the day's programme for the young. Some go to the ball game, some to races of one kind and another, or up to the island, and some stay at home and nurse their hurts. And at night, after the candles and rockets and fancy fireworks have been shot off, and the last cracker has done its work in the world, the small boy and the small girl, too, are finally persuaded to go to bed, completely exhausted with their day and night of excitement.—Detroit Free Press.

THE HERO OF THE HOUR.

Suggestion.

Sapleigh—I—aw—keep me eyes ope when I'm in society, doncher know still I'm always putting me—aw—foot in it.

Miss Cutting—Well, why not try keeping your mouth shut for a change? —Chicago Daily News.

A Suggestion.

"What can a fellow do when he gets to the end of his rope?" murmured the despondent citizen.

"Throw the cigar away and light a fresh one," suggested the idlotic citizen cheerfully.—Chicago Sun.

Novel "Proposal."

It is told of Oliver Wendell Holmes that after many futile attempts to propose to the lady of his choice his courage failed. They were walking one pleasant afternoon on Boston common and, coming to where the path separated, he asked: "Which path shall we take?" "This one," she replied, turning toward it. "For life?" he asked. And she said: "Yes."

Property Divided by Lot.

The will of the Australian detective provided an unusual way for dividing his property among his six children. His estate, about $35,000, consisted mostly of realty. He ordered that six envelopes should be placed in a box, each child to draw one and have the portion of the property described on the paper inside the envelope.

Bad Fault for a Shopper.

Mrs. Phamley—May's really too young to go shopping alone.

Mr. Phamley—Yes, I suppose she is too impressionable.

Mrs. Phamley—How do you mean she's impressionable?

Mr. Phamley—She's liable to get excited and buy something.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Another One.

"Do you know what you are trying to say," queried the editor, as he glanced over the copy, "when you speak of a man going to his long rest at the untimely age of 80?"

"Sure," answered the new reporter. "He ought to have been chloroformed 20 years ago."—Columbus Dispatch.

Chinese Relics in Mexico.

Some evidence that the Chinese once inhabited Mexico is found in the state of Sonora, where several ancient monuments have been found bearing Chinese inscriptions. Dr. Antonio Penafiel, a noted archaeologist of Mexico, is examining the relics, which are carefully guarded by the Sonora authorities.

Prevent Burial Alive.

To prevent burial alive a French physician suggests the injection of a solution of fluorescein into corpses. This substance has the property, if there is still some circulatory activity, of staining the skin a deep yellow and the eyeballs an intense green.

Found the Donor.

A Birmingham church warden, says the London News, was reading at a vestry meeting a list of subscriptions to the parochial funds. The list began as follows: "The vicar, a guinea; Mrs. ——, half a guinea; an anonymous donor, myself, 25 shillings."

Postal Novelty.

A postal novelty in England is the "diacal card," which, placed in an ordinary gramaphone, reproduces a message in the voice of the sender. A general use seems to have been discovered at last for the phonograph.

Surer of Winning.

"Grandpa, do you have to be awful good to get into heaven?"

"Yes, my boy."

"Well, I've about made up my mind to try for the booby prize."—Life.

Auto a Good Thing.

Rudyard Kipling says that the development of the automobile has benefited humanity mentally, physically and spiritually.

Know They Are Pretty.

Lots of women laugh only because it gives them a chance to show their teeth.

MARKET REPORT.

Cincinnati, June 24.

CATTLE—Common	$3 25	@ 4 15
Heavy steers	4 75	@ 5 00
CALVES—Extra		@ 6 00
HOGS—Ch. packers	5 30	@ 5 35
Mixed packers	5 25	@ 5 30
SHEEP—Extra	4 15	@ 4 25
LAMBS—Spring	6 50	@ 7 40
FLOUR—Spring pat.	6 00	@ 6 35
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	1 03	@ 1 05
No. 3 red	95	@ 98
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@ 57
No 2 white		@ 57½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@ 33
RYE—No. 2	81	@ 83
HAY—Ch. timothy		@11 25
PORK—Clear mess.		@14 10
LARD—Steam		@ 6 75
BUTTER—Ch. dairy.		@ 13½
Choice creamery		@ 22
APPLES—Choice	3 50	@ 4 00
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 25	@ 1 50
TOBACCO—New	5 00	@13 00
Old	4 50	@14 75

Chicago.

FLOUR—Winter pat.	5 10	@ 5 20
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@ 1 05
No. 3 red	1 05	@ 1 08
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@ 55¼
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@ 33½
RYE—No. 2		@ 78
PORK—Mess	12 55	@12 60
LARD—Steam	7 22½	@ 7 25

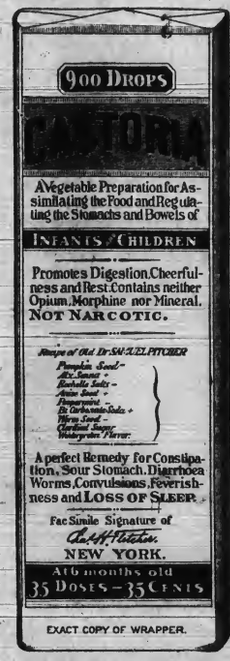
New York.

FLOUR—Win. st'rts.	4 60	@ 4 65
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@ 1 05
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@ 60¾
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	36	@ 38
RYE—Western		@ 82½
PORK—Family	15 47½	@13 75
LARD—Steam		@ 7 25

Baltimore.

WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@ 86¼
CORN—No. 2 mixed.	59	@ 59½
CATTLE—Steers	4 00	@ 4 50
SHEEP—No. 1	3 00	@ 3 50

Louisville.



WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@ 1 00
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@ 57½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@ 35
PORK—Mess		@11 00
LARD—Steam		@ 6 50

Indianapolis.

WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@ 1 00
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@ 48
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@ 30½

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. J. W. Dinsdale, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I use your Castoria and advise its use in all families where there are children."

Dr. Alexander E. Mintie, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria and have found it a reliable and pleasant remedy for children."

Dr. J. S. Alexander, of Omaha, Neb., says: "A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is, deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."

Dr. J. A. McClellan, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria for children and always got good results. In fact I use Castoria for my own children."

Dr. J. W. Allen, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I heartily endorse your Castoria. I have frequently prescribed it in my medical practice, and have always found it to do all that is claimed for it."

Dr. C. H. Glidden, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "My experience as a practitioner with your Castoria has been highly satisfactory, and I consider it an excellent remedy for the young."

Dr. H. D. Benner, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria as a purgative in the cases of children for years past with the most happy effect, and fully endorse it as a safe remedy."

Dr. J. A. Boarman, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

Dr. J. J. Mackey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I consider your Castoria an excellent preparation for children, being composed of reliable edicines and pleasant to the taste. A good remedy for all disturbances of the digestive organs."

Dr. Howard James, of New York City, says: "It is with great pleasure that I desire to testify to the medicinal virtue of your Castoria. I have used it with marked benefit in the case of my own daughter, and have obtained excellent results from its administration to other children in my practice."

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY ST., NEW YORK CITY.

More Than She Could Stand.

Bridget—Ye didn't stay long in yer new place, Mary Ann.

Mary Ann—Faith, I did not. Me own self-respect wouldn't let me. Shure, they had the kayhole of ivory door in the house plugged up.—Philadelphia Press.

Isn't This Absolutely True?

Nothing ever became popular—here or in any other country—without a reason.

Popular men have merit of some kind, must have, or they would not be popular.

They must have exceptional merit and wonderful character if their popularity increases with time.

As with men, so with goods. So with any article that is on the market. It cannot increase its sales, it cannot be adopted as a standard article, it cannot survive generations unless it have real, inherent merit.

Millions of dollars spent in advertising any article without merit, are just wasted, so far as continued sales are concerned. Intelligent housekeepers cannot be compelled to buy what they do not approve of.

That much is a self-evident fact. It cannot be gainsaid. But it tells its own story of Lion Coffee and its quality—a coffee that has been the leader of all package coffees for more than a quarter of a century, that has steadily grown in the affections of millions of American homes since the first introduction, long, long ago.

Its unexcelled flavor, perfect purity and uniform quality; its absolute cleanliness and neat appearance, have endeared it to the hearts of the people.

Good grocers will tell you this, but those who drink coffee ought to know much more about quality than they who simply sell it.

Insist on Lion Coffee, buy no loose coffee (in bulk)—you don't know what you get. How can your grocer?

It not infrequently happens that the friends of the self-made man suffer from over-production.—Puck.

CUTICURA SOAP.

The World's Greatest Skin Soap—The Standard of Every Nation of the Earth.

Millions of the world's best people use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the purest and sweetest of emollient skin cures, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings and chafings, and many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, especially mothers, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery.

When a man has money, he generally has more friends than he needs.

Shake Into Your Shoes

Allen's Foot-Ease. It cures painful, swollen, smarting, sweating feet. Makes new shoes easy. Sold by all Druggists and Shoe Stores. Don't accept any substitute. Sample FREE. Address A. S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Bad habits have been known to grow on people who never even had warts.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is an infallible medicine for coughs and colds.—N. W. Samuel, Ocean Grove, N. J., Feb. 17, 1900.

The dead sure thing doesn't always come to life.

In a way the common people deserve to be called the herd, and in a way they don't. They stampede at shadows, while real dangers don't disturb them; but, on the other hand, no herd can be skinned again and again.—Puck.

Agricultural and Horticultural Colonies on the Kansas City Southern Railway.

Lockesburg Colony in Sevier County, Arkansas, containing about 30,000 acres, and Loring Colony in Sabine Parish, Louisiana, containing about 24,000 acres, are now open for settlement. Lands range in price from $7.00 to $15.00 per acre, and are sold on easy terms to actual settlers. Lockesburg Colony is well suited for General Farming, stock raising and commercial fruit growing. Loring Colony lies in a splendid fruit, truck and tobacco region, and is good for corn and cotton also. Both are situated in a beautiful country, with a healthy climate and excellent water. Write for books concerning Lockesburg and Loring Colonies and "Current Events" Magazine to S. G. Warner, G. P. & T. A., K. C. S. Ry., Kansas City, Mo.; F. E. Roesler, Immigration Agt., K. C. S. Ry., Kansas City, Mo.

The straw hat season furnishes a chance for every man to get some practice in controlling the lid.—Washington Post.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

"THINGS WORTH KNOWING"

AUSTIN, TEX.
DALLAS, TEX.
FT. WORTH, TEX.
GALVESTON, TEX.
DENISON, TEX.
GUTHRIE, O. T.
HOUGTON, TEX.
MUSKOGEE, I. T.
WACO, TEX.
SAN ANTONIO, TEX.
SHAWNEE, O. T.
SO. MCALESTER, I. T.
TULSA, I. T.
OKLAHOMA CITY, O. T.

The Largest Cities in TEXAS, OKLAHOMA AND INDIAN TERRITORY
Are all Located on
"The M.K.T. Katy"

P. S.—This is a reason why you should travel and ship your freight via "The Katy"

PATENTS 48-page book FREE. highest references. FITZGERALD & CO., Box E, Washington, D. C.

FREE! FOR HOT WEATHER

A BOTTLE OF

Mull's Grape Tonic

TO ALL WHO WRITE FOR IT NOW

It will protect you against the dangers of heat,

Constipation or Decaying Bowels Cause Diarrhea, Cholera; Etc.

Blood Disorders, Skin Eruptions, Bad Complexion, Sun Stroke, Heat Prostration, Etc., Etc.

Diarrhea, cholera, bowel trouble, etc., are symptoms of Constipation. Constipation means practically dead intestines and poisoned blood. Constipation is most dangerous during hot weather on account of Sun Stroke—Heat Debility—Prostration, etc. If you suddenly check dysentery—fatal blood poison may result—a physic weakens and does not remove the cause, makes you worse. Dysentery, Cholera, Bowel Troubles, etc., disappear when Constipation is cured.

Revive and strengthen the intestines or bowels before they decay from inactivity and contact with rotting food. Until Mull's Grape Tonic was put on the American market there was no cure for Constipation.

We will now prove to you that Mull's Grape Tonic will protect you against heat prostration and that it cures Constipation, Blood disorders, Stomach and Bowel Trouble. It acts as food to the blood and intestines, cleanses and strengthens them and ejects the poison and decayed matter. Mull's Grape Tonic is nearly 50 per cent. Grape, which readers it a splendid tonic for the system during hot weather.

WRITE FOR THIS FREE BOTTLE TO-DAY

Good for Ailing Children and Nursing Mothers

FREE COUPON.

Send this coupon with your name and address and 10c. to cover cost of mailing, for free bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic, Stomach Tonic and Constipation Cure.

Mull's Grape Tonic Co., 147 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

Give Full Address and Write Plainly

The $1.00 bottle contains nearly three times the 50c size. At drug stores.

The genuine has a date and number stamped on the label—take no other from your druggist.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with the peculiar to their sex, and as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and ulceration, cures leucorrhoea and nasal catarrh.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all these purposes.

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

A. N. K.—E 2080

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

BOONE CO.. RECORDER
Wednesday, - - June 28, 1905.
W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

The peace movement that President Roosevelt set on foot is progressing very satisfactorially.

It is regarded as highly probable that a part of the sittings of the peace conferees will be held at Hot Springs, Va.

A society note in the Clifton (Ill.) Advocate says: "Jim Williams has painted his wooden leg." Wonder if Jim kicks because of that startling information?

It is estimated that to collect one pound of honey from clover 62,000,000 heads of clover must be deprived of nectar and 3,750,000 visits from the bees must be made.

According to a conservative estimate based upon the number of names in this year's directory, Cincinnati has a population of 474,375 people. The city covers 42 square miles and has 690 miles of built streets. Her 8,000 manufacturing establishments give employment to 110,000.

New York is greatly stirred by recent mortuary statistics. It is said that between 1868 and 1904 the death rate from heart disease and Bright's disease increased from 13.05 to 29.62 per ten thousand population. In 1904 deaths from these diseases increased 2.42 in each ten thousand. During the week ending June 10, one hundred and twenty-five persons died from heart disease.

Governor Hanly, of Indiana, has called upon the railroads of that State for lists of all persons in Indiana to whom free passes have been issued, owing to one of the provisions of the law creating a new commission. A number of public officials have been called upon to return their passes to the companies. In the State of Washington the Great Northern will recall passes, under a new rule fixing a straight three-cent fare from every passenger.

THE year just past was very satisfactory to Kentucky Baptists. The report of the Woman's Mission Union to the General Association at Russellville, last week, showed that the receipts of that organization for the year just closed were $14,397 84, of which $401 77 consisted of boxes of clothing for frontier Missionaries. The State Board reported collections as follows: For State Missions, $11,083; for Sunday schools, 82,568; for Home Missions, $18,952.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the United States Bankers' Corporation, held at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, who has been president of the organization, was removed from his position on the ground that he had received stock and money for service from a company that has never done a dollar's worth of business during its three years of existence. Two directors, Brackett and Badger, were also removed for a similar reason.

The Hargis farce continues to disgrace the state. That the Hargises have Breathitt county and her officials just where they want them is shown by the recent Hargis trial in Jackson. The Hargises are able to make the courts do as they wish, and the prospects of their ever being convicted have gone glimmering. Lexington tried them but could do nothing more with them than Jackson. We think it would be better to drop the matter forever than to have any more fiascos as have just been concluded at Jackson.—Blue Grass Clipper.

Attorney James P. Helm, of Louisville, has filed suit in the United States District Court and the State Fiscal Court at Frankfort to restrain the Kentucky State Board of valuation and Assessment from collecting taxes on the funds of eight national banks invested in United States bonds. The plaintiffs in the Federal court are the National Bank of Kentucky, the First National Bank, the Union National Bank, the Citizens' National Bank and the Southern National Bank, of Louisville. The American German National Bank and the City National Bank, of Paducah, are plaintiffs in the proceedings in the Fiscal Court. The board rejected a tender of $10,439, but authorized the Auditor to receive in part payment of the aggregate, $24,674.85.

One of the leading Republicans says, "Roosevelt would get as many votes in England in proportion to the population as he got here last fall." There was a time, not so long ago, when a statement like that would have been enough to damn any American politician.

The new departure in feeding silage to beef cattle which is attracting much attention now is likely to become more and more popular. In a reference to the matter of feeding beef cattle, one of our Canadian exchanges, the Farmers Advocate, says the old method of cramming corn into steers regardless of whether or not he digests it, depending on hogs to pick up the undigested corn, is a poor as well as an old method. To put on good flesh and to put it on fast a steer should thoroughly digest all the food that he takes into his stomach. The food should be prepared carefully in order that perfect digestion should take place. Less corn and more ensilaged foods should be used in finishing a steer for the market, for the old idea that corn is the only food that will finish a steer properly is demonstrated to be a mistaken one by experiment stations conducted by responsible men selected by the government.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will sell at public sale, at my residence, 3½ miles from Richwood, Boone county, Ky., on the Richwood & Beaver pike, on

Wednesday, July 12, 1905,

The following property:

1 large, 6-yr. old draft Horse, 1 5-yr. old driving Horse, 1 11-yr. old driving Mare, 3 Milch Cows, 4 graded Hereford Heifers, 2 yearling Steers, 2-h Platform Spring Wagon with large bed on for hauling stock; 1 new "Brown" Road Wagon, 1 home-made Road Wagon, 1 low wheel Farm Wagon, 1 2-h Sled, 1 2-h "Superior" Disc Wheat Drill, 1 1-h "Superior" Disc Corn Drill, Disc Harrow, Land Roller, "Kraus" Riding Cultivator, 1 No. 20 O. C. Plow, 1 Double Feed Corn Sheller, 2 sets double Harness—wagon, 2 sets Buggy Harness, 1 set Carriage Harness, 1 Buggy, 1 Hay-frame, Sleigh, Refrigerator, and some Household and Kitchen Furniture and many other articles.

TERMS OF SALE.

All sums under $5, cash; on all sums of $5 and over a credit of 8 months, without interest, will be given, purchasers to give notes with approved security.

Come and buy bargains in Stock, Farming Implements, Harness, &c., especially a sleigh for August.

A. P. GREGORY,
Beaver Lick, Ky.

☞ Don't forget the date—Wednesday, July 12, at 1 o'clock p. m.

SEAL BLEND COFFEE, per pound.. 15c

Favorite Java Blend Coffee, lb..... 20c

Mason Fruit Jars

Pints..... 45cts
Quarts..... 50cts
One-half Gallons..... 60cts

We keep a supply of extra Lids and Covers.

N. Y. Cheese..... 15cts.
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder 12cts

Jackson's Best Patent Flour, bbl.. $5.75
Big Four Flour per bbl..... $5.40

—THE—
HAMILTON GROCERY CO.,
39 and 41 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, KY.

C. J. WOLF
SPECIALIST FOR TRUSSES, BRACES, CRUTCHES,
Personal attention given every case.
Experience 40 years.
13th & Race, opp. Washington Park, Cincinnati

For Best Prices Call or Write to
HENRY QUICK, Hebron, Ky.,
—SPECIAL AGENT FOR—
The Stewart Iron Works Company,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Clearance Sale
—OF—
Millinery, Dry Goods and Notions.
BEGINNING
JULY 1st, '05

and continuing through the entire month, I will offer Ready-to-Wear and Trimmed Hats, Lawns, Ginghams, White Waist Goods and many other Dress Fabrics at

Greatly Reduced Prices--Below Cost,

TO MAKE ROOM FOR NEW GOODS.

Included will be Hosiery, Collars, Belts, Gloves, Belt Buckles, Hankerchiefs, Laces, and Ribbons, besides many other articles not mentioned. Come and get the benefit of these Sales. Yours most sincerely,

Miss Lou W. Allen, Petersburg, Ky.

ICE Cream Time

is here and you need Vanilla and Lemon flavors.

We can save you money by selling it to you in bulk, and quality is first-class.

OUR PRICES.

1 oz. Vanilla or Lemon..05c
6 oz. Vanilla or Lemon..25c
1 pt. Vanilla or Lemon..65c
1 qt. Vanilla or Lemon..$1.25
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder saves half the cream, pk. 13c
Pippey's Foamaline.....20c
Grated Pine Apple, can.....13 & 23c
Lemons, dozen.....15c
Red Sugar, lb.....15c

See our Special sale of Pitchers, while they last.....10c.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,
—GROCER.—
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, KY.

For McCormick or Deering

BINDERS,
MOWERS,
RAKES,
HAY TEDDERS,
SWEEP RAKES,
STACKERS,
CORN BINDERS,
CORN SHREDDERS,
GASOLINE ENGINES,
FARM WAGONS,
DISC HARROWS,
PEGTOOTH HARROWS,
5-tooth CULTIVATORS,
and GRINDERS,

Apply to
ELMO GAINES, Grant, Ky., or W. D. CROPPER, Burlington, Ky.
PHONE 178, Boone Co. Line.
Orders earnestly solicited. Promptness and satisfaction guaranteed.

Some beliefs that may be pleasant to live by are invariably poor things to die by.

TAKE WINE OF CARDUI AT HOME

Are you a sufferer?
Has your doctor been unsuccessful?
Wouldn't you prefer to treat yourself—AT HOME?

Nearly 1,500,000 women have bought Wine of Cardui from their druggists and have cured themselves at home, of such troubles as periodical, bearing down and ovarian pains, leucorrhœa, barrenness, nervousness, dizziness, nausea and despondency, caused by female weakness. These are not easy cases. Wine of Cardui cures when the doctor can't.

Wine of Cardui does not irritate the organs. There is no pain in the treatment. It is a soothing tonic of healing herbs, free from strong and drastic drugs. It is successful because it cures in a natural way.

Wine of Cardui can be bought from your druggist at $1.00 a bottle and you can begin this treatment today. Will you try it?

In cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, The Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

MY STOCK OF
—NICE, FRESH—
Groceries!

is renewed every week.

I don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find my prices right.

COUNTRY PRODUCE taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

W. C. WEAVER,
Burlington, Ky.

Deposits Earning Interest.

THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY, Inc.

N. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, KY.

Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice,
ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.

Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.

It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.

In its several departments, THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY
Acts as Agent; Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc; Attends carefully to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.

—ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL.—

CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.
Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.

JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President
C. W. SIMRALL, Sec'y & Treas.
Long Distance Telephone, South 314.

J. C. BENTLER & SON,
Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.

Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing and Wagon Repairin of all kinds,

All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.
Grinding of all Kinds to Order.

Hay and Grain,

AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,
By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices.
Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.
Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.
Successors to Clemens Hellman.
LUMBER DEALERS,
Manufacturers of
Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.

White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar, Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings., Etc.
COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.
Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122
H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.

Spring is here

AND WE ARE READY TO SHOW THE MOST
—COMPLETE LINE OF—
Men's, Boys' and Children's
CLOTHING

We have a very large assortment to select from, and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL AND WORKMANSHIP. Kindly come in and inspect our

Men's Suits at.....$5. $7.50, $10, $12.
Boys' Suits at.....$3.50 to $10
Children's Suits at.....$1.50 to $5.00
Men's Pants at.....$1.00 to $5.00
Men's Cotton Pants.....50 and 65c.

Just the thing for out door work.

ROLFES & WACHS,
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

A. W. SMITH'S
PHARMACY,
WALTON, - - KY.

See our Crepe Paper Novelties. Dennison's Lunch Sets.
12 Doilies, 12 Knapkins, Table Cloth, 2 yards, 25c
Drink our Delicious Soda Water.
Our Ice Cream is superior. Our Candy is the very best.
High Grade Cigars and Tobacco.
FANCY STATIONERY IN MANY FORMS.

CHAS. GARNETT, AUCTIONEER.

Will be in Burlington every court day.
Fees for selling stock reasonable.
Public Sales given special attention.

W. M. KENNEY,
DEALER IN
Fine Wines and Liquors,
Best $2 whisky in the city.
141 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Local News.

Fried chicken is due about now.

Wheat harvest is here in earnest.

Some nice weather for harvesting last week.

Lots of nice tobacco plants went to waste in some beds.

There has been too much wet weather for melon vines.

No big fish stories have floated into this office so far this year.

The wheat crop in Southern Indiana was badly damaged by rain.

The weather last week was not at all favorable for the clover hay harvest.

Three Boone county couples married in Covington, one day last week.

Mrs. J. M. Lassing, of Walton, was calling on Mrs. Elmer Beall, last Saturday.

A great many complained of their tobacco plants dying after they were transplanted.

James Hedges and wife are occupying W. F. McKim's nice residence in Burlington.

This cool weather makes the labor in the wheat fields much lighter that it generally is.

For Sale—Traction engine and separator. Apply to or adnress E. K. Stephens, Bullittsville.

Doc Clore and Plum Gully, two of Waterloo's thrifty citizens, were in town during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davrainville of Newport, are guests of Mrs. Davrainville's mother, Mrs. Susan Kirkpatrick.

The crop of wheat that is now being harvested in this county is the best the county has produced in many years.

A defective switch wrecked a freight train right at Erlanger, last Sunday morning. Fortunately no one was hurt.

The fruit haulers have begun moving fruit from out on the Belleview pike in the Berkshire and Cason neighborhood.

The first thing you know the Boone fair will be on. It does not look like it has been ten months since the last fair.

Col. William Batterson, of Hebron, is building the foundation for the new bank. He began work on it last Monday morning.

If a fellow says "I have licked my foot on you," he means that he will have no more to do with you. That is not Webster's definition.

The rain that fell in this neighborhood, last Wednesday evening, insures a good crop of potatoes, one of the most important articles of food.

The RECORDER is in receipt of a copy of the premium list of the Lawrenceburg fair for this year, the dates for which are August 8, 9, 10, 11, 12.

The band gave the town a serenade, last Saturday night. On Sunday it played for the decoration ceremonies of the Petersburg K. of P. lodge.

C. T. Gaines was the first farmer in this neighborhood to cut his wheat. Blyth & Sullivan soon downed the crop with their two binders.

Col. Batterson, of Hebron, was supplying some of his Burlington customers with 10 cent-a-quart black berries and raspberries, last Monday.

All the members of Burlington Lodge K. of P. are requested to be present at the meeting, Saturday evening, July 1st.

W. D. CROPPER, C. C.

Hebron, Hopeful and Ebenezer Sunday schools will give a celebration at Harvest Home grounds, Saturday, August 19th. All other Sunday schools are cordially invited.

Next Tuesday is the fourth of July, therefore the RECORDER requests its correspondents to send in their contributions not later than next Saturday evening if they can.

As executor of the estate of J. F. Johnson, deceased, Dr. D. M. Bagby will offer for sale some desirable real estate in the town of Walton on July 17th. See bills for particulars.

Callie Baldon has purchased Tony Bentler's threshing outfit, consisting of new old engine and a comparatively new separator, consequently Tony will not be on the road this year.

Frank Maxwell, who has been cultivating W. C. Weaver's farm on Gunpowder, for several years, sold out his crop and stock, last week, and moved to Covington. Mr. Maxwell has been in bad health for several months.

No Secret About It.

It is no secret, that for Cuts, Burns, Ulcers, Fever Sore Eyes, Boils, etc., nothing is so effective as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "It didn't take long to cure a bad sore I had, and it is all O. K. for sore eyes," writes D. L. Gregory, of Sour Lake, Tex. 25c at all drug stores.

BASE BALL.

Boones vs Home City,

at Burlington Park,

TUESDAY, JULY 4th, 1905.

Two Games—One Admission.

First Game called at 1:30 o'clock p. m.

The following members of the Boone County Medical Association met at Dr. Rouse, one day last week and perfected the organization: Hays, Hafer, Sayre, Rouse Furnish and Weindel.

When Bert Rouse came in with Weaver's grocery wagon, one of those hot afternoons last week, he found several chickens dead in his coops, having been killed by the heat, notwithstanding every precaution had been taken to protect them.

Sidney Gaines' lot in the north end of town begins to look like premises adjacent to or surrounding a repair shop for engines. John Baldon has two large traction engines there, which he is giving an overhauling preparatory to the threshing season, which will be here in a few weeks.

Scott Chambers, of Petersburg, precinct, will exhibit his combined harness and saddle gelding in Burlington next Monday at 1 p. m., and if there is anyone in the county, who has as nice a harness and saddle horse, he would like to have their company that day.

The reunion at Louisville carried O. J. Ryle back to the stirring times of the sixties so effectually that his battle of life will be prolonged many years, and should he live to be as old as was Methuselah, he will never forget the excellent treatment accorded Boone county boys by Postmaster Thomas H. Baker.

Mrs. O. J. Ryle had eight dollars stolen from her on her return trip from the reunion at Louisville. She is satisfied that it was taken by a colored boy, who went into her state-room on the boat to make up the bed. The pocket book was in a hand bag she had hung up in the room. The money was taken out of the pocket book, which was put back in the hand bag.

Young man, if you have not already begun it is time to begin to accumulate your summer's picnic money. The ice cream and lemonade man has contracted the habit of attending all the picnics, and you are expected to contribute liberally to his support, at the same time adding greatly to your girl's enjoyment of such occasions. Get your finances in condition for the summer's campaign.

The Court of Appeals has rendered two very important decisions. One related to the Kentucky A. & M. College at Lexington in which they held that the law appropriating $15,000 annually was not unconstitutional. Another was relative to local option. It was on an appeal from Laurel county where the Adams Express Company had been fined for carrying whiskey into a local option town and holding it subject to payment for same. The Court holds that the express company has violated the law and must pay the fine.

Stockmen of Boone county Missouri, are finding it hard to figure any profit in cattle and hogs these days. Corn is selling at 60 cents a bushel and as it takes 8 bushels to put 100 pounds of fat on a hog, the probable profit is very small. The corn costs $4 80 and as hogs sell at 5 cents, the stockman gets only 20 cents for his trouble. If one hog should get sick the feeder is a loser, though he may have a large number on the market. Some predict that hogs will go even lower and then an advance in price may be looked for.

One day last week a stranger called on Sam Hicks and proposed selling him a mare and her colt, a mule. Mr. Hicks did not want the animals, but referred the stranger to James A. Huey, of Union, a probable buyer. The stranger found Mr. Huey at or near Richwood, and a trade was consumated and the payment made in the Richwood Deposit Bank. When the stranger passed out, J. C. Byland, cashier, remarked to Mr. Huey, "I believe you have bought a stolen mare and mule." This remark excited Mr. Huey's suspicion, also, and he started after the stranger, whom he soon overhauled, and felt no delicacy in telling of his suspicion. After some parleying the money was returned, it being the understanding that the stranger was to take the mare and colt. In a few minutes after the interview the stranger disappeared, leaving the mare and colt in Mr. Huey's possession. Inquiry by telephone of the Covington police department brought the information that the mare and colt were stolen from a Grant county man, and that a reward of $50 was offered for the capture of the thief, who had made a safe departure from Richwood. Mr. Huey's prompt action on Mr. Byland's suggestion was all that saved him the money he had paid for the two animals.

BASE BALL.

The Boones were defeated again last Saturday afternoon by the Ft. Thomas team by 3 to 2 in a ten inning game. Brady and Hawes did excellent battery work, while Walton at third and Conner at short put up a sensational game, doing some stunts that were equal to the professional article. In fact each one of the players on both sides played fast ball throughout the game, which was about the best seen on the local ground this season. Brady struck out 7, and Howe, 8 men. The Boones made 9, and Ft. Thomas, 5 hits.

The Meadow Larks defeated the Stars here last Saturday 6 to 5.

The Grays defeated the Hebron team on the grounds of the latter, last Saturday afternoon 3 to 2.

Belleview will play at Hebron, next Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Sallie Goodridge, mother of Mrs. G. T. Gaines and Thomas D. and William C. Goodridge, passed her 95th mile post in her journey through life, last Thursday. Physically Mrs. Goodridge is well preserved for one of her great age, had eyesight being her greatest inconvenience. Mrs. Goodridge is, without doubt, the oldest living woman born in this county. She lives with her daughter, Mrs. G. T. Gaines, where her every want is looked after with pleasure by Mrs. Gaines and her two daughters. May she survive many more years.

Charles Wesley and John Bolan, of Burlington, Ky., were calling on friends here Tuesday.—Aurora Independent.

Boys, did your tongues get so thick that you could not pronounce your names correctly?

Although there has been considerable rain ever since corn was planted, the crop has been kept in good condition, and no complaint has been heard of weeds.

The directors of the North Kentucky Agricultural Association will meet next Saturday to move up another notch in the arrangements for the coming fair.

An ice cream and cake social will be given at Hebron Hall, Tuesday evening, July 4th, Admission 10 cents. Everybody invited. From 7 to 11 o'clock.

For Sale—Extra good two year old Jersey bull. Apply to O. P. Phipps or Edgar Berkshire.

I have about 80 acres of grass to rent, or will take stock to pasture by the month.

MRS. ANNA M. RICE, Waterloo.

I will offer for sale to the highest bidder on the premises, a lot of meadow and rye on the A. F. Collins farm, near Richwood, Boone county Ky., at 3 p. m. sharp, Saturday, July 1st, 1905.

W. E. VEST.

For Sale—Several sows and pigs Apply to D. E. Castleman.

Too cool to rain.

Have Your Coffee GROUND

—OR—

PULVERIZED

On the most Up-To-Date electrically driven Coffee Mill in the city. We invite you to have us grind it and save yourself the trouble.

Golden Blend, 20c lb.

Money Worth Blend 17c lb

3 lbs. For 50 Cents.

Don't use any other Brand.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.

N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,

COVINGTON, - - KY.

Resolutions of Respect.

Castle Hall of Burlington Lodge No. 109, K. of P., June 24, 1905.

Whereas our brother, H. G. Clutterbuck, has met with a loss irreparable, in the death of his wife, herefore, be it resolved, by the members of this lodge, that while they bow in humble submission to the will of Him Who doeth all things for the best, we extend to our bereaved brother our deepest sympathy in his grief which time alone can heal

Committee—G. W. Sandford, Wood Maxwell, Elmer Beall.

J. P. HEMPHILL

THE DRUGGIST

at Rising Sun, Ind.,

....Carries a full line of....

DRUGS, PAINTS, OILS AND VARNISHES.

In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet his Kentucky friends.

—CALL AND SEE HIM.—

Yours Respectfully,

J. P. HEMPHILL,

Rising Sun, Indiana.

PIPER & WALTON,

Merchant Tailors

142 E. Fourth St.,

Cincinnati, Ohio.

Have Spring Suitings to show you.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

William Maxon, ... pltf.
vs } Equity. No. 2479.
Sylvester Maxon, &c., ... defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April term thereof, 1905, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public sale on Monday, the 3d day of July, 1905, at one o'clock p. m. or thereabouts, being county court day, upon a credit of 6, 12 & 18 months, the following described property to-wit:

Lots Nos. 86 and 87 as laid down on the original plat of the town of Taylorsport, Boone County, Kentucky. Said lots fronting 66 feet on second street, and extending back same width 165 feet to Middle street, record of evidence of which may be found in Deed Book 26, page 468; Deed Book 27, page 321 and Deed Book 29, page 373, Boone County records. County Clerk's office.

(The Judgment herein recites—"the shares of said infant Defendants shall not be paid by the purchaser, but shall remain a lien on the land, bearing interest until the said infants become of age, or until the Guardians of the said infants execute bond as is required by law, as set out in Section 497 of the Civil Code of Practice.")

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C. C.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

William Maxon, ... pltf.
vs } Equity. No 2478.
Sylvester Maxon, &c., ... defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April Term, thereof, 1905, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public sale on Monday, 3d day of July, 1905, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being county court day, upon a credit of 6, 12 & 18 months, the following described property, towit:

Three (3) lots in the town of Taylorsport, Boone County, Kentucky, and designated and laid down on the plat of said town as lots Nos. 103, 104 and 105.

Or sufficient number of said lots to produce the sums of money so ordered to be made.

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien reserved therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C. C.

FOR SALE.

White Plymouth Rock eggs for sale—pure stock. Fishel and Orebaugh strain 13 for $1.00. JAS. T. BRISTOW,
1mch8 Union, Ky.

THE

Lawrenceburg

—WILL BE HELD AT—

Lawrenceburg, In

Aug. 8-9-10-11-12,

FIVE BIG DAYS.

MEDICURA STOCK FOO

Cheapest and best to use. Fully guaranteed. 5 fee
Eight cents per month per head. The greatest tim fattener in the world.

FOR HOGS AND CATTLE, It cures and prevents Grain and 40 days time

FOR HORSES AND COLTS, A blood purifying To worms, gives new life

5 FEEDS FOR 1c for 12 FOWLS. MAKES HENS LAY

Your money refunded if it ever fails.

Hay, Grain, Mill F

ALL WAYS KEPT ON HAND.

A New Groce

We have added a complete line of Fancy and Staple ies and canned goods, which we are selling at the Most Reasonable Price

R. B. HUEY & CO.

WALTON, -- KENTUC

KASPER LEHMANN,

—DEALER IN—

BOOTS and SHOE

Custom Work Promptly Attended To.

Store: Corner Lexington Pike and Vine Street

Formerly South Erlanger. - - ELSMERE, K

H. G. BLANTON,

FUNERAL & DIRECTOR

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEE
STABLE.
Special Rates to Traveling Men

First-class Carriages for hire careful Drivers for Families, P ties, Weddings, Etc.

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, K

Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

Grocers, Commission & SEED Merchan

Tested Field and Garden Seeds.

Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SA

Largest and Best Stock of

GROCERIES IN THE CITY.

Sole Agents for the Celebrated

RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOU

When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.

27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone South 55) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Stree

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

B. B. ALLPHIN. B. B. HUME.

ALLPHIN & HUME,

Livery and Sale Stables,

First-Class Turnouts for Hire at all Times.

GOOD RAYMOND CITY COAL A SPECIALTY.

WALTON, KENTUCKY.

CEILINGS. SKYLIGHTS. CORNICES

The Porter Iron Roofing & Corrugating C

27 and 29 West Front Street,

CINCINNATI, - - OHIO

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Iron, Steel, Galvanized, Felt

Porteroid Rubber Roo

Our Agents will give you wri

M. J. Crouch, Agent, Union, Ky.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, . . . KENTUCKY.

Berlin supports a professional bird-catcher, who keeps scientific institutions supplied with birds, nests and eggs. He is the only man in the empire permitted to do so.

A second steamship is to be placed in service upon Lake Titicaca, in Peru, the highest lake in the world, being some 15,000 feet above sea level. There is already one vessel engaged in traffic upon this sheet of water.

According to German papers there are two industries in Belgium which owe their existence solely to the fact that denaturated alcohol is not subject to any tax in Belgium, namely, the manufacture of ether and of artificial silk, which use more than 2,500,000 gallons of alcohol per year.

Luminous shrimps have been discovered by the prince of Monaco in the course of his deep sea fishing in the Mediterranean. They live at a depth of from 1,100 to 1,600 fathoms. They are studded with small phosphorescent spots. These light their way in the gloom of the deep waters.

It is not generally known that industrial Russia, where it is being developed at all, is being developed by foreign capital. Many millions of American and English capital are invested in Russia, and the life or death of the czar is a matter of paramount important to such enterprises and those interested in them.

Unless all signs fail summer travel by rail, steamboat and ocean liner will be heavier this year than ever before, this in spite of the fact that the real summer weather has been a long while in coming. For years past the trans-Atlantic summer travel has been steadily growing, but this year, while home resorts will be crowded, the ocean voyagers will be more numerous than any other season.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts, of England, who, at the age of 67, married William Ashmead Bartlett, 30 years her junior, lately celebrated her 91st birthday. She is still quite strong physically, and her mental powers appear to be as active as ever. The baroness still directs the affairs of her large estate as she did half a century ago, and it is rumored that she even contemplates a trip to the United States.

The patriotic American who desires to achieve notoriety as a mountain climber need not go to the Alps, for in the ascent of Mt. Hood, the loftiest peak of the Cascade mountains, which extend north and south across Oregon and Washington for 130 miles, he will find an ample outlet for his ambitions. Mt. Hood reaches an elevation of over 11,000 feet, thus ranking among the high peaks of the world.

French physicians say that epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis, otherwise spotted fever, is not by any means a newly discovered disease, but has been exhaustively studied for over 60 years. In 1837 the malady broke out at Bayonne among two regiments of the line, which, being removed to other garrisons, spread the epidemic. Spotted fever is of short duration, and dies down on the return of sunshine and warmth.

The census of the Philippines, just published, shows that the forests in the islands, in which there are 747 varieties of woods, are worth about $3,000,000,000, or double those of the states of Oregon and Washington, which are especially strong in that particular asset. Then there are great deposits of coal, iron and lead, and there are many indications of gold and silver, all of which represent a wealth of several billions more.

The renovation of J. Pierpont Morgan's house at Madison avenue and Thirty-sixth street, New York, during the absence of the family in Europe has brought to the surface Miss Florence Mason Rhett, household secretary to the great financier, and one of the highest salaried as well as the hardest worked women in the United States. Those who ought to know say her salary is $10,000 a year, the same as H. H. Rogers, the Standard Oil magnate, pays to Miss Katharine Harrison, and $2,000 a year more than Helen Gould is said to pay Miss Elizabeth Aitman.

The tippling habit is growing among the American people, according to figures of the bureau of statistics. The nation's drink bill has increased during the last year so that each of the $1,762,000 inhabitants is spending on an average of $18.33 annually for stimulants, or $91.65 for each family of five persons, which is an equivalent of one glass of beer a day for every one of the population. The use of whisky increased from 1.01 gallons for each person in 1896 to 1.48 gallons in 1904. The consumption of wine in the same period shows a gain of 100 per cent.

Great Britain is actively engaged in strengthening her coast defenses in Western Canada by building a new fort at Esquimalt, B. C. The "war in the far East" has enforced the withdrawal of the entire Pacific squadron from the Canadian coast in order to protect English holdings along the east coast of Asia. This left the British waters in Puget Sound unprotected except for a fort at Esquimalt, which is armed with guns more or less obsolete. Esquimalt is situated on the [illegible] entrance to Puget

HAPPENINGS IN ALL PARTS OF THE GLOBE

News of the Past Few Days Collected and Presented in Condensed Form.

PITHY AND POINTED PARAGRAPHS

The Russian-Japanese War in the Far East and Other Interesting Foreign Notes—Doings of the Public Officials.

M. Nelidoff, Russian ambassador to Paris, has been definitely appointed one of the Russian peace plenipotentiaries.

Diplomatic measures for the peace conference are continuing at St. Petersburg in the face of the steady pressure brought to bear by the militant factions.

The Novoe Vremya announces definitely that the powers of the new Russian popular assembly will be composed of 500 members elected for five years.

Preparations for the mobilization of troops in the Moscow district have been completed. There will be a medical examination of 100,000 men from which 20,000 will be selected for reserve battalions.

The body of Gen. Maximo Gomez was interred at Havana after a funeral service so replete with demonstrations in honor of the dead general as to lead in several instances to scenes of disorder.

The state department received a dispatch from Mr. Gummere, minister to Morocco, transmitting a request from the government of Morocco that the United States participate in a conference upon the affairs of that country.

The entire Spanish cabinet has resigned and its resignation has been accepted by King Alfonso. The resignation followed the rejection of a vote of confidence in the cabinet.

Simon P. Sheerin, of Indiana, widely known in political and business circles, died suddenly in Chicago while reading a paper at the Independent Telephone convention at the Auditorium.

President Roosevelt, in a letter addressed to Secretary Taft, directs the dismissal of Minister Bowen from the diplomatic service and arraigns Mr. Bowen's conduct in the Bowen-Loomis controversy as "reprehensible." Mr. Loomis is charged with indiscretion.

Ex-Minister H. W. Bowen makes a statement in reply to President Roosevelt's letter dismissing him from the diplomatic service as a result of the investigation made by Secretary Taft into the controversy between Mr. Bowen and Francis B. Loomis, first assistant secretary of state. He declares that the "Venezuelan scandal constitutes a national disgrace."

One of the most sensational cases of forgery that has ever been brought to light in financial circles of Philadelphia was disclosed when it was announced that certificates calling for small numbers of shares of stock had been fraudulently raised to hundreds of shares, causing a loss to certain banks and trust companies of that city from $750,000 to $1,000,000. The forgery involves the name of Benjamin H. Gaskill, who died four weeks ago.

Johann Hoch is in high glee over the announcement which has been carried to him to the effect that Gov. Deneen granted a reprieve. The reprieve is until July 28.

The will of the late John W. Parmelee, of Chicago, provides that the entire amount of his estate, estimated at $400,000, shall be held in trust and the net income eventually devoted to the purchase of fuel for poor and needy families of Chicago.

The monthly statement of collections of internal revenue shows that for the month of May, 1905, the total receipts were $19,681,246, an increase as compared with May, 1904, of $1,110,815.

The biennial election law passed by the last Nebraska legislature and designed to do away with "off-year" elections, was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court of that state. All elections will be held this fall, as heretofore.

A reprieve until December 8 for Mrs. Mary M. Rogers, the condemned murderess, was signed by Gov. Charles J. Bell, and for the third time the woman who was to have been hanged at Windsor, Vt., for the killing of her husband has been saved.

Refusing $30,000 rather than change her religion by becoming a Roman Catholic, Mrs. Lucinda Gansen, of Davenport, Ia., has astonished her friends.

A New York agent for one of the big American firms which has extensive interests in the far east including a branch at Port Arthur, said that he did not look for any serious complications as a result of the action of the Japanese government in ordering foreign merchants from Port Arthur.

No verdict was reached in the case of William G. Crawford, charged with conspiring with August W. Machen and George E. Lorenz to defraud the government in connection with contracts to furnish letter carriers' satchels to the post office department.

A report comes from Newbold, a small siding six miles north of Rhinelander, Wis., of the drowning of Mrs. Ezra Craw and Mrs. Edward Craw and six children in the Rainbow Rapids, Wisconsin river.

The Tampa Bay hotel, upon which $3,000,000 was spent, was sold to the city of Tampa, Fla., for $125,000.

The resignations of President James W. Alexander and Vice President Jas. H. Hyde, of the Equitable Life Assurance society, has been accepted.

The report of Superintendent Francis Hendricks of the state insurance department of New York upon his investigation of the Equitable Life Assurance society sharply criticises the management of the society as well as the new trust arrangement for voting the stock agreed upon by Thomas F. Ryan, James W. Alexander, president, and James H. Hyde, first vice president respectively, whose resignations were accepted by Chairman Morton, are severely arraigned in the report.

The report of the New York superintendent of insurance has been sent by Gov. Higgins to District Attorney Jerome at New York city. It is possible that criminal proceedings against some of the old officers of the Equitable Life Assurance society will be instigated. Director August Belmont has resigned.

James H. Hyde, through his counsel, Samuel Untermeyer, has indicated to Attorney General Mayer his willingness to facilitate the attorney general's proposed suit against "James H Hyde and associates," for the return of the profits received by them in the syndicate's transactions in which the Equitable's secretary was involved.

Whitelaw Reid, American ambassador, made his first public appearance as ambassador at a dinner given in his honor by the Pilgrims Society of London.

Harry Flynn, 19, was drowned in the Kanawha river at Charleston, W. Va., while his companions were teaching him to swim. This is the 12th death by drowning in six days in the Ohio and Kanawha rivers.

Adm. Enquist has been given leave to send his sick and wounded men at Manila to their Russian homes.

Pierce Moberly, the negro who killed Ed C. Jones in Meridian, Miss., has been captured near Roberts Mill, west of that place, and lynched. The body was found swinging to the limb of a tree.

The lard refining building at the packing plant of Schwartzchild & Suizberger at Armourdale, Kan., was destroyed by fire. Loss $200,000.

For the second time in a week John W. Hill, former chief of the bureau of filtration of Philadelphia was arrested on charges of forgery and falsifying certain books and papers to defraud the city of Philadelphia. After a hearing he was held in $2,000 bail for trial. It is alleged the city has been defrauded out of $240,000.

A system of virtual child slavery in which children under 14 years of age are "farmed out" into households in an attempt to solve the "servant girl problem," is a state of affairs that has been discovered in Chicago.

Max Gumperts and two employes were arrested just before the start of the sixth race at the Delmar track, St. Louis. The arrests were made by deputy sheriffs of St. Louis county on warrants charging violations of the anti-betting law.

The prefect has ordered the population in the vicinity of Mt. Vesuvius to prepare to leave their houses owing to an alarming increase in the discharges from the crater of the volcano.

Miss Margaret W. Tantum, of Trenton, N. J., has notified Booker T. Washington of her decision to provide money for the erection of a building at the Tuskegee institute in memory of her father, the late Dr. J. B. Tantum.

In the case of Lee Robertson, a negro charged with attempted criminal assault upon a white woman near Waco, Tex., the jury brought in a verdict sentencing him to prison for 1,001 years.

Henry Wulff, former state treasurer and president of the Continental Financing Co., an alleged "get-rich-quick" concern, for which a receiver has been appointed, was arrested in Chicago. Wulff gave bond for $2,500.

Three men were arrested in Chicago after they had broken into a freight car at Worth, Ill., and secured $3,500 worth of silver bullion. The men confessed to having buried part of their plunder, which was later recovered by the police. Four men were in the party, but one of them escaped.

At Leighton, ten miles east of Tuscumbia, Ala., C. M. Wright was fatally wounded by Frank Daniel, a negro. The shooting occurred during a controversy between Wright and Daniel's father, and the negro escaped, pursued by a crowd.

On the steamship Campania, in from Liverpool, was a package consigned to an electric firm in Rochester and said to contain a clock which by the use of radium will run for 2,000 years. It was sent to the customs stores for appraisal.

Martin W. Littleton, borough president of Brooklyn, will submit to the board of estimate a map for the largest sewer in the world. It will be 17 feet in diameter.

The marriage of Prince Henry Gallard de Bearn de Chalais to Miss Beatrice Winans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Winans, of Baltimore, was celebrated in Paris. The groom is the head of the ancient family of Bearn-Brissac.

"Jocko" Briggs, of Chicago, got a new lease of life when the supreme court granted a supersedeas on motion of his attorneys. This means a respite for the man, who was sentenced to hang.

Additional pay of $1 a month to enlisted men in the army who qualify as "expert riflemen" is offered in general orders issued by Gen. Chaffee, chief of staff, and is calculated to stimulate rifle practice in the army.

The boiler of the Attalla Curtis Lumber Co.'s big sawmill exploded near Attalla, Ala., killing [illegible] and fatally wounding a fifth.

The Twentieth Century Limited train on the Lake Shore road ran into an open switch at Mentor, O., while running a mile a minute. The switch had been tampered with by some one as it was found locked open. The engine and two cars were wrecked, the latter taking fire and were consumed. Nineteen persons were killed and 12 others badly injured. The train was a fast flyer on a schedule of 18 hours between Chicago and New York and this was her fourth trip. As to who is responsible for the condition of the switch the officials are uncertain. It is thought to have been the act of a maniac or some person bent on revenge. A reward of $2,000 has been offered for the arrest or for information leading to the arrest of the culprit.

President Newman, of the New York Central and Lake Shore railroads, said that the 20 hour schedule of the Twentieth Century Limited train on the New York Central-Lake Shore line will be restored at once in place of the 18 hour schedule.

Business failures for the week ending June 22 number 157, against 155 last week, 215 in the like week in 1904, 171 in 1903 and 153 in 1902.

Nine-year-old Maria Derrick met sudden death at Appleton, Wis. She was skipping a rope, and as she reached the hundredth mark she said, "I have finished." Almost before she had ceased speaking the child dropped dead.

Births in New York city at the rate of one every five minutes are recorded by the health department for the past few days, during which period 2,011 were reported.

Secretary of State John Hay, accompanied by his son Clarence, arrived at Newport, R. I., from Washington and were driven to the secretary's summer home at Newbury.

An appeal for money for the Japanese orphan relief fund has been issued by Rev. E. Warren Clark, treasurer of the organization in New York.

Rev. Orello Cone, D.D., 66, Richardson professor of theology in the theological school of St. Lawrence university, is dead at Waterlown, N. Y., of heart failure. He was the author of several books on theology.

Appentice Seaman Splane, of Kansas City, arrived at the training station, Newport, R. I., a few days ago. Within 48 hours after his arrival he was taken sick and died shortly afterward at the naval hospital of spotted fever.

It is evident that the Franco-German crisis is growing dangerously more acute. The London papers publish alarmist dispatches from Berlin to the effect that a closer study of the French note on the Moroccan conference shows it to be a distinctly unsatisfactory document. It is contended that the note fails entirely to relieve the situation.

James W. Alexander, former president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, has increased the surplus of that organization by paying into its treasury $65,843.76, which represents the profits he made as a member of those syndicates which were known as the "James H. Hyde and associates" in their participation in the underwriting of bonds.

The steamer William E. Corey, a duplicate of the Elbert H. Gary, the largest boat plying the great lakes, was launched at the yards of the Chicago Shipbuilding Co.

Mrs. Aggie Myers, who was found guilty at Liberty, Mo., recently of murder in the first degree, was refused a new trial and was sentenced to be hanged on August 11. An appeal will be taken to the state supreme court.

The secretary of war has approved the recommendation of Gov. Magoon, of the canal zone, that $30,000 be devoted to school purposes. A recent census shows that there are 1,936 children in the villages along the line of the Panama Railroad Co.

The civil service commission will hold examinations for positions as clerk and carrier as follows: Elyria, O., and Circleville, O., on July 8, and Huntington, W. Va., on July 15.

The engineer, Philip Barnhart, of Stuart, Ia., was killed, and the fireman, Frank Higgins, badly injured in a wreck of the Rock Island eastbound limited No. 42, Near Iowa City, Ia.

An inquiry into the letting of a contract by Public Printer Palmer for 72 typesetting machines for use in the government printing office is being made by the special committee recently appointed by the president to initiate reforms in the conduct of the business affairs of the various government departments.

W. O. Jackson, chief inspector of railroads and telegraphs of Ohio, investigated the Lake Shore wreck. "That switch was opened intentionally we know," said he. "Whether or not it was locked open, we can not tell, for all reports are meager."

Mrs. Watt O. Gregg, of Grand Lake, Col., in a fit of temporary insanity, shot and killed her four children and attempted to take her own life.

The British cruiser Carnarvon collided with the North German Lloyd steamer Cobienz off Finisterre on the west coast of Spain. The liner was much damaged. No lives were lost.

It is said that Lieut. Gen. Sir Neville Gerald Lyttleton, chief of the general staff and first military member of the army council, has resigned as the result of the South African army stores scandal.

Capt. Harry Knox, recently on duty in Washington as a member of the naval organizing and retiring board, has been placed on the retired list of the navy with the rank of rear admiral. He entered the navy from Ohio.

Williams college, at Williamstown, Mass., conferred the degree of LL.D. [illegible] of the [illegible]

ARRANGING PEACE.

Proposition For Date of Meeting Submitted to Russia.

It Is Under Consideration—Negotiations Will Probably Begin During the First Week or Ten Days of August.

St. Petersburg, June 26.—Negotiations for the peace conference have taken an important step forward, a proposition for the date of the meeting of the plenipotentiaries at Washington having been submitted to Russia and being now under consideration. The exact date proposed has not been ascertained but there is reason to suppose that it is some time during the first week or ten days of August, which is about the earliest period at which the Japanese representatives could be expected to reach Washington, allowing reasonable time for the acceptance of the proposal and the interchange of the nominations of plenipotentiaries.

The emperor's answer is not expected for a day or two, and the diplomatic mills of Russia grind slowly.

Whether the proposal regarding the date originated at Tokio or at Washington can not be learned, but the fact that the negotiations were conducted through Ambassador Meyer may indicate that President Roosevelt has perhaps again stepped to the fore and suggested to the two powers, neither of whom would be willing to take the initiative, a suitable date.

THE FIGHTING IN LODZ.

The Number of Killed and Wounded Is Estimated at 2,000.

Lodz, Russian Poland, June 26.—The most serious phase of the fighting between the military and strikers is at an end but there are still isolated attacks in the suburbs. At Baluty Sunday morning cossacks attacked a Jewish family of five pehsons who were driving in a cab to the railway station and shot and killed all, including the cabman. At Pabjanice, near Lodz, workmen attacked two policemen and shot and killed one and wounded the other.

There is a general exodus from Lodz. Twelve thousand persons have already left and all trains are crowded.

While it is not yet possible to ascertain the exact number of the victims, estimates placed the killed and wounded as high as 2,000.

The troubles here were initiated by the social democrats and Jewish bund, who determined to avenge their comrades killed in the rioting of Tuesday.

The workmen in all the factories will strike.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

Action Taken to Facilitate the Landing of Chinese of All Classes.

Washington, June 26.—By direction of President Roosevelt, action has been taken by the administration which not only will facilitate the landing in this country of Chinese of all classes but will also eliminate from emigration bureau such administrative features as have been the subject of criticism by Chinese. It is the declared intention of the president to see that Chinese merchants, travelers, students and others of the exempt classes shall have the same courtesy shown them by officers of the immigration bureau as is accorded to citizens of the most favored nation.

Representations have been made to the president that in view of alleged harsh treatment accorded to many Chinese seeking a landing in the United States the commercial guilds of China have determined to institute a boycott on American manufactures.

NEW GERMAN EMBASSY.

A Site Has Been Purchased Near the French Embassy in Washington.

Washington, June 26.—The German government has purchased a splendid site for its embassy here opposite the property of the new French embassy overlooking Sheridan circle on S street in the northwest section of the city. The property, which is shaded by magnificent trees, rises to a considerable height above the street, measures about 300 by 195 feet. The negotiations for the purchase of the property have been in progress some time and have just been successfully concluded.

On this site will be erected a splendid stone structure of the style of Frederick the Great, reproducing perhaps in general outline the famous "Sans Souci" castle or the new castle at Potsdam.

Bulldog Kills a Baby.

Chicago, June 26.—Yvonne Davis, 18 months, was killed by a bulldog owned by her father. She was playing with a ball which rolled near the dog, and when she went to pick it up the dog knocked her down and fastened his teeth in her face.

Emperor William's Yacht Defeated.

Imperial Yacht Club, Prussia, June 26.—The German yacht Hamburg defeated Emperor William's Meteor II., over a 33 knot course by nearly six minutes. Emperor William with a large party was on board the Meteor III.

The 18 Hour Schedule To Be Restored.

New York, June 26.—The 18 hour running schedule for the Twentieth Century Limited between this city and Chicago, temporarily abandoned, following the wreck at Mentor, O., will be restored

CHURCH DIGNITARIES.

Archbishop Moeller of Cincinnati has organized a choir of priests to render Gregorian music at the funeral of all priests in his archdiocese.

At the next consistory the pope will make Braga, bishop of Petropolis, a cardinal, in accordance with Brazil's special request. Braga will be the first South American cardinal.

Bishop Hoss of the Methodist Episcopal church south will preside over the Brazil mission next fall. Bishop Galloway has charge of the missions in Japan, Korea and China. The Cuban and Mexican mission work is under the care of Bishop Candler.

Father Benson, the son of the late archbishop of Canterbury, whose reception into the church, as well as his ordination, took place within the last 14 months, is now studying theology with Mgr. Stapleton Barnes at Cambridge, instead of, as he once intended, returning to Rome for that purpose.

The bishop of London might be taken for a comedian but for his costume. Were he in the theatrical profession his unfailing sense of humor would stand him in good stead. A man of exhaustless energy, he does a tremendous amount of work. He is universally hailed with delight by children. In the East End the small ragamuffins run against his gaiters and shout welcome; in the West End he is an equal favorite among the young, all regarding him as a glorified playfellow. An admirer said recently: "When London has done killing him he will have earned his martyrdom."

Rev. Charles E. Guthrie, pastor of Park Place Methodist Episcopal church, Baltimore, announces that in future he will refuse to read the marriage service at rehearsing parties. Moreover, he discourages the idea of fashionable weddings in churches, which make rehearsals necessary, holding that such affairs make too much of the dramatic effect and dress display and too little of the solemnity of the obligation that is being assumed. Mr. Guthrie believes that an important contributing cause to the divorce evil lies in the fading out of the religious idea regarding marriage.

QUITE UNUSUAL.

The largest wooden statue in the world is to be seen in Tokio, Japan. It is 54 feet high, and the head will hold 20 people.

A Kansas City hotel charged up several telephone messages to a deaf-mute. There's such a thing as going too far in making out a bill.

Returning to his house at Argenteuil, in France, Mr. Hugh Gooding was shot at by a discharged employe, the bullet flattening itself against a silver cigarette case, which he carried just over his heart.

Luther Burbank, the "plant wizard" of California, is evidently not the only man alive who conjures with nature. It is reported that W. Bell, of Mumby, Louth, Ireland, after experimenting for five years, has produced tomatoes and potatoes, grown on the same plant from the same tuber.

Paris has a dwarf elephant about the size of a Shetland pony. Its keeper is a Senegalese, who has to sleep in a cot where the elephant can see him. The captive's favorite dish is six pounds of rice steeped in four pints of milk. He can also enjoy a nice two-pound salad.

WHY THEY ARE HAPPY

TWO NOTABLE RECOVERIES FROM EXTREME DEBILITY.

Husband's Strength Had Been Waning for Three Years, Wife a Sufferer from Female Weakness.

"My strength had dwindled so that I couldn't apply myself to my business with any snap but was tired and listless all the time," said Mr. Goldstein.

"I went to bed completely used up by my day's work, and when I got up in the morning I didn't feel rested a bit. I had awful headaches too, and my kidneys got out of order and caused me to have severe pains in the back. At one time I became so feeble that I could not stir from bed for three weeks."

Mr. Goldstein is a young man and had then but recently established a home of his own. His anxieties were increased by the fact that his wife was far from being robust. Mrs. Goldstein says:

"For two years I had been ill most of the time. Sometimes I was confined to bed for weeks in succession under a physician's care. I had headaches, kidney trouble, pain about the heart and many more uncomfortable symptoms connected with that weakness to which my sex is peculiarly subject."

Trouble had invaded this household and settled in it in just the years that ought to be the very happiest. Physicians could not tell them how to get rid of it.

"I was utterly discouraged," said Mr. Goldstein. "Then the urgency of some friends led me to try a blood and nerve remedy which was said to be wonderfully successful. Within a month there were unmistakable signs of improvement in my condition, and within a year I was completely well. Through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I have now as good health as I ever had in my life."

Mrs. Goldstein adds: "The wonderful effect that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had in the case of my husband led me to try them and they helped me even more quickly than they did him. One box made me decidedly better and a few months' treatment cured me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best tonic and regulator, they make pure, rich blood and when there is general weakness and disorder that is what the system needs. Mr. and Mrs. H. Goldstein live at 86 Gove street, East Boston, Mass. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by druggists everywhere.

BOY MILLIONAIRE TO SEARCH FOR POLE

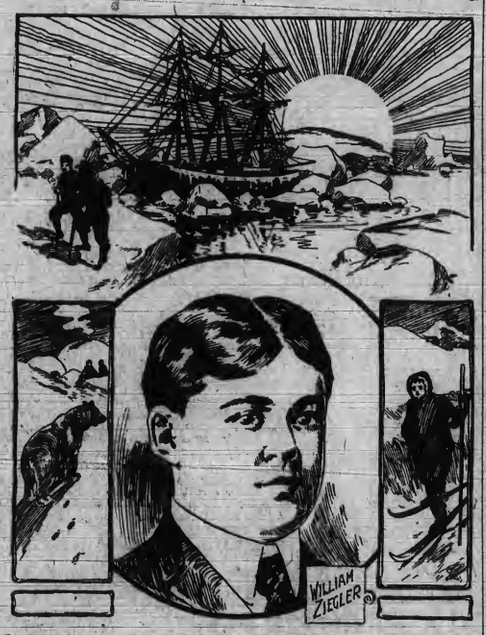
Aim in Life of William Ziegler, Jr., Is to Realize Ambition of His Foster Father.

YOUTH UNSPOILED BY FABULOUS WEALTH

Inherits $30,000,000 Through Death of His Uncle—Will Go Through College and Then Take Up Arctic Exploration—Slowly Recovering from a Serious Injury.

New York.—Through the will of his uncle a 14-year-old boy has come into a fortune of $30,000,000. The uncle is William Ziegler, the millionaire manufacturer of Noroton, Conn., baking powder king and projector of arctic expeditions, who died a short time ago; the fortunate youth is William Ziegler, Jr., his adopted son.

Although but a child in years, young Ziegler has been unspoiled by the sudden inheritance of the fabulous wealth. By the time he becomes of age the estate will have grown to more than $40,000,000. His income now is $1,000,000 a year. He is the richest boy of his years in the world and he will be among the world's richest men.



The boy has been brought up to understand that he is the son of the man who fitted out polar expeditions. His books are volumes dealing with adventure in the far north seas. He has been made to understand that it was always his father's wish to have one of his expeditions locate the north pole.

Wealth No Handicap.

To some 14-year-old boys a fortune of $30,000,000 would be a terrible handicap. To young Ziegler the money promises to be anything but a drawback; for the boy, few in years though he is, seems thoroughly to appreciate his unique position, to understand the responsibilities connected with the possession of so much wealth and, what is infinitely better, to have formed a definite object in life, toward the gaining of which he proposes to devote the millions left to him.

He is a manly little fellow, ambitious to achieve heroic adventures. This is an ambition which the cherished dream of his foster father makes it possible for him to realize. He begins life now with millions and a mission, for he is the boy who must discover the north pole.

The task is not imposed upon him in the will, nor is it even specified that he must prosecute the search for the Fiala expedition, lost in the frozen north. But the boy is thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the elder Ziegler, and even now regards the search for the pole as his life work.

Thought Father His Uncle.

His father, George Brandt, whom he has been taught all his life to believe was his uncle, resides in Chicago. Brandt is half-brother to the elder Ziegler. When the boy was a baby his father gave him up to the millionaire, then childless. The baby was legally adopted, was called William Ziegler and did not know until the death of his foster father that he was other than William Ziegler's son.

The greatest care was taken with his preliminary education, designed to fit him for Columbia university. He will be given a careful business as well as a scientific education, so that he may not only prosecute the biographical researches instituted by the elder William Ziegler, but may also be fitted to look after the vast business interests intrusted to him.

His home, until he is of age, will be with his foster mother, Mrs. E. Matilda Ziegler. William J. Gaynor, a justice of the supreme court, and William S. Champ, a trusted employe of Mr. Ziegler, will share with the widow the responsibility of directing the boy's education. He will spend his summers in Noroton, and in the winter will reside in the Ziegler mansion in Fifth avenue. He will not be cooped up and held aloof from other boys of his years, but will be taught democracy as well as business integrity and scientific truth.

He is passionately devoted to Mrs. Ziegler. His own mother died when he was a baby, and his foster mother has filled her place with complete devotion. His own father is simply "Uncle George" to him.

Suffers Severe Accident.

Since April 1, when young Ziegler suffered from a distressing accident, he has been laid up. A few weeks ago he had only a bare chance to survive an operation performed by one of New York's best known surgeons. To-day the boy, always vigorous and strong, is a waste of the sturdy young fellow who started a pillow fight on April 1 in his father's home which since has taken him to the operating table on three different occasions.

On March 31 Ziegler came home with two schoolmates in the Browning school. The boys anticipated the coming of All Fool's day. Several jokes had been planned for the benefit of Mr. Ziegler's valet. The valet slept in the room with the boys, on a cot between the brass beds. The day had hardly begun when Ziegler awoke his companions. The valet was asleep, but he awoke quickly, a victim of the youthful jokers.

Ziegler grabbed a pillow and the fight began. The instigator of the sham battle was soon exhausted and sat on the edge of the cot to rest. One of his friends jumped on him. Ziegler was severely torn by a long iron hook on the cot and fell wounded. From that moment he has been ill.

But health is gradually returning, sailing away, and pictures himself as on one of them, some day, with her prow pointed to the north.

There is something pathetic behind all this. Yet pathos and romance have governed the whole career of this little boy, who was not the child of the man whom he knew as his father, except by adoption. The baby was born William Brandt, his father being a half-brother of Mr. Ziegler. At an early age it became necessary for relatives to assume the support of one or more of the children, and Mr. Ziegler took the little boy. He and his wife were childless, and the little chap at once filled the vacant crevices in their hearts as fully as their own could have done. He returned the affection and between him and his foster father grew a love that was noticeable to the merest stranger.

Shared Father's Confidences.

They were inseparable, the millionaire and the schoolboy, and when, a few years ago, William Ziegler began to crave the distinction of being the founder of an expedition that should find the north pole, the lad was one of the few who shared his confidences, who listened to his ambitions and sympathized with him in his desires.

To a reporter, who saw him at the Ziegler home at Noroton Point one day recently, the boy was as communicative as could be expected of one weakened by more than two months of suffering. Mrs. Ziegler, the widow of the millionaire, and as loving a mother as a small boy could wish for, was afraid that he would not like to talk.

Were Like Boy Chums.

"Willie was more overcome by his father's death than I believed it possible for a boy of his age to be," she said. "He was very fond of my husband; in fact, the two were always more like two chums than father and son. During the early part of Willie's illness, before Mr. Ziegler suffered the accident that resulted in his death, Mr. Ziegler spent a great deal of time talking to him, their conversation having a lot to do with Arctic exploration, in which Willie took as great an interest as he did. I do not know whether I entirely like the idea of his making that his life aim, but there is a long time between now and the day that he shall attain his majority, and, perhaps—"

She spoke as though in the hope that time would change the little fellow's determination; but the hope seemed to vanish as quickly as it came, for Mrs. Ziegler added:

"No, I don't believe he will change. He is a deep little fellow, and when he once gets an idea he is steadfast in carrying it out. Especially true do I think that will be in this case, for his love of Mr. Ziegler, if nothing else, would be incentive enough to keep the matter constantly in his mind. But you may talk to him yourself for a little while."

The room occupied by Willie Ziegler faces Long Island sound. The house is a long distance from the shore, on a high point of land which stretches away to the beach. From the windows a clear view of the water is given, and on this stormy, dark day the sea was forbidding and ugly. Yet the little boy, propped up on his bed near the window, was looking out on the waves as his visitor entered, and there was no sign that the bleakness of the sea had affected his youthful spirits in any way.

"So you are the fortunate young man with a fortune of millions of dollars?" said the reporter, as the boy turned toward him. Willie only smiled, as though the matter of vast possessions was of no consequence to him.

Goes North When Twenty-One.

"I don't know anything much about that," he said. "I only know that I wish it was a pleasant day, so that I could go out for a drive. I've been laid up here for two months and over, and now that it's vacation I'd like to be out. The doctor was going to let me go out to-day if it was not rainy. In a few days I'll be able to walk."

"But it will be some time before you start on your Arctic exploring, won't it?"

"Not so long, perhaps; though it does seem quite a while till I'm 21. Perhaps, though, somebody will discover the north pole before I get ready to go."

"Do you think there's any great danger of that?"

"No, not much. You see, it costs a good deal to fit out an expedition, and people don't seem to be very anxious to do that. My father would have sent more expeditions, and his plans, if they had been carried out, might have made the discovery possible before now."

"What do you think of Mr. Fiala's expedition? he was asked.

Anthony Fiala, a young Brooklyn newspaper man, and a great friend of the late Mr. Ziegler, went out at the head of the second Arctic expedition projected by the millionaire, two years ago, after the first, under Capt. Baldwin, failed of its purpose. The expedition has not been heard from for some time, and fears are entertained that it has ended in disaster. Mr. W. S. Champ, confidential secretary to the late Mr. Ziegler, is now at Tromsoe, Norway, ready to go in search of the Terra Nova, Fiala's ship. Should the death of Mr. Ziegler made him determine to return home, the expedition will continue under the direction of some one else.

Sure Pole Will Be Found.

"Mr. Fiala's expedition may have succeeded for all that is known," replied the boy. "But I don't think so. My father's plans would not be called failures if it did not reach the pole, or, in fact, if several expeditions failed to do this. Finally, though, after several expeditions have got further and further toward the pole, one will reach it, I am sure. I would like to be the one to do it."

The pale, wan face lit up with a worthy ambition, and the little body, which needs only the sunshine and the healing of time to become as stanch and sturdy as before the accident, seemed to take in renewed vigor as he spoke. It was plain to see how firmly the idea of reaching the north pole has taken possession of this youth.

"Did you and your father arrange any definite plans for reaching the north pole?" he was asked.

"We talked over it many times and in many ways. But there is nothing absolutely certain about it, for people do not know much about the geography up there. By the time I am ready to go, though, there will be improvements in ships and more will be known, so that conditions will be different. I shall study all about it and follow everything connected with Arctic discovery."

"You have already reach much about the north?"

"I have read a great deal, all that has been given to me; but most of what I know I have learned from my father, who had studied the matter thoroughly."

"What good do you think the discovery of the pole would be for humanity?"

"Lots of good. It might show us a new passage in the northern seas, or —anything that is good for science is good for everyone, anyway. Besides, there would be the glory of doing what so many others have tried to do and failed."

Will Go Through College.

"In the meantime, before you become 21, what are you going to do?"

"Go to college. I am advanced enough already, they say, to take the preliminary examinations for Columbia, but I shall not be allowed to till next year. Then, when I am 16, I hope to enter and take a thorough course."

"Your fortune—have you thought what you will do with that?"

"It doesn't seem like anything real to me, for I couldn't use much money, anyway, could I? I suppose when I grow up I will find I am very rich, and then I shall try to do as much good as I can. How? In every way I can think of."

"You have not thought of any career? profession?"

"I don't know. I should like to write—and then I should like to be a lawyer. But nothing that would stop my going on the expedition to the north pole."

STATE ODDS AND ENDS

HEAD ALMOST TORN OFF.

William Mastin Shot and Instantly Killed Newt Whalen.

Cynthiana, Ky., June 23.—William Mastin shot and instantly killed Newt Whalen at Oddville, eight miles from Cynthiana, early in the morning.

Whalen was a citizen of Claysville and a desperate character when drinking. He was in Cynthiana all day.

Returning home he demanded admittance to Mastin's house, declaring his intention to kill a young lady living there.

He was refused, but broke into the kitchen and was advancing on Mastin with a knife when the latter fired. Two loads from a shotgun struck Whalen in the neck and almost tore his head off.

Mastin at once drove to Cynthiana and surrendered to the authorities.

The coroner's jury rendered a verdict acquitting the man of killing Whalen. Whalen was a prominent farmer and had lost much of his property and several months ago took the bankrupt law and since that time was very quarrelsome when he came to town, and at time rough.

STRANGE FIND.

Whisky Fifty Years Old Found in a Safe With $2,000 in Gold.

Burkesville, Ky., June 22.—An old iron safe, owned by ex-Judge W. F. Owsley, of this place, which has remained in an old brick building untouched since before the civil war, was opened by W. F. Owsley, jr., and found to contain $2,000 in gold, a gold watch and a half-gallon jug of whisky. It is believed the safe had not been opened in 50 years. Judge Owsley is now 93 years old and infirm. He was by far the wealthiest citizen of this county until recently he divided his estate among his children.

DUEL WITH PISTOLS.

Two Men Were Shot To Death in the Kentucky Mountains.

Sergent, Ky., June 23.—A pistol duel in which two were killed occurred in the mountains back of Dungannon, in Scott county. Henry Hale and John Bumbgardner, young farmers, met at Smith's saloon and after drinking heavily opened fire on each other. Cyrus Hale and William Bumbgardner, bystanders, joined in the battle, and, after ten minutes of desperate fighting, when the smoke cleared away, Henry Hale and John Bumbgardner were dead, while Cyrus Hale had received a very dangerous flesh wound. All the parties were prominently connected in that section.

NURSED PET DOG.

It Is Now Believed the Woman Has Hydrophobia.

Owensboro, Ky., June 23.—Mrs. Will Reynolds, of this county, has a genuine case of hydrophobia. It is believed she contracted the disease about a year ago when she had a pet dog, which developed hydrophobia. She nursed it during all the stages of the disease. The dog did not bite her, and it is supposed that the disease came from getting the poison in some slight abrasion of the skin.

Blown into a Post Hole.

Bowling Green, Ky., June 24.—M. F. Allen, an employe of the East Tennessee Telephone Co., was blown into the air by a premature discharge of dynamite and badly injured. Descending he fell head foremost into the post hole he was blasting, and friends had to pull him out. An eye was blown out and his limbs mangled.

Refused Admission To the Bar.

Newport, Ky., June 24.—Charles Williams, a Louisville colored attorney, has been refused admission to the Campbell county bar. His character was called into question by Col. Washington while being examined in Judge Hissem's court, and it being shown that he had served time, Judge Hissem refused to grant his certificate.

Monarch Declared Insane.

Owensboro, Ky., June 24.—M. V. Monarch, formerly one of the leading business men of Owensboro, was declared insane in the circuit court and and a guardian ad litem appointed to look after his interests in a suit brought by the Columbia Finance and Trust Co., of Louisville, to which he is a party defendant.

Damage Suit Compromised.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 24.—G. G. Reeder, at one time employed as a carpenter by the L. & N., filed suit last January for $25,000 damages, alleging that by the negligence of defendant he lost one of his legs and use of the other at Earlington. The railroad company pays Reeder $8,250.

Cut Brother Fatally With An Ax.

Morehead, Ky., June 24.—John and Jay Collins, brothers, living at Eadston, this county, quarreled over a woman, and John cut Jay with an ax, inflicting a fatal wound. John Collins and the woman, Ellen Isom, are in jail here.

His Shot Was Fatal.

Winchester, Ky., June 24.—Matt Tracey, son of S. P. Tracey, superintendent of schools of Powell county, it is alleged, shot and fatally wounded a young man named Ware, son of ex-Sheriff P. W. Ware. Cause unknown.

ON WIFE'S DARE.

Husband Shoots Himself After a Quarrel Over Two Dollars.

Covington, Ky., June 24.—Dared to, is said, by his wife to carry out his threat to kill himself, William Brodet, boss carpenter, 59, shot and probably fatally wounded himself at his home on the northwest corner of Scott and 20th streets.

Brodet, with his wife and C. E. Behymer, a friend, had just sat down to supper when an argument, Behymer says, arose between Brodet and his wife about $2 she said he had obtained from her to buy a saw.

He retorted that he had bought the saw, and, rising from the table, produced a saw from a closet, for which he said he had spent $2.

Mrs. Brodet told him he had that saw several days before he got the $2 from her, whereupon Brodet was angered and went to an upper room and shot himself.

AGED HUSBAND.

Will Be Tried on a Charge of Murdering His Wife.

Albany, Ky., June 22.—After being in session one week the Clinton circuit court has adjourned. The grand jury rendered 51 true bills. Rube York was tried and convicted for the murder of William Shelton in this county, and was given a life sentence in the penitentiary. This was his second trial, the first resulting in a hung jury.

Calvin Rains, the husband of Mrs. Rains, who was murdered in this county last Monday, was indicted for the killing. It was first reported that she had been murdered and robbed by two men. Rains' two girls were not indicted and were released from custody. Rains can not have his trial before the October term of the circuit court. No bond was allowed him. He is about 74 years old. Some think he is insane.

A KENTUCKY BOY.

Twice a Deserter Though Only 19 Years Old.

Louisville, Ky., June 24.—Twice a deserter from the United States army, Bert Woosley, who lives near Big Reedy, in Bourbon county, celebrated his 19th birthday by being arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Joe Cundiff. The boy first enlisted in the regular army November 22, 1902, but deserted soon afterward. He was recaptured, but not severely punished on account of his youth. He deserted for the second time in New York last October.

Elks Want Prize Again.

Covington, Ky., June 23.—Members of the Covington lodge of Elks, winners of the prize, as Kentucky Colonels, in the parade of the order at Cincinnati last year, are planning to go to the reunion and capture the prize again this year. They propose to go 100 strong, and are working on an improvement in their picturesque dress. The reunion at Buffalo is on July 19.

Appendix Was Twisted.

Lexington, Ky., June 22.—John Stucky, the noted athlete of this city and member of last year's baseball and football teams of the University of Virginia, was operated on here for appendicitis. The surgeons found the appendix undiseased, but greatly twisted.

Verdict Against Book Publisher.

Lancaster, Ky., June 23.—In the Lincoln circuit court a verdict was rendered in favor of Mrs. E. L. Walker, county superintendent of schools for Garrard county, for $10,000 against the sureties of Ginn & Co., of Boston, for discriminating in the price of school books.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Louisville, Ky., June 22.—Eight hundred and twenty-five hhds of burley were offered on the tobacco breaks at prices ranging from $3.75 to $14.75. One hundred and six hhds of dark were offered, the prices varying from $4.25 to $8.75.

The Giant Declared Insane.

Newport, Ky., June 24. — Steve Burns, the Newport giant, who recently ran amuck, requiring the united efforts of five policemen to arrest him and lock him up, was declared a lunatic in the circuit court. This was done at the request of his mother.

Charged With Rasing Bills.

Paducah, Ky., June 23.—United States Detective Donnell arrested J. H. Williams, a towboat man, on the charge of being implicated in the raising of $2 bills to $10. Bertha Lassiter, a 15-year-old girl, who passed one of the notes, claims to have received it from Williams.

Ryan Pleads Guilty of Murder.

Franklin, Ky., June 23.—Tom Ryan pleaded guilty to the murder of Bob Beard and was given a life term in the penitentiary. This is the only case of the kind where any defendant ever pleaded guilty of murder in the first degree in this county.

The Educators Meet.

Glasgow, Ky., June 22.—[illegible] Educational association convened at Mammoth Cave. Nearly 4,000 delegates are in attendance. Prof. [illegible] S. Fuqua, will state s[illegible] delivered the opening address.

...nal Mention.

... was at home from ... several days last week.

... from "outen the pike" ... in town one evening last week.

... of Erlanger, was a guest ... in Burlington, one day last ...

... Mrs. Craig, of Aurora, Indiana, ... guest of her sister, Mrs. John ...

... Graves, of Sullittsville, was ... the visitors to Burlington, last ...

Leslie Jackson, who had been away from home for several weeks, came in one evening last week.

Egbert Nichols and wife and Claborn Campbell and wife were Sunday guests of Leslie Nichols and wife.

Petersburg will lose a good citizen when Mr. Belden moves away. He has been a useful man in that town.

The RECORDER'S estimable friend, R. A. McWethy, of Petersburg, called last Thursday afternoon. "Dick," as everybody calls him, is one of the best business men in the northern part of the county, and he is as clever as the day is long.

Rev. and Mrs. Edgar D. Jones and little daughter, of Cleveland, O., will arrive in Boone county for a visit with T. G. Willis and family July 1st. Their little son, Edgar D., Jr., came with Miss Kunie B. Willis when she returned from Cleveland six weeks ago. Mr. Jones will remain in the county about a month and then go to Lake Chautauqua, N. Y. Mrs. Jones and the children will return to Cleveland September 1st.

BIG BONE.

Farmers are behind with their work.—Wheat harvest is progressing nicely, several taking advantage of the clear weather Sunday and putting theirs in the shock.—Some of the boys visited Patriot Sunday, and were noisy when they came home. They'll learn better when they get older.—Sam Johnson and Mamie Stewart attended the Masonic celebration at Rising Sun, last Saturday, and were married. We wish them well.—The dramatic club is rehearsing for an entertainment to be given July 7th and 8th for the benefit of the Methodist church.—We are very sorry to hear of the death of Walter Yeager. He was in the prime of life with a bright future before him. We hear that he was soon to have been married.—Dr. Ryle sent a drove of cattle to the city, Monday, by A. H. C. Miller.—Farm hands are scarce.

LIMABURG.

W. E. Anderson is suffering from blood poison in his hand.—B. A. Floyd stopped in our burg on business, Saturday.—Oliver Rust had the misfortune to cut his foot very badly, by letting a chisel fall on it, one day last week.—Mr. and Mrs. K. O. Beemon entertained a number of friends and relatives with a dinner, Sunday, in honor of Miss Myrtle Brown, a charming young lady from Virginia.—W. P. Beemon and Jas. Barlow and their families were Sunday guests of M. T. Beemon and wife.—Mrs. O. E. Aylor and daughters, Misses Pearl and Lena spent Monday with Jas. Barlow and family near Gunpowder.—Asa McMullen cut wheat for Mr. Albert Beemon. Hubert Rouse for O. E. Aylor the first of this week.—Mrs. J. J. Tanner and daughters, Misses Irba and Artie, were pleasant guests of Mrs. C. E. Beemon, Monday.

MUDLICK CREEK.

Mrs. Harriet Underhill hurt her hand very badly on a nail, one day last week.—Mr. and Mrs. George Pitcher and little son Harold, of Hamilton, were pleasant guests of Mrs. Mattie Kite and Miss Lizzie Rich, last Tuesday.—Master Rex Kite ran a nail in his foot one day last week, which caused considerable pain for a few days.—The ladies of this place are very busy canning and preserving raspberries.—Master Hiram English, a handsome young gentleman of this place, was calling in Verona Saturday evening.—John T. Underhill and daughter, Miss Maud, and Miss Lizzie Rich and Mr. John Friend, were calling in Walton last Friday.—Mrs. Maggie Hoard has gone to Stamping Ground, Scott county, where she expects to make her future home with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jane Stone.—Mrs. Mattie Kite and children spent Friday with Mrs. Harriet Underhill.—Mr. Perry Sparks, of Ryle, spent Sunday with his cousin, Mrs. Mattie Kite, of this place.

HATHAWAY.

Mrs. Cynthia White entertained several friends last Tuesday afternoon.—Mrs. C. B. Mason and Virgie Sullivan were guests at J. S. Mason's, a few days since.—E. C. Franks sold and delivered his crop of 4,675 pounds of tobacco to Constantine, of Rising Sun, at 8 cents a pound.—Mrs. Pearl Brady, of Landing, visited her mother here one day last week.—G. L. Smith and wife were guests of Rev. Maddox and wife, last Thursday afternoon.—Mrs. Will Sebree was the guest of her parents one day last week.—Dave Williamson and several other fox hunters were out at Ball Knob, Saturday night.—Corn is growing nicely since the rain. Oats promise a fine crop.—Harvest has commenced in this neighborhood. J. S. Mason cut his wheat last week.—The thermometer registered 95 in the shade here one day last week.—Mrs. Sarah White visited at Rabbit Hash, one day last week.—J. C. White and daughter were in Union one day last week.—Your quill pusher was on the sick list one day last week. —Some of the farmers are laying their corn by.

A Bad Scare.

Some day, you will get a bad scare, when you feel a pain in your bowels, and fear appendicitis. Safety lies in Dr. King's New Life Pills, a sure cure, for all bowel and stomach diseases, such as headache, biliousness, costiveness, etc. Guaranteed at all drug stores, only 25c. Try them.

This promises to be the record breaking wheat crop in the U. S. The present crop is estimated at ... million bushels of which Ken... will furnish about two mil... bushels ... only will furnish ...

EXECUTOR'S SALE
—OF—
LAND

As Executors of the will of Elijah Northcutt, deseased, we will on Saturday, June 15, 1905.

at 10:30 o'clock, a. m.,

Sell publicly to the highest bidder, at the late residence of Elijah Northcutt, deceased, situated in Kenton County, Ky., about two miles northeast of Bracht Station, on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, and about two and one-half miles east of Walton, Ky., fronting on a turnpike road leading to the Covington and Lexington turnpike road, and to Bracht Station on said railroad, the following tracts of land:

Tract No. 1

Containing 103 acres and 38 poles, on which is a large good ten room two story Brick House in good condition, with good barn and other outbuildings, watered with well and cistern, good garden and orchards of various kinds of fruits, and shade trees and well set in grass.

Tract No. 2

Contains 58 acres and 42 poles and adjoins tract No. 1; and they may be sold together if purchaser should desire it.

Tract No. 3

Contains 92 acres 3 roods and 27 poles, on the opposite side of the turnpike road.

Tract No. 4

Contains 3 acres 1 rood and 32 poles and adjoins tract No. 1 and fronts on turnpike road.

Tract No. 5

Contains 132 acres 2 roods and 32 poles, suitable for a good farm.

These lands have been recently surveyed and laid off in parcels as stated, the farm containing 450¼ acres as a whole. The lands are all well set in grass, except a small field in corn and tobacco. Each tract of land has a fine lot of timber on it—except the three acres, which could be sold for one-fourth enough to pay for the tract of land.

There are more than 100 acres of said lands good tobacco land. All of said lands are well watered with spring, creeks and pond, and must be seen to be appreciated. Persons wishing to see the lands before the day of sale will please call on Benton Northcutt and Lewis C. Northcutt, who reside on farms adjoining said lands. Sale to begin at 10:30 a. m. at the farm house on the land.

TERMS OF SALE.

One-third of the purchase money to be paid in cash when deed is made, one-third in one year and one-third in two years after the day of sale, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent. per annum from date until paid, with a lien on the lands for said payments, and deed to be made within fifteen days after date of sale.

The Title to the Land is Perfect and the executors are autherized to sell and convey the lands by said will. Persons desiring to purchase a farm should attend this sale. Possession given purchasers in ample time to sow small grain in the fall of this year.

Conveyances will meet persons desiring to attend this sale at Bracht Station on said railroad at nine o'clock.

H. CLAY WHITE,
JOSEPH KAUB,
Executors of Elijah Northcutt, deceased.
V. S. Metcalf, Auctioneer.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.

Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.

PRICES REASONABLE.

Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone County.

IF YOU INTEND TO GET A NEW BUGGY

Come See us Before Buying.

If you want a factory buggy, we can save you from $10 to $20 on them (the agent's profit). We handle many factory makes. Our long experience has prepared us in selecting a vehicle over those that have not made it a study. To prove what we say TRY US.

If you want a first-class hand-made BUGGY or CARRIAGE come see us, and we will sell you one that cannot be duplicated in the State for the money.

If you want your vehicle PAINTED OR REPAIRED you can get it done Here as Cheap as any one can do it. All Work Shall be as Represented.

BRADFORD BROS., Florence, Ky.

Through Thick And Thin
GRAIN
The McCormick Binder

Has cut its way to enduring fame. No matter how long or short the straw, or in what condition the grain may the McCormick does splendid work. It is, therefore, the farmer's friend, and will remain true to him "through thick and thin," enabling him to increase his profits and materially augment his bank account during the lean as well as during the fat years. You are invited to examine our samples before buying.

Get our Price on Binder Twine Before You Purchase.

STANDARD BINDER McCormick make a special price of 10c per lb. by the bale.

Mersman Hardware Co.,

25 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Branch Stores—LUDLOW, KY. LATONIA, KY.

SPECIALS!

As a further introduction of the quality, style and tailoring of Clothing we are offering, the following prices will prevail . . .

$10.00 For a handsome, carefully finished and up-to-date patterns Men's Suits.

$15.00 For Ready-to-wear Tailor Made Suit, like custom work.

$7.50 Men's Coats and Trouser Suit.

Young Men's Suits	$7.50
Boys' and Children's Suits	$3.00
Men's Trousers	$1.00
Children's Trousers	35c

Merchant Tailoring

Favorable prices to our customers, to introduce what can be made for the money.

Max Herbst & Co.

531 Madison Ave., COVINGTON, KY.

Lucian Rice, Mgr. Near Sixth Street.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,
Salvage AND Wrecking Contractors

All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.

BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,

BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.

Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.

Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

FARM FOR SALE.

A good farm of 227 acres, near Rabbit Hash, Boone county, Ky. Capable of being divided.

THOS. N. STEPHENS,
Rabbit Hash, Ky.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of John Rowland, deceased, must come forward and settle [illegible] and those having claims against said estate must present them [illegible] proven according [illegible]

THE FINE YOUNG JACK,

Honest Pat will make the season of 1905 at my stable one mile west of Idlewild, Boone County, Ky., at $8 to insure a living colt, money due when mare is known or mare parted with. Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur. T. E. RANDALL.

H. VON LEHMEN,

—HAND-MADE—

Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,

ALSO SECOND HAND

PHAETONS, PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,

CHEAP.

No. 152 Pike Street,

COVINGTON, - KY.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade.

JOSEPH A. HUEY,

Pleasure Hill Stock Farm,

Union, Ky.,

Presents for public service, season 1905, a sire of Merit,

BRISTO 19732,

Terms of service $10.00 to insure a flying foal.

Bristo is a beautiful black 15¾ hands, of splendid style and action.

Sired by Baron Wilkes, 2:18, sire of Bumps, 2:03¼, Raonel (4) 2:06¼, Baron Bell, 2:09, Oakland Baron, 2:09½, Rubenstein, 2:05, Dulce Coe, 2:08¾, Centrifice, 2:09, Nydia Wilkes, 2:09 and 115 others in 2:30 list. First dam by Squire Talmage, sire of Strafer H., 2:22¾, Neva, 2:23¾, Lottie K., 2:28¾, etc. Second dam by Almont 33, sire of Fannie Witherspoon, 2:16¼, Piedmont, 2:17¾, Aldine, 2:19½. Third dam by Gold Dust 150, sire Lucille Gold Dust 2:18¾, Fleety Gold dust, 2:20, Indicator, 2:23¾.

JOSEPH HERRMAN,

—DEALER IN—

FANCY GROCERIES,

SMOKED MEATS,

Fruits & Vegetables

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Opp. Erlanger Deposit Bank.

Eggs and Butter exchanged in trade or cash. Boone county trade solicited.

PLEASE CALL AND GET MY PRICES.

Phone—South 1054 Y—Call 3.

B. L. RICE. M. J. CROUCH.

RICE & CROUCH,

REAL ESTATE

And Note Brokers.

Farms Bought and Sold.

Notes Negotiated. Money to Loan.

Office—UNION, KY.

ANTHONY BENTLER,
AUCTIONEER,

19 Covington Avenue,

COVINGTON, - - KY.

Will cry sales anywhere in Boone or Kenton county. Prices reasonable.

"Always Reliable."

W. N. HIND & CO.

Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,

210-12 W. Fifth Street,

Cincinnati, - Ohio.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.

Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.

Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.

Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW

Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio, Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.

Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged Money to Loan on Real Estate. Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK

(Incorporated 1886.)

CAPITAL, ... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits $0,000

Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK

(INCORPORATED 1893.)

ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY

Capital Stock paid in $50,000
Surplus, ... $8,000

Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

INSURE AT HOME

The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,

Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.

Its RATES are LOWER Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co. HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE in keeping their property insured.

Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.

Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, - Walton, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early.

C. L. GRIFFITH,

DEALER IN

REAL ESTATE

and Negotiable Notes,

WALTON, KY.

If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,

208 F. & T. Bank Building,

COVINGTON, - KY.

—will be in office—

At ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

At UNION 1st MONDAY in each month.

For the Best Flour, Try

OLD KENTUCKY

BLENDED PATENT.

—GUARANTEED.—

For Something Good, Try

VIRGINIA OAK

WINTER PATENT.

—WARRANTED.—

Clifford E. Nadaud,

515 Chamber of Commerce,
CINCINNATI, O.
Room 10 Boone Block,
COVINGTON, KY.

Dr. G. M. Terrill,
DENTIST,

Walnut Street.

LAWRENCEBURG, - INDIANA.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JULY 5. 1905. NO. 38

PREMIUM LIST OF THE TENTH ANNUAL BOONE COUNTY FAIR, AUG. 30-31 & SEPT. 1-2.

First Day, Wednesday, August 30th, 1905.

DAIRY CATTLE.

	First.	Second
Bull, two years old and over	$15 00	7 00
Bull, one year old and under two, first premium by John A. Lehman, Ludlow; second premium one-half ton bran by Early & Daniel, Cincinnati	10 00	5 00
Bull, under two years old, 1st prem. by Tony Schuites	5 00	3 00
Cow, two years old and over, second premium by The Queen City Implement Co., Cincinnati	15 00	7 50
Heifer, one year old and under two, first premium by Burlington & Florence Turnpike; second premium by A. E. Foster	10 00	5 00
Heifer under one year old, first premium by J. C. Bentler & Son, Erlanger	5 00	3 00
Herd, one Bull and three or more Cows, first premium by Early & Daniel, Covington, 2d premium by Cincinnati Union Stock Yards Company	20 00	10 00
Milk and Butter Cow, any breed, second premium by Henry Heile, Covington	15 00	10 00

NOTE—All Cows exhibited for best milk and butter cow must be thoroughly milked by 6:30 o'clock a. m. on day of exhibition. Same will be inspected by a committee appointed by the Board.

DRAFT HORSES.

Filly Colt under one year old	$ 6 00	$ 3 00
Horse colt under one year old	6 00	3 00
Colt, one and under two, regardless of sex—1st premium by First National Bank, Covington; second premium by Specker & Co., Cincinnati	10 00	5 00
Mare, three years old and under four, first premium by the Manhattan Restaurant, Cincinnati; second premium by W. E. Townley & Co., Cincinnati	10 00	5 00
Gelding, three and under four, second premium, pair pants by Piper & Walton, Cincinnati	10 00	5 00
Stallion, three years old and under four, 2nd premium by Thomas Conry & Co., Cincinnati	10 00	5 00
Mare, four years old and over	15 00	7 00
Gelding, four years old and over	15 00	7 00
Stallion, four years old and over	15 00	7 00
Sweepstakes for Stallion, Mare or Geiding, regardless of age, 1st premium by Jos. W. Scott	20 00	10 00
Farm Team, 1st premium by J. M. Finch, Florence	15 00	7 00
Model Stallion, any age, 1st premium by The Bavarian Brewing Co.; 2d premium by T. W. Spinks, Covington	10 00	5 00
Model Mare, any age, 1st premium by S. D. Rouse; second premium by the Cincinnati Soda Water & Ginger Ale Company	10 00	5 00
Model Gelding, any age, second premium by The J. L. Walker Tobacco Co	10 00	5 00

N. B.—In the last three rings beauty of form, color, style and action are to be considered.

Coach Horse, any age or sex, $10 of first premium by John Allison, Covington 15 00 7 00

SOUTHDOWNS.

All Sheep must have been closely shorn by April 1, 1905.

Ram, under one year old	$ 5 00	$3 00
Ram, one year old and under two	5 00	3 00
Ram, 2 years old and over, 1st prem. by John Bryant	5 00	3 00
Ewe, under one year old, first premium by Andrew, Bates & Co., Cincinnati	5 00	3 00
Ewe, one year old and under two	5 00	3 00
Ewe, two years old and over, first premium by Ed F. Mildenberger	5 00	3 00

HAMPSHIREDOWNS.

Ram, under one year old, first premium by F. H. Gottschalk, Covington	5 00	3 00
Ram, one year old and under two, first premium by H. Belmer & Co., Cincinnati	5 00	3 00
Ram, two years old and over, first premium by The Enterprise Lumber Company, Covington	5 00	3 00
Ewe, under one year old, first premium by Johnson Bros. Hardware Co	5 00	3 00
Ewe, one year old and under two	5 00	3 00
Ewe, 2 years old and over, 1st prem. by Thos. Burke	5 00	3 00

SHROPSHIREDOWNS.

Ram, under one year old, first premium by Niebauer, Fisher & Co., Cincinnati	5 00	3 00
Ram, one year old and under two, first premium by George Schlinkerman	5 00	3 00
Ram, two years old and over, first premium by W. S. Underhill, Covington	5 00	3 00
Ewe, under one year old, first premium by Charles Mahlman, Covington	5 00	3 00
Ewe, one year old and under two, first premium by Dr. Allen D. Sullivan	5 00	3 00
Ewe, two years old and over, first premium by Jos. Herrman, Erlanger	5 00	3 00
Ram and two Ewes, premium by M. Sabel & Sons	10 00

Last above ring limited to Boone and Kenton county sheep.

OXFORDDOWNS.

Ram, under one year old, first premium by Buckeye Tobacco Warehouse Company	5 00	3 00
Ram, one year old and under two	5 00	3 00
Ram, two years old and over, first premium by Dr. J. T. Hedges	5 00	3 00
Ewe, under one year old	5 00	3 00
Ewe, one year old and under two, first premium by T. A. Rentz	5 00	3 00
Ewe, two years old and over, first premium by Alex Patterson, Cincinnati	5 00	3 00

FRUITS.

Best Display Pears	3 00	1 00
Best Display Peaches	3 00	1 00
Best Display Apples	3 00	1 00
Best Display Grapes	3 00	1 00
Best Display Fruit	5 00	3 00
Best Display Plums	1 00
Best Display Quinces	1 00

PANTRY AND DAIRY.

Best Display Frnit Butter, three or more kinds	$2 00
Best Display Sour Pickles, three or more kind	2 00
Best Display Sweet Pickles, three or more kinds	2 00
Best can of Peaches	1 00
Best can of Pears	1 00
Best can of Tomatoes	1 00
Best Devil's Food Cake	1 00
Best Angel's Food Cake	1 00
Best Variety of Cakes, premium by Amos Teed, Ludlow, pair of shoes for lady	5 00
Best Yellow Pound Cake	2 50
Best White Pound Cake	2 50
Best Lady Cake	2 00
Best White Layer Cake	2 00
Best Jelly Cake	2 00
Best Marble Cake	2 00
Best Pansy Cake	2 00
Best Sunshine Cake	2 00
Best Knickerbocker Cake	3 00	1 50
Best Fruit Cake	8 00
Princess Cake	2 00
Best Display Home-made Candy	4 00
Best Loaf Corn Bread	1 00
Best Loaf Hop Yeast Bread	1 00
Best Salt Rising Bread	1 00
Best Quart Maple Molasses	1 00
Best Quart Sorghum Molasses	1 00
Best Quart Apple Vinegar	1 00
Best Two Pounds Comb Honey	1 00
Best Quart Extracted Honey	1 00
Best Quince Jelly, single glass	50
Best Apple Jelly, single glass	50
Best Current Jelly, single glass	50
Best Crab Apple Jelly, single glass	50
Best Gooseberry Jelly, single glass	50
Best Blackberry Jelly, single glass	50
Red Raspberry Jelly, single glass	50
Grape Jelly, single glass	50
Best Display Jellies, 2d premium by Geo. W. Hill	8 00	5 00
Best Display Preserves, first premium by F. Piper, Covington, pair 14k gold Spectacles	10 00	5 00
Best Two Pounds Butter	1 00

Second Day, Thursday, August 31st.

BEEF CATTLE.

Bull, two years old and over, first premium by H. F. Blase, Covington, Suit of Clothes	15 00	7 50
Bull, one year old and under two, second premium by Fred P. Bert, Ludlow	10 00	5 00
Bull Calf, under one year old	6 00	3 00
Cow, two years old and over	15 00	8 00
Heifer, one year old and under two, first premium by M. F. Wingate, Petersburg; second premium by Snowden, Seal & Richey, Cincinnati	10 00	5 00
Heifer, under one year old	6 00	3 00
Herd, one bull and three or more cows or heifers, owned by one person	30 00	15 00
Fatted Bullock, Cow or Heifer, any breed, second premium by the Union & Florence Turnpike Company	20 00	10 00

SADDLE HORSES.

NOTICE—All exhibitors of horses must remove boots and other appliances, if required by the Judges, to show blemishes or imperfections.

Stallion, four years old and over, second premium by The Covington Savings Bank & Trust Company	20 00	10 00
Gelding, four years old and over, second premium by Green & Embry, Cincinnati	20 00	10 00
Mare, four years old and over, second premium by First National Bank, Ludlow	20 00	10 00
Stallion, three years old and under four, second premium by Dr. Alvin A. Ranshaw	10 00	5 00
Gelding, three years old and under four, second premium by B. S. Clore, Ludlow	10 00	5 00
Mare, three years old and under four, 2d premium by J. S. McCormick, Ludlow	10 00	5 00
Colt, two years old and under three, regardless of sex, second premium by Geo. F. Eaton, Cincinnati	10 00	5 00
Sweepstakes for Saddle Stallion, Mare or Gelding, regardless of age, 3d prem. by Congressman J. L. Rhinock	$100 00	50 00	25 00
Colt, [illegible] old and under two, regardless of sex, $5 of first premium by Dr. G. E. Senior, Florence		8 00	4 00
Horse Colt, under one year old, first premium by D. L. Carpenter & Co., Covington		5 00	3 00
Mare Colt, under one year old, 1st premium by John A. Fishers' Sons, Covington		20 00	10 00
Best High Stepper, regardless of age, sex or class, $5 of second premium by Buckeye Stable, Cincin'ti		20 00	10 00
Boy Rider, between the age of 10 and 16 years, not less than 6 to enter, first premium suit of Clothes by Rolfes & Wachs, Covington		5 00	3 00
Gentleman Rider, horse to be considered, gentleman's saddle by B. W. Campbell and F. H. Perkins		35 00
Fat Man Rider, to weigh not less than 220 pounds, five or more to enter, 1st premium by Rabenstein, Harris & Conner, Cincinnati; second premium by Wm. Kenney, Covington		10 00	5 00

THINRINDS.

Boar, one year old and over, first premium by A. C. Lichtwadt, Covington	5 00	3 00
Sow, one year old and over, first premium by George Slimer, Cincinnati	5 00	3 00
Pair Pigs, under six months old, first premium by Joseph Hartke & Sons, Covington	5 00	3 00

CHESTERWHITES.

Boar, one year old and over, first premium by The Hatfield Coal Company, Covington	5 00	3 00
Sow, one year old and over, first premium by Heilman Lumber & Manufacturing Co., Covington	5 00	3 00
Pair Pigs, under six months old, first premium by T. F. Hengehold, Covington	5 00	3 00

POLAND CHINA.

Boar, one year old and over, first premium by C. Pohlman, Covington	5 00	3 00
Sow, one year old and over, first premium by Louis Fritz & Co., Covington	5 00	3 00
Pair Pigs, under six months old, first premium by A. L. Boehmer, Covington	5 00	3 00
Sow and six or more of her pigs under three months old (any breed), second premium by Geo. Blong	8 00	5 00

FLORAL HALL.—FLOWERS.

Best Display of Blooming Flowers in pots, 1st premium by Dr. J. L. Adams, Covington	8 00	4 00
Best Display Cut Flowers	2 00
Best Hand Bouquet	1 00
Best Display Fucias in pots	1 00
Best Hanging Basket	2 00
Best Display Roses in pots	1 00
Best Display Geraniums in pots	1 00
Best Display Begonias in pots	1 00
Best Display Cactus in pots	1 00
Best Display Tube Roses in pots	1 00

PAINTINGS & DRAWINGS.

Best Crayon Drawing, first premium by John R. Coppin, Covington	5 00	2 00
Best Pen or Pencil Drawing	2 00	1 00
Best Water Colored Painting, first premium by H. J. Klosterman, Covington	5 00	3 00
Best Oil Painting—Figure	4 00
Best Oil Painting—Landscape	4 00
Best Oil Painting—Flowers	4 00
Best Painting on China, 2d prem. by J. R. Wilhoit	5 00	2 50
Best Specimen Wood Carving	3 00	2 00
Best Display Fancy Basket Work	3 00	2 00
Radishes, best twelve	1 00
Peppers, best display	1 00
Pumpkins, best three	1 00
Cantalonpes, best three	1 00
Largest Pumpkin	1 00
Best Display of Vegetables, first premium by George Gebhardt; second by Al Schlosser	5 00	2 50

Third Day, Friday, September 1st.

MULES.

Mare Mule under one year old	$6 00	3 00
Horse Mule under one year old	6 00	3 00
Mule Colt one and under two, regardless of sex	6 00	3 00
Mule two and under three, regardless of sex, second premium by Mayer & VonHandorf, Covington	10 00	5 00
Best Pair Mules for farm work	15 00	7 00
Best Mule, any age, second premium by Aliphin & Hume, Walton	10 00	5 00
Best Jack, any age, 2d prem. by Harry Herzog	10 00	5 00
Best Jennet, any age	6 00	3 00
Best Running-walking Horse, soundness to be considered, first premium by The Planters Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co.; 2d prem. by Orene Parker	10 00	5 00

HARNESS HORSES.

Filly Colt, under one year old, 1st premium by Andy Scheben, Erlanger	5 00	3 00
Horse Colt, under one year old, first premium by H. G. Blanton, Erlanger	5 00	3 00
Colt, one year old and under two, regardless of sex, second premium, $1 hat by G. H. Loebker	8 00	4 00
Colt, two years old and under three, regardless of sex, second premium by G. A. McCracken Real Estate and Insurance Co	10 00	5 00
Mare, three years old and under four, second premium by John R. Bullock, Covington	12 00	5 00
Gelding, three years old and under four, second premium by J. H. Fedders & Son	12 00	5 00
Stallion, three years old and under four, second premium by R. E. Baisly & Co., Cincinnati	12 00	5 00
Mare, four years old and over, $5 of second premium Ed Schild	20 00	10 00
Golding, four years old and over, second premium by The Hartwell Furniture Co., Cincinnati	20 00	10 00
Stallion, four years old and over	20 00	10 00
Fancy Turnout (single horse) driver, vehicle, horse and harness to be considered, first premium by the Erlanger Deposit Bank; second premium by Fry & Reihm	10 00	5 00
Harness Stallion, Mare or Golding (Sweepstakes for harness horses)	$100 00	50 00	25 00
Best Lady Rider, five or more to enter, premium by Hon. D. Linn Gooch—Silver Pitcher and Goblets	25 00
Best Single Roadster, any age or sex, $20 00 of second premium by Gus W. Menninger, Covington	50 00	25 00
Best Lady and Gentleman Rider, first premium by W. N. Hind & Co.; second by Dr. J. N. Bradford	10 00	5 00
Best Colt, regardless of sex, of the 1904 get of Col. Willis 37706—premiums by James P. Tanner	10 00	5 00

EMBROIDERY.

Display Linen with silk embroidery, not less than 5 pieces, first premium by J. Appel	5 00	3 00
Fable Painting on Silk, Satin, Velvet or Linen	5 00	3 00
Fancy Silk Embroidery, 1st premium by Hickey's Shoe Store, Covington	5 00	3 00
Linen Embroidery, 1st premium by Specker & Co	5 00	3 00
Eyelet Embroidery on Linen, first premium by Henry B. Cosby, Richmond, Ky	5 00	3 00
Italian Embroidery	5 00	3 00
Drawn Thread Work, 1st prem. by Clutterbuck Bros	5 00	3 00
Battenburg Lace, 1st premium by Kotzen' Bee Hive	2 50	1 00
Cotton Embroidery, 1st premium by Florence Deposit Bank	5 00	3 00
Bulgarian Embroidery	3 00	1 00
Irish Crochet	3 00	2 00
Mountmelick Embroidery	3 00	1 00
Linen Center Piece, embroidered in colored silk	3 00	2 00
Plain Wool Knitting	1 00
Fancy Wool Knitting	1 00
Lace Work	2 00
Knit Lace	2 00
Best dressed doll, 1st prem. by The W. G. Snyder Co	5 00	2 00
Fancy Stock Collar	2 00
Fancy Silk Knitting	2 00
Honiton Lace	2 00
Most Artistic Cover for Sofa Pillow	2 00	1 00
Most Elaborate Machine Sewing on white goods	2 00	1 00
Ten yards Rag Carpet, cotton warp	2 00
Woven Silk Rug	3 00	2 00

QUILTS.

Silk, Crazy Patchwork, first premium by H. N. Dine, Covington—Rocker	5 00	3 00
Silk Patchwork Quilt, first premium, pair of shoes by the Ideal Shoe Store, Covinton	5 00	3 00
Worsted Quilt, first premium by D. H. Baldwin & Co	5 00	3 00
Calico Quilt, first premium by W. C. Weaver	5 00	2 00
Knit Counterpane	4 00	2 00

Fourth Day, Saturday, September 2d.

ALL PURPOSE HORSES.

Filly Colt under one year old, first premium by C. W. Myers, Florence	$ 5 00	3 00
Horse Colt under one year old, first premium by Dustin & Bell, Cincinnati	5 00	3 00
Colt one year old and under two, $5 of first premium by Spencer Rouse, Hunpowder; second premium by C. L. Griffith, Walton	8 00	5 00
Colt two years old and under three, regardless of sex, 2d premium by Peoples Savings Bank and Trust Co	10 00	5 00
Colt, three years old and under four, regardless of sex, 2d prem. by Clore, Dickerson & Clayton	20 00	10 00
Horse or Mare four years old and under five, second premium by M. L. Sweetnam	25 00	10 00
Horse or Mare, any age	$ 100 00	50 00	25 00
Mare with two or more colts, second premium by H. Ellerman & Sons, Covington	10 00	5 00
Pair Matched Horses or Mares, $10 of first premium by Fifth National Bank, Cincinnati; second premium by Lexington Pike Lumber Company	20 00	10 00
Stallion with two or more colts, first premium by the Covington Lumber Co., Covington and Erlanger; second premium by W. R. Riffe	10 00	5 00
Pair Harness Mares or Horses, second premium by The J. B. Doppes Sons Lumber Co., Cincinnati	20 00	10 00
Best Driving by Lady, second premium by J. O. Huey	10 00	5 00
Fancy Turnout (double team), driver, vehicle, harness and horse to be considered	15 00	8 00
Consolation Harness Prize for Horse or Mare, any age, which has been exhibited during this meeting and failed to take a premium, fourth premium by William Thoman, Covington $ 20 00 15 00	10 00	5 00
Consolation Saddle Prize for Horse or Mare, any age, which has been exhibited at this meeting and has failed to take a premium, third premium by Lowry & Goebel, Cincinnati; fourth premium by Ed E. Walker & Co., Covington $ 20 00 15 00	10 00	5 00

GRAIN, TOBACCO, ETC.

Timothy Seed, best peck	1 00
Clover Seed, best peck	1 00
Rye, best peck	1 00
Oats, best peck	1 00
Red Wheat, best peck	1 00
White Corn, best 12 ears	1 00
Yellow Corn, best 12 ears	1 00
Sweet Corn, best 12 ears	1 00
Largest and best single ear of Corn, 1905 crop	1 00
Best 12 Ears of Corn of any variety not listed above	1 00
Display of Grain, first premium by Oscar W. Hess	5 00	2 50
Best 10 Pounds Burley Tobacco, grown by exhibitor	3 00	1 00
Best 6 Stalks Burley Tobacco, 1905 crop, first premium by Conner, Hogan & Riley	5 00	3 00

VEGETABLES.

Irish Potatoes, best peck late	$1 00
Irish Potatoes, best peck early	1 00
Irish Potatoes, best display	2 00	1 00
Sweet Potatoes, best peck	1 00
Onions, best peck	1 00
Turnips, best peck	1 00
Beets, best peck for table use	1 00
Tomatoes, best peck	1 00
Cabbage, best six heads	1 00
Cashaws, best three	1 00
Green Beans, best peck	1 00
Soup Beans, best quart shelled	1 00
Watermelons, best three	1 00
Squashes, best three	1 00
Muskmelons, best display	1 00
Carrots, best six	1 00
Cucumbers, best six	1 00

POULTRY.

Best pair Buff Cochins	1 50
Best pair White Leghorns	1 50
Best pair Barred Plymouth Rock	1 50
Best pair White Plymouth Rock	1 50
Best pair Brown Leghorns	1 50
Best pair Silver Wyandotts, prem. by G. C. Goode	1 50
Best pair Buff Wyandotts, prem. by G. C. Goode	1 50
Best pair White Wyandotts	1 50
Best pair Langshangs	1 50
Best pair Light Brahmas	1 50
Best pair Dark Brahmas	1 50
Best pair Minorcas	1 50
Best pair Hamburgs	1 50
Best pair Black Spanish	1 50
Best pair Indian Game	1 50
Best pair Pit Game, prem. by Mendel, Grote & Co	2 50
Best pair Fancy Game	1 50
Best pair Buff Orfington	1 50
Best pair Bantams	1 50
Best pair Bronze Turkeys	1 50
Best pair Tolouse Geese	1 50
Best pair Emden Geese	1 50
Best pair Holland Turkeys	1 50
Best pair Rouen Ducks	1 50
Best pair Pekin Ducks	1 50
Best general display of Poultry, first premium by M. B. Foster; second by G. C. Goode, Covington	5 00	2 00
Best Set Double Harness for wagon, first premium by H. Von Lehman, Covington	5 00	2 00
Best Set Single Harness	5 00	2 00
Best pair Hand-made Shoes	2 00	1 00

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, - - - KENTUCKY.

JULY...1905

Sun.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thu.	Fri.	Sat.
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23 30	24 31	25	26	27	28	29

N. M. 2-51. F. Q. 9th. F. M. 16th. L. Q. 24th.

Col. Stephen N. Winslow has been connected with the Philadelphia Inquirer for 63 years.

In a New York prison the educational course for convicts will be broadened to include lectures on law.

During the last two years about 5,000,000 mulberry trees have been planted in Argentina, which has now about 10,000,000 of such trees.

Thirty-five years ago W. H. Newman was a brakeman on a southern railroad at $2 a day; to-day he is president of the great Vandalia system, with a salary of $120,000 a year.

It costs money to live in South Africa. A woman resident in Johannesburg pays $50 a month for her cook and $35 a month to a Hindoo servant. In India she would have had to pay only $5 a month for the Hindoo's services.

The United States leads the world in the aggregate amount of insurance taken out by dwellers within her borders, the most heavily insured individual on earth being Rodman Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, who recently secured $1,900,00 extra insurance on his life. This, added to the sum of his previous policies, means that his demise will cost the insurance companies $3,200,000.

Mme. Emma Calve, the famous singer, is one of those people who like to have their tombs ready for them in case anything should happen. Some four years ago the great singer and actress gave instructions to a well-known French sculptor to prepare a design for her monument, and though at first he thought she was in jest and hesitated to begin the work he soon found she was in earnest. He set to work, therefore, and modeled a sketch.

Oscar II., the reigning king of Sweden and Norway, was born January 21, 1829. He is the third son of King Oscar I. and Queen Josephine. He succeeded to the throne at the death of his brother, King Carl XV., September 18, 1872. Married June 6, 1857, to Queen Sophia, who was born July 9, 1836, and is the daughter of the late Duke Wilhelm of Nassau. The king has four sons, Prince Gustaf, Prince Oscar, who renounced his succession to the throne and wedded Ebba Munck of Fulkila; Prince Carl and Prince Eugene, unmarried.

Physical geographers are asking whether we are now witnessing the gradual disappearance of a glacial period. It has been known for some time that the ice is dwindling in the Arctic, and it has now been shown that the ice is melting faster than it forms in a part of the Atlantic and perhaps in all of it. Among the observations that have led to this conclusion concerning Arctic ice phenomena are the statements of Prof. Garweod that the line of perpetual snow in Spitzbergen is now 2,000 feet above the sea.

Rev. Dr. McConnell, of Des Moines, Ia., in his sermon the other Sunday, declared that the decadence of churchgoing was because attendants—especially at Protestant churches—wore the most expensive clothes they possessed. This had the effect of keeping away the poor, plainly attired people. In making the usual announcements for future services this long-haired parson said: "Please note that all people attending services here are requested to wear plain and inexpensive clothing in order that no one, however humble, may be embarrassed."

Joseph Croisitiere, or Crushia, as he was more familiarly known, whose death occurred the other day in Michigan, was a remarkable man in other respects than age. He was born near Ottowa, Ont., July 4, 1799, and, having almost attained the age of 106 years, is believed to have been the oldest man in Michigan. It was his boast that, even in later years, he had hardly had a day of sickness, and his faculties were unusually good. He was a familiar figure on the streets and frequently took long walks into neighboring townships.

There are 600,000,000 acres of arid land in the United States, which is not far from a third of the area of the contiguous portion of the country. About 10,000,000 acres have been reclaimed at one time and another by private enterprise. It is estimated that 600,000 square miles, or two-thirds of the aggregate, can be made fit for cultivation. This is twelve times the area of the state of New York, and would be capable of supporting at least 20,000,000 of people. All this barren tract is west of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Arkansas.

NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD.

Happenings of Interest Gathered and Condensed For the Busy Reader.

PROGRESS OF THE RUSSO-JAP WAR

What is Transpiring at the Capital of the Nation, Together With Exciting Events Occurring in Foreign Countries.

Russia has given reassurance of its intentions in the peace negotiations by placing the president in possession of the tentative selection of her plenipotentiaries, as follows: M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador at Paris, and Baron Rosen, the newly appointed ambassador at Washington.

The Russian foreign office has issued a communication confirming the statement made in a press dispatch that Russia has accepted the first ten days in August as the time within which the first meeting of the peace plenipotentiaries will take place.

The Russian government has decided to lay a third track on the Finnish railway in view of the possibility of the arrival of a Japanese fleet in the Baltic, where it could easily form a naval base at the Aland islands and blockade the whole Baltic coast. Russia has only one serviceable battleship left.

Diplomats in Washington are looking to Oyster Bay for the official announcement within the next few days of the plenipotentiaries who will represent Russia and Japan at the Washington conference.

A dispatch from Lodz, Poland, says the authorities there have threatened to bombard the town in case there is any further firing on the police or troops by the strikers.

A dispatch from Odessa says that all the shipping in the harbor is in flames and that the mutinous crew on the battleship Kniaz Ptemkine fired a shell, killing four Cossacks and wounding 17.

The commission appointed to inquire into the disturbances in Lodz June 23 has given out a statement to the effect that the number of killed is over 500 and the wounded over 1,000. The commission has severely reprimanded the chief of police.

The question of Chinese exclusion from the United States continues chiefly to occupy the attention of the Chinese. The extent and depth of the feeling manifested astonished foreigners and is regarded as an evidence of the growth of a national sentiment of public spirit which five years ago would have been inconceivable.

There have been no new developments in the case of bubonic plague at LaRoca, against which a strict quarantine is enforced. A cordon of police prevents all communication with LaRoca, Panama.

Capt. Robert D. Graham, a lawyer, 65, who served in the confederate army throughout the civil war and the son of a former cabinet officer, leaped from the portico of a window of the sixth floor of an apartment house in Washington and was so seriously injured that he died a few minutes afterward.

Somewhere between Winslow, Cal. and Albuquerque, N. M., a United States mail pouch, which contained $20,000 in national bank notes, issued by an Albuquerque bank, is missing.

Chief Engineer Wallace, of the Panama canal commission, resigned his position under pressure from the president and Secretary Taft. The resignation is said to have followed several stormy sessions of the canal board in which radical differences of opinion in regard to the policy to be pursued in the construction of the canal are said to have developed.

Joining with his former college mates in celebrating the 25th anniversary of the graduation of their classes from Harvard university, President Roosevelt returned to his alma mater, not as the chief magistrate of the nation, but as a private citizen and a loyal Harvard alumnus.

There was no betting or bookmaking at the Delmar race track, St. Louis, and comparatively few spectators were present.

The grave of Molly Pitcher, the hero in the battle of Monmouth, was appropriately marked amid impressive ceremonies, which were in charge of the Patriotic Order Sons of America.

Cornell regained her prestige in intercollegiate rowing affairs by winning with utmost ease the 'varsity eight-oar and freshmen eight-oar races in the intercollegiate regatta. Syracuse was given the decision in the 'varsity four-oar race.

The Yale 'varsity crew wrested victory from Harvard in the annual four-mile race on the Thames by the length of an oar.

The Flint Bottle Manufacturers' Association of the United States and Canada met and organized. There were 21 concerns representing about one-half of the capacity of North America present.

The Pennsylvania board of pardons finally disposed of the case of Mrs. Kate Edwards, the Berks county woman under sentence of death for the murder of her husband, by refusing to grant her a commutation.

A violent storm did great damage at Phillipsburg, Kan., and in the surrounding country, eight persons being killed. Many persons were injured.

Mayor Weaver, in his investigation into contracts in connection with the construction of the $25,000,000 filtration system at Philadelphia, sprung another sensation when he ordered the director of public works not to pay any warrants submitted for payment for work or material furnished the city by Daniel J. McNichol under a certain contract until further investigation.

Following an all-day conference between the executive committees of the Illinois Coal Operators' association and the United Mine Workers of Illinois, of the shot firers' law, an agreement was reached to submit the differences between the two organizations to arbitration.

John R. McLean tendered his resignation to the Ohio democratic state convention as a member of the national committee. It was accepted.

At Chicago, followed by a crowd of 500 people who threatened him with death and pelted him with stones, Thomas Johnson, a colored policeman, fired into the crowd of his tormentors wounding Michael Mejedly so badly that he died within an hour.

The Wholesale Grocers Association of the United States was organized at their convention in Milwaukee.

The American fishing schooner Samoset, seized last summer by Canadian officials on the charge of fishing within the three mile limit, was condemned and will be sold.

Lee Furman and John O'Brien were hanged at Lancaster, Pa., for the killing of Samuel Ressler, an aged toll-gate keeper, on the night of July 1, 1904.

Washington T. Capps, 77, father of Rr. Adm. W. L. Capps, chief of the naval bureau of construction and repair, died at Norfolk, Va. He was a wealthy truck farmer.

The treasury deficit for the year will approximate $24,500,000. This amount is subject to a slight but not material change. The last report of the secretary of the treasury estimated a deficit for this year of $18,000,000. The actual deficit exceeds this by six and one-half millions.

The steamer City of Traverse, America's first wireless floating poolroom, made her initial trip from Chicago and by the admission of the authorities it means the commencement of a reign of bliss for the Chicago gambling fraternity. The owners of the boat are believed to have perpetrated the smartest gambling trick yet seen in Chicago and the officials are powerless to interfere.

The president has reached Oyster Bay, where he will practically remain until some time in September.

A mob hanged seven negroes and one white man near Watkinsville, Ga., in an effort to wipe out lawlessness in that community. The mob left quietly after doing its work. The white man and four negroes were accused of killing Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holrook. The others were suspected of assaulting Mrs. Weldon Dooley.

United States Marshal Henry has arrested four soldiers belonging to the 24th regiment of coast artillery, stationed at Camp McKinley, near Honolulu, on the charge of counterfeiting.

Chairman Shonts announced that the Isthmian canal commission had concluded the purchase from the Ward line of the American steamers Mexico and Havana, at $650,000 each, which is less than the original cost.

Three persons perished in the burning of the Collier hotel at Licking, Mo.

The waterways convention decided at the final meeting that it would not on its own authority call the contemplated national waterways convention, but would request the already existing national rivers and harbors congress to call it.

Wholesale "grafting" which it is alleged has been going on for several years in Milwaukee county is expected to be laid bare through the result of indictments returned by the grand jury at Milwaukee.

Navigating the air at the height of a mile, Roy Knabenshue, at Toledo, made the first perfect flight with his airship. He demonstrated that he had the ship under perfect control at all times. His entire flight was over 15 miles, and at no time was the ship unmanageable.

William H. Taft, secretary of war, accompanied by a distinguished party, including members of both houses of congress, army officers, the daughter of the president, Miss Alice Roosevelt, and others began their journey to the Philippines islands. They will be gone about three months.

Five vessels of Rr. Adm. Robley D. Evans' North Atlantic fleet are anchored in the harbor at Provincetown, Mass., in readiness for the maneuvers and gun practice in the bay which have been arranged for the next few days.

The controller of treasury has allowed the claim of the state of Michigan in the sum of $47,608 for reimbursement for expenses incurred by the state in aiding the United States to raise the volunteer army for the war with Spain.

The system of aqueducts which will give the Isthmus of Panama a supply of pure water was inaugurated.

D. H. Henderson, former speaker of the national house of representatives, is confined to his hotel apartments in Dubuque, Ia., suffering from a slight stroke of paralysis.

Nine men were killed and from 12 to 15 others were injured by an explosion of dynamite at the plant of the Emporium Powder Co., three miles west of Emporium, Pa.

Under the terrible charge of having killed and eaten many children whom they had stolen, 20 gypsies have been arrested near Jaszbereny, Hungary. The leader of the band is alleged to have eaten 18 children.

SECRETARY HAY DEAD.

The Statesman Passed Away at His Summer Home.

Secretary's Condition Was Thought To Be Improving, But the Turn For Worse Came Shortly After Midnight.

Newbury, N. H., July 1.—Secretary of State John Hay died at 12:25 Saturday morning. The signs immediately preceding his death were those of pulmonary embolism. Mr. Hay's condition during all of Friday had been entirely satisfactory.

The bulletin of Secretary Hay's death was signed by Charles L. Scudder, M. D., and Fred T. Murphy, M. D.

Mrs. Hay and Drs. Scudder and Murphy were at the secretary's bedside when the end came. The secretary bade good-night to his wife and to his attending physicians about 10 o'clock at the close of one of the best days he has had since his illness. The local trouble was clearing up satisfactorily according to Dr. Scudder.

The secretary suffered none of the old pains in his chest which characterized his earlier illness. He had been perfectly comfortable all day and happy in the anticipation of leaving his bed for the greater freedom and comfort of a couch.

At 11 o'clock he was sleeping quietly.

A few minutes after 12 o'clock he called the nurse who at once summoned Dr. Scudder.

Both Dr. Scudder and Dr. Murphy hastened to the bedside. The secretary was breathing with difficulty and expired almost immediately afterward, at 12:25.

Secretary Hay arrived here from Washington a week ago Friday, his health apparently greatly benefited by his recent European trip and the course of baths he took at Badneubein. On Sunday last, the secretary was stricken with an illness believed at the time to be uraemia. So serious was his condition that Dr. Chas. L. Scudder, of Boston, and Dr. Fred. T. Murphy, of Boston, were summoned to attend him. In order that there might be no delay a special train was chartered for their use and the two physicians made a record breaking trip from Boston to this town. After an examination of the patient Dr. Scudder announced that Secretary Hay was suffering from the effects of a chill contracted on the trip from Washington to this place, similar to an attack he had about four years ago. It was believed then that Mr. Hay would be fully recovered within a few days. Each day since that time the information given out regarding the secretary's condition has been of a most encouraging character. Friday it was announced that the secretary's improvement was more marked than on the day before. It was thought that the warm weather would hasten his recovery and it was anticipated that he would be able to leave his bed in a few days.

Washington, July 1.—Secretary Hay left Washington Friday for his summer home on Lake Sunapee. He had been in Washington since the preceding Monday after his return from the several months which he spent in Europe. During his brief stay in Washington Mr. Hay had attended actively to business before the state department and had had several interviews with the president on important impending questions. At the time of his departure he was looking forward to a period of rest and recreation at his summer home and fully expected to return to Washington in the fall fully recuperated in health and strength. Although he appeared considerably better than when he left Washington for Europe just following his severe illness of last spring, yet it was evident to his family and friends that he was far from being a well man.

THE REPORT DENIED.

No Truth in the Story That Norway Is Arming For a Conflict.

Christiana, Norway, July 1.—The Norwegian war department says there is positively no truth in the report published in the Jamtlands Posten, of Stockholm, to the effect that Norway is arming for a conflict with Sweden. The Norwegian troops, it is explained, are merely undergoing their annual training.

Acting Chief Engineer.

Panama, July 1.—W. E. Dauchy, who has been the engineer in charge of the Culebra division of the canal work, has been appointed acting chief engineer. The resignation of Chief Engineer Wallace caused a disagreeable surprise principally among the employes o fthe canal commission.

New Secretary of the Navy.

Washington, July 1.—Paul Morton relinquished the duties of secretary of the navy and Charles J. Bonaparte, of Baltimore, took the oath of office as Mr. Morton's successor and assumed the duties of the office.

For Higher Education.

New York, July 1.—Ten million dollars as an endowment for higher education in the United States has been given the general education board by John D. Rockefeller. The announcement was made by Dr. Wallace Buttrick, of the board, at a meeting.

Woman's Suffrage Association.

Portland, Ore., July 1.—At the meeting of the National Woman Suffrage association the treasurer showed total receipts for the past year to be $14,662; total disbursements, $12,437; balance in treasury, $1,144.

MUTINY ON RUSSIAN WARSHIP.

Some of Officers Murdered and Their Bodies Thrown Overboard.

Odessa, June 29.—The red flag of revolution is now hoisted at be masthead of the Kniaz Potemkine, Russia's most powerful battleship in the Black Sea, which now lies in the harbor in the hands of mutineers. The captain and most of the officers were murdered and thrown overboard in the open sea and the ship is completely in the possession of a crew and a few officers who have thrown in their lot with the mutineers.

The guns of Kniaz Potemkine are trained on the city and in the streets masses of striking workmen who Tuesday fled before the volleys of the troops are now inflamed by the spectacle of open revolt on board an imperial warship and are making a bold front against the military.

London, June 30.—The Odessa correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, in a dispatch filed at 11:29 o'clock Thursday night, says that the Kniaz Potemkine is firing on the town.

Odessa, June 30.—A state of siege has been declared in this city. The conflagration is sweeping along the harbor front, the sailors and strikers refusing to permit attempts to extinguish the flames. Three uninsured ships of the Pan-Russian Co. have been destroyed. The office of the port administration, stores of the Pan-Russian Kosh and Russian Cos. and many private establishments and a great number of wood yards have been burned and the fire is now consuming long lines of railroad cars containing cargoes unloaded from foreign ships. Many ships succeeded in leaving the harbor.

The Central railway station was destroyed by fire, many persons being injured and taken to hospitals.

Odessa, July 1.—A much-dreaded day, to the surprise of every one, passed without a shot being fired either ashore or afloat, while the mutinous crew of the battleship Kniaz Potemkine capitulated unconditionally to Vice Adm. Kruger's squadron and at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon was slowly steaming three miles distant after Adm. Kruger's vessels, which had already sailed and were visible six miles away.

Exactly what happened during this day of dramatic surprises is to a great extent a matter of conjecture, aided by binoculars.

After the shots the Kniaz Potemkine fired before midnight Thursday nothing further happened. Anxious Odessa woke early to find the Black Sea squadron lying off Langeron Point, and every one was expecting a naval fight. The city was like an armed camp. Troops barred all the approaches to the harbor and were bivouacking in tents in Cathedral square and four batteries of artillery well supplied with ammunition had been placed in the park and at Langeron.

Up to the present time nine ships have been burned. The mutineers are in command of the whole sea front. Fires are still burning in the city. The military has drawn a cordon about the city. Property worth millions already has gone up in flames. The revolutionists claim that they have assurance that some of the troops will join the naval mutineers and the mob ashore.

St. Petersburg, July 1.—Eight thousand imperial sailors and workmen at Cronstadt navy yard rebelled, and in the riot that followed one officer was killed.

THE ARMISTICE.

No Confirmation of a Report That One Is Being Arranged.

St. Petersburg, July 1.—There is no confirmation here of a report that Field Marshal Oyama and Gen. Linevitch are arranging an armistice. The negotiations looking to an armistice which were initiated by President Roosevelt came to a sudden standstill when it was found that Japan was unwilling to consider the subject until arrangements for the conference at Washington had been completed, but once the plenipotentiaries are named it is not unlikely that these negotiations may be renewed.

PURE FOOD LAW.

The Wholesale Grocers, in Convention, Favor It.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 1.—The wholesale grocers of the United States, in convention, fully endorsed a resolution reported by the committee on resolutions favoring a reasonable and fair national pure food law and one which the various states can, to advantage, endorse and enact into state law, if desired.

Martial Law Declared.

St. Petersburg, July 1.—Martial law has been proclaimed in the government of Sebastopol, Nicholaieff and Erivan. An imperial decree confers on the viceroy of the Caucasus the rights of a military commander of the Black Sea fleet so far as the districts of Sebastopol and Nicholaieff are concerned.

M. Nelidoff Declines.

St. Petersburg, July 1.—It is reported that M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador at Paris, has declined to accept the position of peace plenipotentiary and that M. Muravieff, the ambassador of Russia at Rome, will go in his place.

Count Cassini As Secretary.

London, July 1.—A dispatch to the Times from St. Petersburg says it is announced that Count Cassini, the retiring Russian ambassador at Washington, will become under secretary of the foreign office.

ODD FACTS AND FINDINGS.

Norway is more correctly Norea, meaning "North Isle." It is commonly spoken of by the natives as the "North Kingdom."

"Shagreen," now applied to shark-skin goods, came originally from the Persian word "Saghri," which means the back of a beast of burden.

Although the population of New York is fewer by a good million than that of London, the number of deaths last year in the two cities was practically the same.

Bloodhounds are not naturally cruel. Their mission is to track a fugitive, not injure. Those whom they follow are rarely, if ever, torn or injured by the pursuing hounds.

An array of statistics has been published to prove the danger of horse traction on our highways. The returns are brought down to the end of the year 1904, the whole period covered being two years and four months, for which period the figures are: 8,567 accidents; 6,935 persons injured; persons killed, 939, or more than one death per day.

Profits of the Packers.

There has been a great deal of disappointment because the Garfield report shows that the profits of the packing industry only amounted to about two per cent. of the volume of business transacted. There is no doubt, however, that the report is correct.

The census reports compiled by the government in 1900, before the agitation regarding the "beef trust" began, throw considerable light on this question. It appears from the census that the packing industry is conducted on a smaller margin of gross profit than any other industry in America. The gross margin of profit of 871 flour and grist mills in Illinois, in the census year, was nearly seven per cent. on the volume of business. The gross margin of fifty-one wholesale slaughtering and meat packing establishments in Illinois was only about one-third as large, or a little more than two per cent. on the volume of business.

The millers have not been accused of being in a "trust," and combinations would seem impossible in a business where there are several thousand mills in the United States competing actively for the flour trade, but it appears that the gross profits of the millers are larger than the gross profits of the packers. It may turn out that the agitation regarding the packing industry will show the same result as the devil found in shearing the pig: "All squeal and no wool."

My son, if you want to leave your foot-prints on the sands of time, it does no good to order out the carriages; you'll only leave wheel tracks behind you.—Buffalo Express.

Do You Use Your Own Judgment?

Lion Coffee is a package coffee that reaches the homes of the people just as it left the factory where it is roasted and packed.

The beans are picked and carefully selected at the plantation, then shipped direct to our factories to be prepared for home use.

The most scrupulous care is taken with every process and the utmost cleanliness enforced in every operation. Men and machinery employed in making Lion Coffee ready for the market are chosen on account of their excellence and fitness for the work.

Some of the results of this scrupulous treatment of Lion Coffee are a delicious flavor, perfect purity, and a uniform strength and quality.

All loose (or bulk) coffee is open to doubt—to put it mildly. The buyer does not know, the seller does not know, where the bean came from, or how it was roasted, or where and when; how many hands handled it, what kind of hands they were, what contamination it received from dust, insects, dirt, etc.

Lion Coffee is pure, fresh and clean—that much is certain. Loose coffee—there isn't anything at all certain about it except that wise housewives will not buy it!

All grocers know the above to be true. There may be a very few left who will try to persuade you another way.

If they do, just ask them how they account for the increasing popularity of Lion Coffee in millions of homes for the past quarter of a century!

Some of the men who have been trying the get-rich-quick game find they have learned the get-in-jail-quick game also.—Chicago Chronicle.

Don't Get Footsore! Get Foot-Ease.

A wonderful powder that cures tired, hot, aching feet and makes new or tight shoes easy. Ask to-day for Allen's Foot-Ease. Accept no substitute. Trial package FREE. Address A. S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

You will be a great deal more comfortable if you can reconcile yourself to allow other people to mismanage their own affairs.—Puck.

Piso's Cure cannot be too highly spoken of as a cough cure.—J. W. O'Brien, 322 Third Ave., N., Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6, 1900.

The crosses that we make for ourselves are not the ones that win us crowns.—The Commoner.

LASTING RELIEF.

J. W. Walls, Superintendent of Streets of Lebanon, Ky., says:

"My nightly rest was broken, owing to irregular action of the kidneys. I was suffering intensely from severe pains in the small of my back and through the kidneys and annoyed by painful passages of abnormal secretions. No amount of doctoring relieved this condition. I took Doan's Kidney Pills and experienced quick and lasting relief. Doan's Kidney Pills will prove a blessing to all sufferers from kidney disorders who will give them a fair trial."

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., proprietors. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD BOY MORTGAGED FOR $2,500

The Strangest Financial Transaction Ever Known in This Country.

A ROMANCE IS BACK OF IT ALL.

Capt. Milo Green, Jilted by the Girl He Loves, Advances Money, with Her Child as Security, When She Gets in Financial Difficulties—Claim Is Due September 27 of This Year.

Peacham, Vt.— One of the strangest mortgages ever recorded in this country is held by Capt. Milo Green, a rich recluse farmer, living near this place.

The amount of the debt is $2,500, and the security given is a bright-eyed, seven-year-old boy.

The mortgage falls due on September 27 of this year, and if it is not paid promptly on that day no one who knows of the case doubts for a minute but that it will be foreclosed, and little Claire Leseuer will pass from bis parents to Capt. Green.

That it may not be paid is more than a possibility.

To tell the story of this remarkable transaction, and the strange romance which is back of it, it is necessary to go back a number of years, and to the town of St. Johnsbury, where all of the characters, with the exception of the boy, lived 20 years ago. At that time Capt Green was but beginning to amass the wealth which is now his; at that time Jaques Leseuer had but just crossed the American border from Quebec and was beginning to thrive in the lumber business; at that time Marie Mercier, daughter of poor French-Canadian parents, was one of the beauties of the district around St. Johnsbury, and among her admirers were Milo Green and Leseuer.

Green had lived a hard life. Born up in the northern hills of Vermont, of poor parents, he had had to fight for a little education, and had succeeded. He was a reserved, cold, silent man—as forbidding and cold to most people as his native hills in winter, but to Marie Mercier all the warmth that was in his nature was turned.

Wealth was beginning to come to him then, and the little, black-haired, black-eyed girl perhaps was flattered at the silent, unasking adoration of the man who was so hard to others. She could turn him with a smile, or draw him from his office or his work with a nod, and she knew it. In those Leseuer was a strong, handsome, young man, given to drinking and gayeties.

Green Jilted by the Girl.

There never was any promise, so far as men knew, from Marie Mercier to Green, but every one supposed she would marry him for his money—if not for himself; and some thought perhaps she would love him because he was so opposite. There was surprise, therefore, when she was married to Jaques Leseuer.

If his heart was broken Green failed to show it. He was a little more silent, a little harder, a little colder, and he got rich a little faster—that was all. For five years he continued to live in St. Johnsbury; then he sold his growing business to a combine, and, without a word of explanation, retired to a farm he had bought near Peacham, in the hills. He put his money into mortgages, stocks and bonds, and simply dropped back to live the life of a rich recluse.

Misfortunes in Abundance.

Things went badly with the Leseuers from the first. A boy was born—Emil, and three years later he died. Then business went rapidly to the bad. Leseuer drank heavily. His wife stood by him bravely, even after he was forced to leave St. Johnsbury and seek work—day labor—at Guildhall. What the little woman suffered in the first ten years of her married life she alone knows. Her beauty changed—but she still was beautiful. Trouble and hard work could not change everything, and her eyes were just as flashing and her hair as black as ever. The husband drank hard, but for a time she thought she had won the victory. He quit drinking, settled down to work, and there were three years of comparative happiness. Then Claire came, and the mother's heart, hungering for years for her lost boy, was satisfied.

The birth of Claire was fatal to his father's good resolutions. The day after the child was born Jaques went out to celebrate. He returned home drunk and for most of the next two years he remained drunk. He lost his savings, his little home, his employment. The mother worked desperately, taking in washing and ironing, doing anything to support herself and child. But the strain, the worry and the shame told on her beauty.

Then the drunkard husband fell sick, and affairs came to a crisis.

Green to the Rescue.

How Milo Green ever heard of the plight of the girl who jilted him no one knows, but one morning he appeared in Guildhall and inquired the way to the home of the Leseuers. The mother, worn out by night's vigil at the bedside of her sick husband and the care of her child, answered the knock on the door, and saw her old sweetheart standing there. With a word of sympathetic greeting he entered and spoke with her plainly. He urged her to leave the man who had treated her so badly, but she refused. He pleaded that she owed it to herself and her child, but she still refused, and he departed.

An hour later he returned with a woman, bearing food and wine and delicacies. He assumed control, sent the mother to bed, sent the woman to care for the sick man upstairs and then sat down to rock the baby to sleep.

Loved the Child.

Never before in his life had Milo Green held a child in his arms. It was reputed among the little boys and girls of his neighbors that he ate children, after boiling them alive, and, in substantiation of this charge there are several small boys who declare he growled at them when he caught them in his apple trees.

Yet, with the infant in his arms, the man appeared happy, and the child, which had been fretful and peevish, seemed to find something to trust in the hard, stern face above it, and fell asleep with its arms clasped around the man's neck.

Three hours later, when the mother awoke, refreshed, the house was cleaned, a nourishing meal ready for her, the woman had gone to employ a nurse for the sick man, and Milo Green was sitting before the fire with the boy, sound asleep, clutched in his arms, and he seemed happy. Marie said he was almost smiling as he watched the boy.

When the boy was in bed Milo turned upon Mrs. Leseuer. "Well," he said, "what are you going to do?"

The Mortgage Given.

"I cannot leave him—he is my husband," she said.

"You cannot live this way," he said. "I have paid the woman and the nurse for a month, and the grocery bill, but you must have more money."

"He will soon be able to work—" she began.

"Not for months—perhaps longer."

"Then I must work," she said, desperately.

"You shall not. It will kill you. I will advance you money."

"We cannot accept it from you. We have nothing to give as security."

"Yes, you have," said Milo Green. "There is the boy. I'll advance you

"I'll Foreclose If You Don't Pay."

$2,500 in cash for a mortgage on the boy."

The mother wept awhile, and then sobbed her assent. Two weeks later, when Jaques was able to sit up in bed, the mortgage was given, and both husband and wife signed it.

Swears He'll Foreclose.

Milo Green put the document in his pocket and rose to go. The wife was sobbing. As he started towards the door Milo turned suddenly and blazed out at his sick rival:

"Before the Almighty," he declared, "if you don't brace up and be a man and support this woman and child I'll foreclose the mortgage the minute it falls due. I did this in the hope of making a man of you. I wish you'd die—but, if she wants you to live, I'll give you a chance. If you drink and fail to pay that mortgage I'll take the boy."

From that day on Jaques was sober. As he slowly regained his health he sought work and found it in a lumber yard, and he and his wife settled down to save money to raise the mortgage on their boy. Every six months they paid the interest, and the little fortune in the bank grew larger.

They do not know it yet, but every cent of interest money that has been paid is in a bank at St. Johnsbury to the order of one Claire Leseuer.

The struggle has been a hard one, but the couple is certain that, by extra work and extra saving, they can almost accumulate enough to settle the debt by September. The father is worrying over the prospect, and working harder and harder to get money enough to settle the debt, but, strange as it may seem, the mother is not worrying a bit.

Minister Takes a Hand.

A few weeks ago the minister heard of the strange mortgage that Capt. Green held on the little boy up at Guildhall, and he drove over to remonstrate with the captain about such unnatural traffic.

What Capt. Green said to the minister is not entirely known. But it is a strange thing that the next day, on meeting a neighbor, Capt. Green remarked that the preacher was a pretty decent sort of a fellow, and the minister will not listen to anyone who speaks of Capt. Green's hardness.

Rocking the Child to Sleep.

It is peculiar, also, that the lawyer down in Peacham, who drew Capt. Green's will, chuckles whenever the subject of the mortgage is mentioned.

Jaques Leseuer, over in the lumber yard, is working desperately and feverishly. "It will kill my wife," he says. "I must pay it."

The Mother Only Smiles.

And, stranger than anything else, a few days ago Marie Leseuer was sewing on a little blue jacket for Claire, and she said to a neighbor:

"Don't let Jacques hear of it, but I'm making this so Claire can go over to Peacham for a visit this fall."

"Then the old skinflint is going to foreclose the mortgage?" asked the indignant neighbor.

"You mustn't call him a skinflint. He's been kind to us, and, whether the mortgage is paid or not, I'm going to let him have Claire for a time. I think it will do them both good."

ROADS AND CORPORATIONS

Railroad Corporations Primarily for the Benefit of the People—Trusts Benefit Stockholders.

The railroad magnates and their officials, attorneys and agents are trying to excite the trust magnates to join with them in their fight against government control, claiming that the trusts also being corporations will be subject to having the price at which they can sell their products regulated by law, as it is now sought to control railroad rates. It is well to keep strictly in mind the difference between the railroad monopoly and other monopolies. The railroads are granted by the state unusual public powers, such as the right of eminent domain and accordingly for the protection of the people are subject to regulation by the state. The industrial corporations called trusts will also be controlled, but in another way, which is partly provided for in the Sherman anti-trust law, which punishes by fine and imprisonment for combinations in restraint of trade.

We do not have to go outside of the ranks of railroad men themselves to find clear recognition of the principle which underlies the whole matter of state control of railroads. Thus the late William H. Vanderbilt, of the New York Central road, and Mr. Jewett, then president of the Erie road, addressed a letter to the so-called Hepburn legislative committee back in the seventies, in which the following propositions are laid down as to be conceded:

That it is the primary duty of the state to furnish highways whether they be the road, the canal, the turnpike or the railroad, the state alone having the right of "eminent domain."

That for prudential and other reasons the state of New York preferred to engage the services and capital of her citizens to do what was her duty to do, granting them certain powers under certain limitations and restrictions.

The state places such citizens in her place to perform her duties and for this purpose clothes them with the imperial right of "eminent domain."

The ordinary corporation is organized for the special pecuniary profit of its shareholders, the profit of the public being secondary. The railway corporation is organized primarily for the benefit of the people of the state, and the pecuniary consideration is secondary.

This statement, it seems to us, should leave nothing further to be said regarding the broad and radical difference or distinction existing between the ordinary corporation engaged in competitive business and the railroad which is monopolistic in the very nature of the case.

And now as to the extension of public control of railroads to include their charges to the public. If we admit the soundness of the above Vanderbilt and Jewett positions, as, it would seem, must necessarily be done, then it follows that government control of rates is exactly as defensible and called for as any other government restriction upon railroad corporations. For, the railroad corporation, according to this line of reasoning, is the agent of the state performing a state or public function; but the state or its government is the agent of the people, subject to the control of the people and held responsible to the people in seeing that principles of justice and reasonableness are applied and enforced. It follows evidently that the railroads as the agents of the state are subject to the same rule and are to be held thereto by the state itself.

POINTS FROM THE PRESS.

"The tariff may be changed," is now heard from Washington, but the idea is that it will go up instead of down, so that the large and growing treasury deficit may be checked.—Buffalo Courier.

The development of the silk industry in this country does not furnish a unique example of the beneficent operation of our protective tariff system. There are others.—Biddeford (Me.) Journal.

——Secretary of the Navy Paul Morton, is slated to rule the Equitable Life Assurance company, and his knowledge of the rebate system should allow Wall street magnates who are in the new deal to get a quiet rake off.

——The leak in the agricultural department statistical bureau having been partially discovered, it is to be hoped that Farmer Wilson will find time to look the whole roof over and patch up other suspicious holes.

The demand that the United States pay extravagant prices which the traders would not dream of asking from anybody else in the same place is the kind of "stand-patism" which reduces itself to absurdity.—N. Y. Tribune (Rep.).

The stand-patters" contend that the consumers of the country ought to yield to patriotism the tribute of patient and even willing endurance of extortion; but are the protracted interests animated by patriotism when they practice extortion?—Albany Argus.

——When a member of the cabinet loses his job it seems quite natural for him to gravitate to Wall street.

——The management of the Smithsonian Institution has been so lax that one clerk has got away with $45,000, and the executive committee of the board of regents is in doubt if the exact amount he secured will ever be known. As President Roosevelt is presiding officer of the institution, we may expect that an era of reform will be inaugurated that will rout out some of the official barnacles that control, or congress should refuse to make any more appropriation.

STATE NEWS PICK-UPS

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

G. Hayes Nunnelly Offers To Contribute $10,000 Towards Its Erection.

Georgetown, Ky., June 29.—G. Hayes Nunnelly, of this city, offered to contribute $10,000 toward erecting a building for this purpose, provided furnishings and maintenance shall be contributed by others.

One provision is that the building shall be contiguous to the business portion of the city and another that the building shall always be used for the one purpose only, and that in case of failure to carry this purpose out the property shall revert to the Georgetown college to be used for the education of the poor and needy student.

Meetings, lectures and a business men's banquet are being given in interest of the matter this week.

ON ACCOUNT OF SALARIES.

Six Telephone Operators Walk Out at Mt. Sterling.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., June 30.—Six telephone operators, Miss Lillian Christle, Misses Jennie McClothen, Miley Overly, Bettie Mark, Nell Boyd and Mary McNamer, went out on a strike from the Old Kentucky telephone exchange. The strike was caused over salaries, and business was practically suspended. General Manager Chambers and Local Manager Rees took charge of the switchboard. The manager refuses to accede to the terms of the strikers.

FIRE AT GLASGOW.

A Racing Stallion Worth $6,000 Perished in the Flames.

Glasgow, Ky., July 1.—Fire in Capt. J. S. Price's feed stable here destroyed $12,000 worth of property. The captain lost three horses, one being Bodo, his famous racing stallion, valued at $6,000. A two-story vacant building and a small dwelling, a blacksmith shop, all owned by Price, were destroyed. The fire was caused, it is believed, by a spontaneous combustion of green hay in the barn. Price was badly hurt trying to force an entrance to the burning building.

New Railroad Line.

Hartford, Ky., July 1.—Articles were filed in the office of the county court clerk incorporating the Madisonville, Hartford & Eastern Railroad Co. The object of the corporation is to construct a standard-gauge railroad from Madisonville, through Hopkins, Muhlenberg, McLean and Ohio counties via Hartford to Mitchell's Station, on the Irvington branch of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis railroad.

Lost Both Legs.

Paris, Ky., July 1.—D. S. Lermond, foreman of the Louisville & Nashville bridge crews at this point, was knocked down and run over by a freight car as he was crossing the tracks. The car passed over his body, severing both legs just below the knees and badly bruising and mangling him about the body.

Yale Diplomas For Kentucky Students.

New Haven, Ct., June 29.—The following Kentuckians were graduated in arts from Yale college: Lockwood Anderson, B. A., Center college, Bowling Green; Elmer Selton, Alexandria, philosophical orations, highest in class. Yale high school: Edmund Huggins Smith and George Amory Thomas, Louisa, Ky.

Tallied To a Cent.

Frankfort, Ky., July 1.—At the close of business, which ends the fiscal year, State Inspector Hines found a cash balance in the state treasury of $437,343, as against $350,000 balance last June. He also reported that the books of the auditor and treasurer tallied to a cent.

Roller Flour Mill Burned.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., July 1.—Fire totally destroyed the Lawrenceburg roller flour mills here, entailing a loss of $25,000, with $15,000 insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown. It was owned by J. H. Cheatham & Co., of this city, and had been in operation only six months.

For a Signal Corps.

Frankfort, Ky., July 1.—Adjt. Gen. Hanly authorized Harry Donaldson, of Frankfort, to organize a signal corps company to be attached to the Kentucky State guard. Donaldson is an experienced electrician and will likely be elected captain of the corps.

National Banks Paying Taxes.

Frankfort, Ky., July 1.—A majority of the national banks of Kentucky are paying taxes as assessed by the state board despite the fact that several banks of this class have begun injunction proceedings.

Two Trustees Named.

Frankfort, Ky., July 1.—Gov. Beckham appointed Mrs. S. L. Vanmeter, of Lexington, and Mrs. Robert L. Stout, of Versailles, as trustees for the state schools of reform in Fayette county. He also appointed Ben V. Smith county judge of Pulaski county.

County Judge Resigns.

Frankfort, Ky., July 1.—County Judge J. Sherman Cooper, of Pulaski county, telegraphed his resignation to Gov. Beckham. Ben W. Smith, of Somerset, will be appointed and commissioned to succeed him.

BROKE JAIL.

Used His Wife's Corset Stay To Saw Himself Out.

Williamstown, Ky., June 30.—James Smith, confined in the Grant county jail on the charge of house-breaking, would have gained his liberty had it not been for Jailer Arnold's discovery. Smith's wife pleaded to see her husband and was granted permission. When the jailer later entered the jail corridor he discovered a number of filings on the floor, and a closer inspection revealed that one of the iron bars in the window had been sawed in two. Smith acknowledged that his wife had given him her corset, from which he extracted the steel stays to use as saws.

KILLED HIS FATHER.

A Boy of Eight Years Goes To the Rescue of His Mother.

Somerset, Ky., July 1.—Joe Lawless, of Swelton, Russell county, was shot and instantly killed by his eight-year-old son. Lawless was one of the oldest citizens of that section, being 86 years old. He and his wife had some misunderstanding and Lawless was whipping her unmercifully, when the son entered the room and upon seeing his mother suffering at the hands of his father, ran into another room, seized a shotgun and opened fire.

ENGINE RAN INTO STREET CAR.

The L. & N. Road Sued For Damages and Got It.

Owensboro, Ky., June 30.—The L. & N. was given judgment against the Owensboro Street Railroad Co. in circuit court for $115. The case was a novel one. A year ago an L. & N. train collided with a street car and demolished it. Suit was then brought to recover damages for slight injury done the engine. Testimony showed that the train had the right of way when the collision occurred.

A Tragedy Recalled.

Louisville, Ky., June 30.—Dr. Ellis Duncan, formerly superintendent of the city hospital, who resigned on account of a difficulty near Pittsburg two years ago, when he shot and seriously wounded Bruce Head, was married to Mrs. Anna Kinniard Strother, of 2011 Fourth avenue. The shooting of Head, it was alleged, followed charges involving Dr. Duncan's first wife.

To Entertain Old Soldiers.

Central City, Ky., June 30.—Central City is busy making preparations to entertain the Green River association of ex-federal soldiers. An interesting program will be rendered. A prominent feature of the day's celebration will be an old fashioned Kentucky dinner.

Exploded Railroad Torpedo.

Covington, Ky., June 29.—Harry Rose, aged 11, living at 913 Main street, found a railroad torpedo his cousin had placed in the attic and took it into the rear of his home, where he struck it with a brick. It exploded and part of the contents struck him on the nose and the hand, painfully injuring him. Dr. Nelson attended him.

A Wrecker Killed.

Louisville, Ky., June 30.—William Price Snawder, 33, of 3715 Bank street, was killed at Waddy, Ky. He was a member of a wrecking crew on the Southern railway and was crushed to death by a derrick in an attempt to right three cars which had been derailed.

Sentences Commuted.

Frankfort, Ky., June 30.—Gov. Beckham commuted from imprisonment in the state penitentiary to confinement in the county jail, sentences of one year each imposed in the Jefferson criminal court on Emma Allen and Ida Thurman, upon conviction of grand larceny.

Killed His Landlord.

Somerset, Ky., July 1.—Fount Randall was shot and killed near Shopville by Roscoe King, a tenant, on his farm. The men quarreled when King found Randall near his house and a shotgun was used.

Death of Dr. R. Q. Drake.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., July 1.—Dr. Roger Q. Drake, a leading physician of this city, is dead. He had been in declining health for a year past and spent the winter in New Orleans. He was 59 years old.

His Wound Results in Death.

Murray, Ky., June 29. — Buford Jones, who was stabbed on May 17 by E. L. Purdom, died at his home a few miles east of this city. Purdom surrendered to the authorities and executed bond.

Woman Died of Fright.

New Castle, Ky., July 1.—Mrs. Jas. McDonald died of fright as the result of a runway accident while driving from this place to her home. Mrs. McDonald was accompanied by Mrs. Lena Lewis and two children, of Nashville.

Master Commissioner.

Paris, Ky., July 1.—Circuit Judge Robert Stout appointed Judge Russell Mann, of Paris, master commissioner of the Bourbon circuit court, vice Hon. E. M. Dickson, resigned. Judge Mann is the oldest member of the Paris bar.

MIDSHIPMAN ARCHIE McGLASSON.

The above is a good picture of Archie McGlasson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. McGlasson, of Hebron neighborhood, this county, and who passed the required examination and entered the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, as Midshipman, June 16, 1905. He is 18 years old, and is spendidly developed both mentally and physically, and a bright future is ahead of the young man.

FRANCESVILLE.

Fruit is falling early.

Wheat harvest is over in this locality and corn most all laid by.

Graham Markland, of Cincinnati, will spend his vacation with his aunt, Mrs. Graham, of Francesville.

Will H. Kilgour and wife of Cincinnati will be guests of his brother Harry, and sister, Mrs. Manlius Goodridge.

Rev. Charlie Brown of Newport, who preached at Sand Run on Sunday the 25th, is invited to preach there again on the 2nd Sunday in July.

Miss Amanda Koons and Miss Sadie Reinan, will attend the exercises at Louisville Medical school in which Omer Henry will graduate and receive his diploma.

The Sunday School Convention and Board meeting will be held at Sand Run on Friday, the 7th of July instead of the 8th, as the Recorder had it last week.

COMMISSARY

July 1.—Prejudice is three thirds ignorance.

Miss Nannie Goodridge was calling on Mrs. Harry Acra, Tuesday afternoon.

Harry Acra and wife, of Middlecreek, visited home folks on Ashby last Sunday.

Noah West and family, spent last Sunday with James Beard and wife, near Bellevue.

William Lacy spent last Snuday with his brother-in law, Richard Louden, of Scrapville.

Al Nixon and family, of Gasburg, were guests of Rolen McCarty and family, of Bellevue, last Sunday.

Huey & Hicks, of Union, bought and received 41 lambs of Xen Scott, of Commissary. Price $4 per head.

Mrs. Susie Walton, Laura Carver and Mrs. Lurenia Scott were calling on Mrs. W. T. Ryle, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Woodford Sullivan is nursing a very sore toe, because of having whacked it with her little hatchet, while cutting bean poles.

Henry Wingate and family, of Waterloo, spent last Sunday with Mrs Wingate's father and mother, Tony Rue and wife, near Bellevue.

Mrs. Gertie Parsons, of Cincinnati, came down last Monday to spend a couple of months with Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Parsons, of Middle Creek.

James Smith and wife, of Bellevue, were visiting Geo. Ranes and James Nettles, of Salem Ridge, New Kentucky, last Saturday night and Sunday.

Omer Riggs, wife and daughter, of Erlanger, and Mrs. Beruard Rogers, of near Bellevue, were guests of T. J. Walton and wife, of Commissary, last Sunday.

Strayed—From the farm of W. B. Walton, two yearling buck sheep. Anyone able to give information please report to W. B. Walton, near Commissary

Miss Dell Utz, one of Union's most accomplished young ladies, and her sister, Mrs. Una Rouse, of Spring Place, Ga., were visiting their grand father and mother, H. P. Parsons and wife, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Found—On the pike on W. B. Walton's hill, last Monday morning, a lady's bolero jacket or waist, supposed to have been lost last Sunday evening. Owner can have same by coming to Commissary and proving property

One of Charles Fin's sons, of Woolper swallowed a large button, such as are on overcoats, and came near choking to death. Dr. Weindel was called. He thought it might cause serious trouble, but by Tuesday evening all danger was passed.

A Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party may be given to your stomach and liver, by taking a medicine which will relieve their pain and discomfort, viz: Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are a most wonderful remedy, affording sure relief and cure, for headache, dizziness and constipation. 25c at all drug stores.

Everybody had a big fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Walton, of Covington, were guests at Dudley Rouse's, yesterday.

Miss Martha Lassing and brother, Coleman, were guests at Sheriff Allphin's yesterday.

There will be an Odd Fellows' picnic at the Harvest Home grounds on the afternoon of 15th inst. Good music will be in attendance and everybody is in attendance

BASE BALL.

Saturday's Games:—
Hebron 7, Bellevue 3.
Stars 22, Meadow Larks 11
Erlanger 6, Boones 5.

Tuesday's Games:—
Hebron 12, Grays 11.
Boones 4–1, Home City 1–5.

At Burlington Park next Saturday afternoon, Boones vs. Dauntless, of Cincinnati; July 15th — afternoon—Boones vs Home City.

On account of the publication of the premium list and the statements showing the condition of the several banks, this week, it was necessay to condense many of the neighborhood communications, while several others reached the office so late they could not be used. It will be a long time before the like will occur in this office again.

Forced To Starve.

B. F. Leek, of Concord, Ky, says: "For 20 years I suffered agonies, with a sore on my upper lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying everything else, I cured it, with Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's great for burns, cuts and wounds. At all drug stores. Only 25c.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will sell at public sale, at my residence, 3½ miles from Richwood, Boone county, Ky., on the Richwood & Beaver pike, on

Wednesday, July 12, 1905,

The following property:

1 large, 6-yr. old draft Horse, 1 5-yr. old driving Horse. 1 11-yr. old driving Mare. 3 Milch Cows, 4 graded Hereford Heifers, 2 yearling Steers, 2-h Platform Spring Wagon with large bed on for hauling stock; 1 new "Brown" Road Wagon, 1 home-made Road Wagon, 1 low wheel Farm Wagon, 1 2-h Sled, 1 2-h "Superior" Disc Wheat Drill, 1 1-h "Superior" Disc Corn Drill, Disc Harrow, Land Roller. "Kraus" Riding Cultivator, 1 No. 20 O. C. Plow, 1 Double Feed Corn Sheller, 2 sets double Harness—wagon, 2 sets Buggy Harness, 1 set Carriage Harness, 1 Buggy, 1 Hay-frame, Sleigh, Refrigerator, and some Household and Kitchen Furniture and many other articles.

TERMS OF SALE.

All sums under $5, cash; on all sums of $5 and over a credit of 8 months, without interest, will be given, purchasers to give notes with approved security.

Come and buy bargains in Stock, Farming Implements, Harness, &c., especially a sleigh for August.

A. P. GREGORY,
Beaver Lick, Ky.

☞ Don't forget the date—Wednesday, July 12, at 1 o'clock p. m.

Clearance Sale

—OF—

Millinery, Dry Goods and Notions.

BEGINNING

JULY 1st, '05

and continuing through the entire month, I will offer Ready-to-Wear and Trimmed Hats, Lawns, Ginghams, White Waist Goods and many other Dress Fabrics at

Greatly Reduced Prices--Below Cost,

TO MAKE ROOM FOR NEW GOODS.

Included will be Hosiery, Collars, Belts, Gloves, Belt Buckles, Handkerchiefs, Laces, and Ribbons, besides many other articles not mentioned. Come and get the benefit of these Sales. Yours most sincerely,

Miss Lou W. Allen, Petersburg, Ky.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.

Quarterly Report of the Erlanger Deposit Bank of Erlanger, Ky., at the close of business June 30, 1905:

RESOURCES:

Loans and Discounts		$89,295 20
Overdrafts, unsecured		115 79
Due from Nat. Banks		33,242 74
Banking House and Lot		3,780 70
Mortgages		62,713 00
Specie	1,319 60
Currency	6,181 00	7,500 60
Exchange for Clearing		37 50
Furniture and Fixtures		1,785 15
		$188,470 68

LIABILITIES.

Capital Stock paid in	$50,000 00
Surplus Fund	7,850 00
Undivided Profits	2,690 00
Individual Deposits	127,930 68
	$188,470 68

Supplementary.

Highest amount of indebtedness of any stockholder, person, company or firm (including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof) directly or indirectly, if such indebtedness exceeds 20 per cent of capital stock actually paid in, and actual amount of surplus of the bank.	0
How is indebtedness in above item 1 secured?	0
Highest amount of indebtedness of any director or officer, if amount of such indebtedness exceeds 10 per cent of paid up capital stock of bank.	0
How is same secured?	0
Does amount of indebtedness of any person, company or firm including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof, exceed 30 per cent of paid up capital and actual surplus?	0
If so state amount of such indebtedness.
Amount of last Dividend	$2 500

Were all expenses, losses, interest and taxes deducted therefrom before declaring dividend, and was not less than 10 per cent of net profits of the bank for the period covered by the dividend carried to the surplus fund before said dividend was declared. Yes

State of Kentucky, County of Kenton:

S. L. Webb, cashier, of Erlanger Deposit Bank, a bank located and doing business in the town of Erlanger, Ky., in said county, being duly sworn, says that the foregoing report is in all respects a true statement of the condition of the said bank, at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905, to the best of his knowledge and belief; and further says that the business of said bank has been transacted at the location named, and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State designating the 30th day of June, 1905, as the day on which such report shall be made.

S. L. Webb, Cashier.

W. A. Price, }
L. P. Aylor, } Directors.
J. H. Graves. }

Subscribed and sworn to before me by S. L. Webb, the 30th day of June 1905. O. M. Rogers, Notary Public Kenton County, Ky. Commission expires February 26, 1906.

For McCormick or Deering

BINDERS,
MOWERS,
RAKES,
HAY TEDDERS.
SWEEP RAKES,
STACKERS,
CORN BINDERS.
CORN SHREDDERS,
GASOLINE ENGINES,
FARM WAGONS,
DISC HARROWS,
PEGTOOTH HARROWS,
5-tooth CULTIVATORS,
and GRINDERS,

Apply to

ELMO GAINES, Grant, Ky., or W. D. CROPPER, Burlington, Ky.

PHONE 178, Boone Co. Line.

Orders earnestly solicited. Promptness and satisfaction guaranteed.

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

This great stock medicine is a money saver for stock raisers. It is a medicine, not a cheap food or condition powder. Though put up in coarser form than Thedford's Black-Draught, renowned for the cure of the digestion troubles of persons, it has the same qualities of invigorating digestion, stirring up the torpid liver and loosening the constipated bowels for all stock and poultry. It is carefully prepared and its action is so healthful that stock grow and thrive with an occasional dose in their food. It cures hog cholera and makes hogs grow fat. It cures chicken cholera and roup and makes hens lay. It cures constipation, distemper and colds in horses, murrain in cattle, and makes a draught animal do more work for the food consumed. It gives animals and fowls of all kinds new life. Every farmer and raiser should certainly give it a trial.

It costs 25c. a can and saves ten times its price in profit.

PITTSBURG, KAS., March 25, 1904.

I have been using your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine on my stock for some time. I have used all kinds of stock food but I have found that yours is the best for my purpose.

J. S. HASSON.

MY STOCK OF

—NICE, FRESH—

Groceries!

is renewed every week.

I don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find my prices right.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

W. C. WEAVER,

Burlington, Ky.

ICE

Cream Time

is here and you need Vanilla and Lemon flavors.

We can save you money by selling it to you in bulk, and quality is first-class.

OUR PRICES.

1 oz. Vanilla or Lemon	.05c
6 oz. Vanilla or Lemon	.25c
1 pt. Vanilla or Lemon	.65c
1 qt. Vanilla or Lemon	$1.25
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder saves half the cream, pk	13c
Pippey's Foamaline	20c
Grated Pine Apple, can	13 & 23c
Lemons, dozen	15c
Red Sugar, lb	15c

See our Special sale of Pitchers, while they last, 10c.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,

—GROCER.—

N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington, COVINGTON, KY.

Deposits Earning Interest.

THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY, Inc.

N. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,

COVINGTON, KY.

Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice,

ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.

Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.

It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.

In its several departments, THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

Acts as Agent; Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc; Attends carefully to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.

—ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL.—

CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.

Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.

JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President
C. W. SIMRALL, Sec'y & Treas.

Long Distance Telephone, South 214.

J. C. BENTLER & SON,

Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.

Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing

and Wagon Repairing of all kinds,

All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.
Grinding of all Kinds to Order.

Hay and Grain,

AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,

By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices.

Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.

Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.

Successors to Clemens Hellman.

LUMBER DEALERS,

Manufacturers of

Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.

White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar, Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings., Etc.

COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.

Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122

H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.

Spring is here

AND WE ARE READY TO SHOW THE MOST —COMPLETE LINE OF—

Men's, Boys' and Children's

CLOTHING

We have a very large assortment to select from, and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL AND WORKMANSHIP. Kindly come in and inspect our

Men's Suits at	$5. $7.50, $10, $12.
Boys' Suits at	$3.50 to $10
Children's Suits at	$1.50 to $5.00
Men's Pants at	$1.00 to $5.00
Men's Cotton Pants	50 and 65c.

Just the thing for out door work.

ROLFES & WACHS,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

A. W. SMITH'S PHARMACY,

WALTON, - - KY.

See our Crepe Paper Novelties. Dennison's Lunch Sets.
12 Doilies, 12 Knapkins, Table Cloth, 2 yards, 25c
Drink our Delicious Soda Water.
Our Ice Cream is superior. Our Candy is the very best.
High Grade Cigars and Tobacco.

FANCY STATIONERY IN MANY FORMS.

CHAS. GARNETT, AUCTIONEER.

Will be in Burlington every court day.
Fees for selling stock reasonable.
Public Sales given special attention.

W. M. KENNEY,

DEALER IN

Fine Wines and Liquors,

Best $2 whisky in the city.
141 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Local News.

Threshing machines will begin work this week, which is a little earlier than usual.

There will be a festival at Gordon's Hall, Petersburg, next Saturday night for the benefit of the Christian church. All are invited.

Walter Fleming, of Constance neighborhood, was adjudged of unsound mind, last Thursday, and on Friday was sent to the asylum at Lakeland. He fell and hurt his head several weeks ago while working on a telephone line over in Ohio, hence his mental trouble.

The Executive Board of the North Bend Association will meet at Sand Run church, Saturday, July 8th. This change is made owing to the fact that the Sunday School Convention will meet with said church on Saturday, and one day will suffice for both meetings. M. D. EARLY, Chairman

The date of the sale of the real estate of Elijah Northcutt, deceased, is July 15th instead of June 15th as appeared in the advertisement last week. It will be one of the largest public sales of valuable realty made in this part of the State in a long time, and no doubt, purchasers will get bargains. If you want a farm there is your opportunity.

Beat Her Double.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders, at all drug stores, price 50c.

Died, on Friday night, June 23, of typhoid fever, Walter L. Hager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hager, of East Bend. His death was unexpected and all are grieved to lose one so good and kind as he. We are powerless to regain this one who, ere he had scarce begun the work of life, was forced to lay down the implements of conquest, which he gave promise of using so well. Friday at noon he showed a change for the better, but in the afternoon began to grow worse, and at half past nine o'clock God called his young spirit to give up its home of clay and come to dwell with him. Walter was a good boy and where is the young man who could bear a higher title? Other things are desirable and right, but goodness is God likeness. He so lived that we feel, while to us his death is a great loss, to him it is gain. He leaves a father, mother, three brothers, three sisters, his sweet heart and a host of relatives and friends to mourn with aching hearts. R. W.

Personal Mention.

Otto Crisler fourthed at home.

Leave your timepieces with Clutterbuck Bros for repairs.

Mrs. Dr. Duncan and children are visiting her mother near Walton.

Roy Clutterbuck and wife were visiting relatives in Kenton county, Sunday.

Judge Cason has been ill for several days. He could not hold court last Monday.

Uncle [illegible] Corbin, [illegible], was a guest at D. M. Snyder's, a day or so last week.

Earl Baldon, of Dayton, Ohio, is the guest of his uncle, John Baldon, of this place.

Mr. John DeGarris, of Georgetown, was the guest of Miss Ella Duncan, yesterday.

Mrs. Martha Hudleston, of Aurora, is visiting relatives and friends in this neighborhood.

Mrs. O. P. Conner is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Rouse, of Payne's Depot, Scott county.

Miss Kate Bradford, of Florence, was visiting relatives in Burlington, two or three days last week.

Mrs. William Carpenter, of Gallatin county, is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. C. Goodridge, near Burlington.

Rankin Revill, wife and son, of Covington, spent the fourth with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Revill.

Chas. A. Gaines, of Bullittsville, and Joseph Williams, of Cincinnati, were in this part of the county, last Friday, buying lambs.

Master Blufe Adams, son of Dr. Sam Adams, of Walton, spent several days last week with his uncle Bluford Adams, of this place.

Dr. James Alphin has been spending a portion of his vacation very pleasantly between the plow handles on the Mud Lick hill sides.

The RECORDER'S old bachelor friend, Gideon Kite, of Waterloo, made it a brief call last press day and took the Waterloo package back with him.

Mrs. Cyrus Crisler and grandson, W. W. Westbay, of Covington, spent several days last week, very pleasantly with Burlington friends. Mrs. Crisler never looked better in her life.

Uncle Joel Corbin will become a citizen of Burlington shortly. Monday he bought Sheriff Aliphin's residence for $1,500, and Asa Cason's 74½ acres of land adjoining the town, for $3,000. W. E. Vest made the sales.

Rev. E. H. Maddox made the Recorder a brief call last Monday morning. He has accepted the pastorate charge of the Bellevne and Gunpowder Baptist churches, and his postoffice address is Grant, Boone county, Kentucky.

Thomas Hogan, of Riverside, O., was the guest of his brother, John, of Burlington, last Friday night and Saturday. He is a native of Burlington, but has been in the employ of the Big Four Railroad for many years, not having been in Burlington before last Friday for nine years. He is a fine looking man and one of the most popular conductors on the Big Four. His old acquaintances here were glad to meet him.

PRIVATE SALE.

About seventy-five (75) acres of land on Rouse's branch in this (Boone) county, belonging to the late L. C. Norman, and being a part of the old Norman home farm. For particulars address Fayette Hewitt, Frankfort, Ky. July 1—3t.

CONSTANCE.

The river banks are lined with campers.

The free pike petition is being circulated here.

Wm. Masters is laid up with a crippled ankle.

Ed Hatzell has a child very sick of cholera infantum.

For a bonus of $1000 the electric road will be extended from Bromley to this place.

Capt. Louie Kotmeyer caught a stray horse and buggy on the ferry road, last Wednesday morning.

BUFFALO.

J. S. Mason has started out with his thresher.

J. W. Aylor presented his wife with a gasoline stove not long since.

Thomas Garrison bought a fine milch cow of J. Q. Elstun last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Neal was visiting friends in the city, Thursday and Friday.

Harry Ronse has been doing considerable harvesting for people in this neighborhood.

Joe Love and family Joe Huey and wife and Homer Clore and wife dined with Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Neal, last Sunday.

ERLANGER.

Miss Ida Zinn has returned from a pleasant visit with friends in Cincinnati.—The marriage of Mr. Bert Tanner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tanner, to Miss Anna Koors, took place last Tuesday at St. James church, Lndlow. They left for an extended trip to New Orleans and other points in the South.—Miss Lucy Hoover is the pleasant guest of Miss Helen Hoover at Osgood, Ind.—Mr. Roscoe Zinn is with friends in Cleveland, Ohio.—Mrs. Mattie Hoover has returned from a visit with friends in the city.

LIMABURG.

Glad to report Everett Aylor improving rapidly.

Protracted meeting will begin at Gunpowder church next week.

Miss Ray from Aurora, Indiana, is visiting at the home of T. B. Aylor.

Everett and Chas. Aylor sold their tobacco to Conner & Hogan last week for 6c all round.

Word has been received here that Mrs. A. M. Yealey, who is in Columbus, Ohio, is able to leave her bed.

Chas. Moore and family, Mrs. Jane Anderson, Charlie Anderson and several relatives from Ludlow, went on a fishing excursion on Gunpowder, Saturday.

HATHAWAY.

Born, to T. P. Stephens and wife, of Beech Grove, a fine girl, June 24th.

Lucian Stephens sold and delivered his 1904 crop of tobacco to the Rising Sun buyer at 7c per pound.

Rev. Walter S. Taylor and estimable wife, of Alexandria, Campbell county, were pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Smith, of this place, last Wednesday night and Thursday. Mr. Taylor and wife are looking quite well and are enjoying the best of health. He has the pastorate of four churches while occupiesh each Sunday in the month. May his labors in the Lord's vineyard be a great success.

GUNPOWDER.

Several in the neighborhood laid their corn by last week.

Mrs. J. H. Tanner's condition has not improved any since our last report.

Miss Lizzie Aylor has her barn about completed, and ready to receive her crop of hay.

Miss Oma Hankins, who spent two weeks with Miss Lelia Floyd, returned home last Sunday.

Mrs. P. O. Griffin and children, of Erlanger are spending a few days with Mrs. M. R. Tanner.

O. S. Watts passed through our burg last Thursday enroute to Erlanger with a bunch of lambs which he purchased in the Big Bone neighborhood.

BELLEVIEW.

We were blessed with a fine shower of rain Saturday.

Rev. Maddox and wife moved into the Baptist parsonage last Friday.

Your scribes aged father, of Middle creek, spent last Thursday with him and wife.

Mrs. Daisy Riggs, of Erlanger, was visiting relatives here several days last week.

Frank Huey and family, of Muncie, Ind., who have been visiting relatives and friends here for a couple of weeks, left for their home last Saturday.

The long looked for wedding of Andy Cook and Miss Cordie Clore materialized last Tuesday. They were married in Rising Sun. Here's to you both.

Willie Huey got his wrist hurt one day last week while working in hay so as to disable him from work for several days. He got his wrist caught between the wagon wheel and hay frame.

IDLEWILD.

We received a card from Dr. Hubert Walton announcing his graduation at the Louisville Medical College.

Mrs. Barnett, of California, is visiting her sister Mrs. Christine Stephens, near here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gaines attended the family reunion in Ludlow, in honor of C. T. Davis' birthday.

Mrs. Faulkner and niece, of Austin, Texas, are guests of her daughter, Mrs. M. D. Early. When they arrived at noon, Wednesday, they found 68 men, women and children, friends of Rev. and Mrs. Early, present and in the midst of great social enjoyment. An excellent dinner was served. Mrs. Early, the bride of 10 years ago, was attired in her wedding dress, and wore white flowers in her hair. The groom had outgrown his wedding clothes. Afternoon music and speeches were the order, Rev. Early expressing the appreciation of the many friends he had made here, saying that he certainly felt that God had cast his lot in pleasant places. Hon. N. S. Walton responded, expressing his and our high esteem and christian confidence and fellowship for Bro. Early and his wife. It was a day that will be long remembered by all present.

On next Lord's day at the Baptist church the pastor, M. D. Early, will preach a special sermon in which every good citizen should be deeply interested. A cordial invitation is extended to every citizen, if possible, to be present.

WALTON.

Mrs. Sarah Holder, of Covington, was the pleasant guest of her sister, Mrs. Fannie Stephens, last week.—Mrs. Arnold and son Herman, of Covington, spent last Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Joe Glenn.—Mr. Del Lermond, formerly of this place, was killed by a switch engine at his home in Paris, Ky.—A Garden party at Mr. Lam Hopkins, followed by a dance at Mrs. Muirheads, was given in honor of Miss Mary Harris of Florida.—Miss Stella Senior, has returned after a pleasant visit with relatives in Louisville.—Mrs. W. A. Smith left Friday for a two weeks' visit with relatives in St. Louis.—Mrs. Brinkmore, of Hamilton, O., is visiting her brother Mr. Fred Shafer.—Miss Katie Grubbs and Mr. Clifford Hight, of Cincinnati, were married at the St. Paul Methodist church by the Rev. C. W. Blodgett. They left for Pittsburg on a wedding trip.—Chas. Chambers is home on a visit to his father Theo. Chambers.—Mr. Wm. Lermond, of Bowling Green, came Sunday to attend the funeral of his uncle, Mr. Del Lermond.—Rev. W. W. Evans will preach hereafter at the town hall on the second Sunday in each month, both morning and evening. A cordial invitation is extended to everybody.

The Diamond Cure.

The latest news from Paris, is, that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you fear consumption or pneumonia, it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee, of Vanleer, Tenn. "I had a cough for fourteen years. Nothing helped me, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief." Unequaled quick cure, for Throat and Lung Troubles At all drug stores, price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Farmers! Dairymen! a great chance to grade up your herd!

For Sale—The thoroughbred Jersey bull, Ouray! Because of some difficulty with his registration papers, I will sell him at less than I gave for him as a calf. Bought him at $50 will sell him for $40. A big bargain for some one. Apply to J. L. Cleveland, Ludlow Ky, R. F. D.

For Sale.—A cow and calf—cheap Apply to Wm. Wrightman, Francesville.

For Sale.—A strong big mare, a good honest work animal with her fine young mule colt. Apply to J. L. Cleveland Ludlow Ky. R. F. D.

QUARTERLY REPORT

Of the Florence Deposit Bank at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905:

Resources:

Loans and Discounts		$13,020 90
Due from Nat. Banks		12,859 29
Banking House and Lot		2,948 49
Mortgages		7,381 36
Specie	$465 92
Currency	2,028 00	2,493 92
Other items carried as cash		15 00
Furniture and Fixtures		2,106 28
Current Ex. last quar $472 45
		$40,825 24

Liabilities:

Capital Stock paid in in cash	$7,500 00
Surplus Fund	300 00
Undivided Profits	345 76
Deposits subject to check (on which interest is not paid)	32,679 48
Capital Stock not paid	$7,500
	$40,825 24

Supplementary.

Highest amount of indebtedness of any stockholder, person, company or firm (including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof) directly or indirectly, if such indebtedness exceeds 20 per cent. of capital stock actually paid in, and actual amount of surplus of bank	$2,060
How is indebtedness stated in above item 1 secured—Mortgage on real estate collateral —Bank Stock.
Highest amount of indebtedness of any director or officer, if amount of such indebtedness exceeds 10 per cent of paid-up capital stock of bank	750 00
How is same secured?	00
Highest amount of indebtedness of any person, company or firm including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof, exceed 30 per cent. of paid-up capital and actual surplus	Yes
If so, state amount of such indebtedness	750 00
Amount of last dividend	$225 00
Were all expenses, losses, interest and taxes deducted therefrom before declaring dividend, and was not less than 10 per cent of net profits of the bank for the period covered by the dividend carried to the surplus fund before said dividend was declared	Yes

State of Ky., County of Boone } ss.

I, Edith E. Lancaster, cashier of Florence Deposit Bank, a bank located and doing business in the town of Florence in said county, being duly sworn, says the foregoing report is in all respects a true statement of the condition of the said bank, at the close of business on the 30th day of June 1905, to the best of her knowledge and belief; and further says that the business of said bank has been transacted at the location named, and and elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State designating the 30th day of June 1905, as the day on which such report shall be made.

Edith E. Lancaster, Cashier.

W. H. Rice, W. H. Scott, C. W. Myers, } Director

Subscribed and sworn to before me by Edith Lancaster, the 30 day of June 1905. J. F. Murray, N. P.

My commission expires Jan. 22, 1906.

Gross earnings from Dec. 31 to June 30, 1905	$957 08
Undivided Profits	186 13
Total	$1,143 21

Disposed of follows:

Dividend No. 23 per cent	225.00
Surplus	100.00
Expenses	372.45
Undivided Profits	845.76
Total	$1,143 21

Have Your Coffee
GROUND
—OR—
PULVERIZED
On the most Up-To-Date electrically driven Coffee Mill in the city. We invite you to have us grind it and save yourself the trouble.

Golden Blend,
20c lb.

Money Worth Blend
17c lb
3 lbs. For 50 Cents.
Don't use any other Brand.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, - KY.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

SEAL BLEND COFFEE, per pound.. 15c
Favorite Java Blend Coffee, lb..... 20c

Mason Fruit Jars
Pints..... 45cts
Quarts..... 50cts
One-half Gallons..... 60cts
We keep a supply of extra Lids and Covers.
N. Y. Cheese..... 15cts.
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder 12cts

Jackson's Best Patent Flour, bbl.. $5.75
Big Four Flour per bbl..... $5.40

THE HAMILTON
GROCERY CO.,
39 and 41 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, KY.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of John Rowland, deceased, must come forward and settle the same, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

N. E. RIDDELL, Admr.

C. J. WOLFE
SPECIALIST FOR TRUSSES, BRACES, CRUTCHES, Etc.
Personal attention given every case.
Experience 40 years.
13th & Race, opp. Washington Park, Cincinnati, O.

Take the Recorder.

THE Lawrenceburg Fair
—WILL BE HELD AT—
Lawrenceburg, Ind.,
Aug. 8-9-10-11-12, '05
FIVE BIG DAYS.

MEDICURA STOCK FOOD!
Cheapest and best to use. Fully guaranteed. 5 feeds for one cent. Eight cents per month per head. The greatest tonic food and fattener in the world.
FOR HOGS AND CATTLE, It cures and prevents disease. Saves ..... Grain and 40 days time in fattening.
FOR HORSES AND COLTS, A blood purifying Tonic. Expels ..... worms, gives new life and strength.
5 FEEDS FOR 1c for 12 FOWLS. MAKES HENS LAY MORE EGGS.
Your money refunded it it ever fails.

Hay, Grain, Mill Feed,
ALL WAYS KEPT ON HAND.

A New Grocery.
We have added a complete line of Fancy and Staple Groceries and canned goods, which we are selling at the Most Reasonable Prices.
R. B. HUEY & CO.,
WALTON, -- KENTUCKY.

KASPER LEHMANN,
—DEALER IN—
BOOTS and SHOES,
Custom Work Promptly Attended To.
Store: Corner Lexington Pike and Vine Street,
Formerly South Erlanger. - - ELSMERE, KY.

H. G. BLANTON,
FUNERAL DIRECTOR

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
Special Rates to Traveling Men.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission & SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone South 55) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

B. B. ALLPHIN. - B. B. HUME.
ALLPHIN & HUME,

Livery and Sale Stables,
First-Class Turnouts for Hire at all Times.
GOOD RAYMOND CITY COAL A SPECIALTY.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.

CEILINGS. SKYLIGHTS. CORNICES.
The Porter Iron Roofing & Corrugating Co
27 and 29 West Front Street,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Iron, Steel, Galvanized, Felt and Porteroid Rubber Roofing.
Our Agents will give you wholesale prices.
M. J. Crouch, Agent for Boone county. Write or see him for prices.

A LESSON IN MANUAL TRAINING

PRACTICAL POINTS FOR BOYS WITH AMBITION AND GENIUS.

Various Carpenter Tools Described—Beginner Must Do Some Practical Work with Each Tool Separately Before Attempting Construction Work—Suggestions for Practice—How to Plane a Piece of Wood to Required Width and Thickness.

BY JAMES RITCHEY.

(Instructor in Woodworking and Pattern-Making, Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago.)

[Copyright, 1904, by Joseph B. Bowles.]

NOTE.—The interested reader is advised to clip this article for reference.

The boring brace illustrated in Fig. 40 is to be found in many styles and sizes. For boring holes of all sizes up to one inch in diameter a brace of eight-inch swing will be required and need no directions as regards its use.

In Fig. 41 we show a few of the many styles of bits used. The first, at

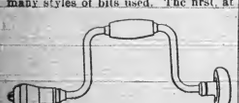

FIG. 40.

A, are called auger bits, and can be bought in sizes ranging from one-fourth to one inch by sixteenths. At B are shown the gimlet bit and the twist drill for wood. These bits are used for boring very small holes for all purposes, especially for wood screws, and can be bought in sizes running by thirty-seconds from one-sixteenth to three-eighths inch in diameter. For very hard wood the twist drill is the best and will stand more hard usage than the gimlet bit.

At C we illustrate the rose countersink-bit and the brace screw driver bit. The former is used to ream out after the holes have been bored for the heads of wood screws. The latter is used in the brace as a screw-driver for driving large wood screws in hard wood.

In Figs. 42 and 43 we illustrate the best forms of carpenter's hammer, screw-driver and scratch awl. The screw-driver should be, for general use, six inches long, and the hammer may weigh from 12 to 16 ounces. These tools are so common as to need no description or instructions as to their use.

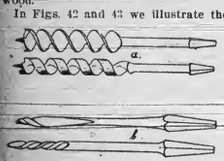

FIG. 41.

At A in Fig. 44 is shown an improved style of adjustable dividers. A pair eight inches long will be a convenient size for general use. At B and C in the same illustration are shown two common forms of bench knives, one of which should always be used to lay out work for the back saw or chisel, instead of using a pencil or scratch awl. For fine work the dimensions marked by a pencil are too indefinite, and the scratch made by the scratch awl is too rough, breaking and tearing, as it does, the fibers of the wood so that a smooth, close-fitting joint or connection cannot be made after its use. The skew chisel style of knife shown at B is the best, and should be held and drawn with the short corner toward the operator.

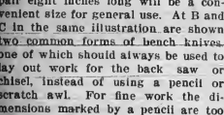

FIG. 42.

As we have already stated in article I, it will be necessary for all those who wish to become even partially proficient in using woodworking tools to do a moderate amount of practical work with each tool separately before trying to use them as a whole in the construction of any desired article. The following directions and suggestions will be found helpful, and if carried out will greatly assist the beginner in his future work.

If we wish to plane a board or a piece of stock of any size to required dimensions the surfaces and edges must be planed straight and true. The first test for a true surface is to try it with a short straightedge, as at A in Fig. 45. The straightedge must be applied to different parts of the surface, and also in different positions, and the wood carefully dressed off with the plane until every part of the surface fits to the edge of the straightedge, the piece being placed is narrow edge of the try square [illegible] at B will be sufficient test. It is usually a surface is applied just given it may be twisted, or as the carpenter would say, winding, or in wind.

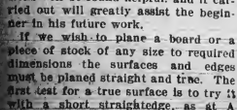

FIG. 43.

To test a surface for wind, two short straightedges are used, each being of equal width throughout. One of these is placed on edge near to each end of the surface to be tested, as in Fig. 46. Stand back and look across the top edge of one to the top edge of the other, and if the two tops agree, as at A (Fig. 46), the surface of the piece is free from wind.

If the top edges of the winding strips do not agree, as at B, the wind or twist of the surface can be readily seen, and the high corners must be planed off until the surface agrees with both tests given above. Two winding strips should be carefully made and kept for this purpose, and also to be used as short straightedges when needed. They may be from 12 to 16 inches in length, one and one-half to two inches wide and from one-half to three-fourths inch in thickness. They are tested for accuracy in themselves by laying them side to side, on edge, on a flat surface, and if in this position the upper edges agree, then turn one of the strips other end to, and if the upper edges still agree the two strips are correct.

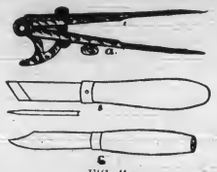

FIG. 44.

Having obtained a true surface, as above directed, the second step is to plane one of the edges straight and at exact right angles to the first surface. The test is by using the try square as shown at A in Fig. 47.

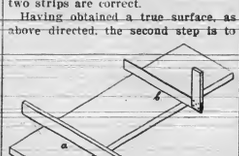

FIG. 45.

This first trued side and first jointed edge at right angles to each other are called respectively the face side and work edge of the piece, and in every case they must both be marked with a pencil, as shown at B (Fig. 47). These marks should be placed at the angle which separates the two trued surfaces, as shown in the illustration. This will indicate the corner at which the two surfaces are in the required relative position to each other.

For the third step in planing up our piece set the marking gauge to the required width of the piece—we will say in this case four inches—and, placing the head of the gauge firmly against the work edge, gauge or mark the piece on both sides. All wood outside of the gauge line is now planed off, but great care must be taken to plane only to the gauge line, as shaving carelessly taken below the line will make the piece too narrow for the required use. If the planing has been done with care and accuracy the two edges of the piece will be parallel and the width correct.

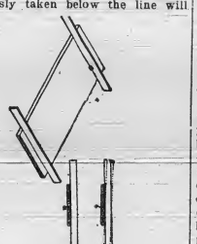

FIG. 46.

The fourth step is to reset the marking gauge to the required thickness—say three-fourths inch—and with the gauge head placed and held firmly against the face side mark or gauge around and around the piece and again plane off all wood outside of the gauge mark, and here again, if the planing has been done with care, the two opposite sides will be parallel.

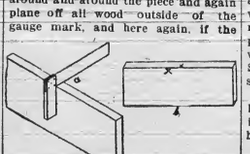

FIG. 47.

Having now by planing reduced the piece of wood to the required width and thickness, it only remains to cut it off to the length at which it is to be used. If the ends are to be planed smooth, which is usually the case, one end is first planed at right angles, not only to the work edge, but also to the face side, testing with the try square as the work progresses.

The most common and indeed the easiest way to plane the ends of such a piece of wood is not to place it in the bench vise end up, which is a difficult way of doing this work, but to lay it on the bench hook, as shown at A in Fig. 48, and, having turned the jack plane over on its side on the workbench, and with the face of the plane against the end of the piece to be planed, proceed to plane off the end wood, avoiding all tilting of the plane during the process.

An important point to be observed and guarded against is the splintering or breaking of the forward corner as the plane passes it in the act of cutting a shaving from the end of the wood. This can be avoided by placing a thin strip of wood of equal thickness throughout—say one-fourth to three-eighths of an inch in thickness—in front of or between the piece to be planed and the cross head piece of the bench hook, as is shown at B in the illustration. This thin strip will receive the thrust of the plane against the fibers of the piece at the forward angle of its end, and while its own corner will be more or less broken, the piece being planed will be protected and remain intact.

The shoot board will be found to work much better than the bench hook for all such purposes as above, and this is especially true when the pieces are wide, so as to present an end of considerable length to the plane.

Having succeeded in planing one end of the piece true and square, next lay off the required length on the face side of the piece and with a try square placed against the work edge, draw a sharp cut line on the surface, and also on the front and back edges. As before directed, do not use a scratch awl or a lead pencil for this purpose, but use the bench knife, or the sharp point of a pocketknife blade. With the back saw proceed to cut off the end just outside, but close to the line, in the same way as has already been described for backsaw practice in Fig. 24, after which the end may be planed smooth (but never beyond the line) on the bench hook or shoot board, as directed for the first end.

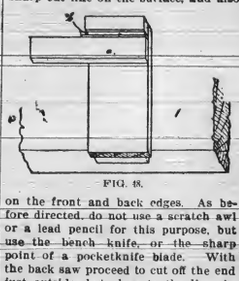

FIG. 48.

When using the plane on its side, care must be taken not to tilt the plane up as it pressed against the end wood being planed. In this position do not hold the plane by the handle, but lay the right hand firmly on the side of the plane, just over the plane iron, and press the plane firmly down on its side at the same time it is pushed forward and pressed against the wood being planed.

LITTLE PEOPLE OF TRADE.

Mistakes and Shortcomings of Employes in Department Stores of the City.

The head of the glove department in one of the great State street stores was appealed to by a displeased customer whose request to have a glove repaired while she waited had been refused. The man in authority at once proceeded to cast oil upon the troubled waters, relates the Chicago Record-Herald.

"You see, madam," he said, with great suavity—he is a relative and namesake of a distinguished ex-governor of the state—"our little people do make such foolish mistakes—they are limited, these little people—they think at times that they are more important than their customers.

"Here is your glove, madam, mended while you wait, as it should be. Thank you for making the complaint—it shall be a tonic to our little people."

The "little people" were small only in the sense of being spasmodically disobliging, but under the kindly training of their young adjuster their ideas of discipline and business are likely to enlarge. Their "head," who so leniently protects them, gave a further illustration of "foolish mistakes" on the part of "little people."

"I was in New York last week buying gloves for the house, and stepped into a wholesale place, where I encountered a new saleswoman, who looked me over as if hesitating about waiting on me at all. I asked for a certain style of driving glove which is sewed with saddlers' silk, professionally known as 'saddler-sewed.' The young woman yawned, looked at the clock—it was lunch hour—and took down a few packages of gloves, which were not the kind I wanted. The name of the firm I serve would have compelled her immediate attention, but I wanted to see what she would do next. She looked at me with an icy stare and said:

"We don't keep the goods you want. I think you would be likely to find them in a harness-shop. We are not saddlers here."

Woman Webster.

The late Mary A. Livermore was once called "the Daniel Webster of American women" because of her majestic mien, solidity of character, Doric simplicity of thought and weight of utterance. Mrs. Livermore's type of eloquence, in its statelines of form, its premeditated art, is not imitated to-day by women who address assemblies any more than American men are imitating Webster or Everett. The modern type is more direct, conventional and less ornate. Webster in one of his letters to a correspondent anent eloquence quoted the sentiment: "Nothing is beautiful which is not true," and Mrs. Livermore had a no less lofty ideal.

Glamour of the Footlights.

Mary Anderson Navarro talked also a good deal about the stage, and told me that no one who had not lived behind the scenes could have any idea how utterly, hopelessly wearisome it was to live in a world where all things from the sun and the moon downward were shams.—"Notes from a Diary."

HATS OF CREPE PAPER.

Used Not Only at Ascot Races, But Their Attractiveness Gives Them Wide Vogue.

The paper hat—that is, the crepe paper hat—made its appearance this spring on the Riviera in a variety of fascinating colors and shapes, and the adaptability of this style of headgear for certain occasions, such as garden parties, is being considered more or less seriously in this country.

Made well, the crepe paper hats are decidedly pretty, though most folks will be inclined to take issue with one enthusiast, who declares that it is impossible to distinguish a well-made paper hat from a straw one. Paper hats are easy to make and are inexpensive, and in most of the millinery schools or classes crepe paper is utilized for practice work. The following directions, by an expert, may prove of service to those wishing to try experiments in the millinery line:

The shade is a matter for personal taste, though the delicate tints and black, trimmed with violet, produce the best results and the ordinary crepe paper is required. Two rolls are sufficient for most hats, but if a large shape is wanted two and a half rolls are required. The plaiting, in three, six or eight strands, must be carefully done. The paper is unrolled and cut into strips in the direction in which the crinkling runs. The length of the strip will thus be the width of the paper and the breadth of it should be about one inch. It will save time and trouble to cut the paper folded double or in four. Cutting the paper the length of the roll makes a very rough edge, and entirely takes out the crinkle, thus altogether losing the straw effect. The number of strands used should be tied together, and the end firmly pinned down first. Six is, perhaps the most effective, but eight looks very well also. For plaiting in three only the paper should be cut a little wider.

The first strands of paper should be cut different lengths, so that the joins of the strands do not all come together. Made on at a time in separate places, they are hardly visible. The new strand should be folded round the end of the old one, with the edges turned inward, and the two pinned together. As soon as the new strand is firmly plaited in the pin should be removed. As far as possible avoid having all joins at the edge of the plait.

About eight yards of plaited paper are required for an ordinary hat, but more may be needed.

The paper is now ready to be adjusted to the wire shape, which may be constructed by the home milliner, or procured in the shop. In making the hat the process is the same as in covering a frame with straw braid.

A black edging is effective, or, if the hat be white, a black and white one. This is made by mixing one or more black strands with the white ones. Of course, the whole hat may be plaited in two colors, if wished. The trimming may consist of roses, maline, etc.

There are several special points to be remembered in making paper hats, viz.:

Cut the paper carefully, to avoid a jagged edge.

Run each strand right through from one edge to the other, taking in all the other strands each time. It is a little difficult at first to plait in the last strand on the right correctly.

Plait evenly, pulling the strands downward rather than across. This makes a smoother and a firmer plait.

Avoid, if possible, joining at the edges of the plait.—Brooklyn Eagle.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Bread will rise much more quickly in a jar than in a tin vessel.

White spots on furniture may be removed by holding a hot flat-iron over them.

Oversleeves worn while working, not only save washing, but prevent the real sleeves from wearing out.

If you have a cat keep her so well fed, so extra well fed, in bird-nesting time, that she will be too lazy to hunt the young birds.

A good cook ought not to allow a cake to burn; but if she does, she can repair damages by grating off the burnt part and icing the cake.

Some day, when you have a whole lot of mending, and not much time, pull out the sewing machine, and see how much of it can be done on it.

White clothes yellowed from lying away, may be whitened by soaking them in buttermilk. Leave them in until they get as white as desired, then wash as usual.

A good way to put out a fire that has just started, is to wet some heavy material, a sack or an apron, and tie it over the brush part of a broom; then dip the broom in a pail of water and apply quickly to the fire.

Brass on bedsteads should not be polished with ordinary brass polishers, as they destroy the coat of laquer that is put on to prevent the brass from tarnishing. It should be rubbed with a soft cloth, and if it begins to look discolored, rub it with a cloth moistened with sweet oil, and polish it with a soft cloth, then with a chamois skin.—Farm Journal.

Like Ground Glass.

If you wish to shut off any view you can do it very cheaply in the following manner: Dissolve in a little hot water as much Epsom salts as the water will absorb. Paint this over the inside of the window. When dry you have a fair imitation of ground glass.

Gems.

One egg, two tablespoonfuls melted butter, two tablespoonfuls sugar, one cupful milk, two cupfuls flour, one teaspoonful cream tartar, one-half teaspoonful saleratus, a little salt. Bake in hot gem pans.

NO TONGUE CAN TELL

How I Suffered with Scaly, Bleeding Eczema—Until Cured by Cuticura.

"No tongue can tell how I suffered for five years with a terribly painful, itching, and bleeding eczema, my body and face being covered with sores. Never in my life did I experience such awful suffering, and I longed for death, which I felt was near. I had tried doctors and medicines without success, but my mother insisted that I try Cuticura. I felt better after the first bath with Cuticura Soap and one application of Cuticura Ointment, and was soon entirely well. Any person having doubt about this wonderful cure may write to me. (Signed) Mrs. Allie Elson, Bellevue, Mich."

The National Flower.

Binks—If it should be decided to make the stork the national bird what ought to be the national flower?

Binks—Give it up.

"Why, the poppy, of course."—Judge.

Profitable.

Bosh—Did you get anything out of that oil deal you were telling me about?

Josh—Yes, indeed! I got a great deal of light on the subject of speculating that I didn't have before!—Detroit Free Press.

In Kansas.

Visitor—Are you literary?

Kansan—You bet. We have the six best cyclone cellars in the country.—N. Y. Sun.

It may be, sometimes, when things are not coming our way, that we are not just in the right place.—Puck.

The man who wants to profit by wrong-doing is never at a loss for an excuse.—The Commoner.

THE MONTHLY TRIAL

HEADACHE, DIZZINESS, BEARING-DOWN PAINS.

A Woman Tells How She Has Become Well and Strong after Years of Misery Due to Irregular Functions.

The fact that one woman is bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked, strong and cheerful, while another is pale, weak and depressed, is due more often than otherwise to the regularity in the one case and the irregularity in the other of the functions that are peculiar to the sex. When these are disturbed everything goes wrong; pain and discomfort are felt all over the body; the sensations are often terrifying.

"For four years," said Mrs. Davis recently, "I suffered indescribable misery from sick headache every month, accompanied by fainting spells, shortness of breath and severe pain in my left side. There were also bearing-down pains, at times so acute that I could not stand up, and my head was full of ringing sounds. It seemed as if everything was going to hit me in the eyes. I was compelled to lie down with closed eyes for hours to get a little relief. When I attempted to arise everything would whirl around and it would grow so dark that I could scarcely see any object."

"Couldn't your doctor help you?"

"Five doctors in all treated me, but I got no lasting benefit. Besides I used a lot of advertised remedies. The only medicine, however, that had the desired effect was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they are truly a godsend to women. I did not have much faith in them when I began to take them. I found myself, however, so much better after using two boxes that I began to believe in them. They checked right away the decline into which I was going. My troubles kept lessening and finally disappeared altogether."

"How long did it take for a cure?"

"After I had used several boxes my health was all right. I had taken on flesh and was strong and hearty. I feel today in spirits more like a girl of sixteen than a woman of my years."

Mrs. C. H. Davis' address is Carmel, Maine, R. F. D., No. 2. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are confidently offered to women for the cure of anæmia, chlorosis, painful and irregular periods, and all forms of weakness. They are sold by every druggist.

Heartless Husband.

Mrs. Bryde—Oh, John, this is terrible. The cat had a fit in the kitchen and ruined the pie I had ready for dinner!

Mr. Bryde—Haven't you got the sequence of events turned around?

"Haven't I—? Oh! you cruel wretch!"—Cleveland Leader.

"It's true that 'all the world's a stage,'" said the philosophical boarder, "and most of the men and women on it are giving vaudeville performances without knowing it."—Chicago Tribune.

None are too wise to be mistaken, but few are so wisely just as to acknowledge and correct their mistakes, and especially the mistakes of prejudice.—Barrow.

HOT WEATHER COMFORT

A FREE BOTTLE OF

Mull's Grape Tonic

TO ALL WHO WRITE FOR IT NOW

SUMMER BOWEL TROUBLE

Indigestion, Diseased Stomach Impure Blood, Sores, Pimples Bad Complexion come from

CONSTIPATION

Poison in the Intestines—Dysentery—Cholera and terrible griping pains are symptoms of typhoid fever and decaying intestines which is the result of Constipation. A Constipated person is liable to heat prostration or sun stroke. A physic won't cure Constipation you know this from experience. Your intestines and digestive organs are practically dead or you would not be Constipated. Unless they are revived and strengthened serious Diseases of the Blood must follow as no one can live and have health with decayed Stomach and Bowels. Physics don't revive or build up—they drain and weaken—Mull's Grape Tonic is a tissue builder—a food especially prepared for the intestines. We will prove to you at our own expense that it cures Constipation and Bowel trouble because it revives the intestines, cleanses the system, heals the stomach and renews the Blood. Until it was introduced in this country there was no cure for Constipation. A wonderful tonic, a protection against hot weather dangers.

WRITE FOR THIS FREE BOTTLE TO-DAY

Good for Ailing Children and Nursing Mothers

FREE COUPON.

Send this coupon with your name and address and druggist's name, for a free bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic for Stomach and Bowels to

Mull's Grape Tonic Co., 147 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

Give Full Address and Write Plainly.

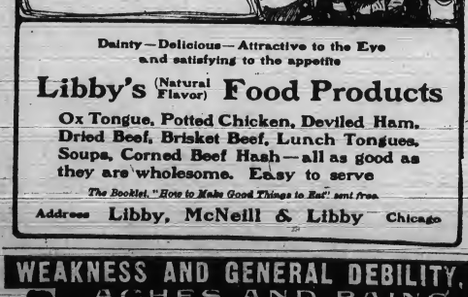
The $1.00 bottle contains nearly three times the 50c size. At drug stores.

The genuine has a date and number stamped on the label—take no other from your druggist.

$25.00 Cream Separator

FOR $25.00 we sell the celebrated DUNDEE CREAM SEPARATOR, capacity, 200 pounds per hour; 350 pounds capacity per hour for $29.00; 500 pounds capacity per hour for $32.00. Guarantee, the equal of any Separator sold at $75.00. EVERYTHING at from $12.00 to $18.00.

OUR OFFER. We will ship you a Separator on 30 days' free trial plan, with the binding understanding and agreement if you do not find by comparison, test and use that it will skim closer, skim colder milk, skim easier, run lighter and skim one-half more milk than any other Cream Separator made, you can return the Separator to us at our expense and we will immediately return any money you may have paid for freight charges or otherwise. Cut this ad. out at once and mail to us, and your will receive by return mail, free, postpaid, our LATEST SPECIAL CREAM SEPARATOR CATALOGUE. You will get our big offer and our free trial proposition and you will receive the MOST ASTONISHINGLY LIBERAL CREAM SEPARATOR OFFER EVER HEARD OF. Address,



SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., CHICAGO.

PENSIONS on age at 62.—Civil War; or on disability, any war, and for widows. Have records of most loyal soldiers' service, and agents of Ohio men. 30 years practice. Law and advice FREE. A. W. McCORMICK & SONS, 516 Walnut St., CINCINNATI, O.

CHEAP RATES California, Washington, Oregon, Colorado. We secure reduced rates on household goods to the above States for intending settlers. Write for rates. MAP of CALIFORNIA FREE. Transcontinental Freight Co., 345 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

A. K. K.—E 2031

Dainty—Delicious—Attractive to the Eye and satisfying to the appetite

Libby's (Natural Flavor) Food Products

Ox Tongue, Potted Chicken, Deviled Ham, Dried Beef, Brisket Beef, Lunch Tongues, Soups, Corned Beef Hash—all as good as they are wholesome. Easy to serve

The Booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat" sent free.

Address Libby, McNeill & Libby Chicago

WEAKNESS AND GENERAL DEBILITY, ACHES AND PAINS.

DYSPEPSIA, BLOOD and SKIN diseases and RHEUMATISM are the results of impoverished blood. CAN BE CURED WITH PUSHECK'S KURO

This not only removes the urates and uric acid, but corrects the fluids and blood, and prevents diseased products and germs. NO OTHER MEDICINE WORKS LIKE THIS.

Will Be Sent on Trial.

IF IT HELPS YOU, then you pay $1.00, if it does not benefit, you pay nothing—and you decide which. You know what you take, as the Formula is sent with each package. Send this advertisement and your address to Dr. C. Pusheck, Chicago.

Also For Sale at best Druggists. (E 3)

The Testing of Abraham

PART II.

OUR BIBLE STORY by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1905, by J. M. Kilvert.)

Scripture Authority:—"And it came to pass after these things, that God did prove Abraham, and said unto him, Abraham; and he said, Here am I. And He said, Take now thy son, thine only son, whom thou lovest, even Isaac, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt-offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of."—Gen. 22:1, 2. Read all of the chapter.

"By faith, Abraham being tried, offered up Isaac: yea, he that had gladly received the promises was offering up his only begotten son; even he to whom it was said, In Isaac shall thy seed be called: accounting that God is able to raise up, even from the dead; from whence he did also in a figure receive him back."—Heb. 11:17-19.

BUT we will not take the lamb, my son," Abraham said with grim decision, and then with a strange, far-away look in his eyes as he averted his face, for he dare not trust himself to look at Isaac, he continued: "The Lord will make provision for the offering against the time we reach the appointed place."

Isaac did not note the half sob with which his father finished, nor did he observe in the dim light of the early morning the drawn features and the intense yearning that shone in his eyes. Early as Abraham was astir, after the long vigil of the night alone with the agony of his own heart, he had found that his son had anticipated the needs for the journey and was busy putting the final touches to the preparations when he went to arouse him. The two young men, Jerah and Aram, enthusiastic over the prospect of the trip, were on hand and waiting at the door of the tent of their young master when he came forth.

"See, here is the lamb for our offering," exclaimed Isaac, going to the rear of his tent and untethering the lamb which he had selected the night before with the help of Eliezer. "Is he not a fine one?" patting the gentle creature's head and turning for approval to the other two.

"The finest of the flock, if I who have tended sheep all my life am able to judge!" enthusiastically spoke up Jerah, and Aram nodded assent.

"Let me bear the lamb on my shoulders?" requested Aram, appealingly, and he stooped and was busily tying the creature when Abraham appeared and said: "We will not take the lamb."

Isaac made no response to his father's strange words, and in a disconcerted manner Aram released the lamb and it went bleating back to the fold, as though rejoicing at its unexpected liberty. As it bounded away Isaac recalled the scene of the evening before.

Marking the strange coincidence, he pondered deeply over the matter as they journeyed along in silence. But he dared not venture to ask his father further in regard to the matter, and as the days of the journey slipped by the young men talked together about other things, but the aged father was strangely preoccupied. On the third day as Abraham lifted up his eyes and saw the mountain of which God had spoken, he seemed singularly agitated, and exclaimed:

"Now will the Lord reveal Himself more perfectly!"

Then turning to Jerah and Aram, he continued:

"Abide ye here with the ass; and I and the lad will go yonder and worship, and come again to you."

The way led up the rugged side of the hill through the luxuriant growth of shrubbery and the tangled masses of fresh grasses and fragrant, many-hued flowers, but father and son were too absorbed with the thoughts which stirred within them to note the face of nature and to catch her nodding smile as they passed. They did not hear the cheery challenge of the birds as they flew up on either side, startled by their coming. But silently, with eyes bent on the pathway just before them, they trudged steadily on. The heart of the aged father was well-nigh bursting with its pent-up grief, but faith wavered not, and steadfastly he kept on his way, intent on reaching the place of which God had spoken. He could not understand the mystery, but he knew that God knew, and that was enough. He would take one step at a time, and leave the rest with God. This is always the way of true faith and obedience.

And for Isaac what a discipline that trip was. How deeply God was probing into his heart as the days went by and he sought answer to the questions which kept rising within him. He was sensitive to the influence of his father's mood and spirit, and instinctively felt that he was vitally concerned in the matter at issue, whatever it might be. The lamb his father had selected and placed on the altar had remained unoffered, and then had been let go, and then the lamb he had chosen was likewise rejected, and now without an offering of any kind they were ascending the mountain to make sacrifice unto the Lord. What could it mean? How he struggled to find answer to his doubts and forebodings! How he longed to share with his father the burdens he knew were pressing upon his heart. At last, unable to restrain himself longer, he pressed to his father's side, and, looking up appealingly into his face he said, in a voice throbbing with loving sympathy:

"My father!"

"Here am I, my son," was the quiet response, and the father paused, waiting for Isaac to continue.

But the latter hesitated, as though almost afraid to speak, and then pointing to the fire in his father's hand and touching the wood upon his shoulder, he exclaimed:

"Behold the fire and the wood: but where is the lamb for a burnt offering?"

"My son," replied Abraham, with ineffable tenderness, "God will provide Himself a lamb for a burnt offering."

Ah, in the face of the tragedy which overhung them both, what a sublime faith that was which could answer thus. The words brought relief to the father's overhurdened heart, and they quieted the questionings of the younger man. It is always a relief in the dark hour to throw one's self on God and to say that He will provide. The thought burned itself into Isaac's heart and he began to know more fully what submission and faith involved.

"See, there is the place," exclaimed Abraham, pointing to a rounding mound of limestone before them. "There is the place appointed by God for the offering. Gather you of the stones lying about that I may build the altar as the Lord hath commanded!"

Without question or delay the young man laid aside his bundle of wood and soon had heaped at his father's feet the necessary materials, and while his father fitted them together he stood by watching and wondering.

The altar completed, Abraham laid upon it carefully the wood which they had brought. Everything was ready for the sacrifice, and still no lamb. One step at a time had been obediently and unfalteringly taken, and now the crucial moment had come. Would Abraham's faith fail? Would Isaac fail to rise to the level of his father's loyalty to God?

Standing by the altar there on the very spot where nearly 2,000 years later the Heavenly Father was to offer up His only begotten son as a sin offering for the world, father and son looked into each other's faces. The soul of each shone out in the kindling eyes as the spirit of God moved within them, and they read each other's message and understood. The will of God was supreme! From Him all things came; to Him all things were due, and the father found it in his heart to give his best and all to God, and the son in submissive faith yielded himself without question into his father's hands, saying simply:

"Do as the Lord hath commanded thee, father."

And by way of answer the father reached forth his hands and bound Isaac his son and laid him on the altar upon the wood, and then taking the knife in hand he slowly raised it in preparation for the stroke which would let out the life's blood of his precious boy upon God's altar. And Isaac, lying there and looking up into his father's face, read therein the story of love so great and faith so strong that they could take their best and lay it unreservedly upon God's altar.

And as the knife descended the angel of the Lord called unto Abraham out of Heaven, and said:

"Abraham, Abraham!"

Lifting his eyes in the direction from whence the voice had come, Abraham responded:

"Here am I."

And the voice continued:

"Lay not thine hand upon the lad, neither do thou anything unto him; for now I know that thou fearest God, seeing thou has not withheld thy son, thine only son, from Me."

Ah, the sweetness of the treasures which have been surrendered unreservedly to God and which He has given back into our hands because He could safely intrust them to us! Ah, the joy of that moment when we have endured the testing of God and we can hear Him say: "Now I know that thou fearest God, seeing thou hast not withheld aught from Me."

As from the dead Abraham received his son back, and in long tender embrace father and son stood by the empty altar. Suddenly remembering the words which his father had spoken when coming up the mountain side, Isaac repeated, reverently:

"God will provide Himself a lamb for a burnt offering!"

At the words, Abraham lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold, behind them a ram caught in a thicket by his horns; and Abraham went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt offering in the stead of his son. And as the smoke of the sacrifice ascended towards Heaven, father and son bowed in reverent worship, and Abraham said:

"Let us call the name of this place Jehovah-jireh, the Lord will provide."

And again the voice of the Lord spoke out of Heaven to Abraham, saying:

"By Myself have I sworn, for because thou hast done this thing, and hast not withheld thy son, thine only son; that in blessing I will bless thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heaven, and as the sand which is upon the sea shore; and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies; and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because thou hast obeyed My voice."

With glowing hearts Abraham and Isaac retraced their steps that afternoon and finding the young men started on the journey homeward, and sitting in the tent in Beersheba, the waiting mother welcomed her boy back again and listened to the wonderful story as he reverently told it.

"My heart does magnify the Lord this day," she joyfully said, when he had finished, "and now I know for a truth that He will not fail of all that He has spoken concerning Abraham's seed!"

FOX TERRIER ADOPTS CAT.

Deprived of Her Litter, Dog Finds and Brings Home Young Kitten to Nurse.

Seattle, Wash.—In total disregard for publicity, lovemaking is carried on daily on Third avenue below Potter and Union streets, but at the same time if the crowd of spectators get too obtrusive one picks the other up and walks off.

One of the sweethearts is a fox terrier of the lady persuasion, and the other is a wee bit of a kitten that can't be more than two weeks old. Just where the fox found the kitten is a mystery. Suffice it to say, this same doggie had the misfortune to lose her own puppies about a week ago and after she had cried about them for nearly a day she suddenly disappeared, and when she again returned she brought this kitten with her.

The cat isn't the least afraid. If it's bath time the kitten purrs away while the dog licks it.

A reporter chanced along that way just at bath time. The process was taking place out on the sidewalk, and the dog hurried up the kitten and retreated into the doorway of a near-by store. Depositing the kitten on the tiling, she growled once or twice as a warning not to approach too near, and then turning continued the cleansing of her baby charge.

It's just a case of mother's love, that's all, which refused to be satisfied until something had been found to take the place of those lost puppies.

SNAKE TRIES TO EAT BABY

Infant Left on Porch Found Bleeding from Fangs of Monster Which Attempts to Swallow Arm.

Kewanee, Ill.—When Mrs. F. H. Dunn, living in the east part of Elmira township, ten miles southeast of here, began her housework recently, she left her infant daughter on a piece of carpet on the porch.

After being out of doors half an hour she was terrified to see a monster snake twisted about the child. She frightened the reptile away, then picked up the bleeding child and ran to the field to bring her husband.

When the man came to the porch the snake was again approaching. He killed the snake, which measured five feet in length and was three inches through at the largest part. The snake had bitten the hand and arm of the little girl in several places, and the limb was covered with a secretion which came from the reptile as it tried to swallow the member.

The child's hand and arm were inflamed and sore, but she will recover. The snake had not before been seen in the vicinity, and many explanations are offered as to its previous whereabouts.

Big Price for Vase.

A vase bought originally by a London street dealer for three dollars was sold recently for $28,700 during the disposal of the wonderful collection formed by the late Louis Huth, of Hertford street, Mayfair. Mr. Huth bought the vase from the dealer for £25.

Hard Luck of a Victor.

A Pittsburg man has sent Togo a box of stogies as a token of friendship and admiration. It may be a lucky thing for Japan that Togo has already done his duty.

No More Liquor Cures.

A London doctor announces that one will never want to drink if one will sit on a dish of apples. The drinking should now stop.

MARKET REPORT.

Cincinnati, June 30.
CATTLE—Common.	$3 25	@	4 00
Heavy steers	4 85	@	5 00
CALVES—Extra		@	6 50
HOGS—Choice packers	5 50	@	5 55
Mixed packers	5 40	@	5 50
SHEEP—Extra		@	4 35
LAMBS—Spring	8 25	@	8 40
FLOUR—Spring pat.	6 00	@	6 35
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 09
No. 3 red		@	1 00
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	57
No. 2 white		@	58
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	33¼
RYE—No. 2	81	@	83
HAY—Ch. timothy		@	11 25
PORK—Clear mess.		@	14 10
LARD—Steam		@	7 25
BUTTER—Ch. dairy.		@	14
Choice creamery		@	22
APPLES—Choice	3 50	@	4 00
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 25	@	1 50
TOBACCO—New	5 00	@	13 00
Old	4 50	@	14 75
Chicago.
FLOUR—Winter nat.	5 10	@	5 20
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 05
No. 3 red	1 00	@	1 10
CORN—No. 2 mixed.	56	@	56½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	32½
RYE—No. 2	79	@	80
PORK—Mess	12 60	@	12 65
LARD—Steam	7 25	@	7 27½
New York.
FLOUR—Win. st'rts.	4 50	@	4 65
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 08
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	62
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	36	@	36½
RYE—Western		@	82½
PORK—Mess		@	12 25
LARD—Steam	7 10	@	7 50
Toledo.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	86½
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	61½
CATTLE—Steers	4 00	@	4 50
SHEEP—No. 1	3 00	@	3 50
Louisville.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 00
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	57½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	35
PORK—Mess		@	11 00
LARD—Steam		@	6 50
Indianapolis.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 00
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	48
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	30½

REASON WHY DOG SNORED

Canine's Nose Was So Short That There Could Be No Draught, Explains Little Walter.

Walter Bacon, who has no children of his own, tells of the bright remark of a six-year-old boy who is the pride of a friend's family. The friend is a civil and mechanical engineer, and naturally has talked shop around his home until the boy is somewhat familiar with technical terms.

Recently the family took charge of a pug dog belonging to a neighbor, who had gone to the country. The pug was old and fat, and had difficulty in breathing, which caused it to snore when it went to sleep.

The first night the family was kept awake by the dog's snoring, and the next night, things were worse. The engineer and his wife were in a quandary. They had promised the neighbor to take care of the dog, but they felt it was necessary they should sleep. They were discussing the matter at breakfast, while the canine cause of the disturbance lay contentedly on the rug with its abrupt nose between its paws.

Finally the six-year-old boy broke into the conversation.

"I know why that dog snores," he said.

"Well, why?" inquired the father.

"Its nose is so short there is no draught."—Louisville Herald.

Physical Geography.

Columbus was proving the earth was round.

"But," asked Ferdinand, as he scanned Isabella's vacation bills, "can you explain why the seashore is higher than the mountains?"

Completely baffled, the great man was compelled to give it up.—N. Y. Sun.

Proved Beyond a Doubt.

Middlesex, N. Y., July 3.—(Special)—That Rheumatism can be cured has been proved beyond a doubt by Mrs. Betsey A. Clawson, well known here. That Mrs. Clawson had Rheumatism and had it bad, all her acquaintances know. They also know she is now cured. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it. Mrs. Clawson tells the story of her cure as follows:

"I was an invalid for most five years caused by Inflammatory Rheumatism, helpless two-thirds of the time. The first year I could not do as much as a baby could do; then I rallied a little bit and then a relapse. Then a year ago the gout set in my hands and feet. I suffered untold agony and in August, 1903, when my husband died, I could not ride to the grave.

"I only took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and in two weeks I could wait on myself and saw my own wood. I dug my own potatoes and gathered my own garden last fall. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills put the Kidneys in shape to take all the uric acid out of the blood.

First Duke—"Well, do you think Miss Van Bullion intends to buy you?" Second Duke—"My dear boy, I don't know. Some days I think she does. At other times I fear she is merely shopping."—Hartford Times.

A Hot-Weather Hint.

Do you know that the two essentials for good health in hot weather are—keeping the system clean and regular and a tonic for the Stomach and Bowels.

Mull's Grape Tonic is a valuable remedy for hot weather. It cleanses the system of all impurities and poisons. It contains nearly 50 per cent. Grape, which is the best hot weather Tonic known. It is an ideal preparation for heat debility and the many dangerous ills prevailing during Summer weather. It fortifies the system thoroughly.

Heat prostrations, Summer Bowel and Stomach troubles are rare in families where Mull's Grape Tonic is employed. There is nothing so dangerous in hot weather as Constipation, which is the result of the more serious hot weather diseases. Mull's Grape Tonic is the one successful Constipation Cure—a splendid Stomach and Bowel Tonic.

"Let us abbreviate," said the man, as he docked the horse's tail. "Agreed," said the horse, as he nipped off the man's ear.—Life.

THE TURN OF LIFE

A Time When Women Are Susceptible to Many Dread Diseases—Intelligent Women Prepare for It. Two Relate their Experience.

Mrs. A. E. G. Hyland

The "change of life" is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

Every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active—and with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

These symptoms are all just so many calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance and the cry should be heeded in time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried thousands of women safely through this crisis.

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and it will be furnished absolutely free of charge.

Read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I had been suffering with falling of the womb for years and was passing through the Change of Life. My womb was badly swollen; my stomach was sore; I had dizzy spells, sick headaches, and was very nervous.

"I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you directed, and I am happy to say that all those distressing symptoms left me and I have passed safely through the Change of Life, a well woman. I am recommending your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. Annie E. G. Hyland, Chesterfield, Mo.

Another Woman's Case.

"During change of life words cannot express what I suffered. My physician said I had a cancerous condition of the womb. One day I read some of the testimonials of women who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I decided to try it and to write you for advice. Your medicine made me a well woman, and all my bad symptoms soon disappeared.

"I advise every woman at this period of life to take your medicine and write you for advice."—Mrs. Lizzie Hinkle, Selma, Ind.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle it will do for any woman at this time of life.

It has conquered pain, restored health, and prolonged life in cases that utterly baffled physicians.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

SKIN HUMORS

Complete External and Internal Treatment

ONE DOLLAR

Consisting of warm baths with

Cuticura SOAP

to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle; CUTICURA Ointment to instantly allay itching, irritation, and inflammation and soothe and heal; and CUTICURA Pills to cool and cleanse the blood.

A Single Set, costing but One Dollar, is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring skin, scalp, and blood humors, eczemas, rashes, itchings, and irritations, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, when all else fails.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Soap, 25c. Ointment, 50c. Resolvent, 50c. (In form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60.). Depots: London, F. Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props.

Send for "How to Cure Eczema," Enlarging Humors from Infancy to Age."

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children

Bears the Signature Of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over Thirty Years

The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Conviction Follows Trial

When buying loose coffee or anything your grocer happens to have in his bin, how do you know what you are getting? Some queer stories about coffee that is sold in bulk, could be told, if the people who handle it (grocers), cared to speak out.

Could any amount of mere talk have persuaded millions of housekeepers to use

Lion Coffee,

the leader of all package coffees for over a quarter of a century, if they had not found it superior to all other brands in Purity, Strength, Flavor and Uniformity?

This popular success of LION COFFEE can be due only to inherent merit. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity.

If the verdict of MILLIONS OF HOUSEKEEPERS does not convince you of the merits of LION COFFEE, it costs you but a trifle to buy a package. It is the easiest way to convince yourself, and to make you a PERMANENT PURCHASER.

LION COFFEE is sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages, and reaches you as pure and clean as when it left our factory.

Lion-head on every package.

Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE.

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

PAXTINE

Toilet Antiseptic

FOR WOMEN

troubled with this peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is most effectual. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and soreness, cures leucorrhœa and nasal catarrh.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in water, and is far more cleansing, healing, and economical than liquid antiseptics for the

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL.

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box. Trial Box and Book of Instructions

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY, Boston, Mass.

PATENTS FITZGERALD & CO., Washington, D. C.

QUARTERLY REPORT

Of the Richwood Deposit Bank, at the close of business on June 30, 1905:

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$35,305	69
Overdrafts, unsecured	26	30
Due from National Banks	7,981	30
Banking House and Lot	1,803	45
Mortgages		00
Specie	$144 63
Currency	1,712 00	1,856 63
Furniture and Fixtures	1,061	25
Current Expenses Last Quar	551	97
	$49,136	60

LIABILITIES:

Capital stock paid in, in cash	15,000	00
Surplus Fund	200	00
Undivided Profits	1,118	59
Time certificates of deposits (on which interest is paid)	5,000	00
Deposits subject to check (on which interest is not paid)	27,818	01
	$49,136	60

Highest amount of indebtedness of any stockholder, person, company or firm (including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof) directly or indirectly, if such indebtedness exceeds 20 per cent. of capital stock actually paid in, and actual amount of surplus of bank 00

How is indebtedness stated in above item 1 secured?.....

Highest amount of indebtedness of any director or officer, if amt. of such indebtedness exceeds 10 per cent. of paid-up capital 00

How is same secured?.....

Does amount of indebtedness of any person, company or firm including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof, exceed 30 per cent. of paid-up capital and actual surplus... 00

If so, state amount of such indebtedness.....

Amount of last dividend.....$450 00

Were all expenses, losses, interest and taxes deducted therefrom before declaring dividend, and was not less than 10 per cent. of net profits of the bank for the period covered by the dividend carried to the surplus fund before said dividend was declared yes

State of Ky. County of Boone } ss

J. C. Byland, cashier of Richwood Deposit Bank, a bank located and doing business in the town of Richwood in said county, being duly sworn, says the foregoing report is in all respects a true statement of the condition of the said bank at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905, to the best of his knowledge and belief; and further says that the business of said bank has been transacted at the location named, and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State designating the 30th day of June, 1905, as the day on which such report shall be made.

J. C. BYLAND, Cashier.
Gaines Robinson, Director.
S. C. Hicks, Director.
J. C. Hughes, Director.

Subscribed and sworn to before me by J. C. Byland, casbier, the 3d day of July, 1905.

B. F. Bedinger, N. P. B. C.
My commission expires Jan. 27, 1908.

QUARTERLY REPORT

Of the Union Deposit Bank at the close of business on June 30th, 1905:

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$26,102	03
Overdrafts unsecured	14	62
Due from National Banks	10,802	78
Banking House and Lot	1,815	35
Mortgages	10,350	00
Specie	$ 103 59
Currency	2,584 84	2,687 59
Other items carried as cash	713	43
Furniture and Fixtures	1,598	75
Current Exp. Last Quar	216	60
	$54,301	15

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$20,000	00
Surplus Fund	370	57
Undivided Profits	1,679	03
Due Depositors	32,251	55
	$54,301	15

Supplementary.

Highest amount of indebtedness of any stockholder, person, company or firm (including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof) directly or indirectly, if such indebtedness exceeds 20 per cent. of capital stock actually paid in, and actual amount of surplus of bank $5,300

How is indebtedness stated in above item 1 secured? By mort gage on real estate.

Highest amount of indebtedness of any director or officer, if amt. of such indebtedness exceeds 10 per cent. of paid-up capital stock of bank..... no

How is same secured?.....

Does amount of indebtedness of any person, company or firm including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof, exceed 30 per cent. of paid-up capital and actual surplus... no

If so, state amount of such indebtedness.....

Amount of last dividend .....

Were all expenses, losses, interest and taxes deducted therefrom before declaring dividend, and was not less than 10 per cent. of net profits of the bank for the period covered by the dividend carried to the surplus fund before said dividend was declared 0

State of Ky. County of Boone. } ss.

I, J. L. Frazier, cashier of Union Deposit Bank, a bank located a doing business in the town of Union in said county, being duly sworn, says the foregoing report is in all respects a true statement of the condition of the said bank, at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905, to the best of his knowledge and belief; and further says that the business of said bank has been transacted at the location named, and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State designating the 30th day of June, 1905, as the day on which such report shall be made.

J. L. Frazier, Cashier.
J. W. Kennedy, Director.
J. W. Conner, Director.
G. M. Allen, Director.

Subscribed and sworn to before me by J. L. Frazier, cashier, the 30th day June 1905. M. C. Norman, J. P. B. C.

QUARTERLY REPORT

Of the Boone County Deposit Bank at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905.

RESOURCES:

Loans and Discounts	$ 66,656	34
Overdrafts, unsecured	17	79
Due from National Banks	30,359	52
Due from State Banks and Bankers	5,060	17
Banking House & lot	1,221	16
Mortgages	25,226	32
Other Stocks and Bonds	49,282	56
Specie	$4,303 56
Currency	2,375 00	6,678 56
Furniture and Fixtures	2,078	84
	$186,481	26

LIABILITIES:

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$30,000	00
Surplus Fund	30,000	00
Undivided Profits	5,753	90
Due Depositors	115,289	51
Unpaid Dividends	5,437	85
	$186,481	26

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Highest amount of indebtedness of any stockholder, person, company or firm (including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof) directly or indirectly, if such indebtedness exceeds 20 per cent of capital stock actually paid in, and actual amount of surplus of bank None

How is indebtedness stated in above item 1 secured?.....

Highest amount of indebtedness of any director or officer, if amount of such indebtedness exceeds 10 per cent of paid-up capital stock of bank None

How is same secured?.....

Does amount of indebtedness of any person, company or firm including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof, exceed 30 per cent of paid-up capital and actual surplus..... No

If so, state amount of indebtedness.....

Amount of last dividend..... 1,500

Were all expenses, losses, interest and taxes deducted therefrom before declaring dividend, and was not less than 10 per cent of net profits of the bank for the period covered by the dividend carried to the surplus fund before said dividend was declared Yes

State of Ky. County of Boone } ss.

Jo C. Revill, cashier of Boone Co. Deposit Bank, a Bank located and doing business in the town of Burlington, in said county, being duly sworn, says that the foregoing report is in all respects a true statement of the condition of the said Bank, at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905, to the best of his knowledge and belief; and further says that the business of said Bank has been transacted at the location named, and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State designating the 30th day of June, 1905, as the day on which report shall be made.

Jo C. Revill, Cashier.
W. L. Riddell, Director.
D. Rouse, "
N. E. Riddell, "

Subscribed and sworn to before me by Jo C. Revill, the 30th day of June, 1905. Cecil L. Gaines, N. P., for Boone county, Ky.

Commission expires Mch. 7, 1908.

QUARTERLY REPORT

Of the Walton Deposit Bank at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905.

Resources:

Loans and Discounts	$93,533	38
Overdrafts, unsecured	359	14
Due from National Banks	7,336	64
Due from State Banks and Bankers
Banking House and Lot	1,000	00
Mortgages	35,921	00
Specie
Currency	$6,621 12	6,621 12
Furniture and Fixtures	1,000	00
Current Exp. Last Quarter	701	57
	$146,532	85

Liabilities:

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$50,000	00
Surplus Fund	5,700	00
Undivided Profits	1,558	54
Due Depositors	89,274	31
	$146,532	85

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Highest amount of indebtedness of any stockholder, person, company or firm (including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof) directly or indirectly, if such indebtedness exceeds 20 per cent. of capital stock actually paid in, and actual amount of surplus of bank 00

How is indebtedness stated in above item 1 secured..... 00

Highest amount of indebtedness of any director or officer, if amount of indebtedness exceeds 10 per cent. of paid-up capital stock of bank.....

How is same secured?..... 00

Does amount of indebtedness of any person, company or firm including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof, exceed 30 per cent. of paid-up capital and actual surplus... No

If so, state amount of such indebtedness..... 00

Amount of last dividend, 5 per cent

Were all expenses, losses, interest and taxes deducted therefrom before declaring dividend, and was not less than 10 per cent. of net profits of the bank for the period covered by the dividend carried to the surplus fund before said dividend was declared..... Yes

State of Ky, County of Boone, ss:

R. C. Green, cashier of the Walton Deposit Bank, a bank located and doing business in the town of Walton Ky., in said county, being duly sworn, says the foregoing report is in all respects a true statement of the condition of said bank, at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905, to the best of his knowledge and belief; and further says that the business of said bank has been transacted at the location named, and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State designating the 30th day of June, 1905, as the day on which such report shall be made.

R. C. Green, Cashier.
G. W. Rannler, Director.
Louis Ford, Director.
D. M. Bagby, Director.

Subscribed and sworn to before me by R. C. Green, the 30 day of June, 1905.

T. F. Carley, N. P. B. C.
My commission expires Feb. 13, 1906.

QUARTERLY REPORT

Of the Verona Bank at the close of business on the 30 day of June, 1905:

Resources:

Loans and Discounts	$37,954	46
Due from National Banks	3,416	25
Banking House and Lot	1,755	99
Mortgages	3,300	00
Specie	$ 423 02
Currency	1,363 30	1,786 32
Current expenses last quarter	$424 73
Furniture and Fixtures		1,776 35
	$49,989	37

Liabilities:

Capital stock paid in, in cash	$15,000	00
Surplus Fund	365	00
Undivided Profits	762	65
Due Depositors	33,861	72
	$49,989	37

Supplementary.

Highest amount of indebtedness of any stockholde, person, company or firm (including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof) directly or indirectly, if such indebtedness exceeds 20 per cent. of capital stock actually paid in, and actu al amt. of surplus of the bank.. 00

How is indebtedness stated in above item 1 secured?..... 00

Highest amount of indebtedness of any director or officer, if amt. of such indebtedness exceeds 10 per cent. of paid-up capital stock of bank..... 00

How is same secured?.....

Does amount of indebtedness of any person, company or firm including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof, exceed 30 per cent. of paid-up capital and actual surplus.....

If so, state amount of such indebtedness.....

Amount of last dividend.....$600

Were all expense, losses, interest and taxes deducted therefrom before declaring dividend, and was not less than 10 per cent. of net profits of the bank for the period covered by the dividend carried to the surplus fund before said dividend was declared Yes

State of Ky. County of Boone } ss

I, J. E. Franks, Cashier, of Verona Bank, a bank located and doing business in the town of Verona, in said county, being duly sworn, says the foregoing report is in all respects a true statement of the condition of the said bank, at the close of business on the 30 day of June, 1905, to the best of his knowledge and belief; and further says that the business of said bank has been transacted at the location named, and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State designating the 30 day of June, 1905, as the day on which such report shall be made.

J. E. Franks, Cashier.
W. M. Whitson, }
O. K. Whitson, } Directors.
P. E. Farrall, }

Subscribed and sworn to before me by J. E. Franks, cashier, the 30th day of June, 1905.

M. H. DeJarnett, Notary Public.
My commission expires Jan. 22, 1906.

QUARTERLY REPORT

Of the Farmers Bank of Petersburg at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905:

RESOURCES:

Loans and Discounts	$34,916	48
Overdrafts, unsecured	50	57
Due from Nat. banks	18,080	31
Due from State Banks and Bankers	3,013	79
Banking house and lot	1,149	40
Specie	272	38
Currency	1,655	00
Other items carried as cash	21	20
Furniture and Fixtures	1,114	05
Current expenses last quarter
	$ 40,273	18

LIABILITIES:

Capital stock paid in, in cash	$15,000	00
Surplus Fund	500	00
Undivided Profits	738	29
Due Depositors	40,034	89
	$60,273	18

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Highest amount of indebtedness of any stockholder, person, company or firm (including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof) directly, if such indebtedness exceeds 20 per cent. of capital stock actually paid in, and the actual amount of surplus of bank $ 0

How is indebtedness stated in above item secured? 0

Highest amount of indebtedness of any director or officer, if amount of such indebtedness exceeds 10 per cent of paid up capital stock of bank 0

How is same secured? 0

Does amount of indebtedness of any person, company or firm including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof, exceed 30 per cent of paid up capital and actual surplus 0

If so, state amount of such indebtedness 0

Amount of last dividend $900 00

Were all expenses, losses, interest and taxes deducted therefrom before declaring dividend and was not less than 10 per cent of net profits of the bank for the period covered by the dividend carried to the surplus fund before said dividend was declared Yes

State of Kentucky, County of Boone.

I, J. C New, cashier of the Farmers Bank, Petersburg, Ky., a bank located and doing business in the town of Petersburg in said county, being duly sworn, says the foregoing report is in all respects a true statement of the condition of the said Bank, at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905, to the best of his knowledge and belief; and further says that the business of said Bank has been transacted at the location named, and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State designating the 30th day of June, 1905, as the day on which such report shall be made.

J. C. New, Cashier.
E. T. Kruis, Director.
Solon Early, Director.
R. A. McWethy, Director.

Subscribed and sworn to before me by J. C. New, the 30 day of June, 1905.

SOLON EARLY, N. P. B. C.
My commission expires Jan. 22, 1906.

EXECUTOR'S SALE
—OF—
LAND

As Executors of the will of Elijah Northcutt, deseased, we will on Saturday, July 15, 1905.

at 10:30 o'clock a. m.,

Sell publicly to the highest bidder, at the late residence of Elijah Northcutt, deceased, situated in Kenton County, Ky., about two miles northeast of Bracht Station, on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, and about two and one-half miles east of Walton, Ky., fronting on a turnpike road leading to the Covington and Lexington turnpike road, and to Bracht Station on said railroad, the following tracts of land:

Tract No. 1

Containing 163 acres and 38 poles, on which is a large good ten room two story Brick House in good condition, with good barn and other outbuildings, watered with well and cistern, good garden and orchards of various kinds of fruits, and shade trees and well set in grass.

Tract No. 2

Contains 58 acres and 42 poles and adjoins tract No. 1; and they may be sold together if purchaser should desire it.

Tract No. 3

Contains 92 acres 3 roods and 27 poles, on the opposite side of the turnpike road.

Tract No. 4

Contains 3 acres 1 rood and 32 poles and adjoins tract No. 1 and fronts on turnpike road.

Tract No. 5

Contains 132 acres 2 roods and 32 poles, suitable for a good farm.

These lands have been recently surveyed and laid off in parcels as stated, the farm containing 450¼ acres as a whole. The lands are all well set in grass, except a small field in corn and tobacco. Each tract of land has a fine lot of timber on it--except the three acres, which could be sold for one-fourth enough to pay for the tract of land.

There are more than 100 acres of said lands good tobacco land. All of said lands are well watered with spring, creeks and pond, and must be seen to be appreciated. Persons wishing to see the lands before the day of sale will please call on Benton Northcutt and Lewis C. Northcutt, who reside on farms adjoining said lands. Sale to begin at 10:30 a. m. at the farm house on the land.

TERMS OF SALE.

One-third of the purchase money to be paid in cash when deed is made, one-third in one year and one-third in two years after the day of sale, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent. per annum from date until paid, with a lien on the lands for said payments, and deed to be made within fifteen days after date of sale.

The Title to the Land is Perfect and the executors are authorized to sell and convey the lands by said will. Persons desiring to purchase a farm should attend this sale. Possession given purchasers in ample time to sow small grain in the fall of this year.

Conveyances will meet persons desiring to attend this sale at Bracht Station on said railroad at nine o'clock.

H. CLAY WHITE,
JOSEPH KAUB,
Executors of Elijah Northcutt, deceased.
V. S. Metcalf, Auctioneer.

"Always Reliable."
W. N. HIND & CO.
Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,
210-12 W. Fifth Street,
Cincinnati, - Ohio.

Through Thick And Thin
GRAIN
The McCormick Binder

Has cut its way to enduring fame. No matter how long or short the straw, or in what condition the grain may the McCormick does splendid work. It is, therefore, the farmer's friend, and will remain true to him "through thick and thin," enabling him to increase his profits and materially augment his bank account during the lean as well as during the fat years. You are invited to examine our samples before buying.

Get our Price on Binder Twine Before You Purchase.

STANDARD BINDER McCormick make a special price of 10c per lb. by the bale.

Mersman Hardware Co.,
25 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.
Branch Stores---LUDLOW, KY. LATONIA, KY.

SPECIALS!

As a further introduction of the quality, style and tailoring of Clothing we are offering, the . . . following prices will prevail . . .

$10.00 For a handsome, carefully finished and up-to-date patterns Men's Suits.

$15.00 For Ready-to-wear Tailor Made Suit, like custom work.

$7.50 Men's Coats and Trouser Suit.

Young Men's Suits	$7.50
Boys' and Children's Suits	$3.00
Men's Trousers	$1.00
Children's Trousers	35c

Merchant Tailoring

Favorable prices to our customers, to introduce what can be made for the money.

Max Herbst & Co.

531 Madison Ave., COVINGTON, KY.
Lucian Rice, Mgr. Near Sixth Street.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,
Salvage and Wrecking Contractors
All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.
BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,
BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.
Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.,
Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.
Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.

Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.

PRICES REASONABLE.

Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone county.

H. VON LEHMEN,
—HAND-MADE—
Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,
ALSO SECOND HAND
PHAETONS, PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,
CHEAP.
No. 152 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, - KY.
REPAINING A SPECIALTY.

FARM FOR SALE.

A good farm of 227 acres, near Rabbitt Hash, Boone county, Ky. Capable of being divided.

THOS. N. STEPHENS,
Rabbit Hash, Ky.

JOSEPH HERRMAN,
—DEALER IN—
FANCY GROCERIES,
SMOKED MEATS,
Fruits & Vegetables
Erlanger, Kentucky.
Opp. Erlanger Deposit Bank.
Eggs and Butter exchanged in trade or cash. Boone county trade solicited.
PLEASE CALL AND GET MY PRICES.
Phone—South 1054 Y—Call 3.

J. P. HEMPHILL
THE DRUGGIST
at Rising Sun, Ind.,
....Carries a full line of....
DRUGS,
PAINTS,
OILS AND
VARNISHES.
In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet his Kentucky friends.
—CALL AND SEE HIM.—
Yours Respectfully,
J. P. HEMPHILL,
Rising Sun, Indiana.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JULY 12. 1905. NO. 39

County Correspondence.

HATHAWAY.

July 10—A fine oats harvest is at hand.

Corn is all layed by and has begun to tassel.

A fine blackberry crop is ripening now.

William Phillips lost a good milch cow, recently.

Mrs. Cora White spent the fourth as a guest of her parents at Gasburg.

Dr. Y. F. Hopkins, of Rabbit Hash and this writer, had a cow trade last Monday afternoon.

G. L. Smith and wife and Mrs. Cynthia Mason spent Thursday with the writer and family.

Miss Grace Nixon, of Gasburg, is spending a few days with her sister at this place, Mrs. H. Clay White.

Mrs. Nau B. McElroy and daughter, Miss Edna and Mrs. E. C. Franks were in the city shopping, last Friday.

Miss Birdie C. Kelly and little brother, Glen, of Columbus, Ind., are here on a two weeks' visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. White.

We are sorry to hear of the painful accident that befell Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, of Union, while in Covington one day last week, and hope she will soon recover.

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the season was the celebration of Mrs. Sarah E. White's 58 birthday last Sunday a week. Her children and their families were present and helped to enjoy the day. At the noon hour the table was laden with all the delicacies the season afforded, the dinner consisted of nice river fish, fried chicken, salads, pies and cakes, ice cream, etc. She received several nice and useful presents. We hope that she may live to see and enjoy many more such days.

BUFFALO.

J. Q. Elston spent Saturday and Sunday in the city.

Mrs. E. E. Utz spent Sunday with Mrs. Etta Clements.

Master Lee Norris Utz was on the sick list last Sunday.

Mrs. J. H. Aylor is suffering with a very badly burned foot.

Paul Aylor spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents near here.

Mr. Sam Pope and wife were visiting J. H. Aylor and family, last Sunday.

Misses Cora and Jennie Aylor spent last Sunday with J. W. Aylor and wife.

Joe Huey and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday with Otis Rouse and wife.

Mrs. Josie Riley and little daughter, Clara, spent Friday with Mrs. Homer Clore.

Miss Jessie Utz and grandmother were guests of Mrs. O. B. Utz, of Union, Monday.

Mrs. Jennie Aylor returned home last Saturday after a three weeks' visit at Aurora, Indiana.

Mrs. James Allen, of Hamilton, spent Monday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. James H. Aylor, on Gunpowder.

Mrs. P. P. Neal entertained at dinner on the 4th, Mrs. E. E. Utz and Miss Jessie Utz and Mrs. Addie Blankenbeker.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Love, Mrs. James Florence and Mamie Bristow and children, spent the fourth with Joe Huey and family.

Mrs. Zetsie Moore and father, Mr. Wm. Harris, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore over on Fussy Ridge, last Saturday and Sunday.

GUNPOWDER.

Mrs. J. H. Tanner is improving slowly.

The Childrens' Day exercises at Ebenezer, Sunday, were enjoyed by a large crowd.

After a week's visit to friends at Hebron, Miss Leila Floyd returned home last Sunday.

Miss Ethel Tanner, of Covington, visited her parents, H. L. Tanner and wife, last Sunday.

L. M. Rouse and wife, of near Union, passed through our burg last Friday enroute to the city.

The local lamb dealers were hustling last week, and several car loads were shipped to market.

Elmer Kirkpatrick came over from Burlington, last week, to assist his brother Will in his hay harvest.

Clark Rouse, of Buffalo, was the guest of his son, Arch, of the Limaburg neighborhood, Saturday night and Sunday.

After a stay of several weeks with her brother, J. H. Tanner, Mrs. Lizzie Bartell returned to her home at Florence, last week.

B. C. Surface was on the sick list a few days last week, but has about recovered and, is at his post of duty again.

Erice Rouse had the misfortune to lose a valuable team of mules last week. He attributes the cause of their death to eating salt that had been used for salting meat.

Some very fine weather for harvesting last week, and considerable hay was put up, but the rain last Saturday caught a great many with grass down, which had to lay over until Monday.

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at all drug stores, price 50c.

BELLEVIEW.

July 10.—We have had nice rains the past week.

Corn and tobacco look well.

Miss Sarah Bradford is staying with Gilly Weisickle and children.

Joe H. Walton and wife, of Rabbit Hash, were guests at J. J. Walton's, last Friday.

Al Roger's young horse is driving nicely. Besides being a good stepper he is stylish.

Miss Julia Dinsmore returned, last week, from an extended visit with her niece in New York City.

Mrs. Charlie Beinkamp and others, of Aurora, are guests of E. L. Grant and wife for several days.

Oscar Beemon and wife, of Ohio county, Indiana, attended the funeral of Mrs. Weisickle and bab'y, last Friday.

John Pope, of Cincinnati, and Miss Eunice Ryle, of McVille, were married by Rev. Maddox on the evening of the 4th inst.

Mrs. Laura Marshall and son, Richard, of Middle creek, were guests of Mrs. Nancy Adams, last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mesdames Laura Blyth and Katie Riddell, of Burlington, and Mattie Piper, of Birmingham, Alabama, were guests of Mrs. Al Rogers, one day last week.

A most distressing and heart sickening accident happened in this community last Thursday afternoon, resulting in the death of Mrs. John Weisickle and a 17 months old daughter, Blanche. Mrs. Weisickle had the child in her arms, and undertook to kindle a fire in the cook stove with coal oil, when the oil can exploded, throwing the burning oil on the mother, her baby and an eight year old daughter, burning Mrs. Weisickle and the baby so badly that they died in a short time of eachother about 3 o'clock Friday morning. Mrs. Weisickle was born August 23, 1875, was married to John Weisickle March 19, 1892. To them were born three sons and two daughters. She died July 7, 1905, and her remains and those of her baby were buried in the same grave by Elder Riley. It is with sorrow and the deepest sympathy that we chronicle these sad deaths. Mrs. Weisickle was a tried and faithful companion, a loving and indulgent mother, a kind sister and an honored and esteemed neighbor. We shall miss her greatly from our midst, but all cherish a hope to meet her again in the realms where God shall wipe away all tears from these eyes. She leaves a husband, four children, a sister and many friends to grieve over her demise. The entire community joins in heartfelt sympathy for the bereaved family.

CARD OF THANKS.—We request our friends and neighbors to accept our sincere thanks for their kindness and sympathy shown us in the sad affliction in the loss of a devoted wife, a loving and affectionate mother, and an infant daughter and sister.

JOHN WEISICKLE AND CHILDREN.

IDLEWILD.

July 10.—Miss Anna Gaines, of Cincinnati, visited friends in this neighborhood, last week.

Miss Virginia Gaines is the guest of friends here today.

Mr. Francis Kreylich is the guest of his son George, near here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Scothoru visited relatives at North Bend, Sunday.

Mrs. N. S. Walton entertained several friends at dinner, last Thursday.

The music in the land now is that of the mowing machine and the separator.

Stephen Gaines, of Woolper Heights, who has been quite sick, is improving.

Mrs. Esther Kirtley, of Petersburg, was among her friends here, last Saturday.

Miss Bernice Duncan, of Bullittsville, was the guest of Mrs. Herbert Grant, last week.

Miss Zayda Gaines is visiting her cousin, Mrs. John Walton, at Home City, Ohio.

Will the person who borrowed Dr. Hays' dump-cart in his absence be so kind as to return it?

Miss Lizzie Graddy, of Lexington, is expected here on the 12th inst. to visit her brother and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott, of Kenton county, are guests of their cousins, Geo. Kreylich and wife, last week.

Mrs. Walker, of Cold Springs, Indiana, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Jones, of this place, on the 4th.

Kenshaum, of Aurora, passed here the other day, with a monument to be erected over the grave of Mrs. William Dixon, at Richwood.

As he was going to church last Sunday Chester Hood's horse ran off, and broke the buggy considerably. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Miss Mabel Vest, of Burlington, was the guest of her annt, Mrs. Pink Rice, near here one day last week. Mrs. R. returned home with her.

Mesdames R. C. Gaines and B. C. Graddy went to Union today to visit Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, who was hurt in Covington, one day last week.

Mr. John Stephens and daughter are expected to arrive at home from Sister, Missouri, next Saturday. He has been in the West one year.

The Board meeting and Convention at Sand Run, last Saturday, was well attended, and the day was pleasant and profitable to those who were present.

Dogs made a raid on the flocks of John Cropper and H. C. Duncan, last Saturday night, crippling 4 of Cropper's sheep and killing 3 of Duncan's. The dogs were killed.

Our people were favored with three services, Sunday: Rev. Brown, of Campbell county, preached at Sand Run; Rev. Haskins, of West Virginia, and Rev. E. L. Jones, of Cleveland, Ohio, at Bullittsville, and Rev. Sykes, of Texas, at Mt. Pleasant.

PETERSBURG.

July 10—Geo. House has flux.

Miss Nellie Gutsinger, of Lebanon, Ohio, is visiting friends here.

Mrs. Perry Applegate united with the M. E. Church, Sunday night.

Prof. Rice and wife will teach the fall and winter school at this place.

A number of the youngsters here have the itch and whooping cough.

Workmen will commence building a new float at the distillery in a few days.

Children of the M. E. Sunday School picnicked out on Taylor's creek, Monday.

Miss Jean Berkshire has returned from a visit to her sister at Chillicothe, Ohio.

Eugene Witham had a good horse to drop dead while plowing, one day last week.

Wheat threshing is on here and the average yield per acre will be about 12½ bushels.

Mrs. Will Acra and Mrs. Martha McNeely are among the seriously sick at this place.

John Helms, of Shelbyville, brother of uncle Andy Helms is visiting relatives here.

Ben Belden has bought a flour mill at Xenia, O., and will move there next Thursday.

Mrs. Milburn Cave, of Maysville, is visiting Mr. Cave's father and sisters at this place.

J. L. Wingate and wife, of Cincinnati, are guests of Mr. Wingate's mother for a few days.

Will Mahan and wife, of Lawrenceburg, Indiana, spent last week with their parents here.

J. W. Berkshire spent last week in Indiana finishing up his purchase of tobacco over there.

The 4th at this place was celebrated by a parade and fire-works at night—a regular mardi gras.

Capt. Alden will commence building a new and much larger boat for this trade in a few days.

A force of men are recooperling all the whisky in the warehouses at the distillery—about 3500 barrels.

Mrs. Anna Smith, daughter of the late Ed Waldron, was visiting her aunt Mrs. Emma Weindel, last week.

Miss Mary Mills, of Covington, is spending the heated term with her grandmother, Mrs. Judge Roberts.

The steam launch, Romana, with 20 prominent Cincinnati lawyers on board stopped here one evening last week.

About 20 Cincinnati policemen are camping on the river just above town. They fish and sein all day and part of the night.

W. H. Crisler has joined the National Stock Co., for the seasons of 1905-6. The season opens at Osgood, Indiana, August 20th.

The St. City of Louisville ran through here last week, one night last week, and had to telephone for a boat to tow her to the city.

Clarence Tolin, who went from here several years ago, is traveling for one of the biggest manufacturing concerns in Indianapolis, Ind.

Our old schoolmate, Cy Bruce, of Liberty, Mo., was in town on the 4th. It had been 24 years since we saw Cy, but we knew him.

About 20 of Louie Meemer's friends from Newport spent the 4th with him and Miss Lena. Miss Mae Butler remained for the heated term.

It has just been learned that Miss Ida Mains, a pretty young lady of our town and Mr. Roy Goodpastor, of Aurora, have been married several weeks.

Rev. Selby will quit preaching on account of his health. Bro. Selby is a good preacher and a splendid gentleman and we are sorry to have him leave us.

W. R. Ramsey and wife, of Covington, were guests of H. E. Arnold and wife, last week. Mr. Ramsey is Special Revenue agent for Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

W. H. Newhall, bookkeeper at the distillery, was called to his home in Covington on the 4th, his 12 year old son being badly burned by the explosion of some cartridges in his pocket.

Hubert Walton is home from the Hospital of Medicine at Louisville a full-fledged M. D. He will hang out his shingle at his fathers 3 miles out in the county where he says he is sure of three meals a day.

Elijah Parker had a strange experience while attending the Confederate Reunion at Louisville a few weeks ago. He walked up to an old grizzled veteran and taking him by the hand said, "What is your name, pard?" "Elijah Parker from Boone county, Ky., sah, Orphan Brigade, Co. A. regiment No. 2." Elijah was dumb founded, as for the last 60 years he has thought he was Elijah Parker. So he called Bob Brady and Ben Norman to his aid to prove that if he was not Elijah Parker, in the language of Rip Van Winkle, "Who am I." By this time Elijah No. 2 had took a sneak. He was an impostor evidently trying to work the old vets.

Frank Morgan, who bought the Belden property, met with a peculiar and what might have been a fatal case of mistaken identity on the night of the 4th. Chas. Belden and Chas. Ruth, two young men who were in the parade went to the residence of Mr. Belden to wash the paint from their faces and as they opened the door they saw the form of a man coming up out of the cellar and taking him for a burglar they slammed the door down on his head and jumped on it rendering Mr. Morgan unconscious for some time, in which condition he was found when the alarm was given. The boys had also gotten the shot gun and were waiting for him to make an effort to escape. Mr. Morgan had taken some kodac pictures the day before and was in the cellar placing them in the dark so they would develop, and the boys thought he was out in town.

PRIVATE SALE.

About seventy-five (75) acres of land on Rouse's branch in this (Boone) county, belonging to the late L. C. Norman, and being a part of the old Norman home farm. For particulars address Fayette Hewitt, Frankfort, Ky. July 1—3t.

COMMISSARY.

July 8.—Len Stewart and wife, of McVille, visited relatives in Indiana, from Saturday until Monday.

Mrs. T. J. Walton is on the sick list this week.

John Cloud sold to J. J. Walton 39 hogs at 5¼ cents a pound.

Geo. Hensley sold a cow and calf to Bud Morelan, of New Kentucky, for $40.

W. T. Ryle sold to J. J. Walton & Co. 21 lambs at $5 per head, and 8 at $4 per head.

Richard Louden, of Scrapville, spent last Sunday with his son, Flave, near Rabbit Hash.

Conrad Kleinhan, wife and daughter, of Cincinnati, visited relatives at McVille, last Monday.

Mrs. Phoebe Richards, of Dillsboro, Indiana, is visiting Roland McCarty and family, of Bellevne.

T. J. Walton sold his lambs to F. A. Utz, of Florence at $4 50 per head for 150, and $4 per head for 10.

When dealing with a man who uses religion as a cloak, look out for the kiboeh concealed beneath its folds.

Mrs. Georgia Louden and daughters, Gracie, Nannie and Julia spent last Sunday with Jesse Louden and wife.

Mrs. Dan McCarty and Miss Susie Smith, of Bellevue, and Miss Laura Lacy, of Botts' Landing, spent the 4th in Aurora.

Asa Delph and wife, of New Kentucky, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Flave Louden and wife, near Rabbit Hash.

Mr. Editor, you ought to see the nice present sent me from Cincinnati. It is a dandy. Everybody admires it and wants one.

Master Wayne Phipps, of Burlington, spent the fourth with his grandparents, Ben Cason and wife, and witnessed the fire-works at the club house that evening.

Our old friend and chum, Carl Hunt, has left Washington and gone to Idaho, and is working in a logging camp away up in the mountains. Carl says he has seen the United States.

Mrs. Girtie Parsons is in receipt of a nice present from her husband, Hubert Parsons, of Cincinnati. It is a go cart for a baby, and folds up in such a way that it makes a small, light parcel, easy to carry in the hand.

Having an invitation to attend a dinner party, last Sunday, at Mr. Frank Cantwell's, we scribe went to Salem Ridge, Indiana, on Saturday evening, and spent the night with Geo. Ranes. Sunday we attended the dinner party, which was a grand affair and enjoyed by all present. Mr. Cantwell and wife are splendid entertainers and always make their guests feel at home. Sunday evening we spent a couple of hours with Sol Redding and wife, where we were treated to some excellent music on the piano. Monday we made a business trip to Rising Sun and enjoyed the wild and picturesque scenery along Bogus Hollow very much. Monday night we attended a musical party at a Mr. Overtates. The music consisted of graphaphone, violin and guitar, and it was a treat to all present. Tuesday we spent in Aurora and met several old acquaintances. All in all we had a very pleasant time.

A sad and frightful accident occurred at the home of Gilley Weisickle near here last Thursday afternoon, by which Mrs. Weisickle and her 14 months old child lost their lives. Gilley's eldest daughter, aged about 10 is badly burnt, the result of the explosion of a coal oil can, while it was being used to kindle a fire in a cook stove to get supper. Mrs. Weisickle was pouring the oil on the kindling in the stove, not knowing there was any fire in the stove. The baby was on the floor, and the mother grabbed it up and jumped through a widow into the yard, Sophia, the other child having already gone out at the window, and jumped into a tub of water to put out her clothing which were in flames. Having put out her clothing Sophia began throwing water on her mother and sister, but could not put out the fire before they were fatally burnt. The child then ran to the nearest neighbor's and gave the alarm, and soon willing hands were doing all in their power to relieve the suffering of the mother and her little one, who died within a few minutes of eachother about three o'clock Friday morning. Mr. Weisickle's father, who is quite old, was at the house and succeeded in putting out the fire that threatened the building before he knew the awful results of the explosion. Mrs. Weisickle was a favorite in the neighborhood, and never did anything cast such a gloom over the whole community as has the tragic death of her and her baby. Little Shophia, who proved herself such a heroine, was badly burnt but she did not make her injuries known until the others had received attention.

VERONA.

Crops look promising.

The fourth of July passed off quietly here.

Jesse Hamilton is confined to his room with rheumatism.

The carpenters will get the roof on O. K. Whitson's barn, this week.

R. O. Powers and W. M. Whitson, each, is having his residence repainted.

Small grain has all been harvested and the threshing machines will start this week.

Everett Smoots, who was badly bruised several days ago, is able to get around again.

Mrs. Fanny Taylor and niece, of Georgetown, were pleasant guests of friends and relatives here, last week.

J. M. Powers and wife, and A. C. Roberts and wife spent a pleasant day with A. K. Johnson and family, last Sunday.

The members of Concord Baptist church are having a new building erected on the site occupied by the old one.

A revival meeting will begin at New Bethel Baptist church on Wednesday night, August 2d. Rev. Theobald, the regular pastor, will do the preaching.

LANDING.

Mrs. Dr. T. H. Baker and daughter, of Louisville, are visiting relatives and friends in this neighborhood.

Quite a little mad dog scare in our place, and several dogs have been bitten near here. Everyone is on the look out.

Mrs. A. L. Miller and little daughter of Addyston, Ohio, have returned home after a visit of several days with her son at this place.

The Odd Fellows at Big Bone expect to hold a memorial service, Sunday, July 16th, in honor of the late J. Frank Grant, Grand Master.

There will be an entertainment given by the Big Bone dramatic club, at the I. O. O. F hall, Friday and Saturday nights July 14 and 15, beginning at 8 o'clock. Admission 25 cents for chairs; 15 cents for seats. Everybody invited.

HAMILTON.

Those who wish to get first class honey may call on J. E. Markesberry. It is put up in one pound cans.

Miss Rose B. Wilson has returned to her home in Louisville, after spending the 4th with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wilson, at this place.

Miss Sarah Black and her brother Allen spent last Tuesday with their aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Richard Feldhaus, of near Grange Hall.

W. G. McElroy and sister, Miss Edna, called last Sunday afternoon to see some of the Walton people, who have been camping at Hamilton, the past week.

Walter Brown has completed his new ferry boat and is now ready to accommodate any one who calls on him. The weather never gets too bad, nor the river too rough. When you wish to cross the river just ask for Mr. Brown and you will always find him ready to favor you.

LIMABURG.

Farmers in this vicinity are making hay.

W. E. Garnett hauled a load of hay to the city Saturday.

The rain Saturday afternoon caught several with hay down.

Mrs. M. E. Crigler is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ida Houston, in Covington.

Mrs. Hellebush, from Ludlow, is the guest of her sister Mrs. Chas. Moore, near here.

Miss Nellie Maxwell is spending a couple of weeks with her grandfather, Mr. Joe Brown.

D. L. Carpenter and family, of Delhi, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Beemon, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Beemon and daughters were the pleasant guests of O. E. Aylor and family, Sunday.

Mr. Akin's little daughter from Bellevue is the guest of her grandfather, Mr. Geo. Hammons, near here.

Miss Nellie Rouse arrived home Monday from Nashville, Tenn., where she graduated from the college of music with high honors, receiving a gold medal.

FLORENCE.

Mrs. Mary Henry is visiting relatives in Indiana.

Mrs. Mary Carpenter is visiting friends in Covington.

Ed Corbin is seriously ill with a complication of diseases.

John Sells and wife spent last Sunday evening with Mrs. Buckner.

Atwood Culberston, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday with Dr. Otis Senior.

Rev. Utz and family attended the convention at Francesville, Saturday.

Mrs. Kate Council, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday with the Misses Grogan.

Ransom Ryle and wife, of Union, spent Sunday with Mrs. J. R. Whitson.

Louis Scott, of Lexington, spent last week with his brother, Joe on Union pike.

Miss Lillie Bennewitz, of Elsmere, called on Mrs. Mary Carpenter, Sunday.

Mrs. Sue Wilhoit was the guest of Arch Wilhoit and wife, in Covington, Thursday.

Mrs. Robert Rice spent three days last week with Mrs. Grace Castleman in Latonia.

Rev. and Mrs. Haskins, of Erlanger, were guests of Mrs. Harry Fisk, last Thursday.

Miss Emma Scott has returned from Lexington where she spent a week with relatives.

Little Virginia Kirkpatrick, of Covington, is being entertained by Marguerite Fisk.

Dr. Castleman and family, of Latonia, are spending a few days with Perry Carpenter.

Norbert Warning, of Covington, has returned home after spending a week with Father Kathman.

Miss Emma Hinton was the pleasant guest of Mrs. Willa Collins in Elsmere, last Saturday.

Lost—A leather bound prayer book with owner's name inside. Return to Miss Delia Grogan if found.

Misses Ruth Slater and Lena Tanner were pleasantly entertained by Vilietta Rouse, last Thursday.

Mrs. John R. Whitson left Monday for Burgin, where she will be with Mrs. Jessie Cook for two weeks.

Miss Minnie Cahill has returned from Bromley, where she spent a week with Bert Tanner and bride.

Ransom Plunkett, who has been spending a few weeks with his daughter, left Sunday for a visit in Union.

The ladies of the Christian church have organized an Aid Society called Christian Workers. At the last meeting 20 members were enrolled.

Mike Cahill and family, of Florence; Lou Kroger and wife, of Hamilton; Mrs. Carr, of Ireland; Will O'Connor and Will Cahill, of Indianapolis, spent Sunday with Mrs. Pat Cahill at Crescent.

Miss Kate Scott entertained at her home at Dixon, Sunday, the following: Misses Mae England, of Erlanger; Mae and Annie Miller, Josephine Swartz, Katie Swartz, Lou and Joseph Scott and the Misses Freedman, of Union.

BELLEVUE.

The potato crop will break all previous records around here.

Hebron plays the Bellevue club here Saturday July 15 at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. Laura Marshall, son and little niece, were guests of Mrs. Nancy Adams, Sunday.

This whole community was shocked and saddened by the news of Mrs. Weisickle and her baby's sad death. Our heart goes out to the father and husband in his sad affliction.

James Setters and Tom Wingate went to Walton, one day last week, after Jim's new thresher and engine. It was found to be too heavy for the bridges on the road here, so it was shipped back to Columbus, Ind.

While James Setters was in the warehouse here talking to Pepper Smith he noticed Pep's hard dog, Joe, with something in his mouth. Investigation revealed the fact that it was a roll of one dollar bills, which Jim thought he had safe in his pocket a moment before. Is it any wonder that Pep refused $50 for the dog a few weeks ago?

There are a few kids around our town that start out in life with the idea that they know it all, and that what the rest of the would knows is small potatoes in comparison. When I see a young man come down the street with his hat on his ear, a cigar in the corner of his mouth and a know-it-all expression on his face, that young man has got something coming to him and when he gets it he will crawl into a knot hole for a month and then come out pretty well cured.

UNION.

Mrs. W. M. Rachal has been ill for several days

Miss Mary Hedges spent last Friday with relatives in Erlanger.

Marvin Fisher, of Nashville, Tenn., is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Joseph Myers.

Mrs. Cross and son Wate of Walton, were the guest of Miss Bettie Clarkson Sunday.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Society will meet at the church next Saturday afternoon.

Miss Martha Lassing has been the guest of her sister Mrs. Joe Collins for the past week.

Rev. Greggory preached his farewell sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

Mrs. Roland Rouse and children and Miss Lizzie Rouse have returned to their home in Georgia.

Mrs. P. T. Fall and daughter Virginia, of Alexandria, Indiana, are the guest of relatives here.

Mrs. N. S. Brintow and daughter Lillian were the guest of relatives in Erlanger last Thursday.

Mrs. Lee Cropper and Mrs. Clint Gaines, of Bullittsville, spent Monday with Mrs. Elizabeth Huey.

Mrs. Harry Winston and little daughter Kathryn, of Louisville, were guests of Mrs. J. W. Conner last week.

Anna Mae and John Lassing, of Nashville, Tenn., are guests of their grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Lassing.

Miss Flora Belle Shepherd, of Covington, and Miss Austin, of Missouri, are the guests of Mrs. James Huey this week.

The many friends of Mrs. Elizabeth Huey were sorry to hear of the severe injuries she received while in the city last Thursday.

Lost on the Union pike by Mrs. Merve Hance a hand satchel containing a pocket book with $15 in it, handkerchief and fan. Finder will please leave at W. M. Rachall's store.

FLICKERTOWN.

William Hewitt started his threshing machine, Monday.

Waller Campbell and wife visited in Flickertown, Sunday.

Clayborn Campbell and wife visited at Egbert Nicholl's, Sunday.

Irvin Rue and wife, of Burlington, were Sunday guests of friends on Ashby Fork.

Stephen Gaines has been laid up for several days with a large boil on his ankle.

Mrs. Carrie Heusley visited her sister, Mrs. Lulie Hoffman, of Petersburg, Sunday.

Charles Clore, of Burlington neighborhood, was a guest at Charles Hensley's, Sunday.

All those indebted to the Woolper Telephone Company are requested to settle with the secretary at once.

Attorney Sidney Gaines and wife, of Burlington, were guests of his father and brothers, near here last Sunday.

Mrs. George Smith, of Corcoran, Indiana, has been the guest of her brothers, B. F. and R. J. Akin, several days.

Mrs. James White and son, William, visited Eugene Ogdon and wife, of Idlewild neighborhood, last Saturday and Sunday.

PT. PLEASANT.

Miss Virgie Riggs visited Miss Louise Ritchie at Madisonville, O, recently.

Miss Irene Vogel, of Cincinnati, is spending a few weeks with Miss Elizabeth Kenyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tanner entertained at dinner a few days since for Mr. and Mrs. Claude Riggs and mother. Those present and enjoying the day were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Tanner, Edna and Elwood Tanner; Mrs. Malchus Souther and daughter, Miss Ethel Souther; Mrs. Gordon, W. A. Kenyon and family.

WALTON.

Mrs. C. McKean, of 313 West Fourth street, Cincinnati, entertained at her country home in Walton, on the 4th inst. Those present were Misses Lily Levy, Nora Fitzpatrick, Florence Boch, Angeline Boch, Statia Keegan, Estelle Hudephol, Gertrude Hellmann, Gertrude Fay, Mrs. Kate Conrad, Lulu Heintz, Nell Chambers, Lucille Chambers, Jeanette Kaplun and friends, Miss Ludolph, Mrs. P. J. Keegan and Josie Keegan.

STRANGEST LIBEL SUIT EVER TRIED IN AMERICA

It Is on the Fall Calendar of the New York State Supreme Court.

DEAF MUTES FOR PRINCIPALS AND WITNESSES

Testimony to Be Taken in Foreign Sign Languages and Translated Into English—Problem for Judge and Jury—Story of the Quarrel.

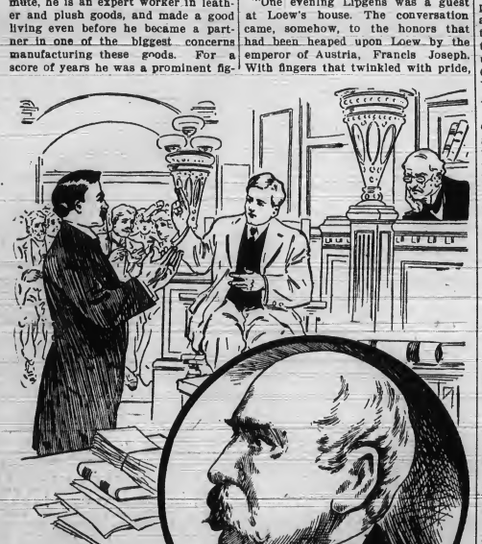
New York.—The most remarkable suit ever tried in a court of law will be heard when the New York supreme court takes up its autumn calendar.

Yet to say that the case will be "heard" is not stating the exact facts, for the testimony will be given in that most silent form of all silence—the sign language of the deaf-mutes. Both the parties to the case are mutes and all the witnesses, of whom there will be 50 or 60, are likewise afflicted, so that the story of the trouble that has landed them in court will come from the fingers instead of from the lips.

But this is not the only remarkable feature of this unusual case, which is further complicated by the fact that some of the witnesses cannot "speak" English, so that a great deal of the testimony will have to be given first in the sign 'anguage in German, then translated into English, again into the sign language, and finally to spoken English, so that the court and the jury may know what is going on.

With a situation like this the possibilities to arise from the case are unlimited, and the tribulations of the presiding justice, the jury and the counsel for both sides may better be imagined than described at this time. As for the audience, it is promised a most unusual event.

Case of Wide Interest.



The New York World, commenting upon this remarkable case, says:

"Eighty thousand deaf-mutes in this country, and fully as many more in Germany, Austria and France, will be affected by the outcome of the case, whatever it may be, for the parties at law are both among the most prominent mutes in the world, and whatever interests them will interest their fellows in the United States and Europe.

"The belligerents are both prominent in New York city, where they reside. There are two suits, one brought as an offset to the other, so that both parties are plaintiffs and each is a defendant. And, most curious point of all, considering the fact that everyone connected with the affair is a deaf-mute, the twin suits are for—slander!

"It would be hard, then, to conceive a more intricate, complicated, paradoxical situation than presents itself now.

"Jacques Loew, one of the plaintiff-defendants, is a well-known resident of New York, which he has made his home for the past 30 years since he came from Austria. Although a deaf-mute, he is an expert worker in leather and plush goods, and made a good living even before he became a partner in one of the biggest concerns manufacturing these goods. For a score of years he was a prominent figure at Fleischmann's Vienna bakery, where his huge white mustache and dignified bearing earned for him the sobriquet of 'The Baron.' He breakfasted at Fleischmann's early every morning, and at dinner every evening was generally surrounded by a score or more of guests, all deaf-mutes, whose animated conversation was most interesting to other patrons of the restaurant.

Married Deaf Mutes.

"When nearly 60 years of age Mr. Loew married a deaf-mute daughter of Lonas Sonneborn, a retired millionaire merchant, who lives in West Eighty-sixth street, and has two children, the son, strange to say, being a deaf-mute like his parents, it being unusual for the affliction to descend from one generation to another. Young Loew, however, became a deaf-mute through illness and not as a direct inheritance. Their daughter, a beautiful girl of 15, possesses the faculties of both speech and hearing. One of Mrs. Loew's sisters married a son of Meyer Guggenheim, the 'Silver King,' who died recently. Mr. and Mrs. Loew spend their summers with the Sonneborns at Long Branch, where they drive the smartest rigs and entertain largely.

"The other defendant-plaintiff in the case is almost equally well known, and among the deaf-mutes perhaps even more prominent than his septuagenarian opponent. He is Wilhelm Lipgens, a German with a trade, or, perhaps, an art, that makes him unique among craftsmen. He engraves upon gold and silver by a process all his own, and since his arrival in New York four years ago has been employed at a very high salary by Tiffany & Co. He had been in this country less than a year when he became known to fame by personally presenting President Roosevelt with a silver dollar on which was the effigy of the president in rough rider dress on horseback, for which Mr. Roosevelt spoke his thanks in German, Mr. Lipgens understanding the movement of the lips when they frame words in his native tongue.

"Mr. Lipgens is married and lives with his wife who, like him, is a deaf-mute, and two thoroughly normal and unusually bright children in a fashionable apartment on Washington Heights.

"As soon as Lipgens came to this country he became a fast friend of Loew. The latter was the first prominent deaf-mute to welcome him to New York, and their families became closely associated. Dinner parties, at which the elite of deaf-mutedom were present, social affairs of every kind, made the Loews and Lipgens families well known and popular, and the friendship between them grew stronger and stronger.

"But the break came, a chasm was formed that can never be healed, and will only be widened by the courts, probably. It started in a simple manner.

"One evening Lipgens was a guest at Loew's house. The conversation came, somehow, to the honors that had been heaped upon Loew by the emperor of Austria, Francis Joseph. With fingers that twinkled with pride, Loew told how the emperor, recognizing the deaf-mute's great skill in leather and plush working, as exemplified by examples of his work shown at the Vienna exposition in 1873, had bestowed grand decorations of honor upon him.

The Start of the Quarrel.

"Lipgens heard with doubting eyes, and his agile hands replied, sarcastically, that he did not take much stock in his friend's statement about these decorations.

"'What!' shouted Loew's right hand, while his left reached for the desk drawer in which he kept the tokens of the emperor's esteem. 'You doubt me?'

"Lipgens' fingers spoke the doubt that would not allow him to believe any sort of proof of his friend's assertions, and they parted for the evening. The usual 'Good evening, come again,' was not motioned in the hall. The breach had begun. It was only a small leak in the dike of friendship, one that could have been covered by the agile hand of either Lipgens or Loew.

"But Loew's hands were busy expressing his outraged feelings, while Lipgens', if Loew's suspicions be correct, were mischievously busying themselves in spreading the slander that Jacques Loew's Austrian honors and decorations were bogus.

"The rupture once made took the erstwhile friends further and further apart as time wore on, and the fingers once raised and waggled in kindliness were now trembling spasmodically as each of their owners dilated on the faults of the other.

The Culminating Point.

"The culminating point was reached last summer, when the World's Congress of Deaf Mutes was held in St. Louis.

"From Germany to attend the conference came Herr Albin Maria Watzulik, a distinguished mute, who occupies the post of superintendent of the government printery at Altenburg, in Saxony; and Martin Czempin, representing the many deaf-mute organizations of Berlin. These were the official delegates of the German mutes, but accompanying them, though unburdened with credentials from his silent countrymen, came a mute of talent and renown through all the fatherland, Rudolf Janik.

"Lipgens, who had achieved great prominence through the formation of a club bearing his name (a branch of the deaf-mute Masonic order known as the League of Elect Surds), seized upon the distinguished visitors from Germany, and when they came to New York gave them a big banquet at the Arena.

"But Loew also was at the head of an organization and had invited the delegates to attend a reception given by the Union League of Deaf-Mutes on the same night that the Elect Surds held their banquet.

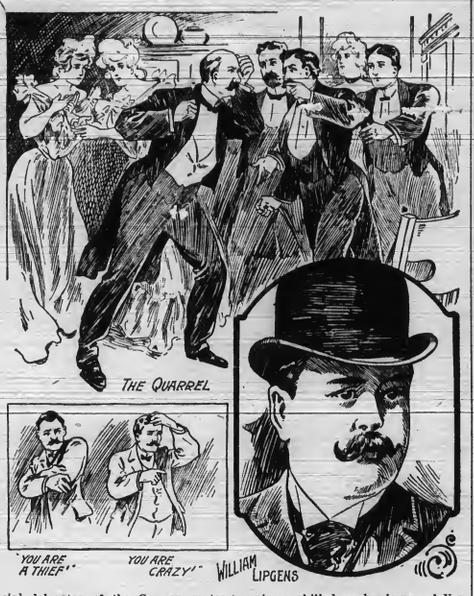
"The delegates went to the Surds' dinner and in twinkling fingers told of their joy and happiness. But they did not go to the Loew society's reception, which was a gloomy affair as a result.

"Yet they would have been there, claimed Loew, had not the busy fingers of Lipgens, writhing like snakes, poisoned their minds against him. Whereupon he was deeply humiliated, perhaps the more because the greater part of the expense of the league's reception had to be borne by him personally.

"It hurt him especially because Wutzulik was an old friend of his whom he had entertained during a similar congress of deaf-mutes at the Chicago world's fair; and when Lipgens accompanied Wutzulik to St. Louis and back again to New York and never let him go near Loew all the time he was in the country Loew writhed with anger.

"Then he turned for consolation to Janik, the unofficial delegate, who, having found New York to his liking, decided to follow his profession—portrait painting—here.

Idle Fingers Again.



"He became friendly with Loew, and, Lipgens claims, was by him influenced against Lipgens. At any rate, idle fingers that had nothing better to do than to gossip conveyed to Lipgens' bulging eyes the news that Janik had been talking about him. So when Janik applied for admission to the League of Elect Surds it was Lipgens who blackballed him.

"The enraged Janik was seen by Loew about this time, and was prevailed on to apply for membership in the Union League of Deaf-Mutes, which he did, being elected. Now a tie bound Loew and Janik that moved them in one direction—revenge on Lipgens, and, if two heads are better than one, four hands are able to talk more than two.

"They talked and they planned, and they decided that Lipgens had injured them both to such an extent that he must be made to pay for the folly of his flippant fingers in a court of law. And they called in a lawyer. He was John Loew, who, by the way, is no relation to Jacques, though one of his sons, Moses, is a deaf-mute and a member of the Union League. John Loew's daughter, Mrs. Rosalie Loew-Whitney, is also a prominent lawyer.

"On being served with a notice that he must answer in court for the alleged indiscretions of his fingers, Lipgens immediately engaged counsel for himself, who has announced a counter suit. Both cases will come to trial at the fall term of the supreme court.

"In the meantime all deaf-mutedom is excited over the affair, and the Elect Surds, whose lodge rooms are on the same street, West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth, as those of the Union League, never wave their hands to the enemy as was once their wont. In fact both parties and all their friends are maintaining a dumb silence."

PUNCH CAME FROM CHINA

This Character and Judy, So Popular with Little Ones, Date Back 1,000 Years Before Christ.

Punch and Judy dates back to about 1,000 years before Christ.

When Emperor Hiu, of the Chou dynasty, was making a tour through the empire a skilled mechanic nemed Yen Shih was brought into his presence to entertain him and the ladies of his court. Yen Shih had some automatic figures which not only were capable of dancing, but of accompanying their movements with song.

During the performance the puppets cast such significant glances toward the ladies that the emperor became angry, and ordered the execution of the originator of the play. The mechanic ripped open the puppets and proved to his astonished majesty that they were artificial. Instead of being executed, Yen Shih was allowed to repeat the performance, which corresponds to Punch and Judy in England and America.

SCIENCE NEARING PLAGUE

Avenue of Commerce from Damascus to Mecca Now Nears Breeding Place of Disease.

The railroad from Damascus to Mecca has reached Maan, on the pilgrim route, nearly 300 miles south of Damascus, and not far from the head of the Gulf of Akaba, and a celebration was recently held at that point, in which a deputation from Medina, where Mohammed's body rests, took part. The primary purpose of this railroad is announced to be the assistance of pilgrims on their way to and from Mecca. But it will also possess strategic value for the Turkish government, which is pushing it, and for the world at large it is of importance because it cannot fail to let the influences of civilized life into a region sadly in need of them. Mecca has long been notorious as a breeding place of cholera and other epidemic diseases which spread over the globe.

Leaves Prison in a Box.

Jefferson City, Mo.—Harry Hammond, a convict in the state penitentiary, sent up from St. Joseph in 1898 for 15 years for murder in the second degree, escaped the other night in a shoe-box, and but for the fact that he had failed to provide sufficient air-holes would probably be a free man. Hammond concealed himself in the shoe-box in the prison factory and was started on the trip to Chicago. At Cedar City, just across the river from Jefferson City, the box, in which he was secure, nailed up, lay for some time on the station platform and the agent heard groans coming from the box. The box was opened and Hammond was taken back to the penitentiary. He said he knew he was taking a long chance when he entered the box, but he regarded anything as preferable to prison life.

ATAXIA FOUR YEARS

FOLLOWS MALARIA CONTRACTED IN SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR.

Victim Had Become Helpless When He Tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but Was Cured in Four Months.

Because he did not know that there is a remedy for ataxia, Mr. Ariel endured four years of weakness, pain and the misery of thinking his case incurable.

"As the outbreak of the Spanish-American war," he says, "I went with Company B, Eighth Regiment, M. V. M., into camp at Chickamauga, and while there my system became thoroughly poisoned with malaria. When I was mustered out, I carried that disease home with me. After a while locomotor ataxia appeared."

"How did the ataxia begin?"

"I first noticed a pain in my ankles and knee joints. This was followed by a numb feeling in my legs. At times I had to drag myself around; my legs would shake or become perfectly dead. I had constant trouble in getting about in the dark. I kept a light burning in my room at night as I could not balance myself in the darkness. Even with the aid of a light I wobbled, and would reach out and catch hold of chairs to prevent myself from falling?"

"How long were you a sufferer?"

"Four years in all. During the last three years I was confined to bed, sometimes for a week, again for three or four weeks at a time. When I was lying down the pain in my back was frequently so severe that I had to be helped up and put in a chair to get a little relief. I had considerable pain in my bowels and no control over my kidneys. The worst of all was that the doctor could give me no hope of recovery."

"How were you cured?"

"I read that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured locomotor ataxia and one or two friends spoke to me about them. In the fall of 1903 I began to take them for myself and I had not used more than one box before I found that the pains in my knees and ankles were greatly relieved. Four months afterward I became a perfectly well man, and I am today enjoying the best of health."

Mr. Edward H. Ariel lives at No. 43 Powow street, Amesbury, Mass. Every sufferer from locomotor ataxia should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills without delay. Any druggist can supply them.

Independent.

"So the jury gave Dolly $50 a week alimony?"

"Yes. She says it feels so good not to be dependent on a man for one's income."—Life.

His Objection.

De Style—What is it you don't like about Miss Golddust?

Gunbusta—Other fellows' arms.—N. Y. Times.

The White River Division.

St. Louis, July 8.—The White River division of the Iron Mountain Route, between Newport, Ark., and Carthage, Mo., is rapidly approaching completion, and report of representatives of the general passenger department, who recently made a complete trip over the line, indicates that through trains will be running inside of sixty days.

"While several thousand tourists have already made the trip from each end of the completed line, and we have hauled during the month of June over forty fishing parties from Carthage, who desired to make the five-day float from Galena to Branson, returning on train in 50 minutes, for the complete daylight run over the new line," said Mr. H. C. Townsend, general passenger agent, "there will be a tourist travel unprecedented over any line in this part of the country. The fishing proposition is becoming so well known that a number of club houses on the James river, between Galena and Branson, are now completed and are taxed to their capacity."

"The romantic features of the new line are naturally the ones to attract the most general attention, but the agricultural and mineral possibilities of this new region are remarkable."

"The road itself is a marvel of engineering, and the 85-pound rails, with rock ballast, promises the highest degree of speed and safety."

If nature ever made a mistake, it was when she made a good canteloupe and a bad canteloupe look exactly alike.—Toledo Blade.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease. A certain cure for swollen, sweating, hot, aching feet. At all Druggists, 25c. Accept no substitute. Trial package FREE. Address A. S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Garbage and grease are something alike in spelling, but not altogether alike in smelling.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

MILLIONS OF WOMEN USE

Cuticura SOAP

Assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the great Skin Cure, for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings, and chafings, in the form of baths for annoying irritations and inflammations, or undue perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative, antiseptic, purposes which readily suggest themselves, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery.

Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston. 32 "Skin and Hair Free, "A Book for Women."

BACK TO NATURE

Return to the old-time wholesome wheat food of our fore-fathers.

Buy a package of EGG-O-SEE and use it tomorrow morning.

When you dip your spoon into its golden-brown flakes you will realize that AT LAST there is a delicious tempting dish made from the whole wheat.

EGG-O-SEE is made from the perfect grains of the choicest white wheat, containing ALL THE VITAL ELEMENTS that make for buoyant health and good digestion.

It is Nature's perfect food, and satisfies your craving for "something good to eat."

Perfect digestion means life power, energy and a robust well being. Attain it by eating EGG-O-SEE.

EGG-O-SEE is sold in air-tight, inner-lined packages, insuring purity and freshness.

BEST FOOD IN SUMMER

If you can find a grocer who does not sell EGG-O-SEE send us his name and ten cents, mentioning this periodical and we will send you a full-sized package prepaid. Address,

THE EGG-O-SEE CO.
Quincy, Ill.

EGG-O-SEE

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Say Plainly to Your Grocer

That you want LION COFFEE always, and he, being a square man, will not try to sell you anything else. You may not care for our opinion, but

What About the United Judgment of Millions of housekeepers who have used LION COFFEE for over a quarter of a century?

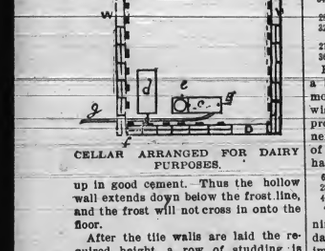
Is there any stronger proof of merit, than the Confidence of the People and ever increasing popularity? LION COFFEE is carefully selected at the plantation, shipped direct to our various factories, where it is skillfully roasted and carefully packed in sealed packages—unlike loose coffee, which is exposed to germs, dust, insects, etc. LION COFFEE reaches you as pure and clean as when it left the factory. Sold only in 1 lb. packages.

Lion-head on every package.
Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE



WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

AN UP-GROUND CELLAR.

Details and Specifications for Building One of Them.

An up-ground cellar, properly constructed, will guard against frosts in winter and serve as a cool dairy house in summer. It avoids the toiling up and down steps of the underground cellar, and obviates the necessity for drainage in level countries where such would be impracticable.

The building blocks or square tiles used in this plan are 8x10x16 inches, and have an extra partition through the center, thus supplying two hollow or dead-air spaces in the outer wall. The excavation for cellar should be thrown out at least two feet in depth and filled with fragments of stone finely broken. After filling six or eight inches the outer wall should be laid up in good cement. Thus the hollow wall extends down below the frost line, and the frost will not cross in onto the floor.

CELLAR ARRANGED FOR DAIRY PURPOSES.

After the tile walls are laid the required height, a row of studding is placed around the inside wall (see illustration). Back of these next to the wall is placed a lining of heavy, tarred paper. These studs are lathed and heavily plastered. Plates for rafters are placed upon top of wall, and joists for ceiling spiked to these plates. Undersides of joists are ceiled with matched flooring, a lining of heavy paper, and stripped with 2x2 lath, same way joints run. Lath and plaster are applied to these, making dead-air space between plaster and flooring. Tops of joists are floored with matched material, paper lined, making two dead-air spaces. Roof may be made of shingles or other material carefully fitted to exclude air currents, and gable doubleboarded, all being lined with tarred paper.

Next fill remainder of excavation with crushed stone and cement making a smooth floor level with doorstep. Make stone and cement very compact to avoid cracking. A chimney at each end is a good means of ventilation and gives opportunity for a stove in extremely cold weather.

A building similar to this with two double windows and one door, placed in corner for convenience, if built 14x16 feet and 10 feet from bottom of foundation to eaves, should cost not over $125 to $150. Below is a bill for a cellar 14x16x10 feet, including everything necessary: 660 building blocks; 4 barrels good cement; 15 yards crushed stone; 1 door frame, 2068 inches; 2 window frames 20x28 inches; 45 studs 2x4, 9 feet long; 12 joists 2x6, 14 feet long; 2 plates 2x8, 14 feet long; 2 rafter plates 2x8, 18 feet long, allowing 4 feet for spring shed; 20 rafters 2x5, 9 feet long; 360 feet sheathing for roof; 500 feet matched flooring and siding; 3,250 shingles; 1,000 plastering lath; 75 yards plaster; 1,000 square feet building paper; 300 brick for chimney; 1 door 28x68 inches; 4 window sash, 20x28 inches; 5 pounds spikes; 5 pounds lath nails; 15 pounds 8-d nails; 9 pounds shingle nails.

From this list the cost of erection in any locality can be ascertained. Care should be taken to have windows and doors fit closely, avoiding cracks. An extra "storm door" for winter use would be an added protection against freezing.

The illustration may be explained thus: D, doorway; B, sink drain; c, sink; e, milk separator, where milk and cream are drawn off into vessels and separator washed; d, refrigerator; f, basin conveying waste water from tank into sink drain; g, sink drain; w, window.—Ohio Farmer.

Intensive Dairying.

In the vicinity of great cities intensive dairying must be followed. The cows must be kept in large numbers on small areas, and the product of these cows must be disposed of at a higher price than is obtainable for butter. The location must to a considerable degree determine the phase of dairying that is to receive the most attention. Cream selling is one of these phases that is most accentuated on high priced land near cities.

Coal Ashes in the Current Bushes.

Coal ashes should always be used as a mulch or to lighten up heavy soil. When it is applied thickly between the rows of currant bushes it acts as a mulch and at the same time keeps down weeds. Capillary action does not readily take place in loose ashes, and so the soil moisture below is saved for the currant bushes.

The boar should be kept some distance from the sows. His quarters should be strong. He should have a good clover pasture.

BALANCING SILAGE.

Correct Proportions of Several Concentrates to Be Mixed with It.

"What is the cheapest concentrate to buy, to balance up ensilage for milch cows?" asks an inquirer of the Ohio Farmer.

We can give you the combinations that will balance up with silage, and you can easily determine which would be cheapest for you. We do not know exact prices of concentrates in your locality. The following combinations make a balanced ration for cows giving 22 pounds of milk per day:

62.8 lb. wheat middlings.
70.2 lb. ensilage.

66.8 lb. wheat bran.
136.3 lb. ensilage.

75 lb. cow pea hay.
144.5 lb. ensilage.

76.5 lb. alfalfa hay.
152.8 lb. ensilage.

49.2 lb. gluten feed.
194 lb. ensilage.

87 lb. Buffalo gluten meal.
202.4 lb. ensilage.

201 lb. wet brewers' grains.
210.6 lb. ensilage.

42.6 lb. dry brewers' grain.
268.4 lb. ensilage.

36.2 lb. buckwheat middlings.
276.7 lb. ensilage.

41.8 lb. buckwheat bran.
235 lb. ensilage.

28.5 lb. N. P. linseed meal.
342.8 lb. ensilage.

26 lb. old process linseed meal.
326 lb. ensilage.

21.7 lb. cotton seed meal.
365 lb. ensilage.

Each of these combinations makes a balanced ration; hence any two or more will be balanced. Thus, if you wish to combine wheat bran and old process oil meal, take the second and next to the last and add the amount of silage in each together, and you have:

66.8 lb. wheat bran.
28 lb. oil meal.
462.3 lb. ensilage.

This makes 557 pounds, or about nine days' rations for one cow, or one day's ration for nine cows, or approximately 51 pounds ensilage, 7.4 pounds bran and 3.1 pounds oil meal per cow per day.

DEHORNING CATTLE.

Need Not Be Attended with Much Pain — Stopping the Horn Growth.

Those who have had the pleasure of raising calves to the cow period without horns know how much more sensible it is to have a herd of cows without horns than a lot of animals whose horns endanger both man and beast. To have a herd of cows without horns is easy for the man who raises his own calves, for the work of killing the embryo horn is simple and easy.

Buy a stick of caustic potash at the drug store, wrap a bit of cloth around the end you are to hold in the hand, moisten the other end thoroughly and then rub it briskly on the spot where the embryo horn may be felt. Cover all the surface, but be careful and not go beyond the horn or you will burn the skin of the calf. For calves, when the horns are already through, the clipper made for the purpose is the best thing to use. Place the blades as close to the head as possible and one cut will pare the horn off smoothly. For grown cows either the clipper or a saw is used and, of course, the head of the animal must be fastened so that she cannot move it.

The operation in a sensible manner is humane, and only fanatics who know nothing about the operation claim it to be cruel. Like all operations among animals, it may be done in a hurried, careless manner and so in a careful, careless manner and so become cruelty.—American Tribune.

THROWING A BULL.

How the Animal May Be Roped to Bring Him Down Without a Struggle.

Put on a halter, then take a sound, ordinary breaking rope, make a loop at one end and pass it over the head, letting it rest close around the neck low down like a collar. Bring the rope to the near side, pass it over the back just behind the shoulders, bring it underneath the chest and pass it under and then above the rope so as to make a loop around the chest. Carry the rope back, pass it over the loins and bring it underneath the belly close to the flanks. Make another loop as before, and carry the rope straight behind the animal. Tighten up the loops, one close to the elbows, the other close to the hind flanks. All being ready, instruct the man who holds the halter shank to pull forward and at the same time the men who have hold of the loose end of the rope to pull straight backward and down the animal goes, generally without a struggle. Keep the head down and the rope firm, and as a rule the animal will lie quietly until released by slackening.—Farm and Home.

A Solemn Responsibility.

The dust and air of most cow stables is loaded with bacteria, and when they get into the milk they multiply at the rate of millions per minute. The milker's duty to his family and to humanity in general when he is milking is a serious matter.

Select a name for your farm and have it painted in bold letters on the barn. If you cannot decide on a name, put your own name there. It's enterprise.

TRADE WITH FOREIGN LANDS

Exports Nearly All Agricultural—Tariff a Barrier to Trade.

The foreigner refuses to buy our manufactures because our tariff prevents reciprocal trade—our surplus farm products sold in the cheapest market, while our farmers buy in the dearest market. The protectionist, boasting of the volume of our export trade, does not show up very well for our manufacturers when the facts are investigated. While the United States exports a large quantity of agricultural products, that is, raw materials, only eight per cent. of all our exports are manufactured goods and these form but one per cent. of all our manufactures. That shows how low ebb the protective system, which culminated in the passage of the Dingley tariff bill, has brought our foreign trade to and there is no possibility of increasing the amount of manufactured goods we can sell to foreign countries until the Dingley tariff is revised.

The foreigners will not buy of us if we do not buy of them, except our agricultural products and the products of our mines and forests of which the foreign countries that purchase cannot produce enough to supply their own necessities. Our wheat, corn, cotton, pork, timber and metals have to compete in price with like products of other countries and the price paid for them is what the foreign purchaser is willing to give.

Protection adds nothing to the price we receive for these raw products, which our farmers, lumbermen and miners have to sell, but the tariff does add very largely to the price of all kinds of manufactured goods which our own consumers have to buy and therefore increases the cost of producing our agricultural products. This is an admirable system for the manufacturer, which, by the way, are mostly combined together into what we call trusts, but is a constant drain upon every one else and most of all upon the farmer who is compelled to sell his surplus products in the cheapest market—the markets of the world—and buy what he cannot produce in the dearest market, which the trusts have created here.

The defense of this system of protection is even more extraordinary and misleading than the statements sent out from Wall street by the masters of frenzied finance to induce the public to buy the watered stocks they have created. The protectionists tell our farmers and other producers of raw products that the home market is preserved and increased for them by the protective tariff. But forget to say that the price for which these raw products must be sold is settled by what the surplus will bring in the world markets, after our own people are supplied with all they can consume and afford to pay for.

Every farmer, and especially farmers' sons, should study these simple facts of political economy and arrive at a conclusion, if this system of protection is best for their interests, or whether it has not been invented to indirectly prey upon them. The succession of good crops here and the partial failure abroad for the past few years is hardly likely to continue for another series of years and the good times enjoyed by our farmers may at any time be changed into hard times, either by large cereal [illegible] world over or by partial failure of crops here. When either of these events occur the protective system, built up by the republican party, will be exposed in all its hideous deformity and the demand for reform will be irresistible.

The part of wisdom is to prepare for what must happen in time to avoid great disaster, and this can only be done by a reasonable revision of the tariff that will be fair alike to all classes and yet produce enough revenue to run the government honestly and economically administered.

Tariff Enormities.

John Sharp Williams, democratic leader in the house of representatoves, gets to the milk in the Panama cocoanut, in short order, when he remarks: "The only thing curious to my mind is that the men who can see clearly the iniquity when it comes to bear as a hardship upon the government itself, or the Panama canal commission, which is the same thing, being a branch of the government, cannot see it and will not remedy it when bearing as a hardship upon the people, many of whom are much poorer and less able to withstand extortion than the government is." The people are prone to forget, but this Panama incident has too vividly lighted up the whole tariff enormity, to pale and fade away before the extra session.—Albany Argus.

——The president's glowing commendations of Paul Morton and his remarks about the other traffic managers somehow will recall the story of the two boys who had raided an apple orchard. One of them got whipped for it. The other admitted that his conscience had pricked him, until he confessed. "But you did not get whipped," said the boy who had. "No," replied the youthful Paul Morton, "you see, I eased my conscience by confessing on you."—Albany Argus.

——There are two standards of official conduct in the state department, it appears, one standard for Bowen and a very different standard for Loomis.—N. Y. Times (Ind.).

——Acquitting a man because he so eloquently admits his guilt is a Rooseveltian novelty for which Mr. Morton should be suitably grateful. This is the reward of "the courage of confession," and reminds one of what Artemus Ward said: "When calumny pursues us and accusation confronts us, there is nothing that consoles us like the sweet consciousness of—guilt!"—Brooklyn Eagle.

LUCK AND LOVE IN ONE BAG

Arrest of Alleged Hoodoo Charmer, Very Busy Man—Article Sells Fast.

Reading, Pa.—A. G. Stauffer, good luck promoter, is in hard luck. Armed with one of his own "lucky hoodoo" bags as evidence, County Detective Merkel arrested Stauffer at his "luck and love factory" recently on the charge of selling charms and magnetic love bags. Bail was entered for a hearing.

Stauffer's emporium was very busy when the detectives swooped down on it. Four clerks were engaged in shipping the "hoodoo" bags to agents. The bag was sold for 50 cents, and contained sweet smelling plants. It is only an inch long and has a circumference of an inch.

The bags, it is said, sold like hot cakes. In unassuming print on the reverse side of the directions is the offer of a bag six times as large for three dollars. The directions on the bag were as follows:

"A magnetic charm that brings good luck, wins love, etc.; will enable the one who wears it to gain and maintain many friends, which alone is worth many times the amount you pay for it.

"For general purposes, to bring good luck, win love, etc., wear the lucky hoodoo around your neck, and you will be successful. If you touch a person with it on the first day of the new moon you will have a certain power over them for the next 14 days. We guarantee this to be the most effective lucky charm known."

Stauffer has been doing a land office business for some time.

WOMEN JURORS TRY A CASE

Female Squabble Leads to Impaneling of Queer Jury—Defendant Is Acquitted.

Wardner, Idaho.—For the first time in the history of Shoshone county a jury composed entirely of women heard the evidence in a case.

Mrs. Fannie Vancuren was charged by her neighbor, Mrs. Sarah Fliat, with striking her with her fist. Both women told the court that they preferred to have a jury composed of members of their own sex. The array of women subpoenaed as jurors was young and good-looking. The first one who was examined as to her qualifications replied that she was a citizen of this county and of age. When asked if she was a voter, she replied: "No, I can't vote, I am only 18 years old." She was excused, as was another who was not 21.

Mrs. Flint, after many interruptions and objections, related the following story of the difficulty:

"I heard a noise and looking out from my house I saw Mrs. Vancuren tearing down a rock pile I had built. I went out and ordered her to stop. She answered by striking me in the stomach with her closed fist."

The jury was locked up in the judge's office for 15 or 20 minutes and then brought in a verdict acquitting Mrs. Vancuren.

Oil Is Barred.

Gov. Hoch of Kansas says that if he is consulted he will recommend for the christening of the battleship Kansas "some fluid other than an intoxicant." This precludes the use of Kansas oil, then, for if there ever was a fluid over which the Kansans have become incensed with hopes and ambitions it is that that comes from their oil fields.

Familiar Objects.

King Alfonso is said to have kept perfectly cool when the bomb was thrown at him. A well-trained monarch must be able to drive up to explosives without shying.

MARKET REPORT.

Cincinnati, July 8.
CATTLE—Common.	$3 25	@	4 00
Heavy steers	4 65	@	5 00
CALVES—Extra		@	6 75
HOGS—Ch. packers	5 65	@	5 70
Mixed packers	5 55	@	5 65
SHEEP—Extra	4 40	@	4 50
LAMBS—Spring	8 25	@	8 40
FLOUR—Spring pat.	6 00	@	6 35
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	92
No. 3 red		@	91
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	58
No. 2 white		@	58½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	33¼
RYE—No. 2	78	@	80
HAY—Ch. timothy		@11	50
PORK—Clear mess.		@14	05
LARD—Steam		@	7 25
BUTTER—Ch. dairy.		@	22
Choice creamery		@	25
APPLES—Choice	3 50	@	4 00
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 25	@	1 50
TOBACCO—New	5 00	@13	00
Old	4 50	@14	75
Chicago.
FLOUR—Winter pat.	5 10	@	5 30
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 00
No. 3 red	1 08	@	1 12
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	58¼
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	33⅛
RYE—No. 2	79	@	80
PORK—Mess	12 55	@12	60
LARD—Steam	7 02½	@	7 05
New York.
FLOUR—Win. straits.	4 60	@	4 65
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	1 07½
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	63½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	36½	@	37
RYE—Western		@	82½
PORK—Mess	13 50	@14	25
LARD—Steam		@	7 25
Baltimore.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	90½
CORN—No. 2 mixed.	61½	@	61¾
CATTLE—Steers	4 00	@	4 50
SHEEP—No. 1	3 00	@	3 50
Louisville.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	90
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	58
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	35
PORK—Mess		@11	00
LARD—Steam		@	6 50
Indianapolis.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	90
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	55½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	31¾

MIGRATION OF THE "DOES"

The "Roes" Also Departing—Other Names of Later Note Taking Their Places.

From Brooklyn borough courts is reported a large increase in the number of "John Does." The excess of "Does" in Brooklyn, too, says a local authority, is almost coincident with the disappearance from the courts of Manhattan of "Does" and "Roes." In the old English courts, when the name of a plaintiff was unknown, the custom was to describe him as "John Doe." When the defendant's name was unknown he was described as "Richard Roe." In the criminal courts the name of an unidentified male prisoner was entered as "John Doe" and of a female prisoner as "Jane Roe." In civil cases with women appearing as principals, "Jane Doe" was the name, in default of any other, for the female plaintiff, and "Jane Roe" for the female defendant.

In Manhattan the colloquial use of the word "dough" as a slang designation for wealth is chargeable with the words "John Dough," describing a man of money. As John Dough has come forward, John Doe has receded, and the name "John Doe" has been giving place in the criminal courts to "Walter Jones." As "Jane" and "John Doe" have often been allied in legal papers in court, "Jane Doe" has been superseded by "Kate Best."

Too Human.

There is a proverb: "If you're fond of hero worship, never make a pilgrimage to see the hero."

A "sweet girl graduate" who called on her favorite author said of him, afterwards:

"He was on the front porch in his shirt sleeves. Oh, he seemed so terribly human!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Safe Play.

"It is my ambition," said the long-haired scribe, "to write for posterity."

"I don't blame you," replied the editor. "Don't blame me!" echoed the puzzled ink-slinger.

"That's what I said," explained the man behind the blue pencil. "Posterity can't get back at you."—Chicago Daily News.

Arriving at a Verdict.

Kushequa, Pa., July 10.—(Special)—In this section of Pennsylvania there is a growing belief that for such Kidney Diseases as Rheumatism and Lame Back there is only one sure cure and that is Dodd's Kidney Pills. This belief grows from such cases as that of Mrs. M. L. Davison of this place. She tells the story herself as follows:

"I have suffered from Rheumatism for thirty years and find that Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I was also bothered with Lame Back and I can only say that my back hasn't bothered me since I took Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Considering that Mrs. Davison only took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the result would be considered wonderful if it were not that others are reporting similar results daily. Kushequa is fast arriving at a verdict that "Dodd's Kidney Pills are the one sure cure for Rheumatism."

We all would be born richer if we'd only been wiser; but maybe we'd been baldheaded, with no appetite.—Atlanta Constitution.

TORTURING, DISFIGURING

Humors, Eczemas, Itchings, Inflammations, Burnings, Scalings and Chafings Cured by Cuticura.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crustings of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurements, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, left in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum, all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt by the testimony of the civilized world.

It is highly improbable that the world will ever again see a time when it will not consider itself on the threshold of a new era.—Puck.

Do not believe Piso's Cure for Consumption has an equal for coughs and colds.—J. F. Boyer, Trinity Springs, Ind., Feb. 15, 1900.

Full many a possessor of a college diploma is destined to discover in short order that experience does not always come by degrees.—Detroit Free Press.

CONSTANT ACHING.

Backaches all the time. Spoils your appetite, wearies the body, worries the mind. Kidneys cause it all and Doan's Kidney Pills relieve and cure it.

H. B. McCarver, of 901 Cherry St., Portland, Ore., inspector of freight for the Trans-Continental Co., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble which had annoyed me for months. I think a cold was responsible for the whole trouble. It seemed to settle in my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills rooted it out. It is several months since I used them, and up to date there has been no recurrence of the trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

PATENTS 48-page book FREE, highest references. FITZGERALD & CO., Box E, Washington, D.C.

Affronted Authority.

"So your wife does not approve of baseball?"

"No," answered Mr. Meekton. "Hiattetta can't stand it to see any mere man bossing people around the way the umpire does."—Washington Star.

General Weakness.

Nervous Prostration, Easily Tired, Pains, Aches, etc., are signs of some deep-seated trouble and ought to be corrected at once. Pusheck's-Kuro is the best Tonic, Blood and Nerve medicine in the world, also Cures Indigestion, Misuse and Heart and Kidney Troubles. Dr. Pusheck, Chicago.

One of the professors says lying is unnatural and has to be learned. This may be true, but it seldom is necessary to serve a long apprenticeship.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Four Facts For Sick Women To Consider

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has an Unequalled Record of Cures—Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Is Confidential, Free, and always Helpful

FIRST.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, displacements of the uterus, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organs as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, all uterine and ovarian inflammation, weakness and displacements, regulating menstruation perfectly and overcoming its pains. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life.

THIRD.—The great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

FOURTH.—Every ailing woman in the United States is asked to accept the following invitation. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women.—Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. From symptoms given, your trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of the vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Surely, any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

For Hot Weather

A FREE BOTTLE OF

MULL'S GRAPE TONIC

to any one who will write for it now.

HAVE YOU

CONSTIPATION

Stomach Troubles, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Blood Poison, Skin Diseases, Sores, Sudden Bowel Trouble, Diarrhea, Cholera, Etc.?

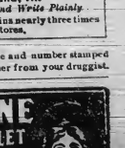
No one whose bowels are healthy and active contracts these complaints. Invariably they are the result of Constipation which toxifies the poisoned and dying bowels or intestines. Check diarrhea and you are liable to fatal blood poison—a physic makes you worse. There is only one right course and that is to treat the cause. Revive and strengthen the bowels and intestines. We will prove to you that Mull's Grape Tonic cures Constipation and all these terrible Bowel troubles because it cleanses the Blood and makes the intestines practically new. It feeds the starved condition and brings them back to life—nothing else will. For hot weather ills it has no equal.

WRITE FOR THIS FREE BOTTLE TODAY

Good for ailing children and nursing mothers.

FREE COUPON.

Send this coupon with your name and address and your druggist's name, for a free trial bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic, Stomach Tonic and Constipation Cure.



Mull's Grape Tonic Co., 147 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

Give Full Address and Write Plainly.

The $1.00 bottle contains nearly three times the 50c size. At drug stores.

The genuine has a date and number stamped on the label—take no other from your druggist.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC FOR WOMEN

troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness, cures leucorrhœa and nasal catarrh.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

A. N. K.—E 2082

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

The above is a picture of C. Spencer Chambers, son of T. F. Chambers, of Walton. He was born in Florence, and was educated in the public schools and at the Mayesville Academy. In 1901 he graduated from the Cincinnati Law School, but a taste for art led him to become dissatisfied, and he took up the study of penmanship, in which he soon became proficient, and has taught in several of the popular educational institutions in Ohio and other States. Mr. Chambers has been elected supervisor of penmanship in the Covington schools, which position he will occupy when they open this fall.

FATAL CUTTING.

Briar Utz Disembowels John Warner

And Nearly Severs Wm. Smith's Right Lung.

Utz Surrenders and Goes to Jail.

A bloody tragedy was enacted in the road at Smith's store on the pike between Constance and Hebron, about 8 o'clock last Monday evening. The parties to the affair were Briar Utz, William Smith, owner of the little store, and John Warner. The latter being disemboweled and died Monday night, while Smith is supposed to have a fatal cut in his right lung. Warner, the dead man, was a son-in-law of Smith and a half brother of Utz. Bruce Anderson, of Constance, who married Utz's half sister, saw the fight. Utz claims that he went down to Smith's store after his boys, and that Smith started the trouble by censuring him for whipping one of his (Utz's) boys, and assaulted him with a club, dealing him a severe blow on the head, which stunned him so that he has no recollection of using his knife. On the other side it is claimed that Utz was hunting trouble when he went to the store, and indulged in abusive language to Smith and his wife. That Smith struck Utz with a small stick, when Utz drew his knife and commenced slashing Smith, cutting him in the right side, almost severing the lung. Smith was backed over a steep bank, when it is claimed that Warner approached to stop the assault, and Utz turned on him, giving him two terrible slashes with his knife, one of the cuts letting his intestines out. After Smith was cut he got his shot gun, but Anderson took him back into the house. Utz went to his home, about one hundred yards from the scene of the tragedy, where he remained until Tuesday morning when he came to Burlington and gave himself up, and was lodged in jail to await his examining trial. It is said that the Utz and Smith families have not been on good terms for a long time, but no one suspected that the ill feeling would ever develop into anything like the occurrence of last Monday evening.

Coroner Murat held an inquest on Warner yesterday, but the jury did not state the degree of the offense in its verdict. The examining trial is set for today, Esq. M. C. Norman, of Union, to sit as special judge, Judge Cason not being able to preside.

Utz's head bears several ugly gashes while on his arms and body are a number of bruises, evidences of his collision with Smith.

Smith was alive this morning.

Judge Cochran decided that the United States has jurisdiction in the Caleb Powers case, and he is now a United States prisoner in the Newport jail.

CARD OF THANKS—We desire to thank our many friends for kindness shown us and our son during his fatal illness. Peter Hager and Wife.

It looks this morning like there is some clear weather ahead.

There are several local juvenile blackberry merchats.

A Rapid Ride.

James Conner, of Hebron neighborhood, tells as follows of how he kept out of a recent very heavy rain: He saw the storm coming, when he turned his horse to go back home, by which time the rain was falling in torrents on the mulmud's blind quarters. He applied the lash vigorously until he was safely in the shed that surrounds his barn, expecting every second of the race to be overtaken by the rain. When he dismounted he found the rain had drenched his horse from the saddle back, while not a drop had fallen on him.

Which is Correct?

The Owen Democrat and the Carrollton news are not agreed as to the age of Uncle Sam. The former says he was 130 years old on the 4th inst., while the latter says he was 129 years of age on that day.

A Juvenile Outing.

Quite a number of girls chaperoned by Mrs. Roy Clutterbuck, enjoyed an outing out on the Bellevue pike, one day last week. They had oodlings of fun.

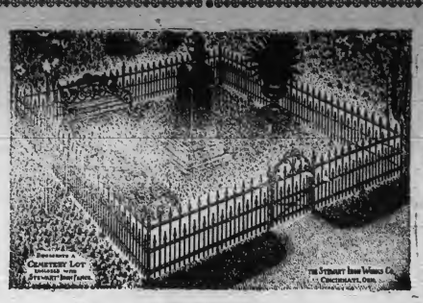
FATHER, COME HOME.

Every married man will appreciate the timely expressed sentiments of the following prose poem:

"Father, dear father, come home with me now, for ma has some carpets to beat; she's got all the furniture out in the yard from the front porch clear down to the street. The stove must come down and be put in the shed, and the yard must be cleared of dry grass, for it's time to clean house and the devil's to pay and the front window needs a new glass. Father, dear father, come home with me now, and bring some bologna and cheese; its most twelve o'clock, and there's nothing to eat, I'm so hungry I'm weak in the knees. All the dinner we'll have will be scraps and such, and we'll have to eat standing up, too, for the table and chairs are out in the yard, oh I wish house cleaning was through. Father, dear father, come with me now, for ma is as mad as a Turk; she says you are a lazy old thing and she proposes to put you to work; there's painting to do, and paper to hang, and windows and sashing to scrub, for its house cleaning time, and you've got to come home and revel in suds and cold grub."

For Sale—Good cow with 4 weeks old calf. I have a good Jersey bull, the season fee of which is $1.
Ezra Aylor, Burlington.

Lost—A hand-bag, on the road between Big Bone and Florence. It contained one $10 bill and a $5 bill. The finder will please inform Mrs. M. Hance by calling 'phone 83 on the Hughes line.



Judge A. S. Berry, of Newport; John M. Lassing, of this county, and Prof. A. C. Collins, of Covington, represented the Sixth Congressional District at the Educational Convention at Mammoth Cave.

The I. O. O. F. Picnic.

If you want to have a nice, pleasant afternoon next Saturday, don't fail to attend the I. O. O. F. picnic at Harvest Home grounds. The handsome ladies and the gallant young gentlemen for miles around will be there, to chase the glowing hours with flying feet, keeping time to strains of sweet music.

The Belleview and Commissary correspondents give accounts of the terrible accident that befell two of the Members of Gilly Welsickle's family.

George Hughes, of Hume, Illinois accompanied by two ladies, passed through town late yesterday afternoon in an automobile, enroute to W. A. Gaines'.

For Best Prices Call or Write to

HENRY QUICK, Hebron, Ky.,

—SPECIAL AGENT FOR—

The Stewart Iron Works Company,

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

MIDWAY.

William Wilson has purchased a new runabout—rubber tires.

Assessor O. S. Watts was in this neighborhood, recently, gathering up his purchase of lambs.

J. M. Baker, of Covington, sent a large drove of sheep out to his farm in this neighborhood, a few days ago.

Prof. Dickey, of Walton, and his graduating class, a chaperone and a few others, spent last week on the banks of the Ohio at Hamilton, fishing and enjoying the river breezes.

Quite a number from here attended the Union Sunday school picnic in Denedy's woods near Richwood church, and report a large crowd. Several schools were represented and a general good time was had. Six ministers were present—Slater, Wilson, Gregory, Bedinger, Pollitt and Roberts, each of whom made a few appropriate remarks. Hughes Chapel, Hopeful and Ebenezer choirs each favored the crowd with some good selections. J. K. Glore entertained the little folks with his new graphophone, Miss Beulah Surface held the crowd spell bound while she rendered an emotional song and recitation. At noon enough edibles were spread on the grass to have fed as many more as were present. R. O. Hughes as manager deserves special mention for his untiring efforts to make the day pleasant for everybody present. Mr. and Mrs. Denedy verified the long established fact that their genial hospitality is unsurpassed, by throwing their spacious and beautiful home wide open for the enjoyment of all.

Leave your time pieces with Clutterbuck Bros., for repairs.

QUARTERLY REPORT

Of the Farmers Bank of Petersburg at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905:

RESOURCES:

Loans and Discounts	$34,916 48
Overdrafts, unsecured	50 57
Due from Nat. banks	18,050 31
Due from State Banks and Bankers	3,013 79
Banking house and lot	1,149 40
Specie	272 38
Currency	1,655 00
Other items carried as cash	21 20
Furniture and Fixtures	1,114 05
Current expenses last quarter
	$ 60,273 18

LIABILITIES:

Capital stock paid in, in cash	$15,000 00
Surplus Fund	500 00
Undivided Profits	738 29
Due Depositors	44,034 89
	$60,273 18

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Highest amount of indebtedness of any stockholder, person, company or firm (including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof) directly or indirectly, if such indebteness exceeds 20 per cent. of capital stock actually paid in, and actual amount of surplus of bank	00
How is indebtedness stated in above item I secured	00
Highest amount of indebtedness of any director or officer, if amount of indebtedness exceeds 10 per cent. of paid-up capital stock of bank
How is same secured?	00
Does amount of indebtedness of any person, company or firm including in the liability of the company or firm the liability of the individual members thereof, exceed 30 per cent. of paid-up capital and actual surplus	00
If so, state amount of such indebtedness	00
Amount of last dividend	$900 00
Were all expenses, losses, interest and taxes deducted therefrom before declaring dividend, and was not less than 10 per cent. of net profits of the bank for the period covered by the dividend carried to the surplus fund before said dividend was declared	Yes

State of Kentucky, County of Boone.

I, J. C. New, cashier of the Farmers Bank, Petersburg, Ky., a bank located and doing business in the town of Petersburg in said county, being duly sworn, says the foregoing report is in all respects a true statement of the condition of the said Bank, at the close of business on the 30th day of June, 1905, to the best of his knowledge and belief; and further says that the business of said Bank has been transacted at the location named, and not elsewhere; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State designating the 30th day of June, 1905, as the day on which such report shall be made.

J. C. NEW, Cashier.
E. T. Krutz, Director.
Solon Early, Director.
R. A. McWetily, Director.

Subscribed and sworn to before me by J. C. New, the 30 day of June, 1905.

SOLON EARLY, N. P. B. C.

My commission expires Jan. 22, 1906.

The Diamond Cure.

The latest news from Paris, is, that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you fear consumption or pneumonia, it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee, of Vanicer, Texas. "I had a cough for fourteen years. Nothing helped me, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief." Unequalled quick cure, for Throat and Lung Troubles. At all drug stores, price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

MY STOCK OF

—NICE, FRESH—

Groceries!

is renewed every week.

I don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find my prices right.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

W. C. WEAVER,

Burlington, Ky.

ICED-TEA

to be good, healthful and refreshing must be made from pure tea free from adulterations such as hay, straw and weeds which are ussd in many teas as a "filler." Don't buy the cheap trash.

We can sell you

"Capitol" a fine blend pound, 60c

"Sunbeam" our finest Blend, pound 75c

Gunpowder, pound 60 & 75c

YOUNG-HYSON, a fine Mild Tea, lb 75c

and several other vatieties which also make a delicious

Hot Tea.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,

—GROCER.—

N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington, COVINGTON, KY.

For McCormick or Deering

BINDERS,
MOWERS,
RAKES,
HAY TEDDERS,
SWEEP RAKES,
STACKERS,
CORN BINDERS,
CORN SHREDDERS,
GASOLINE ENGINES,
FARM WAGONS,
DISC HARROWS,
PEGTOOTH HARROWS,
5-tooth CULTIVATORS,
and GRINDERS,

Apply to

ELMO GAINES, Grant, Ky., or W. D. CROPPER, Burlington, Ky.

PHONE 178, Boone Co. Line.

Orders earnestly solicited. Promptness and satisfaction guaranteed.

Deposits Earning Interest.

THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY, Inc.

N. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,

COVINGTON, KY.

Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice,

ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.

Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.

It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.

In its several departments, THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

Acts as Agent; Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc.; Attends carefully to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.

ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL.

CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.

Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.

JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President
C. W. SIMRALL, Sec'y & Treas.

Long Distance Telephone, South 214.

J. C. BENTLER & SON,

Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.

Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing

and Wagon Repairing of all kinds,

All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.
Grinding of all Kinds to Order.

Hay and Grain,

AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,

By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices.

'Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.

Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.

Successors to Clemens Hellman.

LUMBER DEALERS,

Manufacturers of

Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.

White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar, Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings., Etc.

COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.

Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122

H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.

Spring is here

AND WE ARE READY TO SHOW THE MOST COMPLETE LINE OF—

Men's, Boys' and Children's

CLOTHING

We have a very large assortment to select from, and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL AND WORKMANSHIP. Kindly come in and inspect our

Men's Suits at.....$5. $7.50, $10, $12.
Boys' Suits at.....$3.50 to $10
Children's Suits at.....$1.50 to $5.00
Men's Pants at.....$1.00 to $5.00
Men's Cotton Pants.....50 and 65c.

Just the thing for out door work.

ROLFES & WACHS,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET, Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

A. W. SMITH'S PHARMACY,

WALTON, - - KY.

See our Crepe Paper Novelties. Dennison's Lunch Sets.
12 Doilies, 12 Knapkins, Table Cloth, 2 yards, 25c
Drink our Delicious Soda Water.
Our Ice Cream is superior. Our Candy is the very best.
High Grade Cigars and Tobacco.

FANCY STATIONERY IN MANY FORMS.

CHAS. GARNETT, AUCTIONEER.

Will be in Burlington every court day.
Fees for selling stock reasonable.
Public Sales given special attention.

W. M. KENNEY,

DEALER IN

Fine Wines and Liquors,

Best $2 whisky in the city.

141 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Local News.

Blackberry parties are in order.

The tobacco in most fields is growing nicely.

Burlington property owners ought to have a weed cutting matinee.

A fine midday shower of rain fell here last Sunday.

In some instances the yield of the wheat has not been as good as anticipated.

Not much business accumulating for the approaching term of the Boone circuit court.

When in Lawrenceburg, Ind., go to R. W. Clark's barber shop for a good shave or nice hair cut.

In the last shake up of the revenue men C. C. Hughes came out at Cynthiana, Harrison county.

A philospher says a true hero is a man who brings a friend home with him to dinner on a wash day.

"Under the tree on which the best apples grow are to be found the most clubs," is an old but true saying.

Excepting the very hard rains several months ago everything has been in the farmer's favor so far this season.

The posters containing the premium list for the next Harvest Home will be out the latter part of this week.

Zimmer's fruit wagon has begun making its summer runs from Constance to the Commissary neighborhood.

Judge Cason was very much on the sick list all of last week, and was not able to preside at the county nor the fiscal court.

A rain on the second day of July indicates a good crop year, and it rained that day. So far all signs point to a good crop.

Gallatin county mourns the death of Hugh Montgomery, one of her oldest and most prominent citizens. He was in his 86th year.

The abutments under the first iron bridge out on the Bellevue pike are to receive repairs at an early date. Stone is being hauled for the work.

No game of ball here last Saturday. The Domineers did not come. The strong Home City team will play the Boones here again next Saturday afternoon.

The RECORDER makes no charge for publishing an obituary notice of a patron or one of his or her family, therefore it must not be expected to publish more than one.

It is pretty well settled that Mrs. Betsy Deer, one of the beneficiaries at the county infirmary, is 102 years old. Her daughter, Mrs. Vandercraft, who lives in Cincinnati, has the family record, which shows the fact.

Among those who took part in a recent students' recital by the pupils of Miss Ira D. Moore, at Cable Hall, Cincinnati, was Miss Mayme Kennedy, of Verona, who was highly complimented for her smoothness of technique and finished touch.

Since the stock law has gone into effect many of the streets and alleys in Burlington present a wild and wooly appearance, and some predict that the decay of so much rank vegetation will prove a promotor of typhoid fever during the fall months.

The Secretary of the Sunday School Convention sent in the record of the proceedings of the convention for publication, but it reached the office too late for publication the week it was sent, and by the next week it was so old that it would not have been of interest.

With lambs selling at 8¼ cts a pound and wool commanding 40 cents a pound, the sheep industry is likely to be boomed again in this part of the country. When an ewe will produce a farmer $10 a year that is putting money in his pocket pretty rapidly "for certain."

A red, white and blue paper balloon descended upon the farm of O. T. Porter about three miles west of town, last Saturday night. To it was attached a tag upon which the following was written: "Sent up by Capt. Smith July 8th, 1905. Finder will please notify when and where found, John Smith, Grant, Kentucky.

The busiest of busy seasons with the farmers is drawing to a close. Forty years ago at this time in July the wheat harvest was about concluded, but now the grain is not only all cut, but a considerable portion of it has been threshed. Verily these are faster times than those in which your fathers had charge of the farming interests in this country.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huey Badly Hurt.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, of Union, was badly hurt in Covington, last Thursday. Some of her clothing needed rearranging, and she stopped in at Appel's, on Pike street, being acquainted with a Miss Houston, one of the employes. Mrs. Huey made her wants known to Miss Houston, who showed her to a room, from which steps descended to the basement. When she stepped into the room Mrs. Huey did not notice the opening in the floor, and she fell down the steps. Miss Houston saw her falling and in her efforts to catch her, she fell down several steps but was not hurt. Mrs. Huey was picked up at the bottom of the steps and hastened to a friend's house and a doctor was summoned. Upon examination the unfortunate lady's injuries were found to consist of a broken left arm, an injury to one side, her head and face considerably out and bruised, while her right hand was giving her considerable pain.

Personal Mention.

The weather the past ten days has not been favorable for hay harvest.

Johnnie Hogan and wife visited over at Perry Beemon's, last Sunday.

W. C. Weaver has moved back to his farm on Gunpowder creek.

Ezra Aylor and wife visited Robert Aylor near Bellevue, last Sunday.

James Brown, mother and sisters were guests at Wood Maxwell's, last Sunday.

Leonard Kite and wife, of Waterloo, were Sunday guests at R. S. Cowen's.

Mrs. Lizzie DeCoursey, of Covington, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Alice Adams.

Chas. A. Gaines, of Bullittsville, was among the visitors to the hub last Monday.

Atty. J. G. Tomlin, of Walton, was transacting business in Burlington, last Thursday.

Miss Sallie Vaughn, of Wyoming, Ohio, visited her mother at this place, last Sunday.

Mrs. O. P. Conner returned home last Friday from a visit to her daughter at Payne's Depot.

W. E. McMullen, of Bellevue precinct, was an early Monday morning arrival in Burlington.

Miss Mary Snyder, of Petersburg, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Virgie Snyder, near town.

Mrs. J. E. Rouse and children, of Payne's Depot, is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Conner.

Prof. William Gaines, of this precint, has been selected as a teacher in the Ludlow Graded School.

Bud Baker, of Limaburg, was in town last evening hunting the county clerk—don't know for what.

Mrs. Walter Adams and children, of Aurora, were guests of Mrs. Alice Adams and family, last week.

Mrs. Lamora Huey and her sister, Mrs. Grant were guests of Mrs. N. E. Riddell and mother, yesterday.

Mrs. Nettie Hughes dined several friends, Sunday, in honor of Henry Hughes and wife, of Nebraska.

J. C. Revill and D. E. Castleman attended the Executive Board meeting at Sand Run, last Saturday.

Miss Jenny Kelly, of Waterloo neighborhood, is at home from Lebanon, Ohio, to spend her vacation.

Tony Bentler came out from Covington to Sunday to spend a few days with Callie Baldon and his machine.

Mrs. Elmer Beall was moved to the home of her father-in-law, David Beall, of Constance, last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Howlett, of Big Bone, was transacting business in Burlington, Saturday, and made this office a pleasant call.

Miss Clara Craig, returned to her home in Aurora, Ind., Sunday, after a two weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. John Baldon.

Boone Rogers, of Bellevue precinct was among the visitors to Burlington, last Wednesday. He seldom shows up at the hub.

Mrs. L. P. Rice and son, Wilber, of Idlewild neighborhood, were guests of her sister, Mrs. W. E. Vest, several days last week.

Mrs. Martha Huddleston, who was visiting relatives in this county last week, has returned to her home in Lawrenceburg, Indiana.

S. W. Bruce, after a pleasant visit of several weeks with relatives and friends in this county, returned to his home at Liberty, Mo., last week.

Thomas Sandford, of Covington, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Smith a few days last week. He is a son of John Sandford, a native of Burlington.

Waller Marshall, of Locust Groye neighborhood, was in town last Saturday. Lightning had put his telephone out of business and he brought it in for repairs.

Misses Essie Parish and Olga Kirkpatrick attended the wedding of C. B. Slater and Miss Katie Gaetney, last Wednesday evening. Miss Essie was a bride's maid.

Mrs. Mattie Piper and children who have been visiting her mother and sister, at this place for several weeks, left Sunday morning for their home in Birmingham, Ala.

John S. Matson, of Richwood, was in Burlington, last Thursday, the first time for 20 years. He had to be directed to the county clerk's office, not knowing where it is located.

Judge Lassing was in town, one day last week. He looked as brown as a berry, and when asked if he had just returned from the seashore, said, "No, I have only been down on Big Eagle creek.

O. J. Ryle and John Deer flatboated on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers just after the war, and when they met, one day last week, the first time in 40 years, they did not do a thing but tell about all the exciting incidents on their trips. To hear them talk was almost equal to a minstrel show.

The Recorder's friend, W. H. Kilgore, writes to have his paper sent to 1060 Linn street, Cincinnati, where he and his wife, who was Miss Emma Harvey, of Williamstown, are enjoying their happy home. Mr. Kilgore has employment in the Baldwin piano factory, at a good salary and a prosperous future is apparently before him.

John Deer, who left Boone county 40 years ago for pastures new and fields green, showed up last week in the land of his youth almost an entire stranger among strangers, nearly all the old and middle aged men of his time here, having gone to their reward. Only once in the 40 years' interval has he visited this part of the county, and that 18 years ago. After leaving here Mr. Deer located at Eddingburg, Indiana, where he has done well, and has something ahead for use in his declining years. He is 71 years old, but well preserved for one of that age.

Westover Overtired of the West.

The last issue of the Owen County Democrat says that on and after the first of September next, Judge John H. Westover will be at its helm. The Kentucky press will gladly welcome his return to the triped in old Kentucky, where he made his reputation as a newspaper man.

Regular Term Boone Fiscal Court met at Burlington, July 6, 1905. Members present and presiding: Esq. M. C. Norman, acting Judge; Esqs. J. H. Walton, Solon Early, Moses Scott, and B. W. Adams, clerk.

In absence of the regular Judge, on motion carried, Esq. M. C. Norman was elected special judge.

Dr. Rouse allowed $32 for treating small pox patients at Bellevue.

J. H. Walton allowed $10 50 for repairing Dry Creek bridge, and he was appointed a committee to keep said bridge in repair.

Orrin Phipps Supt. county infirmary allowed $32 50 for hauling rails and carpenter's work, and a $14 70 bill for grass seed.

B. B. Allphin granted 60 days further time in which to advertise delinquent taxes.

Hubert Ryle and others granted privilege to construct a telephone line along the county road leading from Rabbit Hash to the residence of G. M. Allen.

Solon Early reported $2 delinquent taxes collected, and paid same to B. B. Allphin.

Wallace Garrison presented the county with his one-fourth interest in the iron bridge on the Big Bone and Richwood pike.

Ordered by the court that a bridge be built across Willoughby creek on the following conditions, viz: That citizens interested in said bridge must secure the land free of cost to the county, necessary to properly locate same. They shall haul all the stone necessary for abutments and deliver them at the bridge. After these things shall have been done, the Fiscal Court agrees to pay three fourths the cost of said bridge including the cost of construction and for constructing piers, the citizens to pay the other one-fourth. Solon Early and Moses Scott shall be a committee to act for the county and in conjunction with a committee to be appointed by the citizens to locate the site of the bridge, and when same shall be located to the satisfaction of said Fiscal Court committee, and not less than three responsible citizens of Boone county shall obligate themselves by a written bond to make good and perform the part of this undertaking resting on the citizens interested in said bridge, then said committee shall purchase said bridge and provide for the construction of the piers and bridge, and make any and all contracts necessary for its purchase and construction, and after the bridge is completed it shall become the property of the county and be under its control.

O. P. Phipps allowed $400 to defray expenses of county infirmary for the next quarter.

On petition of F. L. Sayre and others a telephone f[illegible]hise for the period of 25 years in this county was ordered sold.

"Melvina Drew," illustrated by Sidney H. Hartman, is a romantic story, dealing with the fortunes of "Lucie Rolande," who, at a critical moment of her life, chooses the pseudonym of "Melvina Drew" under which to hide her identity. It is a deliciously fresh, clear cut book which satirizes modern society with scintillating wit and then sweeps away the artificiality of the city's smart set with delightful descriptions of simple, wholesome country folk. This novel is spirited, entertaining, rational and convincing. The charm of its women is explained by the fact that the setting is that of the Blue Grass State. If there were more stories like it "light" literature, so called, would soon gain great intellectual value. Swift action, true purity, deep passion and searching analysis characterizes this powerful novel. The author of this interesting and instructive book, is Mrs. English Norman Spiers, daughter of the late B. W. Norman, of this (Boone) county.

Gallie Baldon started his threshing machine last Thursday at Jerry Blythe's yard. J. M. Eddins is assisting Mr. Baldon to operate his outfit. John Baldon pulled out with his machine last Friday to campaign in the North Bend neighborhood. Both of their engines and boilers were given a thorough overhauling and cleaning before they were put on the road and ought to cause but little loss of time on account of their condition.

Did Not Have Sufficient Cheek.

A few months ago a subscriber who lives out in the country a considerable distance, discontinued his RECORDER, and a few days ago he wrote: "Send the RECORDER to me again. When I had it discontinued a short time ago, I thought I could get along by borrowing one from a neighbor, but a few months of that sort of dead-beating has awakened my conscience to a realization of the wrong I am doing the publisher—getting the benefit of his labor without paying for it. Reading a borrowed paper week after week may suit some, but I am not of that number, and believe that if a paper is worth reading it is worth paying for."

Come,
Come,
Come,

The Summer Now is Here.

The season when you want something "different."

What's the matter with some canned Salmon for salad, &c?

We have a nice Alaska Pink at.....10c
3 cans for 25c
Ocean Gem at.....13c
2 cans for 25c
Golden Net at.....15c
Republic at.....18c
Carmello, large can, steak.20c
Kinney, small can, steak very fine.....13c
2 for 25c
Figaro, small can steak..10c
Veal Loaf for cold lunch.10c
Lunch Tongues for same.15c
Devilled Ham for same.....5 and 10c

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, - KY.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

SEAL BLEND COFFEE, per pound.. 15c
Favorite Java Blend Coffee, lb.....20c

Mason Fruit Jars
Pints..... 45cts
Quarts..... 50cts
One-half Gallons..... 60cts
We keep a supply of extra Lids and Covers.
N. Y. Cheese..... 15cts.
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder 12cts

Jackson's Best Patent Flour, bbl.. $5.75
Big Four Flour per bbl.....$5.40

—THE—
HAMILTON
GROCERY CO.,
39 and 41 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, KY.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of John Rowland, deceased, must come forward and settle the same, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.
N. E. RIDDELL, Admr.

C. J. WOLFF,
SPECIALIST FOR
TRUSSES, BRACES, CRUTCHES, Etc.
Personal attention given every case.
Experience 40 years.
13th & Race, opp. Washington Park, Cincinnati, O.

Take the Recorder.

—THE—
Lawrencebug Fair
—WILL BE HELD AT—
Lawrenceburg, Ind.,
Aug. 8-9-10-11-12, '05
FIVE BIG DAYS.

MEDICURA STOCK FOOD!
Cheapest and best to use. Fully guaranteed. 5 feeds for one cent. Eight cents per month per head. The greatest tonic food and fattener in the world.
FOR HOGS AND CATTLE, It cures and prevents disease. Saves ..... Grain and 40 days time in fattening.
FOR HORSES AND COLTS, A blood purifying Tonic. Expels ..... worms, gives new life and strength.
5 FEEDS FOR 1c for 12 FOWLS. MAKES HENS LAY MORE EGGS.
Your money refunded if it ever fails.

Hay, Grain, Mill Feed,
ALL WAYS KEPT ON HAND.

A New Grocery.
We have added a complete line of Fancy and Staple Groceries and canned goods, which we are selling at the Most Reasonable Prices.
R. B. HUEY & CO.,
WALTON, -- KENTUCKY.

KASPER LEHMANN,
—DEALER IN—
BOOTS and SHOES,
Custom Work Promptly Attended To.
Store: Corner Lexington Pike and Vine Street,
Formerly South Erlanger. - - ELSMERE, KY.

H. G. BLANTON,
FUNERAL & DIRECTOR

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
Special Rates to Traveling Men
First-class Carriages for hire, careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission & SEED Merchants,
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND PLASTER
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us at 27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone South 55) 26 & 28 W. Second
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

B. B. ALLPHIN. B. [illegible]
ALLPHIN & HUME,

Livery and Sale Stable,
First-Class Turnouts for Hire at all Times.
GOOD RAYMOND CITY COAL A SPECIALTY.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.

CEILINGS. SKYLIGHTS.
The Porter Iron Roofing & Corrugating Co.
27 and 29 West Front Street,
CINCINNATI, - - O[illegible]
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Iron, Steel, Galvanized, [illegible]
Porteroid Rubber Roofing
Our Agents will give you what you want.
M. J. Crouch, Agent for Boone county. Write him.

RECORDER.

W. A. RANDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, . . . KENTUCKY.

JULY...1905
Sun.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thu.	ri.	Sat.
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23 29-31	24	25	26	27	28	29

N. M. 2-8-15. F. Q. 9th. F. M. 16th. L. Q. 24th.

According to official statistics 233,102 Italians emigrated to transoceanic countries in 1904. Of these 150,119 came to the United States.

In the matter of automobile exports to Germany this country stands second to France, leading Great Britain by a comfortable margin.

Receipts of Paris theaters and music halls, taxed by the municipality for the poor, last year amounted to $8,005,100. The tax is 10 per cent.

The London Zoo is the first European institution to possess a living specimen of the huge South American spider, which catches animals as big as humming birds.

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the supreme court, in a recent opinion on a stock gambling case, said that dealing in futures was the "self-adjustment of society to the probable."

The new turbine steamer Virginian has the distinction of having made the transatlantic trip from land to land in 100 hours, breaking the Canadian record by nearly 20 hours.

A law has been passed by the Belgian chamber and senate to prohibit the manufacture and sale of absinthe within the kingdom. The necessity for such a regulation was no doubt made evident by the growing increase in the consumption of this drink.

The government of the Netherlands has instituted a competition with the object of discovering a process of cutting diamonds which will dispense with the use of an alloy dangerous to health. For a complete solution of this problem a prize of $2,275 is offered.

In a train wreck on the Missouri Pacific railway every car except one went into the ditch at the side of the track, but not a person on the train was seriously injured. The train was running at 25 miles an hour, yet not a car was damaged by the sudden stopping. The cars were new and heavy and of firm steel framework.

Sea water as a medicinal beverage, to reduce obesity, is becoming a fad among many women spending the summer in resorts along the New Jersey coast. The business of supplying the water has grown into quite an enterprise by fishermen. Three or four glasses a day are said to have a beneficial effect upon the digestion as well as a tendency to purify the blood and reduce the flesh.

Geological conditions remarkably like those observed at the Kimberly mines in South Africa have recently been discovered in Kentucky. The Cumberland Plateau, at the southeastern edge of the Appalachians, has already been developed, in the region between Southern Virginia and Georgia, some 10 or 12 diamonds, which have varied in weight from those of two or three grains to the "Dewey" diamond, which when found weighed over 23 carats.

It is gratifying to note that the funds intrusted with the distribution of the awards provided by the Carnegie hero fund have not confined their benefactions to the giving of medals, but have granted substantial sums of money to a number of worthy and deserving persons—the widows, in many instances, of men who have lost their lives in heroic service to humanity. The distribution of bronze and silver medals does not serve the purposes nor further the objects for which this hero fund was primarily created.

It is supposed to be the largest pair of shoes ever made in this country was turned out recently in a Brockton shoe factory. The size of these shoes may well be imagined when it is known that the weight is 18 pounds to the pair. Each shoe is 18½ inches long and 7½ inches wide in the widest part. Every detail is as perfect as in an ordinary shoe, but because of the size required several days to turn out. They were made for a man who lives near Attleboro.

Many ways of getting a livelihood in this city, but the most unique was partly unfolded recently when there was a regular exodus of "losing babies" from the city by members of the gang on the street. For the purpose of children's day it was announced that the parade would be conducted by babies as they would appear in the days before the bellows.

SUMMARY OF THE IMPORTANT NEWS.

Interesting Happenings That Occurred During the Past Few Days.

ACTION OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

Exciting Events in the United States and Foreign Countries Condensed For the Busy Reader—Crimes and Casualties.

The body of the late Secretary John Hay rests in his family burying ground in a corner of Lakeview cemetery, Cleveland, O. The ceremonies, which were simple, were witnessed by the president and vice president of the United States, the cabinet and many other distinguished personages. The services throughout were admirably conducted, in most excellent taste, and from the arrival of President Roosevelt in the morning until his departure in the afternoon brought the official day to its end, not a single untoward incident was in evidence.

Mrs. Hay, widow of the late secretary of state, arrived at Newbury, N. H., in her return from Cleveland. She was accompanied by her son Clarence and proceeded at once to "The Fells."

England paid to the memory of Secretary Hay a tribute seldom accorded to a foreigner when solemn memorial services were held in St. Paul's cathedral, London. The immense edifice was crowded.

M. Muravieff will receive special instructions from the emperor and consult with the various ministers and will leave with his suite for Washington probably about July 20.

Six ringleaders of the mutiny on the battleship Georgi Pobiedonostsez have been ordered hanged, without trial, by the naval officials. It is even reported and largely credited that the men have been hanged already.

Gen. Linevitch, in a telegram to the emperor dated July 5, and confirming the defeat of the Japanese at Sanvi-atse, when a Japanese battalion was annihilated, says that after the capture of the position and the flight of the Japanese the latter were reinforced and resumed the fight, but all their attacks were repulsed. The Russians captured a considerable quantity of supplies and held the position until ordered to retire. The Japanese losses, Gen. Linevitch says, were enormous.

The steamer Minnesota, dressed in flags in honor of the Japanese peace plenipotentiaries on board, sailed for Seattle. Marquis Ito, Premier Katsura, the other members of the cabinet, Mr. Griscom, the American minister, and the staff of the legation accompanied Baron Komura and his party to the Minnesota.

A landing of Japanese troops on the island of Sakhalin was officially reported and startled military circles in St. Petersburg, though it had been realized since the defeat of Adm. Rojestvensky that the Japanese were able to take possession of the island as soon as they thought fit.

Bonds were furnished by three of Chicago packing companies, and 13 of the individual packers indicted by the federal grand jury.

Militiamen, policemen, deputy sheriffs and other officers of the law are to be barred forever from membership in the Industrial Workers of the World, the new organization.

The Japanese government has revoked its contract with the American Tobacco Co. Japan enters the field as an independent buyer. The tobacco bought will be shipped and will be manufactured in Japan.

The merchants of Canton are preparing a petition to President Roosevelt representing the hardships of the Chinese exclusion treaty. Placards are posted throughout the city declaring a boycott of American goods.

The department of agriculture has prepared and is ready to begin 1,200 suits against the railroads of this country to secure the imposition of a penalty of $500 in each case for every violation of the so-called 28 hour law.

According to dispatches received from 150 of the principal cities of the United States, 30 people were killed and 1,677 injured by explosions of firecrackers, firearms, gunpowder and toy pistols on the Fourth of July.

Secretary Atkinson, chairman of the new territorial board of immigration, at Honolulu, who has just returned from Washington, is preparing plans for the encouragement of settlers to come there. Atkinson wants a liberal land policy.

An immense amount of damage was done in Baltimore city and county by rains culminating in a cloudburst in the vicinity of Timonium, about ten miles from Baltimore.

Fire in the lumber yard district of Boston did about $200,000 damage to the yards and wharfing property.

Henry J. Handy, colored, murderer of his wife, paid the penalty on the gallows at Salisbury, Md.

Incorporation papers have been received by the organizers of the Illinois and Missouri Tunnel Co., formed for the purpose of excavating a tunnel under the Mississippi river between St. Louis and East St. Louis, Ill., for the handling of traffic.

Miss Maggie Thorin and Miss Elin Olsona, natives of Sweden, who were guests of the wife of President Perrin, of the Embreville Iron Co., at Embreville, Tenn., were drowned in the river while bathing.

By an explosion in the Tidewater mine at Vivian, 20 miles west of Bluefield, W. Va., nine miners, all of whom were Italians, were injured and two of them died later in the hospital while three more are in a precarious condition with slight chances of recovery.

Fred Ross, of Denver, who was knocked out by Jack Donnelly, of St. Louis, in the 16th round of a prize fight, is dead. His neck was dislocated and a blood clot gathered on the brain.

The population of Chicago is 2,272,760 according to the city directory for 1905, which has just been completed.

Health Commissioner Darlington reported that 1,091,291 pounds of adulterated food was detected and condemned by his inspectors in New York city during the single week beginning June 18.

A tornado which struck Texas in the upper edge of Montague county, coming from the northeast and swinging far to the southeast, caused the loss, it is believed, of over 40 lives, injuring a large number of people and did untold damage to growing crops and cattle.

President Roosevelt has offered the position of secretary of state to Elihu Root. The offer was made while on their way back to the train, after the funeral services over the body of Secretary of State Hay. Mr. Root at first declined, and asked that he be not pressed.

Elihu Root has accepted the portfolio of state. Announcement of this fact was made at the executive offices. He will take the oath in a couple of weeks, but it will necessarily be some little time before he closes his business affairs. He will not go to Washington permanently until some time in September.

The formal opening of the 22d international Christian Endeavor convention took place in Armory hall, Baltimore, with about 8,000 delegates present.

In the presence of the highest dignitaries of France, the diplomatic representatives of many foreign governments and civil and naval officials of the United States, the body of Adm. John Paul Jones was formally delivered to the United States government in Paris. The ceremony was one combining impressive dignity with brilliant military and naval pomp.

Twenty-six persons are known to have been killed and 50 injured by the tornado which swept over a portion of Montague county in Northern Texas. The property loss will probably total $200,000.

Gov. Hoch and Attorney General Coleman are preparing to bring criminal proceedings against State Treasurer Thomas T. Kelly, of Kansas, unless he secures a new bond to repair the old one made invalid by the failure of C. J. Devlin.

A crowd of 30,000 persons which turned out to welcome President Roosevelt made the closing day of the National Educational association convention at Asbury Park, N. J., the most impressive of all the great educational meetings.

Amos Holmes, colored, paid the death penalty for assaulting a white woman at New Iberia, La.

Baron Rosen, who will succeed Count Cassini as ambassador of Russia to the United States, and who comes to this country in the dual role of diplomatic representative and one of the Russian plenipotentiaries to the peace conference, reached Washington

The Russian hospital ship Kostroma has arrived at Manila for the purpose of removing the wounded and sick among the Russian crews who took refuge there after the battle of the Sea of Japan.

Lieut. Ridiger, chief of the chancellory of the war office, has been appointed minister of war in succession to Lieut. Gen. Sakaroff, who recently resigned. Lieut. Gen. Palatzyn was appointed chief of the general staff.

Thirty-four indictments and a report criticising the recorder's court of Detroit for lax methods in the naturalization of foreigners were presented to Judge Swan, of the United States court, by the federal grand jury at Detroit.

Adrian H. Larkin, of New York, has sued C. F. Leach, collector of customs in the United States court, in Cleveland, to compel him to return certain of Mrs. Chadwick's jewels which Mr. Larkin says were obtained from him wrongfully.

Hungary has thrown down the gauntlet to Austria, and is desirous to follow Norway's example and free herself from the Austrian yoke. The present situation, unless carefully handled, will lead to an acute crisis and involve all of Europe in turmoil.

A Tokio correspondent declares that Gen. Linevitch has sentenced several Russian officers to death for circulating seditious circulars.

Miss Nannie Brown, an eighteen year-old colored domestic, while searching for a stray cow near Homestake, a half mile east of Butte, Mont., stumbled into a gopher hole in which the gold fairly glittered. The girl carried the sparkling rock home and assays in Butte by a number of reputable assayers show that the rock carries over $1,000 in gold to the ton.

The arbitrators to settle the dispute between the Illinois coal operators and miners over who shall pay the shot firers came to an agreement. The miners shall reimburse the operators one-half for the expenses incurred in the shot firers employment.

It is not unlikely that the administration of affairs connected with the construction of the Panama canal may be transferred from the war department to the state department.

Eleven men were drowned at Little Falls Dam, Wis. Their boat capsized and they were thrown into the wild rapids in the Chippewa river.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending July 6 were far below the normal for this time of the year, being only 127, against 136 last week, 172 in the same week of 1904 and 154 in 1903.

As he was being taken to the police station in New York on a charge of assault, Emile Gerdron, 42, was shot and killed by Bertha Claicat, a young woman with whom he is said to have been living for six years.

Ten persons were prostrated and rendered unconscious by a stroke of lightning in Prospect Park, Brooklyn. The tennis lawn was crowded with players when a sudden thunder storm drove all to shelter.

If the family of Secretary John Hay will consent, Cleveland admirers of the dead statesman may start a fund for a memorial to him, or may even contribute the entire necessary amount themselves.

The jury in the case of Mrs. Estelle Smith, of Manchester, Va., charged with beating to death her five-year-old son Ralph returned a verdict of voluntary manslaughter and fixed the penalty at five years in the penitentiary.

Leverett L. Hull, a young and wealthy clubman, popular in North Side society circles, fell dead in his apartments in the exclusive Union Club, Chicago. A bottle of corrosive sublimate was found beside him. His physician says it was a case of apoplexy or heart disease.

Mr. Adee, second assistant secretary of state, who has just returned to the United States from France, in which country he made a tour on his bicycle, assumed the duties of acting secretary of state.

The president has designated Lieut. Gen. Chaffee to act as secretary of war in case Assistant Secretary Oliver should be absent from the city, and Maj. Gen. Bates, assistant chief of staff, to act in the event of the absence of both Secretary Oliver and General Chaffee. The arrangement will continue until the return of Secretary Taft.

Victor H. Olmstead has been appointed associate statistician of the department of agriculture to succeed Edwin S. Holmes, who was ordered removed by Secretary Wilson.

Two men have been added to the force from the office of the New York Superintendent of Insurance which is investigating the Mutual Life Insurance Co., so that there are five men representing Mr. Hendricks in going over the accounts of that company.

Hezekiah Hall, aged 56 years, wanted in Lee county, Va., on a charge of murdering John Grubb, was arrested at Chehalis, Wash. Hall admits that he killed Grubb, but says he did it in self-defense. He stated to Sheriff Urquhart that he had killed eight men.

In a fight between revenue officers and illicit distillers in Buchanan county, Va., three of the moonshiners were killed and three wounded.

Walter Kittredge, poet and author of "Tenting on the Old Camp Grounds," died at his home at Reed's Ferry, near Manchester, N. H., of old age.

Two brothers, Lee and Frank Wend, both adults, were drowned in the mouth of the harbor at Kenosha, Wis.

Fire destroyed the building of the Gulf Compress Co., Meridian, Miss. Over 14,000 bales of cotton was in storage and about 5,000 bales were damaged or destroyed. The loss is about $175,000, partially insured.

Orville Glassford, 21, and his brother Leed, 16, were drowned in the Belle river, near Memphis, Mich., while in swimming.

At Goldfield, Nev., two blocks of the business and residence sections have been totally destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $200,000.

Another conference of attorneys was held to discuss the situation arising from the loss of the state funds in the defunct First National bank at Topeka, Kan. It is announced that Gov. Hoch will demand the resignation of State Treasurer T. T. Kelly.

Nine people were injured, one of them fatally, at Detroit, when a Trumbull avenue car crashed into a wagonload of people returning from a drive about Belle Isle Park.

As a result of the investigation by secret service agents into the charges made by Richard Cheatham, secretary of the Cotton Planters' association, that information had been given cotton brokers in New York by some person or persons in the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture, Secretary Wilson dismissed from the service Assistant Statistician E. S. Holmes.

In a battle between cowboys of a wild west show and excursionists near Burnsville, W. Va., two of the former were killed and some of the latter wounded.

Lewis W. Stone, 88, a wealthy real estate dealer, was found dead in the library of his residence in Chicago with a bullet wound through his temple, self-inflicted.

William Orr is dead at Toronto. He was one of the men who cut the steamer Caroline from her moorings and sent her over Niagara Falls during the rebellion of 1837-8. The Caroline was the supply ship of the Canadian rebel troops.

Hampton Oakee, white, and James Pannell, a negro, ferrymen at Towler's Ferry on Staunton river, were drowned while rowing a party across the river at Danville, Va.

There is high military authority for stating that Sweden is taking precautionary measures on the frontier to offset the reported threatening attitude of Norway.

John Burch, colored, was hanged in Baltimore for the murder of his sweetheart, Luella McCoy.

Will Manning, white, was hanged at Greenville, Tex., for poisoning his wife December 31, 1904.

MUTINEERS YIELD.

The Kniaz Potemkine Surrendered to Roumanian Officials.

Russian Torpedo Boat, Which Accompanied the Rebel Warship, Left the Roumanian Port For Odessa Without Surrendering.

Kustenji, Roumania, July 10.—The flag of St. Andrew once again floats over the battleship Kniaz Potemkine which had proved such terrors to the Black Sea communities for a couple of weeks.

The formal surrender of the mutinous crew occurred Saturday afternoon after a series of discussions and negotiations between the Roumanian authorities and leaders of the mutineers.

The Roumanian officers who boarded the battleship on her arrival here called upon the crew to surrender, in which case they would be treated as foreign deserters, or else to leave the port forthwith.

Adm. Kruger Sunday afternoon boarded and took possession of the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkine, King Charles of Roumania having sent instructions to the commander of the Roumanian squadron that the vessel be be delivered to the Russian authorities without raising difficulties.

The torpedo boat which accompanied the Kniaz Potemkine, however, left for Odessa without surrendering, declaring that she had not mutinied but that the Kniaz Potemkine had forced her to follow.

Adm. Kruger arrived with his squadron after exchanging the customary salute, and intimated that he had come to arrange for the transfer of the Kniaz Potemkine. Adm. Kosilnski, commander of the Roumanian squadron, boarded the Russian battleship Tchesme and informed Adm. Kruger that King Charles had ordered him to turn the vessel over to the Russian admiral.

FRAUD ORDER ISSUED.

Mail of Peoples United States Bank and Publisher Lewis Stopped.

Washington, July 10.—Postmaster General Cortelyou announced the issuance of a fraud order against the People's United States bank, of St. Louis, Mo., its officers and agents and E. G. Lewis, a publisher, effective July 9. The action bars the company from the use of the mails after an investigation by the postal authorities as to the details of the business of the institution. The postmaster general in his announcement says: "It is understood that the funds of the bank which have not been borrowed by Mr. Lewis and her enterprises amounting to about two-thirds of the total amount remitted, are deposited in banks and will be available toward reimbursement of the stockholders who number upwards of 65,000. It is the intention of the officers of the post office department to co-operate with the secretary of state of Missouri in every proper way for the interests of the investors and depositors."

BLOWN TO PIECES.

Eight Men Killed and Two Injured in a Premature Explosion.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 10.—Eight men were blown to pieces and two others were injured by the premature explosion of a big blast of rock powder on the Pennsylvania railroad improvement near New Cumberland. The accident occurred directly across the Susquehanna river from the scene of the Pennsylvania railroad wreck on May 11 in which 23 persons were killed and many others injured. All the victims of the last disaster were employes of P. S. Kerbaugh and Co., incorporated contractors, who are building the double tracks for the Pennsylvania. Railroad Co. to connnect with the Enola yards. The bodies of the men were terribly mangled and particles of flesh and bone were scattered for a distance of 200 yards from the scene of the explosion.

Not a trace of two colored men who were killed can be found and it is supposed their bodies were blown into the river which is being dragged.

Sailed For the Orient.

San Francisco, July 10.—The steamer Manchuria, having aboard Secretary of War Taft, Miss Alice Roosevelt and a large party of United States senators and congressmen, sailed for the Philippine Islands.

Count Cassini Leaves.

Washington, July 10.—Count Cassini, Russia's first ambassador to the United States, after seven years' service here, left for New York, where he sails for Europe and will later go to his new post at Madrid.

The First Subway Train.

New York, July 10.—The first subway train to reach the South ferry terminal arrived there at midnight. The departure of this train opened the new terminal and other subway stations below Wall street to regular traffic.

Honored John Hay's Memory.

New York, July 10.—Jews of the east side thronged the synagogue of the Roumanian-American congregation in Rivington street to honor the memory of the late John Hay, secretary of state. Congressman Goldfogle delivered a eulogy.

Will Wed a Baroness.

Venice, July 10.—The engagement is announced of Paul Nash, American consul here, and the Baroness Ina Mayneri, of Piedmont. The baroness, who moves in the highest society, is at present residing in Venice.

MARKETING POTATO CROPS.

How the Railroads Made It Possible for the Growers to Get Fair Prices.

In line with the classic case of the oyster shippers, cited by President Hadley, of Yale University, in his book on Railroad Transportation, is the case of the Aroostook potato growers brought by President Tuttle, of the Boston and Maine Railroad before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce. Nothing could better show how a railroad works for the interest of the localities which it serves.

A main dependence of the farmers of the Aroostook region is the potato crop, aggregating annually eight to ten million bushels which find a market largely in Boston and the adjacent thickly settled regions of New England. The competition of cheap water transportation from Maine to all points along the New England coast keeps railroad freight rates on these potatoes always at a very low level.

Potatoes are also a considerable output of the truck farms of Michigan, their normal market being obtained in and through Detroit and Chicago and other communities of that region.

Not many years ago favoring sun and rains brought a tremendous yield of potatoes from the Michigan fields. At normal rates and prices there would have been a glut of the customary markets and the potatoes would have rotted on the farms. To help the potato growers, the railroads from Michigan made unprecedentedly low rates on potatoes to every reachable market, even carrying them in large quantities to a place so remote as Boston. The Aroostook growers had to reduce the price on their potatoes, and even then could not dispose of them unless the Boston and Maine railroad reduced its already low rate, which it did. By means of these low rates, making possible low prices, the potato crops of both Michigan and Maine were finally marketed. Everybody eats potatoes, and that year everybody had all the potatoes he wanted.

While the Michigan railroads made rates that would have been ruinous to the railroads, had they been applied to the movement of all potatoes at all times, to all places, they helped their patrons to find markets then. The Boston and Maine Railroad suffered a decrease in its revenue from potatoes, but it enabled the Aroostook farmers to market their crop and thereby to obtain money which they spent for the varied supplies which the railroads brought to them. If the making of rates were subject to Governmental adjustment, such radical and prompt action could never have been taken, because it is well established that if a rate be once reduced by a railroad company, it cannot be restored through the red tape of Governmental procedure. If the Michigan railroads and the Boston and Maine Railroad had been subjected to Governmental limitation they would have felt obliged to keep up their rates, as do the railroads of France and England and Germany under Governmental limitation, and let the potatoes rot.—Exchange.

YARNLETS RARE.

A host of Daniel Webster in handing him a glass of Madeira out of a dusty and cobwebbed bottle said that he had made a little calculation that the wine had cost him two dollars a glass, counting the interest from the time he bought the wine. Webster reached for the bottle and helped himself to a second glass, saying: "I really must stop that confounded interest."

A well-known actor was walking with a friend in Broadway, New York, one afternoon when they were attracted by a fine meerschaum pipe in a show window. Going inside, they asked the price and were told $50. "You need not show it to me," said the actor, walking out. After a minute he remarked to his friend: "What! Two weeks' alimony for a pipe? Well, I gues not."

In a recent hearing before a committee of the London county council, one of the participants quote Shakespeare against his opponent, who, he said, "roared as a sucking dove." The clerk of the committee, who may have prided himself on his knowledge of natural history, entered the remark on the minutes in this fashion: "Mr. Balfour Browne remarked that his learned friend had roared as gently as a sucking pig."

A British officer says that one day he saw a volunteer soldier out for drill who had an extraordinary number of medals pinned on his coat. "He evidently felt flattered at my notice," declares the officer, "and I said to him: 'You seem to have seen considerable service. In what wars have you been engaged?' He replied: 'Bless you! I have never been in a war. My father and I were awarded those medals at agricultural shows for a special breed of pigs for which we are famous.'"

EDUCATIONAL MATTERS.

The income of Oxford university is slightly under £70,000 a year.

Swedish school children under the guidance of their teachers annually plant about 600,000 trees.

Prof. Molisch, of Prague, says that photographs can be taken by the light emitted by raw potatoes and hard-boiled eggs.

Dr. William Royal Stokes and Dr. John S. Fulton, of the Maryland board of health, insist that they have discovered a curative serum for typhoid fever, after a four-years' search.

Prof. Guiseppe Levi, of Milan, will soon visit Paris to demonstrate before the Academy of Medicine his new cure for tuberculosis by means of iodine injections, the composition of which is a secret. He claims that 40 to 50 injections will bring about a complete cure.

A DIVINELY-APPOINTED ROMANCE

OUR BIBLE STORY by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1905, by J. M. Edson.)

Scripture Authority:—"And Abraham said unto his eldest servant of his house, that ruled over all that he had, Put, I pray thee, thy hand under my thigh: And I will make thee swear by the Lord, the God of Heaven, the God of Earth, that thou shalt not take a wife unto my son of the daughters of the Canaanites, among whom I dwell: But thou shalt go unto my country, and to my kindred, and take a wife unto my son Isaac."—Gen. 24:2-4. Read all the chapter.

"Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?"—2 Cor. 6:14.

HOW I wish you would come and walk with me, father, through the pleasant grove yonder. It is not well for thee to sit in the shadow of thy desolation," and the young man placed his arm in loving appeal about the shoulders of the aged man and sought to draw him from the tent door.

"Nay, my son, there is comfort here in the loneliness, for the place which was graced by thy mother's presence and which is sacred with sweet memories of her gentle ministry, holds me irresistably," and, returning his son's loving embrace, Abraham turned and entered the silent, desolate tent, while Isaac slowly continued on down the pathway to the grove at some distance away.

Father and son had just returned from their morning visit to the tomb of Sarah, where they went twice daily to weep and mourn. They had lingered at Hebron, being loath to leave the spot where they had laid their precious dead. But a few weeks before, while still dwelling in Beersheba, a longing had filled the heart of the aged mother to revisit Hebron, sacred with so many blessed memories, and especially that of the visit of the angels who had announced to her the birth of Isaac, and they had come thither. And here, after a few brief days in which she enjoyed the old familiar scenes, she had passed away, and father and son were left disconsolate in their great grief. Eliezer's watchful eye noted the bowed head and mournful countenance, and he asked himself, as he shook his head:

"How long is this to continue? It is not well for the young man to thus nourish his grief. It were time that his heart was being comforted." And acting upon the thought he started toward the tent where Abraham sat.

"My master," at last he said. "My master, hast thou forgotten the living in thy great grief for the dead? Isaac wanders alone and his heart is disconsolate. Ought we not to seek a wife for the young man?"

"Come you with an offer of marriage from the father of some fair damsel? Or has the young man himself some maiden on whom he has set his heart?" he questioned, anxiously.

"Neither, my master; but I have noted the sad countenance of thy son Isaac, and feel that he should not too long rest under the shadow and loneliness of the present bereavement."

"Thou art doubtless right," responded the other, slowly and half-reluctantly, and shaking his head as though to emphasize the conviction which was taking root within his heart.

"There are a great many chicks in this region who have fair daughters and who would welcome an alliance with the rich and great Abram, for there is none who is so well known and so highly esteemed as thyself.

"And I recall now that before thy departure from Gerar the king on one of his visits to thy tent engaged the young man Isaac in conversation, being evidently most favorably impressed with him, and urged him to pay a visit to the royal household. And then turning to Sarah he spoke significantly of the fair daughters there. But she was evidently displeased with the advances, and turned the conversation into other channels, and nothing more was said upon the subject during his stay as your guest."

The sound of voices interrupted further conversation, and presently Isaac appeared in the tent door.

"My father, a messenger from Abimelech, the king of Gerar, has come," he announced.

Both master and servant started and seemed strangely moved. Was there a providence in the singular coincidence? was the thought which flashed through the minds of both. The young man looked inquiringly at his father and then at Eliezer, wondering what there could be in the arrival of the messenger which could move them so perceptibly. But he had no time to ask questions for Abraham quickly recovered himself and asked Eliezer to look after the comfort of the messenger and his attendants, and after he was rested from the journey to conduct him to his presence. The old servant hurried away, and father and son were left alone.

"My son, thy welfare is dearer to me than mine own life, and in mine own deep grief I fear I have forgotten the loneliness of thy young life. I have much to say to thee, but not now. Canst thou wait?"

In an instant Isaac was at his father's side, and, placing an arm about his shoulders affectionately, he exclaimed:

"Yes, father, and I have something on my heart to tell thee of now."

He paused with a look of embarrassment, and then went on:

"To-day, being at great unrest and yearning for something, I knew not what, I wandered at some distance and just as I was turning my face homeward I saw a caravan of camels coming, and, hailing them, found they were seeking the tent of Abraham. When the chief of the company learned that I was Abraham's son he alighted from his camel and journeyed on foot by my side, while the attendants followed at a respectful distance. He told me he came from Abimelech, who, having heard of our bereavement, had sent messages of condolence and sympathy. And the princess, whom you remember we met on several occasions when at Abimelech's court, sent this (reaching within the folds of his robes and bringing forth a jar of very costly and very fragrant ointment), with the message that it was to be scattered about the tomb of our dead in token of the frangrance and beauty of the life of my dear mother. Was not that a delicate and graceful tribute?" questioned Isaac with fervor, his glowing face revealing the depth of feeling within.

"It surely was, my son," responded Abraham, thoughtfully, as he laid his hand lovingly upon that of his son.

"And I am going at once to annoint the tomb," exclaimed Isaac, as he rose to go. Scarcely had he departed when Eliezer ushered in the envoy from King Abimelech into Abraham's presence, who came not only with messages of condolence but of offer of the hand of the princess in marriage to Isaac.

"You shall have your answer in the morning," Abraham said, after the long conference had ended, and he was bidding his guest good-night.

On the next morning the sun was quite an hour high and still Abraham had not appeared. His tent was closed and no sound came from within. The messenger of King Abimelech was up betimes in the morning, and had directed the preparations for the return journey, which was to be taken up that morning. The camels were ladened and patiently waiting, and the messenger paced back and forth uneasily, while Eliezer, annoyed by the situation, hurried hither and thither trying to maintain good-nature and order and assuring the envoy that Abraham would appear shortly. But he did not come, and at last Eliezer ventured to enter Abraham's tent.

But he found it empty!

At that moment the familiar form of the aged patriarch was seen approaching from the direction of the altar and place of sacrifice. His head was bowed and he walked slowly as though the night's vigil had wearied him. That something unusual had happened could be seen in his face ere he came where the waiting company stood. Without pausing he approached the king's envoy, and, responding to his gracious bow, he said:

"Tell thy master that Abraham's God has forbidden any alliance between my son Isaac and the house of Abimelech."

And abruptly turning and without any further attempt at explanation (for it is better and safer to walk the way pointed out by God without explanation), he entered his tent.

Three years passed away. Abraham and Isaac had returned to Beersheba, but nothing more was said in reference to a wife for the son, and the latter, in dutiful obedience, waited for the father to speak.

One afternoon, as Isaac returned from a longer walk than usual in the grove, he found Eliezer busy preparing for a journey. Ten camels had been brought in from the herd and were being equipped for an early start in the morning. Isaac watched while the rich apparel and jewels were being brought out from the stores under Eliezer's hand and placed in the packs; he saw the elaborate preparations for a long journey, the abundant provisioning, and wondered what it all meant, but asked not: "What doest thou?" but sought his father's tent.

"How glad I am, father, that we have waited," he exclaimed, after his father had explained all, and he understood how the servant had been directed to return to Abraham's kinfolks and there secure for him a wife. It was plain to him now why God had warned his father against the alliance with Abimelech's daughter, and he continued, fervidly, "How near we came to falling into serious error!"

"Yea, my son, and let us not forget this, which we are so prone to do: God is a factor in every relationship of life, and unless we first seek to know His will we are almost sure to err in judgment, and take the wrong pathway. True marriages are divinely appointed, and God's children should never be led to form alliances with unbelievers," Abraham responded.

The greetings are over, Eliezer has told the wonderful story of his journey, and the heart of the shy and modest and beautiful maiden has been knit in love to the heart of the man on whose face she has for the first time looked that night. Love at first sight always is safe if the two to whom such ecstacy comes are both walking the pathway with God, and He has planned their meeting.

"Rebekah, my love," spake Isaac, as they watched the brilliant hued lights playing in the western sky, "fearest thou not to come so far to one whom thou hadst not seen?"

"Isaac," spake the fair maiden at his side, in playful, chiding mockery, as she rested her soft little hand upon his arm, "fearest thou not the coming of a maiden thou hadst never seen?"

"Nay, love," he returned, with spirit, "for the soul that walks with God knows no fear; but hope and joy and peace!"

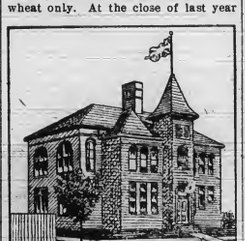
"Amen! I have found it so," respond ed the bride, sweetly.

WESTERN CANADA.

Free Homes for Millions in the Best Agricultural Country in the World.

There are to-day millions of people in the countries of Europe and the United States of America who are living on small worn-out farms, and even farms that are productive and valuable in so far as market prices are concerned, and millions more without properties altogether, but who would use them to advantage if they had them, for whom the Canadian Northwest offers inducements that can hardly be reasonably estimated. That country has in the aggregate an area of 385,000,000 acres, and as not more than 100,000 farmers are on it to the present, unprecedently rapid as has been the settlement, the homes that still await the settlers are up in the millions.

As the entire country is inland wholly, without water communication with the outside world, the nearest point of connection being Port Arthur, at the head of Lake Superior, 450 miles distant, it can be readily understood that no matter how fertile its soil or favorable its climatic conditions for agriculture may be, settlement because of lack of ingress and egress, was out of the question until rail communication was fully established.



It was not until 1880 that a railway tapped the country; then with a population that could have been easily numbered on four figures, and now, mark the change, a population of 750,000, a city of 100,000 people, and an annual production of over $60,000,000 worth of agricultural merchandise, and an export of over $50,000,000. These figures most eloquently show that the country has long since outgrown everything in the shape of prejudice against it, and is a long distance on the road to unlimited advancement and uniform prosperity.

It was, of course, to have been expected that as Manitoba was created a province in 1870, and given full provincial autonomy, and had the only access to the outside world in the Red River to St. Paul, in the United States, it would have made the first advancement in settlement, and have had its lands taken up the earliest. Still it is estimated there are 1,500,000 acres of free homesteading land in that province, one-half of which at least is fit for cropping, and many millions more in the hands of the Hudson's Bay company, the railway companies and many other public and private corporations. It is, however, with the country further west we have to deal now.

Early Progress of the West.

In 1882, the first year the railway touched that country, it was divided into four territories, Assiniboia, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Athabasca and given a primitive form of government which prevailed until this year (1905) when the four territories were converted into two provinces, Alberta and Saskatchewan, given full provincial autonomy and admitted as sisters into the Canadian Confederation. The entire growth and development of the country are all the result of these 23 years. In 25 years no less than 6,000 miles of railway have been built in the west country. Two of the systems have transcontinental lines, the C. P. R. and the G. N. R. and the third the Grand Trunk Pacific is now under way. Each of these main lines has branches in many localities. The companies are vieing with one another to extend their systems to every point where there is settlement, so that as a matter of fact every settler of three or fours years' residence has a road within a reasonable distance of his door.

What is of equal importance to the farmers is, there are buyers at every railway depot for everything they have to sell, which at the newer points is wheat only. At the close of last year there were 1,625 grain elevators in the country all the growth of 24 years, with a total capacity of 28,000,000 bushels. Besides these again there is a storage capacity of over 15,000,000 bushels at Fort William and Port Arthur.

A WESTERN CANADA VILLAGE SCHOOLHOUSE.

The Leading Industries.

The country has three great branches of the agricultural industry—grain growing, cattle raising, and dairying, each one of which is developing as rapidly as the number of resident farmers with their means will permit.

Here are the cereal statistics of the territory that now constitutes the two provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, comparing the yields of the year 1898, the first for which there are complete records, with those of 1904:

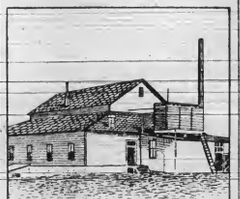
	1898.	1904.
Wheat	5,750,750	17,250,250
Oats	3,650,380	18,250,640
Barley	465,350	2,350,420

As there is at least 25 per cent. more land under crop this year (1905) than there was last year it is confidently expected the yields will reach,

Wheat	22,500,000
Oats	24,000,000
Barley	3,000,000

The value of the crop of 1904 to the farmers at the prices that prevailed was $18,825,676. (This does not include the grain growing province of Manitoba.)

The second great branch of the agricultural industry is live stock. It is conceded by stock men all around that Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan constitute the finest ranching country in the world. Here is an immense area of grazing land on which sheep, horses and cattle remain out all winter making their livings themselves on the open prairie, the "Chinook" or warm winds from the Pacific coast melting the snow almost as soon as it falls and never leaving it any depth for more than 24 hours at a time.



The reader will understand that it is much more difficult to get an accurate census of the cattle of the country than it is of the grain trade, but after conferences with dealers, railway agents and others connected with the trade, quite accurate statistics are procured.

These show that last year 1904, between the first of May and the 31st of October, the exports and local sales were:

Horses	2,877
Cattle	46,182
Sheep	15,267
Hogs	38,576

Estimating the horses at $100, cattle at $40, sheep at $15, all low values, the total receipts were $2,835,516, adding in the sales for the rest of the year, the total could not have been less than $4,000,000.

The Canadian west is especially adapted to the successful prosecution of dairying. There is unlimited pasturage of the very best during the pasturing season, the whole year round in the ranching country, and at least from seven to eight months where the season is the shortest leaving the feeding season but short in any case; and for this an abundance of the best hay can be saved from the native prairie grasses during the summer season, rendering dairy cattle keep an inexpensive item at the most. Again there are favorable dairying regulations of which the people are justly proud. Individual butter and cheese making was tested at an early day and resulted as it does everywhere, in but a partial success. The construction of suitable houses for the care of milk and products, the cost of help and the lack of experience all stood in the way as drawbacks. The attention of the government was called to the phenomenal success of the co-operative system in Denmark and other European countries as well as where tried in the eastern provinces and at once experts were placed at the disposal of the people throughout the country. This led to the establishment of a chain of co-operative creameries through the territories.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT CREAMERY AT CALGARY, ALBERTA.

These institutions while subject to the control of the patrons through boards of directors are absolutely under government management which insures perfect safety to all patrons. The milk, or the cream separated at home when so desired by separators, is taken to the dairy station, there tested and weighed as delivered and converted into butter by the experts. Advances are made from month to month which are found to be very convenient by settlers who commenced farming with limited means and balances are handed over when sales are effected at the close of the season. This saves the settlers all the expenses incident to manufacturing at home and a great deal of trouble in other respects.

Educational.

All religious denominations are on equal footing in the great Canadian West. There is the fullest freedom to all denominations to build churches and worship as they please. The schools are national, non-sectarian and free; that is, there is no tax for attendance, the government defraying a large portion of the cost. The balance of the cost of education is met by a tax of about $3 a year on each quarter section (160) acres. Schools under highly certificated teachers are in all towns and villages and country districts where there are a dozen or more children to attend them. The growth of the education system will give a fair view of the growth of the country. In 1886 there were but 76 schools in the whole country, with a government grant of $8,908. In 1904 there were 845 schools with a grant of $273,600.

Opportunities Waiting.

The Canadian West is no longer in its initial stage and the subject for comment for the doubting Thomases and I-told-you-sos. There is scarcely a country of Europe or a state of the American union that has not its scores of sons and daughters there enjoying the prosperity begotten of energy and enterprise and willing to bear testimony to the many and varied advantages they possess. There is not there the same pleasures for the kid-gloved farmer that he may find in older and better settled countries, but there is the climate and other conditions that eventuate in robust manhood and womanhood, the climate and soil that produce the best crops in the world; the land to be had for nothing; railways pushing ahead to the remotest corners of the country as rapidly as men and money can build them and all the other advantages of civilization expanding as fast as age and opportunities will permit.

INTERESTING STATE NEWS

THE POWERS CASE.

A Decision Taking It From the State To a Federal Court.

Maysville, Ky., July 8.—Judge Cochran, of the United States district court, has taken jurisdiction in the Caleb Powers case. This means that the famous case will be tried in the federal court.

Frankfort, Ky., July 8.—There will be a conflict of authority between the federal and state courts in the case of Caleb Powers for the Goebel murder. Circuit Judge Stout will call the case for trial in the circuit court at Georgetown Monday for the fourth trial, notwithstanding the decision of Judge Cochran, of the federal court. Judge Stout is at Versailles holding court, but it can be reliably stated that he will call the case and expects the prisoner to be present.

Louisville, Ky., July 8.—Gov. Beckham, when asked for an expression as to Judge Cochran's decision, replied: "I have not read the decision fully and am not prepared to say anything. At any event it is a question of jurisdiction between the state and federal courts, which will be decided by the supreme court of the United States.

Georgetown, Ky., July 8.—Caleb Powers, in jail here, when informed of Judge Cochran's decision, appeared serene and jubilant.

A HORSE'S NEIGH.

Caused a Little Child To Drop Dead From Fright.

Elizabethtown, Ky., July 7.—Virgil Carrott, aged three years, was frightened to death while playing in front of his parents' home near this city. A passing horse gave a shrill neigh, a few feet from the child, and the latter was seen to fall. When picked up the little thing was found to have expired almost instantly. The strange manner of the child's death has produced a decided sensation here.

IN POTTER'S FIELD.

A Gravedigger Forgot To Bury the Corpse of a Negro.

Lexington, Ky., July 6.—The sight of a corpse exposed to the air for three days has caused the citizens residing in the vicinity of the potter's field here to register a complaint. The body of a negro, Robert Charles, who died of tuberculosis, lay in the old cabin in the potter's field. It seems that the keeper, George Huston, had forgotten to bury the body.

Two Slayers Sent Up.

Manchester, Ky., July 6.—Judge Sam C. Hardin has just closed his term of court here. Richard McKinney was sent to the penitentiary for five years for killing Wm. Griffith. Pleas Fisher was sent up for 16 years for killing his brother, Alexander Fisher, five years ago.

Stolen Goods Recovered.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., July 7.—Thieves stole a bag containing diamond rings, studs and other jewelry belonging to Mrs. Nannie J. McCorm, from a dresser in her room. Becoming frightened from fear of being caught or accidentally they dropped the bag in their flight.

A Rich Oil Strike.

Barbourville, Ky., July 8.—An 800-barrel oil well was drilled in in Wayne county and is creating great excitement in the lower Kentucky oil fields, being probably the best strike of high-grade oil ever made in this state. The flow was controlled with the greatest difficulty.

Hotel Destroyed.

Dawson, Ky., July 6.—The New Southren hotel was burned to the ground. It is supposed the fire originated from rats having carried matches into the garret, as the fire originated there. The loss is $[illegible],000 and the insurance $1,800.

Tobacco Warehouse Destroyed.

Mt. Olivet, Ky., July 8.—The large tobacco warehouse belonging to Willis Wiggin, of near Sardis, was burned, being set on fire by sparks from a passing traction engine. About 15,000 pounds of tobacco and many farming implements were consumed.

Ended His Life.

Covington, Ky., July 7.—Henry Taphorn, 68, a rolling mill employe, who had been told that he was liable to die of heart trouble at any moment, ended worry over his ill health by hanging himself to a little tree in the rear of his house on Edward street.

Detained a Child.

Henderson, Ky., July 6.—Warrants were sworn out for the arrest of Harry Burns, Fred Johnson and Murray Jones, charged with unlawfully detaining Eunice Farmer, aged 14, at Hebbardsville, this county.

Walked 40 Miles To Wed.

Mayking, Ky., July 8.—John Henry Kiel, 17, and Louise Cisco, 16, schoolmates, of Dickinson county, walked 40 miles over rough mountain roads to be married at Whitesburg. After the ceremony they returned on foot to their homes.

Horse's Kick Was Fatal.

Auburn, Ky., July 8.—J. B. Kline, a well to do farmer of near Auburn, was killed in his barn lot by being kicked in the abdomen by a horse. He lived but a few minutes after the accident. A widow and one child survive him.

A NIECE'S IDENTITY.

It May Cause Trouble in the Division of the Lyons Estate.

Lexington, Ky., July 6.—The disposition of the estate of the late Thomas Lyons, valued at nearly a quarter of a million dollars, rests on the ability of Mrs. Philip Baker, of Pocatello, Ida., to prove her identity, and if she is able to establish the claim that she is a niece of the dead man she will come in for her mother's interest. Whether the division of the estate will result in a legal fight is not known, but at any rate Mrs. Baker says she has sufficient evidence to convince every one that she is entitled to a third of the vast estate, and does not anticipate any trouble in getting her share. On her former trip to this city she was given several thousand dollars as the first distribution.

MURDER MATLEY HANGED.

He Made a Futile Effort to Take His Own Life.

Owensboro, Ky., July 8.—After a futile attempt at suicide Robert Mathley was hanged at sunrise in the jail yard for the murder of Emma Watkins and James Gregson. The crime was committed June 26, 1904. Jealously was the cause. Mathley on the scaffold declared that a woman swore his life away. During the night Mathley tore the veins in his arm and nearly bled to death before his attempt to commit suicide was discovered. He was 40 years of age and a contractor.

NEGRO LYNCHED.

He Was Being Taken From Taylorsville To Shelbyville.

Shelbyville, Ky., July 8.—Lon Beard, a negro, who had been arrested on the charge of assaulting Mrs. Chester Crawford, of Normandy, was lynched at that place. He was being taken from Taylorsville to Shelbyville for safe-keeping, but when the train arrived at Normandy a mob of about 25 men entered the day coach and riddled Beard with bullets as he sat in his seat.

Manager Dexter Released.

Louisville, Ky., July 6.—Chas. Dexter, manager and player of the Louisville baseball club, was given his unconditional release shortly after the finish of the second game Monday. Dexter has been in bad health for several weeks.

Shot While Resisting Arrest.

Russellville, Ky., July 7.—Frank Young was shot in the leg by Policeman Taylor Walker while resisting arrest. It is claimed by the officer that Young was drinking, and that he assaulted a white lad, cutting an ugly gash in his cheek.

Killed His Brother-in-Law.

Lancaster, Ky., July 7.—[illegible] Baughman, a colored farmer of [illegible] Leavell, this county, was shot [illegible] Shelby Rothwell, a brother of [illegible]man's wife. Baughman was [illegible] and struck his wife several [illegible] Rothwell fired.

Insurance Rates.

Frankfort, Ky., July 7.—Gov. [illegible]ham has received many reports [illegible] over Kentucky that fire insurance [illegible]panies are discriminating [illegible] people of this state and charging [illegible] excessively high rates on their [illegible] as compared with the charges [illegible] other states.

Killed In An Explosion.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., July 7.—[illegible] son county the boiler of the [illegible] pop factory blew up. Frank [illegible] who was standing by, was [illegible] killed, his body being [illegible]gled. Emil Lorisch, owner, [illegible] escaped serious injury.

Shoots An Intruder.

Glasgow, Ky., July 8.—Virgil [illegible]ows was shot with a double-barrel shotgun by Jim Hulsey at the [illegible] home, near here. Meadows [illegible] dered away from Hulsey's home [illegible] refused to go, whereupon the shooting occurred.

General Store Burned.

Middleburg, Ky., July 8.—The [illegible] eral merchandise store of [illegible] kinson, near White Oak, [illegible] creek, this county, was burned [illegible] ning and the building and [illegible] of merchandise were consumed. [illegible] loss is about $2,500, with [illegible] ance.

Warehouse Destroyed By Fire.

Frankfort, Ky., July 6.—[illegible] ed the large broomstraw [illegible] owned by the Mason-Foard [illegible] building was located [illegible] ber yards of the chair [illegible] cent and east of the K[illegible] tiary, entailing a loss [illegible] $5,000.

Bank Tax Suits Filed.

Harrodsburg, Ky., July [illegible] suits filed here by Re[illegible] rison against the Mer[illegible] First National bank [illegible] back taxes on $200 [illegible] by Mr. Harrison, [illegible] make an investigation.

Thomas H. [illegible]

Bowling Green, [illegible] as H. Gaines [illegible] Rich Pond, as [illegible] paralysis. [illegible] He was [illegible] two children.

Concord, Ky, says: "I suffered agonies, [illegible] on my upper lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying everything else, I cured it, with Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's great for burns, cuts and wounds. At all drug stores. Only 25c.

Monthly Crop Report.

The monthly crop report of the State Agricultural Department shows that the cultivation of corn and tobacco has been retarded by the rains, that there is a decreased acreage of dark tobacco, an increased acreage of burley, a decreased prospective yield of wheat and a nearly normal prospective yield of oats.

It's All Off Now.

A. B. Rouse finally succeeded in convincing the State Board of Equalization of its error in increasing the valuation of lands and personal property in this county as returned by Assessor O. S. Watts, and a telephone message received at this office at noon, last Thursday, from Mr. Rouse, stated that the Board had reconsidered its previous action and had taken off the per cent it had proposed to increase the assessed value of land and personal property, so Boone county people will pay taxes on their property as Assessor Watts returned it. The proposed increase was so manifestly wrong that Mr. Rouse could not rest satisfied until he had demonstrated to the Board that its idea of values in Boone county had a wrong basis. Mr. Rouse has succeeded in saving to the taxpayers of Boone county several hundred dollars, for which he is certainly entitled to much credit, while another feather has been placed in Assessor Watts' official cap.

LAWN FETE.

Special from Petersburg.

Misses Leola and Hazel McWethy on the evening of the 26th ult., entertained about forty of their young friends at their beautiful home, Hazelhurst, in honor of the anniversary of Miss Leola's birth. The early hours of the evening were spent upon the lawn in mirthful games, the lawn being illuminated by a score or more of Japanese lanterns. The eldest gentleman guest selected the most youthful lady as his partner in the sports, and this association of the morning and the evening of life had an exhilarating effect upon the spirits of the rest of the guests, and inspired them to enter heartily and gleefully into the various games. Later in the evening the guests were invited into the dining room and a most delightful lunch was served. The remainder of the evening was spent in social conversation and listening to some inspiring music rendered by Miss Leola and Miss Lizzie Walton, on the piano. Miss Leola is one of those energetic little ladies who never tires in her efforts to make her guests enjoy themselves. She is a beautiful brunette, bright and vivacious, and entertains her guests in a very graceful and charming manner. She was assisted by her handsome young sister, Miss Hazel, who has just attained that interesting age, sweet seventeen. Miss Hazel is handsome and bright. She possesses a marked individuality. Is just herself and does not ape any of her friends, nor take on any of the little airs and graces of her acquaintances. She not only posesses the happy power of inspiring admiration, but she makes her victims glad to be her captives. It is this that makes her so popular.

Among the friends present who do not live in Boone, were Mrs. Zerilda Smith and Master Frank Shattuck, of Ludlow, and Messrs. Robert Anderson and Carl Wunderlich, of Aurora, Indiana. These are young friends of Miss Hazel.

Miss Zerilda is the daughter of Mr. Frank Smith, one of our most respected citizens. She makes her home with her aunt, Mrs. Shattuck, in Ludlow, Ky., but spends the vacation and other school life with her father, near Petersburg. She is always cordially welcomed into the social life of Petersburg. She is in her 16th year, the happiest and most delightful period in a young girl's life. Personally, Miss Zerilda is a handsome and attractive young lady. Master Frank Shattuck, cousin, is a very bright and manly young man. Misses Robertson and Carl Wunderlich, of Aurora's cleverest and most popular young men. [illegible] Miss Hazel.

[illegible] young ladies [illegible] up the lovely [illegible] and Mrs. McWethy's twins just entered so much [illegible] hands can hardly [illegible] They are beautiful [illegible] and with [illegible] age and the [illegible] to draw [illegible] expected [illegible] perfectly [illegible] they reach

G. C. G.

[illegible] ing ripe.

Warsaw Ky., July 1st 1905.

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to the many friends who so nobly contributed by kindly acts and expressions of sympathy during the illness and death of the late James W. Sleet. I assure you that all such are greatfully remembered and appreciated. We cannot say too much in praise of the undertaker, J. K. Nesbit, for the painstaking care and efficient manner in which he conducted the funeral services, and must say that while he is a companionable, gentlemanly associate in life, that we cannot be in better hands in death, and I must mention the kindly assistance rendered by the pall-bearers, the Hon. R. B. Brown, Senator; Everett Winn, County Clerk; Late Spencer, Sherift James Conly, Judge Ed Lamkin and Will S. Griffin. It would certainly be a comfort and would possibly serve to some extent to soothe the pillow and calm the aching brow in the last sad hours, if we could know that when this world, with its pains and aches, its sadness and sorrows, shall have passed away, that we could be borne to our last resting place by the hands of such tried and true lifelong friends. For this gentleman, in his behalf, please accept my profound thanks. And to the good people of Petersburg for their kindly assistance and expressions of respect and sympathy manifested in various ways from the least to the greatest, please accept our grateful gratitude and appreciation; and I desire to especially thank those two grand and good men, Ira Theege and little Bob Blackburn (though small in statue, wonderously large in heart and manhood) who stayed with me through the storm and when the clouds were the blackest and the winds howling the fiercest and the breakers were in front, they stood faithfully with their hand upon the helm. If we had more such men upon this earth it would be a better place to live. Now I fail to find in the English language words adequate to express my love and admiration for that good man who found it possible to lay aside selfish motives, creeds and church prejudices and come out into the world doing good. Had he the tongue of a Henry Clay and the eloquence of a Cicero, he would never be able to preach one half of the christianity that he is anxious to practice, and it my boy is in heaven to day, and I have every assurance that he is, it is largely due to the effort put forth by that grand and godlike man, brother Selby, minister of the Methodist church of Petersburg. May God, in his infinite mercy, restore brother Selby and his angelic wife back to health and usefulness, that they may go on doing good and saving souls, for certainly there are less need of such people in heaven than on earth. I cannot close without expressing my thankfulness and appreciation of that grand and noble Order, the Junior O. U. A. M. Council No. 141, of which every American citizen should become a member. In behalf of my son, who, with good will for all and malice toward none, left earth for heaven singing praises of you and the brethren for your kindly assistance and sympathies accorded him while hovering beneath life's shadow, I especially thank you each and all, and will say in conclusion that while I mourn a dutiful son you gentlemen have lost a faithful friend and a loving brother. Now, gentlemen, I want to especially thank you for your attendance and your beautiful service at the grave. I would rather have such said of me when I am gone than sleep beneath the epitaph of a Grant or a Lee.

Yours Respectfully,
W. J. SLEET AND DAUGHTER.

Picked His Master's Pocket.

Pepper Smith, of Bellevue, had a big romp with his favorite dog, a few days ago, and sometime thereafter he noticed the dog was playing with a strange looking roll of material which he proceeded to examine, and was surprised to find that the dog had picked his pocket of a considerable sum of money, with which he was amusing himself. Pepper took the money from the dog, and expressed, very freely, his opinion of a "purp" that would perpetrate such a serious trick on its master.

A Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party may be given to your stomach and liver, by taking a medicine which will relieve their pain and discomfort, viz: Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are a most wonderful remedy, affording sure relief and cure, for headache, dizziness and constipation. 25c at all drug stores.

It is said that James Setters has purchased an up-to-date threshing machine outfit, and about all that is necessary is to locate it at a stack yard—it will do the rest.

The catalogues for the fair this year required 300,000 pages of printed matter. Big fair—big catalogue.

EXECUTOR'S SALE
-OF-
LAND

As Executors of the will of Elijah Northcutt, deseased, we will on Saturday, July 15, 1905.

at 10:30 o'clock a. m.,

Sell publicly to the highest bidder, at the late residence of Elijah Northcutt, deceased, situated in Kenton County, Ky., about two miles northeast of Bracht Station, on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, and about two and one-half miles east of Walton, Ky., fronting on a turnpike road leading to the Covington and Lexington turnpike road, and to Bracht Station on said railroad, the following tracts of land:

Tract No. 1

Containing 163 acres and 38 poles, on which is a large good ten room two story Brick House in good condition, with good barn and other outbuildings, watered with well and cistern, good garden and orchards of various kinds of fruits, and shade trees and well set in grass.

Tract No. 2

Contains 58 acres and 42 poles and adjoins tract No. 1; and they may be sold together if purchaser should desire it.

Tract No. 3

Contains 92 acres 3 roods and 27 poles, on the opposite side of the turnpike road.

Tract No. 4

Contains 3 acres 1 rood and 32 poles and adjoins tract No. 1 and fronts on turnpike road.

Tract No. 5

Contains 132 acres 2 roods and 32 poles, suitable for a good farm.

These lands have been recently surveyed and laid off in parcels as stated, the farm containing 450¼ acres as a whole. The lands are all well set in grass, except a small field in corn and tobacco. Each tract of land has a fine lot of timber on it—except the three acres, which could be sold for one-fourth enough to pay for the tract of land.

There are more than 100 acres of said lands good tobacco land. All of said lands are well watered with spring, creeks and pond, and must be seen to be appreciated. Persons wishing to see the lands before the day of sale will please call on Benton Northcutt and Lewis C. Northcutt, who reside on farms adjoining said lands. Sale to begin at 10:30 a. m. at the farm house on the land.

TERMS OF SALE.

One-third of the purchase money to be paid in cash when deed is made, one-third in one year and one-third in two years after the day of sale, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent. per annum from date until paid, with a lien on the lands for said payments, and deed to be made within fifteen days after date of sale.

The Title to the Land is Perfect and the executors are authorized to sell and convey the lands by said will. Persons desiring to purchase a farm should attend this sale. Possession given purchasers in ample time to sow small grain in the fall of this year.

Conveyances will meet persons desiring to attend this sale at Bracht Station on said railroad at nine o'clock.

H. CLAY WHITE,
JOSEPH KAUB,
Executors of Elijah Northcutt, deceased.
V. S. Metcalf, Auctioneer.

"Always Reliable."
W. N. HIND & CO.
Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,
210-12 W. Fifth Street,
Cincinnati, - Ohio.

Farmers! Dairymen! a great chance to grade up your herd!

For Sale—The thoroughbred Jersey bull, Ouray! Because of some difficulty with his registration papers, I will sell him at less than I gave for him as a calf. Bought him at $50 will sell him for $40. A big bargain for some one. Apply to J. L. Cleveland, Ludlow Ky., R. F. D.

For Sale.—A strong big mare, a good honest work animal with her fine young mule colt. Apply to J. L. Cleveland Ludlow Ky. R. F. D.

Subscribe for the Recorder

Through Thick And Thin
GRAIN
The McCormick Binder

Has cut its way to enduring fame. No matter how long or short the straw, or in what condition the grain may the McCormick does splendid work. It is, therefore, the farmer's friend, and will remain true to him "through thick and thin," enabling him to increase his profits and materially augment his bank account during the lean as well as during the fat years. You are invited to examine our samples before buying.

Get our Price on Binder Twine Before You Purchase.

STANDARD BINDER McCormick make a special price of 10c per lb. by the bale.

Mersman Hardware Co.,
25 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.
Branch Stores—LUDLOW, KY. LATONIA, KY.

SPECIALS!

As a further introduction of the quality, style and tailoring of Clothing we are offering, the following prices will prevail . . . .

$10.00 For a handsome, carefully finished and up-to-date patterns Men's Suits.

$15.00 For Ready-to-wear Tailor Made Suit, like custom work.

$7.50 Men's Coats and Trouser Suit.

Young Men's Suits..... $7.50

Boys' and Children's Suits..... $3.00

Men's Trousers..... $1.00

Children's Trousers..... 35c

Merchant Tailoring

Favorable prices to our customers, to introduce what can be made for the money.

Max Herbst & Co.

531 Madison Ave., COVINGTON, KY.
Lucian Rice, Mgr. Near Sixth Street.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,
Salvage and Wrecking Contractors
All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.
BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,
BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.
Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.,
Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.
Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.

Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.
PRICES REASONABLE.
Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone county.

H. VON LEHMEN,
—HAND-MADE—
Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,
ALSO SECOND HAND,
PHAETONS, PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,
CHEAP.
No. 152 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, - KY.
REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

FARM FOR SALE.
A good farm of 227 acres, near Rabbitt Hash, Boone county, Ky. Capable of being divided.
THOS. N. STEPHENS,
Rabbit Hash, Ky.

JOSEPH HERRMAN,
—DEALER IN—
FANCY GROCERIES,
SMOKED MEATS,
Fruits & Vegetables
Erlanger, Kentucky.
Opp. Erlanger Deposit Bank.
Eggs and Butter exchanged in trade or cash. Boone county trade solicited.
PLEASE CALL AND GET MY PRICES.
Phone—South 1054 Y—Call 3.

J. P. HEMPHILL
THE DRUGGIST
at Rising Sun, Ind.,
....Carries a full line of....
DRUGS, PAINTS, OILS AND VARNISHES.
In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet his Kentucky friends.
—CALL AND SEE HIM.—
Yours Respectfully,
J. P. HEMPHILL,
Rising Sun, Indiana.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections. Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL,..... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits $0,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptremitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in..... $50,000
Surplus,.. $8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, - - Walton, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.
AT UNION 1st MONDAY in each month.

Dr. G. M. Terrill,
DENTIST,
Walnut Street.
LAWRENCEBURG, - INDIANA.

B. L. RICE. M. J. CROUCH.
RICE & CROUCH,
REAL ESTATE
And Note Brokers.
Farms Bought and Sold.
Notes Negotiated. Money to Loan.
Office—UNION, KY.

ANTHONY BENTLER,
AUCTIONEER,
19 Covington Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KY.
Will cry sales anywhere in Boone or Kenton county. Prices reasonable.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JULY 19, 1905. NO. 40.

PLEASANT VALLEY.

J. G. Vaughn is quite poorly again.

Uncle Jim Barlow threshed his wheat Friday.

Mr. Steve Robbins and wife entertained with a delightful dinner, Sunday.

Harry Norman and Eddie Clarkson called on their best girls, at Burlington, Sunday.

A. C. Vaughn and wife, of Cincinnati, were guests of his father and mother, Saturday and Sunday.

o o o

Miss Georgie Stephens, of Atwood, is the guest of Miss Katie Bents.

Wm. Rannier has returned from a pleasant visit to relatives in Missouri.

Miss Belle Ronse was the pleasant guest of her cousins the Misses Rouse, last week.

Miss Mabel Vest, of Burlington, was the pleasant guest of her aunt, Mrs. Booth, last week.

Miss Adah Lermond, of Covington, was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Faunie Stephens, last Sunday.

Mrs. B. K. Menefee has gone for a two weeks' visit with her mother, Mrs. Claykamp, of Louisville.

The game between Ft. Thomas and Walton Saturday resulted in a score of 5 to 1 in favor of Ft. Thomas.

Mrs. Metie DeJarnette and Mr. Rowland, were quietly married at the home of Mr. Jones, last Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. We wish a happy and prosperous future to the bride and groom.

o o o

HATHAWAY.

July 15.—We have had several very hot days.

Oats are about all in the shock, and the hay harvest is in progress.

C. S. Smith went to the city, recently, and bought a new buggy—Split Hickory.

W. L. Stephens and family spent Sunday with Claud Ryle and family on Gunpowder.

E. Miller, a Cincinnati spectacle man, did considerable business in this neighborhood last week.

Geo. L. Smith and wife and Mrs. Cynthia Meson spent today with Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, of Union.

Mrs. Sarah White and Miss Birdie Kelly spent last Thursday with W. T. Ryle and wife at Commissary.

Mrs. Florence Smith, son and daughter, spent Saturday night and Sunday with her son James at Belleview.

Miss Clara Rice, of Belleview, spent several days last week visiting relatives and friends in this neighborhood.

Mr. Taylor, of Walton, passed here last Saturday with his threshing machine enroute for the East Bend bottoms.

Rev. Maddox, pastor of Belleview Baptist church, was over on Gunpowder, several days last week, calling on his members.

Rev. Edgar Riley, of Bullittsville, was the pleasant guest of B. H. Stephens and wife, near here, Friday night and Saturday.

o o o

GUNPOWDER.

The oats crop is about all cut and is unusually heavy.

Mrs. H. F. Utz has for her guest Miss Effie Daughters, of Cincinnati.

J. W. Conner and wife, of Union, passed through our burg, last Sunday.

Cland Rouse and wife, of Lexington, Pike, visited his parents O. P. Rouse and wife, last Sunday.

Mrs. Bertha Tanner and little son, Ben P., of Bartow, Fla., are visiting their relatives in this neighborhood.

There was considerable hay put up last week and there is considerable of the crop still in the meadows to be handled yet.

Mrs. J. H. Tanner, we are glad to say, is still improving, and we hope she may be fully restored to health in the near future.

P. T. Fail, of Alexandria, Ind., arrived here last Friday and will spend a few weeks with his many Boone county friends.

Mrs. Mary Hull, formerly of this neighborhood but for several years a resident of Cincinnati, while visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Tanner, took seriously sick several days ago and died at the home of her daughter last Friday. The funeral services were conducted at the residence last Monday, and the remains were buried in Hopeful cemetery in the presence of a host of relatives and friends.

After a brief illness John A., the only son of J. S. Rouse and wife, was called to his reward last Thursday, the 18th inst., at the age of 17 years and 7 days. John had been rather delicate all of his life until recently when he seemed to have recuperated and was a source of help and great pleasure to his parents. He was kind hearted and of a pleasant disposition, which won for him the love and respect of all who knew him. His funeral was conducted by Pastor Slater at Hopeful church last Sunday, after which the remains were interred in the cemetery at that place in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this double affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at all drug stores, price 50c.

Rev. Edgar D. Jones, of Cleveland, Ohio, will preach at the Bullittsville Christian church next Sunday morning, and at Petersburg that evening.

County Correspondence.

COMMISSARY.

July 16.—We will never do much good unless we begin by doing a little good.

Logan Gaines, of Carrollton, came up a few days ago to visit J. J. Lillard.

Irvin Rue and wife, of Burlington, spent last Sunday with homefolks on Ashby.

Woodby Sullivan and wife, Sullivan Heights, were Sunday guests at Cad Sullivan's.

Ira Ryle, of Commissary, attended the social on Friday night of last week at Petersburg.

William Snelling, near Rock Spring, sold his mare, Shoepuller, to Len Kite, of Waterloo, for $40.

The recent rains have rendered the road down Rock Spring branch almost impassable again for a wagon or buggy.

Mrs. Selms, of New York City, who had been with Miss Julia Dinsmore for two or three months, left for her home last Tuesday.

Bernard Rogers and wife, John Moody and Miss Flo Arnold, from near Belleview, went with an excursion to High Bridge, last Sunday.

The Y. M. A. A. ball club of Aurora and the Belleview club will play on the ground of the latter next Saturday afternoon. Come out and see a good game.

Dr. Williamson, of Bellevue, when passing, called us out and handed us the necessary wherewith to keep the Recorder coming his way. Who will be next?

Geo. Koons and daughter, Miss Bessie, near here, made a business trip to Lawrenceburg, Wednesday, and among their purchases was a fine graphophone.

For Rent—About 45 or 50 acres of good blue grass pasture. Will rent only for pasturage of cattle. Apply to Ben C. Casou, of Middle creek. This ad is no joke or guy.

Joe Walton, the versatile correspondent of Rabbit Hash, spent an hour here last Thursday morning. He drove some cattle here for J. J. Walton, purchased of a Mr. Rector and Landon Clore.

Charles Finn, of Woolper, passed Commissary, Wednesday, and stopped for a few minutes' chat. He had his buggy loaded with honey. Mr. Finn is neighborly and sociable and we are always glad to have him call.

We have been informed that we are to have another merrygoround on our mail route in the near future. It will be on Woolper. Charles Finn, Mrs. Laura Sebree, Will Sebree and R. J. Akins will unite, making one equal to that of Commissary in number of boxes.

Swearing is a foolish and disgusting habit; but when a man attempts to climb a fence and the top rail breaks, causing him to fall into a hunch of thistles and briers, we think he is excusable if he uses a few mild cuss words, especially when he spills half bucket berries. We speak from experience.

On Tuesday night of last week, a small cyclone passed near here. At W. T. Ryle's it blew two windows out and tore up trees and bushes in its path. The lastrace of it was in A. C. Porter's where it cut corn and tobacco badly and nearly ruined his field of oats. Its first appearance was on W. B. Walton's farm, where half an acre of tobacco was badly damaged by hail.

Bro. Acra thinks he can deprive us of a few items by advising when having something to sell to order an advertisement of the editor, as your reporter forgets, and often he gets up the ad in such an awkward form that people cannot tell whether it is a joke or a guy. We believe that even Bro. Acra can write an ad so that any one can tell it from a joke or guy, and if he can, God knows anyother reporter can. I do not object to people giving their ads to the editor, but when he inserts such ads for subscribers free, then why not give such ads to some correspondents, thereby helping him to an item and saving the editor some trouble? As long as the editor gives subscribers free ads, just that long we may give them to Commissary. He will not forget them, and everybody will see them, because everybody reads Commissary. Please excuse us, Francesville.

o o o

VERONA.

July 17.—97 in the shade, Sunday.

Born to John T. Roberts, jr., and wife, a fine girl.

W. M. Whitson is the proud father of a bouncingnew boy.

Frank Callahan, who has been quite poorly with heart trouble, is some better.

Bud Waller made a trip to the river and brought home some fine fish, last Saturday.

Dr. Lafe Myers and family, of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, visited relatives here last week.

Mrs. Letha Broner, of Crittenden, visited Mrs. Julia Hume several days last week.

John Powers and family, of Richwood, were visiting Mrs. Sarah Waller last Sunday.

Cloyd Powers sold a good harness horse at a fancy price to B. B. Hume, of Walton, a few days since.

Misses Bernice and Eunice Johnson, after spending several days with friends at Big Bone, returned home Monday.

E. Q. Myers took his departure for Cincinnati, last Saturday, where he intends securing a position as conductor or motorman on a street car.

Remember there will be a series of meetings begun at New Bethel on Wednesday night before the first Sunday, which will be August 2nd. Everybody is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

BULLITTSVILLE.

Several from here attended the picnic at Harvest Home Saturday afternoon.

Hay harvest is about completed and the most of it was put up in good condition.

A Mr. Hughes and family, of Ill., passed here one day last week in their large automobile touring car.

Some of the stray dogs that keep howling around Commissary had better be a little careful, lest they get a dog button.

Corn and tobacco are doing well, some of the early tobacco having been topped, and the early corn is tasseling and silketing.

The Garrison Allsorts will go to Whitewater Park, Saturday August, 5th to take the scalp of the Harrison, Ohio, ball team.

Some of the young folks of the neighborhood enjoyed themselves saturday night at a pie party given by Mr. and Mrs. John Bowman. On Saturday night a week they were entertained by Misses Sallie and Kittie Jones.

o o o

LIMABURG.

Born to Hubert Beemon and wife, a girl.

Miss Ettie Beemon has been on the sick list with quinsy for a week.

Mrs. Julius Rouse and children, of Payne's Depot, are guests of Mr. Geo. Rouse.

Misses Myrtie and Kittie Brown visited Mrs. Myrtle Adams, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Geo. Baker has for her guest herdaughter, Mrs. Leo Wever, of Cincinnati.

Miss Ray, who has been staying with E. L. Aylor, returned to Aurora, last Friday.

The picnic, Saturday, at the Harvest Home grounds, was well attended despite the busy season.

Mrs. Jerry Beemon and Mrs. Delila Utz are visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Rouse, of Lexington.

Miss Eunice Sullivan returned to her home in Walton, after a couple of weeks' visit with her aunt, Mrs. Asa McMullen.

o o o

FLICKERTOWN.

Harvest is almost over.

George Hensley and family visited in Belleview, Sunday.

A Mr. Floyd, of Newport, was visiting at B. F. Akin's, last week.

Mrs. Mattie Burk, of Aurora, is visiting her parents near this place.

Ben Hensley and family visited in Cincinnati, Saturday and Sunday.

Several from this place helped John Weisickle work out his crop, Wednesday.

Arthur Dean made a flying trip to this place, last Tuesday, after a load of corn.

Rumor has a wedding anounced to take place soon. Boys get your tin pans ready.

C. A. Finn and family, J. W. White and wife dined with Charles Hensley and family, Sunday.

Lee Nichols and wife visited Harry Acra and wife, over on Middle creek, several days last week.

Cage Stephens and wife, of Gunpowder creek, were guests of her mother, Saturday night and Sunday.

This community was shocked to hear of Wm. Smith's death. He was our huckster and was liked by all.

Mrs. Sarah White and two grandchildren, Birdie and Glen Kelly, of Hathaway, visited W. T. Ryle and family, last Thursday.

GRANGE FIELD DAY.

The Pomona Grange, of Boone county, will hold its annual Field Day at Harvest Home Grounds August 5th.

Hons. E. B. Norris, Master of State Grange of New York; Hon. F. A. Derthick, Master of Ohio State Grange, and Mortimer Whitehead, Past Lecturer of the National Grange, will be present and deliver addresses of peculiar interest to the farmers of Boone county whether they be Patrons of Husbandry or not.

A first class band has been secured and farmers with their wives, daughters and sweethearts are urged to be present. The signal failure of the Tobacco Association should convince the men who toil that organization is their only help and that help will come through the Grange, the only organization of farmers which has stood the storms of more than thirty years. Surely the time has come when the need of co-operation buying and selling bears hard upon the minds of farmers. In the Grange is relief. Come to the Field Day, bring baskets and lunch with us in true Grange style, and hear in the addresses of these speakers of national reputation the solution of many problems that burden your minds.

The Diamond Cure.

The latest news from Paris, is, that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you fear consumption or pneumonia, it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee, of Vanleer, Tenn. "I had a cough for fourteen years. Nothing helped me, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief." Unequaled quick cure, for Throat and Lung Troubles. At all drug stores, price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

PRIVATE SALE.

About seventy-five (75) acres of land on Rouse's branch in this (Boone) county, belonging to the late L. C. Norman, and being a part of the old Norman home farm. For particulars address Fayette Hewitt, Frankfort, Ky. July 1—8t.

IDLEWILD.

July 17.—Wm. Kinney's tobacco is ready for topping.

Hot—92 in the shade here.

Milton Souther is on the sick list.

Nice, large blackberries can be had at 50 cents a bucketful.

One of Ben Grant's horses got badly cut in an up to date feuce, a few days ago.

Dr. Hubert Walton is now patiently awaiting calls to prove his efficiency as an M. D.

Mrs. Pink Rice, who had been visiting relatives in Walton, returned home yesterday.

W. B. Graves, of Hebron, is painting the residence of Elijah Holton, near Petersburg.

J. J. Duncan is having asphalt walks laid at his house—an up to date improvement.

Rev. Early left today for Shelby Co., where he will assist Rev. Hensly in a protracted meeting.

Last Tuesday morning's hard rain gave the farmers a rest and the berry pickers a good wetting.

J. T. Gaines and wife were invited to their daughter's in Ludlow to meet a Denver, Colorado, friend.

Mrs. J. Frank Grant, of Baltimore, and Mrs. S. E. Terrill, of Indiana, were with us at church, yesterday.

After visiting Idlewild friends for several days E. M. Gaines, sr., went on to Petersburg, to spend several days.

We ask Dr. Terrill and wife to accept our congratuiations. May theirs be a delightful voyage down the stream of life.

The happiest man in Boone county is Dr. J. M. Grant, of Petersburg. His daughter and children, of Peoria, Ill., are at his home.

Miss Lizzie Graddy says that Fayette county has had considerable more rain than Boone has, and that wheat is sprouting in the shocks.

Rev. Early and John Cropper, visited Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, at her home in Union, one day last week. Glad to hear she is improving nicely.

The Martha Gaines Mission Society will meet on the afternoon of the 22d at Mrs. O. W. Gaines'. Subject to be discussed—The Work of the Home Board.

Rev. T. L. Utz, of Florence, will preach at Sand Run on the 23d. People rejoice because of the restoration of his health, and will give him a big congregation.

Dr. Daniels came out last Monday with his family to board with Menter Graves, but his infant child was taken quite sick; and they returned to Covington the next day.

While plowing the other day Robert Moore's horse fell in the high weeds at the end of the row, and was bitten on the nose by a moccasin snake, and it may die from the effects of the bite.

The awful death of Mrs. Weisickle and baby, of Belleview precinct, excites the deepest sympathy of all for the bereaved father. This sad affair is only another warning against the use of coal oil in kindling fires.

Our community was shocked greatly by the tragic ending of the Warner-Richey-Smith family feud, on the pike between Hebron and Constance. It left two widows and several children to fight the battle of life alone.

The automobile of Mr. Geo. Hughes, of Hume, Illinois, caused quite an excitement on the part of some of our citizens. It was a nice machine, and must have cost a considerable sum, but for my part I prefer a horse as simotor for transportation. Mrs. W. A. Gaines made a trip to the city in it with Mr. Hughes and his daughters.

o o o

UNION.

Miss Marietta Riley spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Ben Cleek, of Erlanger, spent Sunday with friends at this place.

Mrs. Emma Presser is the guest of her niece, Mrs. Dora Bannister.

Mrs. Perlina Gaines, of Bullittsville, is the guest of Mrs. Elizabeth Huey.

Dr. Scroggin, of Dry Ridge, spent last Thursday and Friday with Dr. Robertson.

Mrs. Sam Hicks and children were guests of her mother several days last week.

Miss Emma Cleek, of Beaver, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Delehaunty.

Mrs. J. A. Huey had Mrs. Webb and children, of Erlanger, for her guests, last week.

Mrs. N. S. Bristow entertained a number of her friends to dinner, last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Rice spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beech in Covington.

Several from this place attended the funeral of John Rouse, at Hopeful, last Sunday.

P. T. Fail, of Alexandria, Ind., arrived here Friday, for a visit with friends and relatives.

Miss Kathryn Cleek, of Erlanger, was the guest of Mrs. Voshell, several days last week.

Miss Bettie Clarkson returned, Sunday, from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Henry Afterkirk.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Conner were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Rice, of Erlanger, Sunday.

Misses Sara and Rachal Conner have returned from a pleasant visit with relatives in Erlanger.

Misses Bernice and Unice Johnson, of Verona, were guests of Mrs. J. W. Conner, last Monday.

Miss Alma Baker, of Covington, will spend the remainder of the heated term with Mrs. N. S. Bristow.

Mrs. W. H. Smith and Miss Eva Smith attended the reception given Mr. Gregory and wife, Friday evening.

Miss Marguite Rice returned to her home, Sunday, after several weeks visit with her cousin, Miss Addie Conner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mason and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Smith, of Big Bone, spent Saturday with Mrs. Elizabeth Huey.

Mrs. Mag Tanner and daughter, Miss Cecil, have returned from a visit of several weeks with Mrs. T. W. Chambers, of Columbus, Ind.

A party of young ladies from and near this place went to Big Bone for an outing, last Wednesday; an enjoyable time was spent by each one.

Misses Lotta and Madge Williams, accompanied by their cousin, Miss Yontsey, of Cincinnati, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Williams, near here.

o o o

PETERSBURG.

July 18.—100 in the shade here.

Harry Fisher, of Marion, Ind., is visiting friends here.

A firm is being organized here to manufacture fire brick.

Miss Janette Hurd visited her uncle, Robert Green, of Bellevue, last week.

Frank Morgan will build an elevator to carry grain from the river up to his flour mill.

Rev. Edgar Jones, of Cleveland, O., will preach at the Christian church next Sunday night.

Arthur Alloway, pitcher for the Grand Rapids base ball team, was at home several days last week.

Miss Mae Cutter, of Cincinnati, is spending her vacation with her cousin, Miss Effie Hensley, at this place.

The Indiana broke a shaft just below here, the other day. A harbor boat was sent for and towed her to the city.

David Snyder, clerk in the Merchants National Bank, Cincinnati, is here spending his vacation with his parents.

E. M. Gaines, of Bullittsburg, was the guest of his kinsman, John G. Gaines and wife, a few days last week.

Trunnell Passons and son, William, of Indianapolis, were here last week. Mr. Passons was a citizen of this town several years ago.

Miss Emma Shaw, daughter of postmaster Shaw, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., was the guest of Miss Ione Buchanan, several days last week.

Botts & Pappet have the contract for building the offices at the government works near Taylorsport. They have been at work there several weeks.

Charles Jenkins and wife, of Baltimore, Md., arrived this morning to spend the heated term with his mother, Mrs. Appleton, who lives here.

Frank Ludwig, foreman of the paint department of the shops of Mayor Buggy Company, of Lawrenceburg, was visiting friends here the other day.

M. F. Wingate has bought 435,000 pounds of tobacco this season, and has 80,000 pounds on hand. J. W. Berkshire has bought 150,000 pounds and has 65,000 pounds on hand.

There will be a concert in the Park at Petersburg on the evening of July 28th, 1905. Refreshments will be served in the park. The Aurora orchestra has been engaged, of which there are 18 members. The concert in the park will be from 8 to 10 p. m. At ten Mr. Dawson will present his best play, "Faust" in Gordon's Hall, assisted by the orchestra. Everybody is invited.

R. Marshall Terrill, son of the late John L. Terrill, of this place, and now a leading dentist in Lawrenceburg, Indiana, and Miss Maud Wingate, daughter of M. F. Wingate, Democratic nominee for sheriff in this county, and extensive dealer in leaf tobacco, were quietly married at the residence of Rev. Selby at 6 p. m., last Wednesday. They left, immediately after the ceremony, on the mail boat for Louisville, from which place they returned last Sunday night. They will make their home with the bride's father, who is a widower and with whom his aged mother lives. Both of these young people are very popular and their numerous friends wish them success and happiness in their new relations in life.

o o o

RABBIT HASH.

Phil Cayton, of East Bend, has a sick child.

Mr. Oscar Craig is shipping his Hagglow apples.

Mrs. Ellis is visiting her daughter Mrs. Z. T. Kelly.

Solon Ryle is recovering from a severe attack of asthma.

Miss Maggie Scott, of Danville, is visiting her parents here.

Mr. Zack Stephens' horse stepped on his foot and sprained it badly.

Mrs. Wealthy Scott, who has been quite ill at her son Frank's, is better.

Elbert C. Ryle has a position as book keeper in a large hotel in Cincinnati.

Misses Irma and Viola Christians, of Indianapolis, are visiting relatives and friends here.

Henry Clore has finished putting up his hay, of which there is about 35 tons of choice timothy.

Robert Brady, jr., is spending several weeks with his cousins, Warren and Robert Lassing, of Walton.

A man from Walton is using his engine and Jim Setters' separator, and threshing wheat in East Bend.

Elijah Hodges has the champion crop of tobacco. It will soon do to house, as some of it is beginning to ripen.

John Presser will complete the Walton Bros., tobacco barn this week, and will then begin work on Z. T. Kelly's house.

Rising Sunners are carrying away quantities of our blackberries and chiggers. They are perfectly welcome to the latter.

About 250 sheep have been imported to this neighborhood lately, and bought at prices ranging from $4.50 to $5.50 per head.

Mrs. Reuben Hager had some wheat threshed that made 40 bushels to the acre. Her whole crop averaged 31½ bushels per acre.

Mrs. Martha Houston Slater, who died near Big Bone, was buried in the M. E. church cemetery, at East Bend, last Sunday week.

Mrs. E. L. Clements and children, of Covington, returned home last week after spending several weeks among their relatives here.

David Ryle returned to Missouri with his uncle, S. W. Bruce, with whom he makes his home. He has good educational advantages in Liberty.

FLORENCE.

Special to the Recorder:

Dr. A. Sayre, who was about the oldest citizen of Florence died at his home here last Sunday in his 85th year. He leaves a widow, who was a Miss Lodge, and one child, Dr. F. L. Sayre, of Hebron, this county.

Many years ago Dr. Sayre was a prominent member of the Boone county medical fraternity, first coming into prominence at Rabbit Hash, where he located directly after the close of the civil war, in which he was a brave and daring soldier on the side of the Southern Confederacy.

From Rabbit Hash he moved to Burlington, where he enjoyed a lucrative practice for several years, which he gave up to move to Florence about thirty years ago, when he purchased the home of the late Dr. J. J. Duiany, who moved to Covington. He continued in the practice of medicine here until incapacitated by age and poor health.

Dr. Sayre was a member of the famous Lopez filibustering expedition to Cuba. He was also a soldier in the Mexican army.

Dr. Sayre was a man who kept well posted on the topics of the day, upon which he always had well settled opinions of his own.

The burial took place from his home today, and the veteran of two wars was followed to his last resting place by a large concourse of friends.

James N. Pearson, one of our prominent citizens, was stricken with paralysis, Sunday, and is lying at his beautiful home out on the Union pike where everything possible is being done to restore him to health and his numerous friends. Mr. Pearson is well known throughout the county, having made the race twice for the Democratic nomination for assessor. He is Rev. T. L. Utz's father-in-law.

o o o

CONSTANCE.

July 17th.—It is warm enough.

Capt. Louie Kotmeyer's two little boys, aged about 11 and 13 years respectively, were wrestling today, when the one that was thrown was so badly hurt that a surgical operation will be necessary to relieve the little fellow.

Hamet Carder, many years ago a citizen of this county, was taken to the county infirmary last Sunday by Chas. Ragenbogen, of Hebron neighborhood, with whom he had been stopping only a short time. He and Mr. Ragenbogen were picking blackberries one day last week, when Mr. Ragenbogen missed him. He began hunting for him, and found him prostrated in the briar patch. He was taken to the house as soon as it was possible and a doctor summoned. An examination revealed that his right side was paralyzed. Mr. Carder came to this county a few weeks ago from Tennessee. He had been gone so long and not heard from that it was generally believed, by those here who remembered him, that he was dead, and great surprise resulted from his recent appearance in this county. Mr. Carder is in his 85th year.

Assessor Watts was in this part of the county, Monday, receiving lambs. It was late in the afternoon when he started for Erlanger with them. They were 8½ cent material. Owen says he does not intend for the boom in prices to excite him, and cause him to make contracts for next year's crop at big figures.

It does not take much urging to kill a horse when the temperature is as high as it has been for several days. Be careful with your teams. If a horse quits sweating give it a drink of salt water as soon as possible.

A very heavy rain fell in the Mud Lick neighborhood yesterday afternoon. It rained for about two hours, and corn and tobacco fields were washed badly, much damage to these two crops resulting.

Sheriff Aliphin is down on his Mudlick possessions directing a force of harvest hands. He has his son James along to watch him and prevent him from taking too much violent exercise!

Several prostrations from heat in different parts of the country last week. People should be careful of themselves during the excessive heat. Don't get excited and overdo yourself.

When Leonard Childress, of Erlanger, driver of a Standard Oil wagon, struck Burlington, yesterday, he looked like the heat had about got the best of him.

The Rabbit Hash correspondent reports the best yield of wheat so far. The East Bend bottoms certainly has a good crop of that cereal this year.

Considerable rain passed both north and south of Burlington, yesterday, and straightway some began predicting the beginning of a dry spell.

Several of the rural correspondents did not show up this week. It may be that they have gone to some of the delightful summer resorts.

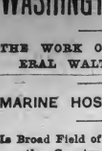
Mr. Morgan, the recent purchaser of the Petersburg flour mill, is contemplating some important improvements for the mill property.

It is about warm enough to cook roasting ears in the shuck and beans in the pod.

Wm. Phillips, of Erlanger, came over yesterday to talk base ball with the boys.

Supt. Snyder remembered the Recorder with a fine peach treat yesterday.

Callie Baldon's separator was not damaged much in Saturday's accident.



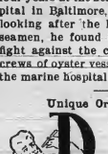
The Bank Lick ball team defeated Richwood 23 to 22 in their last game.

WASHINGTON LETTER

THE WORK OF SURGEON-GENERAL WALTER WEYMAN.

MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE

Is Broad Field of Work and Value to the Country at Large—Sir Mortimer Durand "A Good Fellow."



WASHINGTON. — In a big stone mansion on Capitol hill, just south of the capitol building, a genial, florid-complexioned sandy-mustached gentleman, decidedly stout and of medium height, has his headquarters. There is nothing unusual about his appearance, but his name is known throughout the length and breadth of this land, and for that matter throughout the world, wherever disease and infection exist. This is Surgeon-General Walter Wyman, the conservator of the nation's health. He is at the head of the public health and marine hospital service, and his name is associated with every important movement looking to the control of epidemics and the prevention of diseases and plagues entering the borders of the United States.

Dr. Wyman is a modest gentleman, who never intrudes himself on public notice, but his position at the head of the health department of the government brings him into prominence, and the work of his bureau has been so important and at times almost sensational that it necessarily has made him one of the best-known of public officials. Dr. Wyman has worked, during the 14 years he has occupied his present place, in favor of national health laws and regulations and quarantine. He has successfully opposed the old regimes of shotgun quarantine that obtained in the south. The United States health officers are now recognized everywhere, and no longer opposed in the discharge of their duties. Dr. Wyman has been able during his administration to so police the frontiers with inspectors of his bureau as to reduce to the minimum the danger of the introduction of yellow fever and cholera.

Surgeon-General Wyman was in the marine hospital service before he was called to his present position. He was four years at the head of the marine hospital in Baltimore, and in addition to looking after the health of American seamen, he found time to take up the fight against the cruelty practiced on crews of oyster vessels. He was also in the marine hospital in New York.

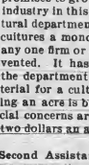
Unique Organization.

DURING the administration of Surgeon General Wyman, the marine hospital service has made great strides, because congress has been awakened to the necessity of national safeguards to the health of the people. This public health service has a rather interesting history, as it is unique in the governments of the world. No such organization exists in any other country, and probably no function of our federal government carries with it more arbitrary and far reaching powers than the enforcement of health regulations. The marine hospital service was established by act of congress July 16, 1798. Within two years there was established isolated hospitals at Norfolk, Boston, Newport and Charleston. Up to 1871, when the service was reorganized under a single head, a dozen hospitals had been established, including those at Baltimore, New York and Evansville, Ind. For three-quarters of a century there was a very lax administration of these isolated hospitals. When the service was reorganized, Surgeon General Woodworth became its head, and improvement at once followed.

The upbuilding of the service is slow work, however, but under Dr. Wyman, who took charge 14 years ago, this service, which then only looked after the sick merchant sailors, was transformed into a national health service, controlling national and interstate quarantine, and the inspection of the millions of immigrants who come to this country. The bureau also handles epidemics, state, national and insular, and controls the production and distribution of serums, viruses, toxins and analagous products. It conducts scientific research along hygienic lines, either in the finely equipped laboratory in this city or in some part of the territory or possessions of the United States.

The hygienic laboratory which now occupies the old naval observatory, is engaged in most important investigations. It promises in time to become one of the great institutions of the United States devoted to medical research. Of the 350 doctors connected with the bureau some of the brightest are assigned to work in this laboratory. It is studying leprosy, spotted fever and looking after the purity of drugs, as well as inspecting the serums of anti-toxins.

Soil Inoculation.



TEN years ago the proposition that soils could be inoculated and made more productive would have been laughed at by the average farmer in the country. Today it is a recognized fact that bacteriological inoculation of the soil for leguminous plants will work a revolution in the worn-out fields of the eastern states. The department of agriculture developed this idea, and although its practical application is less than three years old, it has now passed the experimental stage. That the agriculturists of the country believe in this theory is evidenced by the deluge of applications that has come to the department here for cultures of soil-inoculating bacteria. The great majority of these applicants are apt to be disappointed, as the department has not the ability to supply all the demands.

Secretary Wilson does not claim that the cultures are beneficial to the soil or to crops under all circumstances. They must be applied to legumes. The direct benefit is reported in more than 75 per cent of the cases where the cultures have been used.

Since the first of the year a company has established a plant in Pennsylvania for the purpose of [illegible] inoculating bacteria, and another plant is in operation in Vermont. There promises to grow up a very considerable industry in this line, and as the agricultural department is also supplying these cultures a monopoly of the business by any one firm or combination will be prevented. It has been demonstrated by the department that the cost of the material for a culture capable of inoculating an acre is but four cents. Commercial concerns are charging from $1.50 to two dollars an acre for cultures.

Second Assistant Secretary of State.

AWAY off in southern France there is one of the most useful of our public officials enjoying himself to his heart's content after his own fashion. He is a small, undersized man, deaf almost as a post and afflicted with a stoppage in his speech. This does not prevent him, however, extracting a maximum of enjoyment out of his vacation, which he annually takes in southern France and northern Spain, historical and pleasant regions which he explores on a bicycle. This is a rather inadequate description of Hon. Alvey A. Adee, whose official designation is the second assistant secretary of state, but it will suffice to picture him to the hundreds of people who have had to do business at the state department.

Secretary Adee's whole life has been devoted to diplomacy, and if the truth were known, the majority of the able state papers that have appeared over the names of much more famous men than he during the last 20 years have been of his composition. He is an expert in the use of diplomatic language, and in the construction of correspondence that will carry harsh truths in the softest terms.

Not long ago Mr. Adee presided at the meeting of the directors of the bureau of American republics. As he could not hear any motion made or speeches delivered, he worked out a programme which he had typewritten and given to each member. In this programme the order of business was indicated and the time to be allotted to each subject. The number of minutes each member was to be allowed to speak was also indicated. Mr. Adee called the meeting to order exactly on time and then with a split-second watch before him proceeded to carry out the programme. Some of the grandiloquent South and Central American ministers were much astounded to be cut off in the midst of their speeches by the sharp pounding of Mr. Adee's gavel. The latter never let on for a moment that he knew he was interfering with speeches, but immediately announced the next order of business, and in this way the meeting was conducted on schedule time and according to the Adee programme.

New British Ambassador.

THE new British ambassador, Sir Mortimer Durand, is already voted a "jolly good fellow" by those with whom he has come in contact in Washington's social and official circles. There is nothing of the aristocrat about him, and he takes the keenest interest in American manners, customs and sports. Like his predecessor, Sir Michael Herbert, and also like the late Lord Pauncefote, Sir Mortimer seems destined to increase the entente cordiale between Great Britain and the United States. He is a welcome visitor at the white house, and President Roosevelt is really very fond of him. The fact is that Mr. Roosevelt enjoys an actual comradeship with several of the ambassadors, notably Durand, Sternberg and Jusserand. The latter is a prime favorite with all the officials. Secretary Taft says he likes him because he is really the one diplomat who can thoroughly appreciate the subtlety of American humor.

Ambassador Durand has a sort of fad in the study of child life. Wherever he has been stationed he has gathered some interesting data about the manners and methods of the juvenile population. He has been greatly amused in observing the newsboys of New York and also the young colored and white arabs of the streets of Washington, but he thinks that for juvenile intelligence the little folks of Persia take the palm. As an illustration of this, he relates an incident that occurred when he represented Great Britain at Teheran. He and some of the legation people got up a picnic and told the cook to prepare a luncheon. The latter said that his children would pack the basket, as they were well acquainted with British ways. When Sir Mortimer himself unpacked the drinkables, in which were claret and brandy, he found a package of peppermint drops tied to each bottle. He was a little startled to find how closely the Persian youngsters had studied English ways.

MORTON'S VINDICATION.

How the Relegated Job of Whitewashing Has Been Resuscitated.

When the "square deal" was inaugurated it was expected that the whitewash brush and pail would be relegated to the political property room and for awhile it was like the big stick so laid away. But the exigencies of [illegible] politics have compelled whitewashing to be again resorted to and as if to make up for lost time the coat laid on to Mr. Paul Morton, the late secretary of the navy, is the primest and most artistic job that has probably ever been accomplished. It has amazed the nation by the masterful way in which the wash was applied, and it has staggered the old politicians of the national capital by [illegible] change [illegible] the Ethiopian to the vivid whiteness of the vindication. It is seldom that trim political barometer, the Washington Post, becomes rattled at any sudden change of the political temperature, but even its general state of contentment and sang froid was overcome, for in its comment on this latest strenuous job of President Roosevelt it said:

"A fact that stands out in terrifying sharpness in the correspondence of the president and Attorney General Moody regarding Mr. Paul Morton and the Santa Fe rebate scandal is that the Santa Fe is a corporation of uncontrollably evil propensities—a cold-blooded calculating, persistent violator of the law. On the other hand, the officers of the Santa Fe are not only observers of the law, but one of them, Mr. Morton, is the champion who made it possible to secure an injunction against the monster. The officers of the Santa Fe have done the best they could to curb the lawlessness of their corporation, but it plunged wildly on, while they stood powerless and aghast. They are no more to be blamed, says Mr. Morton, than if it were a case of a misplaced switch resulting in a bad wreck. They did their duty, and if there was a violation of law, nobody is to blame. 'All of our orders were carefully considered and carefully issued,' he says, 'but, so far as this particular case is concerned, seem to have been overlooked.'

"When Attorney General Moody went outside of his department to secure the services of two eminent lawyers for the investigation of the Santa Fe scandal, it was a commentary on the evident scarcity of good material in the department of justice for such work. But the bold—almost over-bold—official statement that these able gentlemen had been instructed to probe the matter to the bottom was an assurance that the task was a grave one, too difficult for the regular officers of the department of justice. It was also taken to mean that the investigation would be made without the possibility of a whitewash, which might have been the case if subordinate officials were to investigate a scandal involving a member of the cabinet.

"Messrs. Harmon and Judson did their work thoroughly—too thoroughly by far. They appear to have taken their instructions too literally. They made the mistake, too, of confounding the Santa Fe as a corporation with the Santa Fe officials. Obviously they had no idea that the Santa Fe had burst from the control of its officers, and was dashing headlong on its own pathway. 'We have no doubt,' they reported, 'that the laws have been violated by the traffic officers of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad company,' and they recommend prompt proceedings against them. Of course, the investigators were set right by Attorney General Moody, and their report being palpably disappointing, their resignations were accepted.

"It is difficult to tear a monster away from its feast, but Mr. Morton must learn to rule, even if he is forced to wean his company from a good thing. It is to be hoped that he will be successful in preventing a mutiny among his subordinates in the Equitable, such as that which made the Santa Fe uncontrollable.

"As for the Santa Fe, it is a bad, wicked, diabolical corporation, which must be hunted down and punished at all hazards. On with the good work."

Frenzied Finance.

The official statement that the assets of the Equitable Life Insurance company have shrunk from $80,000,000 to one-eighth of that sum shows the vast shrinkage of the paper value of the stocks and bonds that Wall street holds as security for the people's money. The incompetent hands into which this great fiduciary institution has fallen indicates that other corporations of like natures may be also the foot-balls of the votaries of "Frenzied Finance." The fact that such a state of affairs exist shows either the incompetence or something worse of the insurance department of the state of New York under republican partisan control, and throws a similar shadow over the state banking department. How do we know that the great trust corporations are not similarly involved by being loaded down with watered stocks and bonds that have been unloaded on them through the connivance of their officers with the "masters of finance."

——Gov. Cummins has the "Iowa idea" sitting up and taking nourishment.

——The Ohio republicans want "wise and conservative" railroad legislation. This struggle to keep up with the band wagon is almost pathetic. The demand for "wise and conservative" legislation always precedes a throw-down for the people.

——Two cattle kings have been convicted of fencing public lands in Nebraska. It has taken three years for the department of justice to accomplish this, and at this rate it will take more than a generation to depose all these kings.

ACTION BY THE RAILROADS

Agitation Over Public Control Starts Them on a Campaign of Education.

The following special dispatch to the Washington, D. C., Star should interest every voter in the United States:

"Alarmed at the agitation in favor of government control of rates, the railroad interests have embarked upon a campaign of education which is national in scope, and which will cost them a very large sum annually.

"The educational work will be conducted through the medium of two large bureaus in New York and Chicago, which may have branch organizations. The New York and Chicago bureaus have been established, their agents are touring the country in search of information regarding conditions, and they are already engaged in sending forth tons of literature and preparing more."

The dispatch then gives the names of the managers and writers of the news (?) that is forthcoming. When the bureaus mentioned are in full working order, we may expect the newspapers of the country to be flooded with stories of the fairness and public spirit of the railroad corporations. They will describe how fixing maximum rates will be followed by a reduction of wages to their employes. They will pathetically tell of the bankruptcy that will overtake the railroads if their earnings are decreased by law, and the disasters and reduced accommodations the public may expect if such a law is enacted.

The wise reader will, therefore, receive with a grain of salt what he sees in the newspapers during the next few months eulogizing the railroads and denouncing those who are demanding a "square deal." The enterprising journalists who have undertaken to educate the public to submit to railroad extortion will spring many surprises from unlooked-for quarters. Special telegrams will be sent from Arkansas, Kalamazoo and elsewhere, telling of the endorsement of the present equitable rates that are charged for the transportation of persons and property, and that the board of trade or the patrons of husbandry would be glad to pay higher rates rather than see the prosperity of the railroads disturbed.

News will be flashed from every state of congressmen who will be made to declare that they are sorry they voted for the Davey or Esch-Townsend bills, and in consequence of the demand of their constituents for fair treatment of the vast railroad interests upon which the prosperity of their state depends, they will be compelled to oppose President Roosevelt in his campaign for reducing unreasonable rates. But then, as Abraham Lincoln said, you can't fool all of the people all the time, and the railroads will discover it in due season.

TRUST BUSTING IS SLOW.

Nothing of Practical Service Has Been Accomplished by Republicans.

There is something wrong with this trust busting business. When the Northern Securities company, known as the railroad combine in the northwest, was declared unlawful, the people of those states where that octopus flourished were in the seventh heaven of delight, and considered reduced freight and passenger charges a certainty. They have been disappointed and the same old rates are still being exacted.

When the beef trust was dissolved by the federal court for conspiring in restraint of trade, we all expected a reduction in beef prices. We are all disappointed, for the old prices still prevail. The prosecution of the coal and paper trust seems to have a similar effect, for the price of coal and paper has not diminished.

Now this way of busting trusts is no doubt the legal way of doing it, for there are numerous assistant attorney generals being paid reasonably large salaries, much more than they could earn elsewhere, to prosecute the trusts, and congress appropriated $500,000 to pay their fees and the legal expenses, but the results obtained have all been legal victories, and of no practical service to their employers, the American people. These attorneys were selected as the best republican talent available, but either they do not understand the art of trust busting or peradventure if even one trust was actually put out of commission the other trusts would take fright, and the occupation of trust busting would be obsolete.

Looking at the political advantage of trust busting, from the administration standpoint, of course it is not desirable to control all the trusts by putting a few trust magnates behind the bars. That would close out the only real good political asset the party in power possesses.

Those voters who have been indulging for the past ten years or more in their republican debauch are slowly awakening to the fact that trust busting is not a republican accomplishment, but rather that trust fostering has been, and is, its most noted achievement.

CRITICISM AND COMMENT.

——If the railroads would give free passes to all of us that can't afford to pay fare, instead of to senators, congressmen, judges and rich people generally, there would not be so much grumbling from the many, but what a howl the few would raise.

——When congress meets again we shall hear some more news about ship subsidy. It's not dead, only sleeping.

——There is something wrong with the Taft jaunt to the Philippines, all the big men are declining to go, and the small fry doesn't count in congress.

Block Island, R. I.

Sweltering humanity is contianually on the lookout for a summer resort, with all that that much abused term means, and which will approach somewhere near the ideal in giving relief from the enervating influences of the well-nigh torrid heat in the so-called temperate zone. Block Island, R. I., which lies twenty miles eastward of Montauk Point, Long Island, has, like Fire Island, Long Island, been best known to a few rare ones as part of the temperate zone that is always cool—hot days on this quaint island being absolutely unknown. The U.S. Weather Bureau reports 66 degrees as the average, a fact easily accounted for, because the island lies twenty-five miles off the New England coast, and is not affected by land breezes, all winds coming across miles of the ocean's cooling surface.

The little island is seven miles long and three miles wide. Its north coast is precipitous. High bluffs rise from its moss-strewn gravelly beaches, and furnish glorious points of vantage from which to enjoy the grand water view and the green sward of the island, which rolls down to the South until it meets the ocean and dips into it at the superb bathing beach. Its natural harbor has been much improved by engineering skill. It has great fleets of pleasure crafts, as well as the staunch and hardy fishing boats, which include in their continual catches the sword fish, whose flesh is as toothsome as his nature is villainous. To the lovers of shells and other marine life Block Island is a perfect paradise. The island, of course, is equipped with lighthouse, life-saving station, also all the necessities of modern civilization, including churches and a library.

A new route has just been established, making the journey from New York to Block Island, in 4½ hours. The Long Island Railroad, leaving New York City, foot 34th Street, E. R., 10:30 a. m., lands the American who is hunting for a cool spot, at Fort Pond Bay, Montauk Point, at 1:36 p. m., and the fast and staunch steamer "Montauk" makes the trip to Block Island, landing the happy traveler at 3:00 p. m., and here in a region free from mosquitoes and where malaria is unknown a happy summer may be spent with much of interest every waking hour. For the busy man with limited time, a week's sojourn gives all the benefits of an ocean voyage, with none of its discomforts. For the martyrs of that dreaded and little understood disease, called "rose-cold" and "hay fever" Block Island has long been known as nature's sanitarium, and many a sufferer looks forward to the time spent on Block Island with heartfelt gratitude, as here, and here alone, he has been free from a scourge that other territories and copious dosing have done little to allay.

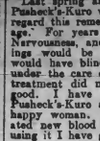
After a successful medical campaign against the "lazy worm" in Porto Rico, a similar one might be undertaken in this country. It is anaemia that troubles the tramps.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

TWO YEARS OF AGONY.

One Cake of Cuticura Soap and One Box of Cuticura Cured Baby's Awful Humor.

"When my sister was eighteen months old a humor broke out on her shoulders, extending clear across the back. For two years it caused her intense suffering. It would scab over and then crack open and a watery matter ooze from it. Then the scabs would fall off and it would be raw for a time. We had several different doctors and tried everything we could think of, but without effecting a cure. Then we got one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, which cured her completely and without scar or blemish. (Signed) Lillie Chase Walker, 5 Tremont St., Woodfords, Me."

It is easy enough to make an airship that will fly. The manufacture of one that will light according to programme is the problem of real difficulty.—Washington Star.



P. O. Box 297, Little Rock, Ark.

Last spring and summer I used Dr. Pusheck's-Kuro with marvelous results. I regard this remedy as the wonder of the age. For years I have suffered with Nervousness, and when I got up mornings would be dizzy and for moments would have blind staggers. I have been under the care of four physicians; their treatment did not do me a particle of good. I have used three packages of Pusheck's-Kuro, and am now a well and happy woman. Pusheck's-Kuro has created new blood and flesh for me; since using it I have gained [illegible] pounds. I lose no opportunity to recommend it to my many friends here. Very respectfully,

Mrs. W. Oury.

A lid is sometimes blown off by the power of steam, but hot air can only make it rattle.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A WOMAN'S MISERY.

Mrs. John LaRue, of 115 Paterson Avenue, Paterson, N. J., says: "I was troubled for about nine years, and what I suffered no one will ever know. I used about every known remedy that is said to be good for kidney complaint, but without deriving permanent relief. Often when alone in the house the back ache has been so bad that it brought tears to my eyes. The pain at times was so intense that I was compelled to give up my household duties and lie down. There were headaches, dizziness and blood rushing to my head to cause bleeding at the nose. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills benefited me so much that I continued the treatment. The stinging pain in the small of my back, the rushes of blood to the head and other symptoms disappeared."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers, 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brentwood

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

A. N. K.—B 2083

Facts Are Stubborn Things

Uniform excellent quality for over a quarter of a century has steadily increased the sales of LION COFFEE, The leader of all package coffees.

Lion Coffee

is now used in millions of homes. Such popular success speaks for itself. It is a positive proof that LION COFFEE has the Confidence of the people.

The uniform quality of LION COFFEE survives all opposition.

LION COFFEE keeps its old friends and makes new ones every day.

LION COFFEE has even more than its Strength, Flavor and Quality to commend it. On arrival from the plantation, it is carefully roasted at our factories and securely packed in 1 lb. sealed packages, and not opened again until needed for use in the home. This precludes the possibility of adulteration or contact with germs, dirt, dust, insects or unclean hands. The absolute purity of LION COFFEE is therefore guaranteed to the consumer.

Sold only in 1 lb. packages. Lion-head on every package.
Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Lewis and Clark Exposition

$56½ Chicago to Portland and return every day this summer

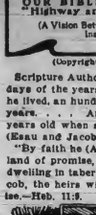
The first great exposition of the resources and the products of the Great Northwest will be held at Portland, Oregon, this summer. Portland is best reached via the

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway

Choice of routes is offered. Via St. Paul and Minneapolis —the route of The Pioneer Limited—via Omaha and Ogden —the route of The Overland Limited—or via Omaha and Denver, past the wonderful panorama of Rocky Mountain scenery. Another good route is via Kansas City and the Southwest Limited. It is a good time now to plan your trip.

F. A. MILLER,
General Passenger Agent, Chicago.

GRANDFATHER ABRAHAM



OUR BIBLE STORY by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1900, by J. M. Edson.)

Scripture Authority:—"And these are the days of the years of Abraham's life which he lived, an hundred three score and fifteen years. . . . And Isaac was threescore years old when she (Rebekah) bare them (Esau and Jacob).—Gen. 25:7, 26.

"By faith he (Abraham) sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the some promise.—Heb. 11:9.

TELL us that story again, grandpa," pleaded the childish voice, eagerly.

"What story?" questioned the gray-haired patriarch, his eyes twinkling mischievously, and hesitating in a tantalizing way, knowing full well what story the little Jacob wanted.

"You know, grandpa! The one about Noah, and how he built the ark and rode on the flood, and the rainbow, and—"

"Oh, no, tell us about Nimrod, who was such a mighty hunter," eagerly spoke up the other lad. "I like to hear how he killed the great beasts, and was not afraid of anything. I'm going to be a hunter some day, just like Nimrod!" and, seizing a stick lying on the ground, he swung it vigorously above his head and brought it down with a sounding whack on the trunk of the great tree under which they were resting.

"That's the way I'll knock the wild beasts I meet," he cried, boastfully, puffing with the energy he had put into his blow.

"Did I ever tell you the story of Cain and Abel? No, not the sad, sad one of the fatal quarrel and the flight from home of Cain. That was the sequel, the culmination of earlier wrong-doing, for failure and crime are not hatched in a minute, but are the cumulative effects of earlier habits and misdeeds."

"Did you know Cain and Abel, grandpa?" questioned Jacob, who viewed the gray hairs of the old man as evidence that he had lived long enough to have known almost everybody about whom he talked.

Abraham laughed as he replied:

"Your grandfather has lived a good many years, and is getting pretty old—a hundred three score and ten—but his acquaintance does not go back as far as that. Noah told me the story as he heard it from the lips of his grandfather, Methuselah, and Methuselah, you will remember, lived to be a very, very old man; in fact, he lived the longest of any man of whom we have any record, and he heard the story from Adam's own lips."

"Is there anything about animals and hunting in the story, grandpa," broke in Esau, who was impatient over the interruption, and cared little whether his grandfather had known Cain and Abel or not. In fact all he cared for in a story was the stir and action. Details were wearisome to him He could wait all day to find out the nesting place of some coveted bird, or he could study with greatest care and patience the habits of fox or hare so that he might be able to set his trap to capture them, but to listen to dry facts or the details of a story he would not if he could help it.

"You'll have to take the story as it comes, and see for yourself. Grandfather is not going to pick out the plums for you and leave the dry but wholesome bread untouched," responded the aged patriarch, as he drew the boy closer to his side and looked down earnestly into his face. He had long since come to realize that there was a depth to Jacob which was lacking in Esau, and he was anxious to awaken in the latter an interest and desire for something beyond the mere physical and material. That morning a little episode had occurred which brought this characteristic of the lad fresh to his attention.

The two boys had been sent by their father Isaac with a message to one of the herdsmen down the valley, directing him to select two of the finest lambs in the flock and send them back by Esau and Jacob, as he desired to make an offering unto the Lord, and instructing the boys to be careful and see that no harm or injury came to the lambs in bringing them home, "for," said Isaac, with emphasis, "our offering to the Lord must be without blemish."

Thus admonished, the brothers started off. In good time they arrived at the point where the herd was feeding, and, having delivered their message and having been provided with two of the very finest lambs in the splendid flock by the careful herdsman, they started back towards home, leading the gentle creatures by the long leathern thongs.

Now it chanced that their pathway led over the route usually taken by traders in their journeying to and fro between Egypt and the eastern country, and it happened that day that they met a company of these merchants, who had halted under the shade of the little grove of trees and were preparing to cook their meal, having traveled during the cool of the early morning.

As the boys came up leading their lambs, the fine appearance of the latter attracted the attention of the merchants and they offered to buy them.

"We may not sell them, for they are to provide an offering to the Lord which our father is to make," promptly spoke up Jacob, and started on, calling to Esau to follow.

But the latter lingered, his eyes having fallen on some of the merchandise which lay about. Jacob walked on some distance, and then noting that Esau was not behind him, he turned and looked back to see what had become of him. Just as he was about to return and find out why he tarried, he saw him leave the camp leading his lamb, and waited where he stood for him to come up. As he drew near he saw that the lamb he was leading was not the fine sleek one which he had brought from the herd, and said:

"Why, Esau, what have you done with your lamb, and why have you this one instead?"

"Well, it's a lamb, ain't it? and a good one, too," he ejaculated, testily. "I traded my lamb for this, and the merchants gave me this hunting knife to boot."

"But you know how particular father is about the lambs for the offering, and you can see for yourself that it is poor and imperfect beside the other one."

"Well, I don't know why it is not as good to kill and burn up as the other one would have been," he stubbornly contended. "And I have the knife, too," he added, fondling it with a satisfied air.

And thus it was that on their return home Isaac had sharply reprimanded Esau, but the lad apparently did not realize why one lamb was not as good as another to offer to the Lord. It troubled Grandfather Abraham, and that afternoon as he saw the two boys coming towards him this other story of Cain and Abel came to his mind, and he resolved to tell it, and now that he had quieted them down and had their attention, he began:

"Cain and Abel were twin brothers, just as you boys are, and they were about your ages, or perhaps a little older, at the time of our story. Little did they realize then that they were to become the centers of the tragedy of that first home. They were bright, active, happy boys, and their parents loved them dearly and sought in every way to have them grow up into ways of usefulness and honor.

[Note.—Cain and Abel were probably twins, and it is thought that, at this early period, children were born in pairs (Caleb).]

"You boys know how particular your father is in regard to the Sabbath day, not willing that any work shall be performed therein, for the Lord after His six days of creative work rested on the seventh day, blessing and sanctifying it. Well, Adam and Eve were as particular, and sought to impress their boys with the sacredness of the day. The customary toil and activities of the other days of the week ceased and the day was given over to rest, and when the occasional sacrifice was offered, it was offered on the seventh day.

"Now Cain early manifested a liking for the fruitful fields, while Abel's desires turned in the direction of the flocks and herds. And in the course of time, as the boys grew into sturdy strippings, the father gave to each the desire of his heart. To Cain he gave a small plot of ground and instructed him in the cultivation thereof. Abel he took from his flocks some of the finest of his sheep and showed him how to tend them. Thus the days passed and Cain and Abel seemed contented and happy. The family enjoyed life together and, as we have said, their Sabbath days were carefully observed.

"But one Sabbath day soon after Cain had been given his plot of ground he started for his field, anxious to finish an arbor which he was building as a shelter. In spite of the entreaties of his parents he persisted in going, impatiently declaring it was no worse for him to do that than for Abel to watch his sheep and keep them from straying. You see he was letting the mere desire of the present warp and twist his ideas of right, and made him deaf to the advice and entreaties of his mother and father. He was willful, and wanted his own way, right or wrong.

"Well, he finished his arbor, and a very pretty place it was, but he did not find the pleasure and comfort in it that he had expected, for his conscience troubled him. If he had only taken warning then and instead of stifling the better nature within him had yielded to his better promptings and repented of his willfulness and wrong doing, perhaps it would never have been said of him that he slew his brother. But he wanted his own way too much, and that pleasant arbor became the snare which led his feet farther and farther away from the right way, for instead of staying at home on the Sabbath days and listening to his father as he talked about God, and sharing in the worship and sacrifice, he would slip off to his arbor and spend the day there. Somehow, you see, he did not enjoy the worship of the Sabbath days because his heart was not right. He did not want to hear about God. He just wanted to know Cain and to please Cain.

"And that is the other story of Cain and Abel," concluded the grandfather. "But there blows the horn and supper must be ready. Let us be going."

"I should like to have seen Cain's arbor," spoke up Esau as they started homeward, being apparently unimpressed by the moral teachings of the story.

"But, grandpa, I should have thought he would have cared more about God and what God thought of him," thoughtfully rejoined Jacob, apparently deeply impressed.

And grandfather patted his head appreciatively and said with fervor:

"God bless thee, my son, and make thee a blessing." And then, as though unwilling to leave Esau out, he finished with: "And God will bless thee, too, my lad, if you will but receive it."

Old French Battleground.

A curious discovery has been made in the course of some excavations that have been in progress in St. Martin de Re, in France. The excavators unearthed trenches in which lay skeletons which were, presumably, those of the citizens who fell fighting there in defending the town against the English in 1627. Among the skeletons was found a spherical iron bomb containing a moist black powder, which was found to consist of about a third of niter, a third of carbon and a fifth of sulphur, the remainder being iron oxide derived from the rusting of the iron shell.

Valuable Forests.

Liberia's forestry resources offer an inviting field for a lucrative business in hard woods. The virgin forests consist of woods of great commercial value, and there are ample water facilities for sawmills. There are two varieties of mahogany—red and gray; four varieties of oak—red, streaked, white and whistmore; cedar, rosewood, mangrove, burrwood, white and black gum, etc.

Marked an Epoch.

Regular Customer—I suppose you don't remember that remarkable change in the weather that happened on the 18th of June, 1887?

Grocer—No; how does it happen that you remember the date so accurately?

"Because that was the day on which you sold me the last good cantaloupe I've ever bought at your store."—Chicago Tribune.

Admirer of Paine.

Miss S. Elizabeth Jones, of Philadelphia, for ten years past has provided a handsome wreath to decorate the portrait of Thomas Paine in Independence hall, Philadelphia, on Memorial day. Miss Jones says that while she lives this annual honor will be paid to the memory of Paine, whom she regards as one of the greatest men America has produced.

The Celtic Fringe.

There is a great deal of unreality in much of the talk about the Celtic fringe. Ireland might be rightly described as of mingled Celtic and Teutonic origin, with the Celt slightly predominating. The differences between Irish and English people are really more climatic than racial, says London Sphere.

No American Merchants.

Although Liberia was founded by American philanthropy America is not represented there by a single firm. England and Germany monopolize its trade, a five-cent cotton cloth having a value of 24 cents when offered in barter for coffee, palm oil, palm wine, ivory, skins and rubber.

Quiet, Yet Busy Life.

"Although I work a good many hours a day, my life is a very quiet and restful one. I do not worry. I am fond of fun, and I like good fellows. I do not want to deal with mean men or men whose whole lives are devoted to getting money."—Thomas A. Edison.

Melted the Glucose.

"Powdered sugar? No, I always take lump sugar in iced tea." said a lady at the restaurant the other day. "Powdered sugar," she confided to her friend, "is too largely adulterated," and she ordered a little hot water to melt the lump of sugar.

Russia's Retribution.

Autocracy, repression and savage tyranny are sure to breed resistance in the long run. In the harvest of discontent, breaking into open and bloody strife, Russia is simply reaping what she has long been sowing.—Troy Times.

MARKET REPORT.

Cincinnati, July 15.

CATTLE—Common.	$3 25	@	4 00
Heavy steers	4 65	@	5 25
CALVES—Extra	6 25	@	6 50
HOGS—Ch. packers	5 75	@	5 85
Mixed packers	5 70	@	5 75
SHEEP—Extra	4 65	@	4 75
LAMBS—Spring	8 40	@	8 50
FLOUR—Spring pat.	6 00	@	6 35
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	90	@	92
No. 3 red		@	91
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	59
No. 2 white		@	59½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	33½
RYE—No. 2 new	65	@	70
HAY—Ch. timothy		@	12 50
PORK—Clear mess.		@	14 10
LARD—Steam	7 12½	@	7 25
BUTTER—Ch. dairy.		@	14
Choice creamery		@	22
APPLES—Choice	3 50	@	4 00
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 25	@	1 50
TOBACCO—New	5 00	@	13 00
Old	4 50	@	14 75

Chicago.

FLOUR—Winter pat.	5 10	@	5 20
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	90	@	91
No. 3 red	95	@	1 05
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	57
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	32½	@	32⅝
RYE—No. 2		@	75
PORK—Mess	12 65	@	12 70
LARD—Steam	7 05	@	7 07½

New York.

FLOUR—Win. st'rts.	4 60	@	4 65
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	90	@	1 00
CORN—No. 2 mixed.	61	@	62
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	35½	@	36½
RYE—Western		@	82½
PORK—Mess	13 50	@	14 25
LARD—Steam		@	7 30

Baltimore.

WHEAT—No. 2 red.	90	@	90¼
CORN—No. 2 mixed.	63	@	63½
CATTLE—Steers	4 00	@	4 50
SHEEP—No. 1	3 00	@	3 50

Louisville.

CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	60
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	36
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	35
PORK—Mess		@	11 00
LARD—Steam		@	6 50

Indianapolis.

WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	90
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	55½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	31¾

DENTIST'S ENTERPRISE.

Took Unique Method of Making People Aquainted with His Business.

A young man with ingenuity enough to warrant success recently identified himself with a Milwaukee church that boasts of having one of the largest congregations in the city, relates the Evening Wisconsin.

He made himself generally useful, offering to sing in the choir, teach Sunday school, act as usher, or do anything that would help the good cause along. He was finally asked to serve in the capacity of usher, which he did with great alacrity.

As he passed the collection box the minister noticed that he handed each person a slip of white paper. At first the minister supposed they were the envelopes in which the money for specified purposes is usually inclosed, but after a few Sundays of assiduous work on the part of the usher, the minister decided to investigate.

He discovered that the young man was a struggling young dentist, and was handing out his business cards.

As Old Age Sees It.

Little James—Father, what are follies?

Father—Amusements that we have grown tired of, my son.—Stray Stories.

Reads Like a Miracle.

Moravia, N. Y., July 17th.—(Special)—Bordering on the miraculous is the case of Mrs. Benj. Wilson, of this place. Suffering from Sugar Diabetes, she wasted away till from weighing 200 lbs. she barely tipped the scales at 130 lbs. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her. Speaking of her cure her husband says:—

"My wife suffered everything from Sugar Diabetes. She was sick four years and doctored with two doctors, but received no benefit. She had so much pain all over her that she could not rest day or night. The doctors said that she could not live.

"Then an advertisement led me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and they helped her right from the first. Five boxes of them cured her. Dodd's Kidney Pills were a God-sent remedy to us, and we recommend them to all suffering from Kidney Disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney Diseases, including Bright's Disease, and all Kidney aches, including Rheumatism.

When a man boasts that he is the descendant of some great man he should not be criticised. Usually he has no other occasion for boasting.

It Cures While You Walk.

Allen's Foot-Ease is a certain cure for hot, sweating, callous, and swollen, aching feet. Sold by all Druggists, Price 25c. Don't accept any substitute. Trial package FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

After all, most of us get only cold stares from adversity and suppressed snickers from fortune.—N. Y. Mail.

I am sure Piso's Cure for Consumption saved my life three years ago.—Mrs. Thos. Robbine, Norwich, N. Y., Feb. 17, 1900.

A confession a man often makes: "I've done the same thing myself."—Atchison Globe.

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart-beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her menstrual period she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up: you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

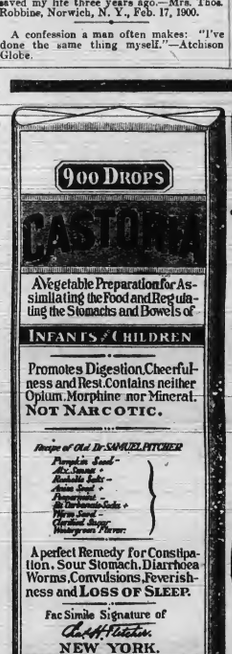
But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.



Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

CHEAP RATES California, Washington, Oregon, Colorado. We secure reduced rates on household goods to the above States for incoming settlers. Write for rates. MAP of CALIFORNIA FREE. Trans-Continental Freight Co., 365 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

PENSIONS on age at 62.—Civil War; or on disability, any war, and for widows. Has records of most boys; soldiers' service, and ages of Ohio men. 20 years practice. Law and advice FREE. A. W. McCORMICK & SONS, 516 Walnut St., CINCINNATI, O.

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Don't Be Without Them In Your Home They Are Always Ready to Serve

Lunch Tongues — Veal Loaf
Boneless Chicken — Dried Beef
Brisket Beef — Soups
Jellied Hocks — Baked Beans

Ask Your Grocer

The Booklet "How to Make Good Things to Eat" sent free.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

Cuticura SOAP

Physicians, nurses, pharmacists, and chemists throughout the world endorse Cuticura Soap because of its delicate, medicinal, emollient, sanative, and antiseptic properties derived from Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, united with the purest of cleansing ingredients and most refreshing of flower odors. For preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet and bath, Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the great Skin Cure, is priceless. Guaranteed absolutely pure, and may be used from the hour of birth.

Two Soaps in one at one price—namely, a Medicinal and Toilet Soap for 25c. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. Mailed Free, "How to Care for Baby's Skin, Scalp, and Hair."

FREE! FOR HOT WEATHER

A BOTTLE OF

Mull's Grape Tonic

TO ALL WHO WRITE FOR IT NOW

It will protect you against the dangers of heat.

Constipation or Decaying Bowels Cause Diarrhea, Cholera, Stomach Trouble and Dyspepsia.

Blood Disorders, Skin Eruptions, Bad Complexion, Sun Stroke, Heat Prostration.

Diarrhea, cholera, bowel trouble, etc., are symptoms of Constipation. Constipation means practically dead intestines and poisoned blood. Constipation is most dangerous during hot weather on account of Sun Strokes—Heat Debility—Prostration. If you suddenly check dysentery—fatal blood poison may result—a physic weakens and does not remove the cause, makes you worse. Dysentery, Cholera and Bowel Troubles disappear when Constipation is cured.

Revive and strengthen the intestines or bowels before they decay from inactivity and contact with rotting food. Until Mull's Grape Tonic was put on the American market there was no cure for Constipation.

We will now prove to you that Mull's Grape Tonic will protect you against heat prostration and that it cures Constipation, Blood disorders, Stomach and Bowel Trouble. It acts as food to the blood and intestines, cleanses and strengthens them and ejects the poison and decayed matter. Mull's Grape Tonic is nearly 50 per cent. Grape, which renders it a splendid tonic for the system during hot weather.

WRITE FOR THIS FREE BOTTLE TO-DAY

Good for Ailing Children and Nursing Mothers

FREE COUPON.

Send this coupon with your name and address and your druggist's name, for a free bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic, Stomach Tonic and Constipation Cure.

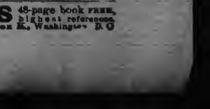
Mull's Grape Tonic Co., 147 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

Give Full Address and Write Plainly

The $1.00 bottle contains nearly three times the 50c size. At drug stores.

The genuine has a date and number stamped on the label—take no other from your druggist.

$25.00 Cream Separator



FOR $25.00 we sell the celebrated ARGO CREAM SEPARATOR, capacity, 300 pounds per hour; 350 pounds capacity per hour for $29.00; 400 pounds capacity per hour for $34.00. Many other sizes. The equal of Separators that RETAIL EVERYWHERE at from $75.00 to $125.00.

OUR OFFER. We will ship you a Separator on 60 days' free trial plan, with the binding understanding and agreement if you do not find by comparison, test and use that it will obtain closer, skim colder milk, skim cleaner, run lighter and skim one-half more milk than any other cream Separator made, you can return the Separator to us at our expense and we will immediately return any money you may have paid for freight charges or otherwise. Cut this ad. out at once and mail to us, and you will receive by return mail, free, postpaid, our LATEST SPECIAL CREAM SEPARATOR CATALOGUE. You will get our big offer and our free trial proposition and you will receive the MOST ASTONISHINGLY LIBERAL CREAM SEPARATOR OFFER EVER HEARD OF. Address,

SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., CHICAGO.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with this peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness, cures leucorrhœa and nasal catarrh.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

PATENTS 48-page book FREE. Highest references. Best results. FITZGERALD & CO., Box B., Washington, D. C.

BOONE CO., RECORDER
Wednesday, - - July 19, 1905.
W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

The green apple and appendicitis are touring the country together.

County Judge Cason has not been able to come down to his office this moeth.

The Georgetown Times will issue an illustrated edition on the 15th of next month.

An Arctic explorer ought no to have much truoble organizing a crew when the weather is as torrid as at present.

Who is boss of the Newport jail is a proposition that it might be well to refer to the Hague.

The wheat crop has been damaged considerably in the shock by the rain, in some parts of the State.

Indications are that the farmers are in no hurry to rush their wheat to market, being able to hold their crop for the best prices, which is the right thing to do.

The Kentucky Press Association will hold its annual meeting at Crab Orchard, this year, beginning next Monday. The usual junket has been cut out, and the boys will devote their time to business, and partake of the pleasures that famous resort affords.

At a meeting of the Board of Control of the Kentucky State Fair, one day last week, the announcement was made that the premium list will probably reach $25,000. The agricultural and stock displays are expected to be the greatest in the history of the State.

Mrs. Will Reynolds, of Daviess county, who nursed a pet dog a flicted with hydrophobia about a year ago, has been stricken with the disease. The dog did not bite her, and it is supposed that she was inoculated by the poison through some slight abrasion of the skin.

They do say that the Democratic factions in Covington have kissed and made up, each faction agreeing to toat fair in the approaching primary election for selecting a Democratic county ticket. A primary election in Covington, or Louisville, that is conceded by all party factions to have been fair will be a forerunner of the millennium.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has ordered a sweeping investigation of the charges that the figures on the condition and acreage of tobacco were juggled at the behest of the tobacco trust. Agents will be sent to Kentucky and in the meantime the July report will be held back. The growers claim that the decrease in the crop prospects may amount to as much as 50 per cent.

Hon. O. P. Hogan, of Grant county, Democratic nominee for State Senator in the district composed of Grant, Bracken and Pendleton counties, will have no opposition at the polls next November. The Republican bosses in that district met in Falmouth, a few days ago, and resolved that it was not expedient to nominate a candidate for State Senator. Good luck has overtaken the genial doctor at least once in his political career.

Judge Albert S. Berry, of Newport; Judge John M. Lassing, of this county, and Prof. A. C. Collins, of Covington, are the Sixth District members of the Educational Improvement Commission of Kentucky, organized at the recent State Educational Convention held at Mammoth Cave. The members of the commission were chosen for three years, each being selected because of his especial fitness for the work.

A good Republican exchange says; "Is there no end to the corruption of employes of the government in the departments at Washington? The postoffice department, the interior department, and now the agricultural department, have each revealed brazen dishonesty and graft of the meanest sort. Why, too, have these matters been so long concealed and the people told things were all right? The exposures in the federal service at this time are beating the records, and disclosing how long and safely rascals have been fattening themselves by rascality not so slick that it ought to have gone so long without detection."

Everything points to continued prosperity in the sheep industry. A western wool buyer of one of the leading houses of Boston, after a full survey of the field says:

"We are paying from 24 to 26 cents for wool in Montana, an unprecedentedly high price for the product. I see no reason why the present high prices should not continue for an indefinite time. They may not be quite so high as this next year, but will remain at a high notch. The present high price for wool is the result of natural causes, and not the result of shortage in the wool crop anywhere else. It is due to the fact that there is a great demand for the manufactured product by the eastern mills. The United States is only producing now about two-thirds of the wool consumed by its manufacturers."

THE Harrodsburg Herald says: "Several farmers in the Herald office Saturday gave it as their opinion that it would be but very few years until no wheat would be raised if English sparrows multiplied in the future as they have in the past. One of them said that he had the best wheat prospects in years until it began to ripen. Then myriads of sparrows swooped down upon the field and each would light on a stalk and the weight would either break the stalk or crush it to the ground and then the little pests would devour every grain in the head. Each grower said it was astonishing how much wheat these little birds could devour. It was the opinion of all that stringent and united measures should be adopted to exterminate the sparrows. One of them said that the best plan would be to grind two or three bushels of wheat and mix paris green with it and scatter it on the snow, and they would die by the hogshead full, but if only one man tried it they would not be missed, but if every farmer will try this next winter they can almost be wiped out. Six said they were going to try the poison plan and get their neighbors to follow suit."

We have many times published the methods of energetic and intelligent farmers, in restoring fertility to rundown lands. Many instances have been cited where such lands were bought very cheaply and in a few years of intelligent application have been made very productive and profitable. Most of this class of lands in the central states have good clay subsoil, which affords a fine opportunity for resuscitation. Tile drainage and deep plowing are the first steps to be taken in bringing up such lands. Deep plowing reaches down to elements of fertility not much drawn upon, and tile drainage both areates and draws off excessive and stagnant water. Then barnyard manure is used with good effect in making clover or other legume crops catch. Once this is accomplished the owner of such land has a sure promise of future fertility. Occasionally commercial fertilizers are necessary when manure is not plentiful. With the growth of the legumes there is promise of good live stock conditions, and with live stock to consume the crops comes more abundant manure, and this may be followed with grain and other crops in the rotation which rapidly increases both the fertility and productive character of such lands. In nearly every instance mentioned of restored fertility to wornout lands, farmers, of very moderate means but full of intelligent energy, have accomplished this work. They have usually obtained such lands in the older states, convenient to good markets and counted on such factors as worth much to them for their outlay of patience and energy, and have so succeeded in raising cheap lands to double the amount paid for them. While red clover has been the favorite legume in this restoration, in parts of southern Illinois cow peas which also deposit nitrogen in the soil, and humus, too, when plowed under, have become a favorite plant in the work of restoring fertility. The live stock industry when such soils have been restored is a sure guarantee of continued fertility. This has proven the case in almost every instance we have cited, and when convenient to good markets the dairy industry has led the rest.—Indiana Farmer.

From the reading of the proceedings of the Republican Convention in Louisville, last Monday night, it is evident that only a few Republicans had much to say in the disposition of the work before the convention. The citizens ticket was forced on to the party.

GEORGE RICHEY

For the Killing of John Warner and Wm. Smith Held Under $3,000 Bond—Goes to Jail Until the Sitting of the Grand Jury.

The examining trial of George Richey, alias Briar Utz, was held before Esq. M. C. Norman in Burlington, last Thursday morning in the presence of about 75 persons. The Commonwealth was represented by County Attorney D. E. Castleman. The defendant was represented by Joel C. Clore, of Cincinnati, and G. C. Hughes, of Burlington. Mat J. Day, of Cincinnati, was present in the capacity of stenographer tor the defense. Bruce Anderson the only eyewitness to the tragedy was examined. No other testimony was offered by either side. Esquire Norman fixed the defendant's bail at $3,000, and he was returned to jail to remain until the sitting of the next grand jury unless he gives the bond required for his appearance at the next term of the Boone circuit court.

Anderson testified that an old family quarrel was renewed that involved Mrs. John Warner, Smith's daughter; that after a few angry words had passed between Smith and Richey that Smith began to strike Richey on the head with a piece of a hoop off of a barrel, or a piece of a stick resembling a hoop; the licks seemed to stun Richey, who was hit several times, when he leaned forward, drew his knife from his pocket, opened it and made a swipe at Smith, who fell, having received the knife in his side; Smith got right up and started up the pike away from his house; Richey followed him; Smith did not go far until he went down a bank from the road. The witness did not know whether Smith fell over the bank, or jumped over or was knocked over by Richey. Just as Smith went over the bank Warner ran up to Richey, and exclaimed, "you s——n of a b——h!" and dealt Richey a severe blow on the side of the face with his fist, and to this Richey responded with a backward stroke of his knife, giving Warner the fatal cut. After Smith went down the bank from the road, he went to his house only a few yards away, and got his shot gun and appeared on the scene to continue the fight. Anderson said he went to Smith and succeeded in getting him back to the house. He then went to see about Warner. Richey had gone to his home which is about fifty yards from the scene of the cutting. Efforts were then made to secure a doctor for the wounded men, but it was some time before one arrived.

Dr. Hays, of Bullittsville, who attended Warner, was put on the stand and described the wound.

Smith lived until about one o'clock last Thursday, and was buried last Friday in the Wilson burying ground on the river below Constance, where the remains of his son-in-law, John Warner, were interred only a few days before.

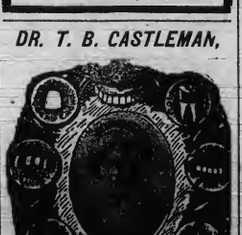
Richey is in jail in default of the bond fixed by the examining court, where he will likely remain through choice, if for no other reason, until the next term of the Boone circuit court, which will convene on August 14th, when he will be indicted. He expects to be ready and to demand a trial as soon as the indictments are returned into court.

"The opening of the year saw an upward tendency in the market on all grades. This strength continued until the last week in March, at which time the tobacco growers' organization was a known failure. During April the receipts largely increased, and, as usual, the presence of considerable tobacco in soft order caused a weakness in the market. The opening of May brought new strength to the market, and a tone of speculation, which was occasioned by rumors that the buying movements of the previous spring were again to be duplicated. The American Tobacco Company, which had been purchasing freely of the old 1903 crop, which had greatly augmented the May offerings, suddenly ceased purchasing. This seemed to cause a collapse in the miniature boom which had been growing, and during June the market was normal and inclined to downward tendencies, this condition being due mainly, it is believed, to the fine prospects of the growing 1905 crop. —Cincinnati Tobacco Journal.

Let us kindly call the attention of everyone to the extreme exquisite beauty and loveliness of the courthouse yard. It is a perfect garden, with every variety of weed known to the world. There is the horse weed, the jimpsons, the thistles, the dog fennel, white top, iron weed, mullein and milk-weed and that beautiful mustard bloom. Just now the yard is in full bloom and is beyond doubt a thing of beauty bidding fair to be a joy forever. Five dollars fine will be imposed on any one caught in the act of molesting this beautiful garden.—Owen Democrat.

A city girl writes: "It is a fond dream of mine to become a farmer's wife and meander with him down life's pathway." Ah, yes, that is a nice thing, but when your husband meanders off and leaves you without wood and you have to meander up and down the lane pulling splinters off the fence to cook dinner, and when you meander along in the wet grass in search of the cows till your shoes are the color of rawhide and your stockings soaked, and when you meander out across twenty acres of plowed ground with a club to drive the hogs out of the cornfield and tear your dress on the barbedwire fence, when you meander back home to the house, find that the billy goat has butted the stuffin' out of your child and find the hen with forty chickens in the parlor, you'll put your hands on your hips and realize that meandering is not what it is cracked up to be. —Osborne (Kan.) News.

A car load of prime grade Hereford beef cattle sold in the Chicago market a few days ago at $6 25. That is a wide margin from $4.75 to $5.25. What made the difference? It was simply good breeding and good feeding. The latter without the former would not make $6.25 cattle, neither would good breeding alone accomplish it. It requires both to sell beef cattle at $6.25, and it is about as easy to have both factors as it is to go into market with $4.75 cattle. They can be built with pure sires and selected grade dams and finished with proper feeding. That is all there is to it, and $20 to $30 per steer more is worth the extra pains to have such cattle to market. They can be grown from Hereford, Shorthorn, Polled Angus and several other beef breeds. The first step is a pure bred sire, the second good grade dams, and third proper feeding on balance rations that can be grown on the farm. All a very plain matter, to be sure.



You do not cleanse yourself by smutting everyone else.

Deposits Earning Interest.
THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY, Inc.
N. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, KY.
Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice,
ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.
Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.
It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.
In its several departments, THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY
Acts as Agent; Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc; Attends carefully to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.
—ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL—
CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.
Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.
JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President
C. W. KIMBALL, Sec'y & Treas.
Long Distance Telephone, South 914.

J. G. BENTLER & SON,
Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.
Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing and Wagon Repairing of all kinds,
All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.
Grinding of all Kinds to Order.
Hay and Grain,
AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,
By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices.
Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

H. VON LEHMEN,
—HAND-MADE—
Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,
ALSO SECOND HAND
PHAETONS, PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,
CHEAP.
No. 152 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, - KY.
REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ICED-TEA
to be good, healthful and refreshing must be made from pure tea free from adulterations such as hay, straw and weeds which are ussd in many teas as a "filler." Don't buy the cheap trash.
We can sell you
"Capitol" a fine blend pound, 60c
"Sunbeam" our finest Blend, pound 75c
Gunpowder, pound 60 & 75c
YOUNG-HYSON, a fine Mild Tea, lb 75c
and several other vatieties which also make a delicious
Hot Tea.
GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,
—GROCER.—
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, KY.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.
Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.
PRICES REASONABLE.
Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone county.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.
Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.
Successors to Clemens Hellman.
LUMBER DEALERS,
Manufacturers of
Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.
White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar, Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings., Etc.
COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.
Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122
H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.

"A SQUARE DEAL."
THIS famous phrase is the one on which we have built our reputation; only we have called it "BUSINESS HONESTY AND INTEGRITY." We believe in the square deal to every one, and we live up to it. If we said everything we would like to say about our Clothing it might sound like gross exageration.
We will say, however, to any man who is looking for CLOTHING that we give you the Style, Quality Fit, Workmanship
—WE HAVE A NICE LINE OF—
SPRING AND SUMMER SUITS
—BROKEN SIZES. WE SELL—
Men's $7.50 Suits.....now $5.00
Men's $10.00 Suits.....now $7.50
Men's $12.50 Suits.....now $10.00
Boys' and Children's Suits we have reduced accordingly. Men's pants the most select line—$1.00 to $5.00.
Rolfes & Wachs,
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

A. W. SMITH'S
PHARMACY,
WALTON, - - KY.
See our Crepe Paper Novelties. Dennison's Lunch Sets.
12 Doilies, 12 Knapkins, Table Cloth, 2 yards, 25c
Drink our Delicious Soda Water.
Our Ice Cream is superior. Our Candy is the very best.
High Grade Cigars and Tobacco.
FANCY STATIONERY IN MANY FORMS.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day.
Fees for selling stock reasonable.
Public Sales given special attention.

W. M. KENNEY,
DEALER IN
Fine Wines and Liquors,
Best $2 whisky in the city.
141 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Local News.

July seems inclined to make a new heat record.

In a blackberry patch is the place to find real genuine heat.

Read Rolfs and Wach's new advertisement in this issue.

The farmers got very busy in their hay fields, last Saturday.

The locusts—not the 17-year breed are heard in the land again.

Asa McMullen's wheat made 25 bushels per acre, machine measure.

R. W. Clark, of Lawrenceburg, will put that watch or clock in repair for you.

So far as heard no one in this county has been overcome by heat in the harvest field.

Commissary sent the RECORDER a bucket of nice blackberries, one day last week.

While the ground continues in its present condition the hot weather will not hurt the corn nor tobacco.

The [illegible] Thomas ball [illegible] let the Walton team down with one run, last Saturday afternoon. Score—5 to 1.

E. L. Grant, of Bellevue precinct, was in town early last Saturday morning to receive a drove of sheep.

Several have been cutting weeds since the matinee was suggested in this column last week, but plenty for seeding purposes were left.

Col. Batterson presented mine host, J. F. Blyth, with two snowy white Beagle hound pups, last week. They were imported from—Hebron.

It is hoped that there is no politics behind the increase of the school per capita; but, on the contrary, that it is a legitimate and come-to-stay increase.

The blackberry crop is a record breaker, and strange to say patches have not been bought and camps established hereabouts as is generally the case.

W. R. Rouse. J. B. Cloud, B. C. McGlasson, J. D. Cloud and F. L. Sayre have associated themselves together and been incorporated as Hebron Telephone Company.

The refreshment privileges, etc., for the approaching fair at Florence, will be sold on the grounds near Florence on Saturday afternoon, August 5th. Remember the date.

Farmer G. T. Gaines, out on the Petersburg pike, will have biscuits and cakes on his table for at least another year. His 23 acres of wheat yielded 480 bushels, machine measure, which number will be increased by weight.

The frequent showers, this month, have been very annoying to those who had grass to cut and wheat to thresh, but when they begin to free they should think about the long dry spell, which is yet fresh in the memory of all.

The English sparrows have been busy for several weeks foraging in the grain fields, but it will not be long before they will return to the back yards to divide rations with the chickens, cats and pups. The English sparrow is to be admired for its energy if for nothing else.

The Hebron base ball club is coming over next Saturday afternoon to take the Boones' scalps, and it is just possible that the boys will not go home disappointed, as they are putting up a good article of ball. If you attend you will witness an interesting game. That prince of good fellows, Chas. Beall, will lead the rooters for Hebron.

One of the nicest picnics ever held at Harvest Home grounds was that of last Saturday afternoon. A large crowd of young people were present and enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. The music was delightful—the best that was ever employed for a picnic at that famous grouud. The committee who had charge of the arrangements had left nothing undone that was necessary to contribute to the pleasure of all.

One day last week William Kirkpatrick, of Limaburg neighborhood, was trying to punch a rat out of a hole in his corn crib. He heard a hissing noise, to which he paid no attention until he noticed something make a dart towards him from a cross-tie in the building, when he investigated and discovered that a very ugly, large spreading adder had struck at him, not missing his face very far. Mr. Kirk soon dispatched the reptile after which he took time to get frightened.

The colored people had a big basket meeting at their church in Burlington, last Sunday, and they made the town lively all day. In the afternoon, Jum Webb, of Burlington, who had been boozing went on the war path, and as a result, Luther Kirtley, jr., who had been trying to keep him out of trouble had a mix up with him, in which Webb was considerably worsted, and was finally lodged in jail by constable J. M. Eddins, Monday morning he was released and made a bee line for a harvest field down on Mudlick creek.

Ill luck has been with Callie Baldon ever since he started his threshing machine, and he came near having a very serious accident last Saturday. He was moving from one yard to another, and in a pasture belonging to Jasper Beemon, on the other side of Gunpowder, the trucks under the separator broke through into a cavity, throwing the separator over on its side, in which condition it was left Saturday evening. The engine passed safely over the cavity, there being no indications that where the accident happened the ground was not solid. It was thought that injuries to the machine were small.

Personal Mention.

Geo. Richey's family came out to see him last Sunday.

Miss Bessie Hance, of Big Bone, is the guest of Mrs. B. B. Allphin.

Miss Birdie Martin is at home from Lakeland to recuperate her health.

Miss Ella Taliaferro, of Erlanger, was a guest of Miss Essie Parish, a few days last week.

Miss Jennie Lee Castleman spent last week with her uncle Thomas B. Castleman and family at Latonia.

A. D. Robins and wife, from down on Gunpowder, were Sunday guests of their daughter, Mrs. J. M. Eddins.

Robert McEvilly, First Assistant Cashier of the First National Bank, Cincinnati, spent last Sunday with J. C. Revill.

Miss Grace Clore, of Clore's Ridge, was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Effie Nichols, near Burlington, last week.

After assisting Callie Baldon operate his threshing machine last week, Tony Bentler returned to Covington Saturday morning.

Mrs. Walter Adams and children, of Aurora, after spending several days with relatives here, returned to their home, last Saturday.

W. C. Weaver is not about town so much since he resumed farming operations on Gunpowder. His grocery is in charge of John Case.

F. A. Utz, the Florence livestock broker, keeps comin' and a-goin' in this part of the county, buying such stock as the farmers have ready for market.

Mrs. B. C. Whitlock, of Sekatan, Ohio, and Miss Goldie Beagley, of Fern Bank, Ohio, were guests of Dr. L. H. Crisler and wife, several days lat week.

C. W. Riddell, of Williamstown, came down last Saturday at noon and remained until Monday morning with his Burlington friends and relatives.

W. E. Vest is one in this neighborhood who has torn down his barn to make it larger. He recognizes the present as an abundant harvest. Hence this expansion.

Misses Sheba and Susan Roberts returned home last Thursday evening, after a pleasant visit of several days with relatives and friends in Walton neighborhood.

Luther Aylor, the faithful assistant freight agent at the B. & O. S. W., will "lay off" long enough to see Oklahoma and other western points.—Lawrenceburg Register.

G. W. Sandford made a run over into Kenton county, last Sunday, to see how the farmers over there are progressing with their work. George seemes very much interested in Kenton county people at present.

Ransom Plumket, of Louisville, formerly of Verona, this county, and who is visiting his Boone county relatives, spent last Saturday with B. W. Adams. Mr. Plumket is 80 years of age but looks younger than many men 15 years his junior.

Rankin Revill and wife are spending his two weeks' summer vacation with his father and mother at this place. Rankin has a good position with the First National Bank, of Cincinnati, one of the strongest financial institutions of that city. After serving two weeks on the farm as a diversion, he will take up his duties in the bank again as a pleasure.

Lane Riggs, Charles Guerney and Harry Shearer, of Erlanger, were in town last Friday evening, representing that they were in search of a horse that belonged to Mr. Riggs' sister, and which was stolen from the pasture the night before. Strange to say the young gentlemen went only to the young ladies in their endeavor to obtain information about the missing animal.

The Boone County Teacher's Institute will convene at Burlington, August 7th, continuing five days. It is useless to quote the law compelling those who expect to teach school in Boone county to be present the entire time, unless unavoidably hindered. I hope the teachers will all be in attendance, not only from a sense of duty, but from the fact it will be a pleasure. With a county per capita of three dollars, I hope to see the teachers take hold with renewed zeal. Commencement exercises will take place on the afternoon of the 10th. Those wishing to know about program of same will address Nannie Chambers, President of Alumni, Richwood, Ky. The public are cordially invited to be present. Prof. R. A. Burton, of Shelbyville, will instruct the Institute. I have arranged for two lectures during the Institute, music, etc., and hope to make it the most interesting, as well as the most profitable, we have held for some time.

The Colored Institute will convene at Erlanger July 24th.

D. M. SNYDER, Co. Supt.

The Boones added another defeat to their list Saturday afternoon, the Home City team defeating them 2 to 0 in a well played game. Ray Conner was in the box for the Boones and put up the best game ever seen in the box on the local grounds, not doing a thing but striking out 12 men in seven innings, and letting the visitors down with three hits. Conner has made a reputation as a box artist, among the amateurs, and if he keeps on improving he will be traveling in fast company in another year. Conner was nearly the whole thing on the side of the Boones, and saw the game concluded while standing on third base, the result of a long drive to center field, being exactly the same play he made in the last game before. The fielders on either side had very little to do, it being purely a pitchers' battle in which Conner got decidedly the best of it, although the visitors won the game, earning only one of the two runs. The Home City people are ball players, but the Boones ought to have defeated them last Saturday. Lester struck out 3; Conner 12; hits off of Lester 5; off of Conner, 3.

When in Lawrenceburg go to R. W. Clark for a good hair-cut or a shave.

BILLY SMITH.

I see by this morning's paper that Billy Smith, another of the unfortunate victims, who was fatally stabbed, near Hebron, a few days ago, is dead. This is sad news to my family, for we have all known him intimately since the spring of 1886, the year we removed to Hebron. He labored for me on my farm there for about seven years. He was always faithful, honest, trustworthy, kind and obliging. We were all fond of him. In all that long time there was never a single unkind word between him and any of us.

Billy Smith married a daughter of the late John Anderson, a good, honest citizen, who died on Elijah's creek a good many years ago.

There survive Smith, his wife and one daughter, "Pearlie," the endearing name he called her by. He was devoted to "Pearlie."

Some years ago he was asphixiated in a well on the farm. He lay at the bottom of it for half an hour or more before Harry Carder, myself and others were able to rescue him. When he was dragged by ropes to the top of the well, he was as limp as a wet rag, and was breathing not more than three or four times a minute. The late Dr. Gordon was called and succeeded after a long time in resuscitating him. He was wholly unconscious for an hour or more. After this he had not his former vigor, and to support his family he then ran a little store where the tragedy occurred, and a huckster wagon through the country.

Billy Smith was a good husband, a devoted father, and a good peaceable citizen, a harmless man, who, I am sure, never sought trouble with any one. I have lost a good friend—a true friend, and his family a faithful, devoted father and husband. We here are all greatly saddened by this great calamity which has fallen so suddenly on that poor, grief-stricken family. They are entitled to the kindest and warmest sympathy of all who know them. A. G. WINSTON.

Walnut Hills, Ohio.

Mrs. Elizabeth Margeret Souther.

Mrs. Elizabeth Margeret Souther, wife of William Souther, was born August 11th, 1829. She was a native of Boone County, Kentucky, and spent her entire life in the community where she was born. She was married to William Souther October 19th, 1852. For over fifty years the sweet harmony and joys of married life were theirs. In sickness and in health they were mutually faithful, tender, and true. This marital union was blessed with two children. One died in youth, the other—Mr. Malchus Souther of this county, survives his mother, to whom he was always devoted.

Mrs. Souther became a Christian early in life, becoming a member of the Point Pleasant Christian church. For more than sixty years she was a Christian and died in the triumphs of a strong christian faith, honored and loved by relatives, friends and neighbors—by all who knew her. Here was a life beautiful, and full of all the virtues that make up splendid womanhood.

For some time she had been a partial invalid, and on May 25, 1905, her spirit took its flight to the realms of eternal joys. Her life was a benediction, and she will be greatly missed. She leaves her aged husband, who will miss her most of all. His walk through the rest of life will be lonely without her; but e'relong there will come the happy reunion. The son and the grand-children will miss the kind words, the cheerful smiles and the bright face ever characteristic of her whom they loved so much. Two brothers survive her; others of her immediate paternal family have gone before.

The funeral services were conducted by P. H. Duncan, and a large throng of friends and neighbors, who came to pay the last tribute of respect and love to the earthly remains of a true and noble woman. The body was laid to rest in the beautiful Hebron cemetery.

She fought the good fight, ran the course, and kept the faith, and the crown of righteouness vouchsafed to the faithful is now hers. She well deserves the "rest that remaineth for the people of God." We shall meet our loved one again. Let us look up and trust God.

P. H. DUNCAN.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate have been recorded since the last report was published:

E. O. Myers to R. T. Florence, one half interest in 40 acres and 32 poles a portion of the Joseph Myers farm, near Verona—$450.

Elmira J. Berry and others to Wm. Bettis and wife, lot in Taylorsport—$200.

F. Stevenson and others to Glendora Bannister, lot in Verona—$800.

Cary Carpenter and wife to E. B. McAvoy, 6 acres and 28 poles of land near Richwood—$800.

B. C. Bedinger and wife to James E. Keaty, 19 acres, 3 roods and 7 poles of land near Beaver Lick—$8,112 50.

Robert O. Rouse and others to B. A. Floyd, an undivided one fourth interest in 9 acres and 2 roods—$100.

C. J. Ballou and wife to F. M. Morgan, lot in Petersburg—$85.

Asa Cason and wife to W. J. Rice, 1.04 acre near Burlington—$37 44.

Bemiah Belden and wife to Frank M. Morgan, 2 lots in Petersburg—$1,500.

Bemiah Belden and wife to Frank M. Morgan, lot in Petersburg—flouring mill—$5,000.

C. S. Smith and wife to Nathan Smith, 40.77 acres on waters of Gunpowder creek—$568 40.

J. Y. and H. C. Diers to J. G. Tomlin, 10 acres between Walton and Verona—$325.

G. S. Webb, trustee, to Anna Hind, 19½ acres near Walton—$6,500.

H. F. Lundgren and wife to Frank Hossman, 126.52 acres near Hebron—$8,535 36.

Leave your timepieces at Clutterbuck Bros., for repairs.

Most everybody is eating roasting ears now.

The ice man is enjoying the hot weather.

Come,
Come,
Come,

The Summer Now is Here.

The season when you want something "different."

What's the matter with some canned Salmon for salad, &c?

We have a nice Alaska Pink at.....10c
3 cans for 25c
Ocean Gem at.....13c
2 cans for 25c
Golden Net at.....15c
Republic at.....18c
Carmello, large can, steak, 20c
Kinney, small can, steak very fine.....13c
2 for 25c
Figaro, small can steak..10c
Veal Loaf for cold lunch.10c
Lunch Tongues for same.15c
Devilled Ham for same.....5 and 10c

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, - KY.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

SEAL BLEND COFFEE, per pound.. 15c
Favorite Java Blend Coffee, lb..... 20c

Mason Fruit Jars
Pints..... 45cts
Quarts..... 50cts
One-half Gallons..... 60cts
We keep a supply of extra Lids and Covers.
N. Y. Cheese..... 15cts.
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder 12cts

Jackson's Best Patent Flour, bbl.. $5.50
O. K. Flour per bbl..... $5.20
Granulated Sugar, 17 pounds for..... $1.00

THE HAMILTON GROCERY CO.,
39 and 41 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, KY.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of John Rowland, deceased, must come forward and settle the same, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

N. E. RIDDELL, Admr.

C. J. WOLFF,
SPECIALIST FOR
TRUSSES, BRACES, CRUTCHES, Etc.
Personal attention given every case.
Experience 40 years.
13th & Race, opp. Washington Park, Cincinnati, O.

Take the Recorder.

THE Lawrencebug Fair
—WILL BE HELD AT—
Lawrenceburg, Ind.,
Aug. 8-9-10-11-12, '05
FIVE BIG DAYS.

MEDICURA STOCK FOOD!
Cheapest and best to use. Fully guaranteed. 5 feeds for one cent. Eight cents per month per head. The greatest tonic food and fattener in the world.
FOR HOGS AND CATTLE, It cures and prevents disease. Saves ..... Grain and 40 days time in fattening.
FOR HORSES AND COLTS, A blood purifying Tonic. Expels ..... worms, gives new life and strength.
5 FEEDS FOR 1c for 12 FOWLS. MAKES HENS LAY MORE EGGS.
Your money refunded if it ever fails.

Hay, Grain, Mill Feed,
ALL WAYS KEPT ON HAND.

A New Grocery.
We have added a complete line of Fancy and Staple Groceries and canned goods, which we are selling at the Most Reasonable Prices.
R. B. HUEY & CO.,
WALTON, -- KENTUCKY.

KASPER LEHMANN,
—DEALER IN—
BOOTS and SHOES,
Custom Work Promptly Attended To.
Store: Corner Lexington Pike and Vine Street.
Formerly South Erlanger. ELSMERE, KY.

H. G. BLANTON,
FUNERAL & DIRECTOR

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
Special Rates to Traveling Men.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY
Leave Orders with J. C. Revill, Burlington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission & SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone South 55) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street,
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

B. B. ALLPHIN. B. H. HUME.
ALLPHIN & HUME,

Livery and Sale Stables,
First-Class Turnouts for Hire at all Times.
GOOD RAYMOND CITY COAL A SPECIALTY.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.

CEILINGS. SKYLIGHTS. CORNICES.
The Porter Iron Roofing & Corrugating Co
27 and 29 West Front Street,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Iron, Steel, Galvanized, Felt and Porteroid Rubber Roofing
Our Agents will give you wholesale
M. J. Crouch, Agent for Boone county. Write him.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, . . . KENTUCKY.

The emigration bureau of the Rock Island-Frisco system was opened in Cincinnati recently, with Bruce Carruthers in charge.

It is estimated that to collect one pound of honey from clover 62,000,000 heads of clover must be deprived of nectar and 3,750,000 visits from the bees must be made.

A six-year-old girl, the daughter of a stage manager, failed to obtain admission to a Munich girls' school because her father's profession is considered "immoral."

Again the University of Chicago is getting a bit of free advertising. This time one of its professors has gone to live in the woods to get away from the noise of piano players who disturb his heavy thoughts.

In consequence of the privileges offered to new industrial undertakings establishing themselves at Naples, several iron works are to be erected there. The Ferriere Italiane is about to build a blast furnace, and the Miland Silvestri is building branch works for making railroad materials.

The United States' trade with Asia is rapidly increasing. Our imports from China have grown from $15,000,000 in 1894 to $24,000,000 in 1904. Our exports to China, $4,000,000 at the first of those years and $20,000,000 at the last, have increased fivefold in the ten years.

Hens the other day scratched up $1,000 in notes, bills and other negotiable paper which was stolen from the Prairie du Sac bank in a robbery two years ago. The papers had evidently been brought to Baraboo, Wis., and hidden under the elevator in an old bill book, where they remained till unearthed and scratched into the street beside the elevator.

The new 30-caliber tripod-mounted automatic gun was exhibited recently at the Springfield armory before a board of army officers. The gun weighs 11¾ pounds, and the tripod (including swivel, base and yoke) weighs 26 pounds. The bullet, powder charge and velocity are U. S. G. standard for the new Springfield rifle. The rate of fire is 750 shots per minute.

While a recent forgery prosecution was in progress in a Washington (state) court the accused calmly reached over, took the forged document from the table and ate it before the astonished court officials recovered sufficiently to interfere. Thereupon the prisoner's counsel promptly moved for his discharge on the ground that there was no evidence against him. It was certainly a most effective defense.

A curious instance of the effect of the shape of the ground upon the wind blowing over it was recently noted by M. Batut as he was experimenting with kites in France. When a north wind floated the kite the latter kept its balance easily, but when the wind came from the south or southwest the kite pitched and bobbed in a very singular manner. The explanation was furnished by the character of the surface over which the wind had passed.

Moral suasion once was relied upon to create temperance sentiment. Then came an era of reliance on statute law. Now we are in an era of scientific education in our schools and popular enlightenment through literature. The coming era seems to be one in which commerce and industry will say to those whom they engage, who are the preponderating number of citizens in any community, "Your place in business is dependent on sobriety."

Prof. Joseph Levi, of Milan, Italy, the discoverer of the iodine cure of tuberculosis, in discussing his new method, said: "It is a well-known fact that iodine can immediately convert itself into vaccine and become a virus of the most active and deadly kind. It follows from this that a person affected with tuberculosis becomes capable of making by himself and in himself his own curative serum, ready for healing purposes when this iodine can circulate integrally in the blood. It is precisely this which I have obtained by my new method."

Two venerable American scholars of high distinction are worthy of mention. One of them is Dr. Francis A. March, 86, who in the fall will have attended out half a century as professor at Lafayette college. He is one of the world's best-known philologists, and a man whose industry has been equaled by his modesty. To have held the lasting affection of a steady stream of college boys for 50 years is a great achievement. Also in the front rank of American scholarship is Dr. Gildersleeve, professor of Greek at Johns Hopkins university.

The reason the "electric fan cold" is so often accompanied by sore throat is according to a doctor whose location brings him many such cases, that [illegible] caused by the fan carries so [illegible] "the fact is," says [illegible] "that the air stirred by [illegible] unless the fan [illegible] open window, [illegible] room or [illegible] most appropriate [illegible] same air [illegible] gathers up [illegible] available

NEWS NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Intelligence Collected and Given to Our Readers in a Condensed Form.

DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN ITEMS.

A Summary of Prominent Events That Have Taken Place During the Past Few Days—The Movements of Government Officials.

The Russian government has been notified that Japan will not agree to an armistice pending negotiations; that Japan will feel free to continue her military operations in Manchuria until the plenipotentiaries have agreed upon terms of peace.

Plans for the reinforcement of Gen. Linevitch's armies are keeping pace with the preparations for peace negotiations. The 19th army corps has received marching orders.

M. Muravieff has resigned his position as chief peace plenipotentiary. It may be regarded as practically certain that he will be replaced by M. Witte, president of the committee of ministers.

Emperor Nicholas has signed the appointment of M. Witte, president of the committee of ministers, to be chief plenipotentiary representing the Russian government in the peace negotiations to be conducted next month in the United States.

M. Witte is shouldering the task of conducting peace negotiations on behalf of his country in a patriotic spirit but with a full realization of the difficulties before him and the knowledge in advance that even if he succeeds he can not secure terms which the Russian chauvinists will regard as otherwise than humiliating.

Baron Komura, the Japanese minister of foreign affairs, who is the principal envoy of Japan to the conference, is en route now from Japan and is expected to reach New York about the 30th inst. If M. Witte, the chief plenipotentiary of Russia, shall have arrived by that time, the reception to the envoys by the president probably will take place at Sagamore Hill on August 1.

President Roosevelt received the new ambassador from Russia, Baron Roman Romannovitch Rosen, at Sagamore Hill. Rosen took luncheon with the president and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The salaries of the Russian peace plenipotentiaries have been fixed at $200 per day each, besides an allowance of $7,500 for traveling and other expenses.

It is learned from a high authority that the plans for the investment of Vladivostok are now well under way and that a strong force has been landed in the vicinity of Possiet bay, while another is on the way from Gensan, marching through Northern Korea.

If Gen. Trepoff, assistant minister of the interior, is not the next victim of the assassin, it will not be due to lack of warning at the hands of the Terrorists.

It is officially announced at Tokio that the Russian center holding Darline aud vicinity was attacked July 11 and offered stubborn resistance. The attack was renewed at dawn of July 12, when the Japanese dislodged the Russians, driving them in the direction of Mauka. This victory ensures complete occupation of South Sakhalin by the Japanese.

Adm. Yamada, commanding a squadron sent north on a reconnaissance, reports that the Russian cruiser Izumrad is a complete wreck and that there is no hope of refloating her. She ran on a reef.

Acting Attorney General Hoyt received from Secretary of Agriculture Wilson the papers in the cotton report investigation. United States District Attorney Morgan H. Beach will probe into the whole subject and make a thorough inquiry. It will be determined whether there is any statute under which a criminal prosecution may be directed against Edwin S. Holmes, former associate statistician, who was dismissed, it is alleged, because he "juggled" figures in the government crop estimates and furnished advance information to New York brokers.

An American flag was torn down from in front of the city hall, London, Ont., and trampled under a hundred feet as the result of a remark made by an American visitor at the Orangemen's demonstration.

President Roosevelt assured labor leaders who called on him that his recent order in regard to the Chinese exclusion act does not let down the bars to the coolies' admission to this country.

The 20th annual reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will be held in Denver in 1906. One ballot decided that at the grand lodge meeting.

When Mrs. Charles H. Oelrichs returned to her cottage at Newport, R. I., after an absence of two hours, she discovered that jewelry valued at $10,000 had been taken from the dressing case.

The Oklahoma and Indian Territory statehood convention, called to set forth the sentiment of the people of the two territories adopted a resolution demanding admittance to the union as one free and independent state.

W. E. Etheridge and A. N. Davis, two prominent men, joint owners of a sawmill at Hickory, Miss., engaged in a duel, both being killed.

For the first time since he began his campaign for municipal reform Mayor Weaver, of Philadelphia, received a setback at the hands of common council when that body did not comply with his request to authorize him to employ special counsel to represent the city in the matter of certain contracts that are to be brought before the courts.

It is reported that Francis B. Loomis is to be made ambassador to Japan. It has been for several days rumored that Lloyd C. Griscom, now minister to Japan, is to succeed Mr. Loomis in the state department.

Sweeping reductions in the salaries of various officials and employes of the Equitable society were made by Chairman Morton.

James H. Hyde, of the Equitable Life Assurance society, resigned as vice president of the Commercial Trust Co., of Philadelphia, and the directors of that company accepted the resignation.

James W. Alexander, formerly president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, continues very ill. He is in such a condition that all knowledge of the recent developments in the society have been kept from him.

The anti-American sentiment among the Chinese is subsiding and it was never as widespread as had been represented.

In the oil hearing at Kansas City W. H. Hawkins, who was superintendent of tank wagons, testified that men were hired to follow the wagons of the independent companies to see where they stopped and how much oil they sold. Whenever necessary to take trade from their competitors rebates were paid by the Standard amounting some times to $3,500 a month.

Gen. Horace Porter, former ambassador to France and more recently the senior special American ambassador appointed to receive the body of John Paul Jones, returned home on the steamer Deutschland.

After resting in a vault at Oak Hill cemetery, Washington, since his death last December, the body of James N. Tyner, former postmaster general, assistant attorney general and representative in congress from Indiana, was finally interred in the family lot at Oak Hill.

It is estimated that the Kansas wheat crop for this year will be at least 82,500,000 bushels. From reports being received the wheat is threshing out exceedingly well.

According to an announcement made at the navy department the battleship Oregon, of the Asiatic fleet, has won the trophy for the highest scores made by vessels of the battleship class at the last annual target practice. The same vessel won the trophy a year ago.

At the cabinet meeting it developed that the Danish ministers were in full agreement that Prince Charles of Denmark should accept the crown of Norway if King Oscar and the other courts most concerned expressed their approval.

Mr. Rockhill, the American minister at Peking, has cabled the state department that the Chinese government is vigorously opposing the threatened boycott of American goods.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending July 13 number 166, against 127 last week, 203 in the like week of 1904 and 173 in 1903.

Secretary of War Taft and those accompanying him on his way to the Philippines arrived at Honolulu and were met at the wharf by a delegation of territorial officials and prominent residents.

"San Juan Hill," the district bounded by Amsterdam and West End avenues and 61st and 63d streeets, New York, so-called because of its notoriety as a battle ground, was the scene of a furious race riot which required 250 policemen to quell after many shots had been fired and several persons had been seriously injured.

The servant girl problem in the Appleton, Wis., district has been partially solved by the employment of Indian girls who have graduated from the government schools. Several are now in the kitchens of families in Appleton.

In compliance with a request from citizens in the vicinity of Edwardsville, Ill., the state board of health sent an inspector to make an investigation of a report that wholesale exhumation of bodies is being made by a railway excavating along a right of way near a county poor farm.

Typhoid fever is epidemic at Columbus, Pa. There are about 30 houses in the village, and in every house there are from one to five cases of the disease. Five children of a family named Litt have died, and a number of other families have lost from one to two members.

The 300th anniversary of the discovery of the Hudson river by Henrick Hudson is to be celebrated by the opening in New York city of the greatest international exposition that has ever been seen.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles sailed for Europe on the American liner St. Louis, with his son, Lieut. Sherman Miles, for a short sojourn abroad.

The acceptance by France of the invitation to take part in the international conference on Morocco, was dispatched by special messenger to the sultan. The messenger is expected to arrive at Fez July 19.

Count Schuvaloff, prefect of Moscow, was shot and killed as he was receiving a number of petitioners. The assassin escaped in the excitement which followed the shooting, but was later captured.

William Dwyer and seven Chinese were killed by an explosion at the Giant Powder works, ten miles from Oakland, Cal.

Two burglars chloroformed Mrs. Bertha Cohen as she lay sick in her bed on the third floor of her home at 1452 Fifth avenue, New York, tied her wrists and ankles, tore two rings from her fingers, jerked out her ear rings and then looted a wardrobe.

The Arbogst & Bastian Co., of Allentown, Pa., whose extensive provision house was destroyed by fire, estimates its loss at $400,000; insurance, $200,000.

An earthquake shock was distinctly felt in Concord, N. H. Reports from the city of Manchester and other points indicate that a distinct shock was experienced over the southern section of the state.

The boiler of an Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe freight engine exploded at Kingman, Ariz., killing Engineer Copeland and Fireman Bryant and completely wrecking the engine.

The motion for a new trial of the case of United States Senator John H. Mitchell was overruled by Judge De Haven in the United States court at Portland, Ore., and the attorneys for the defense asked for a week in which to file a bill of exception and a writ of error.

A six months' sentence to prison for a passing street flirtation with a married woman was imposed on Benjamin F. Smith, who arrived from St. Louis, by Magistrate Steinert, New York.

American flour exporters who have been doing a profitable business in China have suffered a serious blow because a recent shipment proved to contain poison and caused the death of many natives.

Despite the slightly lower temperature and a brisk northwest breeze, the deaths from heat in New York reached the highest number of the summer, for there were 23 victims.

Former Speaker of Congress David B. Henderson is failing rapidly. He is at his home in Dubuque, Ia., suffering from paresis. At times he imagines he is in the speaker's chair and at others on the battlefield.

Ralph Leete, 83, an attorney and capitalist, died at Ironton, O. He was author of the Great Seal of Ohio and a personal friend of President Lincoln and Chief Justice Chase.

The Arkansas anti-trust law was declared valid by the supreme court of the state, two justices dissenting from the opinion.

Wilda Johnson, a young woman, is under arrest at Owatonna, Minn., charged with having put poison into a well on the farm of John L. Johnson and with having sent an orange containing strychnine to Mrs. Lundstrom, a daughter of Jacks n, who is a teacher in the county schools.

Louis Apgar, aged 65, married and a grandfather, killed himself in Jersey City by shooting, as a result of sensational disclosures which terminated in the granting of a divorce to George M. Meyers against Clara E. Meyers. Apgar was named as the co-respondent.

The paymaster of the Sloss-Sheffield Co. was held up at Littleton, near Birmingham, Ala., and robbed of $6,000. In a fight with the officers later, one of the highwaymen was killed and the other escaped. The money was recovered.

Thomas McFadden, 15, and William Franz, 14, were drowned in the Menominee river while bathing near Milwaukee.

From a marriage license recently issued it was learned that Gen. Ben J. Viljoen, formerly of the Boer army, was married in St. Louis to Mrs. Myrtle Dickerson Lowden, of Pittsfield, Ill.

The Chautauqua held a special memorial service for the late Secretary of State John Hay at Atlantic City, N. J. The eulogy was delivered by Simon Wolfe, former congressman from New York.

United States Senator William A. Clark, of Montana, continues to rally satisfactorily from the operation which he underwent for the removal of an abscess of the brain.

Charles Burchett and Charles Stevens, both sons of prominent farmers, were drowned in the Coon river, west of Dallas Center, Ia.

George and William Gibbons, brothers, were drowned while bathing in a lake near Olathe, Kan.

In the presence of her mother, Bessie Barnes, 15, was shot dead on the street in front of her home in St. Louis. Mrs. Mary Carder, 30, is under arrest charged with the shooting, which is said to have been the culmination of ill feeling between the two families.

President Roosevelt has determined that the scandal growing out of the cotton report leaks in the department of agriculture shall be probed to the bottom.

A crowd of over 2,000 persons fought with the police in a wild scramble to gain admittance to the dedication services of the new synagogue of the Congregation Sharts Sphard, St. Louis. A number were clubbed, but none seriously hurt.

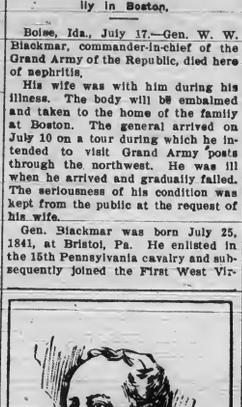
Troops at Gadsden, Ala., were called out to prevent the lynching of Vance Gardner, in jail with five others charged with criminal assault and murder of Mrs. C. J. Smith, white, a widow. The mob, composed of 300 men, lacked a leader.

Sixty-seven indictments against 25 individuals, most of whom are former county officials, were handed down by the grand jury at Milwaukee, and the probing of the jury still goes on. The last batch of true bills added to the 38 returned ten days ago makes a total of 105 thus far.

The Japanese peace mission is expected to reach New York about the last of July.

Benjamin Webb Williams, 91, who a generation ago was a pioneer in conducting lecturing tours in the United States, died at his home in Dorchester, Mass

GEN. BLACKMAR DEAD.



Commander-in-Chief of G. A. R. Passed Away in Idaho.

He Succumbed To Nephritis—Body Will Be Embalmed and Taken To the Home of the Family In Boston.

Boise, Ida., July 17.—Gen. W. W. Blackmar, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, died here of nephritis.

His wife was with him during his illness. The body will be embalmed and taken to the home of the family at Boston. The general arrived on July 10 on a tour during which he intended to visit Grand Army posts through the northwest. He was ill when he arrived and gradually failed. The seriousness of his condition was kept from the public at the request of his wife.

Gen. Blackmar was born July 25, 1841, at Bristol, Pa. He enlisted in the 15th Pennsylvania cavalry and subsequently joined the First West Virginia. He served with distinction through the war and at Five Forks was promoted on the field by Gen. Custer to the rank of captain. Throughout three administrations, those of Govs. Long, Talbott and Rice, he was judge advocate general of Massachusetts. At the last national encampment of the G. A. R. he was elected commander-in-chief.

Gen. Wilmon W. Blackmar.

Boston, July 17.—Except to two or three officials of the Grand Army the news of the death of Gen. Blackmar was received with great surprise in this city. The home of Gen. Blackmar was in this city and since his elevation to the position of commander-in-chief, the headquarters of the organization has been here. Gen. Blackmar is succeeded by John R. King, of Washington, senior vice commander.

TO THE NORTH POLE.

Lieut. Robert E. Peary Starts on His Long Journey.

New York, July 17.—Lieut. Robert E. Peary started on his long journey in quest of the north pole. His ship, the Roosevelt, which has been lying in the North river since Saturday night, weighed anchor and got under way at ten minutes after 3. On board the vessel besides the explorer's party were a number of guests and newspaper men, who accompanied the ship as far as Sandy Hook, where they were taken off by a navy yard tug sent out by Adm. Coughlin. A launch bearing a party of excursionists attempted to run close alongside of the Roosevelt after she was under way and nearly collided with her. The Roosevelt was saluted by all manner of steam and sailing craft on her way to sea.

THE RUSSIAN ENVOY.

Spent An Hour in Consultation With American Ambassador Meyer.

St. Petersburg, July 17.—M. Witte spent an hour with George Von L. Meyer, the American ambassador, at the Kleinmichel palace, discussing the forthcoming peace conference. Before leaving for Paris next Wednesday M. Witte will have still another audience with the emperor. In the meantime he must pay a round of official visits to all the imperial ministers. M. Witte is expected to be the bearer of a personal message from the emperor to President Roosevelt.

Gen. Linevitch's Forces.

Tokio, July 17.—It is officially reported that Gen. Linevitch's forces number nearly 400,000 and it is reported that he is extensively using water transportation to bring forward men, supplies and ammunition.

Gen. B. M. Thomas Expires.

Dalton, Ga., July 17.—Gen. B. M. Thomas died at his home in this city. Peritonitis was the immediate cause of his death. He was a graduate of West Point and a distinguished brigadier general in the confederate army.

Want Saturday Half Holidays.

Washington, July 17.—Four hundred mechanics of the government navy yard met and appointed a committee of two to confer with the president at Oyster Bay looking to securing from him an order allowing the navy yard employes Saturday half holidays.

Secretary Loeb's Outing.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 17.—Secretary and Mrs. Loeb left Oyster Bay for a month's sojourn in and near the Yellowstone National park. They will make brief stops at Chicago and at Minneapolis.

THE TEACHER'S FOE

A LIFE ALWAYS THREATENED BY NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

One Who Broke Down from Six Years of Overwork Tells How She Escaped Misery of Enforced Idleness.

"I had been teaching in the city schools steadily for six years," said Miss James, whose recent return to the work from which she was driven by nervous collapse has attracted attention. "They were greatly overcrowded, especially in the primary department of which I had charge, and I had been doing the work of two teachers. The strain was too much for my nerves and two years ago the crisis came.

"I was prostrated mentally and physically, sent in my resignation and never expected to be able to resume work. It seemed to me then that I was the most miserable woman on earth. I was tortured by nervous headaches, worn out by inability to sleep, and had so little blood that I was as white as chalk.

"After my active life, it was hard to bear idleness, and terribly discouraging to keep paying out the savings of years for medicines which did me no good."

"How did you get back your health?"

"A bare chance and a lot of faith led me to a cure. After I had suffered for many months, and when I was on the very verge of despair, I happened to read an account of some cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statements were so convincing that I somehow felt assured that these pills would help me. Most people, I think, buy only one box for a trial, but I purchased six boxes at once, and when I had used them up, I was indeed well and had no need of more medicine.

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enriched my thin blood, gave me back my sleep, restored my appetite, gave me strength to walk long distances without fatigue, in fact freed me from all my numerous ailments. I have already taught for several months, and I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Miss Margaret M. James is now living at No. 123 Clay street, Dayton, Ohio. Many of her fellow teachers have also used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and are enthusiastic about their merits. Sound digestion, strength, ambition, and cheerful spirits quickly follow their use. They are sold in every drug store in the world.

WANTED

NON-UNION

Compositors

Book and job, for permanent positions in Chicago. Wages first-class men $18.50 Per Week, 54 Hours. Only competent compositors wishing permanent positions need apply. Give references as to character and ability. Address

United Typothetae of America
Monadnock Block, Chicago

BITS OF FLAG LORE.

The simple striping of the red and yellow in the flag of Spain was suggested by the arms of Aragan.

The strangest flag under which man ever fought is that of the Macedonian insurgents. It is red on one side and black on the other.

The crescent, moon and stars were adopted by the Turks as their device on the capture of Constantinople by Mohammed II. in 1453.

The white cross on the red field of the Swiss flag has a religious meaning. It was adopted as an appeal to heaven in 1339, when the stout Swiss fought and won one of their greatest battles.

Peter the Great, it is said, borrowed the idea of the Russian flag from the Dutch, among whom he learned shipbuilding. He simply turned the Dutch tricolor, red, white and blue, upside down.

In compliment to William, prince of Orange, their great leader, the colors of the house of Orange were adopted by the sturdy people of the Netherlands, at the end of their long bout with Spain—orange, white and blue; but nobody knows how, in the centuries since, the orange became changed to red.

A Matter of Punctuation.

"That orator is very much given to startling statements."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum; "he thinks he is a man of the period, when he is merely a man of the exclamation point."—Evening Star.

COMES A TIME

When Coffee Shows What It Has Been Doing.

"Of late years coffee has disagreed with me," writes a matron from Rome, N. Y., "its lightest punishment was to make me 'logy' and dizzy, and it seemed to thicken up my blood.

"The heaviest was when it upset my stomach completely, destroying my appetite and making me nervous and irritable, and sent me to my bed. After one of these attacks, in which I nearly lost my life, I concluded to quit and try Postum Food Coffee.

"It went right to the spot! I found it not only a most palatable and refreshing beverage, but a food as well.

"All my aliments, the 'logiess' and dizziness, the unsatisfactory condition of my blood, my nervousness and irritability disappeared in short order, and my sorely afflicted stomach began quickly to recover. I began to rebuild and have steadily continued until now. Have a good appetite and am rejoicing in sound health, which I owe to the use of Postum Food Coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," found in each pkg.

STRANGE ENDING OF AN INDIANA ROMANCE

Old Couple Divorced After Living Together for Thirty-Seven Years.

HAD NOT SPOKEN SINCE '84

Uncle "Ham" and Aunt "Julia" Grubbs Refused to Settle Their Long-Standing Differences and Courts Separate Them at the Old Lady's Request—The Parents of Six Children.

Lawrenceburg, Ind.—One of the oddest divorce cases ever tried in this country was recently decided by Judge George E. Downey in this county.

The principals in this strange case were aged 65 and 60 years, respectively, the man being the senior. The couple were married 37 years ago, but though they had lived together constantly all of that time, and had raised a family of six children, they had not spoken to each other for 21 years.

Such is the peculiar ending of the romance of Uncle Ham and Aunt Julia Grubbs.

The neighbors who hoped the breach of 21 years would be healed by time are more than disappointed. Aunt Julia Grubbs has secured her divorce from her husband, Uncle Hamilton Grubbs, and $2,000 alimony, and has left forever the family home in which she lived for 37 years. They quarreled in 1884; from that day to this they have never exchanged a word, though they have occupied the same house and have eaten three times a day at the same table. Now it is too late to make up.

The Romance.

Forty years ago everybody in Moore's Hill district knew that "Ham" Grubbs was sweet on "Jule" Harris. He was a likely young farmer then and a good catch, and Julia Harris was the prettiest girl in the county. "Ham" courted "Jule" and he distanced all the other young fellows in the district and married the girl on May 27, 1868.

It was a jolly wedding and the country folks came from miles around to help the happy pair to celebrate. Rev. Benjamin Plummer, one of the old-time clergymen of the Methodist Episcopal church in ... tern Indiana, tied the knot and wished the young couple happiness, long life and prosperity. They have had the long life and prosperity all right, but hardly the happiness, though six children have blessed the union and never a death has lessened the home circle.

More than their share of the world's goods came their way. "Uncle Ham," as he came to be known throughout Miller township, was a hard worker and a mighty smart farmer. Gradually he increased his holdings until he was the owner of 110 of the best acres in all the township. He had the finest house, the most head of stock, the most up-to-date implements and the handsomest wife in all the country. Everybody envied "Uncle Ham" and "Aunt Jule."

For 15 years everything ran on smoothly enough. The years brought more prosperity and more children, until in 1884 little Ella, last of the flock, was born. And she was still in her mother's arms when the trouble came.

Start of the Quarrel.

It was a trifling incident—this quarrel of 21 years ago—that ended all the peace and comfort of husband and wife and made them never to speak to each other again.

A peddler chanced along one summer's afternoon driving his cart, says a special to the New York World which explains the quarrel. He spied a fine flock of geese of which "Uncle Ham" was very proud, and he stopped to look them over. "Uncle Ham" came out of the house and agreed with the peddler that they were the finest geese in all Indiana.

"What d'ye want for them?" asked the peddler.

"Uncle Ham" named his price, a good round figure, that was more than the market value of the geese and enough to add a pretty penny to the bank account that was growing most encouragingly year after year.

The bargain was closed just as Mrs. Grubbs appeared in the farmhouse door.

"Say, what's that man want with my geese, Ham?" she called.

"He's buyin' 'em," shouted back her husband. "It's all right, mother; he's paying all they're worth."

"Now don't you do no such a thing, Ham Grubbs," cried Mrs. Grubbs, hurrying down to the shade of the tree under which "Uncle Ham" and the peddler were driving their bargain. "I've been a-savin' those geese for their down. I'm a-goin' to make feather beds out of it."

"Now see here, Jule," expostulated her husband, "this man is paying a good stiff sum for these here geese, and we can raise more of them. Besides, I never slept under a feather bed and I never will."

"Well, Ham Grubbs," retorted his wife, hotly, "I have and I'm a-goin' to do it again. I don't care what you do!"

"Ham" Grubbs wanted the addition to his bank account; his wife wanted the feather beds. One hasty word led to another and it ended by Mrs. Grubbs flouncing back to the farmhouse and the peddler carrying off the geese, for which he paid the farmer's price.

When "Ham" Grubbs got back to the house he found his wife still indignant. There were more words, and then "Uncle Ham" said something which never should have been said.

Vow Never to Speak Again.

"I'll never speak to you again!" declared Mrs. Grubbs.

"All right," retorted her husband; "do as you like."

All the children heard the quarrel. Those old enough to understand began to cry. Husband and wife realized that their sudden determination never to speak again might result in a broken home and distress to the six little ones.

"Don't worry about them, Ham Grubbs," snapped his wife. "I'll stay here in the same house with you till every one of them is grown up, and then we can see what we'll do. But don't you speak to me."

"All right, I won't," answered "Ham" Grubbs, and from that moment to this they have never exchanged a word.

Soon the neighborhood gossips heard all about "Uncle Ham" and "Aunt Julie" agreeing never to speak again. They wondered a little, but made up their minds that time would bring about a reconciliation, and that all would be well. Instead, the breach widened.

As the children grew older they began to take sides. This only served to make matters worse. Day after day husband and wife ate at the same table with their six children, but never a word was spoken between them. The father labored unceasingly and well, making his farm better and better, and gradually adding to his wealth until to-day he owns the farm all free and clear and has $15,000.

Meanwhile the mother was doing her share of the work. She made the children's clothes, saw that they went to school, kept the house as spotless as hard work and plenty of soap and water could do it, made the beds, cooked the meals and made the butter and cheese. Not a thing that the most loving of wives could do to add to her husband's worldly goods was left undone.

But never a word did they speak.

Ella's Intervention Unavailing.

One by one the children grew up, till only little Ella was left. Two went to Kansas, two to Illinois, and one to Ohio, where they married and prospered. Ella at home became the intermediary between her father and mother. Every effort of hers at getting them to forget the past was an utter failure. Whenever there were any matters of importance to be considered it was Ella who was spokeswoman for the two years. A few days ago Ella had her twenty-first birthday, and decided to leave home. So the agreement between husband and wife was ended. Mrs. Grubbs made up her mind to live there no more, but to go to the home of one of her sons in Illinois who had sided with her in the long quarrel.

Ella told this news to the old man —"Ham" Grubbs is 65 now, and his wife is 60. He protested vigorously. The fact that he never spoke to his wife, nor she to him had become second nature to him, and he couldn't see how he was going to get along without her to do the housework. He said she couldn't go; who would take her place?

This was the last straw.

Mrs. Grubbs decided to sue for divorce. Papers were served on Gruhbs, in which he was charged with cruel and inhuman treatment, and alleging that he had cursed his wife in the presence of their children, and had said other things to her which no good husband would say to his wife. There was a hearing before Judge George E. Downey. He investigated and found that there was absolutely no hope of reconciliation between them, though the quarrel was 21 years old. So the decree was granted, and a judgment of $2,000 alimony was granted, which the old man promptly paid.

Mrs. Grubbs has gone to her son's home now. "Uncle Ham" remains at the old homestead, where he vows he will end his days alone. And there is now no prospect whatever of bringing the old couple together ever again, as all Miller township knows.

Child Saves a Train.

Altoona, Pa.—Little Wallace Moore, aged eight, barefooted and ragged, the son of a farmer living near Osceola, 13 miles southeast of here, with rare presence of mind for one of his years saved a passenger train on the Tyrone division of the Pennsylvania railroad from certain disaster, and probably prevented injury, if not death, to 128 passengers.

The lad, while playing about the railroad tracks which run near his home, noticed that a switch leading to a spur, at the end of which was an embankment, had been opened. Hastening to a clear stretch of road, he stationed himself in the middle of the tracks and breathlessly awaited the approach of the train. He swung his arms, and, grabbing his hat, waved it madly. Engineer Franks became alarmed when the boy showed no signs of leaving the track, and quickly applying the emergency brakes stopped the train within a few feet of where the boy was standing.

Sermon by Signs.

The bishop of St. Albans preached a sermon recently in a London church for the deaf and dumb. By his side stood a curate who thoroughly understands the sign language. With nimble fingers he translated the sermon sentence by sentence to the large congregation of mutes.

JILTED ON WEDDING DAY.

While Putting On Veil Philadelphia Girl Receives Telegram from Recreant Man.

Philadelphia.—A telegram from the man she expected to marry within an hour, announcing that he would not put in an appearance at the wedding, did not prevent the revel of the guests invited to the ceremony by Miss Catherine Simmons.

The wedding was to have taken place on South Chadwick street, and the house had been nicely furnished by Miss Simmons and Charles Roser, her betrothed.

Roser was engaged to Miss Simmons for a long time. The wedding was to have occurred the other evening, and neighbors declare that while she was preparing for it, in fact in the very act of fastening her veil, Miss Simmons received the telegram, which read:

"Have gone away. Will never see you again."

Miss Simmons, it is said, saw Roser several days before the date set for the wedding, at which time all of the details were arranged. She sent invitations to 150 friends, and they were assembling when the telegram arrived at the expected bride's home.

She burst into tears, but later decided not to let anything interfere with the pleasure of her guests. She read the telegram to them, and then ordered the dancing to begin. Roser was apparently soon forgotten, except by two of Miss Simmons' brothers, who are determined to interview him.

WOOED HIS OWN DAUGHTER

Just Before Wedding Was to Take Place Swiss Discovered Her Identity.

Geneva, Switzerland.—A remarkable love tragedy has come to light in the village of Appenzell, which for unique features is hard to duplicate.

Nearly 20 years ago a young Swiss commercial traveler named Mueller deserted his wife and infant daughter and emigrated to Mexico, where he succeeded in amassing a considerable fortune. His wife died, and the little girl was adopted by a farmer named Schloss. The child assumed his name and was generally regarded in the district as the farmer's own daughter.

A year ago her father, who called himself Ifleider after leaving his native country, sold out his business in Mexico and returned to Appenzell. He was informed, and naturally believed, that both his wife and child were dead. Later, he met his daughter, and, ignorant of her identity, fell in love with her. She is now nearly 20 years old, while he is 41.

For four months the returned wanderer wooed the girl with her consent. It was only when he asked the approval of Farmer Schloss that he learned the girl's history, and recognized that he had won the hand of his own daughter.

Rushing from the house, he traveled at once to Bale, whence he wrote to the farmer, confessing everything, and placing $15,000 to the girl's credit in a Zurich bank. Nothing more has been heard of him, and his daughter is heartbroken.

Gambler Ate His Boots.

St. Petersburg.—A Moscow man made a curious wager. As against 500 roubles bet by his opponent he agreed to eat his boots if Russia did not force Japan to sue for peace last summer. He lost, and he carried out his agreement. Cutting a small strip daily from his footwear he masticated and swallowed it. It took him nearly five months to complete the operation.

Kisses Save Crop.

Topeka, Kan.—In order to save her father's crop of wheat from ruin by the rains which were threatening, pretty Mabel Huston, the 18-year-old daughter of a Saline county farmer, distributed kisses and hugs as prizes among the harvest hands who did the most work in the day. When night came the wheat was out of danger from the rains which shortly followed.

STATE ODDS AND ENDS

KENTUCKY'S NEW CAPITOL.

Bids For the Magnificent Structure Must Be In By August 1.

Covington, Ky., July 15.—Architects' plans for the new Kentucky state capitol, work on which is to be begun within the next few months, have been completed and are being examined by local architects and contractors at the offices of the builders' exchange.

The plans, aside from the magnitude of the work, are of interest to Cincinnatians and Ohioans generally through the fact that they represent the labors of an Ohio architect, Frank M. Andrews, of Dayton, O.

Bids for the contracting work of the buildings are now being received, and will be closed August 1.

The new structure is to be an imposin gone, and it is to be built of stone, brick, steel and concrete. It will be rectangular in form, its dimensions being approximately 400 by 180 feet by 47 feet in height, and it will face the north.

The building will be thoroughly modern in its equipments. It will consist of four floors, with attic and basement. A grand dome will surmount it, rising 135 feet above the roof. Its architecture will be Ionic.

BLACKSMITH'S SHACK.

He Compelled the County To Pay $4,000 For His Lease.

Louisville, Ky., July 15.—Patrick Kirley, a blacksmith, has forced the county of Jefferson to pay him $4,000 for the lease on the one-story shack at Center and Green streets, which he occupied as a shop at a rental of $15 a month. It is on the site of the new armory to be built at a cost of $400,000.

Kirley's lease was not considered when the site was bought. He had an option for a five-year renewal, and after the county exhausted every effort to get rid of him it had to come to his terms.

BREAKS THE RECORD.

The Per Capita Tax For the School System in Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., July 13.—Superintendent of Public Instruction Fuqua fixed the per capita for the public school system at $3.25 for the year ending June 30, 1906, which breaks the state record. This is on a basis of $2,420,000, the total resources of the school fund certified by Auditor Hager. The school census on which this basis is made, compiled by Superintendent Fuqua through county superintendents, is 731,000, children of school age.

A FAST MILE.

May Earl, a Four-Year-Old Filly, Went It in 2:11.

Lexington, Ky., July 15.—Mike Bowerman drove the four-year-old filly May Earl, by San Mateo, out of Annie Earl, by Erimont, a mile in 2:11, the fastest time made over the local track this season. May Earl is the property of John T. Stewart, and is considered by such good judges as John Splan to be the best horse in training in Central Kentucky. The fastest mile trotted heretofore by this promising filly was 2:13, made last Saturday.

Fought With a Burglar.

Louisville, Ky., July 14.—In a duel with a burglar Dr. O. R. Reesor was shot in the shoulder. During the fusillade Dr. Reesor fired twice and the burglar three times. One of the bullets fired by the burglar was found imbedded in the kitchen door.

After Interurban Routes.

Lexington, Ky., July 15.—A. B. Dupont and E. B. Caldwell, of Detroit, Mich., accompanied by their attorney, Charles Flower, are here looking over the interurban railway franchises of the Central Kentucky Interurban Co., with a view of purchasing its holdings.

To Reorganize the Bank.

London, Ky., July 15.—At a meeting of the directors of the Citizens' bank it was decided to reorganize the bank and change the system from a state to a national bank. Steps will be taken at once to make the change.

Kicked To Death By a Mule.

Henderson, Ky., July 15.—Thornton, the ten-year-old son of Circuit Clerk Wynn G. Mosely, was killed by being kicked by a mule. He was struck in the head by both of the animal's feet, producing almost instant death.

Medical Society Meeting.

Frankfort, Ky., July 15.—The Kentucky Midland Medical society met in their 37th quarterly session at the Capital hotel here. About 25 physicians, members of the society, were in attendance.

Frank Mooney Exonerated.

Bowling Green, Ky., July 15.—An inquest over the remains of John Patterson, a notorious negro, who was shot ten days ago by Frank Mooney and died of lockjaw, resulted in a verdict exonerating Mr. Mooney. He is said to have acted in self-defense.

After Lead and Zinc.

Fordsville, Ky., July 15.—The past few weeks have witnessed considerable activity in that section of Grayson county supposed to abound in lead and zinc, and if it continues there will be important developments in future.

RAILROAD COMMISSION.

It Holds That Express Companies Are Common Carriers.

Frankfort, Ky., July 14.—The Kentucky railroad commission holds that under Section 218 of the constitution of the state the express companies doing business in the state are common carriers as are railroad corporations, and that it is within its province to regulate their rates where charges are made that said rates are exorbitant. The ruling is announced in a case from Shelby county where the city of Shelbyville closed a license tax of $25 a year upon the Adams and Southern Express Cos., and they retaliated by adding one cent to the charge on each package in and out of the town at certain times during the year. The citizens complained under the long and short haul clause of the constitution. The commission sustains them in the complaint and recommends that the matter be investigated by the Shelby county grand jury and the companies prosecuted if they continue to collect additional charge.

NEPHEW WILL DIE.

His Uncle Sank a Knife Into His Body.

Louisville, Ky., July 14.—Because Nunce Carso, one of the wealthiest Italians in Louisville, struck his sister, Mrs. Casper Ilare, of 415 Second street, with his fist at his fruit store, her son, Andrew Ilare, asked for an explanation and was stabbed four times by his uncle. Ilare is dying. Carso sank a butcher knife into his nephew's back, abdomen and both arms.

During the affray several Italians ran into the place and all were fighting when the police arrived.

HUBBY GONE FOR TEN YEARS.

The Judge Declared Mrs. Hemingray a Single Woman.

Louisville, Ky., July 14.—Judge Kirby entered a judgment restoring Mrs. Lida Hemingray to the rights of a single woman, and incidentally recalling the disappearance of her husband, Reuben Hemingray, on September 28, 1890. The court held that, as Hemingray has never been heard from, he is presumed to be dead. Hemingray was a tobacco dealer. He left here to go to Chicago. Since Hemingray's disappearance Mrs. Hemingray has earned a living by teaching school.

WHILE RESISTING ARREST.

A Leitchfield Jeweler Shot and Killed By An Officer.

Leitchfield, Ky., July 13.—Al D. McClue, a jeweler of this city, while resisting arrest, was shot and killed. McClure, it is claimed, was intoxicated when Sheriff W. H. Coppage and City Marshal T. L. Baird undertook to arrest him. McClure cut Sheriff Coppage on the side of the head and neck. Coppage and Baird both fired at him, killing him instantly.

Can't Collect in Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., July 15.—The suit of George H. Alexander, revenue agent, against the American Sewing Machine Co., for $50,000 taxes, covering five years, was dismissed by Judge Gregory. The court sustained the plea of the defendant that the company is incorporated elsewhere and taxable only in Springfield, O., the firm's headquarters.

Chief Hill Renominated.

Paris, Ky., July 14.—In the democratic primary George M. Hill, the incumbent chief of police, defeated Officer J. C. Elgin by a majority of about 128 in a light vote of possibly 680. The city ticket for mayor and councilmen, having no oppposition, polled the full vote.

A Land of Plenty.

Barbourville, Ky., July 14.—Farmers say that not for years has there been such a crop of oats in this part of the state as this year. Every planter seems to have an abundance. Corn is looking fine everywhere. The crop of small fruit is abundant this season all through the mountains.

The Guardsmen Lose.

Barbourville, Ky., July 13.—The case of the 32 members of Company B, Second regiment, Kentucky state guards, against the Louisville & Nashville railroad for $10,000 damages each was decided in favor of the defendant in the Knox circuit court.

Capt. E. W. Lyen Expires.

Harrodsburg, Ky., July 13.—Capt. E. W. Lyen died here. He was a confederate veteran, and was in the Quantrell raid. He was a trustee of the Kentucky confederate home, and was well known in the south.

Died in Jail.

Covington, Ky., July 15.—John Schneider, 46, who was serving a six months' sentence in the city jail for abusing his family, is dead. He had been drinking a great deal previous to his arrest and had been acting strangely lately.

Blinded By a Torpedo.

London, Ky., July 15.—... this county, Florence ... year-old girl, exploded ... a railroad torpedo ... found. She was ... the sight of both eyes.

to replenish

of the Boone circuit court will begin on Monday, August 14.

When religion is only a tool you are sure to get hold of it by the wrong end.

There's no use casting your bread on the waters if you keep your cake to yourself.

Boone county has certainly had her share of trouble this month in the way of accident and tragedy.

It has been thoroughly demonstrated this season that it is no trouble for it to rain during wet weather.

A reporter for the Cincinnati Enquirer was here two days last week, working on the Richey-Smith-Warner trouble.

The public school per capita for this year will be $3 00. This will be good news for the teachers as well as for the patrons.

The posters containing the premium list and advertising the Harvest Home, the date of which is September 16th, are being placed in conspicuous places throughout the county. The efficient and accommodating secretary, Jerry J. Tanner is giving the advertising of the event his special attention.

The second rate amateur base ball teams throughout the country today rank a great deal higher than did the first class amateurs of 15 years ago and further back. An amateur team that can play no better ball than the best teams of 25 years ago did, have hard times finding a team that will fool away its time with it.

Forced To Starve.

B. F. Leek, of Concord, Ky, says: "For 20 years I suffered agonies, with a sore on my upper lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying everything else, I cured it, with Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's great for burns, cuts and wounds. At all drug stores. Only 25c.

The number of mail boxes on the rural route that goes out from Burlington is increasing steadily. Persons who live quite a distance from the roads over which the route passes are having boxes put up. Rural delivery is being operated at loss by the government, but Uncle Sam is able to pay for any good thing his people want.

The Eureka, Kans., Herald man is tickled to death over his appreciative digestive apparatus: "Lord help the millionaire! There is Rockefeller with no appetite; Morgan so restless he can't stay long in one place; Carnegie has long been a sufferer from dyspepsia, and the rest of 'em are dying with envy because they are not as rich as the three of 'em. Blessed be bacon and beans and health, with the grace of God.

As a rule this season old meadows were not of much force, new meadows, however, were generally good, and at the close of the harvest farmers will have plenty of hay for their use and considerable to sell. Surplus hay has been a source of considerable revenue to Boone county farmers for several years, and after home demands are met by the present crop, there will yet remain some to be converted into bank accounts.

A large mussel field in the river not far above Bellevue is furnishing employment for several persons at good pay. It is said to be about the richest field discovered in the Ohio river, the depth of the bed of mussels being estimated at eight feet. Those engaged bringing the bivalves to the surface are constantly on the watch for valuable pearls several of which have been reported found at beds along the river. The mussel shells are used for making buttons.

The RECORDER respectfully requests persons not to hitch horses to the trees near to and immediately in front of its office doors and windows, as the stench thus occasioned makes it very unpleasant in the office during hot weather. On muddy days and occasions when there is not shade elsewhere in which to hitch horses, the inconvenience here complained of will be overlooked, but at other times it will be an accommodation to the RECORDER force if the above request is complied with. Persons not employed in the office have no idea how unpleasant it makes it for the types when horses are hitched to the trees at the side and end of the building.

A Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party may be given your stomach and liver, taking a medicine which will relieve that pain and discomfort, viz: Dr. King's New Life Pills. They work wonders in curing sick headache, biliousness, malaria, and constipation. Only 25c per box. Sold by all druggists.

The modern girl's education is incomplete unless she has learned:
To sew.
To cook.
To mend.
To be gentle.
To dress neatly.
To keep a secret.
To avoid idleness.
To be self-reliant.
To darn stockings.
To respect old age.
To make good bread.
To keep a house tidy.
To be above gossiping.
To make home happy.
To control her temper.
To take care of the sick.
To take care of the baby.
To sweep down cobwebs.
To read the very best books.
To take plenty of active exercise.
To keep clear of trashy literature.
To be light-hearted and fleet-footed.

When she has learned all this if she does not grow a pair of wings and fly away to a better land she will make some lucky man a most excellent wife.

A dispatch from Cynthiana, Harrison county, this State, to last Thursday's Daily Edquirer says: "Walter Scott, the Death Valley millionaire miner, who made the famous record-breaking run from Los Angeles to Chicago, was born in Boone County, this state, about 35 years ago, and when a baby in arms was brought here by his parents and lived in a house in this city opposite the home of Mr. W. S. Cason, a prominent lawyer. Young Scott left here between the age of 10 and 14 years, and went to Texas. His mother was a Boone county lady, and died years ago before the boy left here, and his father is Colonel George A. Scott, a prominent horseman of this county who lives about four miles southeast of this city. Walter left here for Texas about 25 years ago, and from there drifted to Chicago with some horses sent to Buffalo Bill from Texas, and there his riding was so much noticed and praised by the famous ranchman that he at once hired young Scott at $60 per month to go with him."

From the number of cigarette stubs that are to be seen lying on the street and in the gutters it is quite evident that the anti-cigarette law is not being entorced in Aurora.—Independent.

The threshing season has scarcely begun in this locality because of the frequent and copious rains, and as but little of the wheat is stacked there is great danger of much of it being damaged or possibly ruined. —Pendletonian.

The Register is particularly attracted by the liberal premiums offered by the Boone County Agricultural Association. No gambling nor intoxicating liquors permitted on the grounds, neither is there any racing.—Lawrenceburg Register.

Carroll county people are not inclined to "kick," but it does seem that we should be given a fair deal in the payment of the State revenue, and not "worked" because we happen to be more enterprising than some of the other counties in the best Commonwealth of the best nation on Earth. Big counties, with plenty of wealth—which is kept hidden in a sock or under the floor—are allowed by the State Board to get off with a light assessment, while small counties, whose people have no chance to "hide their light under a bushel," pay comparatively the greater proportion of the State's revenue.—Carrollton News.

Tobacco never looked better in Grant county than this year. The acreage is larger than ever.—A young lady stepped into a drug store the other day and asked how to take a dose of caster oil without tasting it. The proprietor fooled around a little while, and then asked her if she would like a glass of lemonade. Of course she would. Then he wanted to know if she tasted caster oil. "Heavens, no!" she exclaimed. "Did you put it in the lemonade?" He told her he had. "Oh Lord! I wanted it for my mother," she groaned, as she sprinted for home. The proprietor is still hiding out.—Williamstown Courier.

Following are the dates for holding Kentucky fairs this year:
Georgetown Elks' Fair, July 25, 4 days.
Madisonville—Aug. 1, 5 days.
Danville—Aug. 2, 3 days.
Harrodsburg—Aug. 8, 4 days.
Fern Creek—Aug. 15, 4 days.
Shepherdsville—Aug. 15, 4 days.
Lawrenceburg—Aug. 15, 4 days.
Guthrie—Aug. 17, 3 days.
Shelbyville—Aug. 22, 4 days.
Springfield—Aug. 23, 4 days.
Nicholasville—Aug. 29, 3 days.
Bardstown—Aug. 30, 4 days.
Florence—Aug. 30, 4 days.
Elizabethtown—Sep. 5, 3 days.
Monticello—Sep. 5, 4 days.
Glasgow—Sep. 13, 4 days.
The Kentucky State Fair, Lexington—September 18, six days.
Henderson—Sep. 26, 6 days.
Falmouth—Sep. 27, 4 days.
Owensboro—Oct. 10, 5 days.

EVERYWHERE.

The copious rains, recently made the farmers more than busy. Consequently news is awful scarce, and we will have to covor a large scope of territory to get enough items to make our communication presentable.

We are sorry to hear of the serious illness of Esq. Moses Scott's wife and son, of Rabbit Hash precinct.

We were inquiring about your valuable Gasburg reporter, and wondering what had become of him when we were informed that he is busily engaged trying to cross the milkweed with the strawberry plant so he can raise strawberries and cream. Here is luck to you, Elijah.

We think the Fiscal Court is doing the right thing in having a bridge built across Wilrougby near James Roger's. If it will only keep up the good work it will not be long before we will have the county bridged without any hardships to the taxpayers.

No one deserves the sympathy of the people more than Gilly Weisickle in his great loss, nor does anyone deserve the plaudits of the people more than his little daughter, Sopha, the little heroine, who, but eleven years old, has an old head. She heroically tried to save her mother and little sister at the risk of her own life, and yet so fearfully burnt she kept on trying until other help came. Surely her name should be added to the list of heroines such as Grace Darling, Mollie Pitcher and others.

We heard, last week, one of Paynter's henchmen giving his reasons for being for Paynter. He said "there is Blackburn; when he was Governor he pardoned half of the convicts out of prison, and I am against him for that reason." He was for Paynter because Paynter is Circuit Judge of Franklin county, and is making it hard for the murderers of Goebel. So you can see what kind of backing Paynter has in this part of the State.

Our old friend, Joseph Riddell, of Bellevue, says the only way you could keep some folks busily engaged in Bellevue, would be to give them the seven year itch and a waterbury watch, so when they are not scratching they could be winding their watch. We think he is kinder hard on some of the boys of Bellevue.

We heard a good one on our young friend, Dr. Hopkins, of Rabbit Hash. He and Jerome Wilson went to Cincinnati, last week. They boarded a street car, and the handsome Doctor had just taken a seat, in fact had hardly got fairly down, when a lady entered. He immediately rose. "Don't rise, sir, I beg of you." "Heavens, madam!" the Doctor yelled, "I must, there's a pin three inches long set up on that seat." The passengers just roared, but the Doctor was glad to get away from that pin.

Wonder if that young man found his money that he advertised in the Enquirer, that he lost.

Heard a lady say that nothing was so God-for-saken and forlorn as an old bachelor.

There is the largest crop of blackberries that we ever saw, but strange to relate, we never saw so many snakes. One of our neighbors killed 18 spreading adders in one patch last week. A person almost takes his life in his hands when he goes berrying this summer.

There is entirely too much gossip going around. An exchange says gossip has a voice like a fog horn. It has caused more trouble than all the bedbugs, ticks. fleas, coyotes, grasshoppers, sore toes, sharks, cyclones, earthquakes, blizzards, smallpox, yellow fever, gout and indigestion than this great United States has known, or will know, or when the universe shuts up shop and begins the final invoice. Or in other words, it has got war and hell both backed up in the corner, yelling for ice water.

Miss Susie Goldsmith, of Ham Fat, La., is visiting friends in Florence.

George H. Overstate will start a store in Florence before long.

Mrs. Jesemina Jenkins, nee Gratheart, of Louisville, is the guest of Ebenezer Dubbs, of Florence.

Miss Glorinia Rowey, of Aurora, Ind., is visiting Miss Clarissa Higgins, of Petersburg.

Theopolis Spiggins and Joshua Howler have bought a new threshing machine.

Misses Clothilda Faushaw, Jennie Howler, Jerusha Hooker and Drabella Snipkins, of Baltimore, Md., are guests of Mrs. Adah Wilson, of Rabbit Hash.

"Always Reliable."
W. N. HIND & CO.
Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,
210-12 W. Fifth Street,
Cincinnati, - Ohio.

SPECIALS!

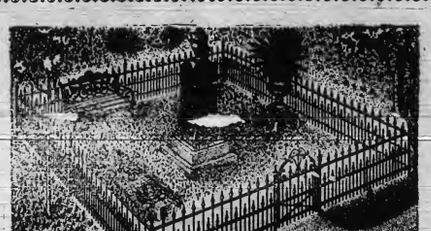
As a further introduction of the quality, style and tailoring of Clothing we are offering, the . . . following prices will prevail . . .

$10.00 For a handsome, carefully finished and up-to-date patterns Men's Suits.

$15.00 For Ready-to-wear Tailor Made Suit, like custom work.

$7.50 Men's Coats and Trouser Suit.

Young Men's Suits.....$7.50
Boys' and Children's Suits.....$3.00
Men's Trousers.....$1.00
Children's Trousers.....35c



Merchant Tailoring

Favorable prices to our customers, to introduce what can be made for the money.

Max Herbst & Co.

531 Madison Ave., COVINGTON, KY.
Lucian Rice, Mgr. Near Sixth Street.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,
Salvage AND Wrecking Contractors
All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.
BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,
BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.
Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.,
Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.
Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

For Best Prices Call or Write to
HENRY QUICK, Hebron, Ky.,
SPECIAL AGENT FOR
The Stewart Iron Works Company,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

JOSEPH HERRMAN,
—DEALER IN—
FANCY GROCERIES,
SMOKED MEATS,
Fruits & Vegetables
Erlanger, Kentucky.
Opp. Erlanger Deposit Bank.
Eggs and Butter exchanged in trade or cash. Boone county trade solicited.
PLEASE CALL AND GET MY PRICES.
Phone—South 1054 Y—Call 3.

For McCormick or Deering
BINDERS,
MOWERS,
RAKES,
HAY TEDDERS,
SWEEP RAKES,
STACKERS,
CORN BINDERS,
CORN SHREDDERS,
GASOLINE ENGINES,
FARM WAGONS,
DISC HARROWS,
PEGTOOTH HARROWS,
5-tooth CULTIVATORS,
and GRINDERS,
Apply to
ELMO GAINES, Grant, Ky., or
W. D. CROPPER, Burlington, Ky.
PHONE 178, Boone Co. Line.
Orders earnestly solicited. Promptness and satisfaction guaranteed.

Subscribe for the Recorder

FARM FOR SALE.
A good farm of 227 acres, near Rabbitt Hash, Boone county, Ky. Capable of being divided.
THOS. N. STEPHENS,
Rabbit Hash, Ky.

J. P. HEMPHILL
THE DRUGGIST
at Rising Sun, Ind.,
....Carries a full line of....
DRUGS,
PAINTS,
OILS AND
VARNISHES.
In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet his Kentucky friends.
—CALL AND SEE HIM.—
Yours Respectfully,
J. P. HEMPHILL,
Rising Sun, Indiana.

MY STOCK OF
—NICE, FRESH—
Groceries!
is renewed every week.
I don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find my prices right.
COUNTRY PRODUCE
taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.
W. C. WEAVER,
Burlington, Ky.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
M. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2000.
Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged
Money to Loan on Real Estate,
Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
All communications addressed to
W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL,.....$30,000
Surplus and undivided profits 30,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptremitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000
Surplus,.....$8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Every Farmer in the County
should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, - Walton, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.
AT UNION 1st MONDAY in each month.

Dr. G. M. Terrill,
DENTIST,
Walnut Street.
LAWRENCEBURG, - INDIANA.

B. L. RICE. M. J. CROUCH.
RICE & CROUCH,
REAL ESTATE
And Note Brokers.
Farms Bought and Sold.
Notes Negotiated. Money to Loan.
Office—UNION, KY.

ANTHONY BENTLER,
AUCTIONEER,
19 Covington Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KY.
Will cry sales anywhere in Boone or Kenton county. Prices reasonable.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JULY 26, 1905. NO. 41

County Correspondence.

RICHWOOD.

A society, under the name of Kentucky Workers, has been organized by the young ladies of the Richwood church. This society gave Rev. and Mrs. A. P. Gregory a farewell reception at their residence on the evening of July 14th from 5 to 8 p. m. Refreshments were served by the young ladies. Those who were present from a distance were, Messrs. Lee, Crescent Springs; Walton Bedinger, Georgia; Willie Duncan, Burlington, Ky., and Spencer Stevenson, New York. Rev. and Mrs. Gregory will leave for their new home at Columbia, Tenn., in the near future.

o o o

COMMISSARY.

July 22.—Leomer Louden spent last Sunday with his brother, Jesse, near Bellevue.

Miss May Cason, of Middle creek, is visiting Indiana relatives.

Cecil Snelling, of Rock Spring, has for sale a buggy and harness.

Elbert Kelly and wife, of Lonesome Hollow, were shopping in Aurora last Monday.

The cream of the Burlington ball club in last Saturday's game was found in the pitcher.

Mrs. Rebecca Louden spent last Sunday with Mrs. Laura Lacy near Botts Landing.

Ira Ryle is done putting up hay. Ira is a hustler and when he takes hold things has to hum.

Flave Louden was circulating among relatives and friends in and around Scrapville, last Sunday.

Mrs. J. J. Walton, Eugene Kelly and wife spent last Sunday with Mrs. T. J. Walton, of Commissary.

Louis Merrick and wife, of Clore's Ridge, were visiting James Beard and wife, near Bellevue, last Sunday.

They do say that one of Belleview's widowers will take unto himself another rib in the very near future.

Miss Lizzie Rogers and Miss Nannie Goodridge were Sunday guests of Miss Artie and Stella Ryle, of Commissary.

Miss Louise West and Miss Julia Louden were guests of Mrs. Minnie Kelly, of Lonesome Hollow, last Monday.

The Baptist minister and wife, of Bellevue, were calling on sisters Mrs. T. J. Walton and Mrs. W. T. Ryle, Wednesday.

Misses Grale, Nannie and Julia Londen entertained with an icecream social, last Saturday night. A pleasant time was had by all present.

Master Willie Walton and sister, Mary, were callers at Commissary last Wednesday, and in the evening called on Master Charlie and sister Sadie Rurree.

It is as natural to want things as it is to breathe, and judging from the actions of some of our officeholders in high position, as natural to steal them as it is to eat.

Geo. Koons and daughter, Bessie, gave an entertainment at Richard Londen's, Wednesday night, on the graphaphone. They have a splendid selection and give a good entertainment.

Robert Ferguson and Miss Isabelle Selma, of New York City, were married last week. Miss Isabelle is beautiful and accomplished, and possesses in a large degree all the characteristics that makes a perfect lady, or as near perfection as is attained, and has a host of friends here who join with us in wishing her a prosperous and happy life.

That was quite a compliment Joe Riddell gave some of the Belleviewites. We don't believe he said anything of the kind. We believe Everywhere used him as a club to whack them on his own account, as he did us when he said, "I heard a lady say the most forlorn and Godforsaken being she ever saw was an old bachelor." He used the lady as a club to hit us one. When we want to hit "Everywhere" we will do it boldly and not go behind someone else, especially a lady.

o o o

FLICKERTOWN.

The corn promises a good crop this year.

Otto Rector was shopping in Aurora last Saturday.

Tom Hensley and his best girl attended the show at Bellevue, Saturday night.

A good rain fell here Sunday at noon which the early corn and tobacco needed badly.

It was Miss Kittie Burk instead of Mrs. Mattie Burk, who is visiting here from Aurora. The writer was misinformed.

Mr. Lyster Smith and family, Ben Hensley and family, and J. W. White and wife dined with C. A. Finn and family, Sunday.

Mr. A. Hilton Greenwood, of Avondale, Cincinnati, visited Miss Mae Cutter the past few days, who is a guest of Mrs. Otto Rector.

Ben Passons and Miss Alice Deck, were married last Wednesday at the residence of Wm. Ryley, they returned to the brides parents where a reception awaited them.

Mr. John Deck and family, Waller Campbell and wife, Claborn Campbell and family, Miss Aggie Snyder, and Ben Passons and bride were Sunday guests of A. Passons and family.

Through an error last week's Recorder announced that Miss Mae Cutter, of Cincinnati, was the guest of Miss Effie Hensley. Miss Cutter is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Otto Rector, on Ashby Fork.

Instead of having services at Petersburg next Sunday and Sunday night, we will have an all day meeting at Woolper school house. Preaching at 10:30 a. m. and 3. p. m. Dinner on the ground. Everybody invited.

M. D. EARLY, Pastor.

VERONA.

J. E. Ransom is having his residence recoped and repainted.

Mrs. Rebecca Florence is visiting relatives at Elwood, Indiana.

George B. Johnson, of Sparta, was with his family here last Sunday and Monday.

Miss Nannie Fling, of Flingsville, has been the guest of friends here the past week.

The trustees of the public school are having the house papered. A. C. Roberts is doing the work.

Robert Myers, of Elwood, Indiana, is spending a few days' vacation with relatives and friends here.

Scott Myers hulled ont the most of the small grain in this neighborhood last week, the yield being fairly good.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Houston, of near Gardensville, spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. David Houston, last Sunday.

Denten Cotton and family of Jonesville, were pleasant guests of his mother, Mrs. Henry Cotton, last Saturday and Sunday.

A. K. Johnson, wife and two youngest daughters, Nellie and Marion, of Walton, visited at J. M. Powers', last Sunday.

O. K. Whitson intends embarking in the coal business right. He is having a coal shed built that will hold several car loads of coal.

The little infant of Mr. and Mrs. James Houston, of Carthage, Ohio, was brought here Sunday, and buried in the family grave yard of Mr. Will Moore.

The remains of Ben Kennedy, who met a sudden death while breaking on the Big Four R. R., was brought here from Illinois, last Sunday, and will be buried at Lebanon today (Monday) at 11 o'clock.

Theodore Kennedy and wife, of Rosedale; Perry Massie and wife, of Sherman, and Mrs. Susie Dwyer and daughter, Miss Lucie, of Cincinnati, were pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Kennedy, last Saturday and Sunday.

o o o

PLEASANT VALLEY.

Elbert Vaughn, of Dayton, visited his father, Vaughn.

Most everyone is through harvesting and ready to thresh.

Miss Leslie Wingate spent last Friday with Mrs. Susan Barlow.

Miss Ollie Brown, of Cincinnati, is the guest of Mrs. William Star.

Mrs. H. L. Tanner entertained at dinner last Friday, Mrs. George Barlow and daughter's, Misses Edna and Mary.

Mrs. John Wingate entertained with a birthday dinner last Thursday. Among those present were Mrs. Noah Clore, of Florence; Mrs. John Ryle, of Florence; Mrs. J. B. Berkshire and daughter, Miss Lucille, of Petersburg, and Mrs. S. H. Marshall and others.

o o o

LIMABURG.

Lloyd E. Aylor has a good cow for sale. Call on Frank Florence.

Mrs. Elizabeth Utz is the guest of her brother, W. L. B. Rouse.

Nearly all the farmers around here will finish putting up hay this week.

Chas. Hood and wife, of Cincinnati, were guests of J. W. Quigley and wife, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly entertained a number of their relatives with a dinner, Sunday.

Miss Laura Maxwell, of Burlington, is visiting her grandfather, Mr. Joe Brown, near here.

Messrs. Hubert and Frank Rouse attended the Odd-Fellows' meeting at Big Bone, Saturday.

Mrs. M. E. Crigler and Mrs. J. D. Aylor spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Nellie Garnett.

Chas. Anderson has taken the contract for the stone work on William Davis' new house, which he will build this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kelly, of Waterloo, and Frank Rouse and wife of Hebron, were Sunday guests of Hubert Rouse and wife.

Sterling Rouse had a very badly swollen face from the effects of a bee sting, last week. He has found several swarms of bees this spring which he has hived.

o o o

BULLITTSVILLE.

July 24.—C. E. and E. K. Stephens are harvesting the largest crop of hay in this neighborhood, about 300 tons.

The children of Irvin Baisley of Missouri, are spending the summer with relatives here.

Rev. Early returned, Saturday, from Shelby county, where he assisted in a protracted meeting last week. He says the corn crop down there is fine, while the tobacco crop is good but uneven.

W. B. Jones has a stalk of corn that is putting out six shoots. He thinks that by the time it is thoroughly developed it will have an ear at every joint and a sack of shelled corn in the tassel.

Ben Passons and Miss Alice Deck, of Flickertown, were quietly married by Rev. Edgar Riley at his home near here, last Wednesday. May happiness and prosperity be theirs through life, is the wish of the writer. The wedding of Chas. Beall, jr., and Miss Minnie Day, of Francesville, was booked for Sunday by Rev. Edgar D. Jones at the residence of T. G. Willis, but the bride to be was taken suddenly ill and the wedding was postponed until next Wednesday.

PRIVATE SALE.

About seventy-five (75) acres of land on Ronse's branch in this (Boone) county, belonging to the late L. C. Norman, and being a part of the old Norman home farm. For particulars address Fayette Hewitt, Frankfort, Ky. July 1—3t.

GUNPOWDER.

Charles Aylor is among the sick.

There has been no threshing done in this neighborhood.

James Tanner and family were guests at George Barlow's, last Sunday.

John Crisler is able to resume business again after an illness of several months.

B. A. Rouse and wife and Chester Uts broke bread with the writer, last Sunday.

J. W. Rouse and wife entertained several of their friends at dinner, last Sunday.

The infant son of John Blanker was seriously sick last week, but is improving slowly.

Mrs. E. O. Rouse, who was on the sick list several days last week, is somewhat improved.

John L. Rouse and son in-law, Mr. Perry, of Milan, Indiana, passed through our burg last Saturday.

The showers of last week delayed the hay harvest somewhat, and there is considerable hay to be harvested yet.

Mrs. John Souther, of Newport, is visiting her father, John Bentham and other relatives, in this neighborhood.

We have the best prospect for a corn crop that we have had for several years, and if it continues seasonable the crop will be a record breaker.

A protracted meeting will begin at Haspeal, on the first Sunday night in August. The services will be conducted by Pastor Slater. Everybody is invited to attend and participate in the services.

o o o

GASBURG.

July 22.—A lively crowd Sundayed at Split Rock.

The bumper blackberry crop is being rapidly exhausted.

Mrs. Henry Terrill is able to take buggy rides occasionally.

Miss Blanche Early, of Home City, Ohio, is visiting relatives here.

A Mr. Rice from Cochran, Indiana, was buying hogs here the first of the week.

Wheat threshing is over for this season. The yield was not as good as anticipated.

The market in Aurora has, so far, been very good for fruit and all kinds of vegetables.

The little grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Terrill is visiting them. He resides in Illinois, near Vincennes, Ind.

The extreme hot weather made the melon vines get a move on them. There will likely be a better crop of melons than usual.

Bernard Berkshire has 6 acres of extra fine tobacco growing on your reporter's land. It is said to be the best in this neighborhood.

o o o

WALTON.

Miss Lula Venable is the pleasant guest of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Honston.

Miss Lula Jones, of Covington, is the pleasant guest of friends and relatives here.

Mr. Rouse and family, of Richwood, were the week's guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Fossett.

Mrs. Shelburn was the pleasant guest of her son-in-law, Rev. D. T. Buck, last week.

Mr. Curtis Jones, of New Liberty, spent last Monday with Rev. D. T. Buck and family.

Miss Georgia Stephens, of Atwood, has returned home after a pleasant visit to Miss Katie Bentz.

Miss Mary Rector and Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of Cincinnati, were guests of Mr. Tillman and family, recently.

Dr. B. K. Menefee and daughters, Cecil and Gladys Wilson, spent last Wednesday night with his father, Mr. S. G. Menefee.

The protracted meeting at the Baptist church, conducted by Rev. Daniels, of Covington, closed Saturday with ten additions.

o o o

MIDWAY.

John Allen is sporting a new rubber tire buggy.

Hughes Johnson made a business trip to the city, last Friday.

Bacon, beans and blackberry cobbler are the popular menu in the rural district at present.

Miss Lula Parsons and Miss Glore, of Cincinnati, are spending the week here with relatives.

Quite a number from here atten ded the supper given at the I. O. O. F. Hall, at Big Bone, Saturday night.

Dallas Grigsby, formerly of this county, but recently of Texas, has gone to Europe in search of health.

Mrs. Tiny Hume returned home, Saturday, from Metcalf, Illinois, after spending a couple of months there with her sister, Mrs. Omer Wilson.

Miss Pearl Hughes, of Hume, Ill., is spending several days with her mother and sisters, having made the trip in an automobile, recently, with her brother, George, and his two daughters.

The Golden Link Society met, last Saturday night, at the home of Mrs. T. J. Hughes and organized with 23 members, electing Miss Lucy Hearne president. The purpose of this society will be Missionary and will have several social attractions. They meet at the Chapel next Saturday night for choir practice with Prof. Limburg as instructor.

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this double affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at all drug stores, price 50c.

UNION.

W. P. Corbin was taken suddenly ill Monday.

T. J. Burkett was very sick for several days last week.

Frank Rouse, of Burlington, spent Friday with friends here.

Miss Virginia Conner entertained a number of her relatives, Sunday.

Mrs. Harriet Taliaferro is very much improved after several days illness.

Mrs. Dora Bannister entertained P. T. Fall, wife and daughter, Thursday.

Mr. Linden Severall of Cincinnati, spent last Monday with his cousin, Miss Eva Smith.

Mrs. John Taylor, of Beaver Lick, spent Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Utz.

Mrs. J. S. Asbury and daughter, of Mason county, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Norman.

Mrs. Sallie Adams, of Big Bone, was the guest of Mrs. J. W. Kennedy, several days last week.

Mrs. G. V. Rouse left, Saturday for a two weeks visit with her sons, Will and Dougias, in Chicago.

R. D. Hedges and wife, and Mrs. Mary Hedges and daughter, spent Sunday with Mrs. Marshall Hedges.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Afterkirk and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Clarkson spent Sunday with Mrs. Elizabeth Clarkson.

Misses Jeanette and Ruth Huey were pleasant guests of Misses Sara and Rachal Conner, Saturday and Sunday.

Wanted—Any person having a Shetland pony to sell can find a purchaser by addressing Henry Smith, Gunpowder, Ky.

Wm Poindexter, of Cynthiana, and Edgar Huey, of Stanford, are spending their vacation with their grandparents, J. W. Kennedy and wife.

Owing to an engagement in a series of meeting, Rev. Wilson will hold his regular service at the Baptist church on the 5th Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Louise Bristow entertained the following to dinner, Sunday: Misses Sophia Friedman, Hattie and Minnie Rouse, and Messrs. Wallace and Richard Rouse and Frank Smith.

Following is the lineup of the teams that played ball here last Saturday:

Belleview—A. Cook, 1; W. Flick, 1; O. Flick, r; Conner, 3; Gordon, p; C. Sandford, c; E. Sandford, s; McCarty, 2; A. Smith, m.

Y. M. A. A.—Trester, s; Burkholder, c; Peters, 1; Downey, p; Franks, 2; Watts, 3; Reese, 1; Jokers, m; Rice, r.

Belleview	0	0	0	1	0	0	2	0	1	—4
Y. M. A. A.	0	8	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	—10

Hits—Off Gordon, 6; off Downey, 7. Struck out by Gordon, 8; by Downey, 7. Three base hits—Smith and Downey. Two base hits—Conner.

These same teams play at Aurora ice pond next Saturday, July 29.

o o o

BELLEVIEW.

We are having an abundance of rain. A crowd from here picniced at Split Rock, Sunday.

Ten of our citizens are employed at the mussel camp.

Sam Pope and wife, of Waterloo, spent Sunday with E. E. Kelly.

We are glad to report little Sophia Weisickle as very much improved.

The Pauline brought a lot of young people to view our city, Saturday.

Atty. Orne Rogers, of Erlanger, visited his father, Saturday and Sunday.

Napolean Snelling and wife, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., visited relatives here, last Sunday.

W. W. Grant has cleaned up his arsenal and is now prepared to defend his chicken roost to the last notch.

C. G. Riddell and Dr. Hopkins, of Rabbit Hash, passed through here, Saturday evening, behind the Doctor's new stepper, B. & O.

Al Rogers is exercising himself and his fast pacing horse, a great deal this week. Al expects to make something fast of the animal.

Pepper Smith, the Belleview tobacco merchant, and your news gatherer were in Cincinnati, Wednesday of last week. Pepper has finished prizing his purchase of tobacco—177,000 pounds.

A lady fell off the Bonanza, just above here, Sunday, and was drowned. Two male passengers jumped into the water and made heroic efforts to rescue her but failed. Her body has not been recovered.

Many of our friends are asking us to run for Mayor of our town. We have always felt that we should live on almoc nothing, wear any old clothes tossed at us and remain strictly in the background. If we ever change our mind the public will hear of it.

o o o

PT. PLEASANT.

Mrs. Geo. Bradford has been on the sick list.

Mrs. James Harvey Walton, who has been quite sick is improving.

Miss Carolyn Dougherty, of West Elkton, Ohio, is visiting Lucy Russell.

Miss Elsie Robinson, of Ludlow, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Florida Robinson.

Miss Mary and Lnella Latta, of Ludlow, will spend this week with Mr. W. E. Walton's family.

The young ladies of the Pt. Pleasant church expect to have an ice cream social the 5th of August. The details will be given next week.

Mrs. Permelia Anderson, who has been visiting her brothers, Messrs. J. W. and D. W. Riggs, has gone to Erlanger to visit William Riggs and family.

Miss Clementine Walton starts for San Francisco, July 31st. She expects to spend the winter with her aunt, Miss Clementine Tupman, in Portland, Oregon.

Harmony Lodge, I. O. O. F., at Big Bone Springs, had about the most delightful meeting in its history last Saturday. Members of the order were present from far and near, and everyone enjoyed the occasion.

The Ft. Thomas ball team is expected to meet the Boones on the Burlington park, again next Saturday afternoon, while the Grays are arranging to battle with the Hebron team at Hebron.

IDLEWILD.

July 24.—Joshua Masters was kicked by a horse and so disabled that he could not attend to business, last week.

Mrs. Courtney Walton dined several of her friends, last Wednesday.

Thomas Delph visited his brother Asa in Peterburg, last Sunday.

Miss Maggie Bullock, of Hebron, is the guest of Mrs. George Kreylich, this week.

Thomas Whitaker and wife visited with Big Bone relatives, Saturday and Sunday.

The old saying, "more rain more rest; lazy men love the best," is being verified.

O. W. Gaines and Elijah Howard attended the funeral of J. J. Lillard, last Saturday.

Mrs. R. C. Gaines entertained, last Friday, in honor of Miss Lizzie Graddy, of Lexington.

Mrs. V. W. Gaines, of Ludlow, is visiting her relatives here. One of her children is quite sick.

Several of our farmers are hauling their wheat to Petersburg, and selling it at 82 cents a bushel.

A calf belonging to Jim Brown broke its neck a few days ago. Geo. Pfalzgraf was called as surgeon.

The members of Sand Run were disappointed in Rev. Utz not being able to preach for them last Sunday.

Miss Boden, of Marshall, Missouri, niece of Mrs. Keeler Stephens, is here to teach the Bullittsburg school.

Mrs. Chester Davis, of Ludlow, and Miss India Davis, of Cincinnati, are spending the week with Mrs. James T. Gaines.

The rain here Sunday was preceded by a wind that carried clouds of dust to a great altitude, while shocks of wheat and stacks of hay suffered considerably.

Mrs. Owen Gaines has returned from Union, where she visited Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, whom she reports recovering from the injuries resulting from her recent accident in Covington.

We were surprised when we heard of Edwin Gaines' marriage. His wife was Miss Mary Caldwell, of Dayton, O. The best wishes of Edwin's many old friends in this county are with them.

Mrs. James T. Grant and Mrs. Graves went to Earnest Grant's, near the mouth of Woolper, Sunday, to meet Dr. Edward Grant and wife, of Louisville, and to take Anna Holman home with them.

Mr. John Stephens and daughter, Miss Lizzie, have returned from Missouri. His great improvement physically, indicates that he found and bathed in the "fountain of perpetual youth," while he was in the West.

Benjamin Passons and Miss Alice Deck, of Flickertown, were united in marriage by Rev. Elgar Riley at his home near Bullitsville, one afternoon last week. They were accompanied by two couples of their friends.

Rev. Early and wife are invited to spend today in Cincinnati with Robert Baker and wife, of Austin, Texas, who is a large railroad contractor.

Mrs. Baker will come home with her sister, Mrs. Early, for a week's visit. When she returns home she will take Nellie with her.

Shaw & Brothers, of Lawreneburg, were here last week hunting the family of William Scott, a native of Harrison county, and who has many relatives in Boone. He is reported to have made a million dollars mining in the West, and has a fast record for extravagance.

Earl Conner, Miami '07, returned last week, from New York, having been sent there as a delegate to attend the sixty-sixth annual convention of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He represented Alpha Chapter.

The rain that came up about the conclusion of the services interfered greatly with the people getting home.

It is Supt. N. S. Walton's request that there be no Sunday school next Sunday at Bullittsburg, in order to give all an opportunity to attend the allday services at Petersburg, conducted by our pastor and Rev. C. W. Daniel, of Covington.—[Rev. Early telephoned the RECORDER, yesterday to announce that the services will be held at Woolper school house, next Sunday, instead of at Petersburg, the announcement of which appears in another column.—ED.]

Benj. Belden, who recently sold his flour mill at Petersburg, writes from Xenia, to have his RECORDER changed to Xenia, Ohio, R. R. No. 3, being desirous of continuing his acquaintance with the good people of old Boone. Mr. Belden desires to thank the people of Boone county for their numerous kindnesses and liberal patronage during his residency among them. Especially do he and his family desire to express to the donors of the handsome present their appreciation of the same, and assure them that they will always be held in kindest remembrance.

The Diamond Cure.

The latest news from Paris, is, that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you fear consumption or pneumonia, it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee, of Vanleer, Tenn. "I had a cough for fourteen years. Nothing helped me, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief." Unequalled quick cure, for Throat and Lung Troubles. At all drug stores, price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

For Sale—Fresh cow. Apply to Ezra Wilhoit, Florence, Ky.

RABBIT HASH.

Sheep trade is still lively.

Mr. McGwayne's little daughter has typhoid fever.

Robt. Brady, jr., has returned from his visit to Walton.

Wallace Stephens had a valuable horse to die, last week.

Tom Kent's father is staying with him. Mr. Kent, Sr., is a centenarian.

Lewis Clore has his last year's crop of tobacco, which he will prize at Bellevue.

J. H. Walton had a horse badly cut on a "barborous" wire one night last week.

H. D. Brady put several hogsheads of tobacco on the Cincinnati market, last week.

There will be a basket meeting at the East Bend M. E. Church, Saturday, August 12th.

Mrs. Adah Wilson spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Rising Sun, Indiana.

We hear that Robt. Allen had a fine young stallion to fall in a well and break its neck.

Frank Scott, son of Esq. Moses Scott, has typhoid fever and is not so well at this writing.

C. G. Riddell bought a mule from Truman Riggs to use in his huckster wagon. Price unknown.

Rev. Maddox, of Big Bone, will preach at the East Bend Baptist church Thursday night, July 27.

Wheat is still in the shock in East Bend, continued rains wetting it sufficiently to prevent threshing or putting in barns.

Mrs. Ida Louden fell and broke a small bone of the spinal column, last Thursday. She will have to lie in bed several weeks.

James A. Hastings' son-in-law, Henry McKay, of Willow Grove, West Va., has been here several days combining business with pleasure.

o o o

ERLANGER.

July 25—Thos Edwards is very sick at his home on Lexington pike.

J. J. Tanner, of Richwood, was visiting friends here, Saturday.

Miss May Finnell is visiting her sister, Miss Ida Finnell, in Georgetown.

John Piatt is at home for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Piatt.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Slater are guests of relatives here and will remain two weeks.

Warner Sayers has returned to Lexington, after a brief visit with his parents, Mr. Eugene Sayers and wife.

Miss Prudence Spears has returned home from a pleasant visit with her cousin, Miss Laura Thompson, in Georgetown.

The marriage of Miss Katie Konerding and Mr. J. L. Pickett, of Cincinnati, was a surprise to their many friends at this place.

Miss Ella Hilker has returned to her home in Covington accompanied by her aunts, the Misses Hilker, whose pleasant guests she has been for three weeks.

Special to the Recorder:

Politics holds Kenton county in its grasp, and until the close of the polls at the primary election on the afternoon of August 5th, very little else will be talked of, thought of, or dreamed of in the great county of Kenton. The election now in the incubator is to be one in which there is to be harmony, even if that harmony is to be obtained at the cost of a few bloody noses. It is harmony with a big H in this county now, and all the factions in the Democratic party are swimming in the same pond without muddying the water any to speak of. In fact everything is just lovely and each candidate feels certain that in the count of the votes cast on the 5th day of August he will get all that is coming to him. There is to be no "shenanaging" business this time, so say the powers that be. Now, if this declaration is carried out in good faith, Kenton county will turn in an old time Democratic majority next November; but, on the other hand, if any of the methods that have been indulged in not so very far back in the past are worked off after the close of the polls at the primary, woe be unto the candidate or candidates in whose behalf the thievery is perpetrated.

The race that overshadows all others in this part of the county is that for justice of the peace, two of our prominent citizens, ex-Esquire T. Jeff Childress and A. S. Cates, being the candidates. Jeff (when we write it Jeff everybody knows who is meant) has been at the crib once in times past, and is very anxious to don the ermine once more, and he has a long array of friends who are rooting for him with all their might, and are handling his excellent record when in office in a most successful manner and are claiming that Jeff will win hands down. Al, everybody knows Al, says Jeff and his friends are talking through their hats when they are claiming his nomination. Al and his friends, and he has lots of them, are sanguine that he will be Erlanger's next member of the fiscal court. The race between Al and Jeff is a very pretty one, and the betting on them is even money with takers hard to find. The race is about this way: When Jeff stays up later at night than Al does, he has a lead of a few votes in the morning, and vice versa.

Esq. Durain, the incumbent, will be the Republican candidate at the November election, and he says be it Jeff or Al, he will make it warm for him—in fact will make him wish he had never entered politics.

Leave your timepieces at Clutterbuck Bros.' for repairs.

Born, yesterday, to Wm. Wilson and wife, Burlington, a bouncing boy baby.

When in Lawrenceburg go to R. W. Clark for a good shave or a hair-cut.

Boone county is bidding for a bumper corn crop this year.

The wheat on the hill land in this county is yielding better than that in the river bottoms.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, . . . KENTUCKY

The number of persons convicted in Prussian courts last year for lese majeste was 164, against 198 in 1903.

The railway companies of England and Wales employ between them 312,000 men. The Scottish and Irish companies employ 40,000 men between them.

The Chicago public library uses a 20-horse-power gasoline wagon to deliver books from the central department to the many branches in the city and suburbs.

To prove that its telegrams are genuine, a Paris newspaper will in future expose in its windows duplicates of every message received for the whole of the day after their publication.

A certain London hotel used a bushel of potatoes a year for penwipers on the tables in the writing rooms. It is claimed that a potato wiper is the best preservative that can be obtained for the pen.

A German scientific paper describes a new registering rain gauge, in which each drop falls on a balanced arm, which dips under it, closes an electric circuit and registers the fall. The number of drops in half a minute indicates the intensity of the shower and curves of it can be drawn from them.

The death has occurred at Dunmore school house, Stirlingshire, of Robert Livingston, who had a number of most remarkable escapes during the Indian mutiny. On one occasion a cannon ball grazed his left temple, leaving only a burned scar, and on another, while enjoying a hard-earned breakfast, a piece of bacon was shot off his fork when halfway to his mouth.

According to a British board of trade return, just issued, the sugar consumed by the working classes in Germany costs 5½ cents per pound, in Austria-Hungary 7½ cents, in Belgium 7 cents, in France 7 cents, in Holland 5½ cents and in Russia 5½ cents. Sugar is cheaper in Denmark, where it is 5 cents per pound, as compared with 5½ cents in Great Britain.

Dr. Yung Wing, of Hartford, Ct., was the first Oriental who was ever graduated from an American college. He took his degree at Yale in the class of 1854. In 1876 he was the Chinese minister to the United States. Dr. Yung Wing is in his 76th year, but is still in good health, and his intellectuality is as bright as in his younger days. He has a host of friends in Washington.

At Cheybogan, Mich., is the largest sawdust pile in the world, and strangers often walk out to gaze with astonishment at its proportions. It is a veritable hill, 1,080 feet long, 875 wide, 3,625 in circumference, ranges from 20 to 50 feet in height, and covers 12 acres of ground. It is the accumulation of one lumber company since 1877. Early in its history the company tried to burn the pile, but the outside only would burn, the flames refusing to penetrate the closely packed interior.

According to a writer, the American Rhodes scholars at Oxford present an interesting contrast to their English fellow-students. As to their relative scholarship, he found the Englishmen to be the much better informed of the two, though on fewer subjects. They were much more thorough classicists, much better read in all literatures and in the newspapers. The American students had pursued more subjects, science especially, but, as a rule, had not gone deep enough into anything to get a firm hold on it.

Denver will claim the distinction of owning the biggest American flag in the world. It will be used for the G. A. R. encampment. It will be 115 feet long and 55 feet deep. The union field will be 28 by 35 feet and the stripes will be 4 feet 2 inches wide. The stars will be 2 feet high, and in its making 1,450 yards of bunting are to be used. The flag's weight of 450 pounds prevents it being swung from a pole or hung from a cable between buildings, so it has been arranged to spread it across the front of a five-story building on Sixteenth street.

It is difficult to get access to the government's historical documents and papers in Washington, and they who do get access to them are always accompanied, as they make their consultations, by a guide. H. Clay Evans said recently that a big percentage of the government's documents have been robbed of their signatures. The signatures, if of value, have been cut out by thieves. Hundreds of the signatures of Washington, Hamilton, Burr, Lincoln, Jefferson, etc., have been stolen from government documents.

For a number of years the question of the probable duration of the available coal supplies in Great Britain has been seriously discussed, and the matter has been referred to a royal commission for investigation and report. Taking 4,000 feet as the practical working depth limit, the investigaters find that the proved coal fields of Great Britain still contain about 100,000,000,000 tons of coal, of which about 80 per cent. is in seams of two feet thick and upward. The average annual output at the present time is about 258,000,000 tons.

WORLD'S NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM.

Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs of Recent Interesting Happenings.

EVENTS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

The Doings of the Government Officials—Crimes and Casualities and Other Notes of General Interest.

No advices, either from this country or from abroad, have reached President Roosevelt which would warrant a pessimistic view of the result of the forthcoming peace conference. On the contrary, it can be said that such advices as the president has received indicates that a sincere effort on the part of the representatives of belligerent nations will be made to reconcile their differences and negotiate a treaty of peace that will be permanent.

An officer who has returned from Port Arthur reports that the extent of damage to the sunken Russian ships was slighter than was anticipated and nearly all the vessels can be floated.

Baron Komura, the Japanese peace envoy, and suite have left Seattle for New York city. They travel in private cars as guests of President J. J. Hill and will make all haste to their destination.

It is officially announced that 461 Russians on the island of Sakhalien, which the Japanese troops recently seized, have surrendered. Fifteen officers are included.

President Roosevelt and Elihu Root, who assumed formally his new duties as secretary of state, were in conference at Sagamore Hill. Among the many questions considered by them none is fraught with deeper significance and importance to the United States than is that relating to an identical note which the foreign office of China, within a day or two, has sent to the powers neutral in the far eastern contest between Russia and Japan.

The resignation of John Hyde, statistician and chief of the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture, was handed to Secretary Wilson and promptly accepted. Willett N. Hays, the assistant secretary of agriculture, has been placed in charge of the bureau temporarily and will continue to act pending the investigation of the cotton scandal and until a competent statistician is found.

The Norwegians are prepsring for war.

An apparently well organized movement was started by the cotton manufacturers of Great Britain to encourage the growth of cotton in the British possessions and countries other than the United Sttes.

Senator William E. Clark is steadily recovering from the operation. It was learned that the first dressing of the brain wound made found the healing process nicely begun.

At Wabasha, Minn., six persons were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the depot hotel.

The Arctic steamer Roosevelt, bound from New York for northern waters, via North Sydney, C. B., called at Bar Harbor, Me., and after Commander Peary had bade farewell to Morris K. Jesup, of New York, she continued her voyage.

Three of the four furnaces of the Carnegie Steel Co. at Newcastle, Ps., have resumed after a month's idleness.

At Chicago, Esther Macken, a young woman who acted as housekeeper for her father, who is 70 years old, threw carbolic acid in her father's eyes, totally blinding him.

A secret meeting of the executive committee of "The League of Leagues" was held in St. Petersburg, at which arrangements were perfected for a general strike of the professional classes July 22.

Harold Weekes, the one-time famous football player, of Columbia college, became a member of the New York stock exchange. The price paid for his seat was $80,000.

John F. Stevens, the newly appointed chief engineer of the Panama canal, sailed for Panama on the steamship Mexico. Chairman Shonts, of the canal commission, accompanied Mr. Stevens. Mr. Stevens will assume control of operations immediately on arriving at the Isthmus.

After being closeted together for 46 hours and taking 42 ballots, in which the vote was ten for conviction and two for acquittal, in the land fraud cases, the jury in the case of Congressman Williamson, Messrs. Van Gessner and Biggs, reported to Judge DeHaven in the United States court at Portland, Ore., that it could not agree and was discharged.

The Panama canal commission received a cablegram from Gov. Magoon reporting that Joseph A. Corrigan, an American employe at Panama, has been stricken with yellow fever.

Amanda F. Stichtenoth, of Cincinnati, filed in the United States circuit court in Chicago a bill asking that a receiver be appointed for the Central Stock and Grain Co. of Chicago, the Central Grain and Stock exchange of Hammond, Ind., and the Hammond Realty Co. of Hammond, Ind.

Near Des Moines, Ia., a terrific explosion took place at the West Riverside Coal mine. Six miners were killed. The dead men had gone into the powder house to secure their daily supply of dynamite to be used in the mine when the structure was struck by lightning.

Wm. Lyman, 19, was almost burned to death in Jefferson park, Chicago, by a party of men, supposed to be tramps, that set fire to the grass upon which he was asleep, and also set fire to his clothing.

Capt. Ira Myers, of Peru, Ind., consul to St. Johns, New Brunswick, has tendered his resignation to take effect August 31. He will return to Peru.

There will be a legislative investigation of the life insurance business as carried on in New York state, both by New York state corporations and by those of other states doing business within that state. This investigation will be made by a special joint committee with ample powers, of which the chairman will be Senator Armstrong, of Rochester, rep.

The Chicago teamsters' strike that has so greatly disturbed business conditions in that city for the last 105 days, was officially declared off by the members of the Teamsters' Joint Council. The men have been ordered to seek their old positions and it is estimated that less than one-half of them will be re-employed. The strikers have made a complete surrender and will apply for work as individuals.

Extensive preparations are being made for the reception of Secretary Taft and party in Tokio. Besides official receptions imperial and otherwise, the bankers and other influential associations and societies are holding meetings and appointing reception committees.

The City National bank, of Kansas City, Mo., failed to open its doors. The bank held paper of C. J. Devlin, of Topeka, to the amount of upwards of $100,000, and the failure is the direct result of the closing of the First National bank of Topeka, of which Mr. Devlin was the principal stockholder.

Two German scientists announce the discovery of a new anaesthetic having all the virtues of cocaine without the latter's secondary ill effects. The new substance is called allypine. It deadens pain by local application.

The controller of the treasury rendered a decision of interest to the rural free delivery service. Under it the postmaster general is allowed to set aside sufficient funds for the painting of rural letter boxes.

During the Zalamik a bomb was exploded in the courtysrd of the Mosque, Constantinople, close to the sultan. His majesty was not injured, but several members of his suite were killed or injured. Severs! arrests have been made.

Inga Hanson, the former Salvation army girl, convicted of perjury in connection with a suit for personal damages against the Chicago city railway, will have to go to prison for an indefinite term.

Jimmy Britt is still the lightweight champion of the world. He was awarded the decision over "Kid" Sullivan in a 20-round contest in whica Britt was the bright and shining star.

The insurance investigation to be undertaken by a legislative committee in New York state will not conflict with the attorney general's action against the trustees and officers of the Equitable Life Assurance society.

Quarantine against New Orleans was put on and quarantine inspectors were placed on all south-bound trains leaving Mobile, Ala., for New Orleans, owing to yellow fever in the latter city.

Twenty-four true bills against 14 individuals were returned by the grand jury which has been investigating alleged "grafting" at Milwaukee. This was the third batch of indictments handed down since the jury went into session June 20, the grand total thus far numbering 129.

An investigation made of the list of paid subscribers to the book entitled Fads and Fancies, which Town Topics, New York, is preparing to publish, revealed 40 names of prominent people all over the country. On this list appears the name of Mayor Julius Fleischmann, of Cincinnati. The price of the book is $1,500.

Judge Noah W. Sheever, of Ann Arbor, Mich., who has been prominent in the affairs of the national prohibition party, died suddenly at his home from apoplexy. He was 65 years of age.

The American yacht Manchester, the challenger for the Seawanhaka cup, defeated the Alexandra, the Canadian defender, in the second race of the series at Dorval, Que.

John Strait, a farmer of Hart's Run, near Cameron, W. Va., is under arrest at Wheeling charged with attempting to kill his daughter Jessie. She was struck by a stone and then shot five times.

W. J. Parker, a mining engineer of Cleveland, O., was struck dead by lightning at Whitney, 30 miles from Salisbury, N. Y. His horse also was killed.

E. O. Bishop shot and killed Gordon Reddock at Luzerne, Ala. Both were prominent merchants. Bishop's wife was the cause of the shooting.

The last vestige of Hyde control over the destinies of the Equitable Life Assurance society, so far as the books of the company show, disappeared when Chairman Paul Morton stopped payment of the $25,000 annual pension to the widow of Henry B. Hyde.

The troop stable at Fort Washakine, 16 miles from Lander, Wyo., has been destroyed by fire. Fifty horses belonging to troops of the United States cavalry were burned.

A mob battered down the doors of the county jail and lynched Sam Creen, a 16-year negro boy, who attempted a criminal assault at New Bruneels, Tex., on a 4-year-old girl.

Charged with receiving gold ore, knowing it to have been stolen, six assayers of the Cripple Creek district have been placed under heavy bonds. It is alleged the assayers cleared $30,000 in six months.

More than 1,000,000 acres of the Uintah reservation, in Northwestern Utah, are to be subject to the location of the white man on and after August 28. By proclamation of the president under authority of congress, registration for right to locate in a rotation to be determined by lot will begin at Vernal, Provo and Price, Utah, and Grand Junction, Col.

The shah of Persia contemplates a visit to the United States. He made a statement to this effect in the course of a conversation with Senor Sebastian B. De Meer, the Mexican minister to Paris, France.

Considerable surprise was created in Washington by the announcement from Oyster Bay that President Roosevelt intends to call an extra session of congress on November 11. The news was unexpected because it was thought the president had given up the idea before he left Washington for Oyster Bay a month ago.

The engagement of Miss Corinne Blackburn, daughter of United States Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, to Mr. W. H. Gale, of New York city, has been announced.

The name of Joseph L. Bristow, former fourth assistant postmaster general, is being mentioned in connection with the office of public printer.

The civil service commission will hold an examination at Cincinnati on August 5 to fill the vacancy in the position of stenographer and typewriter (female) at $600 per annum, in the office of the secretary of the board of examiners for the civil service district at Cincinnati.

Representatives of the Japanese government have just bought $110,000 worth of horses at a stock farm at East Aurora, N. Y. There are 34 horses in the deal, and all will be shipped to Japan for breeding.

Official announcement has been made that the dreaded yellow fever exists in New Orleans, and that six persons have died of the malady. Seven other cases, which as yet have not proved fatal, are officially reported.

A report from Junior, W. Va., states that the coal tipple and severs' other buildings there belonging to the Davis Coal and Coke Co. have burned at a loss of $30,000.

Ann Young, aged 105 years, is dead at the home of her son, near Memphis, Tenn. She was the mother of 26 children, most of whom are living.

Gen. Nogi has 80 battalions, Gen. Oku 60, Gen. Nodzu 36, Gen. Kuroki 160, Gen. Kammamura 90 and Gen. Hazegawa 120, the battalions averaging a thousand men, which makes the numerical strength of the Japanese 550,000 bayonets, with 2,000 field and mountain guns and about 100 siege guns.

The Cunard line steamship Carpathia brought in 16,160 crates of Spanish onions—the first big cargo of this vegetable for the year. Shippers look for record-breaking imports of the onion during the next six weeks.

Frederick E. Carlton, formerly of Cincinnati, whose adventures are said to extend across the country and into Europe, twice indicted for grand larceny within a month at New York and suspected of having murdered at least two wives for insurance money, is reported to have a wife living at Montgomery, Ala.

William S. Withers, of Wakefield, N. Y., who led the orchestra of Ford's theater, Washington, the night of April 14, 1865, when President Lincoln was shot, is dead at his home in that place at the age of 70.

Boats from the United States protected cruiser Minneapolis and the supply ship Caesar raced in the regatta at Valencia, Spain. The latter's cutter won against several starters, gaining a prize of $30.

Mary O'Donnell and Nettie O'Neil, of Louisville, Ky., were arrested at Elgin, Ill. The girls were clad in men's clothes and had beaten their way there from Chicago.

Brakeman James Murphy was cremated in an oil explosion following the derailment of a Rock Island fast freight at Unionville, Ia. The conductor and fireman were perhaps fatally hurt.

Veterans of the civil war, Sons of Veterans, members of the Women's Relief Corps and other patriotic societies paid honor to the late Gen. W. W. Blackmar, whose funeral was held in Boston.

The newspaper and job printing plant of the Arkansas Democrat, at Little Rock, Ark., was destroyed by fire. The loss is total and will be about $125,000, with an insurance of about $90,000.

With a roar that was heard five miles a cyclone struck the northern rim of Racine county, Wisconsin, killing two men and damaging property and crops $100,000.

The city of Montgomery, Ala., through Acting Mayor McIntyre, issued an official proclamation of quarantine against New Orleans and other infected sections on account of yellow fever.

John C. Eckleston, 38, of Philadelphia, was arrested shortly after midnight at the white house, where he was caught climbing over a high iron fence. He said he was anxious to see the president.

Chairman Paul Morton, of the Equitable Life Assurance society, summarily removed as controller T. D. Jordan and appointed in his stead William A. Day, assistant attorney general of the United States.

Against the advice of members of foreign legations at Seoul, Korea, has decided to send two representatives to Washington to attempt to secure a hearing before the peace plenipotentiaries.

Rev. Father Gusick, active administrator of the diocese of Sherbrooke, and four young men were drowned in Lake Aylmer, near Sherbrooke, Que.

A BOILER EXPLOSION.

Terrible Disaster Aboard the Gunboat Bennington.

Fifty-Nine Killed, 50 Injured and 16 Men Are Missing—Forty-Seven of the Dead Were Buried Near San Diego, Cal.

San Diego, Cal., July 22.—One of the boilers on the United States gunboat Bennington exploded in the harbor here with terrible results.

The Bennington at the time of the accident was lying in the stream just off the commercial wharf at the foot of H street. The warship had received orders from the navy department at Washington to sail for Port Harford where she was to meet the monitor Wyoming and convoy the vessel to Mare Island navy yard. Steam was up and everything was in readiness for sailing when suddenly and without any warning whatever the starboard forward boiler exploded with a deafening roar. The explosion was terrific.

At the time of the accident Commander Lucien Young and Surgeon F. Peck were on shore. The two officers, as soon as they learned of the disaster, hurried to the water front where Commander Young immediately took charge.

On board the Bennington were presented terrible scenes. The force of the explosion had torn a great hole in the starboard side of the ship and the vessel was already commencing to list. A section of the upper deck was carried away from stem to stern. Blood and wreckage was distributed over the entire ship, the after cabin and the vicinity of the ship adjacent to the exploded boiler resembling a charnelhouse. Over it all hung the great cloud of white smoke, which drifted slowly toward the Coronado shore.

The shock of the explosion penetrated every section of the ship, blood and ashes being found as far as the stern of the captain's cabin. Portions of the upper deck were carried away and great damage was done in all sections.

Most of the dead and injured were taken ashore, where the undertakers and physicians were assembled, the former taking charge of the dead and the latter to minister to the needs of the living.

The bodies of many of the men taken from the wrecked interior of the ship were mutilated almost beyond recognition. The faces of many were covered with blood and ashes.

The boiler which exploded, it is said, was regarded as unsafe. Commander Young stated that during a recent return trip from Honolulu the steam pressure was kept reduced in that particular one.

When the explosion occurred the engineer was inspecting the boilers as a preliminary to the vessel's leaving port, and he was not seriously injured.

San Diego, Cal., July 24.—They buried the Bennington's dead Sunday—47 of them, in a common grave. On the crest of the promontory of Loma, high above the shimmering water of San Diego bay on the one side and within sound of the booming surf of the Pacific on the other, they were laid to rest in the peaceful little military burying ground. Without the crash of drum or the sound of brass, without pomp or parade, yet with simple impressiveness, all honor was paid the nation's dead.

They have honored dead to keep them company, the brave boys of the Bennington. All about them lie those who died in the nation's service in more trying times. Gravestones yellow with age bear the names of men who died at Monterey in the Mexican war; others who gave up their lives in the conquest of California and who followed Commodore Stockton at Old San Pasquel. These are their neighbors in death.

Army and navy paid tributes no less sincere than the simple grief of the representatives of peace, who made the long journey around or across the great bay. From Ft. Rosecans came the 115th company, coast heavy artillery, from the city of San Diego, the naval reserves; from the Universal Brotherhoods home on Point Loma, a company of khaki clad representatives and from the government ship Fortune a dozen of their sailors. But the most impressive body of mourners were the 52 men from the battered Bennington.

Besides these there were hundreds of civilians who, unthoughtful of the fatiguing journey from the city, brought their offerings of flowers to lay upon the graves.

A careful compilation of casualties was made by a press representative and is as follows: Buried in military cemetery at Ft. Rosecrans, 47; dead now in morgue, 10, awaiting shipment to relatives; dead in fire room of Bennington still unrecovered, 2. Total dead, 59. Injured at various hospitals, 50. Missing, 16. Grand total, 125.

Among the wounded are; A. J. Worthen, Dayton, O.; Brown Telley, Flickweiller, Ind.; L. A. Gries, Sylvania, O., and W. J. Weiler, Cleveland, O.

Refuse To Sell American Goods.

Shanghai, July 22.—The boycott of American goods is now working, but it has been agreed that the completion of all running contracts for supplies will be allowed. Meanwhile all the Chinese shops refuse to sell American goods, including Standard-oil.

Special Session of Congress.

Lincoln, Neb., July 22.—Senator E J. Burkett has received a letter from Secretary Loeb in which it was stated it is the president's intention to call a special session of congress on November 11.

Let Your Grocer Bring Your Breakfast

—A little fruit—a jar of cream—and Egg-O-See.

Worry not about cooks or cooking—we've done all that for you—for Egg-O-See is flaked whole wheat—cooked exactly right.

Strong in its sweet simplicity. Pure in its natural flavor of perfect flaked whole wheat—Egg-O-See is nature's food.

An Egg-O-See breakfast makes your dinner and supper taste better.

Back to Nature—Eat Egg-O-See. Don't worry about meals, their cooks—or their cooking—Eat Egg-O-See—for nothing else by any other name is the same—or nearly as good—and try it now—for your grocer sells Egg-O-See.

The Price or Quality of Egg-O-See has never been changed

If you can find a grocer who does not sell EGG-O-SEE, send us his name and ten cents, mentioning this periodical, and we will send you a full-sized package prepaid. Address, THE EGG-O-SEE CO., Quincy, Ill.

In Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain territory, the price is 15 cents; two packages for 25 cents.

IN MEDICAL PRACTICE.

By means of the leprolin serum, a temporary cure has been effected in a number of cases under the care of the mission of lepers in India, and the patients are kept in special observation wards.

Inasmuch as a soldier wounded in battle sometimes lacks the strength to call out for help, Dr. Matignon, a French doctor in the Japanese Red Cross service, has invented a whistle which, with a very slight exertion, gives a loud sound.

The purification of the water supply of Chicago and the improvement of the drainage system of that city have cut the mortality from typhoid fever down to about one-third of the death list from that disease when the population was little more than half as great as it is now.

According to Dr. T. L. Macdonald, the prosperous and strenuous mental life, combined with gorging, explains the frequency of Bright's disease in nigh official circles at Washington. He says that overeating is the germ of nephritis. Mental activity and physical quiescence aid in its production and carking care and worry are also causative factors. Bright's disease is prone to attack the intellectual and the anxious. Alcohol, he thinks, is not as potent a cause as is generally believed.

A rubber film glove has been devised for surgeons. The gloves are "put on" by immersing the hands in a weak solution of gutta percha in benzine or acetone. The purpose of the film is to seal the surfaces of the hands with an insoluble, impervious and practically imperceptible pellicle, which will not admit blood, pus or secretions. Such a protective measure for surgeons is said to be preferable to working with rubber gloves, inasmuch as the sense of touch or pliability of the skin is not impaired in any way

CHANGED HUSBAND.

Wife Made Wise Change in Food.

Change of diet is the only way to really cure stomach and bowel trouble.

A woman says:

"My husband had dyspepsia when we were married and had suffered from it for several years. It was almost impossible to find anything he could eat without bad results.

"I thought this was largely due to the use of coffee and persuaded him to discontinue it. He did so, and began to drink Postum Food Coffee. The change did him good from the beginning, his digestion improved; he suffered much less from his nervousness, and when he added Grape-Nuts food to his diet he was soon entirely cured.

"My friend, Mrs. ——, of Vicksburg (my former home), had become a nervous wreck also from dyspepsia. Medicines had no effect, neither did travel help her. On my last visit home, some months ago, I persuaded her to use Grape-Nuts food. She was in despair, and consented. She stuck to it until it restored her health so completely that she is now the most enthusiastic friend of Grape-Nuts that I ever knew. She eats it with cream or dry, just as it comes from the package—keeps it in her room and eats it whenever she feels like it.

"I began eating Grape-Nuts food, myself, when my baby was two months old, and I don't know what I should have done without it. My appetite was gone, I was weak and nervous and afforded but very little nourishment for the child. The Grape-Nuts food, of which I soon grew very fond, speedily set all this right again, and the baby grew healthful, rosy and beautiful as a mother could wish. He is two years old now and eats Grape-Nuts food himself. I wish every tired young mother knew of the good that Grape Nuts would do her."

Names given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

LEFT BIG ESTATE TO HER LOVER

Mrs. Charlotte Hoyt Forgot Her Family When Making Her Will

HAS STOOD THE TEST OF THE COURTS

The Woman Had Been a Poor Girl But Became the Wife of Two Millionaires, Both of Whom Treated Her Handsomely When Divorces Were Granted.

Tiffin, O.—Because he was the lover of Mrs. Charlotte Hoyt, the wealthy and abandoned wife of Reuben M. Hoyt, of New York city, a millionaire manufacturer of perfumes, Judge J. F. Bunn, a lawyer of this city, by the verdict of the jury in the Hoyt will case, just decided in the courts here, has come into the possession of an estate valued at $200,000. Except as the affianced husband, Judge Bunn was in no wise related to Mrs. Hoyt, whose death occurred two years ago at her beautiful suburban home, "The Maples," in this city. To give him her fortune, she disinherited her sister, Mrs. Eva E. Hill, and her stephrothers, Frank and Rufus Guss, and other relatives.

The case was one of the most interesting will contests ever tried in the courts of northern Ohio. Its hearing occupied over three weeks. Engaged in it were over a dozen lawyers, some of them men eminent at the bar in Cincinnati, Toledo and Tiffin, and during its trial the courtroom was crowded. The evidence brought out a story that was not only interesting, but romantic in many of its features.

Charlotte Hoyt at the time of her death was only 35 years of age. She had wedded two millionaires and had traveled the pace that kills. She was beautiful and cultured and surrounded by all the luxuries that wealth could bring. Her home, "The Maples," was palatial in all its equipments, one of the most valuable suburban residences in Tiffin, and she had a retinue of servants to do her bidding. Yet with all her wealth she failed to get into society in Tiffin because of her dissipated habits. Her death was due to alcoholism.

The maiden name of Mrs. Hoyt was Charlotte Guss. Her father was a poor tenant farmer living near this city. With him she resided until she was 16 years of age. The desire to see something of the world prompted her to leave home, and she engaged in teaching in Michigan, finally drifting to Chicago, where she entered a wealthy Jewish family as governess. Her beauty attracted the attention of her employer's partner, Morris C. Stettheimer, who, as a jeweler, was wealthy, and in January of 1887, when she was 19 years of age, she married him. He lavished on his young wife all the pleasures and advantages that love and wealth could bring. With her, he made several trips abroad, and at Paris she was educated in the French language and pursued other studies, becoming, in fact, a highly cultured woman.

During one of her visits in Europe she met Reuben M Hoyt, of New York, a wealthy young manufacturer of perfumeries. He became infatuated with her beauty and, clandestinely, they were much together. Young Hoyt soon won from Stettheimer the affections of the wife upon whom he had lavished so much wealth. Scandal followed the result of their love for each other, and it ended in Stettheimer securing a divorce, he settling upon his divorced wife a rich alimony. In New York, on November 30, 1891, she was married to Hoyt. His wedding gift was the title in fee simple to a large part of his landed estate of millions.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt lived together for eight years, but a blight came upon their happiness, and disgrace to him, when his wife's love for intoxicating liquors and drugs became so strong that it made her a slave to them. He then left her and sued for divorce, alleging infidelity. In the parting he settled on her a mansion home in New York and stocks, bonds and money, her possessions at that time, it is said, being over $200,000.

In the fall of 1901, abandoned by her husband, Mrs. Hoyt came to Tiffin and purchased the Maples, worth $50,000, for her home, in the most aristocratic suburban part of the city. On it she placed many improvements and gathered around her many servants. Her stables contained a $2,000 team of horses. One of her manias was her love for cats and dogs. She had many of them, one of the witnesses in the contested will case saying: "There was a cat up every tree on the premises." Her dogs were allowed to eat at the table with her, and if any of them got sick, a regularly licensed physician was summoned to attend it. In one instance she summoned a specialist from New York to attend to a favorite poodle. The dog died and the doctor got a $500 fee and his expenses. It was buried in the burial lot at The Maples and the grave was ever kept green.

In her girlhood days, as Catherine Guss, she had a slight acquaintance with Judge Bunn, then a young lawyer, now 50 years of age and a widower. This acquaintance led her to employ him as her legal adviser in the management of her affairs and the divorce proceedings with her husband, yet pending in the courts. Their renewed acquaintance rapidly ripened into love, and they were engaged to be married as soon as the divorce from her husband, Reuben M. Hoyt, was granted in the courts. They were constantly together, and, with her, he took several trips from Tiffin to New York to attend to her property affairs, and, as her affianced husband, she turned over to him much of her personal property, consisting of stocks, bonds, etc., and also made a will bequeathing him almost her entire estate, only small legacies being left to her sister, Mrs. Hill, and her stepbrothers, Frank and Rufus Guss.

During the winter of 1903 Mrs. Hoyt was taken seriously ill with pneumonia and her death soon followed. Immediately after Judge Bunn had the will probated, the sister and the stephrothers brought proceedings to have it set aside, alleging undue influence and the mental inability of the testatrix to make a will. Many important depositions were to be taken in different parts of the country, and for this and other reasons the trial of the case did not take place until last June. The verdict of the jury was rendered about the middle of July.

The reasons of Mrs. Hoyt, as shown in the evidence, for practically disinheriting her sister and stepbrothers and other relatives were that until she came into possession of her wealth they had not been on friendly terms. In girlhood, the sister, Mrs. Hill, and the brothers had opposed her in a love match. This led to a bitter estrangement, and the angered girl left home. When wealth came to her, however, Mrs. Hoyt's bitterness of the years before lessened and she often remembered them with expensive gifts and largesums of money, but blood relationship with her was not stronger than the love for her lover, and she left him almost her entire estate.

Since the death of Mrs. Hoyt Judge Bunn has made "The Maples" his home. It is but one of the handsome pieces of property of which he becomes the possessor. As legatee he also owns a brown stone mansion on Eighty-eighth street, New York, worth $50,000, a residence at Yonkers, N. Y., valued at $60,000 and property elsewhere. He is of the mould to care for and enjoy his added wealth. He has been a great traveler and is cultured. He has been twice through Europe. All of his life since boyhood has been spent at Tiffin. He is a good lawyer with a good practice, and, while not wealthy before, has always been "well fixed." His title as "Judge" came to him by reason of having served four years as probate judge of this county. He is prominent in politics, and, because of his pleasant social ways, has always been popular.

FRANK DILDINE.

Tin Tags to Build Church.

Norfolk, Va.—J. P. Withrow, a merchant, of Hollis and Ellenboro, N. C., proposes to undertake to build a church at Hollis with tobacco tags. He calls upon every tobacco chewer in America to aid him in this work, and tells them that they can contribute their part to this interdenominational church by saving their tobacco tags, instead of throwing them away, and sending them to him at Hollis post office, N. C. Withrow bought and sold $1,000 worth of tobacco tags last year, which fact, he points out, will give a very clear idea of how easy it will be to collect enough tags to build a church, providing he received the cooperation of chewers of tobacco.

Bolt on Barbed Wire Kills Cattle.

Kansas City, Mo.—During a recent thunderstorm in Brown county a bunch of cattle on Asa Hull's farm backed up against a barbed wire fence for protection. A bolt of lightning ran along one of the wires and killed eight of the cattle.

COL. DANIEL S. LAMONT.

Secretary of War During President Cleveland's Administration Died.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 24.—Col. Daniel Scott Lamont, secretary of war during the administration of President Cleveland's second administration, died suddenly at his home at Millbrook, Duchess county. Heart failure was the cause of death. Col. and Mrs. Lamont were out driving in the afternoon and Col. Lamont appeared to be enjoying the best of health. After dinner he complained of feeling ill and Dr. Stewart, of New York, who is a guest at the house, immediately went to his aid. The physician diagnosed the case as an attack of heart failure and in spite of heroic treatment Mr. Lamont passed away within half an hour. At his deathbed were Mrs. Lamont and two daughters, Frances and Bessie. Several guests at the Lamont home were also present when the end came.

Daniel Scott Lamont was born at Cortlandville, N. Y., February 9, 1851. He began life in journalism and from 1885 to 1889 was private secretary to President Cleveland, by whom he was appointed secretary of war March 6, 1893. Mr. Lamont was vice president of the Northern Pacific railway and a director and trustee in many railroads and financial corporations. He leaves a widow and two daughters.

JONES EXPEDITION ENDED.

Body of the Revolutionary Hero Landed at Annapolis.

Annapolis, Md., July 24.—The John Paul Jones expedition, commanded by Rr. Adm. Sigsbee, completed its mission with the landing of the body of the distinguished dead. The eight ships of the squadron, four cruisers and four battleships, rested all day Sunday in the anchorage off the naval academy, lying in double column. The day was without ceremony with the exception of the exchange of calls between Adm. Sands, superintendent of the naval academy, and Adms. Sigsbee and Davis and Capt. Cervais, of the French cruiser Jurien De la Graviere. On the "half deck" of the Brooklyn, in a spacious compartment at the entrance to the cabin of Adm. Sigsbee, laid the remains of John Paul Jones. They are contained in a casket of lead, enclosed in another of wood of handsome design, and draped with colors. Constant guard was kept by an armed jackie. Adm. Sigsbee regards his mission as eminently successful and satisfactory. His squadron has steamed nearly 7,000 miles without delay on account of accident or mishap to machinery.

TO HOLD A CONFERENCE.

The Czar Departs To Meet Emperor William of Germany.

St. Petersburg, July 24.—An official statement has been issued to the effect that Emperor Nicholas sailed Sunday on the yacht Polar Star, accompanied by Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, for the archipelago to interview Emperor William, who is cruising in the yacht Hohenzollern in the waters of the Baltic Sea and the Gulf of Finland.

The first interview of the sovereigns was expected to take place Sunday evening off the Finnish port of Borgo, at the mouth of the Gulf of Finland, near Helsingfors.

This will be followed Monday by another interview, after which Emperor Nicholas will return to St. Petersburg and Emperor William will continue his cruise.

THE POUR PARLERS.

Preparations For the Meeting of the Peace Envoys Are Progressing.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 24.—Preparations for the peace conference are progressing rapidly and satisfactorily and by August 5, the date on which the plenipotentiaries are expected to reach Portsmouth from Oyster Bay on board the Mayflower and Dolphin, all will be in readiness for their reception. The Washington government and the state of New Hampshire are co-operating in the effort to make the surroundings of the conference as suitable as possible and are receiving generous assistance from the people of Portsmouth and the adjacent villages of Kittery, Me., where the navy yards is located, and Newcastle, N. H., near which the plenipotentiaries will have quarters in the Hotel Wentworth.

Crew of Four Is Missing.

Delaware Breakwater, Del., July 24.—Yawl yacht Narkeete, owned by Dr. H. A. Ware, of Philadelphia, sunk in the main ship channel off West Brandywine shoals. Dr. Ware and a friend were taken off by the yacht Circe. The crew of four men is missing.

To Be President of Airline Railroad.

Atlanta, Ga., July 24.—A persistent rumor is afloat in railroad circles here to the effect that John F. Wallace, formerly chief engineer of the Panama canal, is to be made president of the Seaboard Airline railroad.

The Boycott of American Goods.

Shanghai, July 24.—In carrying out the boycott by the Chinese of American goods which was arranged for it a mass meeting here July 20 an exception will be made in the case of American dealers who have not yet received supplies of new goods.

Ten Saloonkeepers Arrested.

Kansas City, Mo., July 24.—Ten saloon men were arrested here charged with violating the Sunday closing law. They made good their threat to attempt to ignore Gov. Folk's Sunday closing order.

STATE NEWS ITEMS

MULE RELEASED HIM.

How Adolph Wilson Was Taken Out of a Railway Wreck.

Nicholasville, Ky., July 20.—Adolph Wilson, who was in the railroad wreck at Mt. Vernon, Ind., last Friday, and was seriously injured, has arrived home. He attributes the saving of his life to the action of a mule. He said: "When I came to my senses a huge timber was laying across my back, which I could not move. In glancing around, looking for help, I discovered a mule standing within a few feet of where I was pinioned, looking at me as if wishing to render assistance. Soon the mule turned its heels toward me and began to kick. The first kick struck the timber a glancing lick; the second hit it full, and just grazed my ear, which now shows the mark, as you can see, and somewhat moved the timber. The third kick raised it sufficiently for me to slide from under, and as I arose from the ground and started to make my way to a farm house the mule followed, evidently satisfied with the good work accomplished."

FRANCHISE TAX.

Board of Valuation and Assessments Makes Valuations.

Frankfort, Ky., July 20.—The Kentucky state board of valuation and assessment placed valuation for franchise tax purposes on the Cumberland Pipe Line Co., of New York, and the Pullman Co., of Chicago. It fixed valuation of the total capital of the first named company at $857,435, and the value of its franchise for purposes of taxation at $404,837. A valuation of $300,000 was placed on the total capital of the Pullman Co., and $290,000 is the value of its franchise. The total valuation of the Louisville Bridge Co., a Kentucky corporation, was fixed at $1,750,000 and the value of its franchise at $302,000.

GIANT GRAPEVINE.

Its Main Trunk Is More Than a Foot In Diameter.

Elizahethtown, Ky., July 21.—Hardin county has perhaps the most wonderful grapevine in Kentucky. It is of the Ives Seeding variety, and grows on the premises of John Irwin, who lives a few miles from town. The vine is about 25 years old measures 225 feet in length, and its main trunk is more than a foot in diameter, with profuse branches that cover a large two-story meathouse. It is estimated that its yield this season will be not less than 1,000 pounds.

Allowed to Carry Arms.

Frankfort, Ky., July 20.—Gov. Beckham, has, upon request of Lexington officials, given permission to the Ninth battalion, Ohio national guard, made up of negroes, to enter the state bearing arms. The negro soldiers are to hold their annual encampment at Lexington, September 12 to 16 next, during the time the colored fair will be held here.

Death of Judge Butler.

Columbia, Ky., July 20.—Judge J. W. Butler, who was one of Adair county's most prominent citizens, a resident of Columbia, is dead. He was eight years county clerk and four years county judge of Adair county. He was a democrat and popular throughout this section of Kentucky.

Rossington Dead.

Versailles, Ky., July 20.—The stallion imp. Rossington, 22 years old, is dead at Nantura farm. He was a half brother of Ormonde and was the sire of Traverser and a number of good race horses. The late Frank B. Harper paid $12,000 for Rossington at auction at 6 years old.

Refuses To Go.

Louisville, Ky., July 21.—H. Alexander, alias W. H. Buchanan, arrested in this city at the request of authorities in San Bernardino, Cal., refuses to return without requisition papers. Alexander is wanted on a charge of forgery. He has relatives at Chillicothe, O.

J. H. Dempsey Hurt at Seattle.

Covington, Ky., July 22.—J. Herman Dempsey, well known here and for years associated with W. E. Applegate, the well-known turfman, who won the fight against Judge Perkins for control of the Latonia race track, was perhaps fatally injured in an automobile accident at Seattle, Wash.

Whitesburg's New Postmaster.

Mayking, Ky., July 21.—The post office scramble at Whitesburg, which has been creating much interest for two weeks, closed when Felix G. Field, a son of Commonwealth Attorney Ira Field, received his commission and took control of the office.

Helping the Cause of Education.

Lexington, Ky., July 21.—J. B. Haggin is helping the cause of education by employing on his big farm during the summer more than 200 college boys. If a youth is physically unable to labor in the fields he is given work suited to his strength.

Weds Cincinnati Girl.

Greenup, Ky., July 21.—Joseph Bussetter, prominent business man of this city, drove to Ashland with Miss Florence Hugenscbmitt of Cincinnati, where they were married by Rev. Fisher Woste.

RARE PRESENCE OF MIND.

The Lineman Cut the Electric Wire and Saved His Life.

Louisville, Ky., July 22.—Rare presence of mind saved John Siegel, a lineman, in the employ of the New Albany Electric Light Co., from electrocution. Siegel, with three other workmen, was engaged at East Fourth street and Cuthertson avenue, when he climbed a pole and became entangled in a live wire. With smoke and sparks issuing from his clothing, and the flesh frying on his hand, he seized a hatchet from his belt and cut the wire, thus breaking the current. Siegel was nearly prostrated, but maintained his hold until comrades assisted him to the ground.

A RECORD RAINFALL.

Boats Had To Be Used To Cross the Streets at Nicholasville.

Nicholasville, Ky., July 22.—The heaviest rainstorm in the history of Jessamine county occurred, and serious loss of property is reported. The rainfall continued for five hours, and the streets of Nicholasville were under water, and in many instances the fire department was called out to assist families in moving from their homes to escape the flood.

A KILLING AT MT. STERLING.

John Fay Is In Jail For Shooting Lieutell Fassett.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., July 22.—John Fay, of this city, shot and killed Lieutell Fassett here. Fassett was shot in the stomach, the ball going entirely through the body. Fay was arrested and placed in jail. Fassett is 28 years old and a native of Bath county. Fay killed a man here a few years ago and has been in considerable trouble.

WITH A WINCHESTER.

Bleavens Lay Shot and Killed Sevier on Kettle Creek.

Burkesville, Ky., July 20.—Bleavens Lay shot and killed Garfield Sevier with a Winchester rifle on Kettle creek. Lay came here and surrendered to the officers. He declared that Sevier was intoxicated and pursued him with a shotgun. Lay is aged 35 years, and heretofore bore a good reputation. His victim was 25 years of age, and considered a dangerous man.

The "Lid" in Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., July 22.—Mayor Grainger approved the ordinance passed and, commencing with Monday morning, all saloons will be closed between the hours of 1 and 5 a. m. Other ordinances provide for the licensing of banks, manufacturers and other business concerns.

Loving Cup For Hart.

Louisville, Ky., July 22.—Sixteen personal friends of Marvin Hart and firm believers in his prowess as a pugilist have purchased a loving cup of solid silver, 20 inches in height, and costing $150, which they will present to him some time next week at his country home.

Woman Charged With Horsestealing.

Covington, Ky., July 22.—J. C. Martin, alias Rodgers, and the woman, Mrs. J. C. Rodgers, alias Nettie Davis, alias Rodgerson, who claims to be the wife of the man, were arraigned before Police Judge Roetkin for a preliminary hearing on the charge of stealing a horse and buggy from Theo. Wieck.

The Alexandria Fair.

Newport, Ky., July 22.—The trustees of the Campbell County Agricultural association are at work on the program for the annual fair, which convenes the second week in September at Alexandria. Many improvements to the grounds are under way.

Held Up Rural Mail Carrier.

Paducah, Ky., July 22.—Four men were arrested in Ballard county on a charge of holding up and robbing a rural free delivery mail carrier and will be brought to Paducah to be examined by United States Commissioner W. A. Gardner.

The New Electric Line.

Paris, Ky., July 20.—Paris business men are enthusiastic over the proposed Paris-Maysville electric line. The entire amount allotted to Paris ($6,000) was raised in a few hours. The town of Millersburg, eight miles from here, took nearly one-half of the amount.

Death Due To Paralysis.

Nicholasville, Ky., July 21.—Mrs. Johnnie Anne Hersperger, aged 77, died of paralysis at her home in the country. She was the wife of Henry C. Hersperger, a well-known farmer, and has been married for 57 years.

Tobacco Damaged By Hail.

Georgetown, Ky., July 22.—A terrific hail storm, accompanied by lightning, did great damage in the western portion of Scott county. Harris Bros. alone suffered a loss of $25,000 on their tobacco crop. The entire loss will be about $100,000.

Hail Ruins Tobacco.

Versailles, Ky., July 22.—A heavy hail storm near Midway did thousands of dollars' worth of damage to the growing tobacco. James W. Parrish, the largest grower in the county, had 185 acres of tobacco seriously injured.

BOONE CO. RECORDER

Wednesday, - - July 26, 1905.

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

Now comes a German electrician who claims to have discovered how to send wireless messages by means of waves in a single direction.

It is said that hail destroyed $75,000 worth of tobacco in the northern part of Woodford county, last week. The corn crop was also injured.

The acreage of tobacco is less than that of last year by about 54,000 acres, or 6.7 per cent. The average condition on July 1 was 89.4 against 85.3 one year ago.

Notwithstanding the prospects of peace ahead, the Japanese do not stop business at the front. They are pushing along about as actively as before the peace move was set on foot by President Roosevelt.

J. B. Haggin, of Lexington, is helping the cause of education by employing on his big farm during the summer more than 200 college boys. If a youth is physically unable to labor in the fields he is given work suited to his strength.

The ballot for the Democratic primary election to be held in Kenton county in August will be a monster. It will be four feet long and will carry ninety-five names of candidates. Entirely too much for a voter to be required to tackle during dog days.

A newspaper asked the following question and offered a prize for the best answer: "Why is a newspaper like a woman?" An Oklahoma lady sent in the following answer and was awarded the prize: "Because every man should have one of his own and not run after his neighbor's."

That interview that Senator Blackburn gave out in Washington just previous to his coming home to begin his campaign for reelection came very near putting him out of the race entirely, and Paynter's friends continue to add to their number of Democratic nominees to the legislature men who are favorable to him.

At present it does not look like the farmers in this part of the country will be pinched for provender for stock this winter. Hay, oats and corn will be plentiful, although some will be short on hay. The outlook now is much more favorable to the farmers here than it has been in the month of July in several years.

When the lid was removed from the Department of Agriculture a few days ago, in Washington, Secretary Wilson was surprised and chagrinned when he beheld a full grown scandal that had been developed for the purpose of taking advantage of the class of people it is the special mission of his department to protect.

Over in Kenton county the field is full of candidates for the Democratic nominations for county offices, the primary election for which will come off early in August. In their published announcements quite a number of the candidates took pains to disclaim ever having been connected with either of the factions that have wrent the party in the past. It is to be a factionless contest this time.

In the light of recent events at Washington, D. C., the necessity for the President journeying to the wild and wooly west to hunt large game no longer appears, as most any department of the Government seems to be stocked with a species of barnacle that the search for which is about as exciting as that for mountain lions.

The Louisville Republicans are not particular, any more, for whom they vote, and have a city and county ticket to support at the next November election that resembles a crazy quilt. It is composed of independents, Republicans, has-been Democrats and what-nots. That kind of a dose will certainly leave a bad taste in the voters mouth.

Sod houses and telephones are the strange combination now offered by the prairies of the Middle West. Yet the combination is less strange than appears, for the present sod houses are by no means to be despised, particularly in cold weather. They are built with considerable attention to comfort, and, with an interior lining of Portland cement, offer almost the advantages of a stone building, and at the slightest cost, while the network of telephones overcomes the isolation of earlier days.

That there is abundant prosperity in the State of Kentucky is shown by the report of the condition of the National Banks of the State on May 29th, just issued, as compared with the report of June 9th, 1904, which is the nearest proximation to the one-year period. The individual deposits in the National Banks of Kentucky have increased in the sum of $5,122,277.46 in this period of time. The increase in the individual deposits of National Banks in Louisville was $2,053,-076.90, and for the remainder of the State the increase was $3,069,-200.56. The total resources of the National Banks of Louisville on May 29th were $37,782,088.89, as compared with $35,199,514.49 on June 9th, 1904. For the remainder of the State the total resources were $53,352,954.49 as compared with $49,030,924.70 on June 9th, 1904.

It is said another deal for the marketing of the coming crop of Burley tobacco is to be launched at a series of meetings to be held at various county seats at an early day. The call for these meetings will be made by the committee representing the old Burley Grower's Association, and it will provide for the creation of the Kentucky and Ohio Burley Tobacco Grower's Co., having a capital stock of $1,500,000, of which the growers are themselves expected to subscribe to the extent of not less than $250,000. The Ways and Means Committee has prepared a schedule showing the amount of cash to be raised in the various counties interested.

The late general order promulgated by Postmaster General Cortelyou in reference to lotteries is of interest to the public, and of still more interest to publishers of newspapers and all other advertising publications. A rigorous enforcement of the anti-lottery law is demanded of postmasters, and all other postal officials.

The Postmaster General orders all employes to examine mail matter, especially publications, with the greatest care consistent with prompt transmission and delivery and to withdraw, or exclude, everything relating to lotteries. The gambling schemes particularly specified in the order are the endless chain, the gift-concerns or similar enterprises offering prizes dependent on letter chance, and including guessing or estimating contests for prizes. Drawings and raffles of all kinds, whether general or local, for money or otherwise, for private gain or for charitable, educational or religious objects, are placed under the ban of the law. Publications, circulars, cards or pamphlets containing advertisements or other information relating to such enterprises are ordered thrown out of the mails.

The laws against lottery swindles are both stringent and severe, and publishers, as well as the business public, should carefully guard against even unintentional infringement.

Although less than one-third of the 26,000,000 acres of Louisiana are occupied, the diversity of her crops and the productiveness of her soil have made the State one of the most prosperous in the South, attracting as a consequence a large and thrifty immigration from more northern sections of the Union as well as from abroad. The annual production of cotton is about 800,000 bales, which, at current prices, is worth over $40,000,000. Nine-tenths of the cane sugar produced in the United States is raised there and the production of rice has been so successful that it is now a staple crop in the southern portion of the State, with a steadily increasing area. Its forests, chiefly of pine, cover more than half the State, while it has the largest sulphur and salt rock deposits of any other State. Nearly every county is traversed by a railroad, and there is water transportation in all except four, while the State has a coast of over one thousand miles. With such a setting and advantages for foreign commerce, the great advance in the commercial progress of New Orleans should create no surprise. It already stands second to New York as an export city, and is the largest grain, the largest cotton, the largest sugar and the largest lumber port of the United States, as also the largest foreign fruit market.—Courier-Journal.

David Austin, a farmer in Republic county, planted 120 acres of corn and then fell sick. On account of the great demand for labor he has been unable to keep hired men. His neighbors have clubbed together and are cultivating his crop for him. Those neighbors are worth having.—Kansas City Journal.

J. J. LILLARD, DEAD.

Joseph J. Lillard died at his ideal country home four miles west of Burlington, at 3 o'clock last Friday afternoon, after an illness of several months. The burial took place last Saturday afternoon at Belleview in the presence of a large concourse of friends. Joseph Lillard was a son of John and America Lillard, and was born in Switzerland county, Indiana, September 21st, 1830, consequently he soon would have been 75 years old. He was one of a family of three sons and two daughters, only one of whom, a sister, survives. His father died while Joseph was but a youth. His mother's second husband was the late John P. Scott, of this county, and in the year 1847 she prevailed on her son Joseph to come to this aounty to make his home, and he was soon owner of the greater portion of the farm on which he died. On March 1st, 1855, he and Miss Mary Elizabeth Brady, daughter of the late S. P. Brady, were married, and he made her a kind and indulgent husband, ever willing to do all in his power to contribute to her comfort and happiness. To them no children were born. She died February 23, 1904. When the civil war began he joined the Confederate army, and was captured at Mt. Sterling, this State, from where he was sent to Johnson's Island, at which place he was a prisoner for six months. For fifty years or more, except the one year he was absent from home on account of the war, he devoted his time to farming and raising stock, having a farm of 300 acres that is well adapted for that purpose. His home was one of the best equipped in the county, while in his barnyard was found every convenience for the comfort of his livestock, a large lot of which he always had on his farm. He believed in keeping abreast of the times in farming and provided the latest improved implements with which to have his work done. The only immediate relative he had was a sister, Mrs. Mary Johnson, widow of the late R. B. Johnson, of Holden, Missouri, who, with her son, Thomas, had been with him for more than five months previous to his death. In the death of Joseph Lillard the county loses one of its oldest and prominent citizens, and the neighborhood where he sojourned for more than half a century has seen the passing of its last land owner of 50 years ago. It was with sorrowing hearts and bowed heads that his neighbors and many old associates in years past followed the remains to their last resting place.

A man who was too economical to subscribe for his home paper sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance, and, failing to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into it, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $5 pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the cornfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket the wife ran, upset a four gallon churn of rich cream into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole flock. In her hurry she dropped a $25 set of false teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the spilled cream and into the parlor, ruining a $30 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up 11 setting hens and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four fine shirts.—Kansas City Journal.

Arizona is unique for a number of things, and one of them is that it possesses within its borders a fair-sized city which, complete in every respect, including buildings, was only constructed to be destroyed at the end of three years from its founding. It includes handsome stores, an electric light plant, and among its industries the butcher, the baker, the druggist, the liveryman, and many other features are included. Recently a postoffice was erected. It was closely followed by a school house. A church is lacking, but this is partially made up for by the Salvation army. In a few months this prosperous and thriving community will be at the bottom of a lake two hundred and ten feet deep and more than 2 miles in length. The lake will be an artificial reservoir, constructed by the government, and all settlers in the town built their houses and went into business with the clear understanding that when the immense dam was completed and the water turned in they would have to decamp. No saloon or gambling house was ever allowed there; another unique feature for the far West. Roosevelt is probably the only American town doomed to destruction from the day it was first laid out, and as such it deserves a place in history and the recital of the fact a place in the scrap book.

We find no better feelings in others than we foster in ourselves.

Preliminary returns to the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Agriculture show that the acreage of corn planted to be about 94,011,000 acres, an increase of about 2,080,-000 acres, 2.3 per cent on the area planted last year.

Most of us believe that fasting fattens—the other fellow.

A bushel of potatoes may be worth a ton of philanthrophy.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The Taxpayers of Boone County are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to collect 1905 taxes:

Florence, September 14 and October 12.
Verona, September 15, and October 13.
Walton September 16, and October 14.
Petersburg, Sept. 18 and Octobor 16.
Union, September 19, and October 17.
Bellevue, Sept. 20, and October 18.
Big Bone, Sept. 21, and October 19.
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 22, and October 20.
Bullittsville, Sept. 23, and October 21.
Constance, Sept. 25, and October 23.
Beaver Lick, Sept. 26, and October 24.
Gunpowder, October 25.
Richwood, October 26.
Hebron, October 27.

I must settle with the State and County, December 1st, 1905, and to save Penalty and Cost of Advertising your property, I would advise you to pay your Taxes before December 1st. This will be all the notice you will have, and if your property is Advertised, don't think hard of me. I will Commence Advertising January 1st, 1906, and will continue until all Taxes for State and County are Collected. Boys, Remember your Poll Tax and send it in.

B. B. ALLPHIN,
Sheriff Boone County, Kentucky.

H. VON LEHMEN,

—HAND-MADE—

Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,

ALSO SECOND HAND

PHAETONS, PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,

CHEAP.

No. 152 Pike Street,

COVINGTON, - KY.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ICED-TEA

to be good, healthful and refreshing must be made from pure tea free from adulterations such as hay, straw and weeds which are ussd in many teas as a "filler." Don't buy the cheap trash.

We can sell you

"Capitol" a fine blend pound, 60c

"Sunbeam" our finest Blend, pound 75c

Gunpowder, pound 60 & 75c

YOUNG-HYSON, a fine Mild Tea, lb 75c

and several other vatieties which also make a delicious

Hot Tea.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,

—GROCER.—

N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,

COVINGTON, KY.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.

Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.

PRICES REASONABLE.

Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone county.

Deposits Earning Interest.

THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY, Inc.

N. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,

COVINGTON, KY.

Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice,

ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.

Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.

It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.

In its several departments, THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

Acts as Agent; Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc; Attends to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.

—ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL.—

CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.

Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.

JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President

C. W. SIMRALL, Sec'y & Treas.

Long Distance Telephone, South 214.

J. G. BENTLER & SON,

Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.

Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing and Wagon Repairing of all kinds,

All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.

Grinding of all Kinds to Order.

Hay and Grain,

AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,

By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices

Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.

Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.

Successors to Clemens Hellman.

LUMBER DEALERS,

Manufacturers of

Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.

White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar. Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings., Etc.

COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.

Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122

H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.

"A SQUARE DEAL."

THIS famous phrase is the one on which we have built our reputation; only we have called it "BUSINESS HONESTY AND INTEGRITY." We believe in the square deal to every one, and we live up to it. If we said everything we would like to say about our Clothing it might sound like gross exageration.

We will say, however, to any man who is looking for CLOTHING that we give you the Style, Quality Fit, Workmanship

—WE HAVE A NICE LINE OF—

SPRING AND SUMMER SUITS

—BROKEN SIZES. WE SELL—

Men's $7.50 Suits.....now $5.00

Men's $10.00 Suits.....now $7.50

Men's $12.50 Suits.....now $10.00

Boys' and Children's Suits we have reduced accordingly. Men's pants the most select line—$1.00 to $5.00.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET,

Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

A. W. SMITH'S

PHARMACY,

WALTON, - - KY.

See our Crepe Paper Novelties. Dennison's Lunch Sets.

12 Doilies, 12 Knapkins, Table Cloth, 2 yards, 25c

Drink our Delicious Soda Water.

Our Ice Cream is superior. Our Candy is the very best.

High Grade Cigars and Tobacco.

FANCY STATIONERY IN MANY FORMS.

CHAS. GARNETT,

AUCTIONEER.

Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

W. M. KENNEY,

DEALER IN

Fine Wines and Liquors,

Best $2 whisky in the city.

141 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Local News.

And taxes are due again.

Fine weather for making hay.

A very fine rain fell here last Sunday about noon.

This is good weather to encourage the spread of flux.

Manager Crisler, of the Boones, is seeking dates for early tie-ups with the Erlanger, Walton and Belleview ball teams.

The Grangers of this county are expecting a great day at Harvest Hme grounds on August 5th, their annual Field Day.

Smittie's Military Band, of Cincinnati, has been secured to make music for the fair. It is one of the best bands in this part of the country.

A. B. Rouse left, yesterday for the Elks' fair at Georgetown, Scott county. He was well loaded with advertising matter to distribute for the Boone fair.

The local threshing machine crews were put out of business by the rains last Friday. Some of the farmers have had their grain threshed when yet quite wet.

W. T. Davis will build a modern residence on his farm a mile and a half out on the Florence pike. Mr. Davis is one of the most successful farmers in the Burlington precinct.

Married—July 15th, 1905, at the residence of F. W. M. Cutcheon, near Locust Valley, Long Island, by Rev. H. G. Monroe, Robert H. Monroe Ferguson, of New York City, to Isabella Dinsmore Selmes.

The early corn hereabouts will surely make a good crop. So far a season was never more favorable than the present, and already are some predicting that corn will be bought for less than 35 cents a bushel.

In another column appears the Sheriff's notice to the taxpayers of this county. He is now ready to collect taxes, and it being his last collection he is desirous that they be paid promptly. Read the dates and then meet them as requested.

The Boone County Medical Society met at the office of Dr. W. O. Rouse, last Wednesday, and adopted a constitution and by-laws. Those present were Drs. H. C. Lassing, J. M. Grant, J. G. Furnish, H. H. Hays, W. O. Hafer, Hubert Walton and W. O. Rouse.

Teachers are now on the hunt for schools over which to preside this fall and winter. The increase in the per capita will evidently result in an increased activity on the part of the pedagogues in the hunt for good schools, and will, probably, bring out a large number of applicants.

H. C. Diers, of Walton, requests the RECORDER to say to his many patrons that sickness has prevented his calling on them long before this time, but that he will be able to see them now in a short time, and replace, according to contract, all the trees and plants that are dead.

Morgan's Men will hold their annual reunion at Park's Hill, Nicholas county on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 15th and 16th. Our exchanges are requested to copy this announcement in order that all the "Boys" may know of it. All ex-Confederates are invited to be there.

A rural route inspector arrived in town, Monday, and has begun going over the roads in this part of the county, with a view to laying off rural mail routes. He has an instrument he attaches to his conveyance by which he measures the roads over which he travels. James Clore is furnishing him a rig and a driver.

Richard Bowman, assistant city engineer, in Cincinnati, was drowned in the Ohio, a short distance below Anderson's Ferry. He was a member of a fishing club that is camped on this side of the river, below the ferry, and was caught in mid stream by the storm, when he dived from the boat, a heavy skiff, and was drowned.

Following are the names of persons who were examined last Friday and Saturday for certificates to teach in Boone county public schools:

John M. Case, Burlington; Harriet Bedinger, Hamilton, Ohio; E. C. Rice and wife, Petersburg; Nannie Chambers, Richwood; Josephine Madin, Hume; Grace M. Russell, Ludlow; Carolyn Dougherty, Somerville, Ohio, Lucy Russell, Ludlow.

A young attorney of Burlington went into his garden not long since to pull weeds. The first place that claimed his attention was his pole beans, and when his wife went into the garden after he reported the weeds all pulled up, she was horrified when she saw that he had pulled the beans and had left the morning glories growing. He said he thought the stray flowers were the vegetables as they were the ones that were in bloom.

The following composed a party of pleasureseekers that visited the Middle creek cliffs, last Thursday afternoon. They scaled wire fences, tunnelled briar patches, and scrambled over deep ravines before they entered the zone of the mountain scenery, refreshing waters and exhilerating atmosphere, where several hours were spent in the most pleasant manner, dull care being banished entirely from their minds: Misses Olga Kirkpatrick, Artie Hughes, Charlotte Hall, Essie Parish, Sheba and Susan Roberts, Henrietta Riddell, and Messrs. James A. Duncan, Charles Gurney and Raymond Jackson. Others who had appointments to join the party were denied the pleasure very unexpectedly, consequently the pleasures of some of the party were lessened somewhat. After disposing of an elegant lunch, the gay crowd, weary and tired, scampered for home by the "light of the moon."

Personal Mention.

Bruce Clore is on the sick list.

Judge Lassing is on a business trip to New York.

Edgar Berkshire went to the city, last Saturday.

At last accounts Mrs. Elmer Beall was still improving.

Prof. Paris Akin called on the RECORDER, last Friday.

Prof. Elbert Ryle will teach at Hebron this fall and winter.

Atty. O. M. Rogers and little son, of Erlanger, were in town Saturday morning.

Cary Robinson, of Constance, was transacting business in Burlington, last Thursday.

R. O. Ryle, of Waterloo neighborhood, was among the visitors to the hub, last Saturday.

After several days' strenuous farm life W. C. Weaver appeared at his store again last Friday.

R. C. Gaines, of Idlewild neighborhood, was among the visitors in town Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Tolin had the brass band as their guests for a few hours, last Saturday night.

Mrs. W. E. Vest and little daughter, Mary, are visiting friends and relatives in Walton and vicinity.

Judge Cason returned to business on Wednesday of last week, having recovered from quite a severe spell of sickness.

Fletcher Clore and wife, of Idlewild, were guests of Mrs. Clore's brother, J. R. Clutterbuck and wife, last Wednesday.

Contractor Nicholson, of Walton, was in town Friday, and was awarded the contract for constructing the new bank building.

Rev. Curry will preach at Mount Pleasant church on the second Sunday in August, All day meeting, and everybody is invited.

Joe Birkle, of Hebron, passed through Burlington Saturday morning enroute to the Odd-Fellows' meeting at Big Bone.

Master Robert Fenton, who had been visiting his sister, Mrs. Edgar Berkshire, several days, returned to his home in Newport, last Saturday.

Logan Gaines, of Carrollton, was a guest at W. J. Rice's, last Saturday night. He had attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, J. J. Lillard, that day.

Herman Gelbing, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, was attending to business in Burlington Monday. He is an industrious farmer and seldom seen at the county seat.

Miss Martha Lassing, of Union, was calling on friends in Burlington, last Wednesday, while her father attended the meeting of the Boone County Medical Society.

Pro. Yaley, of Limaburg, was in town last Friday and Saturday. He is a member of Superintendent Snyder's cabinet, and was assisting in the examination of teachers.

R. S. Cowen, wife and daughter, Misses Edna, and Misses Annie and Pinkie Cowen and Birdie Martin spent the day, Tuesday, with Dr. L. C. Cowen and wife, in Rising Sun.

V. W. Gaines and family will move from Ludlow to Burlington in the next few days. Glad to see someone moving into town, as the tide has been the other way for several months.

W. H. Moore and son and their wives, of Big Bone church neighborhood, were in Burlington, last Thursday, arranging for the trial of a suit Mr. Moore has pending in the Boone Circuit Court.

Hear that E. M. Gaines was married a few days since. Did not learn the maiden name of his wife, but here is wishing Edwin and his wife a long life and a full share of this world's goods and happiness.

Col. William Ackmyer, of Bullittsville, was in Burlington, Saturday morning, looking hale and hearty, but somewhat restless because of having a small lot—25 acres of hay down, and the indication being that of rain.

Prof. Rice, of Petersburg, made the RECORDER a pleasant call last Friday. He was in town for the purpose of taking the examination necessary to the granting of a certificate to teach in the public schools of this county. He will teach the Petersburg school this fall and winter.

Sheriff Allphin came in last Friday afternoon from his Mud Lick summer resort. He carried a tan the like of which to procure at the seaside would cost a considerable sum. And then what a delightful time he had in the hay field several days when the mercury was cutting capers around the century mark. He says crop prospects in that part of the county were never better and seldom equaled.

T. H. Cloud, of Pleasant Hill, Missouri, writes: "I send by this mail subscription for the RECORDER. It is a good paper, and by it I keep in touch with the news and happenings in Boone. Although I have lived in Missouri nearly 40 years, I still have a warm spot in my heart for Boone county and her people. I attended the Confederate reunion in Louisville, last June, but failed to meet a Boone county man, although I visited Kentucky Headquarters every day during the Reunion. I expected to see you there. Capt. Jeff Childress sent in a catalogue of the Boone fair. It is a good one, and I hope the Fair will equal or surpass that of 1903. Kind regards to all."

Mr. and Mrs. William Davrainville, of Newport, returned to their home last Saturday after a visit of nearly four weeks with Mrs. Davrainvill's mother, Mrs. Susan Kirkpatrick, and other relatives. Mr. Davrainville came out to recuperate, having been in poor health for some time. He struck the country at a busy season with the farmers, and not being of a disposition that he is satisfied by seeing others work and not taking a hand, he was soon going all the farm gaits—picking fruit, working tobacco, harvesting grain and pitching hay. He began to improve at once under this exercise and the good country "grub," and when he returned home he was thoroughly rejuvenated, and pretty well versed in farming at harvest time.

Tacoma, Washington, July 10th.

This is such a busy country and time passes so rapidly I can't realize that it has been nine months since I left Kentucky. Of course we think of all our friends, and the RECORDER is a very welcome visitor.

Of course one can never forget their native state, but I must confess that I think this a fine state, too. I am not gifted with the language to describe this country as it really is, but I think the climate is about the principal feature in which it excels Kentucky. Everything looks fine here this summer as we've had plenty of rain so far, so Tacoma presents a very good appearance to all the Eastern visitors, who came through here via the Portland Fair, which will continue until October 15th. The Lewis and Clark Exposition proves to be quite interesting to all Eastern visitors. There are at least three things which would make it worth while to visit it. These are the Forestry building, the Government exhibit and the Museum of Art.

The Forestry Building is very unique in affairs of this kind, no other exposition has had anything like it. Some of the largest trees in the U. S. were used in its construction, no cut lumber being used except for the floors and slats for the roof, it is a noteworthy fact that the great base logs and the finest of the pillars came from the Washington side of the Columbia river. The two large exposition flag poles, one 220 feet and the other 190 feet in height, are of Washington timber.

On the main floor of the Forestry building is the forestry and Oregon fisheries exhibit, which shows the salmon eggs at all stages of growth after they are hatched.

The value set on the art exhibit being no less than $200,000. New York and Illinois each have a building there besides all the western states.

We've had very little warm weather this far, the nights are always cool. The highest the mercury registered was 94 on July 8th. Gardens and fruit seem to look well although owing to the cool nights vegetation is not so far advanced as it would be in Kentucky. We have peas raissd from Kentucky seed, which grew six feet in height, also finer potatoes than we ever raised in Kentucky. Cabbage, carrots, beets, lettuce, etc., do fine here, in fact everything except a few things which require a warmer climate. So of course we can't raise corn, tomatoes, sweetpotates, etc., as well as in Kentucky.

The days here are much longer than in Kentucky as it is daylight from 3:30 a. m. until 9 o'clock p. m.

Everything seems to be prospering in a business way here at present. There are a number of business and dwelling houses under construction at the present time, also lots of street improvements. I had the pleasure of seeing the battleship Marblehead depart from Tacoma June 20th, it being one of the battleships which took part in the battle of Santiago. There was also an Italian warship in the harbor for a few days. For fear this will reach the waste basket if I continue, I will close, wishing well to the RECORDER and all.

ANNA SCHWARTZ.
Tacoma, Washington,

The Hebron base ball team was on hand promptly last Saturday afternoon, and caught the Boones in a badly crippled condition, and for a while it looked very much like they would get what they came over for—the Boone's scalps. Gray and Hawes started in to do the battery work for the Boones, but Hawes was sick and had to retire from the game in the third inning, causing a shake-up in the infield, Johnnie Hogan going to third, Walton to second and Slayback behind the bat. For the first three innings Billie Gray was the whole thing, and the batsmen he did not strike out knocked the ball to him and he threw them out at first, but this excellent work did not keep up all the way through the game, although he pitched fine ball. One of the features of the game for the Boones was a magnificent catch by James Bullock, after a long, hard run, of a foul fly, it being pronounced the most sensational work ever seen on the local ground. The other feature was Johnnie Hogan's home run on a ball hit to third base, and which resulted in a disastrous throw to first. Phelps Walton and Ed Ernst were the battery for Hebron. Ernst is a fearless, nervy catcher and did excellent work behind the bat. Walton is a left hand twirler, and his delivery was a puzzle to the Boones, they making only two safe hits during the game, although several long drives that looked good for two or three bases were pulled down by the fast out-fielders behind him. Clore's work in center field was as fine as ever seen in this locality. It looks very much like the Hebron aggregation is the coming team of Boone. Following is the score:

Boones	0 0 1 0 2 2 0 0 *—5
Hebron	0 0 0 1 2 0 0 0 0—3

Struck out—Gray 7; Walton 7; base hits by Boones—Walton, Gray; by Hebron—Clore, Ogden, Aylor. Two base hits—P. Walton.

Twice the Boones have had a date with the team at Frankfort, and twice has that team cancelled the date by wire, and now manager Crisler will pay no attention to the Frankfort people, who do not appear to know their minds for 24 hours ahead.

Has Neither Head Nor Tail.

The treasury department at Washington has decided that there is no "head or tail" to a nickel, or in fact to any coin. The obverse and reverse sides are the proper terms to use. Hence in the future when matching nickels be sure to say "obverse" and "reverse" sides.

It is suggested that the State Board of Education employ some competent persons to prepare the examination papers sent out by it. Besides several words that were spelled incorrectly on the last sheets sent out the following is an impossible problem in arithmetic, with which the applicants were confronted:

"It requires 294 rods of fencing to inclose a rectangular field containing 38,075 acres; what is the length and width of it?"

Come, Come, Come,

The Summer Now is Here.

The season when you want something "different."

What's the matter with some canned Salmon for salad, &c?

We have a nice Alaska Pink at.....10c
3 cans for 25c
Ocean Gem at.....13c
2 cans for 25c
Golden Net at.....15c
Republic at.....18c
Carmello, large can, steak, 20c
Kinney, small can, steak very fine.....13c
2 for 25c
Figaro, small can steak..10c
Veal Loaf for cold lunch..10c
Lunch Tongues for same..15c
Devilled Ham for same.....5 and 10c

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, - KY.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

SEAL BLEND COFFEE, per pound.. 15c
Favorite Java Blend Coffee, lb..... 20c

Mason Fruit Jars
Pints..... 45cts
Quarts..... 50cts
One-half Gallons..... 60cts
We keep a supply of extra Lids and Covers.
N. Y. Cheese..... 15cts.
Jell-O Ice Cream Powder 12cts

Jackson's Best Patent Flour, bbl.. $5.50
O. K. Flour per bbl..... $5.20
Granulated Sugar, 17 pounds for..... $1.00

—THE—
HAMILTON
GROCERY CO.,
39 and 41 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, KY.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of John Rowland, deceased, must come forward and settle the same, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

N. E. RIDDELL, Admr.

C. J. WOLFF,
SPECIALIST FOR
TRUSSES, BRACES, CRUTCHES, ETC.
Personal attention given every case.
Experience 40 years.
13th & Race, opp. Washington Park, Cincinnati, O.

Take the Recorder.

THE
Lawrenceburg Fair
— WILL BE HELD AT —
Lawrenceburg, Ind.,
Aug. 8-9-10-11-12, '05
FIVE BIG DAYS.

MEDICURA STOCK FOOD!
Cheapest and best to use. Fully guaranteed. 5 feeds for one cent. Eight cents per month per head. The greatest tonic food and fattener in the world.
FOR HOGS AND CATTLE, It cures and prevents disease. Saves Grain and 40 days time in fattening.
FOR HORSES AND COLTS, A blood purifying Tonic. Expels worms, gives new life and strength.
5 FEEDS FOR [illegible] FOWLS. MAKES HENS LAY MORE EGGS.
Your money refunded if it ever fails.

Hay, Grain, Mill Feed,
ALL WAYS KEPT ON HAND.

A New Grocery.
We have added a complete line of Fancy and Staple Groceries and canned goods, which we are selling at the Most Reasonable Prices.
R. B. HUEY & CO.,
WALTON, -- KENTUCKY.

KASPER LEHMANN,
—DEALER IN—
BOOTS and SHOES,
Custom Work Promptly Attended To.
Store: Corner Lexington Pike and Vine Street,
Formerly South Erlanger. - - ELSMERE, KY.

H. G. BLANTON,
FUNERAL DIRECTOR

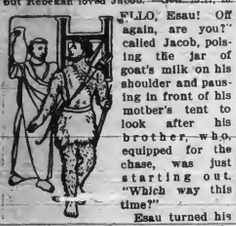
LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
Special Rates to Traveling Men.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission & SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone South 55) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

B. B. ALLPHIN. B. B. HUME.
ALLPHIN & HUME,

Livery and Sale Stables,
First-Class Turnouts for Hire at all Times.
GOOD RAYMOND CITY COAL A SPECIALTY.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.

CEILINGS. SKYLIGHTS. CORNICES.
The Porter Iron Roofing & Corrugating Co
27 and 29 West Front Street,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Iron, Steel, Galvanized, Felt and Porteroid Rubber Roofing.
Our Agents will give you whole[illegible]
M. J. Crouch, Agent for Boone county. Write us[illegible]



FAVORITE SONS

OUR BIBLE STORY by the Highway and Byway Preacher

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1905, by J. M. Edson.)

Scripture Authority:—"And the boys grew; and Esau was a cunning hunter, a man of the field; and Jacob was a plain man, dwelling in tents. And Isaac loved Esau, because he did eat of his venison: but Rebekah loved Jacob." Gen. 25:27, 28.

FLLO, Esau! Off again, are you!" called Jacob, poising the jar of goat's milk on his shoulder and pausing in front of his mother's tent to look after his brother, who, equipped for the chase, was just starting out. "Which way this time?"

Esau turned his head at the sound of the voice, but without stopping he replied, bluntly:

"Same old chase. Bound to get that antelope to-day."

"I'd give it up, if I were you," exclaimed Jacob.

"Humph! I know you would," shouted back the hunter. "If father depended on you he'd never know the taste of venison."

Esau had a good-natured contempt for his brother. He viewed him as a sort of a weakling, and on occasion did not hesitate to express himself on that point, as in the present instance. But although Jacob felt the thrust he ventured no reply, but turning, entered the tent, while Esau continued at a vigorous gait down the path.

It was evident that Rebekah had overheard the last remark of Esau, for as she took the jar from Jacob she ejaculated with much spirit, at the same time casting a swift glance in the direction of Isaac, who sat on the farther side of the tent:

"Venison is not the only thing to be desired!"

"What's that, mother," he said, looking up.

"I say that Esau better stay at home and help look after things instead of trailing some frightened deer over the mountainside. We need him more than we need his venison!"

Jacob did not linger to hear what reply his father would make, but hurried off to attend to one of the lambs which his watchful eye had discovered that morning lying with one of its legs injured. He was a careful husbandman, and had it not been for his faithfulness, the easy-going, venison-loving Isaac would have been poorer by a lamb, and many a measure of grain. And so while Esau roamed the fields with wild, free spirit, Jacob busied himself at home. He was a keen calculator, and careful manager, knowing how to obtain the largest increase, or drive the sharpest bargain, and his mother's nature and spirit were in perfect harmony with her thrifty son. But Isaac loved Esau. He ate of his venison, and delighted in the stories of the chase, perhaps because his nature and training under the gentle Sarah had shut him out of that wild realm in which his big, strong, agile son reveled.

Now Isaac had long since learned that he was no match for Rebekah's sharp tongue, and so on this occasion he maintained a discreet silence, and presently she continued her complaint.

"One would think from Esau's shiftless, worthless habits that the only worthy ambition in life was to hunt venison, and the only thing worth doing after it was killed was to eat it."

Isaac winced under the sharp thrust, and feeling that some kind of a show at defense must be made, he said:

"Who was it cleaned out that den of lions after the flocks had been ravaged? Who was it that trailed the great she bear that had killed one of the camels, and fearlessly attacking her in her lair, and fought her in hand-to-hand conflict and slew her? Who was it who set the traps which caught the foxes that were causing us so much trouble? Surely Esau has served us well on more than one occasion!"

"All that is true," Rebekah admitted, "but if the care and management of the flocks and herds had been left to Esau, there would have been none for lions, or bears or other beasts to have troubled."

"Oh, well, when the responsibility of the inheritance as elder son comes upon him he will change," apologized the father, ever ready to make excuses for his favorite son.

"Yes, change!" sniffed Rebekah, skeptically. "He's been changing for the worse ever since he was a boy. Never could be depended on."

And it was true, for as a mere lad he had manifested the wild free nature, and if set to tend the sheep he was more than likely to become interested in setting some trap in the field and forget all about the sheep. By it sent on an errand a observing rabbit or other small animal was sure to tempt him from the pathway and that was the last of the errand. And as he grew into young manhood, he chafed more and more under restraint and the work and life of the home, and for this reason he made the distant fields, and woods and mountains his favorite retreat.

Also, there was a constant source of irritation to the thrifty mother, and [illegible] and scolded, and even tried [illegible] son to abandon [illegible] but it was all to [illegible] Finally her affection [illegible] the steady, patient Jacob.

But to the mind of Isaac the discussion had gone far enough, and to escape further controversy he withdrew, without making any reply to his wife's last remark. And she was equally anxious to end the interview, for Isaac's reference to Esau's inheritance as the elder son set her to thinking and she wanted to be alone. She had become so accustomed to Jacob's managing, and his domination next to his father in the domestic affairs that she thought of his being always in that place, and forgot that Esau's right as elder son would some day change it all.

"Was it right?" she asked herself, "when service and character and everything which the mother could think of except the circumstances of birth over which he had no control proclaimed him the one entitled to the privileges of the elder son?"

The drift of her thought carried her back over the years and she found herself searching her memory for light. The strange circumstances preceding the birth of the two boys and the words of the Lord when she had gone to inquire of Him concerning the matter, had never been understood by her, and now she found herself saying over and over again the words which the Lord had spoken so many years before: "The elder shall serve the younger. The elder shall serve the younger."

So absorbed was she in her thoughts, that she did not hear footsteps, and the voice of her son at the tent door startled her violently.

"Who were you talking to, mother?"

"I talking? Did I speak?" exclaimed the surprised woman, regaining her composure.

"Yes," replied Jacob, "you've been saying over and over again: 'The elder shall serve the younger. The elder shall serve the younger,' just as if you were reciting your lesson or trying to memorize a part."

"Well, I don't wonder I've been speaking aloud when my thoughts have been so wrought up and disturbed," was the nervous rejoinder, the color mounting to her cheeks as she realized that one of the hidden secrets of her heart had been revealed and that her son would next be asking for an explanation. And the request was not long delayed, for Jacob coming to his mother's side and looking searchingly into her eyes, asked eagerly:

"What do you mean, mother, by saying: 'The elder shall serve the younger?'"

The mother was troubled and perplexed. How could she explain something she did not and could not understand herself? But she knew she must say something, and so she told him as simply and frankly as she could the circumstances of the Lord's message.

Jacob listened with an intensity that almost startled his mother, and when she had finished, they both sat in silence for some minutes. Was it a feeling of exultation, of triumph, or simply a fervid recognition of the Divine element in his life which swept over Jacob as he sat there and thought of his brother, and the possibilities of the future years.

But sudden, as a cloud swept over his face. The mother noted the change of mood; the swift descent from the ecstatic to the morose. Catching the thought with her quick intuition which had flashed through the mind of Jacob and wrought the change, she said, as she pressed his hand, reassuringly:

"But the right of the elder son? Yes, we shall have to wait!"

Three days passed and no Esau. The morning he had departed he had made his boast that he would return at night with the antelope which had so repeatedly defied his skill as a hunter, but he had not come. Little attention was given the matter, for he often remained away days at a time. At first Isaac was disappointed at not getting his treat of venison, but as the second day wore away into the third and still no Esau it was plain to see that he was uneasy over the hunter's absence.

Late in the afternoon while Jacob was busy preparing a pot of succulent beans Esau came in weary and empty-handed. The long tramp, the persistent chase, the scant provisions with which he had been provided, all told a story of a hunter weary and famished. And so the appetizing odor of the food which Jacob was preparing came to Esau's nostrils with a power which could not be resisted. So eager was he for the food that he did not notice the sarcasm of Jacob as he asked:

"Well, where's father's venison?"

"Give me," he exclaimed, "some of that pottage, for I am faint with hunger!"

Like a flash there came to the mind of Jacob the words his mother had spoken: "The elder shall serve the younger." But the birthright? How it loomed up before him!

"Sell me this day thy birthright," exclaimed Jacob, "and you may have all the pottage you want. And it is fine!" he added, as he took a dish and began to fill it with the appetizing food.

"Behold, I am at the point to die," impatiently cried Esau, "and what profit shall this birthright do to me? Let me have the pottage!"

"Swear! Swear to me this day that it shall be mine," insisted the cautious Jacob, withholding the bowl of steaming pottage, while the pleasant aroma came crowding upon the nostrils of the famished Esau.

"Yea, I swear that it shall be thine! Here! Here! Only give me to eat!" And he seized the food which Jacob placed in front of him and ate as though there was never a need but that of the physical. And as the warm, succulent food filled his stomach, there stole over him that animal contentment which comes to those who know no higher feelings than the mere needs of the body. And when he had eaten and drunken, he rose up and went his way, and the wily Jacob, as he watched him depart, muttered to himself:

"Verily, the elder shall serve the younger."

DEMAND TARIFF REVISION.

Boston Republicans Believe a Reduction of the Tariff Is Necessary.

The committee of one hundred of the Boston Chamber of Commerce appointed to consider the general question of reciprocity and tariff revision adopted a declaration that the country is confronted with a commercial and economic situation which threatens American interests and industries. These Boston republican business men further declared:

"We believe a revision of the tariff upon the principle of reciprocity to be necessary, and we affirm that the adoption of a maximum and minimum tariff system, having for its purpose reciprocity rather than retaliation, is best calculated to promote and maintain a rational system of protection, and to guarantee the equitable treatment of all foreign nations.

"The typical attitude of Germany, our second largest foreign customer, emphasizes the practical character of reciprocity as a political proposition. The pendency of the Hay-Bond treaty with Newfoundland, and our unsettled commercial [illegible] with the Dominion of Canada most urgently call for immediate action.

"We earnestly endorse the reported intention of President Roosevelt to call a special session of congress for the immediate revision of the tariff.

That declaration of independence of the republican dogma of protection will lead to freedom from the plundering of the trusts and protected special interests if President Roosevelt will stick to his declared intention of calling a special session of congress to consider that and the railroad rate question.

The Boston republican business men urge "immediate revision of the tariff," but they will have to be earnestly pushing and urging the reform they desire or they will be grieviously disappointed.

The republican leaders, who are almost without exception opposed to a special session of congress, on account of their objecting to tariff revision, have evidently persuaded President Roosevelt that an extra session is not warranted by conditions and that to call one before the fall elections would injure the party in those states where elections are to be held. The president seems to have fallen into this trap and those republican leaders who have talked with him declare there will be no special session, at least not until after the elections are over, which would bring the time close to the regular date of meeting, December 4. In that case it will be much easier for the republican stand-patters who will control the house of representatives, where all tariff legislation must originate, to prolong the hearings on the bill and so procrastinate in reporting the same that it will be too late for the senate to act and so tariff revision will be defeated. Those are conditions that tariff reformers have to face and the Boston tariff reformers must act accordingly.

POPULARITY DIMINISHED.

Flagrant Violation of Consistency in the Balance Against Roosevelt.

"The president's popularity," says Collier's Weekly, "is too extensive to feel the loss caused by his performances whenever friends of his have committed errors or need advancement."

Whereas the truth is emphatically otherwise, declares the St. Louis Republic. While Mr. Roosevelt's popularity did not suffer appreciably through his promotion of Wood, it underwent a very noticeable shrinking by reason of his sophistical exculpation of Morton, and has probably lost by his action in the Bowen-Loomis episode.

"But we do wish," Collier's nevertheless goes on to say, "that on occasions when he deems it necessary to print exuberant eulogies of his friends in trouble he would refrain for once from talking in that very same document about a 'square deal.'"

Mr. Roosevelt and "the square deal" are incompatible, and he suffers by the juxtaposition of ideas. Measured by the American ideal of justice he is found wanting. The eyes of the nation have been signally directed to the discrepancy. A failure of popularity was inevitable upon a visible distortion of logic and discrimination of justice deliberately committed to shield a friend who happened to have run afoul of the very puntive principle which Mr. Roosevelt ostensibly was promoting.

It would be a sad day for the intelligence and morals of Americans if a loss of their favor did not follow such a flagrant violation of consistency.

——That the indicted packers were able to furnish bond is something of a surprise in view of Jimmie Garfield's report telling what a losing business they have been conducting.—Houston Post.

——Mr. Roosevelt is to have his eyes tested by a Boston oculist, and after reading the president's review of the Santa Fe case one feels that he is justified in looking after his sight at once.—N. Y. Herald.

——President Roosevelt has issued an order designed to prevent promotions in the army and navy through the manipulation of "pulls" and favoritism. And the president's protege, Gen. Leonard Wood, is on his way home from the Philippines, expecting to be made the head of the army, too! Well, just wait and see about Wood.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

DEMANDING TARIFF REFORM

Wanted by the People, But Republican Trimmers Block the Way.

When the people of the United States have made up their minds that certain legislation would advance their interests, they should be able to get it. As it is now, their representatives either think the people do not know what is best for them, or some occult power prevails above the will of the people and prevents congress from acting favorably. The belief of such a conservative journal as Public Opinion, "that the majority of the people of this country to-day want tariff reform, and that they would vote overwhelmingly for such reform if the issue were presented to them squarely," indicates that the republican majority in congress declines to obey the popular will. The republican party has promised in the three last congressional campaigns to revise the tariff, if the voters would entrust the matter to its hands, and numerous candidates of that party have personally pledged themselves to vote for tariff revision, but when elected they have made [illegible] to redeem their promises.

Numerous bills providing for the revision of certain tariff schedules have been introduced, but not one measure has been reported from the committee on ways and means so that congress could consider it. The evident intention being to throw the blame on the whole republican membership by not allowing any record vote, so that the people cannot single out those members who oppose reform, or any that might be for it. The voters have been distinctly fooled at the last three elections, or ever since the late Mark Hanna announced his celebrated "stand pat" policy. It is now intimated that the same do-nothing program is to be repeated at the coming session of congress, and the trusts will thus be allowed to continue to sell their products to the people of the United States for much higher prices than they sell them for abroad. So great is the difference between the home and foreign selling prices of the tariff fostered trusts that President Roosevelt has been compelled to order the Panama Canal commission to buy needed supplies where it could buy the cheapest, which means buying them abroad.

In the meantime, the American people have to buy their personal supplies of the trusts at the high price the trusts see fit to extort, and Speaker Cannon and the "stand pat" republican leaders declare they will continue this extraordinary state of affairs. Those voters who supported the republican candidates for congress at the last election now find themselves powerless to control legislation, and must continue to pay high trust prices for at least three years longer, and the only satisfaction the voters who supported the democratic candidates have is to taunt their republican brethren with, "We told you so." Whether the republican voters will stand being fooled, or will register their disapproval at the next congressional election remains in the womb of the future.

THE POLITICAL DRIFT.

——Whatever comes of the Bowen-Loomis matter Mr. Bowen is not likely to again address Secretary Taft as "Dear Bill."—Nashville Banner.

——If the president cuts out the "dead wood" and removes the red tape there will not be much left of some government departments. — Baltimore Sun.

——The complete assimilation of the Filipinos and the finishing of the Panama canal may be expected to happen about the same time.—Chicago Tribune (Rep.).

——Mr. Loomis must feel that his own vindication is somewhat shabby and shop-worn beside the gilt-edged article granted to Paul Morton.—Chicago Daily News (Ind.).

——Secretary Taft has saddled the Panama canal upon Secretary Root Nobody can beat an Ohio man in sidestepping at the psychological moment.—N. Y. World.

——Graft in the war department, graft in the post office department, graft in the interior department, and now graft in the agricultural department—is there any end to it, or is this feature of "republican prosperity" all pervasive? — Springfield Republican (Ind.).

——"In investigating the beef trust and the Standard Oil company I have been content to leave it absolutely in the hands of Mr. Garfield," said President Roosevelt in Massachusetts the other day. And doubtless these cormorantic corporations are equally as content to have it left there.—Atlanta Constitution.

——The Washington Post's (Ind.) summary of the "Beef Trust" case is brief and to the point: "The value of beef cattle in the United States declined $165,000,000 for the three years ended January 1, 1905, and the price of beef advanced about 40 per cent. in the same period. That Chicago grand jury wants an explanation.

——Secretary Wilson is a harmless dull old bureaucrat, who has held the agricultural "portfolio" since 1897, simply because nobody else wanted it. It is a shame, like robbing the children's banks, to take advantage of him and locate costly leaks in his department.—Albany Argus.

——One is occasionally lost in admiration at the juggler who keeps up three dinner plates, four balls, five knives and forks, and a rippling flow of conversation at the same moment, but he is a mere novice in his seemingly difficult art when compared with Theodore Roosevelt.—Chicago Journal (Rep.).

DISSIMILARITY OF VIEWS.

Those of the Optimist and the Pessimist Expressed in Metrical Measure.

The Optimist—I love the spring for it does bring fresh breezes from the distant Adriatic.

The Pessimist—But the wind east, to say the least, oft gives one pains somewhat rheumatic.

The Optimist—When summer's here, I hold it dear, for of flowers 'tis a generous giver.

The Pessimist—Yet one is not, when it's quite hot, free from tortures of a sluggish liver.

The Optimist—Then autumn hints, with wondrous tints, of Dame Nature in the role of weaver.

The Pessimist—That sounds well—yet, the truth to tell, it savors strongly of hay fever.

The Optimist—The winter white, is my delight—tbe "beautiful" everywhere doth greet us.

The Pessimist—But, alas! there are colds, catarrh, quack doctors, asthma and bronchitis.

Our Changing Language.

"Do you think that our country will ever succeed in getting rid of grafters?"

"Yes," answered Senator Borgbum. "There will be a time when grafters are unheard of. But it will be due to the change that is constantly going on in our vocabulary. There will be a new word that means the same thing."—Washington Star.

Explained.

New Boarder—Look here! Why can't I have a full cup of tea?

Waiter Girl—That was a full cup when I took it outer tbe kitchen, but, ye see, this here tea's so weak it just lays down in the bottom of the cup.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Professional Courtesy.

"I manage to keep my boarders longer than you do," said the first landlady.

"Oh, I don't know," rejoined the other. "You keep them so thin that they look longer than they really are."—Chicago Daily News.

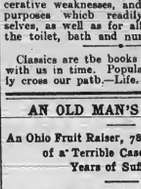
The Important Point.

Edna—I dreamed last night that I was fishing and landed a whopper.

Jay—What was bis name?—Detroit Free Press.

BEAUTIFUL SKIN,

Soft White Hands and Luxuriant Hair Produced by Cuticura Soap.



Millions of Women Use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings and chafings, for annoying irritations and ulcerative weaknesses, and many antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery.

Classics are the books that travel along with us in time. Popular successes merely cross our path.—Life.

AN OLD MAN'S TRIBUTE.

An Ohio Fruit Raiser, 78 Years Old, Cured of a Terrible Case after Ten Years of Suffering.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble, of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the day time, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."

SIDNEY JUSTUS.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

NAMES BEST DOCTOR

MR. BAYSON PUBLISHES RESULTS OF VALUABLE EXPERIENCE.

A Former Pronounced Dyspeptic He Now Rejoices in Perfect Freedom from Miseries of Indigestion.

Thousands of sufferers know that the reason why they are irritable and depressed and nervous and sleepless is because their food does not digest, but how to get rid of the difficulty is the puzzling question.

Good digestion calls for strong digestive organs, and strength comes from a supply of good rich blood. For this reason Mr. Bayson took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for [illegible] of indigestion.

"They have been my best doctor," he says. "I was suffering from dyspepsia. The pains in my stomach after meals were almost unbearable. My sleep was very irregular and my complexion was sallow. As the result of using eight boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, about the merits of which I learned from friends in France, I have escaped all these troubles, and am able again to take pleasure in eating."

A very simple story, but if it had not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills it might have been a tragic one. When discomfort begins with eating, fills up the intervals between meals with pain, and prevents sleep at night, there certainly cannot be much pleasure in living. A final general breaking down must be merely a question of time.

Mr. Joseph Bayson is a native of Aix-les-Bains, France, but now resides at No. 2439 Larkin street, San Francisco, Cal. He is one of a great number who can testify to the remarkable efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the treatment of obstinate disorders of the stomach.

If you would get rid of nausea, pain or burning in the stomach, vertigo, nervousness, insomnia, or any of the other miseries of a dyspeptic, get rid of the weakness of the digestive organs by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are sold by druggists everywhere.

Proper diet is, of course, a great aid in forwarding recovery once begun, and a little book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," may be obtained by any one who makes a request for it by writing to the Dr. Williams Medical Co., Schenectady, N.Y. This valuable diet book contains an important chapter on the simplest means for the cure of constipation.

AMERICAN INN

THE ONLY HOTEL ON THE EXPOSITION GROUNDS

LEWIS AND CLARK CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION, PORTLAND, ORE.

Rates—European Plan, $1.50 to $5.00
Rates—American Plan, 3.50 to 7.00
Including admission to Fair Grounds

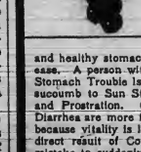
For further information and free Booklet address
THE AMERICAN INN COMPANY
MRS. J. T. McCREADY, General Manager.

The Hay Baler

which is in a class by itself.

"ELI" PRESSES bale fastest and best for shipping and market. Largest Feed Openings [illegible] Many featured machines, standard of the world. Use no Ties Ill catalogue.

Collins Plow Co., 903 Hampshire St., Quincy, Ill.



ANTIDAMPED Free Sample on Request.

Soothes hot, swollen, painful feet. Makes new shoes feel like old. Removes all odor of the body or feet. Instantly cures prickly heat. For sale at your druggist or by mail for 25c.

THE AMELIA TOILET CO., P.O. Box 242, Cincinnati, Ohio

PATENTS 48-page book FREE, highest references. FITZGERALD & CO., Box K, Washington, D.C.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

Mull's Grape Tonic (FREE) FOR Hot Weather Dangers

CONSTIPATION STOMACH AND BOWEL TROUBLE

No one with regular bowels and healthy stomach can contract disease. A person with Constipation and Stomach Trouble is always the first to succumb to Sun Stroke, Heat Debility and Prostration. Cholera, Colic and Diarrhea are more fatal in Hot Weather because vitality is lower—they are the direct result of Constipation. It is a mistake to suddenly check diarrhea, the danger is Blood Poison. A physic is also dangerous as it weakens the patient and reduces vitality. Treat the cause with Mull's Grape Tonic. Constipation and its attending ills are caused by decaying or dying bowels and intestines—Mull's Grape Tonic revives and strengthens the Bowels so that they are enabled to act naturally and eject the poison from the system, everybody should take it during hot weather. It wards off disease, builds up the system and purifies the blood. Typhoid Fever and Appendicitis are unknown in families where Mull's Grape Tonic is employed. As a Stomach Tonic it is unequalled.

SUFFERED ALL HIS LIFE.

The endorsement of E. B. McCurdy of Troy, Ohio, proves that the severest forms of Constipation are promptly cured by Mull's Grape Tonic:—He says:

"I gave your Tonic a thorough trial. It is the only remedy that will cure constipation. I do not believe anyone suffered more therefrom than I, as I had been afflicted with it all my life. For days my bowels would not act and then only by the use of strong cathartics that were fast ruining my health. My Stomach and Liver were deranged and I suffered with inward piles, the pains of which would at times raise me off my chair. I spent much money with various doctors and medicines to no avail.

Soon after I started Mull's Grape Tonic my bowels began to move regularly—the pain left me and my general health built up rapidly.

I heartily recommend it as an absolute cure to which I am a living witness."

Until Mull's Grape Tonic was put on the American market there was no cure for Constipation. Let us send you a bottle free to-day to show you that it will do all we claim.

Good for Ailing Children and Nursing Mothers.

FREE BOTTLE COUPON

Send this coupon with your name and address and your druggist's name, for a free bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic, Stomach Tonic, Constipation Cure and Blood Purifier, to MULL'S GRAPE TONIC CO., 147 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill. Give full address and write plainly. The $1.00 bottle contains nearly three times the 50c. size. At drug stores. The genuine has a date and number stamped on the label—take no other from your druggist.

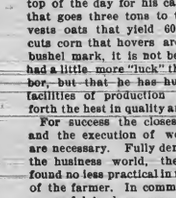
THE FARMING WORLD

"LUCKY FARMING."

No Such Thing Known Among the Successful Farmers — Win by Hard Work and Foresight.

When a farmer through close calculation and well directed effort has been able to force his land to yield a goodly profit, it may be all very well for him to pass his success off as merely a hit of "luck," but the man who takes such an explanation seriously misses the meat of the reason and cheats himself accordingly. For everything that happens there is always a reason. Possibly it is sometimes obscure, but it exists none the less.

It is a wise man who can shake off the idea that "luck" rules the successes of another, remarks the Prairie Farmer. The sooner that the go-as-you-please farmer rids himself of the idea the better, and the sooner he will be in a position to analyze the success of his competitor and apply the other's strong points in his own work.



If a farmer always gets a high price for his fruit when the market is glutted, realizes a few cents on top of the average price for his butter, secures the top of the day for his cattle, cuts hay that goes three tons to the acre, harvests oats that yield 60 bushels or cuts corn that hovers around the 80-bushel mark, it is not because he has had a little more "luck" than his neighbor, but that he has husbanded his facilities of production and brought forth the best in quality and quantity.

For success the closest calculation and the execution of well-laid plans are necessary. Fully demonstrated in the business world, they have been found no less practical in the operations of the farmer. In commercial life the successful business man has forgotten that there is such a term as "luck" in the language.

INEXPENSIVE BATHROOM.

Farmhouse Convenience Which May Be Fitted Off from the Kitchen at Small Expense.

A long, narrow kitchen, 20 by 10 feet, is divided by a partition five feet from the end. The ceiling is eight feet high. The partition we decided to have six feet high; this will allow the hot air from the kitchen to pass over and heat the bathroom. The door we arranged directly in line with the stove, to furnish additional heat, and also to lessen the distance to carry the hot water for the bath, which has to be heated by the stove. Our pump draws the water from the cistern. On one side a convenient arrangement for washing is shown, a tight box fitted to the wall with wooden brackets, the seams filled with putty and then painted with white enamel. A hole is made in the bottom of the box, and a two-inch drain pipe fitted into same. The waste water from this and also from the bath flows into a flowerbed, which is situated right at side of kitchen. The towel rack is made from a curtain pole painted white to match the woodwork. The walls, four feet high, are covered with blue and white tiled paper. A rug in front of the bath, with all the other toilet accessories, completes the thoroughly practical, convenient and artistic bathroom, the expense for the comfort derived amounting to but little, says the Rural New Yorker. The bath chosen is one that requires little water on account of the long, narrow end. Bath cost six dollars; pump, 92 cents; plumbing, $6; other expenses, $1; total, $13.92.

AN INEXPENSIVE BATHROOM.

A HANDY GARDEN HOE.

Implement Which May Be Made at Home, and Which Will Prove Most Useful in Garden Work.

A handy combination of a push and pull hoe, which works very easily and is not as tiresome as either a Dutch or a common hoe, says J. B. Welch, in Farm and Home. It is a flat piece of steel, three inches wide and eight inches long, sharpened on both edges. A handle is fixed to it in the manner shown. The steel blade lies flat on the ground and can either be pulled or pushed to stir the surface or cut off the weeds.

Fruit for All.

It used to be said (but that was a long time ago), that the apple was the fruit of the common people, the orange the fruit of the wealthy and the grape the fruit for the king. Now all fruits have become well-nigh universal. The orange now is about as cheap as the apple, and the grape is cheaper than either apple or orange.

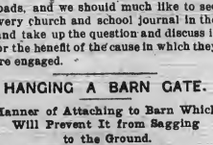
If accounts are figured up at the end of the year it will probably be found that the orchard and garden are the most profitable patches on the farm.

ROADS AND EDUCATION.

Consolidation of School Districts Dependent on the Character of the Highways.

One of the most important problems for our rural communities has been how best to secure the benefits of a graded school system so as to enable the farmer to give his children instruction in the higher branches of learning without leaving the farm. The writer believes that the policy of consolidation and transportation of pupils furnishes a solution of the problem if the policy can be perfected. The next and most important question is: how can this be done; in what way, and after what preparation, can a perfect system be established or made possible of establishment? We are firmly of the opinion that the system of education outlined and which means so much for the country will never be perfected and become a fixed policy until there is national aid in the construction of good wagon roads, say along the line of bills introduced in the house of representatives by Hon. W. P. Brownlow, of Tennessee, and in senate by Mr. Latimer, of South Carolina. In hearings on the good-roads subject before the senate committee on agriculture it was shown that of all the roads in the United States there are only 5 per cent good, 10 per cent. fairly passable and 85 per cent. bad; that is, stallers of teams in wet weather, and the creators of insufferable dust storms in dry weather. "Fifteen per cent. are roads, the remainder mere rights-of-way."

While striving after the best results in its own particular field and studiously seeking improvements under functions that belong to it alone, that very important branch of the public service known as the bureau of education has, in its investigations, gathered practical facts and detailed statistics that furnish irrefutable argument in favor of national aid for good roads, because no government can prosper save by the enlightenment of its people. President Roosevelt, in a speech at St. Louis in 1903, declared that the difference between the semi-barbarism of the middle ages and the civilization which succeeded it was the difference between poor and good means of communication. On Bedloe's Island in New York harbor stands Liberty Enlightening the World. "Go ye into all the earth and preach the Gospel to every creature," means now, as when first communicated to man, that the highways and byways furnish a fruitful field for Godly work. Following the construction of good roads civilization expands, education increases and Christianity widens and broadens its field of operation. But education is not possible and Christianity is retarded where schoolhouses cannot be reached, and where the highways are not at all seasons passable. No fixed policy of consolidated schools will prevail until there is a systematized construction of wagon roads, and no fixed policy of road construction is possible except by federal cooperation with the states and the political divisions thereof.



The common or wagon roads are the primary means of transportation and communication. The railroads have their uses, and they are important, but people do not use them to reach church houses and school houses. Christian civilization and education call for better means of propagation. Public school work goes hand in hand with the spread of religion. It needs no argument to show that every church interest and every school interest is closely connected with the question of public road improvement throughout the United States. We are a Christian nation, and we are an educational people. The very life of the republic depends upon the influence of the churches and the schools, for these are the certain promoters of high ideals in citizenship and the inculcators of that fine spirit of patriotism which enables good government and sustains it wherever established. If there were no other reasons why the government should at once adopt and put into practice a good-roads policy in cooperation with the states, it should do so in support of public education and the spread of the Christian religion.

We repeat that the United States bureau of education, while working in its own particular field, has supplied one of the most forceful arguments yet presented in favor of national aid to good roads, and we should much like to see every church and school journal in the land take up the question and discuss it for the benefit of the cause in which they are engaged.

HANGING A BARN GATE.

Manner of Attaching to Barn Which Will Prevent It from Sagging to the Ground.

Some time since a writer in an issue of the Michigan Farmer gave this plan for hanging a gate attached to a barn. The cut is sufficient in detail to show the complete method of construction and hanging.

THE FARM GATE HUNG.

Impurities in Milk.

Stockmen that have large farms and are doing a large business find it to their advantage to have separate pastures for their breeding cows, keeping not more than 20 cows in one pasture, says Farmers' Review. If there are too many cows with calves in one pasture it is difficult to give them the care they should have. Of course, it is only with blooded stock that one can afford to go to the expense of providing extra pastures with the extra fencing they entail.

Oldest Ruins.

The oldest architectural ruins in the world are believed to be the rock-cut temples at Ipsambool, on the left bank of the Nile in Nubia. The largest of these ancient temples contains 11 apartments hewn out of solid stone. The largest single stone used in this work is one which forms a veranda-like projection along one side of the main temple. It is 57 feet long, 52 feet broad and 17 one account says nine feet thick.

Only Indian Priest.

Father Albert Neganhquet, said to be the only fullblood Indian priest in the United States, has been transferred from Eufaula, I. T., where he has been for two years, to Antlers. At Antlers his parishioners will be mostly Italians. Father Negahnquet was educated in Rome and the fact that he speaks Italian fluently is the cause of the change.

Straight Railways.

There is a railway over the Egyptian desert which runs for 45 miles in a straight line, but this is beaten by one in Australia. The railway from Nyngan to Bourke, in New South Wales, runs over a plain quite level for 126 miles in a mathematically straight line. There is hardly an embankment, not one curve, and only three very slight elevations.

Pretty Near It.

Rufus Choate once tried to get a Boston witness to give his idea of absent-mindedness. "Well," said the witness, who was a typical New England Yankee, "I should say that a man who thought he'd left his watch at home, and took it out'n his pocket to see if he'd time to go hum and git it, was a leetle absent-minded."

Dishonest Viceroy.

The viceroy of the two Kuang provinces, China, recently put out a proclamation that no pawnshop was to take arms in pawn. Being later himself in need of funds, he sent his own agents with arms to pledge. Five shops accepted them; and these afterward paid fines in the amount of $7,250 each.

Lengthy Plays.

Theatergoers in Spain can purchase a separate ticket for each act, and often do not stay to see more than one act at a time. It is quite the usual thing to spend four nights over a four-act play, seeing one act one night, the second act a few nights later, and so on.

Hits a Fine Pipe.

Four hundred thousand dollars is the estimated value of the pipe which the shah of Persia smokes in public on state occasions. It is called "Il Kalidin," and is entirely incrusted with diamonds, rubies, pearls and emeralds.

New Feature in Photography.

Underground photography has recently made such progress that mining engineers are now able to illustrate their reports with pictures showing the exact appearance of edges, orebodies and other features of importance.

Hard to Please.

We used to know a woman who was always dissatisfied. An old-fashioned woman who knew her once said: "She wouldn't be satisfied in Heaven, with her apron full of red apples."—Atchison Globe.

How Nice of Him!

"Yes," said the fair young girl, "everybody says I'm just the picture of mamma."

"Well," replied the gallant youth, "you're certainly a flattering picture."—Catholic Standard and Times.

MARKET REPORT.

Cincinnati, July 22.

CATTLE—Common.	$3 00	@	4 00
Heavy steers	4 65	@	5 00
CALVES—Extra	6 25	@	6 50
HOGS—Ch. packers	5 95	@	6 05
Mixed packers	5 90	@	6 00
SHEEP—Extra	4 00	@	4 10
LAMBS—Spring		@	7 00
FLOUR—Spring pat.	6 00	@	6 35
WHEAT—No. 2 red		@	88
No. 3 red	80	@	84½
CORN—No. 2 mixed	59	@	59½
No. 2 white	60	@	60½
OATS—No. 2 mixed		@	33½
RYE—No. 2 new	65	@	70
HAY—Ch. timothy		@	12 50
PORK—Clear mess		@	14 35
LARD—Steam	7 12½	@	7 25
BUTTER—Ch. dairy		@	14
Choice creamery		@	22
APPLES—Choice	2 50	@	3 00
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 50	@	1 75
TOBACCO—New	5 00	@	13 00
Old	4 50	@	14 75

Chicago.

FLOUR—Winter pat.	5 10	@	5 20
WHEAT—No. 2 red	92½	@	93
No. 3 red	92	@	1 05
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	58½
OATS—No. 2 mixed		@	32½
RYE—No. 2		@	68
PORK—Mess	12 90	@	12 95
LARD—Steam	7 87½	@	8 00

New York.

FLOUR—Win. str'ts.	4 60	@	4 65
WHEAT—No. 2 red		@	99
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	63½
OATS—No. 2 mixed	37½	@	38½
RYE—Western		@	82½
PORK—Mess	13 50	@	14 25
LARD—Steam		@	7 35

Baltimore.

WHEAT—No. 2 red		@	87½
CORN—No. 2 mixed	61	@	61½
CATTLE—Steers	4 00	@	4 50
SHEEP—No. 1	3 00	@	3 50

Louisville.

WHEAT—No. 2 red		@	86
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	59½
OATS—No. 2 mixed		@	36
PORK—Mess		@	11 00
LARD—Steam		@	6 50

Indianapolis.

WHEAT—No. 2 red		@	87
CORN—No. 2 mixed		@	57
OATS—No. 2 mixed		@	35

ONCE THERE WAS A MAN

Who Had Something to Say About Politics and Who Learned Something.

Once there was a man who complained that unworthy men were too frequently elected to office, relates the Chicago Tribune.

"Do you attend the primaries?" asked his hearers.

"I do not," he said.

"Then you have no right to kick," they told him. "It's the duty of every good citizen to attend the primaries and see that the best men are chosen as candidates."

Whereupon he began attending the primaries.

He worked faithfully for the nomination of sober, honest and reputable candidates.

But it did no good.

The other fellows turned out in greater numbers and outvoted him, and bad men were nominated and elected to office, as before.

He felt that he had a right to kick this time, and he complained again.

"Do you attend the primaries?" his hearers asked him.

"I do."

"Then you ought to keep your mouth shut," they said. "You are a part of the crowd that nominates bad men, and you are responsible for them."

Moral: Do you get off here or wait till the car stops?

Getting His Mind Off Sugar.

"Why didn't you want your husband to go and play with the children in the sand?" asked one lady of another, at a Florida resort.

"Because he came here to get his mind off of business," was the reply.

"Oh, I didn't know your husband was in the retail grocery business!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Especially for Women.

Champion, Mich., July 24th.—(Special).—A case of especial interest to women is that of Mrs. A. Wellett, wife of well-known photographer here. It is best given in her own words.

"I could not sleep, my feet were cold and my limbs cramped," Mrs. Wellett states. "I had an awful hard pain across my kidneys. I had to get up three or four times in the night. I was very nervous and fearfully despondent.

"I had been troubled in this way for five years when I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and what they caused to come from my kidneys will hardly stand description.

"By the time I had finished one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills I was cured. Now I can sleep well, my limbs do not cramp, I do not get up in the night and I feel better than I have in years. I owe my health to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Women's ills are caused by Diseased Kidneys; that's why Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure them.

"A few men," said Uncle Eben, "will give you advice 'case dey honestly want to help. An 'a whole lot will do it foh de satisfaction of remindin' you of yoh hard luck an' puttin' on airs."—Washington Star.

Is Your Strength What It Should Be?

Can you work as energetically, or walk as far, climb the stairs as rapidly as you used to? Are your nerves as steady, and your memory as good as formerly? Pains, Weakness, Nervous Exhaustion, Weak Memory, Rheumatism, Indigestion, Catarrh, Misuse and the various Blood and Nervous troubles cause premature old age, shorten life and destroy happiness. Regain your strength, vigor and health by using Pusheck's-Kuro, $1.00 at most druggists, or sent by Dr. C. Pusheck, Chicago.

It is an odd fact that the most expert marksman cannot equal the unerring accuracy of the stray bullet in reaching the mark.—Baltimore American.

Shake Into Your Shoes

Allen's Foot-Ease. It cures painful, swollen, smarting, sweating feet. Makes new shoes easy. Sold by all Druggists and Shoe Stores. Don't accept any substitute. Sample FREE. Address A. S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

When it comes to a quick parting the fool and his money are a close second to a woman and her secret.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is an infallible medicine for coughs and colds.—N. W. Samuel, Ocean Grove, N. J., Feb. 17, 1900.

The best way to profit by your mistakes is to have them debited to some one else.—Puck.

THE IDEAL WIFE

Shapes the Destiny of Men—The Influence of a Healthy Woman Cannot Be Overestimated.

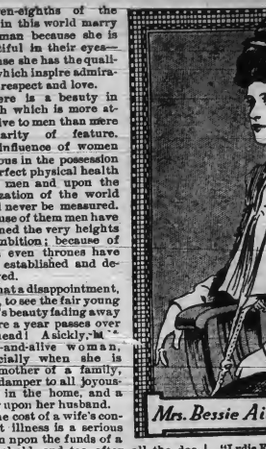
Seven-eighths of the men in this world marry a woman because she is beautiful in their eyes—because she has the qualities which inspire admiration, respect and love.

There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of features. The influence of women glorious in the possession of perfect physical health upon men and upon the civilization of the world could never be measured. Because of them men have attained the very heights of ambition; because of them even thrones have been established and destroyed.

What a disappointment, then, to see the fair young wife's beauty fading away before a year passes over her head! A sickly, half dead-and-all woman, especially when she is the mother of a family, is a damper to all joyousness in the home, and a drag upon her husband.

The cost of a wife's constant illness is a serious drain upon the funds of a household, and too often all the doctoring does no good.

If a woman finds her energies are flagging, and that everything tires her, dark shadows appear under her eyes, her sleep is disturbed by horrible dreams; if she has backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness, whites, irregularities, or despondency, she should take means to build her system up at once by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.



This great remedy for women has done more in the way of restoring health to the women of America than all other medicines put together. It is the safeguard of woman's health.

Following we publish, by request, a letter from a young wife.

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley of 611 Sonth 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I hope few women ever have, with inflammation, female weakness, bearing-down pains, backache and wretched headaches. It affected my stomach so that I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed.

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I feel so grateful that I am glad to write and tell you of my marvelous recovery. It brought me health, new life and vitality."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ainsley it will do for every woman who is in poor health and ailing.

Its benefits begin when its use begins. It gives strength and vigor from the start, and surely makes sick women well and robust.

Remember Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of woman's ills. This fact is attested to by the thousands of letters from grateful women which are on file in the Pinkham laboratory. Merit alone can produce such results.

Women should remember that a cure for all female diseases actually exists, and that cure is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Take no substitute.

If you have symptoms you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

The fellow who runs down other people generally manages to save a few words to sing his own praise.—N. Y. Times.

Many a moral squint comes from a money monocle.—Chicago Tribune.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Let Common Sense Decide

Do you honestly believe, that coffee sold loose (in bulk), exposed to dust, germs and insects, passing through many hands (some of them not over-clean), "blended," you don't know how or by whom, is fit for your use? Of course you don't. But is another story. The green berries, selected by keen judges at the plantation, are skillfully roasted at our factories, where precautions you would not dream of are taken to secure perfect cleanliness, flavor, strength and uniformity.

LION COFFEE

From the time the coffee leaves the factory no hand touches it till it is opened in your kitchen.

This has made LION COFFEE the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES.

Millions of American Homes welcome LION COFFEE daily. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity. "Quality survives all opposition."

(Sold only in 1 lb. packages. Lion-head on every package.)
(Save your Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

WINCHESTER

RIFLE AND PISTOL CARTRIDGES

Winchester Rifle and Pistol Cartridges of all calibers are loaded by machinery which sizes the shells, supplies the exact quantity of powder, and seats the bullets properly. By using first-class materials and this up-to-date system of loading, the reputation of Winchester Cartridges for accuracy, reliability and excellence is maintained. Ask for them.

THEY SHOOT WHERE YOU HOLD

PIMPLES BLACKHEADS

Cuticura SOAP

To treat Pimples and Blackheads, Red, Rough, Oily Complexions, gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment, the great Skin Cure, but do not rub. Wash off the Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water, and bathe freely for some minutes. Repeat morning and evening. At other times use Cuticura Soap for bathing the face as often as agreeable. No other Skin Soap so pure, so sweet, so speedily effective.

Cuticura Soap combines delicate emollient skin and scalp preserving qualities derived from Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. For those in need of a medicinal soap, a Medicinal and Toilet Soap for the Nursery, Bath and Toilet, Cuticura Soap is unrivaled. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

"All About the Skin, Hair and Hands," free.

DAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

Invigorates and Purifies the Vaginal Canal

Daxtine is a powder to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing and economical than liquid antiseptics.

TOILET AND WOMAN'S HEALTH

Daxtine is on sale at druggists, or sent postpaid on receipt of price.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

THE S. PAXTON COMPANY

LIVE STOCK AND REAL ESTATE MISCELLANEOUS

In great variety for sale or exchange at a reasonable cost. Read our classified advertising columns.

Forced To Starve.

C. F. Lewis, of Concord, Ky, says: "For 20 years I suffered agonies, with a sore on my upper lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying everything else, I cured it, with Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's great for burns, cuts and wounds. At all drug stores. Only 25c.

Blackbirds have been making life miserable for some of the citizens of Burlington, by roosting in the shade trees in front of their doors and along their pavements. Last week upon their return to roost for night they were welcomed by shot guns and large numbers were killed, but the survivors would persist in returning to the trees, apparently recovered from fright in a minute or two after the report of the gun had ceased.

It has been accepted as approved that the younger an animal the lower is the cost of putting on flesh and fat. Some experiments have been made to prove this, but the data are too meager to permit of the building of very strong arguments on them. Professor Mumford of the Illinois station has taken up the question and is making an experiment that will at least add to the volume of the data if it does not settle the question, which it probably will not. Herds of various ages are being fed at the station, and these will be marketed as fast as ready and careful reports compiled of the cost of gain made on each lot. There is a point beyond which it does not pay a farmer to keep an animal, even though that animal is all the time gaining in weight. The station is trying to find the point at which steer feeding must stop, if a profit is to be made. Every day after that point the farmer is losing money and losing the time he is putting on the care of the animal.

"Michigan sheep and lamb feeders find themselves up against a peculiar situation, and many of them are at a loss how to proceed," says a writer in the Detroit Tribune. "There are many feeders who were of opinion that receipts of Western sheep at Chicago would be larger late in the season and have waited in the belief that [illegible] able to get their orders filled at lower prices. Present indications look as if there would be few of the bargains that have been offered in other years.

"Never before in the history of the Chicago yards has there been such a pressing demand for feeding sheep and lambs. Every day now the sheep pens are full of strangers who are looking for bargains, and every desirable bunch is caught up at high prices compared with other years. The outlook for wool and mutton was never brighter than at present, and the general belief is that sheep and lamb feeders will make plenty of money this year, no matter what they pay for feeding stock.

How a man's life was saved by a common Seidlitz powder is described by a German physician, Dr. Franck, who was called to treat a man who had swallowed a large piece of tough meat, which stuck in his gullet. As it was impossible to dislodge the meat by natural means, and as the patient's condition was critical, the doctor tried the efficacy of the gas which is generated when the constituents of a Seidlitz powder are mixed. He directed the man to swallow the two halves of one of the powders separately, and the resulting pneumatic pressure, aided by the man, who shut his mouth and closed the nasal passages, was sufficient to drive the piece of meat out of the gullet into the stomach.—New York Press.

Following are the dates for holding Kentucky fairs this year:
Georgetown Elks' Fair, July 25, 4 days.
Madisonville—Aug. 1, 5 days.
Danville—Aug. 2, 3 days.
Harrodsburg—Aug. 8, 4 days.
Fern Creek—Aug. 15, 4 days.
Shepherdsville—Aug. 15, 4 days.
Lawrenceburg—Aug. 15, 4 days.
Guthrie—Aug. 17, 3 days.
Shelbyville—Aug. 22, 4 days.
Springfield—Aug. 28, 4 days.
Nicholasville—Aug. 29, 3 days.
Bardstown—Aug. 30, 4 days.
Florence—Aug. 30, 4 days.
Elizabethtown—Sep. 5, 3 days.
Monticello—Sep. 5, 4 days.
Glasgow—Sep. 13, 4 days.
The Kentucky State Fair, Lexington—September 18, six days.
Henderson—Sep. 26, 6 days.
Falmouth—Sep. 27, 4 days.
Owensboro—Oct. 19, 5 days.

A Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party may be given to your stomach and liver by taking a few pills which will remove their pain and discomfort, viz: Kidney New Life Pills. They [illegible] most wonderful remedy, absolutely sure [illegible] for constipation.

Some of the teachers pronounced the examination of last Friday and Saturday as very difficult.

The premium list of the next Boone county fair has attracted attention everywhere it has gone, because of the liberal prizes.

Fried chicken and blackberry cobblers make a combination which it is a great pleasure for anyone to go up against at high twelve.

Boone's allotted stock under the proposed new tobacco deal is $5,000 on which amount she will be required to pay ten per cent.

There has not been much comin' and goin' among the people for several weeks. This has been a very busy month with the farmers.

Several real estate deals in and about Burlington have been talked in the last few weeks, but they seem to have resulted in nothing but talk.

When blackberries can be gathered by the washingtubful, as has been done by some, the crop is evidently one of the greatest of the age.

Edgar Berkshire presented the RECORDER with a box of delicious plums, last Saturday. He is one of the most extensive fruit growers in this part of the county, having nothing but the most popular varieties in his orchards.

Quite a number of colored boys, ranging in ages from 7 to 15 years, are doing the loafing act very successfully on the streets in Burlington. Any one of them could do considerable work in a tobacco field, but their parents are disposed to allow them to contract the habit of idleness.

The bottom dropped out of the lamb market, last week, while several of the dealers were lying in the shade along the roads with large lots, waiting for the cool of the evening in which to move on to the city. A livestock trader is never certain of a profit until he gets it in his pocket.

Canned Snap Beans—String and snap your beans; put on to cook in enough cold water to well cover. Boil until they change color, then add enough vinegar to give an acid flavor; after boiling until just tender can as hot as possible, sealing air tight. When to be used, parboil before seasoning.

If the vagrant laws were rigidly enforced in every town in Kentucky it would do more to regulate the labor question than any other plan yet suggested. People who can't afford to be idle and won't work ought to be made to work. An able bodied pauper or "dead beat" in any community is an unpardonable nuisance.—Georgetown Times.

Representative Oberding, of Dearborn county, Indiana, has established a camp on the Kentucky side of the river opposite Lawrenceburg, where he is taking his seashore summer outing. He is sensible—it is nothing like so expensive as a sojourn at Atlantic City, nor is he so far away from his constituents and his business interests. Mr. Oberding has always been regarded as a man of excellent judgment.

Tobacco continues to roll into Falmouth, the Continental at the present time seeming to have a monopoly of the traffic. Mr. Moss, buyer for this firm, stated to the Pendletonian that he had received 170,000 pounds during the past week, and that only a small per cent. of it had been contracted for in advance, growers being satisfied to bring their tobacco to the warehouse, have it graded and the prices fixed at that time.—Pendletonian.

The grading on the Worthville & Carrollton Railroad is about completed and the timber has been gotten out at the Adkinson Mills for the trestle work. The company has purchased two large model engines, and in less than two weeks they will be laying the rails and construction trains will be running on the southern portion of the road, and as the putting down the ties is an easy matter the road will be in operation and the construction crew will do the rest.—Carrollton News.

The Cincinnati Bar Association has started a movement for a national fund to take care of the tomb of President William Henry Harrison. The tomb is located on a height above North Bend, commanding a beautiful view of the Ohio river, but its beauty is marred by the mass of weeds that block almost every avenue of approach, and grow rank within a few feet of the spot. The masonry is in bad shape, the cement top of the vault being cracked to bits. The association will urge the next congressmen from Cincinnati to introduce a bill in congress for an appropriation for the tomb.—Lawrenceburg Press.

TAXES IN KENTUCKY.

[Owenton News-Herald]

The most important business to come before the next Legislature is the new revenue bill which will be presented by the commission appointed by the last General Assembly to draft and report a measure of this kind. For years the whole State of Kentucky has been oppressed with an abominable system of assessments and tax collections. Why she has so long endured the present expensive and dangerous plan is a mystery. During the past few years appeals have been made to the people from high and trustworthy sources, but they have gone by unheeded. The people as a rule have taken little or no interest in the question, and as a consequence, Legislature after Legislature has allowed the matter to pass without even a consideration.

The last Senate of Kentucky was made up of brainy men. A few independent spirits among its membership got together and passed a resolution which resulted in the appointment of this committee, of which our own Senator, J. W. Cammack, is Chairman. They are holding sessions in the city of Louisville every few weeks, and by the first of January, 1896, they hope to have agreed upon the main features of the bill which will give to our State a revenue law of which every citizen may be proud. It can be said of the present system that it is expensive to the people, produces less revenue than it should, works a hardship upon real estate owners, is unequal in its burdens and altogether dangerous to the future growth and development of our State. Gov. Folk, of Missouri, has said that the "system is more or less responsible for dishonesty on the part of officials. This is true everywhere and it is true in Kentucky.

During the coming year the people of Kentucky will pay $3,222,445.45 taxes to the State. It is impossible just now to compute the amounts which will be paid to the counties, but in nearly every instance the county levy is greater than the State. If on an average it is just as much then the people will pay in all $6,444,890.90. The Sheriffs of the various counties get $329,194 for collecting, and if it costs on an average of $1,000 per county to have the assessments made, then you are to add $119,000 to this, making in all $448,194. This does not take into account the expense of County Boards of Equalization and the Boards in towns and cities. It is a fair estimate to say that it costs the people of Kentucky one half million dollars every year to assess property and collect taxes.

No man who collects a large amount of money should have his salary dependable on that amount. His salary should in no wise depend on the amount collected. Such a system opens up an avenue of temptation that may cause him to do violence to his own conscience and injustice to his fellowman. The tax collector's salary should be a sum certain.

Many remedies will no doubt be suggested. Space will not permit an elucidation of all we suggest, but in future issues we hope to expand them.

We suggest:

1. A tax collector at a salary, who shall keep his office at the county seat and where everybody shall come and pay their taxes.

2. A ten year assessment instead of a yearly one.

3. That the powers of assessor and collector be combined in the collector and that he assess each man's property for the coming year when the present year's taxes are paid. This to continue for ten years when a general assessment of all properties would be had.

4. The County Clerk to furnish the collector with a list of all real estate transfers.

5. The books of the collector to be kept open and subject to inspection at any and all times.

By paying an average salary of $2,500 to tax collectors, this plan would cost the State $297,500, a saving of nearly a quarter million dollars every year to the people.

Wanted—500 or 1000 bushels threshed oats—Carry Robinson, Constance.

For sale—Two Durham cows—both fresh with calves by their side. Jep Tanner, Burlington.

The richest part of manure is the part which rain will wash out.

"Always Reliable."

W. N. HIND & CO.

Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,

210-12 W. Fifth Street, Cincinnati, - Ohio.

SPECIALS!

As a further introduction of the quality, style and tailoring of Clothing we are offering, the . . . following prices will prevail . . .

$10.00 For a handsome, carefully finished and up-to-date patterns Men's Suits.

$15.00 For Ready-to-wear Tailor Made Suit, like custom work.

$7.50 Men's Coats and Trouser Suit.

Young Men's Suits..... $7.50
Boys' and Children's Suits..... $3.00
Men's Trousers..... $1.00
Children's Trousers..... 35c

Merchant Tailoring

Favorable prices to our customers, to introduce what can be made for the money.

Max Herbst & Co.

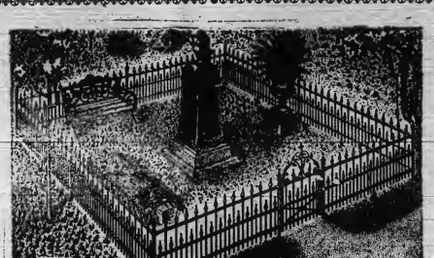
531 Madison Ave., COVINGTON, KY.

Lucian Rice, Mgr. Near Sixth Street.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,

Salvage AND Wrecking Contractors

All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.



BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,

BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.

Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.,

Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

For Best Prices Call or Write to

HENRY QUICK, Hebron, Ky.,

SPECIAL AGENT FOR

The Stewart Iron Works Company,

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

JOSEPH HERRMAN,

—DEALER IN—

FANCY GROCERIES,

SMOKED MEATS,

Fruits & Vegetables

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Opp. Erlanger Deposit Bank.

Eggs and Butter exchanged in trade or cash. Boone county trade solicited.

PLEASE CALL AND GET MY PRICES.

Phone—South 1054 Y—Call 3.

For McCormick or Deering

BINDERS,
MOWERS,
RAKES,
HAY TEDDERS,
SWEEP RAKES,
STACKERS,
CORN BINDERS,
CORN SHREDDERS,
GASOLINE ENGINES,
FARM WAGONS,
DISC HARROWS,
PEGTOOTH HARROWS,
5-tooth CULTIVATORS,
and GRINDERS,

Apply to

ELMO GAINES, Grant, Ky., or
W. D. CROPPER, Burlington, Ky.

PHONE 178, Boone Co. Line.

Orders earnestly solicited. Promptness and satisfaction guaranteed.

Subscribe for the Recorder

FARM FOR SALE.

A good farm of 227 acres, near Rabbitt Hash, Boone county, Ky. Capable of being divided.

THOS. N. STEPHENS,
Rabbit Hash, Ky.

J. P. HEMPHILL,

THE DRUGGIST

at Rising Sun, Ind.,

....Carries a full line of....

DRUGS,
PAINTS,
OILS AND
VARNISHES.

In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet his Kentucky friends.

—CALL AND SEE HIM.—

Yours Respectfully,

J. P. HEMPHILL,

Rising Sun, Indiana.

MY STOCK OF

—NICE, FRESH—

Groceries!

is renewed every week.

I don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find my prices right.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

W. C. WEAVER,

Burlington, Ky.

G. G. Hughes,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

BURLINGTON, KY.

Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Prompt Attention given to Collections. Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.

Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,

ATTORNEYS-at-LAW

Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

D. E. Castleman,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

W. E. VEST,

Real Estate Agent.

Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.

All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK

(Incorporated 1886.)

CAPITAL,..... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits 80,000

Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptremitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK

(INCORPORATED 1893.)

ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY

Capital Stock paid in..... $50,000
Surplus,..... $8,000

Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

INSURE AT HOME

The Farmers' Mutual Fire

INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF BOONE COUNTY,

Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.

Its RATES are LOWER

Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.

HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE

in keeping their property insured.

Every Farmer in the County

should take a policy at once.

Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy.,
R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, - Walton, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington,
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

C. L. GRIFFITH,

DEALER IN

REAL ESTATE

and Negotiable Notes,

WALTON, KY.

If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.

Dr. J. L. Adams,

DENTIST,

208 F. & T. Bank Building,

COVINGTON, - - KY.

—will be in office—

AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.
AT UNION 1st MONDAY in each month.

Dr. G. M. Terrill,

DENTIST,

Walnut Street,

LAWRENCEBURG, - INDIANA.

B. L. RICE. M. J. CROUCH.

RICE & CROUCH,

REAL ESTATE

And Note Brokers.

Farms Bought and Sold.
Notes Negotiated. Money to Loan.

Office—UNION, KY.

ANTHONY BENTLER,

AUCTIONEER,

19 Covington Avenue,

COVINGTON, - - KY.

Will cry sales anywhere in Boone or Kenton county. Prices reasonable.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1905. NO. 42

County Correspondence.

PT. PLEASANT.

Geo. Bradford and wife visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Bradford, of Big Bone, Saturday night and Sunday.

An ice cream festival will be given at Pt. Pleasant church Saturday night, August 5. Everybody is cordially invited. Admission 15 cents.

Louis Dolwick, wife and daughter, Evelyn, and Mrs. Dolwick's mother from Astabula, Ohio, are visiting his parents Adam Dolwick and wife.

o o o

PLEASANT VALLEY.

Prayer meeting at Gunpowder every Wednesday night.

Thurston Rice, of Bellevne, called on his best girl here Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Kittie Tanner entertained quite a number of young folks Sunday afternoon.

John Vaughn and son were guests of his father Sunday. Mrs. H. L. has been quite poorly for the past few days.

o o o

VERONA.

Bees have made very little honey this season.

J. M. Powers and wife visited in Walton, last Sunday.

G. B. Powers and family, of Walton, were guests of R. O. Powers, last Sunday.

Several applications for the public school have been received by the trustees.

Andy Wasson had the misfortune to get a badly mashed foot while working on the section.

Nick McCormac, jr., has the boss piece of tobacco in this neighborhood. It will do to cut soon.

Mrs. Joseph Florence has just returned from a pleasant visit to A. P. Myers, of Elwood, Indiana.

During the illness of J. E. Franks, cashier of the Verona bank, C. C. Medcalfe and Omer Powers have been attending to the business of the bank.

Rev. Morlin, of Wilmore, who held a good meeting here during the holidays, will begin a protracted meeting at the Walton Methodist church Aug. 6th.

Revs. J. E. Roberts and Watkins, two of Asberry College students, of Wilmore, who have been holding religious meetings in the mountains the past three weeks, returned home well pleased with their success.

o o o

HATHAWAY.

July 31.—Tobacco is growing nicely. The corn crop promises a good yield.

Born, on the 27th inst., to M. W. Ryle and wife a son.

Tom Setters and Miss Abdon were quietly married one day last week.

Joseph Miller, of Cincinnati, was in this neighborhood again a couple of days last week.

Rev. Layton Maddox is conducting a protracted meeting at East Bend this week, assisted by Rev. Rambo.

James White and wife, of Flickertown, and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. White spent Sunday with this pencil shover.

J. C. White and family and Mrs. Geo. Smith and Cynthia Mason spent quite a jovial day at C. B. Mason's, last Friday.

Chas. B. Mason shipped to the Cincinnati market a nice bunch of fat hogs, last week, for which he received satisfactory prices.

John H. Mason and wife and Mrs. Vina Smith, and Cynthia Mason spent last Tuesday very pleasantly at the home of your reporter.

John D. McNeely and wife and Mrs. Florence Smith and son and daughter, spent several days last week visiting relatives and friends in Gallatin county.

o o o

LIMABURG.

C. L. Aylor and wife were Sunday guests of T. B. Aylor.

Callie Boldon will thresh the grain around here this week.

Mrs. Geo. Baker has been on the sick list the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Quigley, of Hebron, visited J. W. Quigley and wife Sunday.

Mrs. M. E. Crigler is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Weaver, down on Gunpowder.

Misses Ada and Stella Popham entertained very delightfully a number of their young friends at dinner last Thursday.

Chas. Anderson and assistants, Messrs. W. E. and Clyde Anderson have begun work on W. T. Davis' cellar for his new house.

Miss Lyde Snyder, of Covington, was the guest of her cousins Mrs. C. E. Beemon and Misses Ada and Lula Aylor from Thursday until Saturday.

Saturday the annual reunion of the Helm and Clore families was held at the hospitable home of J. W. Rouse near here. All brought baskets and spent the day out of doors with music and social chat. Mr. Rouse killed the fatted calf and served the guests with a delicious vegetable soup. After dinner the Burlington band and a picked nine played base ball, resulting in a score of 9 to 5 in favor of Burlington.

o o o

SUICIDE PREVENTED.

The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide had been discovered will interest many. A rundown system or despondency invariably precede suicide and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At the first thought of selfdestruction take Electric Bitters. It being a great tonic and nervine will strengthen the nerves and build up the system. It is also a great Stomach, Liver and Kidney regulator. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by all Drug Stores.

Leave your timepieces at Clutterbuck Bros.' for repairs.

BULLITTSVILLE.

With the exception of a few stacks the hay in this neighborhood was put up in good condition.

Some wheat has been threshed in this neighborhood and the yield and quality have been quite satisfactory.

Mrs. Baker and daughter Nellie who has been visiting at Rev. Early's, left today for their home in Austin, Texas.

Thompson and Cox, of Petersburg, passed here last week with another lot of nice stock cattle that they bought on the Cincinnati market.

C. A. Gaines and Joe Williams took 426 lambs to the Cincinnati market in one drove last week, being the largest lot of lambs that have been driven from this neighborhood for many years.

Mr. McMurry, one of the oldest citizens of the county, died at 12:30 Sunday at his home at the mouth of Garrison creek. He was stricken with paralysis last Monday from which he never railied.

Henry Beall and Miss Minnie Day, of Francesville, were married Sunday by Rev. Edgar D. Jones at the residence of T. G. Willis. The writer joins their many friends in wishing them a long and happy life.

o o o

FLORENCE.

Charles Whitson and son, of Walton, spent Sunday here with his parents.

Miss Mary Tucker, of Walnut Hills, spent last week with the Misses Hoggins.

The Florence Catholic church will give a lawn fete at the home of Chas. Scott, August 6th.

Albert Conner and family, of Burlington, spent Saturday with Mrs. Mary Latham.

Little Katherine Cook, of Burgin, is the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. John Whitson.

Miss Ada Latham, of Joliet, Ill., is spending her vacation with her mother at this place.

Robt. Pearson and wife, of Cincinnati, spent last week with Mr. James Pearson and wife.

Mrs. Ida Yutte and daughter, of Lndlow, were guests of Miss Fannie Osborn, last Sunday.

Hal Snyder came out from Cincinnati to attend the funeral of his grandmother, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Junia Rice had as guests last week her mother, Mrs. John Crouch and John Powell Crouch, of Warsaw.

Mrs. Lucretia Kenyon has returned from Pt. Pleasant, where she spent nine weeks with her son, Will Kenyon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stephens and daughter, Miss Lizzie, of Bullittsville, were entertained by Mrs. Fred Utz, Thursday and Friday.

o o o

BUFFALO.

Mrs. E. E. Utz has for her guest her mother, Mrs. Castleman.

Mrs. Dora Bennister, of Union, attended church at Big Bone, Sunday.

Thomas Huey and wife are entertaining a little daughter at their home.

Lucien Love and wife spent Sunday evening with his sister, Mrs. Florence Bristow.

Jesse and Frank Quail, of Mt. Adams, are pleasant guests of friends at this place.

J. S. Mason has attached a blower to his threshing machine and is doing fine work.

Horner Clore and wife entertained quite a number of their friends at dinner, Friday.

Mrs. J. H. Aylor spent a couple of days last week with her daughter at Hamilton.

Miss Josie Riley and little daughter, Clara, are visiting Mrs. Riley's parents at Bellevue.

John Aylor spent last Sunday very pleasantly with Merril Allen down on Gunpowder.

Misses Jessie Utz and Nellie Rouse called on their old Buffalo friend, one evening not long since.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Love had for their guest several days last week, Mr. Love's sister from Minnesota.

Mrs. Joseph Huey and children spent Friday night and Saturday with her sister, Mrs. Cum Bristow.

Mrs. A. J. Utz entertained at dinner last Friday, Mrs. Ed Utz and mother and Mrs. N. H. Clements and children.

Julius Bristow and wife entertained quite a number of their relatives last Sunday in honor of their aunt from Minnesota.

Misses Cora and Jennie Aylor entertained quite a number of their friends in honor of several of their friends from Indiana, last Sunday.

Mrs. James Allen and little daughter, Marie left, last Wednesday, for Huntington, West Va., where they will spend a while visiting relatives and friends.

The entertainment that was given at the hall at Big Bone Springs a few nights since was a grand success, and everything went off nicely and everybody seemed to have a good time and get their money's worth in fun.

o o o

WALTON.

Miss Hallie Watson is visiting Mr. Wm. Vest and family, at Burlington.

Mrs. Grun and daughter, Louise, are spending a few weeks of the heated term in Walton.

Miss Luis Jones, of Covington, has returned home after a two weeks' visit to friends and relatives.

Protracted meeting at the Christian church, which commences August 22, will be carried on by Rev. Clark, of Owen county.

Mrs. B. K. Menefee and daughters, Cecil and Marie, and Gladys Wilson, joined a party of Crittenden excursionists at High Bridge, Saturday.

COMMISSARY.

July 26.—Men who know it all are seldom able to furnish proof.

John Walton has purchased a new bicycle.

T. J. Walton finished putting up his hay, Wednesday.

Miss Nannie Louden spent the week with her sister, Mrs. Lou Kelly.

Miss Artie and Stella Ryle attended the fish fry on the island, Wednesday.

Geo. D. Rance, of New Kentucky, was calling on friends in Scrapville, Wednesday.

The hum of the old Middle creek mill was heard again Tuesday and Wednesday.

Jesse and Leomer Louden and their wives spent Saturday night and Sunday with home folks.

The route inspector was around Tuesday and inspected the Commissary merry-go-round.

Road superisor B. C. Cason has worked the Rock branch road again and it is now passable.

Richie Marshall, of Middle Creek, spent last Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Sadie Kite, of Waterloo.

T. J. Walton made a business trip to Rising Sun, Wednesday, and to Aurora and Petersburg Friday.

Richard Louden, of Scrapville, spent last Sunday with his son-in-law, Elbert Kelly, of Lonesome Hollow.

Joe Johnson and sister, Mrs. Murray, and two children arrived here the day after the funeral of Mr. Lillard.

Miss Anna Cason, of Middle creek, spent from Sunday until Wednesday with her sister, Mrs. Orrin Phipps, of Burlington.

The Aurora ball team was too warm a rag for the Bellevue team in last Saturday's game at Bellevue. Score 9 to 4 in favor of Aurora.

Ladies, the time of our annual chicken soup draweth near—is ripe any old time. Please let me know two or three days in advance, so I can engage Mr. Parsons to run the chickens down.

o o o

GUNPOWDER.

July 31.—Mrs. E. O. Rouse has for his guest, her sister, Mrs. Charlotte Thompson, of Covington

Mrs. J. H. Tanner is still improving slowly.

William Smith, of Richwood, was in our burg last Saturday.

Walter and J. B. Crigler, of Hebron, attended church at Hopeful, last Sunday.

Wilson Quick, who has been in Ohio for several weeks, is at home for a short stay.

James Crisler is seriously sick, and his friends entertain some doubt as to his recovery.

There will be communion services at Hopeful on the second Sunday in August at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. Alice Daughters and son, Ward, of Cincinnati, are visiting their relatives in this neighborhood.

Uncle Albert Beemon has the largest crop of wheat in this neighborhood, 424 bushels off of about 20 acres.

Callie Baldon did considerable threshing here last week. He has a good machine and is doing very satisfactory work.

Henry Feimer, of Independence, pulled his thresher into this neighborhood last Saturday, and will finish up what Baldon has left.

Harvey Tanner and wife celebrated their wooden wedding on the 25 inst. Everybody was invited and the presents they received were numerous and valuable.

J. N. Crisler made the writer a brief call, last Sunday, and we are glad to report that after several months' illness he has recovered sufficiently to resume business.

o o o

EVERYWHERE.

Rev. Maddox, of Big Boue, is conducting a protracted meeting at East Bend Baptist church.

There is an epidemic of typhoid fever in Rabbit Hash neighborhood. A person can not be too particular about the water he drinks.

W. B. Kelly has shipped 400 barrels of Hageiow apples this season. His crop of all varieties will consist of about 2,500 barrels this year.

They do say that "Doll" Walton came out on top in his engagement with an angry bovine in the raging waters of Gunpowder creek, last week.

We have been informed that the Belleview people are more than mad at the way they were sold out, recently, by a fourth-class dramatic troupe. The only thing that was any account was the music.

While in Petersburg, last week, we were surprised at meeting so many Blackburn men. The only Paynter man we met was our old friend, J. B. Tolin, who took us into the back room at his saloon and whispered the information into our ear softly. It is a good bet that Blackburn will get the vote of this county unless there is some wire pulling.

Surely "Commissary" is hard to locate. A year or two ago when his son visited him we took him to be a married man, but when he wrote a note to a certain young lady, asking for her company to a dance in Burlington, we set him down as a widower; but he now claims to be an old bachelor. Surely the old man is entering his dotage, or is trying to fly under false colors.

END OF A BITTER FIGHT.

"Two physicians had a long and stubborn fight with an abscess on my right lung," writes J. F. Hughes of DuPont, Ga., "and gave me up. Everybody thought my time had come. As a last resort I tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. The benefit I received was striking and I was on my feet in a few days. Now, I've entirely regained my health." It conquers all Coughs, Colds and Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed by all Drug Stores. Price 50c, and $1. Trial bottles free.

Hear that R. B. Huey, of Walton, has purchased the A. P. Collins farm near Richwood.

BANK LICK.

The Bank Lick ball team played two games on its ground on July 30th, one with Walton and one with the first nine of Florence. The Walton team defeated the local team, but in the contest with Florence the score was 13 to 12 in favor of Bank Lick. The Florence team was greatly strengthened by two players from the Burlington nine, a Mr. Luck and one whose name we can not call.

o o o

CONSTANCE.

No vacant houses in Constance.

Wm. Tanner is building a stable.

Coroner Murat has been kept busy, lately, holding inquests.

Charles Anderson, of Norwood, visited his parents here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dressell are rejoicing over the arrival of a 12 pound boy.

John Wermtz and wife visited their son at Crescent Springs, the other day.

Dr. Furnish, of Covington, was here last Monday as consulting physician with Dr. Murat.

Misses Celia and Ida Anderson are running the Mission. Their Sunday school began with 32 pupils.

Albert Kotmeyer, who was operated on for appendicitis at a Cincinnati hospital a few days ago, is improving.

George Parsons, who works for a reduction company across the river got two of his fingers mashed nearly off.

Rev. Sam Bettis, of Charlestown, West Va., the Cow Boy preacher, has been holding meeting at the Christian church and the Mission alternately.

o o o

RICHWOOD.

Harvest is nearly over.

Will Clark is working in Cincinnati.

Banklick can have a game August 6, if desired.

Walter Grubbs has a coming three year old bull for sale.

Chas. Finnell's baby that has been quite sick is some better.

There was a seining and a fish-fry at Mrs. Lucy Carpenter's pond, last Saturday.

Boone County Pomona Grange was entertained by Excelsior Grange, last Saturday.

Some fellow smashed into Earl Clements,one night last week and demolished his buggy shafts.

Mrs. Haley and daughter, of Covington, were guests of Mrs. Gaines Robinson, last week.

Our genial telegrapher, Dickerson, laid off a few days last week, and a Mr. Wilson took his place.

Woodford Carpenter is in St. Louis looking for a position, and Ray Byland is at the bank in his place.

Walton team No. 1 will not forget that it promised us a date, and we are ready to respond at their pleasure.

Richwood will play Walton team No. 2 on the former's ground next Saturday. Members of Richwood team will please report at 1:30 p. m.

We have been sojourning at the ocean beach, hence our nonappearance in these columns the past few weeks. Two weeks ago our items were mailed at Richwood Sunday afternoon, but they got lost.

A culvert on the Mt. Zion and Visalia road, near the Boone and Kenton county line, is in a dangerous condition. Several horses have gone through it but escaped serious injury. The overseer should give this his attention as it can no longer be patched.

o o o

BELLEVIEW.

July 31.—Crops look fine.

Wheat, oats and meadows put up in good condition.

Willie Huey's little girl that has been quite sick, is better.

Little Sophia Weisickle has gone home, much improved.

J. J. Walton shipped a bunch of nice hogs, last Sunday night.

Sebern Scott and family were guests at J. E. Botts', Sunday.

Glad to report Mrs. Robert Green in better health than for years.

Mrs. Josie Riley and daughter, are guests of her father and mother.

James Rogers and sons put up about 100 tons of clover and timothy hay.

Bud Nixon and wife, of Woolper, were guests at Jake Cook's, Sunday.

Carl Rouse and wife passed here last Sunday enroute to East Bend to visit Mrs. Rouse's father.

Bro. Maddox is a very entertaining gentleman. A person can not help enjoying his company.

Elder E. C. Riley will preach for the Christian church here next Sunday morning and evening.

E. M. Wilson and Richard Stephens, of Rabbit Hash, passed here Saturday. They are fading rapidly.

Arch Acra, of Rising Sun, was over several days last week purchasing timber for a saw mill at Vevay.

Mrs. Mary Klopp, of Woolper, came down Sunday for her mother, who had been visiting her children here.

Garnett Huey, who helped his uncle Willie in his crop, has returned to his home in Walton. Garnett is a boy that is always in the right place.

Your reporter spent Sunday with his aged father, Renben Acra, on Middle creek. He is enjoying good health, sight and hearing for a man of 80 years.

Elder John Smith, of Ohio, and old schoolmate of J. W. Kite's, preached at the Christian church on the third Sunday in July. It was a splendid sermon.

Protracted meeting will begin at the Baptist church here next Sunday night. Rev. Maddox, of Big Bone, will conduct the services. The meeting will continue indefinitely.

The directors of the Burlington and Belleview pike will shortly fill the vacancy in the office of president, caused by the death of J. J. Lillard, and then they will begin making necessary repairs on the road bed and bridges.

For Sale.—36 stock sheep. Apply to Thomas Garrison, near Grange Hall, Union prcinct.

When in Lawrenceburg go to R. W. Clark for a good shave or a hair-cut.

PETERSBURG.

July 31—Chas. Davis has ripe water melons.

Joe Allen is on the Str. Cincinnati learning to be a pilot.

Joe Morrison, of Cleves, Ohio, has Capt. Alden's new boat under way.

Miss Myrtle Hammon, of Newport, visited her parents here, the past week.

Wm. O. Alden has returned from a visit to his cousin, Ernest King, at Columbus, Ind.

H. S. Newman, of Carbondale, Ill. was visiting his uncle, S. C. Buchanan and family, last week.

John C. Sebree has the finest crop of tobacco in the vicinity. John knows how to handle the weed.

Mrs. James E. Hensley will start for Dallas, Texas, in a few days to visit her brothers, who reside there.

Charles Ruth and Warren Tolin play ball with the Atlas team of Cincinnati, composed of boys under 20.

Miss Lou W. Allen has been confined to her home for nearly two weeks with a severe attack of neuralgia.

The many friends of Col. George R. Berkshire are glad to see him out in town again. He is gaining strength.

Chas. Wilson, of Everywhere, was in town Saturday. Charley is posted on the current events of the day.

Drs. Horace Grant and wife and W. Ed Grant and wife, of Lonisville, were visiting E. L. Grant and family, last week.

The appearance of an automobile on our streets is a common occurrence. They will be as plentiful as wheel barrows in a few years.

Misses Florence and Hazel Minor, two pretty young ladies, of Newport, are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Adams.

Dr. E. P. Berkshire, an old Petersburg boy had the misfortune to lose his drug store in Nashville, Tenn., by fire, one day last week.

Col. Max Nowlin and the pretty Hensley sisters, Ines and Ethleen, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., were calling on relatives and friends here, Sunday.

Goldie Romines was so badly stung by bumble bees, one day last week, that her life was despaired of for awhile. She was stung in 50 different places.

Rev. Turner and Dr. Elfers, in company with a number of pretty young ladies of Rising Sun, Ind., witnessed Dr. Fanst at Gordon's Hall, Friday night.

Tommy Collier fell off of the roof of a house where he was playing, last Thursday, and broke his arm. Dr. Grant fixed him up allright and he is able to go about.

Chas. Hoffman, Henry Smith and one or two other Petersburg boys, who reside in New Orleans, started for their old Kentucky home, but failed to get through on account of strict quarantine against yellow fever.

Misses Florence and Anna Buchanan, Florence Kenney, Catharine Elfers and Messrs. Percy Tuney, Cland Merrill, Rolf. Espey and Will Gregory, of Rising Sun, came up in a gasoline launch Saturday night and viewed our handsome park and other noted places.

In the passing away of J. J. Lillard, a man whom the writer has known all his life, has gone to his reward, and we look now on the long years that we knew him and realizing how short seems the flight of time, our pilgrimage on earth at the longest will only be as a winter's day.

Capt. Harve Smith, of the Belleview Juniors, came to town Saturday for a match game with our Junior nine. The Captain's team was crippled at a great many points, and played under difficulties. Notwithstanding their crippled condition they put up a good game—score 9 to 6 in favor of Pete Juniors.

Joe Papet was taken suddenly and deathly sick at a picnic given by the employes of Anna Wheel Works at White Water Park, near Harrison, O., last Saturday. He was brought to his home here that night and a physician worked all night with him before consciousness was restored. He is now able to go about.

The friends of Rudolph Gaissinger, jr., of this place were shocked last Tuesday morning to hear of his untimely death at his home in Lebanon, Ohio. For some cause not known to his friends here, the popular young man killed himself by firing a bullet into his brain. Rudy, as he was called among his companions here was 21 years of age and a favorite with all.

Noah Delph, while gathering ginseng one day last week in a dense woods ont on Woolper, heard a crushing noise in the bushes nearby, and looking around, saw, he thought, was a monster black dog approaching him. A second look soon convinced him that it was no dog, but a monster black bear, which evidently got loose from some gypsies that were seen passing through that neighborhood a few days before leading a bear. When Bruin came at Noah, standing almost erect, the only reason Noah did not fly was because he did not have wings. He got into his home almost dead from fright and fatigue, and related his adventures to his family, who soon had out a posse of well armed men determined to capture the monster, which had evidently become scared and made its way to the cliffs at the mouth of Woolper, where it is said to have been seen by a number of persons. An effort will be made to capture it at an early date as farmers are afraid to go to their work, and women and children are afraid to visit their neighbors, and it is almost impossible to get a message over the telephone lines in that vicinity for the eagerness of all parties along the line to keep in touch with the whereabouts of the bear.

J. T. Dempsey, of Mudlick neighborhood, was in town yesterday, and reported crops looking exceedingly fine in his part of the county.

The meat for the Clore rennion, last Saturday, was barbecued in a most excellent manner. A liberal sample prompts this testimonial.

Next Monday is County Court and the following Monday Circuit Court.

UNION.

Miss Lizzie Stephenson is visiting her aunt in Erlanger.

Mrs. S. L. Jackson, of Richwood, spent Sunday with friends here.

The Baptist Ladies Society will meet with Mrs. J. A. Huey, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Wilson were the guests of Mrs. Rachal Rice, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Riley and Lucien Stephens spent Sunday with Mrs. Dora Bannister.

Miss Rachal Wilson spent Saturday and Sunday with her cousin, Miss N. D. Bristow.

Mrs. Wallace Garrison, of Walton, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. J. Garrison, Sunday.

Miss Bernice Johnson, of Verona, spent several days with Mrs. J. W. Conner last week.

Mrs. J. H. Corbin and Miss Anna Riley entertained a number of friends at dinner Monday.

Mrs. J. A. Rogers has returned to Mrs. L. H. Yoshall's after spending several weeks with her sons.

Mr. J. S. Asbury joined Mrs. Asbury here, Saturday, to be present at the Jones-Hudson wedding in Walton.

Mrs. B. F. Houston, of Carthage, O., spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Norman, last week.

Any one having a Shetland pony 4 ft. tall to sell can find a purchaser by addressing Henry Smith, Gunpowder.

Misses Nina, Ruth and Lucy Stephenson have returned home after a pleasant visit with relatives in Covington.

Mrs. Nannie Crouch has returned home after several months visit with her daughter, Mrs. Quisenberry in Indianapolis.

Jas. A. Huey has a horse that performs a wonderful feat—that of jumping through a lawn swing with a buggy without breaking either. It's a fact.

The elders of the Presbyterian church in Union have called a congregational meeting for next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. It is hoped that every member of the church will be present.

T. J. Burkett has, perhaps, as good taste for flowers as any man in Union, but, at the same time he refuses to see much beauty, or fragrance either, for that matter, in dog fennel and canada thistles.

The Ladies' Society of the Presbyterian church will meet at the church next Saturday at 2:30 p. m. The Ladys' Society of the Baptist church will meet with Mrs. J. A. Huey, Thursday afternoon.

Miss Bessie Talbott entertained the following at dinner, Friday: Mrs. P. T. Fall and daughter, Mrs. S. S. Smith and son, Mrs. C. W. Williams and daughters, Alva and Elizabeth, and Mrs. Charles Bradford.

Miss Nannie Bristow entetained at dinner, last Thursday, in honor of Mrs. J. S. Asbury, of Mason county. The guests were Mrs. Asbury, Mrs. Lida Conner, Mrs. W. M. Rachal, Mrs. B. S. Houston, Mrs. J. J. Garrison, Miss Alma Baker, of Covington, Miss May Norman, Miss Norma Rachal and Messrs. W. M. Rachal, J. L. Frazier and J. T. Bristow.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Tanner presented a most beautiful and attractive appearance Tuesday evening, July 25. The occasion was the fifth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Tanner, who welcomed about seventy-five guests, and extended to them every courtesy possible. About 7:30 the guests began to arrive, bringing valuable and handsome presents as well as hearts filled with good wishes for their health and happiness for many years to come. For several hours following congratulations and presentations of presents, refreshments were served consisting of ice cream, cake and lemonade. A general good time was enjoyed by all. The presents were endless in variety and showed the taste and good judgment of the donors as to usefulness and beauty.

o o o

RABBIT HASH.

Lolla Ward will teach at Maple Hill this winter.

Mrs. Alice Aylor and children are visiting her mother here.

Miss Fannie Clore, hello girl at Belleview, visited relatives here last week.

Rising Sun sports an automobile. Wonder when Rabbit Hash will have one?

Mrs. Harriet Walton spent several days visiting relatives in Rising Sun, last week.

Jas. Hodges sold his little farm near the Baptist church, to Miss Myra McConnell for $500.

Frank Craig has typhoid fever. Several of his neighbors worked his crop one day last week.

Henry Drinkenberg fell from a hay wagon and sprained his ankle so badly he could not walk the next day.

Benj. McConnell purchased Oscar Hodges' farm for $540. Mr. Hodges contemplates moving to the Buckeye State.

Elbert C. Ryle, of Petersburg, made his farewell visit here last week, as he will begin school at Hebron the week after the Institute.

Miss. Myra McConnell, of Louisville, is visiting her father, Ben McConnell, and will keep house while her mother visits in Louisville.

Sam Osgood, wife and children, of Arkansas, and Ben Harris, wife and mother, of Rising Sun, were visiting at E. R. Scott's, Sunday.

Rev. J. I. Rambo, lost his pocket book somewhere between Walton and Normanville and J. H. Walton's. Finder will please return same to J. H. Walton and receive reward.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Kelly went to Covington to attend the funeral of Ralph Dorman, their nephew, who was killed in Cincinnati by being thrown from a bicycle and the wheel of a wagon passing over his head.

The Boone County Teachers' Institute will convene in the court-house in Burlington, next Monday morning. Supt. Snyder will do all in his power to make it a profitable session.

STATE ITEMS OF INTEREST

THE STATE GUARDS.

All Arrangements For Their Encampment Completed.

Frankfort, Ky., July 27.—All arrangements have been completed in the department of the adjutant general for the annual camp of instruction of the state guard, to be held at Paducah, beginning on August 7. The Second regiment will go into camp first; it will be followed by the First or Louisville regiment, and then by the Third regiment. The camp will close on September 2. The troops will be reviewed by Gov. Beckham, on which review days he will be accompanied by the members of his official staff. The review day of the Second regiment has been fixed for August 11. The governor will visit the camp again on August 24 to review the First regiment troops, and will remain in the camp until the 28th to review the Third regiment.

WOLFE COUNTY'S RECORD.

Seven Murders Were Committed in Six Weeks.

Lee City, Ky., July 28.—Geo. Banks shot and instantly killed Newton Taulbee, his half brother, on Lacy creek. Some months ago Taulbee was held up on the county road in daylight and robbed of over $100 by George Banks and his sister, Queen Banks. Taulbee at the last May term of the Wolfe circuit court obtained an indictment against Banks and since that time the latter had been in seclusion for fear of arrest.

Taulbee was 36 years old and married and leaves a wife and several children. Banks is 27 years of age, unmarried. This makes the seventh man killed in Wolfe county in the past six weeks.

ARRESTED AND FINED.

He Kissed His Girl Too Much To Suit the Neighbors.

Louisville, Ky., July 29.—Michael Callahan, who lives at 625 Seventh street, has a sweetheart, and he loves her dearly. He was congratulated by the neighbors, but when he showed them how affectionate he could be by kissing and embracing the girl in the back yard in the sight of all they caused his arrest on the charge of disorderly conduct. In the police court a number of the neighbors testified against Callahan. They said that his public exhibition of kissing and hugging the girl was shocking to their finer senses. Some one said that all the world loves a lover, but a lover of Callahan's caliber did not appeal to Judge McCann and he assessed a fine of $10.

TO PREVENT YELLOW FEVER.

The Kentucky State Board of Health Decides Not To Quarantine.

Louisville, Ky., July 29.—The Kentucky state board of health has decided not to establish a quarantine against southern cities in the yellow fever zone until the situation becomes more serious. The board communicated with the officials of the Illinois Central, Louisville & Nashville and Queen & Crescent railways, and it was decided that the state regulations regarding the cleansing of passenger cars with formaldehyde is a sufficient precaution.

FATHER-IN-LAW'S DISCIPLINE.

Filled His Son-in-Law's Head and Back With Shot.

Vanceburg, Ky., July 29.—June Hunter, a young man, was shot in the back by his father-in-law, John Gattis, here. Hunter's back and head were filled with shot. About 100 have been taken out. His condition is not critical, however. Gattis escaped. The trouble grew out of Hunter's wife attending a hop against his wishes.

The McElroy Farm Sold.

Springfield, Ky., July 28.—Robert McElroy has sold his fine farm to his brother, Yarrett McElroy, for $25,000. The farm consists of between four and five hundred acres, and is one of the finest farms in the county.

Peter Browning in the Hospital.

Louisville, July 28.—It is feared Pete Browning's days are numbered. The famous ballplayer has gone to the city hospital to be treated for an abscess of the ear, which drove him insane for a time.

Kentucky Woman Injured.

Cincinnati, July 29.—Mrs. Minnie Briar, colored, Lexington, Ky., who has been visiting near Lockland, was probably fatally injured when the floor of an outhouse caved in. She was unconscious when taken out.

A Free Site Tendered.

Owensboro, Ky., July 29. — The Homestead Land Co. has formally tendered to the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church as a site for the proposed college a tract of land west of this city containing something over 50 acres.

Bought His Interest.

Lexington, Ky., July 29.—Thomas D. Jones, Caveland stud, Beckhenville, Ky., bought of J. S. Barbee the latter's half interest in the ten-year-old stallion Handsel for $5,000, and he is now the sole property of Jones.

BRAIN EXPOSED.

One of the Most Sensational Surgical Operations on Record.

Louisville, Ky., July 27.—Peter Zanolari, the Italian whose skull was crushed in an elevator accident at the new Seelbach hotel July 20, has furnished the medical world with one of the most sensational surgical cases on record. Parts of the temporal, parietal and sphenoid bones were so fractured that the removal of the broken pieces left an opening six inches in diameter, through which his brain was exposed. He was taken to the University hospital, where he was on the operating table two hours. He refused to take an anaesthetic and retained consciousness during the whole period. One of the most extraordinary features of the case, from a medical standpoint, is that his temperature has never risen above 100, and he has suffered no pain. While the operation was in progress he said he was not suffering, but asked for a drink of water. The broken portions of the bones have been stitched together, and replaced beneath the scalp under the skillful direction of Dr. Simrall Anderson. Zanolari continues to improve and his recovery is now assured.

RELIGIOUS FAITH.

It Did Not Prevent a Minister and a Jewess From Marrying.

Louisville, Ky., July 28.—The marriage of Rev. John E. Ali, a Baptist minister, and Miss May Lilienthal, a member of a prominent Jewish family of Louisville, has just come to light, although it was solemnized more than a week ago. The couple were married on the evening of July 19 by Rev. Arch C. Cree at the latter's residence, at 23d and Jefferson streets. They remained in Louisville for a week visiting relatives, and left for Asheville, N. C., where they will spend their honeymoon.

Later they will visit Mr. Ali's parents at Allensville, S. C. Mr. Ali, who is a native of South Carolina, has been attending the Baptist seminary here for two years, and met his bride while he was a student. They became fast friends and soon became sweethearts. At first the families of both Mr. Ali and Miss Lilienthal demurred because of the difference in religion, but this obstacle was overcome.

REVENUE AGENT'S SUITS.

Inspector Hines Appointed To Look After Them.

Frankfort, Ky., July 28.—State Auditor Hager designated Inspector Hines to look after, for the commonwealth, all suits in county courts, which were instituted by A. M. Harrison, of Lexington, the deposed revenue agent, seeking to recover taxes on omitted property assessments. Such suits are pending in a dozen counties of the state, and Hines, through local counsel in each instance, will prosecute them to judgment.

Uncle of Curtis Jett Dead.

Bristol, Tenn., July 29.—Stephenson Jett, proprietor of the Hotel Kentucky at Elizabethtown, Tenn., after having left an early call in order to go on a picnic excursion, was found dead in bed. Heart failure is supposed to have been the cause of his death. Mr. Jett came to Tennessee from Breathitt county, Ky. He was an uncle of Curtis Jett, who received a life sentence in connection with the Breathitt county feuds.

Col. Hindman's Narrow Escape.

Louisville, Ky., July 27.—Col. Biscoe Hindman, of the First Kentucky regiment, narrowly escaped death in a collision between his automobile and a street car. By miscalculating his speed he crossed in front of a Broadway car and his machine was struck just as the front wheels cleared the track and was completely wrecked.

Will Bore For Oil.

Bowling Green, Ky., July 28.—Representatives of the Greensburg Oil Co., of Greensburg, Pa., are here leasing land near the city. They expect to begin boring for oil at once, and have selected a region in which natural gas was struck some years ago.

A New Coal Company.

Middleburg, Ky., July 28.—The Mahoning Coal Co. has just been incorporated at Parker's Lake, Pulaski county, with a capital stock of $50,000. Lorvina Davidson, M. A. Erskine and M. A. Erskine, all of Lowellsville, O., are the incorporators.

Union Depot For Winchester.

Paris, Ky., July 27.—According to information received by the Winchester Commercial club, the L. & N. and C. & O. roads will erect a $16,000 union passenger station in Winchester early this fall.

Kentucky Refining Co.

Louisville, Ky., July 29.—The Kentucky Refining Co., of Louisville, of which E. H. Ferguson is president, has secured control of practically the entire oil refining business of the south by absorbing the Southern Oil Co. and the American Oil Co.

Will Visit Cincinnati.

Frankfort, Ky., July 29.—The Frankfort Business Men's club has decided to visit Cincinnati on Wednesday, September 6, to repay the visit made by the Cincinnati Business Men's club to Frankfort some weeks ago.

NOTHING TO BE PROUD OF

Chapter in Republican History Which Cannot Please Honest Members.

The discovery by the dominating faction of the republican party constitutional objections to reciprocity treaties did not occur until after the Dingley tariff bill, with schedules intentionally and properly placed high enough to leave a safe margin for reduction by such treaties, had become a law. This discovery, says the Washington Post, and the accordant defeat of the reductions intended by and carefully provided for in the text of the Dingley act, constitute a chapter in Republican history which no honest member of that party can contemplate with pride, for it is inconceivable that an honest man can be proud of trickery, even though it be practiced on a gigantic scale. From 1890 to 1898 the republican party, including all those who are now stand-patters, was for reciprocity. Blaine pushed it into the McKinley bill, and it went into the Dingley bill by general consent, for it was the policy and pledge of the party. It had been indorsed quite as strongly and as generally as the policy of protection—this in spite of the fact that long before 1890 Senator Morrill, of Vermont, in one of the strongest speeches ever delivered in the senate, had demonstrated the utter incompatibility of treaties affecting the tariff with the constitutional provision relating to the origination of bills for raising revenues. For about eight years republican devotion to reciprocity—to the reciprocity of Blaine, McKinley and Dingley—went on without a minute's interruption. Republican leaders scarified the democrats for their abrogation of the treaties consummated under the McKinley act, and, as we have said, the same policy went, at full length into the Dingley act. Then President McKinley performed the part allotted to him by that act. He negotiated treaties and sent them to the senate. Thus far all had been serene, and the policy of the party had been adhered to. But then came the sharp practice by which the republican party reversed itself, repudiated its policy and pledges, repudiated its most revered leaders, and went over, horse, foot and dragoons, to the interests that were unwilling to surrender the advantages they possessed under those abnormal schedules that had been made and marked for reduction.

That is the story of the republican doctrine of reciprocity from the time when Blaine contended for it in the room of the senate finance committee to this date. Is there any republican who is proud of it?

MORE FRAUD AND SCANDAL

Only Remedy for Republican Rottenness Is to Turn the Rascals Out.

The cotton scandal in the agricultural department has been settled for the present by the dismissal of Holmes, the assistant statistician.

The secretary of agriculture in his breezy style, declares: "This is a quarrel among gamblers," but if that is true it can in no way exonerate the department or Secretary Wilson from complicity in the scandal. Three years or more ago evidence of the existence of frauds was published in the New York Bulletin and Commercial Advertiser, but the steps taken to cleanse the department of the guilty officials were non-effective. Mr. Hyde, the chief statistician, has been continued in office, although the scandal was constantly apparent to those interested in the cotton market. There is not much doubt that the statistics on wheat and corn have been manipulated in like manner, to the great loss of the producers. Instead of the agricultural department protecting the interest of the planters and farmers, it has been playing into the hands of the gamblers.

These frauds and scandals will never cease until a thorough reorganization of all the departments is undertaken and the heads of bureaus made strictly accountable not only for the management of their office, but for the efficiency and honestly of the subordinate clerks. If the civil service is to be cleansed of scandals and graft the bureaus must be run on a business basis. No manager of a business house would have allowed such scandals as those exposed in the agriculaural and other departments to have continued when he had the slightest evidence that something was wrong.

The republican party has had such a long lease of power that it seems impossible to stop scandals and grafting among its officials. Turn the rascals out!

——The national banking laws are supposed to protect depositors, but the way the law is being administered there is no protection if the bank officials are lax or rascals. A Topeka bank, just failed, loaned two and a half times its capital stock to one man, but the republican bank examiners did not discover it until the bank doors were closed. The law declares that ten per cent. of the capital stock shall be the maximum loan to one person, but there are but few banks observing it.

——The mud spattered around in the Equitable case has besmirched Senator Chauncey Depew, but then grafting seems to be the prevalent idea of many of the republican leaders. As Senator Mitchell said when he was caught grafting—they all do it.

——Just as was expected, the railroads are declaring that government supervision would be disastrous to the railroad employes. The conductors seem to be so far the only employes that have discovered this, but no doubt the engineers and brakemen will soon be signing similar communications prepared by the railroad press bureau.

THE DEFICIT INCREASING.

Treasury Situation Is Becoming Embarrassing to Republican Leaders.

The treasury deficit for the year ending last Friday was $24,000,000, or $6,000,000 in excess of Secretary Shaw's estimate. It is wholly due to increasing expenditures, for the revenue was about $2,000,000 in excess of that for last year, when, excluding the Panama canal payment, receipts and disbursements practically balanced. Army, navy and civil and miscellaneous expenditures all show marked increases. For June, the last month of the year, there was a surplus of $12,681,929, which, of course, had the effect of materially reducing the year's deficit. It is said that this favorable result was not at all the product of manipulation, but that, on the contrary, claims were audited and paid with quite the usual promptness. There was a slight increase in receipts, they exceeding those of any month of the year except October last. There was a marked falling off in expenditures, which seems to be the rule in the month of June—which would suggest that there is a practice of holding up bills to some extent. The June expenditures were only $25,288,845, which is by far the smallest of the year. In no other month did they fall below $40,000,000.

July is always a heavy month, and that might be partly accounted for by the holding up of June bills. There are, too, heavy interest payments in that month, though this would hardly seem to account for the increased expenditure. The July disbursements, for instance, were $57,000,000 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, about the same in 1904, and $64,000,000 for July last year, being in all cases far above the average. The great increases were in civil and miscellaneous, and in army and navy. It will be so this year. Turning to July of the present year, we find the same jump in expenditures. June showed a surplus for almost every day. But yesterday the treasury had a deficit of $2,488,033, the receipts being $2,571,966, and the expenditures $5,060,000. It is admitted that the deficit for the current year will go beyond the $24,000,000 of this year, says the Indianapolis News (Ind.).

Clearly, something will have to be done. We cannot allow things to go on as they have been going. The government is taking vast sums of money from the people, and yet it will have to take more. For we see no intimation that there is any possibility of economizing. On the contrary, republican statesmen are talking of new taxes, such as stamp taxes and a coffee tax. The situation is embarrassing to the republican leaders, for they will not relish imposing additional burdens on the people in time of peace. It does not occur to anyone that we could add greatly to our revenue by cutting many of our tariff taxes in two. The idea is that it is better to raise revenue by putting on rather than by remitting taxes. Thus more revenue will involve added burdens. But more revenue there must be if we are to continue to live on the present extravagant scale. If low taxes are a good thing for a city, as they are admitted to be, they are also a good thing for a nation. But this will not, of course, be admitted by those who believe that national taxes are good things in themselves and sources of national prosperity. The deficit is most annoying to republican leaders—and we do not wonder that it should be so—and it must be somewhat puzzling to the humble republican voter, who has been taught to believe that deficits were impossible under a republican administration. But we are in for another one this year which will be bigge than that for the year which has just closed.

PARAGRAPHIC POINTERS.

——If this conviction of republican United States senators for grafting continues, it will be difficult for that party to obtain a quorum when the senate meets.

——With a deficit of $495,000 for the year the Russian officials are disheartened. They should take courage and insist on Secretary Shaw's argument that a deficit is a sign of prosperity.

——The elevator trust in the western states has been caught skinning the farmers and the railroad trust is under indictment for plundering everyone except the favored few and the republican politicians.

——Secretary Shaw says the deficit does not disturb him, but what may stir Mr. Shaw's successor considerably is the question of how new taxes can be imposed to make the receipts equal the expenditures.

——The republican graft weevil can double discount the boll weevil on decreasing the crop of cotton, and can come mighty near bankrupting the United States treasury if the republican politicians who are infested with it are not fumigated now and then.

——Why is the administration anxious to protect the Asphalt trust so much so that a special commissioner is being sent to Venezuela by President Roosevelt to coerce that republic into restoring the asphalt deposit to the trust which the courts of that country have declared it did not lawfully possess.

——We take it for granted that if Attorney Purdy succeeds in proving the Santa Fe railroad guilty of violating the anti-rebate law, the railroad will be placed in jail, as the president says the corporation and not the individual shall be punished.—Washington Post.

——With Root in the cabinet and a candidate for the republican nomination, and with Secretary Shaw and perhaps other cabinet officials after the same plum, it will require all of the strenuousness that the president can muster to keep the peace when it comes to bidding for those southern delegates to the republican national convention.

ULCERS FOR THIRTY YEARS.

Painful Eruptions from Knees to Feet Seemed Incurable Until He Used Cuticura.

Another of those remarkable cures by Cuticura, after doctors and all else had failed, is testified to by Mr. M. C. Moss, of Gainesville, Texas, in the following letter: "For over thirty years I suffered from painful ulcers and an eruption from my knees to feet, and could find neither doctors nor medicine to help me, until I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, which cured me in six months. They helped me the very first time I used them, and I am glad to write this so that others suffering as I did may be saved from misery."

Some men are born to fame and some achieve it by raising a big crop of iridescent whiskers.—N. Y. Times.

Piso's Cure cannot be too highly spoken of as a cough cure.—J. W. O'Brien, 322 Third Ave., N., Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6, 1900.

Long wind cannot make up for short weight.—Chicago Tribune.

THE PLAYWRIGHT-STAR.

Odette Tyler, Famous Actress, Values Doan's Kidney Pills.

Miss Odette Tyler is not only one of the best known dramatic stars in America, but has written and produced a successful play of her own. Miss Tyler has written the following grateful note, expressing her appreciation of Doan's Kidney Pills:

Odette Tyler

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen: My experience with your valuable remedy has been equally gratifying to both myself and friends.

(Signed) ODETTE TYLER.

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents per box.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored

LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee. Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use ½ a tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot. First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

3 (Don't boil it too long. (Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving.

DON'TS (Don't use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.)

(Lion-head on every package.)

(Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

At Last—Don't Miss It

A CURE FOR

Stomach Trouble

Science declares it to be the only way

A New Method By Absorption No Drugs.....

A FREE BOX to all who are tortured by Stomach Troubles

Mull's Anti Belch Wafers

50 CTS. A BOX

Sold at Your Druggist's. If not Send to us at once.

Do You Belch?

It means a diseased Stomach. Are you afflicted with Short Breath, Gas, Sour Eructations, Heart Pains, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Burning Pains and Lead Weight in Pit of Stomach, Acid Stomach, Distended Abdomen, Dizziness, Bad Breath?

Let us send you a box free to convince you that it cures.

Nothing else like it known. It's sure and very pleasant. Cures by absorption. Harmless. No drugs. Stomach Trouble can't be cured otherwise—so says Medical Science. Drugs won't do—they eat up the Stomach and make you worse.

We know Mull's Anti Belch Wafers cure and we want you to know it, hence this offer.

THIS IS GOOD FOR A FREE BOX

Send this ad. with your name and address and the name of a druggist who does NOT sell it for a FREE box of Mull's Anti Belch Wafers to MULL'S GRAPE TONIC CO., 192 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill. Give full address and write plainly. Write today as this offer may not appear again. SOLD AT DRUG STORES, 50 cents per box.

PUSHECK'S KURO KILLS GERMS, BACTERIA

Help—Help.

prevents infection, and cures quickly. Does not contain acid or soda.—It acts like Ozone and corrects and purifies impure and impoverished blood.—Perfect blood means PERFECT HEALTH.

PUSHECK'S KURO

Cures all Weakness, Nervous Debility, Rheumatism, Mieuse, Scrofula, Blood and Skin Diseases and Dyspepsia

EVEN WHEN EVERYTHING ELSE HAS FAILED.

—A FULL SIZED BOX WILL BE SENT ON TRIAL—

If you send this advertisement and your address to Dr. C. Pusheck, Chicago. If it helps, then pay $1.00. If it does not benefit, it costs nothing.

FOR SALE BY BEST DRUGGISTS.

WELLS OF WATER

OUR BIBLE STORY by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1898, by J. M. Edson.)

Scripture Authority:—"And Isaac digged again the wells of water, which they had digged in the days of Abraham his father; for the Philistines had stopped them after the death of Abraham: and he called their names after the names by which his father had called them."—Gen. 26:18. Read Gen. 26:17-22.

SAAC gazed over the surrounding landscape eagerly. There was a familiar look about it which carried him back through the years to the time when the flocks and herds of his father Abraham had pastured there.

"It cannot be far now to a well of good water," he exclaimed, the anxious expression of his face giving place to one of relief.

"That is welcome news, indeed," was the quick, eager response of the man standing at his side, "for the flocks and herds are parched with thirst."

"And is the water which we brought with us all gone?"

The man pointed to the empty water skins strapped on the backs of the asses browsing a short distance away, and said:

"Yes, and if the Philistines had had their way you would not even have had that to succor you on the journey." And the face of Isaac's chief steward plainly showed the anger and resentment which he felt at the treatment his master had received.

The day before Isaac had departed from the land of the Philistines, being driven ont by King Abimelech. He and his people had watched with jealous eye the growing greatness and prosperity of the son of Abraham. The abundant harvests—for Isaac had sowed and reaped a hundredfold on the lands which he rented of Abimelech—and the immense flocks and herds and numerous company of servants aroused their envy and enmity, and persecution in various forms, even to the filling of the wells his father had dug, had followed, and finally Abimelech had come and said that he could not longer dwell in the land. The chief steward was indignant, and urged that vigorous protest be made to such treatment, and some of the servants were for open hostilities, but Isaac's pacific nature would not consent to such action, and, yielding peacefully to the injustice, he had quietly gathered all his substance and departed, journeying far down the valley. Late on the afternoon of the following day, when the need for water was pressing they had come to a region where years before Abraham had dwelt. The familiar landscape was a welcome sight to Isaac's eyes. He knew that not far distant were wells which his father had dug, and with a company of his servants he hurried forward.

"Yonder is the place," cried Isaac, pointing to the white limestone curbing glistening in the sunlight in the distance.

The welcome sight of the well-curbing and the promise of water revived their drooping spirits. This would be the place to camp and rest. Here the flocks and herds could feed without molestation. And grateful memories of Father Abraham's diligence in sinking wells and seeking water wherever his flocks had fed filled the heart of Isaac.

"What a goodly heritage he hath left us in these wells," he exclaimed.

"Yes," responded the chief steward, warmly, "thy father, though dead, yet speaketh. The wells which he dug are a greater monument to his memory than nations conquered could have been."

Isaac nodded assent to the sincere tribute, while he hastened forward, a flood of memories crowded in upon him. He recalled the circumstances of the building of the well towards which they were hastening. He remembered the answer which his father had given when told he was foolish for digging the well on land which was not his own. "But if I do not get the good of it," he had said, "others will reap the blessing." And now new sweetness and meaning came to the words spoken so many years before.

Almost reverently he knelt upon the well's brink and looked in.

But instead of the shining surface of the water in the cool depths, he saw almost up to the well's mouth the rock and dirt which had been thrown there by some wicked hand. Instead of the cooling draught, there was the evidence of the burning hatred of some foe.

With an exclamation of bitter disappointment, Isaac sprang to his feet.

"The work of the miserable Philistines," mutter the chief steward, his black and angry looks telling more plainly than words how he would like to punish them.

"Better to die fighting for our rights than to die of thirst," hoarsely exclaimed another, and it was evident from the nods of assent which greeted this sentiment that the others cherished the same angry feelings. All eyes were turned on Isaac. They saw that a fierce struggle was going on in his heart. He looked first at the choked well, and then at the angry faces of his followers. He knew what they wanted him to do. He knew what the natural resentment of his own heart prompted him to do. Had patience ceased to be a virtue? Was it foolish longer to submit to injustice? Did he not have a right to the wells which he and his father had dug? Must he continue to be a wanderer in the land which God had promised to give to Abraham and to his seed? Was it not time that he gained and held possession of the land by force? These were the questions which rose in his mind.

But in the midst of the bitter thoughts and the sore temptation, another current of thought set in, and instead of impatiently turning from it, he sought to know God's will. He recalled the story his father had so often told him of Lot's choice. Of how his father had submitted to a seeming injustice rather than quarrel for his rights, and how God had blessed him. He remembered his father's words, repeated over and over again: "The Lord hath spoken good concerning thee and thy seed. Only be patient, my son, and wait in faith on Him." And then he recalled the vision he had had while yet in Gerar, and how the Lord had spoken unto him, saying:

"Unto thee and unto thy seed, I will give all these countries, and I will perform the oath which I sware unto Abraham thy father; and I will make thy seed to multiply as the stars of heaven, and will give unto thy seed all these countries; and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because that Abraham obeyed My voice, and kept My charge, My commandments, My statutes and My laws."

The fierce spirit within him smoldered and died away. In the face of God's promises, in the light of his father's example, he could wait. He would not right his own wrongs. He would wait on God. And thus did faith again win the victory, and preserve as a heritage to his seed the blessings promised of God.

Quietly facing his followers, who were still burning for revenge, he said:

"Let us restore the well, as Abraham, our father, left it."

"My master," interposed the chief steward, "pardon, I pray thee, my boldness; but of what use will it be to redig the well, seeing that the Philistines will surely come and rob thee of thy reward?"

"We must leave that with God. Our duty is to restore the well to its refreshing ministry," Isaac replied with firm but gentle voice.

The chief steward accepted the situation with as good grace as possible, and soon had the men busy removing the dirt and rock with which the well was choked. And while the work went on Isaac turned back to meet the main company of his people.

"Didst thou find water?" was the first anxious inquiry of Rebekah.

"We have found the well which my father dug, but it has been filled up and we could get no water. But the men are busy cleaning out the dirt and rock, and there will be an abundance of water when the work is finished."

A relieved look came into the woman's face, and she said, with a sigh:

"I wish we might remain here in peace. I am weary of this wandering."

"It is as God wills."

"Nay, rather, it seems as the Philistines will," was the impatient response. "Some of them have this day been spying out our movements."

An anxious look came into the face of Isaac, but his only reply was: "God has promised us the land, and will make a place for us somewhere, where we may live at peace."

Further conversation was interrupted by arrival at the well, and the work of pitching the tents and preparing for the night. Before dark enough of the dirt and rock had been removed to obtain a scant supply of water, and with the promise of an abundance as soon as the work was completed in the morning, the camp settled down for the night, while the flocks and herds spread out over the valley and browsed under the watchful eyes of the herdmen. Thus the night passed uneventfully and the next day the work on the well was completed and flocks and herds and people settled down contentedly in the spot, hoping to be left in peaceful possession.

On the morning of the third day Isaac was aroused by angry voices and the sound of violent conflict. He caught the words:

"The water is ours."

Rushing from the tent he found his herdmen engaged in fierce conflict with some Philistine herdmen who had come thither with their flocks and had taken possession of the well. The struggle was sharp but short, the Philistines being worsted in the fight, and when Isaac came up he found his men preparing to drive the strangers and their flocks away.

"Nay, my sons," spoke up Isaac, "treat not thine enemies so. Draw water that their flocks may drink. None shall come to a well of Abraham and turn thirsty away."

"Well, it's our water," doggedly muttered the Philistines as they watched their thirsty flocks drink.

"We will not suffer strife over its possession," spoke up Isaac. "Take it, and the Lord reward thee according to thy deserts."

And again that day found Isaac moving down the valley, where he again digged a well and found water. And there he rested in peace and contentment until the Philistines, jealous of his prosperity, again disputed with his herdmen for the possession of the splendid well. And so he removed from thence and digged still another well, and as the days came and went and no troublesome Philistine appeared to claim the new found water supply, Isaac called his people together and after the feasting and merry-making, he said:

"We shall call the new well Rehoboth, for the Lord hath made room for us, as we declared He would, and we shall be fruitful in the land."

And that night Rebekah exclaimed, as she placed her arm about his shoulder:

"It was indeed better to come hither than to dwell in the midst of strife. God hath rewarded thee for thy patience."

"Yea, the Lord gives wells of water in abundance to them that trust Him."

PRIORITY OF DEATH VITAL

Estate of $2,500,000 Involved in a Fire Tragedy and Will—Case on Trial.

New York.—The question whether Wallace C. Andrews, the millionaire who, with members of his family, perished in a fire that destroyed his residence at No. 2 East Sixty-seventh street on April 7, 1899, survived or died before his wife, is now on trial before Justice Dowling in the supreme court, in proceedings looking to a construction of Mr. Andrews' will.

Upon this trial hinges the validity of a bequest of Mr. Andrews of the remainder of his estate, after the payment of certain legacies, for an institution for the free education of girls.

The Andrews institute for girls has been incorporated and makes claim to the entire residuary estate of Mr. Andrews, valued at $2,500,000. Mrs. Andrews, who also perished in the fire, ratified this bequest.

Included in the victims of the fire was Mrs. Andrews' sister-in-law, Mrs. St. John. She was a legatee under the will, and her heirs are parties to the suit.

Mr. Andrews left an estate valued at $3,000,000; $500,000 of this was distributed among relatives.

In the suit now on trial, it is contended that a testator leaving a wife or children cannot bequeath more than one-half of his estate to charity; that Mrs. Andrews survived her husband by a few minutes or a few seconds, and that, therefore, her heirs are entitled to one-half if not the whole of the residuary estate.

Norman C. Andrews, a half-brother, and Emma H. Andrews and Edith Andrews Logan, assert that the burden of proof that Mrs. Andrews died first is upon the Andrews institute.

RISKS FOUR LIVES FOR HEN

Automobilist Sends His Car Into a Telegraph Pole—May End Fatally.

Boston.—His kindly desire to avoid running over a hen that had run across the road in front of his automobile may be the cause of the death of Theodore Farrington of Lowell, a wealthy resident, who was gravely injured when his automobile crashed into a telegraph pole. Miss Pauline Farrington, a sister, and the Misses Emily and Bessie Ludlam, who were with him, are in a critical condition, but have chances of recovery.

Farrington was taken to the Massachusetts general hospital and all that wealth can do was being done to save his life.

The party, in a 20-horse power machine, was bowling along the state road, near the Burlington line, when the fowl jumped into the road and ran just ahead of the machine. Out of pity for the frightened bird Mr. Farrington endeavored to turn his machine to avoid running over it.

He failed to take into account the close proximity of the telegraph pole. The machine struck it with fearful force, lifting the body completely off the running gear. All four of the occupants were tossed against a stone wall.

Both Mr. Farrington and Miss Bessie Ludlam were rendered unconscious. Miss Farrington, although suffering severely from cuts and bruised about the head, ran to the house of Charles Cummings and secured assistance.

Trying to Forget.

To relieve his mind from thoughts of the cruelties of war, Count Tolstoi says he is reading Epictetus, Lichtenberg and Schopenhauer. If these do not bring the desired state of repose he might try some of the Indiana writers, suggests the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

MARKET REPORT.

	Cincinnati, July 29.
CATTLE—Common.	$3 00	@	4 00
Heavy steers	4 90	@	5 25
CALVES—Extra	6 75	@	7 00
HOGS—Ch. packers	6 15	@	6 20
Mixed packers	6 10	@	6 15
SHEEP—Extra	4 35	@	4 50
LAMBS—Spring	7 65	@	7 70
FLOUR—Spring pat.	5 85	@	6 25
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	86½
No. 3 red		@	83
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	58½
No. 2 white		@	61
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	31
RYE—No 2 new	64	@	66
HAY—Ch. timothy		@13	50
PORK—Clear mess.		@14	60
LARD—Steam	7 12½	@	7 25
BUTTER—Ch. dairy.		@	14½
Choice creamery		@	22
APPLES—Choice	2 50	@	3 00
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 40	@	1 50
TOBACCO—New	5 00	@13	00
Old	4 50	@14	75
	Chicago.
FLOUR—Winter pat.	5 10	@	5 20
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	88½	@	89¼
No. 3 red	95	@	1 05
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	55¼
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	29½	@	30
RYE—No. 2	58	@	60
PORK—Mess	13 05	@13	10
LARD—Steam	7 12½	@	7 15
	New York.
FLOUR—Win. str'ts.	4 60	@	4 65
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	93¾
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	61
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	34	@	34½
RYE—Western		@	75½
PORK—Mess	13 00	@13	50
LARD—Steam		@	7 35
	Baltimore.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	84½	@	84⅝
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	60
CATTLE—Steers	4 00	@	4 50
SHEEP—No. 1	2 50	@	3 00
	Louisville.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	86
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	59½
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	36
PORK—Mess		@11	00
LARD—Steam		@	6 50
	Indianapolis.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	87
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	57
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	35

WHAT SHE WOULD TAKE.

Something That Would Involve Her to Escape Those Hashury Jokes.

"Gimme a little cold polar bear," said the man in the basement restaurant to the waitress who, having brought him a glass of water, had stopped to get his order, relates the Chicago Tribune.

"Polar bear's all out," she replied, with a far-away gaze that went past his head without seeing him.

"Got any iced watermelon?"

"Yeh. Want some?"

"No, not if you've got it. How about that pickled tongue?"

"S all right. D'u want that?"

"Not any for mine. I'm married. Well, I don't see anything here on this bill that's cold enough for a hot day in July, except hot pancakes and coffee. Hurry 'em along, will you? They are bound to be cold by the time I get 'em."

The waitress swept away, still without seeing the customer. He called her back.

"Here," said the customer, "that was just a joke. I want a boiled dinner. What'll you take to laugh the next time I get funny?"

"Chloroform," said the waitress, as she started for the kitchen.

Indian's Revenge.

"At last," muttered Eat-Em-Alive, chief of the Ogallalas, "the red man is to have his revenge and sweep the pale face from the American continent."

He had just been reading that in Michigan the experiment of employing Indian girl cooking school graduates as cooks in private families was being successfully made.—Baltimore American.

At the Seaside.

Grayce—He asked me to engage myself to him for a week.

Gladys—And did you consent?

"No; I don't believe in long engagements."—Pittsburg Post.

Puzzled.

Native—You find it hard to understand our language?

Foreigner—Yes, a girl just told me she was going in for outdoor games, but indoor games were going out.—N. Y. Sun.

Voice from Arkansas.

Cleveland, Ark., July 31st. (Special).—Nearly every newspaper tells of some wonderful cure of some form of Kidney Disease by the Great American Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills, and this part of Arkansas is not without its share of evidence that no case is too deeply rooted for Dodd's Kidney Pills to cure.

Mr. A. E. Carlile, well known and highly respected here, tells of his cure after nearly a quarter of a century's suffering. Mr. Carlile says:

"I want to let the public know what I think of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I think they are the best remedy for sick kidneys ever made.

"I had Kidney Trouble for 23 years and never found anything that did me so much good as Dodd's Kidney Pills. I recommend them to all sufferers.

There is no uncertain sound about Mr. Carlile's statement. He knows that Dodd's Kidney Pills rescued him from a life of suffering and he wants the public to know it. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney ills from Backache to Bright's Disease.

There is hardly enough flattery in the whole world to satisfy one man who believes he has a fine figure that must be dressed in the perfection of fashion.—N. Y. Press.

Don't Get Footsore! Get Foot-Ease.

A wonderful powder that cures tired, hot, aching feet and makes new or tight shoes easy. Ask to-day for Allen's Foot-Ease. Accept no substitute. Trial package FREE. Address A. S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

It is no use to tell us that wealth does not bring happiness. We want to find it out for ourselves.—Puck.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

THE NORTH WESTERN LINE

$20 Colorado AND RETURN

Via Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Lines.

Daily from Chicago, Aug. 30 to Sept. 4, to Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, account Encampment G. A. R. at Denver. Colorado Special leaves Chicago 7.00 p. m. daily, only one night en route. Another fast train leaves daily 11.00 p. m.

Special Personally Conducted trains leave Chicago and the East September 2.

For booklets and full particulars address

W. B. Kniskern, Passenger Traffic Mgr., 461 Fifth Ave., Chicago.

UNION PACIFIC OVERLAND ROUTE

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness, cures leucorrhœa and nasal catarrh.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

NO MORE HEADACHE

GENERAL WEAKNESS AND FEVER DISAPPEAR TOO.

How a Woman Was Freed from Troubles That Had Made Life Wretched for Many Years.

The immediate causes of headaches vary, but most of them come from poor or poisoned blood. In anæmia the blood is scanty or thin; the nerves are imperfectly nourished and pain is the way in which they express their weakness. In colds the blood absorbs poison from the mucous surfaces, and the poison irritates the nerves and produces pain. In rheumatism, malaria and the grip, the poison in the blood produces like discomfort. In indigestion the gases from the impure matter kept in the system affect the blood in the same way.

The ordinary headache-cures at best give only temporary relief. They deaden the pain but do not drive the poison out of the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on the contrary thoroughly renew the blood and the pain disappears permanently. Women in particular have found these pills an unfailing relief in headaches caused by anæmia.

Miss Stella Blocker recently said: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did me a great deal of good. I had headache nearly all the time. After I had taken three boxes of these pills I became entirely well."

"How long had you suffered?" she was asked.

"For several years. I can't tell the exact date when my illness began for it came on by slow degrees. I had been going down hill for many years."

"Did you have any other ailments?"

"I was very weak and sometimes I had fever. My liver and kidneys were affected as well as my head."

"How did you come to take the remedy that cured you?"

"I saw in a southern newspaper a statement of some person who was cured of a like trouble by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My physician hadn't done me any good, so I bought a box of these pills. After I had taken one box I felt so much better that I kept on until I became entirely well."

Miss Blocker's home is at Leander, Louisiana. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists. Besides headache they cure neuralgia, sciatica, nervous prostration, partial paralysis and rheumatism.

TORTURING HUMORS

Instantly Relieved and Speedily Cured by Baths with

CUTICURA

Soap to cleanse the skin, gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment to soothe and heal, and mild doses of Cuticura Pills to cool the blood. A single Set, costing but One Dollar often cures.

Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., Boston. Sole Props.

How to Cure Every Humor," mailed free.

$25.00 Cream Separator

FOR $25.00 we sell the celebrated DAISY CREAM SEPARATOR, capacity, 80 pounds per hour; 200 pounds capacity per hour for $29.00; 300 pounds capacity per hour for $34.00. Guaranteed the equal of any separator at TWICE EVERYTHERE at from $75.00 to $125.00.

OUR OFFER. We will ship you a Daisy for examination and trial order on our 30 days' free trial plan, with the binding understanding and agreement if you do not find by comparison, test and use that it will skim closer, skim colder milk, skim easier, run lighter and skim one-half more milk than any other Cream Separator made, you can return the Separator to us at our expense and we will immediately return any money you may have paid for freight charges or otherwise. Cut this ad. out at once and mail to us, and you will receive by return mail, free, postpaid, our LATEST SPECIAL CREAM SEPARATOR CATALOGUE. You will get our big offer and our free trial proposition and you will realize how ASTONISHINGLY LIBERAL CREAM SEPARATOR OFFER EVER HEARD OF. Address,

SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., CHICAGO.

PATENTS 48-page book FREE, highest references. FITZGERALD & CO., Box B, Washington, D.C.

The Hay Baler which is in a class by itself.

"ELI" PRESSES bale fastest and best on the market. Largest Feed Openings. Save time, horses, steps and dust. Many features unknown elsewhere. Get the free 20th catalogue.

Dalton Plow Co., 903 Hampshire St., Quincy, Ill.

CHEAP RATES California, Washington, Oregon, Colorado. We secure reduced rates on household goods to the above States for intending settlers. Write for rates. HAY of CALIFORNIA FREE. Trans-Continental Freight Co., 325 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

PENSIONS on age at 62.—Civil War; or on disability, any war, and for widows. Have records of most loyal soldiers' service, and ages of Ohio men. 30 years practice. Law and advice FREE. A. W. McCORMICK & SONS, 518 Walnut St., CINCINNATI, O.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

A. N. K.—E 2083

Libby's Natural Flavor Food Products

When you are at a loss to know what to serve for luncheon, dinner or supper—when you crave something both appetising and satisfying—try

Libby's (Natural Flavor) Food Products

Once tried, you will always have a supply on hand

Ox Tongues Chili Con Carne

Veal Loaf Brisket Beef

Ham Loaf Soups

Your Grocer has them

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

Lewis and Clark Exposition

$56.00 Chicago to Portland and return every day this summer

The first great exposition of the resources and the products of the Great Northwest will be held at Portland, Oregon, this summer. Portland is best reached via the

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway

Choice of routes is offered. Via St. Paul and Minneapolis—the route of The Pioneer Limited—via Omaha and Ogden—the route of The Overland Limited—or via Omaha and Denver, past the wonderful panorama of Rocky Mountain scenery. Another good route is via Kansas City and the Southwest Limited. It is a good time now to plan your trip.

F. A. MILLER, General Passenger Agent, Chicago.

BOONE CO.. RECORDER
Wednesday, - - Aug., 2, 1905.
W. L. RIDDELL. - - Publisher.

Those who think they have information upon which to found a belief, say Japan will demand of Russia $1,000,000,000 indemnity.

The candidates are shelling the woods over in Kenton county this week. No voter will be permitted to escape, the candidates having the entire force enveloped.

What is the matter with the Georgetown News and Democrat, that their regular weekly visits to this office should cease? They are missed very much, but if Bro. Gaines can not see his way clear to permit them to come, this end of the line will bow in humble submission.

Next Saturday Kenton county will hold a Democratic primary election to nominate candidates for county officers, State Senator and members of the lower house in the next General Assembly. An effort has been made to give the people a free ballot and a fair count, and with that understanding a large vote is anticipated for next Saturday.

When President Roosevelt scored the lawyers who accepted employment from those who plot against the public, no doubt but the present premier in his cabinet, Mr. Root, did some squirming under the rebuke as administered, as he was attorney for the railroads in the Merger cases and was on the payroll of the Equitable.

It is suspected that the story about the Kansas girl, who paid laborers to help her father, by so many hugs and kisses, proportioned to the service, is the emination of some sensational yellow correspondent. Kansas turns out many freaks, but it is hoped no farmer out there has a daughter so silly and deficient in self-respect as the one reported.

The Democrats of Grant county will nominate a candidate next Saturday to represent the county in the next legislature. Henry Edmonson, one of the candidates has declared, in his published announcement, for Senator Blackburn, while Dr. J. T. Scott, present representative and a candidate for renomination, is silent on that subject in his announcement.

E. A. Gullion, editor of the Newcastle Local, was elected president of the Kentucky Press Association at its annual meeting last week. The salary attached to the office is not so large as that drawn by the President of the United States, but he has more time in which to spend his income, and is not annoyed by an army of hungry officeseekers. His paths are paths of peace.

The war against the land stealing rings of the Northwest is making some progress. The federal juries have succeeded in convicting some of the ring-leaders, and it is hoped that a stop will be put to the fraud, which has worked great evil to all those interested in obtaining homesteads and farms on reasonable terms. The administration should be upheld in its fight on those big scoundrels.

The Lawrenceburg Press of this week announced that its next week's edition will be issued in two sections, one of eight and the other of four pages—the eight pages for the paid up subscribers and the four pages for those who are in arrears. In the preparation of its long list for mailing, the Press will find that the separation of the sheep from the goats will occasion considerable delay.

Rev. Peter Vinegar, the famous negro preacher, died, recently, from the effects of the heat. He distinguished himself about twelve years ago by his fervent pulpit orations from the following texts: "A Damned Hot Day." "Wheel in De Middle of a Wheel." "Watch Dat Snake." "Hell Aint a Mile from Lexington." "Sammy Rabbi." "Death in De Pot." "White Horse and De Rider."

An item is going the rounds of the press that after fifty years experimenting David Maggart, of Noble county, Indiana, has succeeded in producing a topless Irish potato, by crossing the different varieties of potatoes and topping and sprouting the plant. It is claimed that not until this year was he successful, and that he now has a large field of topless tubers. Topless potatoes will cause much suffering among the potato bugs.

The remains of Paul Jones are now resting in a temporary tomb at Annapolis. Their final resting place is being constructed, at Annapolis.

Boone county people who journey over into Kenton county this week are expected to refrain from consuming any of the Weiderman or Brenner products, as the supply of that campaign necessity is not in proportion to the number of candidates who are shoving it for its vote-getting property. The entire stock is needed for home consumption this week.

A dispatch sent out from Frankfort, last week, stated that it is generally believed that Judge J. E. Cantrell will resign his seat on the bench of the Kentucky Court of Appeals about the first of September unless there is an improvement in his health. He has at no time since his election been able to take part in the work before the court, and his resignation should have gone in months ago.

United States Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, has been sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000 and to serve six months in prison for using his office to further his private ends. It is dollars to doughnuts that the convicted Senator never sees the inside of a jail as a prisoner; but had he been an one gallus fellow and fined and sentenced to jail for a too liberal display of Saturday afternoon hilarity in some country town, he would have been hustled off to jail immediately upon the return of the finding of the jury, but in the Senator's case, as is the universal rule in the kid glove element of criminals, when a jury has the audacity to convict one of them, he is given time in which to have the verdict of the jury knocked out.

A recent report of Inspector Hind to Governor Beckham, has stirred up the monkeys as it were. The report is based on information furnished by a member of a large lumber company, and charges that A. M. Harrison, a revenue agent for the State-at-large, mulced the lumber company out of $1,520. The company was being proceeded against for back taxes, when Harrison compromised the claim on a bases by which the State received an insignificant sum, while he pocketed the above amount as his price for not enforcing the State's claim against the concern for the full amount. The great trouble with this country is the army of grafters, such as Harrison is charged ays being. Wherever public monees to be handled to any considerable amount a grafter is very apt to lurk somewhere near.

Following is taken from the Louisville Evening Post of last Saturday: "Dr. W. W. Smith is the fusion nominee for the Legislature from the First ward. No better man could have been chosen for the position. Dr. Smith is not only a citizen of high character, but he is a student of public questions, and is an expert on the subject of taxation. What Louisville now needs as much as anyother thing is representatives in the Legislature who will represent her interests and not blindly obey the orders of a corrupt ring. Dr. Smith is a man of striking independence of character. He is very popular with the laboring men in the eastern portion of the city, and his election by a large majority is considered a certainty."

Dr. Smith is the son of the late Charles Smith, of Big Bone, and a nephew of County Clerk B. W. Adams.

The following are the resolutions adopted by the colored teachers' institute held at Erlanger, last week:

We, your committee on resolutions, beg leave to submit the following report:

Whereas, the people of the town of Erlanger have so heartily welcomed us to their homes and church, and in appreciation of this hospitality, be it

Resolved, That we, the teachers here assembled in the Tri-Co. Institute of Boone, Kenton and Grant counties, do heartily and sincerely thank them for the interest they have manifested in our meeting, and also for the care they have taken of us since our arrival.

Be it further Resolved, That we thank the members and officers of this church for unlocking their doors for our reception and use.

Be it Resolved, That as we are here assembled in the interest of common education of our youth that, we spare no money, time or labor in securing those books, papers and so on, that will be a help to us in our work for the future.

Be it further Resolved, That we as we have had the service of our colaborer and trusty friend, Rev. C. C. Wakefield, return him a vote of thanks for the time and patience he has used in instructing this institute.

Be it further Resolved, That we request his services for the next Institute, which will be held on such a date as the Superintendent might designate.

Be it further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the county paper for publication, and one copy be put on file for future use.

Be it further Resolved, That on account of the misapprehension on the part of some of the teachers, that we request the Superintendents of the various counties, after they have been informed of the date by the secretary or some other member of our institute, to notify the teachers not less than three weeks before meeting.

Committee:—Alonzo S. Howard, Chairman; Miss Nellie Green, Miss Stella Sydner, Miss Clara B. Smith.

Puts an End to It,

A grievous wail oftimes comes as a result of unbearable pain from overtaxed organs, Dizziness, Backache, Liver complaint and Constipation. But thanks to Dr. King's New Life Pills they put an end to it all. They are gentle but thorough. Try them. Only 25c. Guaranteed by all Drug Stores.

IDLEWILD.

Mrs. Legrand Gaines is visiting her son at Walton.

Stevens Bros. have several of their city relatives with them.

Born, on July 28th, to Luther Scothorn and wife, a daughter.

The services at Woolper school house last Sunday were well attended.

Mrs. Dempsey, of Kenton county, is a guest of her cousin, Geo. Kreylich.

Mrs. Perry Cropper and children, of Louisville, are visiting relatives here.

John Stephens, wife and daughter were guests at J. L. Riley's, Wednesday.

Rev. E. L. Jones left on the 28th to attend the lectures at Chatauqua, New York.

Sad was the news of the death of the son of Mrs. Loureua Dormán, nee Duncan.

Mr. Logan Gaines, of Carrollton, has returned home after a short visit with his relatives here.

Mrs. E. V. Gaines, and daughter, Miss Allie, of Louisville, are guests at James T. Gaines'.

Mrs. Laura Jasper, of Richmond, is visiting Mrs R. C. Gaines and other relatives in this county.

Rev. Early and family attended little Dorothy Dunlap's birthday party at her grandfather's in Petersburg.

It is reported that Drs. J. M. Grant and Courtney Walton will form a partnership for the practice of medicine.

Miss Nannie Winston, of Covington, and Mrs. Dr. Crouch, of Union, were guests of Mrs. George Gaines, last week.

Albert, son of Wm. Stephens, cut his foot so badly on a piece of glass that he had to be taken to a physician.

Misses Bernice Duncan and Zayda Gaines each entertained last week in honor of Miss May Baisly and brother, of Springfield, Missouri.

Mrs. Geo. Kreylich entertained quite a number of her friends at dinner, last Thursday, among whom was Miss Lizzie Graddy of Lexington.

The whistle of the threshing machine is heard at all hours of the day, and these are busy times for the women who prepare the good meals for the laborers.

Rev. Early has his daughter, Mrs. Dexter Smith and her children, of Harrisburg, Arkansas, with him. Mrs. Baker and children, of Austin, Texas, have gone home.

At this time Idlewild is a second Saratoga, for visitors, differing in this from Saratoga, New York—here entertainment and hospitality is without price, and can not be surpassed.

If any of the readers of the Recorder know of a single gentleman, who possesses the character of the ancient and renowned Sir Wm. Wallace, Scottish Chief, would confer a kindness by informing box No. 7, Idlewild.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ross, of Lexington, cousins of Mrs. Courtney Walton, came down in their automobile, one day last week. They started for home on Sunday, accompanied by Miss Lizzie Graddy. They intended to go via Cincinnati, Georgetown and Aberdeen, Ohio, and Maysville, Ky. The machine cost $1,800 and consumes 7 gallons of gasoline in running 100 miles.

ERLANGER.

Will Long is very low. He was taken suddenly ill Sunday.

Miss Lucy Burke is the pleasant guest of Mrs. R. J. Scott.

Miss Dora Huey, after a lengthy visit with friends, returned home Saturday.

Miss Corinne Stevens is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Jeff Stevens, on Erlanger Road.

Mrs. Richard Tanner and children are visiting relatives near Independence.

Mrs. Sarah Ballard, who has been quite ill for several days, is very much better.

Mrs. Geo. Morton, of Indianapolis, will be the guest of Mrs. Minnie Watt this week.

Miss Sara Madge Tallaferro has returned after a three weeks' visit with relatives in Georgetown.

Miss Louise Buckner leaves Wednesday for a visit with her aunt Miss Alice Buckner, of Lagrange.

Rev. Logan Vickers, of Ludlow, was the pleasant guest of his sister, Mrs. Eugene Sayers, last Friday.

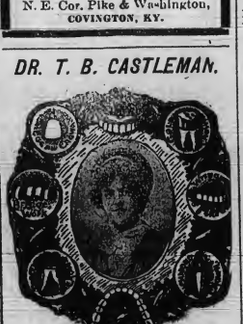
Miss Lillian Witt Roth, who has been the guest of friends here the past week, has returned to her home in Ludlow.

The Baptist chapel in Elsmere is nearing completion, and the dedicatorial service will be held August 13th. Rev. Robinson, of Georgia, will conduct the morning service, and Rev. Logan Vickers, of Ludlow, the afternoon service.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The Taxpayers of Boone County are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to collect 1905 taxes:

Florence, September 14 and October 12.
Verona, September 15, and October 16.
Walton September 16, and October 14.
Petersburg, Sept. 18 and October 16.
Union, September 19, and October 17.
Bellevue, Sept. 20, and October 18.
Big Bone, Sept. 21, and October 19.
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 22, and October 20.
Bullittsville, Sept. 23, and October 21.
Constance, Sept. 25, and October 23.
Beaver Lick, Sept. 26, and October 24.
Gunpowder, October 25.
Richwood, October 26.
Hebron, October 27.



I must settle with the State and County, December 1st, 1905, and to save Penalty and Cost of Advertising your property, I would advise you to pay your Taxes before December 1st. This will be all the notice you will have, and if your property is Advertised, don't think hard of me. I will Commence Advertising January 1st, 1906, and will continue until all Taxes for State and County are Collected. Boys, Remember your Poll Tax and send it in.

B. B. ALLPHIN,
Sheriff Boone County, Kentucky.

H. VON LEHMEN,
—HAND-MADE—
Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,
ALSO SECOND HAND
PHAETONS, PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,
CHEAP.
No. 12[illegible] Street,
COVINGTON, - KY.
REPAINING A SPECIALTY.

ICED-TEA
to be good, healthful and refreshing must be made from pure tea free from adulterations such as hay, straw and weeds which are ussd in many teas as a "filler." Don't buy the cheap trash.
We can sell you
"Capitol" a fine blend pound, 60c
"Sunbeam" our finest Blend, pound 75c
Gunpowder, pound 60 & 75c
YOUNG-HYSON, a fine Mild Tea, lb 75c
and several other vatieties which also make a delicious
Hot Tea.
GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,
—GROCER.—
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, KY.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN.

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.
Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.
PRICES REASONABLE.
Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone county.

MY STOCK OF
—NICE, FRESH—
Groceries!
is renewed every week.
I don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find my prices right.
COUNTRY PRODUCE
taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.
W. C. WEAVER,
Burlington, Ky.

FARM FOR SALE.
A good farm of 227 acres, near Rabbitt Hash, Boone county, Ky. Capable of being divided.
THOS. N. STEPHENS,
Rabbit Hash, Ky.

Subscribe for the Recorder

Deposits Earning Interest.
THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK &
TRUST COMPANY, Inc.
N. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, KY.
Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice,
ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.
Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.
It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.
In its several departments, THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY
Acts as Agent; Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc; Attends carefully to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.
—ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL.—
CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.
Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.
JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President
C. W. SIMRALL, Sec'y & Treas.
Long Distance Telephone, South 214.

J. C. BENTLER & SON,
Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.
Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing
and Wagon Repairing of all kinds,
All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.
Grinding of all Kinds to Order.
Hay and Grain,
AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,
By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices.
Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.
Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.
Successors to Clemens Hellman.
LUMBER DEALERS,
Manufacturers of
Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.
White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar, Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings., Etc.
—COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.—
Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122
H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.

"A SQUARE DEAL."
THIS famous phrase is the one on which we have built our reputation; only we have called it "BUSINESS HONESTY AND INTEGRITY." We believe in the square deal to every one, and we live up to it. If we said everything we would like to say about our Clothing it might sound like gross exageration.
We will say, however, to any man who is looking for CLOTHING that we give you the Style, Quality Fit, Workmanship
—WE HAVE A NICE LINE OF—
SPRING AND SUMMER SUITS
—BROKEN SIZES. WE SELL—
Men's $7.50 Suits.....now $5.00
Men's $10.00 Suits.....now $7.50
Men's $12.50 Suits.....now $10.00
Boys' and Children's Suits we have reduced accordingly. Men's pants the most select line—$1.00 to $5.00.
Rolfes & Wachs,
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

A. W. SMITH'S
PHARMACY,
WALTON, - - KY.
See our Crepe Paper Novelties. Dennison's Lunch Sets.
12 Doilies, 12 Knapkins, Table Cloth, 2 yards, 25c
Drink our Delicious Soda Water.
Our Ice Cream is superior. Our Candy is the very best.
High Grade Cigars and Tobacco.
FANCY STATIONERY IN MANY FORMS.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day.
Fees for selling stock reasonable.
Public Sales given special attention.

W. M. KENNEY,
DEALER IN
Fine Wines and Liquors,
Best $2 whisky in the city.
141 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Local News.

Hay fever is beginning to be felt around the edges.

Everybody is getting ready for the Lawrenceburg fair next week.

Fine weather last week for threshing wheat—cool and no rain.

Everybody ought to have plenty of jam to spread on his bread this winter.

Anyone wanting good stock ewes will do well by calling on William Kirkpatrick, Limaburg.

Dearborn county, Indiana, ranks as one of the leading tobacco producing counties in that State.

Sheriff Allphin has purchased residence property in Walton, which he will occupy about the first of next year.

W. T. Davis commenced cutting tobacco on the 28th day of last month. It was set early and matured rapidly.

According to the reports from the watermelon territory in this county the yield of melons this season will be very large.

A Georgia editor has discovered that the churches are all built too large for prayer meetings and too small for weddings.

This is a very favorable season for a camp meeting. The crop of yellow legged chickens is unusually large the country over.

The little two year old child of Ed Ernst, of Hebron, fell from a second story window one day last week. Fortunately it was not hurt.

Business has been on the increase this year with at least one county official—Coroner Murat, who has been holding an unusual number of inquests.

The rural route man has seen some of the picturesque roads in this county, but nobody knows what he thinks of them as mum is the word with him.

When plenty of corn and oats are abundant it ought not to cost the price of a good house and lot to keep a cow and a horse through the coming winter.

The officials of the Lawrenceburg, Indiana Fair, have decided to issue no complimentary tickets this year, and have issued notice through the press accordingly.

Entries for exhibits at Lawrenceburg Fair began coming in last week and all indications are that more exhibits will be there this year than ever before.—Register.

Mary E. Robbins, of Burlington, Ky., has purchased the double frame house of R. Walter of Elm street for $1000 and will occupy the same in the near future.—Register.

Don't forget that next Saturday is annual Grange Field Day, and that an instructive program will be given at Harvest Home grounds. A good day will insure an immense crowd.

The Burlington brass band is coming to the front. It now has several engagements booked, with prospects for others. It will be in full uniform the next time it appears in public.

The Lawrenceburg, Indiana, fair will be in full blast next week, commencing on Thursday. It is always well patronized by Boone county people and this year will be no exception.

Farmers are in a manner men of leisure now, tobacco being the only crop that will demand much attention for several weeks, and many there be who have none of that on their land.

The base drummer in the Lawrenceburg band was in town one night last week, and visited the local band's headquarters and gave the boys some pointers as how to beat the drum.

It will be seen by reference to the transfers of real estate published this week, that J. C. Hughes, of Beaver, has consummated the largest purchase of land made in this county in a long time.

W. E. Vest, real estate agent, says he has some large real estate deals incubating, which he expects to be able to close out a little later on. This is always the dullest season in real estate, he says.

The Harvest Home premium list will be issued in pamphlet form in the next few days. The exhibition will be equal to any of the past, and there are indications that it will be much better in some of the departments.

The fair season is now at hand, and it is well to bear in mind that the greatest fair of them all, the Boone fair, will be held four days again this year, beginning on the 30th inst. Tell your neighbor if he does not know it.

A. M. Acra, local poultry fancier, is making preparations to attend several fairs this year with his poultry of which he will have quite a number of pens for exhibition. His display will be considerably better than heretofore.

Mrs. M. L. Riddell, assisted by Miss Sheba Roberts, entertained the following guests from Walton, last Wednesday: Mesdames W. R. Rouse J. W. Boothe, J. M. Lassing, B. B. Hume, J. M. Stamler, E. K. Stephens and wife and Dr. A. N. Jones and wife.

The river has continued at a good boating stage every since the ice disappeared in the latter part of the winter, and with the good crops throughout the country the steam boat business ought to be more profitable in 1905 than it has been in many years.

Rex Berkshire came in, one day last week, to get a catalogue of the fair. Rex is decidedly a fruit and lady's man, hence he is always found in Floral Hall, where the ladies do most congregate at the fair. He is trying to arrange an exhibit for Floral Hall each of the four days of the fair.

In this issue is begun the publication of an account of the first battle of Cynthiana, this State. It is written by one who took part in the battle on the federal side. It will be interesting to many of the readers of the RECORDER as several Boone county boys took part in the fight, they belonging to Gen. John Morgan's command. The account will be published in weekly installments.

There will be illustrated lectures and preaching services in the Universalist church, Burlington, by Rev. Marion Crosley, of Indianapolis, Indiana, Saturday evening August 5, 1905. Illustrated lecture on Scotland, her scenery, history and noted persons. Sunday August 6th, preaching services, 10:45 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. Illustrated lecture at 8:00 p. m., Bible scenes and characters. Public invited.

Found—In the RECORDER office, a package of cigarette papers. As no cigarette fiend works in the office the papers are of no value to anyone here, and the owner can have same by proving ownership and paying 42.50 for this advertisement. If they are not claimed within fifteen minutes they will be destroyed. Telegraph and telephone messages concerning them must be paid for at the offices from which they are sent.

No doubt the good people of Union were surprised last week when they received their RECORDERS, and learned that the Bellevue and the Y. M. A. A. ball teams had played a game there on the Saturday before. The game was played at Bellevue, but by some unaccountable twist of the wrist in making up the paper the account of it landed in the Union instead of the Bellevue news, which caused the Bellevue scribe to say some things.

Several farmers in this neighborhood, who sold cattle, recently, to a trader from across the river, who has been buying considerable stock in this county, this year, were disappointed, one day last week, when he failed to put in his appearance at Burlington to receive their cattle as they say he agreed to do when he bought them. The stock was held until the next day when it was disposed of to other parties. So far no explanation has been made by the trader for his nonappearance.

Following is the latest fish story out, and every hollow log along the river and creeks is being investigated: "In a large hollow log raised by the snagboat the other day near Graysville, Ill., the crew captured a catfish of between sixty and seventy pounds weight. The fish was in the hollow head first and was not discovered until the log had been shaved off. A rope had to be placed around the monster and two men had all they could do to pull it out. In the log with the fish there were eggs sufficient to fill a five gallon can."

Esquire Charles Durain, of Erlanger, had a narrow escape from death, one day last week. He was pulling down an old oak tree close to his kitchen, and went into the house to get a rope. While he was inside there was a loud crash, and the big tree fell squarely across the kitchen. Part of the roof fell in, knocking the stove down and demolishing things generally. It sounded like an earthquake to Durain, and before he could get away he was pinned between the stove and the wall, and had to crawl out of the building on his hands and knees. Had the tree fallen on him he would have been smashed like a pancake.

The horse attached to Cashier J. C. Revill's carriage which was being driven to Erlanger, one morning last week, scared at a hog and ran down the bank near where the Hopeful church road intersects the Burlington and Florence turnpike. The carriage was upset and broken up considerably, but fortunately the occupants escaped serious injury. The occupants were Misses Jonette and Pattie Revill, and Mrs. Rankin Revill and little son, Milton. The latter received a slight gash in his forehead. The horse did not attempt to kick nor run after it went over the bank. Mr. Revill was notified by telephone by Mrs. Sidney, who keeps the toll gate near where the accident happened, and he took another horse and buggy over to the unfortunate party.

The Boones put up a good game of ball last Saturday afternoon, and won a decisive victory from the Laidlaws, of Cincinnati, the score being 8 to 0 in favor of the home team. At only one time during the game did the visitors come anyway near scoring and that time the run was cut down at home plate by James Bullock's great throw from left field, which, with Conner's sensational stop with one hand of a grounder that wore whiskers, were the main features of the game on the side of the Boones. Brady was in excellent form and let the visitors down with only three hits, while 8 of them went by the way of strike-out route. Hawes, as usual, caught a good game. Clutterbuck at first, Souther at second and Walton at third were in the game all the time, while Kirkpatrick in right field, Luck in center and Bullock in left had but little to do but they did it well.

The strong Hartwells will do business with the Boones at the park here next Saturday afternoon. Manager Crisler says he will insure the patrons some fast ball playing next Saturday.

The Boones elected Brady field captain last Saturday. He will certainly make a good one.

The Erlanger team is coming to the front rapidly. Only a few Saturdays ago they defeated the Boones easily, and last Saturday they beat the Home City team 9 to 4, it being one of the teams that shut the Boones out not long ago.

Personal Mention.

Coroner Murat, of Constance, was in town, Monday.

Mrs. W. C. Weaver has been quite sick for several days.

John R. Carpenter, of Richwood, was in town yesterday.

Joseph Cleek, of Beaver, was a visitor to Burlington, yesterday.

Miss Mabel Vest is entertaining her cousin, Miss Watson, of Walton.

"Bud" Conner, of Hebron, was among the Sunday visitors in Burlington.

Geo. L. Smith, of Hathaway, was among the callers at this office last Monday.

Edgar Berkshire and wife entertained several friends from the city, last Sunday.

Atty. John L. Vest, of Walton, was taking depositions in Burlington, yesterday.

Judge Lassing and Deputy Sheriff B. B. Hume, of Walton, were in town Sunday afternoon.

Atty. S. Gaines has corn in his garden that is shooting at many of the joints of the stock.

Miss Julia S. Dinsmore, of Bellevue, was transacting business in Burlington, last Monday.

Wood Maxwell and wife were Sunday guests of Mrs. Maxwell's father and mother near Limaburg.

Edward Rice and family, of Idlewild neighborhood, were guests at Ezra Aylors, Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. Jack Henry, of Francesville, and Mike Dye, of Hebron, were among the Sunday afternoon visitors in town.

Miss Anna Cleek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cleek, of Beaver, was the guest of Misses Jonette and Patti Revell, yesterday.

Joseph Johnson, of Ossewatama, Kansas, was a pleasant caller at this office one afternoon last week. He is a nephew of the late J. J. Lillard.

M. L. Riddell and wife visited Ben H. Berkshire and wife at Petersburg, last Sunday. They spent a few hours in Col. Graddy's beautiful park.

Rev. A. P. Gregory and family have moved from the Beaver neighborhood, this county, to Columbia, Tennessee, to which place he ordered his paper changed.

Mrs. Sarah Dempsey, who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. G. Hughes, for several days, went to Mrs. Geo. Kreylich's, last Wednesday to spend several days.

An automobile carrying a lady and a gentleman passed through Burlington late last Thursday afternoon. They were from Lexington and on their way to Courtney Walton's, near Idlewild.

Robert Sullivan and E. C. Franks, of Hathaway, and John Miller, of Normansville, spent one day last week at the hub. They were giving their depositions in a case that is pending in the Boone circuit court.

David H. Piatt, of Lawrenceburg, the versatile newspaper correspondent, made the RECORDER a pleasant call last Thursday afternoon. He was in town but a few hours, trying to do business with some of the county officials.

Rev. P. H. Duncan, of Latonia, Kenton county, will leave this week for points in the West. He will visit Los Angeles, San Francisco, National Christian Convention, then go to Portland, Seattle, Yellow Stone Park, and other places of note. He will return September 1st.

A. W. Smith writes the RECORDER under date of July 28.—"I am in the great and growing city of St. Louis, and she is a beauty. I left my drug store in care of Dr. Metcalfe. I am having a fine visit. Howard has a fine boy. I found my father fairly well, and able to go about some."

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate have been recorded since last report published:

Amanda Hughes and others to Joe C. Hughes, 336¾ acres near Beaver—$30,000.

Arthur Peno to A. T. Sebree 8¼ acres near Constance—$500.

Wm. Rouse to Thomas Rouse, his undivided one-half interest in 110 acres of land belonging to the estate of the late T. B. Rouse, near Burlington—$2,000.

E. J. Rouse to Thomas Rouse, life estate in 110 acres of land, estate of T. B. Rouse deceased—$800.

L. and R. Green to Webster Rogers, 5 acres in Bellevue precinct—$300.

J. W. Lunsford and wife to J. G. Tomlin, lot in Kensington.

D. M. Bagby executor of the will of J. T. Johnson to Sallie O. Percival and Orrin Percival, lot in Walton—$2,500.

Roxy Jones to Harriet F. Fisk, lot in Walton—$1,200.

If you want to sue your neighbor in time for trial at the next term of the circuit court you must have the summons served by low twelve next Friday.

Put on your Specks and Read Again!

Constance, Ky., July 28, 1905.

Mr. Editor:—This clipping from yours of 26th inst., speaks for itself. An old ex-teacher standing by when he heard it read, smiled a ghastly smile and suggested 84.63 for the dimensions. Try them for curiosity.

Respectfully,
ROBERT S. HOOD.

Following is the clipping referred to:

"It is suggested that the State Board of Education employ some competent persons to prepare the examination papers sent out by it. Besides several words that were spelled incorrectly on the last sheets sent out the following is an impossible problem in arithmetic, with which the applicants were confronted;

"'It requires 294 rods of fencing to inclose a rectangular field containing 33,075 acres; what is the length and width of it?'"

If exteacher or anybody else can explain how to make 294 rods of fencing inclose thirty-three thousand and seventy-five acres of land, he will have the fence problem of the future solved, and his wealth will soon be an hundred fold greater than that of John D. Rockefeller.

Come,
Come,
Come,

The Summer Now is Here.

The season when you want something "different."

What's the matter with some canned Salmon for salad, &c?

We have a nice Alaska Pink at.....10c
3 cans for 25c
Ocean Gem at.....13c
2 cans for 25c
Golden Net at.....15c
Republic at.....18c
Carmello, large can, steak.20c
Kinney, small can, steak very fine.....13c
2 for 25c
Figaro, small can steak..10c
Veal Loaf for cold lunch.10c
Lunch Tongues for same.15c
Devilled Ham for same.....5 and 10c

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, - KY.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

7 Pounds of
Seal Blend Coffee $1
Single lb. 15c.

Best Granulated Sugar, 18 pounds for... $1.00
Pure Ground Pepper per pound.....20c

Jackson's Best Patent Flour, bbl.. $5.50
O. K. Fancy Patent Flour per bbl.....$5.25

Salmon Canned....10 & 12½
Mason Jars, pints.....45c
Mason Jars, quarts.....50c
Mason Jars, ½ gal.....60c
Star Tin Cans.....35c

—THE—
HAMILTON
GROCERY CO.,
39 and 41 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, KY.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of John Rowland, deceased, must come forward and settle the same, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.
N. E. RIDDELL, Admr.

C. J. WOLFF,
SPECIALIST FOR
TRUSSES, BRACES, CRUTCHES, Etc.
Personal attention given every case.
Experience 40 years.
13th & Race, opp. Washington Park, Cincinnati, O.

Take the Recorder.

THE
Lawrenceburg Fair
— WILL BE HELD AT —
Lawrenceburg, Ind.,
Aug. 8-9-10-11-12, '05
FIVE BIG DAYS.

MEDICURA STOCK FOOD!

Cheapest and best to use. Fully guaranteed. 5 feeds for one cent. Eight cents per month per head. The greatest tonic food and fattener in the world.
FOR HOGS AND CATTLE, It cures and prevents disease. Saves ..... Grain and 40 days time in fattening.
FOR HORSES AND COLTS, A blood purifying Tonic. Expels ..... worms, gives new life and strength.
5 FEEDS FOR 1c for 12 FOWLS. MAKES HENS LAY MORE EGGS.
Your money refunded if it ever fails.

Hay, Grain, Mill Feed,
ALL WAYS KEPT ON HAND.

A New Grocery.
We have added a complete line of Fancy and Staple Groceries and canned goods, which we are selling at the Most Reasonable Prices.
R. B. HUEY & CO.,
WALTON, -- KENTUCKY.

KASPER LEHMANN,
—DEALER IN—
BOOTS and SHOES,
Custom Work Promptly Attended To.
Store: Corner Lexington Pike and Vine Street,
Formerly South Erlanger. - - ELSMERE, KY.

H. G. BLANTON,
FUNERAL & DIRECTOR

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
Special Rates to Traveling Men.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission & SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds.
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone South 55) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

B. B. ALLPHIN. B. B. HUME.
ALLPHIN & HUME,

Livery and Sale Stables,
First-Class Turnouts for Hire at all Times.
GOOD RAYMOND CITY COAL A SPECIALTY.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.

CEILINGS. SKYLIGHTS. CORNICES.
The Porter Iron Roofing & Corrugating Co
27 and 29 West Front Street,
CINCINNATI, - - - OHIO.
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Iron, Steel, Galvanized Felt and Porteroid Rubber Roofing.
Our Agents will give you whole
M. J. Crouch, Agent for Boone county. Write

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. . . . KENTUCKY

AUGUST...1905

Sun.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thu.	Fri.	Sat.
		1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10	11	12
13	14	15	16	17	18	19
20	21	22	23	24	25	26
27	28	29	30	31

F. Q. 7th. F. M. 14th. L. Q. 23rd. N. M. 30th.

Since 1892 no newspapers have been printed on Sunday in Norway, and since 1895 no bread has been baked on that day.

Since the beginning of the war the Japanese government has encouraged gold mining. The result has been over $5,000,000 worth of gold in Japan and nearly as much in Formosa.

Lions in captivity are affected by bad weather just as human beings are. A rainy day will make him limp and listless, while a glimpse of sunshine restores their sipirt wonderfully.

Late experience in the British navy has suggested that loathsome disease may be spread by tattooing, and those who must decorate in this way are warned that the needles should be sterilized.

Dr. Herbert Putnam, librarian of congress, is visiting California. He says the plans for the new library of the University of California indicate that that library will be the best in all American colleges.

On the advice of the Mexican board of health, the government has issued an order for the daily disinfection of confessionals in all the churches of the capital. Priests neglecting the order are subject to fine and imprisonment.

While cotton cloths form the principal item in our exports to China, raw cotton contributes by far the largest item in our exports to Japan, though the cotton fluctuates considerably from year to year, according to the level of prices prevailing in the United States. When the price of American cotton becomes approximately high, Japan purchases a large share of her raw cotton from India, that cotton being of a shorter staple and therefore lower in price.

The emigration statistics for Ireland for the year 1904 furnish melancholy reading, in that they show how Ireland continues to lose some of the best of her population. Last year 36,902 natives of Ireland, a number equivalent to 8.3 per 1,000 of the population, left their homes, the vast majority to go to the United States or Canada. The total of 36,902 is a slight falling off as compared with several recent years, and is, indeed, the smallest aggregate since 1898.

Abyssinia is to be considered one of the great markets of the near future. The country has a population of nearly 4,000,000, and under the progressive and enlightened rule of King Menelik is making rapid strides toward a high grade of civilization. Europeans are called in as heads of government departments, the silver monetary standard is being introduced, the establishment of branches of European banks is planned, and European merchants are induced to locate. The Abyssinians have adopted the telephone, the telegraph and quick-firing weapons.

The first commander in chief of the first navy of the 13 American colonies was Commodore Esek Hopkins, of Rhode Island. The continental congress commissioned him commodore, Washington formally and officially addressed him as admiral. His commission dated from December 22, 1775, enough to make him the father of the navy. Paul Jones was named as the senior first lieutenant in the fleet under the command of Commodore Hopkins. Command rank did not come to him until October 10, 1776.

Nannie Gibson, a barefooted 11-year-old girl, who lives with her parents in the Black mountains of North Carolina, is to be given a college education by the Southern railway, which will also provide for her in other ways. Some time ago a big slide occurred on the mountain while she was home alone. She ran down the railroad waving her red petticoat. A heavy train was stopped by her ten feet from where the mountain had caved in. Below was an abyss several thousand feet deep, that meant instant death to every one on board.

The total expense of operating baseball in the United States as an organized sport is in the neighborhood of $7,000,000, according to the estimate of those best posted, which means that approximately 25,000,000 paid admissions must be received before the home owners can break even on their investments, not counting interest. The last remains that nearly one-half of the baseball club owners of the country lose money every year. The players are center in the play-ground in the great leagues, are to some of them financial losses.

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE BUSY READER.

All Important Happenings That Have Recently Transpired Throughout the World.

EVENTS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

Crimes and Casualties, the Movements of Government Officials and Other Interesting Events Culled, Condensed and Noted.

The details for conveying the peace envoys from New York to Oyster Bay have been arranged. The Russian plenipotentiaries and suites will embark on the cruiser Chattanooga at New York at 5 a. m. on August 5, the Japanese plenipotentiaries embarking at the same point on the cruiser Tacoma, an hour later, arriving at Oyster Bay within half an hour of one another.

President Roosevelt entertained at luncheon Baron Jurato Komura, minister of foreign affairs, and Kogoro Takahira, minister to the United States, and the Japanese envoys to the Washington peace conference.

That Japan will demand an indemnity of Russia in the negotiations for peace and that the war will be declared at an end at the conclusion of the negotiations at Portsmouth, N. H., next month is the belief of Baron Komura, head of the Japanese peace delegation which arrived in New York.

Whether there is to be peace in the far east or a continuance of the war will be practically decided at the first business meeting of the Washington conference, which will convene at the navy yard, Portsmouth, N. H., about August 5. Baron Komura will on that occasion communicate to M. Witte the essentials of Japan's peace terms for further negotiations.

Evidence now in possession of the New York officials convinces them that Frederick E. Carlton has been married to nine women, two of whom are dead, and that he has lived with another, Eleanor Vandeventer.

Baron Komura was asked as to the attitude of the Japanese on the question of an armistice, and he replied: "Japan is perfectly willing to agree to an armistice after the credentials of both commissions have been examined and verified."

The report has been received from the headquarters of the Japanese army: "Our force on the island of Saghalin advanced on the 27th and hotly chased the enemy from early in the morning. Our vanguard occupied Delbenskoe the same afternoon. While our cavalry entered Rykoff another detachment was sent against the enemy at Nomiha and Ivovskoe, dislodged the enemy's force holding Vydernicovsky and vicinity and immediately commenced pursuit."

The German foreign office gave out the following: Emperor William, in the interviews off the island of Bjorko, not only did not encourage Emperor Nicholas to continue the war, but gave his influence directly in favor of President Roosevelt's peace policy.

Johann Hoch, "Bluebeard" and confessed bigamist, sentenced to be hanged at Chicago for poisoning one of his wives, was granted a reprieve until August 25 by Gov. Deneen. Money sufficient to appeal his case to the supreme court has been raised.

The arctic steamer Roosevelt, bearing Commander Robert E. Peary's latest expedition, swung clear of the terminal wharf, at North Sydney, C. B., and headed northward on her voyage f discovery toward the north pole.

Alex. Winn and Nelson Walker, negroes, convicted of having murdered a Mr. Charles Hauck, a white trading boatman, were hanged at Vidalia, La.

Mattie and Grace Wigner, sisters, aged 14 and 16 years respectively, were drowned while attempting to ford a creek west of Lacygne, Kan. The stream had been swollen by a heavy rain.

Secretary Taft and party arrived in Tokio on a special train from Yokohama. Secretary Taft and his staff were taken to Shiba, where a detached palace was provided for their accommodation.

Secretary Taft and his party were received by the emperor of Japan at Tokio. Later a banquet was given to the secretary and his associates by Premier Kasura, at which toasts to the health of President Roosevelt and the emperor were drank amid the cheers of the Americans. The emperor was present. Princes Fushima and Kanin were seated at either side of Secretary Taft and Alice Roosevelt and the emperor was seated directly opposite.

Minister Griscom gave a garden party in honor of Secretary Taft at Tokio. About 1,000 persons were present. Minister Griscom, with his wife and Miss Alice Roosevelt, received the party.

Four men have been killed by the wrecking of an east-bound freight train on the Northern Pacific between Myers and Big Horn, about 70 miles east of Billings, Mont.

While testing torpedoes in Narragansett bay the United States torpedo boat Vesuvius was struck by one of the projectiles which turned in a circle after it had been launched from one of the Vesuvius' tubes. The vessel was slightly damaged.

New York Central accommodation train No. 56 ran down nine track hands near Tribes Hill, N. Y., killing six. The men are all Italians.

A brief report of a preliminary examination by Naval Constructor Evans of the inside of the gunboat Bennington, whose boilers exploded, was received at the navy department from Capt. Drake. The constructor found no leaks through the hull plating and all the leaks through the sea valves and the broken pipes have been stopped.

At St. Paul's Episcopal church, San Diego, Cal., was held the funeral of Ensign Newman K. Perry, the only officer who lost his life in the list of the gunboat Bennington. The interment will take place at Stockbridge, Mass. The bodies of the Bennington boys who were buried in the military cemetery on Point Loma are to be disinterred and sent home to relatives at the expense of the government.

The most remarkable shooting ever made by a squad of men in the United States army was recorded at Fort Sheridan when 15 men out of a possible 23 made scores of over 400 out of a possible 500 in skirmish firing.

Bishop Isaac W. Joyce, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, died at his home in Minneapolis as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage and consequent attack of paralysis.

After the return of Chief Engineer John F. Stevens from the tour of inspection on the Panama canal, he said that he found the work progressing slowly, though the American steam shovels were working splendidly.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending July 27 number 193, against 165 last week, 174 in the like week of 1904 and 100 in 1903.

Southern Railroad Conductor Marvin Payne was arrested at Decatur, Ala., for ejecting Quarantine Officers Lem Jones and John Almon from his train. He was released on bond.

The boycott of American goods in China as a result of the Chinese protest against the exclusion act is developing rapidly.

President Roosevelt, after spending two hours in an inspection of the Sea Breeze home, established on Coney Island, New York bay, by the New York association for the improvement of the condition of the poor, returned to Sagamore Hill.

At Union Hall, Franklin county, Va., United States Deputy Marshal Z. T. Wade was shot and killed by a negro named Zephas Poindexter, an alleged illicit whisky distiller, whom he attempted to arrest.

The Norwegian storthing unanimously adopted the proposal of holding a referendum on the dissolution of the union with Sweden. It fixed August 13 for the submission of the question to the people.

Mrs. Wade Hampton, daughter of Gen. Wade Hampton, says that she obtained President Roosevelt's picture for Fads and Fancies. Mrs. Hampton, who is a widow, lived in Washington until three years ago.

In a pistol fight at Sanderson, Fla., between J. J. Green and Ed McRee, both men were killed. The cause of the tragedy is not known.

Andrew Humphrey, who attempted to assault two white women, was lynched near the town of Avey, Tex., by a mob of several hundred men.

Secretary Taft and his party left Tokio for Kioto on a special train, receiving an enthusiastic send-off at the Shimbashi station from a distinguished assemblage, including court, civil, military and naval officials, bankers and other mercantile representatives.

According to Spencer Frary, a former oil refiner, living in Cleveland, O., the health of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller is rapidly failing. Constant criticism of her husband, much of which has passed unnoticed by him, has worried her and has gradually undermined her health.

A terrific storm passed over Southern Crawford county, Ohio. Half a dozen barns were burned to the ground, while cattle, horses, sheep and other stock were killed.

The engagement is announced of Baroness Margherita Mayneries, of Venice, to Paul Nash, American consul in Venice. She belongs to one of the bluest blooded families of Italy. The consul is popular in American and Italian society.

One of the biggest seizures of tobacco by federal revenue authorities in several years was made at the cigar factory of Carlos Garcia & Co., New York. Carlos Garcia and Julian Iiera, the members of the firm, were arrested. The seizure at the factory included, according to the federal agents, 1,000 counterfeit tobacco stamps, 25,000 high-grade cigars and 2,000 pounds of tobacco.

The Japanese are apparently concentrating a considerable force far to the eastward with the aim of operating against Kirin and Ninguta and getting in between Vladivostok and the Russian Manchurian army.

Commander Theodore Burgdorf, U. S. N., retired, died in the United States naval hospital in Philadelphia. He was admitted to the institution several days ago suffering from a complication of diseases. He was about 60 years of age.

Nothing at all resembling yellow fever has occurred at Galveston this season.

Philip Carlin, of Minneapolis, has been appointed general organizer for the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. His headquarters will be in Minneapolis.

All present danger of a strike of the molders in the Pittsburg district was averted when at a mass meeting of the union it was decided to accept the manufacturers' terms.

The strike in the two iron mills at Youngstown, O., one at Girard, O., one at Warren, O., and one at Greenville, Pa., which have been in progress for more than a year, has been declared off.

The following report as to the progress of yellow fever in New Orleans is up to 6 p. m. July 28: New cases, 21; total cases to date, 227; deaths Friday, 3; deaths to date, 47; new foci, 8. The Louisiana state board of health met and finally ordered a quarantine of the state against New Orleans. That action became absolutely necessary in order to protect all the points in the state outside of New Orleans from being quarantined by Alabama, Texas and Mississippi.

As a result of the delay on the part of Louisiana authorities in putting on a quarantine against New Orleans, State Health Officer Tabor, of Texas, placed a quarantine against the whole state of Louisiana.

All the forces engaged in the battle against the yellow fever scourge in New Orleans joined in expressing the belief that while the situation has been and is serious, enough success has already been achieved in the application of the methods applied, as the result of the work of the Reed commission in Cuba, to justify the hope that for the first time in the history of the country what threatened to be a malignant epidemic of yellow fever will be stamped out before frost comes.

The fact that no epidemic of yellow fever has occurred this summer at gulf ports on the Tehauntepec isthmus of Mexico is attributable to sanitary work continually going forward at those points.

There is no fever at Baton Rouge La., and no suspicious cases. A strict quarantine is in force against New Orleans.

By a vote of nine to three the Memphis legislative council went on record as favoring a strict quarantine against New Orleans and other fever infected points.

The tone of the Russian press grows more warlike as the peace conference draws nigh and the government on all sides is urged to resist humiliating demands, even at the cost of continuing the war.

At McKinzie, Tenn., Robert Matheny jumped from a moving train. He lost his scalp, cut an artery and broke several bones.

The death of Masugori Nagata, the Jap who was crushed to death in the mines at Ellsworth, Pa., and whose body was cremated in Pittsburg, reveals that the Imperial university of Tokio has a corps of instructors, accompanied by students, in this country to study mining work. Nagata was an accomplished instructor.

Adm. Yeh, of the Chinese navy, died suddenly at the Kianguan arsenal.

Two deputy United States marshals, J. H. Noble and E. S. Edwards, killed J. E. Coleman and his wife, and arrested their son, aged 15 years, after a fight on Deep Fork river, 25 miles west of Checotah, I. T. The Colemans, it is said, had stolen horses, mules and cattle in the Choctaw nation.

While boating on Horseshoe lake, one and a half miles south of Lebanon, Mo., Percia and Blanche Easterly and Alta and Ethel Perkins, all of Lebanon, were drowned. Three young men who were in the boat with them succeeded in swimming to the shore of the lake.

Louis Getz, president of Getz Bros. & Co., one of the big importing and exporting houses of San Francisco, has received a cable from Shanghai, which reads as follows: "Cancel all orders. Boycott of American trade effective among Chinese merchants. All business entirely suspended."

Two more names were added to the list of dead in the Benington disaster, at San Diego, making the total 61.

As a result of a quarrel William Doyle shot and fatally wounded John Sharpe at Ledbetter, near Paducah, Ky. Doyle escaped.

Advices received from reliable sources in Constantinople say that conditions bordering on anarchy prevail in the palace since the attempt to assassinate the sultan was made. Abdul Hamid, it is said, has caused scores of the palace attaches to be privately executed on suspicion of having been involved in the plot against him.

At Valdosta, Ga., Rev. J. C. Rawlins was found guilty as accessory to the murder of two children of Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Carter, and unless a higher court intervenes, Rev. Rawlins and his sons, Milton and Jesse, and Alf Moore, a negro, will have to hang.

A crash of thunder woke up Leola Morton, daughter of Melville Morton, Cleveland, in time to save her father from death on account of chloroform administered by burglars.

J. W. Mount, 68, who went to San Diego, Cal., from Kentucky some years ago, committed suicide by shooting.

Dell Stewart, formerly mayor of Osceola, Ia., and formerly district judge of Iowa, died at a hospital in Portland, Ore., as the result of an operation. Death was sudden and unexpected. He was born in Zanesville, O., in 1849.

Secretary of State Root and Col. William Cary Sanger, former assistant secretary of war, accompanied by Mr. Root's two sons, left for Montreal. Thence they go to St. Johns, N. F., and from there they will sail for Labrador. They expect to be absent for a month.

August 2 the "Soo canal," as the famous artificial waterway at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., is known, will be 50 years old, and the semi-centennial of one of the most valuable achievements for commerce in America will be observed.

Miss Julia Knox Wheeler, daughter of Gen. Joseph Wheeler, was married to William Julius Harris, of Georgia, in New York city.

Gen. Linevitch has issued an order dated July 25 placing all the employes of the navy yard at Vladivostok, including the detachments on certain cruisers, under military command.

YELLOW SCOURGE.

Twenty-Seven New Cases in New Orleans Sunday.

The Number of New Foci Is Again a Source of Encouragement Showing the Spread Is Becoming Slower and Slower.

New Orleans, July 31.—New cases reported up total 27. Total cases to date 203; deaths Sunday three. Deaths to date 57. New foci 4. Total foci 41.

Though it was Sunday the work of sanitation, fumigation, oiling and screening went on just the samne and will continue daily until the city has been thoroughly screened and made mosquito proof. The record for Sunday shows little change from that of Saturday except in the reduction of the number of deaths. The number of new foci is also again a source of encouragement showing that the spread is becoming slower and slower.

A new complication was discovered when Supt. Curran, of the New Orleans and Northwestern railroad announced that two passengers who had remained the required length of time in the Slidell detention camp and sought admission into Mississippi had been turned back. If the Mississippi health authorities now refuse admission to holders of certificates of detention issued by the marine hospital service it will result in the government abandoning those camps and travelers will have to either stay here or go to points in the north and east and spend ten days before they can return to Mississippi.

A BOLT OF LIGHTNING.

Killed Six Persons and Seriously Injured Nine at a Bathing Beach.

New York, July 31.—During a thunderstorm of terrific intensity which passed over New York six persons were struck by lightning and killed and nine were seriously injured at the Parkway baths, Coney Island. At the same time one man was killed and three others were prostrated at Gravesend beach.

The intense heat of the morning attracted a great multitude to the shore resorts and late in the afternoon when the storm blew up from the westward, the Parkway beach was thronged with bathers and spectators. The rain descended in torrents and hundreds of men, women and children sought shelter under the big bath house, which is elevated above the sand on piles. The lightning was incessant and terrific thunder claps shook the bath house to the terror of the crowd buddled together beneath it. A few minutes before 5 o'clock a bolt of lightning struck the flag staff and grounded in the very thickest of the crowd. Nearly 50 persons were prostrated.

STANDS BY JAPAN.

Mikado's Peace Terms Will Have the Sympathetic Approval of Britons.

Washington, July 31.—Japan comes to the Washington conference assured that whatever her peace terms they will have the sympathetic approval of Great Britain. Several suggestions from Washington to London that the cause of peace would be served by an explanation to Japan from her ally favoring moderation in her demands upon Russia have not availed to change the British government in its apparently inalterable determination to stand by Japan however severe she makes her conditions of peace nor has the British government seen its way clear to render assistance to Washington in the efforts which this government is making to obtain an armistice. Advices reaching here show that London is opposed to an armistice until Japan has been satisfied that Russia's plenipotentiaries are prepared to direct more than discuss means of ending the war.

THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

Sunday Morning Was Spent Quietly at Kioto, Japan.

Kioto, July 31.—Secretary of War Taft and his party spent Sunday morning quietly. Some of the members of the party attended church while others visited the temples. When the party left in the afternoon on a special train for Kobe there was another remarkable demonstration. At the station a great crowd awaited Secretary Taft and Miss Roosevelt and began cheering when their carriage arrived, the ovation continuing until the train started. The band played the national anthem and "Auld Lang Syne" as the train pulled away from the station.

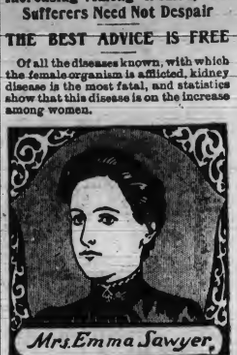
Secretary Wilson Will Not Resign.

Washington, July 31.—Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, characterized as "wholly without foundation" the story that he will resign from the cabinet because of the exposures of the cotton leak.

To Visit College Friends.

New York, July 31.—Baron Komura, Japanese peace plenipotentiary, and Baron Kaneko, the Japanese financial agent, both of whom are Harvard graduates, went to Peekskill, where they visited some friends of their college days.

The Offer Rejected.



Basle, Switzerland, July 31.—By an overwhelming majority the Zionist congress decided not to accept the offer of Great Britain of a tract of land in East Africa for the formation of a Zionist colony.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair

THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Mrs. Emma Sawyer.

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent, painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the ... in of the kidneys or notices a brick-dust sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it may be the means of saving her life.

For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Sawyer.

"I cannot express the terrible suffering I had to endure. A derangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse, until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and I am to-day a well woman. I cannot praise it too highly, and I tell every suffering woman about my case." Mrs. Emma Sawyer, Conyers, Ga.

Mrs. Pinkham gives free advice to women; address in confidence, Lynn, Mass.

CURRENT CONDENSATIONS.

The number of insane in London exceeds 20,000.

Rifle bullets are now photographed in their course by means of the electric spark.

The Michigan, "Old Ironsides," the only United States warship in fresh water, will be dismantled.

The locomotives on the new fast expresses between Cologne and Berlin are built after the American pattern.

The Jews celebrate this year the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of their settlement in the United States.

By buying tea in packets it is calculated that in 1903 the British public paid tea prices for 5,088,648 pounds of paper and twine.

Addressed on the gummed side, a postage stamp, says the Dundee Advertiser, has been delivered at Fife, Scotland, as a letter.

The water is so clear in the fjords of Norway that objects one and one-half inches in diameter can be distinctly seen at a depth of 150 feet.

Electro-plated lace may yet be the fashion. A French writer says that a complete set of ecclesiastical vestments has been made at Lyons of these plated laces, and suggests that society people adopt them for ball dresses.

Strike Out for Himself.

Mack—I understand the count is going into business for himself.

Wyld—Yes; he has decided to dispense with matrimonial agencies.—Judge.

EVER TREAT YOU SO?

Coffee Acts the Jonah and Will Come Up.

A clergyman who pursues his noble calling in a country parish in Iowa, tells of his coffee experience:

"My wife and I used coffee regularly for breakfast, frequently for dinner, and occasionally for supper—always the very best quality—package coffee never could find a place on our table.

"In the spring of 1896 my wife was taken with violent vomiting which we had great difficulty in stopping.

"It seemed to come from coffee drinking, but we could not decide.

"In the following July, however, she was attacked a second time by the vomiting. I was away from home filling an appointment at the time, and on my return I found her very low; she had literally vomited herself almost to death, and it took some days to quiet the trouble and restore her stomach.

"I had also experienced the same trouble, but not so violently, and had relieved it, each time, by a resort to medicine.

"But my wife's second attack satisfied me that the use of coffee was at the bottom of our troubles, and so we stopped it forthwith and took on Postum Food Coffee. The old symptoms of disease disappeared, and during the 9 years that we have been using Postum instead of coffee we have never had a recurrence of the vomiting. We never weary of Postum, to which we know we owe our good health. This is a simple statement of facts." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich.

Read the little book "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.

Horrors of Prison Life on Sakhalin Island

The Russian Prison Colony and Its Terrible Tragedies.

DESCRIBED BY A RUSSIAN WRITER

Terrible Cruelty of the Keepers and the Executioners—Methods of Punishment That Stagger Humanity—Dreaded "Knout" and How It Is Applied.

The interest of the world in the Russian penal system is awakened by the capture of the island of Sakhalin by the Japanese. From time to time during the past quarter of a century the civilized world has been shocked beyond measure at the tales of cruelty to which the Russian convicts in this vast prison have been subjected, and the depths of degradation to which these once human beings have been brought. But Russia has been careful that but little of the true picture of the island should reach the outside world, and newspaper and magazine writers from England, France and the United States have made repeated attempts to secure authentic descriptions of the conditions in this great prison land, and of the atrocious cruelties practiced there, but none have ever been fully successful. Much has been guessed at, and the world would scarcely credit these pictures of the imagination.

It has remained for a Russian to give us a practically authentic picture of Sakhalin, and though the picture is tempered by seeing things from the Russian standpoint, it is still a picture that is so horrible that it staggers humanity. This story of the horrors of Sakhalin has been published in book form, and it is only translated extracts from the book that we can give here:

The First Impression.

First impressions are likely to be very vivid. I shall certainly never forget the moment when our steam launch came alongside the jetty at Korsakoffsk. The landing was crowded with men. A few more steps and I was lost in that sea which I so yearned to fathom.

During the months I passed among the convicts at Sakhalin I could not free myself from two impressions which held me in thrall, tortured me and oppressed my soul like a heavy burden. They still are holding my soul under their ban and still are oppressing it. The first of these impressions concerns my trip to Sakhalin. Our steamer, which transported the convicts from Odessa, reminded me of a huge barge, like those used in our sea-coast towns for towing the refuse and dumping it into the sea. And these convict stations and settlements seemed to me like monstrous dumping grounds.

It made me sad to think that down in the prison settlements and all around me all traces of the human which may have remained in this refuse were irretrievably doomed to perish.

The second impression concerned Sakhalin itself.

My first steps on the island apparently took me back at least 50 years in the history of Russia. The grievous compulsory toil, the cringing servility and doffing of caps and many other signs brought to my mind the days of serfdom.

The first impression of Korsakoffsk is distinctly pleasant. There is nothing at the first glance to remind you of the galleys. It is a neat little place. Two rows of pretty little houses for officials are located on the side of a rather steep hill. The prison is a long way up the mountain. It is a low one-story building, and does not command the view nor intrude itself upon the observer. Houses of settlers line both sides of the hill. Nothing horrible, nothing somber is revealed at first sight. You are inclined to rejoice over the apparent respectability of the place, and driving up the road to Korsakoffsk you smile and think: "Well, this is very neat, very neat, indeed."

But wait! Sakhalin is a swamp, the surface of which is covered by pretty meadows. It looks charmingly green, but a step and you sink in the deep, cold, sticky and viscous mire.

The remark about the neatness hardly escapes your lips when you hear around the corner the rattling of chains. Harnessed to a cart, grasping the shaft in their hands, convicts are dragging refuse to the sea.

What a depressing sight to see men doing the work of horses.

The road leads past the prison, and one can see the grimy window panes behind heavy iron bars. Right above us is the hospital and directly opposite the mortuary.

The Chain Prison.

The chain prison of Sakhalin is intended for the criminals of the worst kind. Officially it is called the "prison for the testing of convicts," while the "prison for convicts showing signs of reforming," or the "free prison," is used for convicts who have passed the test of the "chain prison."

"Our chain prison is bad, very bad," remarked the inspector. "We are building a new one, but it will take years to get it ready." . . .

"Attention!" calls out a guard. A rattling of chains, and the convicts rise from the benches. On Easter Sunday two of the convicts fled from the prison, in spite of the fact that the convicts in a body had given their "word of honor" not to attempt an escape. As a punishment, all of them were put in chains. It is moist and close. Not an attempt at ventilation. No attempt at making the place habitable. No effort to make existence tolerable. Not even the usual convict chests are to be seen anywhere. Bare benches, filthy straw mattresses are bundled together at the head end of the benches. A mangy, lean cat plays among the benches and purrs ingratiatingly. The convicts are fond of animals, for they alone regard them as human.

In the center of the room is a table, or rather a tall bench. It is triangular in shape, wet and dirty, covered with bread crumbs and filthy tea cans.

We enter a cell, where we find two convicts chained to barrows.

"Let's see your instrument!"

The rusty barrow squeaks, the chains rattle, and the men attached to the barrow show us the implement of torture.

The barrow, which weighs about 100 pounds, is welded to the chain around the convict's ankles.

At one time the barrows were welded to the handcuffs, but now the former is the more usual method. No matter where the convict may turn, he drags with him the unwelcome burden. He even sleeps with it on a bench made specially for the purpose.

"How long is he condemned to be chained to the barrow?" I asked.

"For two years, and the convict before him had slept in this bed for three years."

I approached the "bed." The head end of the bench is worn out with the friction of the chain. The wood had rubbed up against the iron for five years. "Even the wood wears out," grumbles the convict.

The punishment is very cruel, and would be intolerable if the convicts did not ease their burdens now and then. It is impossible to chain the convicts so fast as to absolutely prevent their freeing themselves. With the help of their mates sometimes they grease the chains with soap and take off their burden at night under incredible agonies. But still for a few hours each month they manage to rid themselves of their incubus. . . .

All around us we see angry faces. They peer hopelessly into the future. The glances are cold, hard, somber and bitter. . . .

Among the chained convicts many are captured fugitives, relapsed murderers, and many still waiting to be sentenced.

"Why were you convicted?" Suspected of murder." "And you?" "Suspected of theft." "And you?" "Suspected of murder." Nothing but "suspects!" "And you?" "Killed two men." The reply came frank, sharp and firm. . . .

The Female Prison.

The prison for women is very small. It consists of one ward which holds ten persons. The women convicts of Sakhalin are punished for their crimes in a special manner. They are given away to settlers as so-called "life mates." Only those are in prison whose cases have not been finally passed upon. Two women arise as we enter. One is an old Tcherkessian from the hills of Caucasus, who does not speak a word of Russian. The other is a young woman. She was banished for life because she had induced her godfather to kill her husband.

"Why?"

"I was married to him against my will, and I loved my godfather. I thought they would send us away together. But they sent him to one place and me to another."

In Sakhalin she committed a crime rare in the annals of the island. She had defended her life mate with a gun. He got himself into a fight with the settlers. Nine men surrounded him, and were beating him. She rushed to her hut, grabbed a rifle, and shot into the group.

"You must have learned to love your life mate?"

"Of course; would I have fought for him? I might have been killed. He's a good fellow; I hoped I could live with him to the end, and now there's a fine mess to be in."

She dries her tears and sobs silently.

"Nothing will happen to her," says the inspector. "She will be convicted and given to some settler in one of the distant settlements. Women in Sakhalin are not punished."

Perhaps some people may consider this impunity. But what greater penalty could there be for a woman who loved well enough to risk her life, and who was sentenced now to be "given away" to another man?

What a dreadful custom, reminding one of bygone ages! In the days of serfdom it was customary to give people "away," toying with their life and happiness. Of all the prisons in Rykoffsk this little prison impressed me most sadly.

The Executioners.

"Hallo, baby!" "Hallo, uncle!" "Don't you call me nucle, baby, for I am your godfather, or really your life mate's godfather," merrily exclaims Tolstych, the old executioner of Sakhalin.

"And how do you come to be his godfather?" I ask.

"Ha, ha, your honor, I knouted him."

"Have you knouted many people?" Tolstych smiles. "Well, just as many as you see hereabouts, your honor." Tolstych is about 60 years old. He does not look a day over 40. He is a good-looking man, with a fine mustache and carefully shaved chin. He is wealthy, according to Sakhalin ideas, and is somewhat of a dude. Tolstych wears a coat, top boots, and even a leather cap, which is the acme of Sakhalin fashions. He always jokes and is full of fun. "Why were you banished?" "Because of the old woman!" He had killed his wife with a hatchet. "Why did you do it?" "She was no good." When he came to Sakhalin he did not lose courage. He soon found out what he was best fitted for. Cruel by nature, strong and agile, he became an executioner. Man is born to be an artist. He makes an art of everything. Give him any instrument, and he will soon use it like a virtuoso. The inspector complained: "With a skilled executioner, it is hard to tell whether he knouts as terribly as it looks and sounds. Apparently he deals a terrible blow. Your heart stands still when he catches hold of the knout. And then, if he wants to, his knout will fall weakly and painlessly. Those rogues know how to do it, and there is no way to control them."

Tolstych brought the art of knouting to perfection, but he bled the convicts. If he was well paid, the convict arose after a hundred blows with the knout without discomfort. Otherwise woe was in store for him. He was smart enough to do his business without fear of detection. The authorities could not find proof against him, and the convicts feared him. But as they could at least bargain with him, they considered him a convenient man in the executioner's office.

After the expiration of his penal servitude he became a settler. He started a small store and knouted only occasionally.

"For a year they had no executioner in prison. Many judgments accumulated, and they called me to execute them. Well, I knouted 50 men for three rubles."

"Say, Tolstych, is it true that you knouted a convict to death for 15 rubles?"

"This is Sakhalin, your honor," grinned the torturer.

An undersized, hairy little man makes his way cautiously under the windows of the prison office at Alexandroffsk. His very walk is peculiar, and reminds one of the attitude of a mongrel cur sneaking around the kitchen door and keeping an eye on the windows for fear of boiling water. It is Komleff, the oldest executioner of Sakhalin, but now retired. He heard that Tumanoff, a tramp, was to be hanged at Alexandroffsk for shooting at a guard. And now he came from his settlement to apply for the prospective job.

"Nobody can hang as well as I." He had hanged 13 men in Sakhalin, and, being a specialist, hoped to earn the three rubles. In the meanwhile, pending the execution, he hired himself out to the wife of a settler to mind her children. Such are the customs of Sakhalin.

Komleff came from Kostroma, in central Russia, where he had studied for the ministry, and was fond of Scriptural texts, particularly from the Old Testament. He was sentenced to 20 years' hard labor for highway robbery in broad daylight, and for attempted murder. He fled in 1882 from Sakhalin, but was caught at the narrowest point of the Tartar straits, having almost crossed over the continent. For this attempt he received 96 lashes with the knout, and this time was exended another 20 years. Executioners were very busy in those days, and Terski, a famous Sakhalin executioner, needed a helper. The convicts drew lots, and Komleff was chosen for the post.

But Komleff still dreamed of freedom. In 1889 he again broke jail, was caught again, and received 15 years additional.

"Fifty-five years' hard labor," proudly exclaims Komleff. Besides, he was sentenced to 45 lashes with the knout. Terski "waited" on his pupil.

"Well, dear scholar, lay thee down, and I will show thee how to knout," said Terski. And he "showed" him. Thirteen years later Komleff said to me, "I am still rotting." He bared his back. His body looked as if it had been seared and branded with hot irons. It was terrible to see. Thick white scars covered a portion of his back, and elsewhere instead of skin was seen a thin reddish membrane. The punishment must have been something dreadful. Thus one executioner jested with another. But soon Terski was detected taking a bribe from a convict and promising to spare him in consideration.

Terski was sentenced to 200 blows with rods, and Komleff was called upon to administer the punishment.

"You taught me to handle the knout. I will show you what can be done with rods," he grinned. Terski is rotting yet. What he did to Komleff was child's play to Komleff's retaliation.

"According to the law of Moses," jested the fiend, "eye for eye, tooth for tooth. I can knout." I was taught how on my own carcass."

Convict Gubar, who had attempted to escape, and who was sentenced to be knouted for cannibalism, had to be taken to the hospital after 45 of Komleff's blows. He died three days later without regaining consciousness. Komleff had been bribed to do this by convicts who hated Gubar.

Corporal Punishment.

Ivan Grusdeff, sentenced to 80 lashes with the knout for giving an offense, was brought into the office of the doctor at the Sakhalin prison.

"Your name?" "Ivan Grusdeff."

The doctor throws a glance at the documents, and gasps.

"Merciful Heaven! Eighty lashes!"

"The devil!" exclaims the inspector.

"Eighty," repeats the assistant, like an echo.

"Eighty," whisper the clerks. Every one looks curiously at the man who is about to receive 80 lashes with the knout. The doctor examines the convict. The minutes pass very slowly. The physician shrugs his shoulders. "Are you well?" "Yes, sir, quite well, your honor!"

"Quite well, you say?" "Yes, sir."

"Have you no pains aronnd the heart?"

"No, sir; none at all."

"Do you know where your heart is, you idiot? No pains in the side? Never? Don't you understand me, you fool? Don't you feel pains occasionally?"

"No, sir, never."

The physician looks wrathfully at the imbecile. "Look at me. Do you ever cough? Cough?" "No, sir; I never cough!"

The doctor is beside himself with anger. He throws a look of hatred at the convict. His glance seems to say: "Lie, you devil, lie, why don't you?" But the convict cannot see through it. "No, sir; never."

The doctor sits down and calmly enters: "Heart failure." In his anger he breaks the pen. The inspector looks at the doctor's certificate. "Exempt from corporal punishment. Take him out." Everybody heaves a sigh of relief. "The damned idiot!" said the doctor later to me in confidence. "I had a hard time to save him. He was as sound as a bell. But what could I do? Eighty lashes mean sure death. What the devil do they mean by sentencing a man to such punishment?"

The corporal punishment was administered at five o'clock. We accompanied the physician to the office. The "horse" stood in the gangway; two bundles of rods carefully tied together and about six feet long, lay alongside the "horse." Seven men were lined up against the wall of the doctor's office. The executioner stood in the doorway with a knout in his hand. The atmosphere was oppressive. "Forward!" Ivan Wassjutin, a very young fellow, almost a boy, was the first to come forward.

Behind him were two mountaineers from Caucasus; a Russian who had escaped from a Siberian prison followed the hillsmen. They had all been sentenced to corporal punishment. The verdict was read out loud, all those present standing up. Then followed the doctor's examination and the investigation of previous corporal punishment, and the doctor signed the report.

The document was handed to the convict, who had to certify in advance that he had received the punishment. The Russians obeyed and signed the papers; the letters which composed Wassjutin's signature were almost an inch apart, for his hand did not tremble, but fairly danced over the paper. The Caucasians could neither read nor write, and they did not understand Russian.

"Take your shirt off. Off with it!" The Caucasians failed to understand. A volunteer interpreted with many gestures, attempting to show them what was wanted. They stared sullenly, suspiciously, and without understanding. Finally they slowly undressed. The doctor approached one of them with a tube and an auscultation hammer, but the Caucasians jumped back terrified. Finally the doctor gave up in despair.

It was Bardunoff's turn. "Were you ever punished before?" "No, sir!" "Rub him!" A guard rubbed Bardunoff's body with a cloth. The skin reddened, and clear traces of former punishments became visible.

I stood near the doctor, whose face was flushed with shame.

"Ivan Wassjutin." Ivan neared the "horse."

"Off with all clothes," said the executioner. It was a long while before he grasped the meaning of the words.

"Lie down." Wassjutin mounted the "horse" astride.

"Take your hands off, lie down, put your arms around the horse."

Wassjutin embraced the "horse." It was humiliating, horribly humiliating, to see a naked man stretched on that "horse" and awaiting the cruel lash. Chruspel, the executioner, looked like a dog into the inspector's face.

"Thirty rods." Chruspel picked up a bundle of rods, drew one out of the bundle with astonishing agility, retired a step, and waited.

"Go ahead!" The rod whistled through the air once or twice before the inspector counted one. Then another whistling sound, and a red stripe was seen on the quaking body. "Two, three, four, five."

Chruspel threw the rod away and took up another. He walked over to the other side of the horse. Five more blows fell on the other side of the body.

Every five blows required another rod, and Chruspel changed his position for each rod. The sound of the rod whistling through the air almost broke one's heart, and the interval between two blows seemed like an eternity.

The inspector counted: "Twenty-nine, thirty."

Wassjutin rose on the horse and sat astride. His eyes were filled with tears. "Get off!"

"Two and a half minutes," said the doctor.

I thought it had lasted an hour.

Then came the Caucasians' turn. Chruspel laid them down on the horse one after another. He used the knout on them "in accordance with the verdict." A look at the inspector explained to Chruspel what he was to do. He grasped the knout in the middle, which is the punishment of the "half knout."

Bardunoff trembled and shivered. He looked helpless like a hunted rabbit, and attempted to smile. Chruspel poked him in the ribs. "Lie down." Bardunoff convulsively clasped the horse and pulled himself together. Chruspel swung the knout with an ominous movement. This was not a punishment "in accordance with the verdict of the court;" this was a private transaction, according to the customs of the Sakhalin prison inspectors.

The room was perfectly still; not a breath was heard.

Chruspel gazed inquiringly at the inspector. The latter looked about for a moment in confusion, glanced at the doctor and me, and finally made a sign to the executioner. Chruspel grasped the "half knout." A sigh of relief was heard from everyone in the room. Bardunoff's body trembled convulsively. Heaven knows what terrible blows the man had expected. For the comparatvely weak, yet cruel, lash seemed to him child's play.

Former Methods.

"When I used to come to roll call," boasted K., "I was in the habit of saying: 'Good morning, dogs. Good morning, jailbirds.' And they always replied, joyfully: 'Good morning, your honor.' For they knew that I was in good humor. If I came and did not call them dogs they knew that something was brewing. When I ordered knouting they fainted with fear. I used to say: "Knouts and spades to dig a grave.' I wanted to make them believe that some one would be knouted to death. My assistants pretended that they were calming me. The convicts were wallowing in the dust before me, and wept for mercy. But corporal punishment is no good. In my opinion nothing beats solitary confinement. Worse than knouting. Two weeks of solitary brings them all to their senses. Come, and I will show you."

We entered a gangway which was narrow and dark. On both sides were narrow cages, with tiny windows in each door. The air in the gangway made breathing impossible. It smelled like a dog kennel. The moment we entered the gangway blood-curdling oaths and cries were heard on all sides. The convicts howled in frenzy and attempted to burst their doors. I was reminded of a madhouse and of Dante's Inferno.

"Let Gussoff out," commanded the inspector.

The guard approached his cage. From the cell arose a maddened roar: "Don't come near, don't come near; I will murder you!"

"Well, perhaps you'd better leave him," calmly remarked K.

"Don't you see now that this is more effective than knouting? Knouting is nothing."

W. DORASHEVITSCH.

Not for the Drawing-Room.

A woman of recently acquired wealth went into an art gallery and asked for a painting of a certain size. "I have just what you want," said the dealer. He showed her a beautiful animal painting, but she looked at it for a few minutes and then shook her head: "It won't do," she said; "I want this picture for my drawing room." "But it's a beautiful thing," ventured the dealer. "Not for a drawing room," announced the woman, conclusively; you couldn't have a cow in a drawing room."

Didn't Seem Impossible.

"Do you think you could learn to love me?" he asked the fair girl as he looked into her [illegible].

"Well," she said, [illegible] education has advanced [illegible] strides that one [illegible] anything in these [illegible] studies.

The Burlington and Hebron ball teams will play here at 2:30 p. m., next Monday.

Joseph Riddell, of Belleview, was assisting Benj. Corbin to haul empty tobacco hogsheads from the river, Monday, when, about 4 p. m. he fell off of the wagon, striking on his left hip hurting himself quite badly, and he has not been able to move his left leg since.

The Pomona Grange, of this county, is fortunate in having had the promise of some of the foremost advocates of the principles of the Grange to be present and make addresses to the public next Saturday at Harvest Home Grounds. Let each patron invite neighbor farmers to come to the feast.

Don't you think it about time to cut the weeds around your premises. If you permit them to go to seed, it will only make more work for your neighbor next fall.—Georgetown Times.

The beauty of the Belle of the Blue Grass seems to be marred by the weeds this year, just as is that of some other towns the names of which are not difficult to guess.

The Hathaway Gold Fields.

Everything has been so quiet about the Hathaway gold fields for several months that persons on the outside had come to the conclusion that the excitement had subsided because the field had been abandoned as utterly worthless, but an investigation has proven quite the contrary. The owners of the lands under which the vein is known to be located are sanguine that they own something good, and are determined to have a thorough investigation made; and, with that in view they have been quietly holding frequent conferences and submitting specimens of the ore to different assayists, from whom they have received very favorable reports, so much as to convert several skeptics to a belief that gold in paying quantities will soon be taken from the mine.

Numerous plans have been suggested for conducting the work of developing the mine, and a rich farmer in Grant county, who owns land on one side of the gulch where some work has been done on the land that joins his, advocates the organizing of a mining company, and will head the list of stockholders with a liberal subscription of money for purchasing such an outfit as is necessary to prosecute the work of developing the mine in a business-like manner. This proposition has the elements of business and will probably be the plan under which work will begin, and that at no distant day. To organize a stock company to be called, for instance, "The Riddell's Run Mining and Development Co." would be an easy matter now, and the money necessary to settle the question of "gold or no gold" for all time, would be forth-coming in a short time. This neighborhood will never be satisfied until the value of its reputed gold mine is determined. The prospects have induced some to increase the price of their lands, and should a strike be made, the price of realestate about Hathaway will go skyward at once, of course.

Not much noise will be made by those who are the most interested, but their plans will be put into execution in a quiet manner and no skyrockets will be sent up until they know the value of their mining property is something worthwhile.

What, in the near future may become a bustling mining camp has a picturesque location near the head of a deep gulch that empties into Riddell's Run only a short distance below the flourishing little hamlet of Hathaway. The country around about is inhabited by as good class of citizens as is to be found in Boone county, and there is wealth enough, if it becomes interested, in the immediate neighborhood to put the mine in operation. It is near a good road that leads to the Ohio river at Rabbit Hash, on the west and to Union on the east, the distance from each of the above points being about five miles.

The slogan on the part of the people in the neighborhood is, "we will not stop until we know what we have got."

Ex-County Judge E. H. Baker and Marcus Ryle are the owners of the land from which the specimens of ore have been taken, and they have no doubt but what it will ultimately prove a valuable deposit of the much desired yellow metal.

Notice to the Alumni.

The members of the Alumni Boone County Common School Association are hereby notified that the annual meeting will be held at [illegible] Thursday, August 10, [illegible]. The graduates of 1904-5 [illegible] be present.

SAMUEL CHAMBERS, Pres.

[illegible] his threshing [illegible] yesterday in the [illegible] of Erlangar and

BATTLE AT CYNTHIANA.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

By request I will endeavor to fight over again, in a bloodless way, the first battle of Cynthiana. Little was said of that action at the time and the historian has since passed over it as something too small and insignificant for notice, yet the fact remains that the Government forces were at that time blundering along and stumbling over smaller things than Col. Morgan and the battle of Cynthiana. And in my opinion and those who know best, with numbers and disadvantages considered, that was one of the most sanguinary and hotly contested actions of the Civil War, and the result should reflect great credit upon those engaged and especially upon the management and heroic conduct of the officer commanding, and if in those days we had adopted the custom practiced in recent wars when all who can climb a fence, ride a horse, or swim a river are in line for promotion, Col. Landram would have come out of that battle with well merited stars; for certainly few officers could have handled the men, staid as long, inflicted the punishment and had enough men left to tell the story. The first battle of Cynthiana was fought on the 17th day of July, 1862, between the Confederate forces comprising three regiments composed of Kentuckians, Tennesseeans, Georgians, Mississippians, Texans and South Carolinians, reported by Capt. Austin, Morgan's Adjutant General, at twenty-two hundred strong, with two pieces of artillery commanded by Col. John H. Morgan, and the Union forces comprised of about 15 men of the 18th Ky. Infantry and the following home guards: Sixty men under Capt. J. R. McClintock, 50 men under Capt. Lafe Wilson of Cynthiana; Capt. John S. Arthur of Newport, 50 men, Capt. J. J. Wright, of Cincinnati, 40 men, Capt. Pepper of Bracken county, 35 men; 75 men of the 7th Ky. Cavalry—raw recruits under Maj. W. O. Smith—and one brass 12-pounder and small artillery squad under Capt. Billy Glass, of Cincinnati; amounting in the aggregate to about 340 men, only partly armed and disciplined, all under the command of Lieutenant Col. John J. Landram, of Warsaw, Ky. That we may fully understand the situation when we reach it, it is necessary to mention a few of the incidences leading up to the battle. The 18th Ky. Volunteer Infantry was recruited in Gallatin and the adjoining counties in Kentucky and Switzerland county, Indiana. It was mustered into the service at Covington, Ky., and assigned to duty along the Kentucky Central Rail Road with instructions to guard the bridges and to protect the railroad's interests, covering the entire distance between Covington and Lexington, with headquarters at the latter place. Our own Col. Landram was stationed at Cynthiana with a battallion of the 18th Ky., numbering about 300 men. I was stationed with about 30 men at Kiser's Station, about twelve miles south of Cynthiana and eight miles from Paris. My orders were to guard the bridges spanning the Kiser and Stoner creeks. On the 14th of July I received notice from Col. Landram that Morgan had entered the State and was moving this way; that his object of attack was evidently Paris, for the purpose of cutting communication between Cincinnati and Lexington. On the morning of the 15th the up train was loaded with soldiers, among whom was my Captain, David E. Pugsley, of Warsaw, who told me that Col. Landram had received orders from Brig. Gen. G. C. Smith to rush all the men that he could spare to Paris; that Morgan was moving on that place. That night my guards were driven from the Kiser bridge. I went to investigate and found a box car standing midway the bridge in flames. We tried to move it but the wheels were locked and the excessive heat forced us to abandon our object and the doomed bridge. On the morning of the 16th a car came up from Falmouth with orders from Col. Landram to bring us to Cynthiana. We arrived at Cynthiana at one o'clock p. m., and found everything red hot and still a heating; the coolest thing in town was the thermometer. While it fondled around the 100 mark Col. Landram had begun to suspect that General Smith had been deceived and the order taking his men away to Paris and burning the bridge after them was a ruse of Morgan's for which he was noted, the work of the shrewd Elsworth, Morgan's telegraph operator, having for its purpose the weakening of Cynthiana, the real object of attack; hence the Colonel was very busy preparing for anything that might happen—making the best possible use of the situation and the material at hand, stationing his men at all available positions and guarding every approach to the town. We spent the night listening for the roar of the cannon at Paris which never came. The morning of the 17th day of July, 1862, dawned upon a clear, cloudless sky and the warm, balmy breese as it caressingly kissing its way through the quivering, weeping boughs, stirring the thermometer up to business and whispering words of cheer and encouragement to a devoted band of soldiers and a small group of officers that stood huddled together on the streets of Cynthiana, Ky., talking over the situation, in the midst of whom, calm and collected, sat the gallant Col. Landram, who was astir and in the saddle early and looked as if he had been up all night. All eyes were turned upon him as he said: "Gentlemen, I believe that Morgan is nearer Cynthiana this morning than he is to Paris and we are liable to be attacked at any moment. I believe we are in for it, and will have to make the best of it. It is needless for me to tell you to do your duty, for I well know you will all do that." We knew our Col. had never been under fire at that time, but we felt that he was composed of the material of which heroes are made. Our confidence in him was such that he had only to command and we would obey and would follow his lead unto death if need be. We well knew the great odds against us and that the reputation of Morgan at that time was not of the kind calculated to create in the breast of a Union soldier a desire to become his prisoner; hence we felt that it would be a fight to the finish, to victory or death. But we felt inspired, gained strength and many soldiers were added to our ranks as we gathered courage from the cool, heroic Colonel, who looked the veteran of a dozen wars, the hero of a hundred battles, while he quietly gave orders to his little band of undisciplined soldiers preparatory to crossing swords with the terrible Texas Ranger, the trained victors of many battles. At 2 p. m. I was talking with my old friend, the late Reuben Ireland, of olden times and better things, when I noticed a small blue smoke suddenly curl up across the Licking river bridge, about eight hundred yards distant, followed by a loud report, a shrieking, singing whiz overhead and the stern voice of Col. Landram as he shouted: "Every man to his post, Morgan is here," thus answering the all important question, "where is Morgan?" and gave notice that the battle was on.

[Continued next week.]

The Death Penalty.

A little thing sometimes results in death: Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best salve on earth and will prevent fatality, when Burns, Sores, Ulcers and Piles threaten. Only 23c at all Drug Stores.

Lost—Red cow. Has been gone over two weeks. Information of her whereabouts gladly received by Chester Anderson, Hebron.

St. Petersburg has the highest death rate for any European capital, 51 per 1,000.

The cost of city electric lights ranges from two to three cents per hour per lamp.

The Clore Family Reunion.

Saturday, July 29th, was another of those glorious, golden summer days, when all the world should be at peace with God and man. No more fitting day could have been chosen for the Clore Reunion at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rouse near Liburn. The Burlington band under the direction of Dr. W. O. Rouse, rendered the music for the occasion, and 'midst music, birds, trees and flowers, one could not but acknowledge the beauty of nature, and drink the sweetness of the summer day.

"Let us sing a song of summer, sweet and low,
Of rippling brooks and rustling leaves,
Of swallows chirping 'neath the eaves,
Of wee nests swaing to and fro."

Over 75 guests were present, and when the noon hour came a most bountiful repast was spread "neath the shade of the old elm trees," and "all went merry as a marriage bell." The day was spent pleasantly in outdoor sports, rowing, a ball game, etc., and at dusk everyone came in from the afternoon sports, and enjoyed a well rendered supper before starting for home, sweet home. Those who were fortunate enough to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Rouse, all went away singing praises in favor of their hospitality, and wishing many more such occasions would take place in the future, for

"Here are no troubles, here are none that weep;
Here come no thoughts of sadness or despair;
But fairest flowers in fullest beauty sleep;
And softest sunlight fill the dreaming air."

L. S.

J. P. HEMPHILL
THE DRUGGIST
at Rising Sun, Ind.,
....Carries a full line of....
DRUGS,
PAINTS,
OILS AND
VARNISHES.
In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet his Kentucky friends.
—CALL AND SEE HIM.—
Yours Respectfully,
J. P. HEMPHILL,
Rising Sun, Indiana.

SPECIALS!
As a further introduction of the quality, style and tailoring of Clothing we are offering, the . . . following prices will prevail . . .
$10.00 For a handsome, carefully finished and up-to-date patterns Men's Suits.
$15.00 For Ready-to-wear Tailor Made Suit, like custom work.
$7.50 Men's Coats and Trouser Suit.
Young Men's Suits.....$7.50
Boys' and Children's Suits.....$3.00
Men's Trousers.....$1.00
Children's Trousers.....35c
Merchant Tailoring
Favorable prices to our customers, to introduce what can be made for the money.
Max Herbst & Co.
531 Madison Ave., COVINGTON, KY.
Lucian Rice, Mgr. Near Sixth Street.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,
Salvage AND Wrecking Contractors
All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.
BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,
BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.
Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.,
Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.
Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

FREE To All New Subscribers
THE GREAT
AMERICAN FARMER
The Leading Agricultural Journal of the Nation, Edited by an Able Corps of Writers.
The American Farmer is the only Literary Farm Journal published. It fills a position of its own and has taken the leading place in the homes of rural people in every section of the United States. It gives the farmer and his family something to think about aside from the humdrum of routine duties
Every Issue Contains an Original Poem by Solon L. Goode.
Within the Nex Thirty Days We Offer
TWO FOR THE PRICE OF ONE
The Recorder and American Farmer
Both One Year for $1.50.
This unparalleled offer is made to all new subscribers, and all old ones who pay up all arrears and renew within thirty days.
Sample copies free. Address
BOONE COUNTY RECORDER, Burlington, Ky.

Lithographing Printing
Blank Books
Embossing Engraving
WE ARE AGENTS FOR THE
Courier-Journal Job Printing Co.
Who are doing the best work and at prices that will suit you. Place your order with us and it will receive prompt attention. Illustrated Catalogues and Booklets, Lithographed and Embossed Stationery, Engraved Cards, Invitations, Blank Books, Loose Leaf Ledgers, Etc.
BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

"Always Reliable."
W. N. HIND & CO.
Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,
210-12 W. Fifth Street,
Cincinnati, - Ohio.

JOSEPH HERRMAN,
—DEALER IN—
FANCY GROCERIES,
SMOKED MEATS,
Fruits & Vegetables
Erlanger, Kentucky.
Opp. Erlanger Deposit Bank.
Eggs and Butter exchanged in trade or cash. Boone county trade solicited.
PLEASE CALL AND GET MY PRICES.
Phone—South 1054 Y—Call 3.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
M. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged. Money to Loan on Real Estate. Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL,.....$30,000
Surplus and undivided profits $0,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptremitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000
Surplus,.....$8.000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Every Farmer in the County
should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, - Walton, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE,
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.
AT UNION 1st MONDAY in each month.

Dr. G. M. Terrill,
DENTIST,
Walnut Street,
LAWRENCEBURG, - INDIANA.

B. L. RICE, M. J. CROUCH,
RICE & CROUCH,
REAL ESTATE
And Note Brokers.
Farms Bought and Sold.
Notes Negotiated. Money to Loan.
Office—UNION, KY.

ANTHONY BENTLER,
AUCTIONEER,
19 Covington Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KY.
Will cry sales anywhere in Boone or Kenton county. Prices reasonable.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 9, 1905. NO. 43.

County Correspondence.

WALTON.

Mrs. Martin, of Alexandria, is spending a few weeks with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fish, of Lonisville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith returned, last week, after a pleasant visit to their son, Howard, at St. Louis, Mo.

A score of 14 to 6 in favor of Fort Thomas was the result of the baseball game between Walton and Ft. Thomas, last Saturday.

Miss Lula Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jones, and Mr. Elisha Hudson were married, Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. at the M. E. Church.

Misses Fannie Mae Buck, Cecil Menefee, Hattie Taylor, Pauline Carley and Katie Bents, will spend the week with Miss Stella Taylor, of Richwood.

o o o

FLICKERTOWN.

Otto Rector lost a check for $30 one day last week.

Very little threshing done in this neighborhood.

Ben Hensley called on friends in Lawrenceburg, Sunday.

George Hensley and family visited Mrs. Lonlaker, Sunday.

A good rain, that was badly needed, fell here Saturday night.

R. E. Huey, of Walton, was a pleasant caller here, Thursday.

Chas. Finn and wife were in Aurora, one day last week, shopping.

Owen Watts was here, Thursday, looking for hogs to put on slop.

Charles Hensley and family visited Ed Hensley and family, Thursday.

John Deck and family were visiting at Bellevlew, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Laura Sebree and son, Bernard, were shopping in Aurora, Thursday.

Geo. Hensley sold three good cattle to Mr. Sickle, of Lawrenceburg, last week.

Ezra Aylor, of near the hub, passed through here, Saturday, enroute to his brother Will's in Indiana.

Mrs. Marry E. Hensley and her little granddaughter are visiting relatives and friends over on the East Bend road.

o o o

BELLEVIEW.

Aug. 7—Protracted meeting began at the Baptist church, Sunday night.

Sorry to report our friend, Joseph Riddell, no better.

Mrs. Missouri Walton, of Erlanger, will spend the week with Jas. Rogers and children.

W. H. Pope, of Huntsville, called to see his old neighbor, Joseph Riddell, last Saturday.

Mrs. Harriet Rice, sister, of Idlewild, and Mrs. Josie Riley, daughter, of Union, are with Joseph Riddell.

Mrs. Belle Clore's children, who have been very much complaining in the past few weeks are up and about again.

Edson Riddell and wife, of Burlington, and Add Riddell, of Bullittsville, were down, Sunday, to see their kinsman, Joseph Riddell.

Your reporter's father passed through last Friday, on his way to Rising Sun, Ind., to visit his son, Arch and family. He returned home Sunday.

The protracted meeting at the Christian church will not begin until Monday night after the fourth Sunday in October and will continue indefinitely.

Mrs. Missouri Walton, of Erlanger, Miss Blanch Satchwell, of Rising Sun, Ind.; Blant Pope and wife, and Andrew Acra, of Huntsville, attended services at the Christian church, Sunday.

Edgar C. Riley, Leonard Kite and wife, W. G. and Miss Maggie Kite, and Myrtle and Aima Corbin, were guests of Misses Genie and Emma Moody at dinner, last Sunday. Misses Genie and Emma surely knows how to entertain.

o o o

FLORENCE.

Dr. Otis Senior has located in Union.

Miss Iva Cody is very low with typhoid fever.

Little Virginia Buckner is visiting John Sells and wife in Cincinnati.

The Florence base ball club would like to have a game for Saturday.

Fred Tanner, of Ludlow, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends here.

Mrs. Fannie Hampton died Sunday night after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Degiow and Irvin Kyle, of Covington, spent Sunday with friends here.

Mrs. Mary Latham spent Monday and Tuesday with Mrs. Bird Clore in Ludlow.

Miss Caroline Latham has returned from Covington, where she spent several weeks.

Miss Lena Latham, of Oak Park, Ill., is spending a week with her mother here.

Miss Mae Miller entertained thirty-seven young people at her home on Price's Pike, last Saturday.

Mrs. Harry Fisk and daughter, Marguerite, are visiting Prof. and Mrs. Vernon Hall, in Evanston, Ill.

Mrs. Ezra Keller, of Hillsboro, is expected here this week to be the guest of her mother, Mrs. Frances Jane Tanner.

Mrs. Patrick Cahill was presented with a Limeric bam from Ireland, by her nephew, Will O'Connor, of Indianapolis.

Spence Tanner and family, Howard Tanner and wife, Roy Tanner and wife and Mrs. Olise Riggs, spent Sunday with Mrs. Fannie Clutterbuck.

The Young Ladies' Society of the Catholic church will give a Lawn Fete, Musical Recital and supper at the home of Charles Scott, Wednesday evening August 16. Admission, 25c.

Florence base ball team played the Banklicks last Sunday. Last week's paper stated that the Florence team had two players from the Boones, which was a mistake, for there was only one Boone with them. And it is a fact that the opposing team was composed of Walton players.

VERONA.

Kirtley Benson, who has been quite sick, is better.

A great many plums are being shipped from this place.

We were blessed with a good rain last Saturday night.

A good many attended the fish fry at Concord, last Saturday. All reported a good time.

Miss Corine Conrad, of Dry Ridge, was the pleasant guest of Miss Blanche Roberts, last week.

Mrs. Ura Roberts, who has been very low with typhoid fever, we are glad to report improving.

Mrs. W. S. Robson, of Covington, is the guest of her grandson, Master Scott Robson, who is making his home with Mrs. Ruth Roberts, her other grand mother.

The protracted meeting at New Bethel is progressing nicely, and an interest is being manifested. Bro. Thsobald is a wide awake gospel leader and will be profitable to all who hear him.

o o o

CONSTANCE.

Mr. Underhill from near Rabbit Hash, was calling on friends here last week.

Several from here attended the social at Pt. Pleasant, last Saturday evening.

Miss Margaret Otten entertained a number of girl friends Sunday, from Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Prabie entertained a number of relatives from Newport, Sunday.

Master Albert Kottmyer, who is seriously ill at the Cincinnati hospital, is slowly recovering.

Mrs. Nora Davis and daughter, Fanny, of Petersburg, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Leon Loper.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cross and little daughter, of Cincinnati, were guests of Mr. Wm. Masters and family Sunday.

Miss Lena Wilhemeyer, from Anderson Ferry Ohio, was visiting his sister, Mrs. Wm. Zimmer, here last week.

Messrs. Elza Zimmer and Harry Klaserner, of Cleveland, Ohio, are spending their vacation with relatives and friends here.

o o o

LIMABURG.

Everett Aylor has some nice shoats for sale.

Jas. Kelly has been on the sick list for several weeks.

The rains Saturday and Sunday were very much needed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Aylor were Sunday guests of T. B. Aylor.

Z. Petit and wife, from the city, spent Sunday with James Petit and wife.

Miss Myrtle Clore spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Artie Tanner.

Mrs. J. D. Davis' two sons, of Van Wert, Ohio, visited J. W. Quigley and wife a few days last week.

Misses Annie Brown and Pearl Aylor are spending a few days with friends and relatives in Covington.

Last Wednesday evening Major Popham gave the young people a dance in honor of his daughters, Misses Ada and Stella, it being their birthday. There was quite a large crowd present and dancing was indulged in until nearly daylight.

o o o

MIDWAY.

Earl Grubbs, of Latonia, has returned home after a two weeks' stay with W. C. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dempsey entertained the young folks, Saturday night, with a dance.

The trustees of Beaver public school have employed Miss Lizzie Roberts to teach for them this winter.

William Shelids left here last Thursday for Harrison county, where he will spend several days prospecting.

Misses Nannie and Laura Powers, of near Verona, are spending a couple of weeks here with their aunt, Mrs. Will Wilson.

T. J. Hughes threshed out about all of the grain in this neighborhood, last week, the most of which was in a damp condition.

William Wilson left last Friday for Lawreuceburg, Ind., with several good horses with which he expects to swipe some premiums.

There was a party through here last week securing the right of way for a telephone line from Sparta to Cincinnati. The survey runs just one half mile west of Beaver.

The crop of fried chickens in this locality will be very short this season owing to the bad luck of a number of our poultry raisers. A few succeeded in raising their usual number.

The members of the Golden Link Society will entertain with a sacred concert and ice cream social at Hughes Chapel next Saturday night (August 12th). 25 cents admission including refreshments will be charged for missionary purposes. Doors open 7 p. m.

One evening last week as Mrs. Gertrude Carroll and Miss Lutie Miller were on their way to Hughes Chapel to attend singing, they were confronted on the pike near the residence of Chas. Burns, by a vicious bovine, which made a vicious attack upon the horse they were driving. Fortunately the horse was not easily frightened and they, having presence of mind enough to use the whip freely on both horse and assailant, made their escape without any serious mishap other than a very bad scare.

When in Lawrenceburg go to R. W. Clark for a good shave or a hair-cut.

The teachers say they are having a good institute.

COMMISSARY.

Aug. 5—Temper is a good thing to have, but a bad thing to lose.

Carl Cason, of Middle creek, is sporting a new runabout.

We are under obligations to Bud Goodridge for some nice, ripe peaches.

Julius Murray, of Missouri, son-in-law of Mrs. Mary Johnson, arrived here Wednesday.

Miss Bertha Smith, of Ashby, spent the week with Mrs. Harry Acra on Middle creek.

Charley Hensley and wife, of Ashby, passed through here, Friday, on their way to Gunpowder.

Mrs. Anna French, of Indiana, and sister of Mrs. Ben Cason, of Middle creek, is visiting her.

Mrs. Laurenia Scott went to Barkworks, Indiana, Monday, to visit her daughter, Mrs. Maud Riley.

Mesdames Barnard and John Rogers, of Belleview, spent Thursday with Mrs. W. T. Ryle at this place.

Miss Vannie Clore, of Belleview, gave a graphophone entertainment at the Terrill school house, Thursday night.

Ed Louiaker and family, of New Kentucky, formerly of this county, are entertaining a nice baby girl at their home.

Robt. Koons, near here, better known as "Dooly", is nursing a badly cut and sore foot, caused by stepping on a piece of glass.

Mrs. Louden and family, of near Belleview, were guests of Richard Lacy and family, near Botts' Landing, last Sunday.

Dr. Hopkins, of Rabbit Hash, is treating Mrs. Rachal Parsons for her facial trouble. She thinks his treatment is helping her more than any she has tried.

Geo. Koons went to Lawrenceburg, Thursday, with a load of blackberries, making the third load he has taken over there.

Richard Louden, wife and daughters, Gracie, Nannie and Julia, of Scrapville, visited Leomer Louden and wife, last Saturday.

Bud Goodridge, Andrew and Harry Acra, of Middle creek, delivered apples and peaches to Zimmer at this place, last Wednesday.

R. A. Brady and Xen Scott are cutting the meadow adjoining the crusher house. The grass is light, yet, they are getting considerable good hay.

T. J. Walton went to Erlanger, last Sunday, and brought his mother home with him. She will spend a couple of weeks visiting her children and grandchildren here and at Belleview.

Charley Gaines and wife, of Belleview, are staying with Xen Scott while Mrs. Scott is visiting her daughter in Indiana. Charley is putting in the time picking blackberries to make wine.

James Beard and wife, of Belleview, Noah Wise and family, of Clore's Ridge, Elijah West and wife, and son-in-law and wife, of Aurora, Ind., were guests of Joseph West, of Scrapville, Sunday.

The report, the first of the week, that J. J. Walton had rented Miss Jnlia Dismore's farm, created quite a sensation in Scrapville. We have been reliably informed that instead of renting a partnership has been formed.

Bro. Acra is very much concerned as to the answer, if any, we make Bro. Everywhere. He said to a friend of ours, "what can Commissary say to Everywhere, now?" Bro. Acra, we can truthfully say, that no son has visited us within the last year or two, nor at anyother time; nor have we written a note to any lady asking her company to a dance in Burlington nor anywhere else. So we are not worried because of what Everywhere said. We feel sorry for him for he was hard pushed for items in his last two write-ups, and yet, he would, perhaps, have said what he did if he had had a full column, because fun and frolic so strongly predominate in his characteristic make-up, that in order to have fun, he will draw on his imagination at times.

o o o

IDLEWILD.

Tobacco looks fine.

For the last week the weather has been delightful.

Mrs. R. C. Gaines and father visited at Edgar Cropper's, last week.

John Conner's two daughters, of Cincinnati, visited him last week.

Thomas Whitaker became very ill last Thursday. Dr. Walton relieved him.

Mrs. Emma Berkshire, of Milton, Indiana, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. B. R. Gaines.

Rev. J. S. Kirtley, of Elgin, Ill., was the guest of his sister, Mrs. H. C. Duncan, recently.

The four machines, Baldon's, Hewitt's and Brooks & Stephens' have about finished the work of threshing in this neighborhood.

Mrs. H. C. Duncan and sisters, the Misses Kirtley, of Erlanger, and Mrs. O. W. Gaines, are recuperating at lake Winona, Northern Indiana.

The Misses Goodin, of Delhi, are boarding with Mrs. Calamese near Bullittsville. One of them taught at the Berkshire school house several years ago.

J. C. Hood has petitioned the Postoffice Department to discontinue the Idlewild office and make this the end of his R. F. D., to all of which this community is opposed.

The fine rain of Saturday night was accompanied by considerable wind. We had the sheet and the zig-zag lightning at the same time that night, which seldom happens in this latitude.

Kentucky is certainly one of the favored States, but as sin and crime do abound here as in other places, we do not know why it is thus favored and spared from cyclones and epidemics.

Among those so handsomely entertained by Mrs. W. A. Gaines, a few days ago, were Mr. and Mrs. Winston Coffman and Miss Nannie Winston, of Covington; Mrs. Lizzie Gaines and daughter, of Louisville; Mrs. Jasper, of Richmond; Miss Ruth Kirtley, of Lawrenceburg.

Leave your timepieces at Clutterbuck Bros.' for repairs.

PETERSBURG.

Aug. 7—Capt. Alden's new boat will be ready to launch in six weeks.

Mrs. Henry Chapin, of Mobile, Ala., is visiting her old home here

Atty. J. G. Tomlin, of Walton, was a visitor to town, last Saturday.

Miss Flossie Botts is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Effie Hudson, at Dayton, O.

Miss Anna Sheldon, of Cincinnati, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Terrill.

Mrs. Lena Papet, of Indianapolis, Indiana, was visiting her parents here, Sunday.

Mrs. Levi Spencer, of Owensboro, is visiting his brother, Chas. Cox and family.

Miss Olivia Allen has returned home from a visit to her aunt, Mrs. Will Graves at Hebron.

Rev. Selby has returned home from Sniphur, Ky., where he has been holding a protracted meeting.

Master William Berkshire and mother, of Milford, Ohio, is visiting Capt. A. B. Parker and family.

Chas. Hoffman and wife, of Cincinnati, are visiting Mrs. Hoffman's parents Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ruth.

Elmer and Wallace McWethy, of Memphis, Tenn., are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. McWethy.

Frank M. Cox, the popular merchant and councilman, of Aurora, Ind., was visiting his old home, Sunday.

By special request the National Stock Co., will present Uncle Tom's Cabin at Gordon's Hall, Friday night, Aug. 18.

Mrs. Milo Atkinson and little child, of Newport News, Va., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Chambers.

Joe Morrison will begin building a new boat for the Lawrenceburg ferry as soon as he completes Capt. Alden's new boat.

Dr. Ray Grant, one of the best dentists in the city of Louisville, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Grant near town.

David Aicorn, a prominent young business man, of Pittsburg, Pa., was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Aicorn, Sunday.

The body of a dead child, seemingly about four months old, was found floating in the river at the mouth of Wilson's creek, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Walton, of Covington, and Dr. and Mrs. Simpson, of Dillsboro, Ind., were guests of J. W. Berkshire and family, Sunday.

James Papet has returned home from Xenia, Ohio, where he went with Mr, Belden and family. Jimmie was in Mr. Belden's employe a number of years.

Mr. D. J. C. Gardner, a prominent attorney of Welch, Va., and his wife, who was Miss Bessie Grant, daughter of the late J. Frank Grant, are visiting relatives and friends here.

Wm. Criswell, the New York editor who killed himself a few days ago, on account of an article published in his paper reflecting on Congressman Rhinock, was a native of Aurora, Indiana, and was well known here.

A Mr. Bloch, a wealthy real estate man, of Chicago, was in town a few days ago inquiring for land numbers and a great many mistook him for Scooten Scotty, of Death Gulch, who is a near relative of Scott's.

Joe Hurd and Louis Antras have started a new industry in town. They visit the big slough near town every day and capture the monster bull frogs that inhabit the pond, for which they find a ready sale among our people.

Capt. Al Berry Nixon came to town at the head of the Gasburg ball team, Saturday, and demanded the pelts of our Junior nine, but when Capt Nixon returned home the pelts of his team were nailed on Capt. Dickey McWethy's barn door—score 21 to 7.

A heavy wind storm accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning, loud peals of thunder and a heavy downpour of rain passed over our town Sunday night about 8 o'clock. Much damage was done the growing crops by the heavy wind. Lightning struck a maple tree in front of M. L. Gordon's store when a number of people was standing nearby, but no one was hurt.

From the the tone of Everywhere's article in last week's Recorder, the correspondent as well as the g reater part of the populace, has come to the conclusion that he is a knocker in everything the word implies, or to make the phrase more lucid, he has soured on himself and the balance of mankind. Now, Charle, we are sorry to see you slowly, but surely drifting away and we throw out to you the life line that you may grasp it before it is too late and you land eternally and forever in the Republican camp. We don't have to whisper softly our allegiance to Judge Paynter, we can proclaim it from the house tops if necessary, and when the legislature meets in December we will go marching on in victory and the kickers and knockers will can be loyal only when their favored few are in the ascendency will pass from the stage of action unnoticed, unannounced. The fact that the election of Judge Paynter to the U. S. Senate would place one of our Boone county boys on the Appellate Bench should cause every loyal Democrat in Boone county to rally to the support of Judge Paynter, who has one of the brightest minds in Kentucky, and when that event which will surely transpire, is consunated, then our own Judge John M. Lassing will occupy the seat vacated by the retiring Judge Paynter with as much dignity and as much fairness as ever a Marshall or a Harlan did. As for myself there is nothing too good for John.

END OF A BITTER FIGHT.

"Two physicians had a long and stubborn fight with an abscess on my right lung," writes J. F. Hughes of DuPont, Ga., "and gave me up. Everybody thought my time had come. As a last resort I tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. The benefit I received was striking and I was on my feet in a few days. Now, I've entirely regained my health." It conquers all Coughs, Colds and Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed by all Drug Stores. Price 50c, and $1. Trial bottles free.

HATHAWAY.

August 7.—The fine rain that is falling today is appreciated.

The yield of wheat is very satisfactory.

Some tobacco was cut here last week. It was planted very early.

The gold mine is all the talk here, and nuggets will soon be plentiful.

Henry Riley, of Union, is visiting friends and relatives in this neighborhood.

Rev. J. S. Rambo filled Bro. Layton Maddox's appointment at Big Bone, while the latter preached at East Bend.

John S. Mason was in this neighborhood last Friday and Saturday, threshing wheat with his up-to-date machine.

Miss Ida Hendrix, of southern part of this State, has been the pleasant guest of Mrs. Nan McElroy and family, this week.

Frank Rue and family, of Lexington, are here on a weeks' sojonrn, and are visiting their relatives and friends, who are glad to meet them again.

Several from this vicinity have been attending the series of meetings held at the East Bend Baptist church by Rev. Layton Maddox, of Big Bone.

M. M. Ryle and wife, of Beech Grove neighborhood, spent several days the latter part of last week with Nathan Clements and family, of this place.

John C. White and family, and Jas. Allen, of Hamilton, partook of a good dinner with John H. Mason and wife, last Sunday, and spent the afternoon in their hospitable home.

John S. Mason did quite a business stunt last Friday. He attended the fish fry, saw the county attorney on business, made a sale of his livestock and was with his machine one half of the day.

Mrs. E. C. Franks is at the bedside of her sister, Miss Edna McElroy, in Owen county, who has nervous prostration, caused by an examination at an Institute held in that county. We hope Miss Edna will soon gain her strength.

A dog belonging to J. W. Aylor, and supposed to be mad caused quite a panic in Big Bone church last Sunday morning. The dog was driven out by some of the members, when it was followed home where it had a fit. A gun was secured and it was killed.

One of the most fascinating outings of the season was the elaborate fish fry and big dinner given Friday, August 4th, at Big Bone Baptist church by the Sunday school of that place. 207 pounds of nice river fish and a fat lamb secured for the occasion were fried on the large furnaces prepared for the occasion, by a corpse of expert cooks. The meats were fried to a medium hue. Geo. L. Smith, who can't be beaten, made a thirty gallon kettle of fish chowder, which was pronounced first class by all who ate of it. At the noon hour the provisions that were prepared on the grounds, together with all the delicacies that the good ladies had prepared at their homes, were spread on the large tables in the church yard, where each and everyone present partook of a most bountiful feast. After dinner the crowd retired to the church and after a few songs by the Sunday school and choir, it listened to a most excellent sermon by Rev. O. M. Hney, of Stanford, Lincoln, county. His text was Romans 1-15.

NOTES.

400 people in attendance.

Everybody got plenty to eat.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, of Union, was able to attend.

The game of ball was played by large and small.

The expenses were paid and there was money left for the S. S. fund.

R. W. Adams and wife, and D. E. Castleman, were there from the capital.

A large boiler of coffee was made for those that were lovers of the berry extract.

The frying of the fish was watched by several spectators who thought it grand.

Good order prevalled during the day and all reported a fine time, and a day well spent.

People began to arrive from all points early in the morning and were still coming at noon.

o o o

GUNPOWDER.

August 7.—After a visit of several days with relatives in this neighborhood, Mrs. Alice Daughters and children returned to their home in Cincinnati, last Sunday.

Mrs. Ollie Rouse has a severe case of finx.

Mrs. Louella Star is entertaining a Miss Brown, of Cincinnati.

Elbert Senior and family visited at Crescent Springs last Sunday.

E. H. Surface threshed from one bushel and a half peck of oats sown, 80 bushels.

The grain is about all threshed in this neighborhood, and the yield is very satisfactory.

Notwithstanding the favorable season for potatoes some in this neighborhood will have a small yield.

Only a few from here attended the grand field day exercises at Harvest Home grounds last Saturday.

J. H. Tanner and family and Mrs. Lizzie Quick broke bread with the write and wife, last Saturday.

R. O. Beemon is improving the appearance of his residence by having a beautiful veranda built, and everything painted.

George Barlow shipped his last consignment of lambs last week, and says it is the first time in 15 years that he has been without any sheep. William Kirkpatrick shipped a load of cattle to Cincinnati, last Saturday.

o o o

BULLITTSVILLE.

Aug. 8.—A fine rain fell here last Saturday night.

T. G. Willis sold eight tons of sheaf oats to Fred Pfalsgraf, of Idlewild.

Rev. Hankins will begin a protracted meeting at the Christian church here on September 4th.

Fred Birkle, of Cincinnati, was here last Saturday and spent a few hours with his parents and brother.

Charles A. Gaines delivered a bunch of nice stock ewes to Owen county people at Union, one day last week.

Ed Barnard was struck on the hand with a ball bat in the game at White Water park, last Saturday, and hurt considerably, but, fortunately no bones were broken.

The news of the tragic death of Rudolph Guissinger, of Lebanon, Ohio, struck the writer like a thunderbolt. We were warm personal friends, and it was with a sad heart that we received the news.

About 50 from this neighborhood attended the White Water Detective Association at White Water Park near Harrison, Ohio, last Saturday, and besides other attractions there were three exciting games of base ball, one of which was between the Garrison Allsorts and a combination team. Gray was pitching an excellent game for the Allsorts, and would have won the game had he stayed in the box. The Allsorts were three runs in the lead, when James Houston, the great baseben, desired to let out some of his slack, and was permitted to go in the box, and the result was disastrous. The first three men up were given their base on balls, and the fourth man rapped him for a home run, and let the four runs across the plate, putting the Combination one run ahead. In the ninth inning each team made one run, the game closing with the Allsorts one run to the bad.

o o o

UNION.

Miss Osa Howlett is the guest of Miss Opha Riley.

H. W. Riley is the guest of relatives at Big Bone.

Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Crouch spent Sunday in Bullittsville.

Will Wilson and wife spent Sunday with Mrs. Rachal Rice.

Miss Nellie Kinney, of Covington, is the guest of her parents.

Rev. Cesar Kiney, of Stanford, spent Friday with J. W. Kennedy.

J. W. Conner and family contemplate moving to Walton, soon.

Miss Eva Smith entertained a number of her young friends, Sunday.

Miss Robert Rice, of Florence, is the guest of his cousin, Joe Huey.

Mr. and Mrs. Poindexter, of Cynthiana, are guests at J. W. Kennedy's.

O. P. Conner and wife, of Burlington, spent Sunday with Mrs. Mary Carpenter.

Mrs. Joe Williams and daughter, of Cincinnati, are guests of J. W. Williams.

Miss Alice Carver, of near Burlington, is the pleasant guest of Miss Eva Smith.

Elbert Rice, of Erlanger, came out to his father's, Saturday for a few days vacation.

Mrs. Charles Beech, of Covington, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Rice.

Rev. Hudson, of Crescent Springs, preached at the Presbyterian church, Sunday evening.

Mrs. J. W. Kennedy was called to Columbus, Monday, by the death of her brother, Mr. Dorman.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunker returned home Saturday from a visit of several days with friends in the city.

A party composed of 28 went to Coney Island, Saturday, for an outing. A delightful time was had.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Riley and Mrs. Lucien Scroggins spent last Sunday with Mrs. Dora Bannister.

William Huey and Gayler Poindexter arrived here, Tuesday, for several weeks' visit with relatives.

Mrs. J. W. Hogan entertained Mrs. May Tanner, Mrs. Susie Utz and Misses Cecil Tanner and Jessie Utz, Sunday.

Miss Mae Norman and J. L. Frazier attended the Jones-Hudson wedding at Walton, Wednesday evening.

Dr. Robertson and family have moved to Bellevue, Ky., and Dr. Senior, of Florence, will occupy the place vacated by Dr. Robertson.

Lost—On the pike between Gunpowder and Union, a new parasol with pearl handle. Finder please leave at W. N. Surface's or N. W. Burkitt's.

L. H. Voshell and wife entertained the following, Thursday, with one of the most delightful dinners of the season: Mesdames B. L. Rice, Charles Beech, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Elza Garrison, Mrs. J. A. Rogers, Drs. Scroggins and Senior and F. T. Fall.

o o o

ERLANGER.

William Long is no better.

Bud Goodridge, of Burlington, was a Sunday guest of the Misses Hilker.

Mr. E. McGuire is the pleasant guest of his daughther, Mrs. Albert Cates.

Miss Ida Zinn entertained Miss Cora and Frank L. Smith, of Cincinnati, last Thursday.

Misses Pauline and Anna Kirtley have returned from a lengthy visit to friends at a distance.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gillen, of Memphis, Tennessee, are guests of their niece, Mrs. Rosa Finnell.

No services at the Baptist church next Sunday on account of the dedication of the Elsmere Chapel.

Mrs. May Humble nee Howard, and a Miss Brown, of Louisville, were visiting relatives here this week.

Mrs. Chas. Scroggins and daughter, Miss Charlotte, and Miss Nellie Corbin are visiting friends in Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sayer entertained, last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Purcell and Mr. and Mrs. Baumuth and family, of Covington.

Misses Elizabeth and Minnie Hilker entertained, Saturday, in honor of Mrs. Mattie Hoover's guests, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Withrow, of Los Angelese, California.

The Erlanger ball team will come over next Saturday afternoon to play the Boones. As each team has won one game from the other this season, an exciting contest is expected.

North Carolina Heroine Saves Passenger Train

A Pretty Mountain Maid Prevents a Bad Accident on the Southern Railway.

USES HER RED PETTICOAT FOR FLAG

The Passengers Wanted to Adopt Her, But She Would Not Leave Father and Sisters—The Railroad Company to Give Her an Education.

Asheville, N. C.—A tale that reads like a romance woven by an ingenious teller of stories is that of pretty Nannie Gibson, the South Carolina mountain maid, whose presence of mind saved a fast passenger train from plunging to destruction down a mountain precipice; whose loyalty to home and kindred caused her to decline offers from rich people to adopt her, and give her a life of ease, and choose instead the days of toil and care in the little mountain home of her father and sisters because she was needed there. And now comes the unexpected sequel to the story of her devotion—an education, the dearest hope of her young life. This has been guaranteed her by the Southern railway. Corporations must not be entirely soulless.

This is how it all came about, and why Nannie Gibson is going to attend the Asheville normal collegiate institute and secure the education she has dreamed of and wished for, and yet felt would never be hers.

This is the story. Nannie Gibson, the heroine, 14 years old, lived in a rough mountain hut with her father in care of her younger brothers and sisters. It is a wild, stupendous region, with the Black mountain range rising high on every side. A river rushing like a torrent through the gorge below spreads away in soft silver loveliness as it reaches a plateau in the wilderness.

Nannie's mother had died but a few weeks before, and, being the eldest, she became the "Little Woman" of the household. She was at work about the house cooking and caring for the children when suddenly the mountain trembled, and with the roar and crash of a cyclone an immense slab of the mountain fell upon the main track of the Southern railroad.

Goes to the Rescue.

It was a situation to appall anyone but the little heroine with good cool blood in her veins. She recovered her wits instantly and became master of the situation. Seizing a red tablecloth, she told her sister Patty, a little tot nine years old, to run for her life down the track and flag trains coming from below.

Then turning household affairs over to little Julia, a six-year-old mountain kid, she ran like a deer up the track, where she knew a train would soon be coming down the mountain. She had no red tablecloth, but she switched off her red petticoat as the roar of the train was heard approaching and waved it frantically as the big locomotive came thundering down the mountain.

The engine driver "reversed" and the grinding machine came along in a cloud of steam and with fire streaming from every wheel. The heavy train finally came to a stop not ten feet from the big rocks of the mountain avalanche. It was in that part of the canyon where the road runs through a notch in the mountain, 1,000 feet above the valley.

Wanted to Adopt Her.

When the passengers swarmed out of the train, and men, women and children looked into the dizzy abyss they realized what they had escaped. In an instant they brushed the trainmen away from the girl and hugged and kissed her as if she were the only heroine on earth. "Bob" Weaver, the engine driver, had already picked her up in his arms, calling her an angel whom Heaven had sent to save the train and its passengers. A dozen men, with tears in their eyes, came forward and wanted to adopt little Nannie on the spot, while others, swearing or crying, were taking up a collection. Enough money to fill a Baptist preacher's stovepipe hat was raised in two minutes.

Nannie thanked everybody in a sweet, bewildered way, but told them that her mother was dead, and that there was no one to care for the children and run the house in the absence of her father, but herself.

Told Her Story.

With the modesty of the violets by her side, the girl talked shyly of her family affairs, and explained why it would be impossible for her to accept the many kind offers showered upon her for a home in a big house, with servants to wait upon her and a piano to play after she had learned music and other things.

She accepted the money, however, because it was pressed upon her, and they told her that she could do what she pleased with it. It was all hers, they said.

Like a dutiful daughter, she gave every penny of it to her father, who is an industrious and honest man. Instead of going on a North Carolina spree to drink moonshine whisky and have a big time with the boys at the crossroads, he went further down the mountain and bought the sweetest little home you ever saw. There is a patch of grass around the house, a fine area of farm land under cultivation, with the clearest of trout brooks flashing down from the glens above to irrigate the crops during dry seasons.

In a New Home.

It is an ideal place, where the bluebells and violets bloom all the season, where the skies are as blue as in Italy, and the air is crisp and tingling with health.

It was in this new home that Nannie and her father settled down with the children the other day, and were six times happier than a Texas ranchman with 100 square miles of land and cattle. In this p[illegible] seemed as if virtue were really its own reward. There was only one possible thing that the girl hoped for, and that was an education. Like all resolute minds who read, she was ambitious for knowledge of books and the world she dreamed of.

Such was the situation in that quiet mountain home near the wonderful region of Asheville, where the Vanderbilts and other millionaires have their palaces, when the unexpected happened. A representative of the Southern Railway company appeared and said the corporation was anxious to offer the girl a substantial and permanent reward for her courageous foresight in saving the train in that awful emergency.

Wanted Only Education.

The girl said that she wanted nothing now that she had a home, except an education; but she little thought that anything short of a miracle or a cloud of angels from Heaven could bring that wonderful thing about. Then the railroad man told her that she should go instantly and became master of the situation. Seizing a red tablecloth, she told her sister Patty, a little tot nine years old, to run for her life down the track and flag trains coming from below.

Then turning household affairs over to little Julia, a six-year-old mountain kid, she ran like a deer up the track, where she knew a train would soon be coming down the mountain. She had no red tablecloth, but she switched off her red petticoat as the roar of the

Her Presence of Mind.

"I was listening to hear the train go by when the landslide came," said Nannie, as she afterward described the incidents in what was to prove to be the great and memorable day of her life. "I knew by the sun that it was pretty near the time. I was listening for the train to go along so as to put the potatoes on. If you put them on when the train goes by they are cooked just right when daddy comes home to dinner. So when I heard the noise of the landslide I knew that it must be almost train time. That's what made me hurry so and run down the track to stop the train. I didn't feel very sure that I could stop it, because the trains never do stop here. I was afraid that the engine driver wouldn't pay any attention to me even if I did get there in time. He might not know what I meant and I didn't know how to signal to have it mean stop."

Telling Time by Trains.

In sparsely settled mountain communities, like that where Nannie's home was, clocks and watches are scarce things. The sun is the most frequently consulted timepiece, and in many cabins the only one.

However, cabins located near the railroad are considered to be especially favored, as the trains go by at certain hours, and their passing answers the purpose of a town clock. When the up express goes along the mountaineer knows that it is half-past eleven, and that in half an hour dinner will be ready.

The passing of the trains are the chief incidents of the day. Everybody stops work to watch them, and watches are regulated accordingly.

Enough to fill a dozen books has been written about the charm and beauty of that wonderful health resort of the south. But nothing can compare with the clear romance of this little story, comments the New York Herald, which ends like a fairy tale of childhood, and which many a big six footer has read in preference to poring over musty volumes on law or the ways of stocks and high finance.

IN CHERRY-RIPE TIME.

Directions for Drying and Recipes for Canning the Fruit and for Good Desserts.

Several years ago I spent part of my vacation on a farm where there were cherries in abundance. The idea of drying some came to me, and I was given permission to use all I wanted to. So I set to work picking and pitting the firm, ripe fruit. Each plateful was liberally sprinkled with sugar. The fruit was then set in a sunny place to dry. When my work was finished I had several quarts of fine dried cherries. These I used the next winter in place of raisins in cakes and puddings, finding them an excellent substitute.

Canned Cherries.—This fruit is one which a young housekeeper can safely select when just beginning to learn how to can fruit, for my experience has proved it to be the best of keepers. While peaches, plums and berries with the best of care will often spoil, the cherry always behaves itself, a great relief to a busy woman. After pitting the cherries weigh them, allowing one-fourth of a pound of granulated sugar to every pound of fruit. First heat the cherries until juicy, then add the sugar which has been heated in the oven. Cook gently till the sugar is dissolved. Then boil for five minutes, and can. If the cherries are very juicy can the juice left in the kettle. It will be an addition to a pudding dressing the coming winter.

A couple of weeks ago I made a cottage pudding, making a dressing as follows: Cherry dressing: One-half cup butter, one-half pint hot water, one-half cup granulated sugar, one heaping tablespoonful of flour, one-half pint cherry juice. The sifted flour, butter and sugar were first made into a smooth paste. The hot water was added gradually, then the cherry juice. The sauce was then allowed to boil till done.

Cherry Pudding.—One egg, one-half cup sweet milk, one teaspoonful baking powder. Stir in flour to make a stiff batter, and as many cherries as possible. Bake in buttered pudding dish. Serve with lemon sauce.

Spiced Cherries.—Make a sirup by boiling together four pounds of granulated sugar, one pint of vinegar, one-half ounce each of cinnamon bark and whole cloves. Cook in this till the skin breaks nine pounds of firm, ripe cherries.

Cherry Pie.—Sift one teacupful of flour, mix with it one cupful granulated sugar. Stir this into the cherries before putting in the pie tin. Bake with two crusts.—Rural New Yorker.

GOWN FOR HALF-MOURNING.

Black Net Over Gray Messaline Makes a Very Lovely Dress in Quiet Tones.

A beautiful evening gown for half-mourning wear is black net over silver gray messaline, trimmed with open bands of dull silver embroidery.

The skirt is sunray plaited, and of round length. A deep Vandyked band of dull silver four inches wide is set on around the bottom of the skirt. The Vandykes are each six inches deep, making the depth from tip of the upturned Vandykes to the tips of the downward turned ones nearly 12 inches. The tips of the downward turning V's come to within eight inches of the hem.

The girdle is a draped one of the net, terminating in deep points in both the front and the back below the waist line, but cut straight around at the top. The back of the bodice is sunray plaited and is drawn in tightly to the figure. In the front it is also sunray plaited, but it swings loose a bit. The top is not cut low over the bust or in the back, but it is very low on the shoulders, so that the top is almost straight across. A four-inch straight band of the silver embroidery finishes the top, and folds of pale black tulle are placed under the edges. This band is shaped in to cover the shoulder curve and short, but very full and plain, puffs of black net about nine inches long, ending in inch-wide bands of silver embroidery, form the sleeves.

From the center front of the silver neckband start two shaped pieces of the embroidery, an inch and a half wide at the start. They separate, widening as they go, and, curving down under the bust, pass under the arms, and, running up to the center back, form an upturned Vandyke, the point of which is just an inch below the neckband. Under the arms the lower edge of the band, which is three inches wide at that point, comes within an inch of the top of the girdle.

How to Prepare Prunes.

Prunes are generally unfit to eat—at least to a delicate or fastidious taste. Reason, they are not cooked properly. Thus they have acquired a bad name, which is one of the hardest things in the world to live down. California furnishes us the nicest prunes ever grown anywhere, and all that is required of the cook is to handle them as they ought to be handled. The way to prepare them is to wash them, soak over night, then place them over the fire—in the water in which they are soaked—and allow to heat slowly almost to the boiling point. Keep them at that temperature for an hour. For a pound of prunes take two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a little thin yellow lemon peel, skim out the prunes, add the sugar and lemon peel to the liquor, boil fast for 15 minutes, then pour over the prunes.

Lemon Pie.

The pulp and grated rind of one lemon, one cup of sugar, one cup of water. Heat these together to the boiling point. Then stir in the yolk of one egg and two heaping tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, wet up smoothly. When cooked put into a crust already baked. Whip up the white of the egg, sweeten and spread on top. Put in the oven to brown.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.)

(Save the Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

BUSINESS BREVITIES.

There are 200 companies who make machines for molding of concrete blocks.

The bicycle boom is so big in England that the factories cannot keep pace with the demands.

In manufacturing occupations the average life of soap-boilers is the highest and that of grindstone makers the lowest.

Electrical machinery has taken the place of that driven by steam in several of the principal mineral oil works in Scotland.

There are 17 mills in Germany engaged in the manufacture of tissue paper. Germany turns out more tissue paper than any other country in the world.

Great expectations are entertained of the development of the tin industry in South Africa, foreshadowed in the discovery of extensive lodes of tin in the Transvaal. Rich cassiterite deposits have been found at Vlaklaagte and elsewhere, but the extent and precise metallurgical value of the operations now progressing have not been determined.

CONCERNING THE CLERGY.

Rev. Joseph W. Cross, the oldest living alumnus of Harvard college and the Andover theological seminary, celebrated recently his ninety-seventh birthday.

At the late commencement of Ohio Wesleyan university the degree of D. D. was conferred on Rev. Byron Palmer, of the East Ohio conference, author of "God's White Throne."

Rev. Dr. Barnard M. Kaplan, rabbi of the Bush Street temple of San Francisco, received from President Roosevelt an autograph copy of his California speeches for the benefit of the Bush Street temple.

Glasgow university has conferred the degree of D. D. upon Rev. W. H. Bentley in recognition of his services on the Congo. Mr. Bentley is the son of a missionary, and has given 27 years of service in Africa. He is the author of the Congo dictionary and grammar, has translated the New Testament, and is now engaged in translating the Old Testament.

BIBLICAL BALM.

If people seem unkind, read the fifteenth chapter of John.

If you are all out of sorts, read the twelfth chapter of Hebrews.

If you find the world growing small and yourself great, read the nineteenth Psalm.

If you are losing confidence in men, read the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians.

If you are discouraged about your work, read the one hundred and twenty-sixth Psalm.

If you cannot have your own way in everything, keep silent and read the third chapter of James.

BABY'S INSTINCT

Shows He Knew What Food to Stick To

Forwarding a photo of a splendidly handsome and healthy young boy, a happy mother writes from an Ohio town:

"The enclosed picture shows my 4-year-old Grape-Nuts boy.

"Since he was 2 years old he has eaten nothing but Grape-Nuts. He demands and gets this food three times a day. This may seem rather unusual, but he does not care for anything else after he has eaten his Grape-Nuts, which he uses with milk or cream, and then he is through with his meal. Even on Thanksgiving day he refused turkey and all the good things that make up that great dinner, and ate his dish of Grape-Nuts and cream with the best results and none of the evils that the other foolish members of the family experienced.

"He is never sick, has a beautiful complexion, and is considered a very handsome boy. May the Postum Company prosper and long continue to furnish their wholesome food!" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in every pkg.

Novelty in Loans.

An English debtor, on being sued, admitted that he had borrowed the money, but said that the plaintiff knew at the time it was a "Kathleen Mavourneen loan."

"A Kathleen Mavourneen loan?" questioned the court, with a puzzled look.

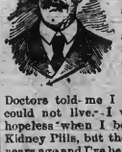
"That's it, your lordship—one of the 'it may be for years and may be forever' sort."

CUTICURA OINTMENT

The World's Greatest Skin Cure and Sweetest Emollient—Positively Unrivaled.

Cuticura Ointment is beyond question the most successful curative for torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp including loss of hair, ever compounded, in proof of which a single anointing with it, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed in the severer cases by a dose of Cuticura Resolvent Pills, is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning and scaly humors, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure when all else fails. It is especially so in the treatment of infants and children, speedily soothing and healing the most distressing cases.

The principal difficulty in the way of making goats an article of commerce on the live stock market is that they might bear the price of those goats which now masquerade as spring lambs.—Omaha Bee.



The Maintenance of Way forces of the Erie are now engaged in laying 350 miles of 90-pound steel rails on the main track. A larger mileage has never been laid in any one year before. The Erie has always been noted for its good track, and the management finds that it is necessary to use a heavier rail on account of the weight of the several hundred new engines that have been purchased in the last two years. Much of the rail being removed has only been in track four or five years and will be used on branch lines.

You may know that a thing is thoroughly artistic when you cannot tell for the life of you why it is artistic.—Chicago Tribune.

TWENTY YEARS OF IT.

Emaciated by Diabetes; Tortured With Gravel and Kidney Pains.

Henry Soule, cobbler, of Hammondsport, N. Y., says: "Since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me eight years ago, I've reached 70 and hope to live many years longer. But twenty years ago I had kidney trouble so bad I could not work. Backache was persistent and it was agony to lift anything. Gravel, whirling headaches, dizziness and terrible urinary disorders ran me down from 168 to 100 pounds. Doctors told me I had diabetes and could not live. I was wretched and hopeless when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, but they cured me eight years ago and I've been well ever since."

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents per box.

THE NORTH-WESTERN LINE

$20 Colorado AND RETURN

Via Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line.

Daily from Chicago, Aug. 30 to Sept. 4, to Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, account Encampment G. A. R., at Denver. Colorado Special leaves Chicago 7.00 p. m. daily, only one night en route. Another fast train leaves daily 10.00 p. m.

Special Personally Conducted trains leave Chicago and the East September 2.

For booklets and full particulars address

W. B. Kniskern, Passenger Traffic Mgr. Chicago. C. A. L. W. Ry. Chicago.

UNION PACIFIC

ANTIDAMPED Free Sample on Request. Soothes hot, swollen, painful feet. Makes new shoes feel like old. Removes all odor of the body or feet. Invaluable every sickly head. For sale at your druggists or by mail for 25c. THE ANTIDAMPA TOILET CO., P. O. Box 743, Cincinnati, Ohio

A LESSON IN MANUAL TRAINING

PRACTICAL POINTS FOR BOYS WITH AMBITION AND GENIUS.

Shellac Varnish—How Applied—Good Finish for Pine or White Maple—Finishing with Pumice Stone and Oil—Patching Varnish—How to Apply Copal Varnish—List of Directions for Finishing—Process of Wax Finishing—Planing Ends.

BY JAMES RITCHEY.
(Instructor in Woodworking and Pattern-making, Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago.)

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Shellac varnish, or shellac, as it is commonly called, is a solution of shellac gum in alcohol. Pure grain alcohol only is used for the best grades, wood alcohol being substituted in the cheaper grades. These cheaper grades should be avoided, because they deteriorate rapidly and do not produce a good finish, besides being very hard to spread evenly with the brush.

Shellac varnish must be brushed on quickly, since the alcohol evaporates rapidly. It must also be diluted with alcohol when necessary, until it will flow freely and spread evenly.

Shellac varnish alone makes an excellent finish for either soft or hard pine or for white maple, without the use of a filler. Three to six coats will be needed, and each coat, when dry, must be sandpapered smooth with No. 0 paper before another is applied. The last coat is not sandpapered, but instead the surface is cut down even and smooth with powdered pumice stone and oil. A good quality of machine or lubricating oil is the best for this purpose and should be used freely to keep the pumice stone wet and to prevent it from gathering into lumps on the rubber or on the surface of the work. If the surface is flat use a small block of pine wood, or better of cork, over which several thicknesses of canton flannel have been wrapped. After cutting off the higher projections dispense with the block and hold the cloth in the fingers only. The pumice will cut faster without the block, but greater care must be taken to avoid rubbing over and cutting the shellac from the corners and angles of the piece being rubbed.

Shellac will not take a high polish like varnish and is usually finished and polished with the pumice and oil alone. To work rapidly they must be used freely and the condition of the surface examined often during the process by simply wiping off a small section with the finger or a soft cloth.

Patching Varnish.

When rubbing varnish to an even and smooth surface, even experienced rubbers will sometimes rub through—that is, rub or cut off all the varnish down to the bare wood. To patch such spots requires time, patience and care. The first coat (in recoating) must be put on so as to cover the bare spots only, but as the shellac is very thin for some distance around the spot, the second coat must be spread around the first, and the third still farther on, adding a coat each day, but sandpapering between coats with great care to avoid scratching the rubbed surface of the shellac near by.

Copal Varnish.

Copal, or furniture varnish, as it is more often called, is made of gum copal, boiled linseed oil and turpentine, combined by heat, being boiled together and strained, after which it is allowed to settle and ripen, often for several months, before it is ready to use.

This varnish, unlike shellac, dries very slowly, owing to the oil which it contains, so that each coat requires from two to four days to dry and harden.

It must be used quite thin, so that it will run freely from the brush, turpentine being added for this purpose, or, better, the varnish may be slightly warmed by placing the varnish cup over (not in) a vessel of hot water. This last method, when convenient, is greatly to be preferred, as the raw turpentine when added will destroy much of the smoothness and gloss of the varnish.

Copal varnish is applied directly to the surface of the filler, and each successive coat must be sandpapered smooth with No. 0 paper before another is brushed on. Three, four and even six coats will be needed, according to the quality of the finish desired. After the last coat has become dry and hard the whole is rubbed down even and smooth with pumic stone. Oil may be used as described for shellac, but as copal is an oil varnish, it will resist much faster if water is used with it in water, and the pumice stone will cut place of oil. The surface produced will be equally smooth, but will have no polish or gloss.

After cutting the varnish to a smooth, even surface, all pumice must be carefully wiped off with a moist sponge and the new surface of the varnish allowed to dry and harden for one or two days, after which all remaining particles of pumice are removed and the new surface of the varnish is polished by using fine powdered rotten stone and oil on a soft wad of canton flannel.

When polishing with rotten stone the last or finishing polish is best produced by small circular strokes of the polisher, and when the required polish has been given to the surface, all remaining oil and rotten stone is wiped off with a soft cloth, and the final polish given with a piece of soft chamois skin, continuing to use the circular strokes in preference to rubbing lengthwise or in one direction.

When polishing with rotten stone, linseed oil will produce a finer polish than other oils, but it must be more carefully wiped from all angles and corners, where, if allowed to remain, it will catch and retain dust.

Powdered pumice stone is sold in several grades of fineness, and the finest only should be used on varnish or shellac. The coat will be three or four cents a pound.

Pulverized rotten stone of the best quality will cost from five to eight cents a pound. Both pumice and rotten stone should be bought only where varnish and other wood finishing materials are sold, thus insuring a good article free from dust and grit.

The art of finishing fine furniture, pianos, etc., after they are made, as may be inferred from the description and instructions given regarding varnishes and how to use them, is not only complicated, but requires years of experience and practice, and is far in advance of the work of the varnisher or painter who finishes the interior of our houses.

Yet with these facts before him, the beginner may with care and patience in following these simple directions produce a passably fair finish on articles made by himself, and bearing on which we wish to emphasize the following points:

1. Water stain will dry in one hour; oil stain requires 24 to 36 hours.

2. Filler must be rubbed off perfectly clean from the surface and from all angles and corners. It must then have from 24 to 48 hours to harden and dry.

3. Each coat of varnish or of shellac must be dry and hard before another is applied.

4. Each successive coat (except the last) must be sandpapered smooth when dry.

5. Each coat of shellac should have about 24 hours to dry and harden.

6. Each coat of copal (furniture) varnish must have from two to four days to dry and harden.

7. Shellac varnish does not resist moisture, hence be sure to use oil, not water, with the pumice stone.

8. Copal, being an oil varnish, resists moisture, therefore may be rubbed with pumice and water to produce an even surface.

9. Pumice stone will cut much faster when used with water than when used with oil.

10. When copal is rubbed with pumice and water the finished surface, although even and smooth, will have no gloss.

11. If copal is rubbed with pumice and oil (instead of water), a beautiful dead finish is produced, which many persons prefer to a bright, glossy polish.

12. If a bright polish is desired on any kind of varnish, it must be polished with rotten stone and oil, after being cut to an even surface with pumice stone.

13. Never use a block or holder when sandpapering shellac or varnish, of any kind. Use the hand only.

14. Use a block when rubbing down flat surfaces with pumice and oil, or water, only long enough to cut off the larger projections of the varnish. Then use the hand alone to hold the rubber.

15. Never sandpaper the last coat—use pumice stone, as directed.

Note.—All articles finished with copal varnish can be cleaned and renewed in appearance, after long use, in no way so well as to wash with a soft cloth and tepid water, to which a little mild, fine soap has been added. No injury will result, provided they are at once wiped dry with a soft cloth. To improve the polish after the above, go over all surfaces with a small piece of chamois skin and a few drops of olive oil, and finally polish with a soft, dry chamois until all oil has been removed, especially from the angles and corners.

Much of the foregoing instruction applies to the finishing of wood on which a fine, smooth surface and polish are desired. A very common but rough finish may be produced by first staining (when desired), filling and then applying two or three coats of good varnish of any kind, and leaving the last coat in its natural gloss, unrubbed. Such a finish may be seen on the interior hard woodwork of many houses, and also on the cheap grades of cabinet furniture.

Waxing.

Waxing is the most durable, and the most easily renewed of all finishes for wood. Three or four generations ago nearly all the woodwork in the interior of houses was finished with wax. The wax then used was simply beeswax, cut and made into a paste with turpentine, which produced a soft finish that would not dry hard, and required renewing very often.

Now that wax finish is coming into use again, not only for floors, but also for the better class of furniture, a wax paste is being manufactured which dries more quickly than copal varnish. The "Johnson" and the "Butchers'" floor and furniture wax can be bought in one-pound tins at about 40 cents a pound, and this finish is recommended to workers in wood for all their hard wood work.

The preparation of the wood for waxing is the same in every way as when varnish is to be used. For example, if the article is made of oak, and is to be finished antique in color, it is first filled with antique filler, which must be rubbed off clean, and polished. After hardening for about 48 hours a coat of wax is rubbed on with a cloth. After standing for 10 to 15 minutes the wax is rubbed in and vigorously polished with a soft cloth. In 24 hours this will be dry, when a second coat is applied in the same way as the first, and again well polished.

The work of finishing is now complete, and after drying for a day it will be found perfectly hard, and will resist moisture and hard usage much better than a varnish finish. If the article is made of quartered oak, and the finish required is golden oak, first stain the wood with golden oak oil stain, as directed for varnish finish. When the stain is thoroughly dry (48 hours should be given) fill with the best golden oak or antique colored filler, after which two coats of wax, as directed above.

Flemish oak, weathered oak and other colors are produced in the same manner—by first staining the wood, then filling and lastly applying two coats of wax.

The whole process is so simple, and the results so satisfactory, that no one, after using the wax, will think of returning to varnish.

The use of wax is equally successful on any of the hard woods. When marred or in any way injured, the wax finish is easily renewed by rubbing on a little fresh wax and repolishing as before.

For soft woods, particularly white pine, shellac is better than wax, giving a hard surface the wood does not possess.

Note.—After coating with wax do not let it dry too long before rubbing off and polishing, or it will work very hard. Eight, ten, or at most 15 minutes are sufficient, the time depending on the warmth of the room.

Planing Ends.

When preparing the shelf piece for either of the magazine racks illustrated in Figs. 66 and 68, great care must be taken to have the ends square, not only with the front edge, but also square with the upper side of the shelf, otherwise the sides of the rack will not fit, nor will they stand when fastened on, at right angles to the shelf. However carefully the ends are sawed off, even if apparently close to the dimension lines, they will be found, when tested by the try square, to be more or less out of true. This truing, or jointing of the ends of all such pieces can be easily accomplished by following out the instructions given under Fig. 48, for using the bench hook and shoot board. Carefully read and reread these directions, as they will be found to cover all difficulties involved in such work.

THE PUNCTUAL LADY.

She Found That Being Ahead of Time Was Not Punctuality, But Foolishness.

"Aunt Clara," an excellent woman, and highly esteemed, is noted among a large circle of friends and acquaintances for a rather unusual feminine trait—abhorrence of tardiness. Her associates in church and club, prone to arrive upon the scene flurried and breathless at the last moment—if not a little later—look up to her with awe; strangers frequently meet her with the kindling glance which signifies that her fame has preceded her; only in her own family does she suffer the usual fate of the prophet.

Possibly not without some show of reason. There are souls so constituted that they are unable to find joy in arriving at railroad stations an hour before time, reaching church before the doors are open, and always being the first arrivals at afternoon teas.

"Aunt Clara's motto is not 'to-morrow,'" one of her nieces once remarked. "It is the 'day before yesterday.'"

Not long ago Aunt Clara had an experience. She was invited to spend the day with some charming women in a neighboring town. She had met them once only, but the meeting had proved the three thoroughly congenial, with large common interests, and Aunt Clara accepted the invitation with pleasure.

She would arrive, she wrote, upon the half-past eleven train, as they suggested. There seemed no possibility of complication, nor would there have been with anyone else. But Aunt Clara reached the station, according to her custom, an hour early, and when, soon afterward, a Maplewood train was called, she stepped on board, and in due season—after a shorter ride, in fact, than she had expected—reached her station.

There was no one to meet her, which seemed a little strange, but Aunt Clara was always equal to any emergency; she hired a cab and drove out to her friends'. There again no one seemed to be expecting her, although one of the ladies appeared in a moment and gave her a cordial welcome. Her sister, she said, had gone to meet the train, and must have passed her on the way. She would be so sorry to miss her, and so concerned that she should have come up alone.

Then the guest caught sight of the clock; it was five minutes after ten. She had taken the early morning train, and an express, and arrived nearly two hours before she was expected. Moreover, it could not be concealed, for all the hostess' lovely courtesy, that kitchen duties were calling.

With one of the sudden flashes of illumination that occurs to us all at times, Aunt Clara understood that the sisters did their own work, and one was to prepare luncheon, to which several had been invited, while the other entertained the guest.

"What did you say, Aunt Clara?" her niece asked, breathlessly, when this part of the recital was reached.

"I said," she replied, with the directness which endears her to her friends, "that I have a niece at home who would tell me it served me right. That being two hours ahead of time wasn't punctuality; it was foolishness and often inconsiderateness. Then" she added, "I went out into the kitchen and helped Miss Barnes make salad. We had a splendid time."—Youth's Companion.

Pudding Perfumery.

A Chicago boy, who was very fond of a certain rice pudding, was allowed to dine with company at his home not long since. It so happened that day that rice pudding was the chief article for dessert, and the boy was happy. Desiring to have more sauce for his pudding, he set the table in a roar by this request:

"Mamma, please put more pefoomery on my puddin'."—Judge.

RATTLERS ALONG TRACK.

Plague of Snakes Alarms Trainmen in Wyoming About Their Duties.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—A plague of rattlesnakes has invaded the country north of this place, the infested belt extending from Silver Crown station to the Chugwater. Colorado & Southern trainmen report that hundreds of snakes are seeking the railroad track, attracted thereto by the warmth of the rails, and that every train north of Silver Crown cuts many of the reptiles in two. In going about their work at stops trainmen are very cautious, as several have narrowly escaped being bitten by rattlers. Section men are reported panic-stricken, as the presence of the snakes on the track makes their work very hazardous.

A snake seven feet in length struck the hat from the head of the section foreman at Horse creek as he was climbing up a high bank.

Where the snakes come from is a mystery, as they have never before been particularly numerous in the infested belt except at Iron mountain. The reptiles are not youngsters, a majority of them being in excess of three feet in length. The warm weather has made them exceedingly active, and they are fearless, striking at every moving thing that comes within their reach.

Fishermen visiting the creeks north of the city report the snakes also very numerous along streams, and many anglers have been frightened from their favorite creeks by the reptiles.

THREE NOVELS LEAD REST

Investigation Shows "David Copperfield" Is Most Popular Book Ever Published.

Columbus, Mo.—Rev. H. C. Monser, formerly of Columbus, now pastor of the Christian church of Champaign, Ill., has, after devoting several years to research, ascertained the three most popular novels in the world, his object being to deliver lectures on the subject. To secure the desired information, not only the records of booksellers were consulted, but other means were adopted to ascertain the general opinion on the subject. The research covered England, France, Germany and other foreign countries that lead in appreciating the best literature.

The result is such a success that no doubt is left on the subject, the figures showing a difference of many thousands between the three leading novels and those less popular. Charles Dickens' "David Copperfield" is the most popular novel ever published, Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is second, and Lew Wallace's "Ben Hur" is a close third. The result is flattering to American authors.

Rare Animal Is Found.

Salt Lake City.—Naturalists have discovered in American Fork canyon, near here, a single specimen of the coney, an animal spoken of in the Bible, and supposed to be extinct. It makes its appearance at intervals of almost exactly one hour on a rock and utters 20 or 30 shorp barks before ending with a low moan of weird and uncanny sound, then it disappears for an hour. The animal is about 15 inches long with a snout like a hog. Its eyes are bright and snappy. It has no tail, and the hair is gray brown.

Not Fitted for Political Life.

Lady managers of the St. Louis fair, who had $100,000 to spend, returned $26,000. Now, let's hear no more about women being equipped for politics.

Not Permanent.

Rubbing the nose is, according to a German professor, a relief for hay fever. So is sneezing, but it doesn't seem to last.

MARKET REPORT.

Cincinnati, Aug. 4.
CATTLE—Common.	$3 60	@	4 00
Heavy steers	4 65	@	5 00
CALVES—Extra	6 75	@	7 00
HOGS—Ch. packers	6 00	@	6 05
Mixed packers	5 90	@	6 00
SHEEP—Extra	4 25	@	4 50
LAMBS—Spring	6 85	@	7 00
FLOUR—Spring pat.	5 85	@	6 25
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	84
No. 2 white		@	58½
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	57¼
No. 2 white		@	57¼
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	29½
HAY—Ch. timothy		@	13 75
PORK—Clear mess.		@	15 00
LARD—Steam	7 37½	@	7 50
BUTTER—Ch. dairy.		@	15½
Choice creamery		@	22
APPLES—Choice	3 00	@	3 50
POTATOES—Per bbl	1 40	@	1 50
TOBACCO—New	5 00	@	13 00
Old	4 50	@	14 75
Chicago.
FLOUR—Winter pat.	5 10	@	5 20
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	86	@	86½
No. 3 red	95	@	1 05
CORN—No. 2 mixed.	55½	@	55¾
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	27½
RYE—No. 2	59½	@	60
PORK—Mess	13 60	@	13 65
LARD—Steam	7 45	@	7 47½
New York.
FLOUR—Win. str'ts.	4 15	@	4 60
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	90¾
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	62
OATS—No. 2 mixed.	35	@	36½
RYE—Western		@	71
PORK—Mess	14 25	@	15 25
LARD—Steam	7 25	@	7 50
Baltimore.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.	83¾	@	83¾
CORN—No. 2 mixed.	60¾	@	60½
CATTLE—Steers	4 00	@	4 50
SHEEP—No. 1	2 50	@	3 00
Louisville.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	86
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	53¼
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	36
PORK—Mess		@	11 00
LARD—Steam		@	6 50
Indianapolis.
WHEAT—No. 2 red.		@	87
CORN—No. 2 mixed.		@	57
OATS—No. 2 mixed.		@	35

Tumors Conquered Without Operations

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Cases of Mrs. Fox and Miss Adams.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive menstruation accompanied by unusual pain extending from the ovaries down the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation; secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and begin its use and write Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Read these strong letters from grateful women who have been cured:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (First Letter.)

"In looking over your book I see that your medicine cures Tumor of the Uterus. I have been to a doctor and he tells me I have a tumor. I will be more than grateful if you can help me, as I do so dread an operation."—Fannie D. Fox, 7 Chestnut St., Bradford, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (Second Letter.)

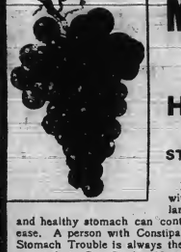
"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine.

"Eighteen months ago my monthlies stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician, and was told that I had a tumor on the uterus and would have to undergo an operation.

"I soon after read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles as directed, the tumor is entirely gone. I have again been examined by the physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my monthlies around once more, and I am entirely well. I shall never be without a bottle of Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the house."—Fannie D. Fox, Bradford, Pa.

Another Case of Tumor Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—



"About three years ago I had intense pain in my stomach, with cramps and raging headaches. The doctor prescribed for me, but finding that I did not get any better he examined me and, to my surprise, declared I had a tumor in the uterus.

"I felt sure that it meant my death warrant, and was very disheartened. I spent hundreds of dollars in doctoring, but the tumor kept growing, till the doctor said that nothing but an operation would save me. Fortunately I corresponded with my aunt in the New England States, who advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before submitting to an operation, and I at once started taking a regular treatment, finding to my great relief that my general health began to improve, and after three months I noticed that the tumor had reduced in size. I kept on taking the Compound, and in ten months it had entirely disappeared without an operation, and using no medicine but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and words fail to express my gratitude for the good it has done me."—Miss Laura Adams, Commercial Hotel, Seattle, Wash.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and should give confidence and hope to every sick woman.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all ailing women to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; a Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Mull's Grape Tonic (FREE) FOR Hot Weather Dangers

CONSTIPATION STOMACH AND BOWEL TROUBLE

No one with regular bowels and healthy stomach can contract disease. A person with Constipation and Stomach Trouble is always the first to succumb to Sun Stroke, Heat Debility and Prostration. Cholera, Colic and Diarrhea are more fatal in Hot Weather because vitality is lower—they are the direct result of Constipation. It is a mistake to suddenly check diarrhea, the danger is Blood Poison. A physic is also dangerous as it weakens the patient and reduces vitality. Treat the cause with Mull's Grape Tonic. Constipation and its attending ills are caused by decaying or dying bowels and intestines—Mull's Grape Tonic revives and strengthens the Bowels so that they are enabled to act naturally and eject the poison from the system, everybody should take it during hot weather. It wards off disease, builds up the system and purifies the blood. Typhoid Fever and Appendicitis are unknown in families where Mull's Grape Tonic is employed. As a Stomach Tonic it is unequalled.

SUFFERED ALL HIS LIFE.

The endorsement of E. B. McCurdy of Troy, Ohio, proves that the severest forms of Constipation are promptly cured by Mull's Grape Tonic—He says:

"I gave your Tonic a thorough trial. It is the only remedy that will cure constipation. I do not believe anyone suffered more therefrom than I, as I had been afflicted with it all my life. For days my bowels would not act and then only by the use of strong cathartics that were fast ruining my health. My Stomach and Liver were deranged and I suffered with inward piles, the pains of which would at times raise me off my chair. I spent much money with various doctors and medicines to no avail.

Soon after I started Mull's Grape Tonic my bowels began to move regularly—the pain left me and my general health built up rapidly.

I heartily recommend it as an absolute cure to which I am a living witness."

Until Mull's Grape Tonic was put on the American market there was no cure for Constipation. Let us send you a bottle free to-day to show you that it will do all we claim.

Good for Ailing Children and Nursing Mothers.

FREE BOTTLE COUPON

Send this coupon with your name and address and your druggist's name, for a free bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic, Stomach Tonic, Constipation Cure and Blood Purifier, to MULL'S GRAPE TONIC CO., 147 Third Ave., Rock Island, Ill. Give full address and write plainly. The $1.00 bottle contains nearly three times the 50c. size. At drug stores. The genuine has a date and number stamped on the label—take no other from your druggist.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness. Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

DAXINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses. Kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness, cures leucorrhœa and nasal catarrh.

Packed in lu powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

The Hay Baler

which is in a class by itself.

"ELI" PRESSES bale fastest and best for shipping and market. Largest Feed Opening. Strongest and most powerful machine. Many horsepower machine. Simplest and most durable machine. Catalogue Free. Mfg. Co., 903 Hampshire St., Quincy, Ill.

ROSS' PHAGEDENIC CANCER CURE

heretofore supplied only to physicians for their private practice, is now put up by us as a "HOME TREATMENT" with full directions. Send for our Booklet on Cancer. The Proven Remedies Company, Room 14, Wiggins Bl., Cincinnati, Ohio.

PATENTS 48-page book free. FITZGERALD & CO., Box K, Washington, D. C.

READERS OF THIS PAPER DESIRING TO BUY ANYTHING ADVERTISED IN ITS COLUMNS SHOULD INSIST UPON HAVING WHAT THEY ASK FOR, REFUSING ALL SUBSTITUTES OR IMITATIONS.

BOONE CO., RECORDER
Wednesday, - - Aug., 9, 1905.
W. L. RIDDELL. - - Publisher.

Pennsylvania State authorities say they will prosecute the beef trust on the charge of doctoring the meat with preservatives.

Each of the big guns who takes part in the campaign on the Republican side in Ohio, this fall, has the Presidential bee making a considerable noise in his head gear.

Corruption seems to have become epidemic, in this country, among public officials, so much so that as soon as a man becomes an officer he is regarded by many as a grafter.

That long, drawn out battle between the Cincinnati and Brooklyn ball teams, was not the result of the superior strength of either, but was the result of an equal weakness.

Lee Sun, a Chinaman, after having lived ten years in Omaha, has been ordered deported. It was held that Sung was not a student under the meaning of the law, but being a restaurant keeper he must be classed as a laborer.

Pulaski county Republicans are not dwelling together in unity. One section of the party has been holding indignation meetings and resolving that Richard P. Ernst, of Covington, and Chairman of the State Committe ought to resign or be bounced. Mr. Ernst does not see his way clear to accommodate the resolvers.

The investigation of graft in Milwaukee commenced several years ago with the exposures made in connection with the Milwaukee Street Railway Company's twenty-five year franchise. It is charged that in nearly every department of the city and county government corruption prevails. One hundred and fifty-five persons have been indicted.

It looks very much like the yellow fever scourge will be worse in the South this year than it has been for a long time. The quarantine laws are inadequate to prevent its spread. People from the infected districts will make their escape, and who can blame them for leaving and going to other localities?

Puts an End to It,

A grievous wail oftimes comes as a result of unbearable pain from overtaxed organs, Dizziness, Backache, Liver complaint and Constipation. But thanks to Dr King's New Life Pills they put an end to it all. They are gentle but thorough. Try them. Only 25c. Guaranteed by all Drug Stores.

We learn from some of our farmers that some kind of an insect is waging war on thistles this year. It bores into the stem just below the blossom and in a few days the top falls over dead and the plant dwindles away. On farms where they were thick enough to mow last year not one is to be seen now. Let the farmers rejoice.—Carlisle Advocate.

An enthusiastic promoter of the organization of Burley Growers, says: "How many growers ever stopped to think how much the organization increased the value of his land last year by increasing the value of the product? There is not an acre of Burley land in the State that will not be increased at least $20 per acre when the organization gest on its feet."

Joseph W. Cleek, of Beaver neighborhood, was in town one day last week. Mr. Cleek was one of the county's most earnest workers in behalf of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association last year when the effort was being to induce the growers to subscribe for stock in the Association. He is confident that the effort to organize the growers last year, resulted in the growers getting a much better price for their tobacco than they would have received had no effort at organizing an association been made. He says the effort to get the Association in working order if persisted in, will, ultimately, be successful, but if abandoned at this time five cent tobacco is a certainty. Mr. Cleek recognizes the fact that to organize the Burley Tobacco Growers into an Association is a big undertaking, and does not consider that the failures thus far a matter that should discourage the promoters. The cause being a good one he believes in keeping up the fight all along the line, and that success will finally be achieved.

EXECUTOR'S SALE
—OF—
LAND AND PERSONAL PROPERTY.

As Executor of J. J. Lillard, deceased, I will sell at his late residence, on the Woolper pike, five miles west of Burlington, Boone county, Ky., on Tuesday, August 29th, 1905,

The following described property:

The elegant home place of the deceased, consisting of 300 acres or more of good farm land together with all his personal property, consisting of Bank Stock, Turnpike Stock, Household and Kitchen Furniture, Farming Implements, Farm Produce and Live Stock.

FINE NEW DWELLING.

Upon the farm there is a new dwelling house of eight large well lighted rooms, closet and grate in every room, front and back hall—up stairs and down; this is one of the best built and most convenient houses in the county, double cellar under the house.

Never failing well and two good cisterns at the house, all necessary outbuildings, 2 large new barns with cistern at each, sheep barn, buggy house, double crib, harness and tool house all in good condition; fine young orchard with an abundance of all kind of fruit. With the exception of about 20 acres the farm is all in grass, good, lasting water in every field, plenty of timber for farm use and fencing in good repair; this farm to be appreciated must be seen. Prospective purchasers desiring to see the place at any time before the sale will be shown through the house and over the farm by Mr. J. I. Johnson, who is in charge of it.

The land will be sold by the acre, and possession given when the terms of sale are complied with.

PERSONAL PROPERTY.

The personal property consists of 25 shares of stock in the Farmers and Traders Nantional Bank, of Covington, Ky.

13 2-10 shares of stock in the Boone County Deposit Bank.

53 shares of stock in Burlington and Belleview Pike.

About 15 tons of hay.

60 barrels old corn.

Farming implements, including 2 road wagons, spring wagon, buggy, mowing machine, corn drill, wheat fan, cider mill, plows, household goods of every description, including a lot of very desirable feather beds and bedclothing, kitchen furniture, number one extension ladder, 17 horses including 15 broodmares, 9 in foal to a jack, 5 mules, 1 jack, the jack being a sure foal getter and a good breeder, and was sired by Riddell & Bodde's fine jack, 11 head high grade Shorthorn cows, 1 yearling bull, 1 bull calf, 1 heifer—these cattle are bred in the purple and are fine individuals; 1 yearling Thinrind boar, 1 brood sow, 10 stock hogs, lot new oak lumber and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS of Sale.

The land will be sold as follows:

One-third cash on day of sale, the remainder in one and two years, equal installments with six per cent interest from day of sale, a lien to be retained on the land to secure the deferred payments.

The bank stock will be sold in blocks of two shares each, and for cash; all other personal property, sums of $10 and under cash; on sums over $10 a credit of six months will be given, purchasers to execute notes with good security, payable in Boone County Deposit Bank, before removing property.

JOHN M. LASSING, Executor.

Sale will begin promptly at 10 o'clock a. m.

The Laidlaw ball team, of Cincinnati, strengthened up and came out and did business with the Boones again last Saturday. The Boones took the lead in the first inning and at no time during the game did the visitors indicate that they would prove anywhys troublesome. Conner put on a full head of steam in but one inning. In that he let the Laidlaws fill the bases and only one man down, when he unbuckled himself and struck out the next man up, and made his successor hit a pop fly, and it was all off. Having sized up the batters Conner worked easy throughout the game allowing eight hits. At the beginning of the game the visitors were boasting how easy Conner would be, but they soon found out that he was quite the contrary. During the game the visitors had up two pitchers, neither of whom was a puzzle to the locals. The score was 8 to 3 in favor of the Boones.

Belleview defeated Hebron, last Saturday, at Bellevue 6 to 5.

Home City defeated Erlanger, last Saturday, on the ground of the former 7 to 3.

The Boones shut the Hebron team out Monday 3 to 0.

The summer vacation will soon conclude, when the small boy will lay aside his fishing pole and line, throw his bait cup into the street, and, filling his pockets with green apples, will hie himself to the school room, where it is hoped he will be greeted by a teacher, who is, in every respect, equal to the task of requiring him to perform his school-room duties in the fullest.

During the thunder storm last Sunday evening, lightning struck the residence of Leslie Nichols about one mile south of Burlington. It struck the comb of the building, tearing off a considerable space of shingles, and ran down a rafter, splintering it badly. What course it took after leaving the rafter is not known. Mr. Nichols and wife were at home, but did not know that their residence had been struck until next morning, when the shingles that were scattered over the yard called attention to the fact.

Joseph Biddell, of Belleview, of an accident to whom mention was made last week, has been in a very critical condition ever since.

F. P. Walton
Successor to
PIPER & WALTON,
Merchant Tailor,
142 East Fourth St.,
Cincinnati, - Ohio.

Having purchased the interest of W. E. Piper in the firm of Piper & Walton, I will continue business at the old stand. I solicit a contination of the past liberal patronage by the friends of the old firm.

Mr. Drexillius has charge of the cutting department, and fit and quality of material are guaranteed in every instance.

Fall and Winter Patterns
are now being received, and you are invited to call and see them and learn the prices. All the latest patterns in stock.

F. P. WALTON,
142 East Fourth St.,
CINCINNATI, - OHIO.

Arthur (Podge) Alloway, of Petersburg, is pitching fine ball for the Grand Rapids, Michigan team. It is seldom that he loses a game. Podge is in better form than ever, this year, and is good enough to hold a place in the big league.

The RECORDER failed to mention last week that Bro. D. B. Wallace, of the Warsaw Independent, was honored with the position of vice-president of the Kentucky Press Association, at its last annual meeting. Guillion and Wallace will make a strong team, and the affairs of the Association are in good hands.

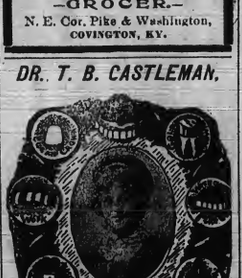
Subscribe for the Recorder

Notice to Taxpayers.

The Taxpayers of Boone County are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to collect 1905 taxes:

Florence, September 14 and October 12.
Verona, September 15, and October 13.
Walton September 16, and October 14.
Petersburg, Sept. 18 and October 16.
Union, September 19, and October 17.
Bellevue, Sept. 20, and October 18.
Big Bone, Sept. 21, and October 19.
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 22, and October 20.
Bullittsville, Sept. 23, and October 21.
Constance, Sept. 25, and October 23.
Beaver Lick, Sept. 26, and October 24.
Gunpowder, October 25.
Richwood, October 26.
Hebron, October 27.

I must settle with the State and County, December 1st, 1905, and to save Penalty and Cost of Advertising your property, I would advise you to pay your Taxes before December 1st. This will be all the notice you will have, and if your property is Advertised, don't think hard of me. I will Commence Advertising January 1st, 1906, and will continue until all Taxes for State and County are Collected. Boys, Remember your Poll Tax and send it in.



B. B. ALLPHIN,
Sheriff Boone County, Kentucky.

H. VON LEHMEN,
—HAND-MADE—
Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,
ALSO SECOND-HAND
PHAETONS, PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,
CHEAP.
No. 152 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, - KY.
REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ICED-TEA
to be good, healthful and refreshing must be made from pure tea free from adulterations such as hay, straw and weeds which are ussd in many teas as a "filler." Don't buy the cheap trash.

We can sell you
"Capitol" a fine blend pound, 60c
"Sunbeam" our finest Blend, pound 75c
Gunpowder, pound 60 & 75c
YOUNG-HYSON, a fine Mild Tea, lb 75c
and several other vatieties which also make a delicious
Hot Tea.
GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.,
—GROCER.—
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, KY.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.
Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.
PRICES REASONABLE.
Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone county.

J. B. Rouse. C. J. Cranen.
NEW FIRM
OUR STOCK OF
—NICE, FRESH—
Groceries!
is renewed every week.
We don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find our prices right.
COUNTRY PRODUCE
taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.
ROUSE & CRAVEN,
Burlington, Ky.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of John Rowland, deceased, must come forward and settle the same, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

N. E. RIDDELL, Admr.

Deposits Earning Interest.
THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY, Inc.
N. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,
COVINGTON, KY.
Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice,
ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.
Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.
It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.
In its several departments, THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY
Acts as Agent; Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc; Attends carefully to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.
—ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL.—
CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.
Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.
JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President
C. W. HIMRALL, Sec't & Treas.
Long Distance Telephone, South 214.

J. G. BENTLER & SON,
Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.
Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing
and Wagon Repairing of all kinds,
All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.
Grinding of all Kinds to Order.
Hay and Grain,
AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,
By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices.
Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.
Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.
Successors to Clemens Hellman.
LUMBER DEALERS,
Manufacturers of
Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.
White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar, Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings., Etc.
COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.
Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122
H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.

"A SQUARE DEAL."
THIS famous phrase is the one on which we have built our reputation; only we have called it "BUSINESS HONESTY AND INTEGRITY." We believe in the square deal to every one, and we live up to it. If we said everything we would like to say about our Clothing it might sound like gross exageration.
We will say, however, to any man who is looking for CLOTHING that we give you the Style, Quality Fit, Workmanship
—WE HAVE A NICE LINE OF—
SPRING AND SUMMER SUITS
—BROKEN SIZES. WE SELL—
Men's $7.50 Suits.....now $5.00
Men's $10.00 Suits.....now $7.50
Men's $12.50 Suits.....now $10.00
Boys' and Children's Suits we have reduced accordingly. Men's pants the most select line—$1.00 to $5.00.
Rolfes & Wachs,
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

A. W. SMITH'S
PHARMACY,
WALTON, - - KY.
See our Crepe Paper Novelties. Dennison's Lunch Sets.
12 Doilies, 12 Knapkins, Table Cloth, 2 yards, 25c
Drink our Delicious Soda Water.
Our Ice Cream is superior. Our Candy is the very best.
High Grade Cigars and Tobacco.
FANCY STATIONERY IN MANY FORMS.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

W. M. KENNEY,
DEALER IN
Fine Wines and Liquors,
Best $2 whisky in the city.
141 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

Local News.

One of the children of Mrs. Elizabeth Deer, an inmate of the county infirmary gives the RECORDER the following regarding her mother and requests its publication: Mrs. Elizabeth Deer was born in the year 1802, was the mother of ten children, seven of whom are still living. She had 46 grand-children, 16 of whom are dead; 96 great-grand-children, 29 of whom are dead, and 19 great-great-grandchildren, one of whom is dead.

Rock Spring branch is a typical mountain highway in many respects, and a person who enjoys wild scenery would appreciate a trip over that Boone county thoroughfare; but it is not advisable to undertake the trip unless you are certain that the overseer, Ben Cason, has given it a thorough repairing not to exceed thirty-six hours preceding your trip.

The finest sample of fruit brought to this office in a long time was a basket of Champion peaches brought in one day last week by Charles Kelly, of Waterloo neighborhood. They were large, form perfect and of a beautiful color. They were champions in every particular, and the fruit dealers were anxious to handle the crop.

At this time of the year the prospects for a big fair at Florence was never more promising, and a great many persons, one time citizens of Boone county, will take advantage of the occasion to return to the county and meet their old friends and form new acquaintances. It is a great place to find your chums of years gone by.

One day last week, L. J. Riley, of Union precinct, was operating his mowing machine, when a very fine suckling mule ran in front of the cutter bar, which caught one of its feet and just about severed it. The young animal had to be killed.

Sheriff Allphin and son, James, started for Mudlick country, last Friday morning, with an outfit of mules, horses, buggies and carts that would be taken by many to indicate that business in that part of the county is very lively.

With a three dollar per capita in sight for this year, the teachers in the common schools will take hold of the institute work this week with more enthusiasm. It is hoped that the per capita will never fall below its present amount.

All new subscribers to the RECORDER for the next thirty days, will be sent the AMERICAN FARMER one year free. Here is an opportunity to secure a good farm journal free. Read the proposition elsewhere in this paper.

The cost of keeping a horse for a year on a farm, according to the New Hampshire Experiment Station: A horse weighing 1,200 pounds kept at hard work, $71 32 per year for board. Horses kept in the city, cost more.

Clark Bros. of Rising Sun, swung around through this county, last Thursday, scattering matter advertising their store. They passed through Burlington.

This county is pretty well covered with a network of telephone wires, and often the traveler discovers a telephone line in a locality where it is least expected.

Heard a gentleman say the other day that so many men had left the county that it was actually difficult to get hands enough to work the public roads.

A visit to the Sheriff's office at the court house will convince a person that an experienced housekeeper has been in charge of that department recently.

Last Friday was pension day and quite a number of vouchers were presented at the county clerk's office to be certified to the department.

Lawrenceburg, Indiana, people are on the jump this week taking care of the large crowds of visitors drawn to their city by the fair.

Baldon's threshing machine returned to the Burlington neighborhood last week, where it has threshed about all the grain.

There is considerable complaint of the poor quality of the wheat along the river. The yield was not large and the grain poor.

About this time of the year the lamb buyers are handling their money-losers—not very interesting work for the boys.

Some of those who were candidates over in Kenton county at this time last week are busy telling just how it was done.

A big run of coal left Pittsburg last week, but the prices indicate that the dealers are not aware of the fact.

Burlington had a representation at the annual fish fry given by members of Big Bone Baptist church.

Rev. O. M. Huey, of Stanford, Lincoln county, was in town a few minutes last Friday morning,

The members of the band received their pants, last week, and they are now uniformed capape.

For Sale—18 good stock ewes and one buck. Apply to H. L. Tanner near Hopeful church.

The wheat is about all threshed, and the machines are now racing for the scattering crops.

Here is hoping that the teachers will have a pleasant and profitable institute this week.

A hail storm about now in this county would play havoc with the growing tobacco.

Picnics appear to have been sidetracked this summer.

Frank Rouse is now in full charge of the local butcher shop.

The river has remained at a good boating stage all this summer.

Some tobacco is fired badly, especially on new south hillside land.

The regular August term of the Boone circuit court will begin next Monday.

There has been no necessity for journeying north this summer in order to keep cool.

A. M. Acra expects to attend the Indiana State Fair at Indianapolis, next month, with his fine poultry.

Some potatoes need "exhuming." If a rainy spell should come this way they may make a second growth.

This has been a summer with no great amount of hot weather, and the time is too short for much more torridness.

The bridge on the Burlington and Petersburg pike, just within Burlington town limits, is said to be in very bad condition.

William Kirkpatrick, the Limaburg livestock man, was circulating among the Burlington farmers and stock growers Saturday.

The music at the fair this year will be furnished by Smittie's band, one of the best in the country, and several objections made to the music of the past will be removed.

Every person, white or black, in this part of the county, had no trouble in finding a place to go last Saturday. Field Day, picnic and base ball—all in sight of the town.

Politics was too lively to admit of a Kenton county man leaving home, last Saturday, hence the absence of Secretary Perry from the meeting of the fair board, last Saturday afternoon.

The sheriff is putting up notices of the times and places he will meet the taxpayers of the county that they may make settlement without journeying to his office at the county seat.

Each Congressional District in the State is to have one principal free rural mail delivery county, and it is reliably reported that Boone is to be the principal county in the Sixth District.

Having sold out my grocery business I request those who are indebted to me on account to call on N. E. Riddell, in Burlington, and settle the same.

W. C. WEAVER, Burlington.

All roads traveled by colored people, last Saturday, lead to Sanford's park about a mile south of town on he East Bend road, where they picniced all day and until the storm drove them to an old house near by, where they kept up the merriment until early Sunday morning.

The Boone Fair has been well advertised throughout Central Kentucky, from whence comes the finest horses produced on earth, and the very liberal premiums have caused considerable talk among owners of fine horses, and many of them will shape their tour of fairs this year so as to take in that of this county. If fine stock fills the stalls, and it makes no difference from what quarter of the earth it comes, the exhibition in the ring will be good and the attendance will be large, natural results of the awarding of liberal premiums.

The appeal of James Gillespie from the sentence of imprisonment for life, pronounced last January after his conviction for the murder of his sister at Rising Sun, was filed in the Supreme Court of Indiana a few days since. The assignment of errors covers nine typewritten pages, the greater part being devoted to an argument that the ruling of the Court that discharged the juror, whose deceased wife was a second cousin of Mrs. Belle Seward operated as an acquittal of Gillespie and all the other defendants who were being tried with Mrs. Seward. In addition to this it challenges the sufficiency of the indictment and complains of 63 rulings of the Court made in the course of the trial.

The will of the late J. J. Lillard was probated by the county court, last Monday. It disposes of an estate worth about $36,000, consisting of real estate, cash and notes, bank stock and livestock and farming implements. He devises $5,000 to J. M. Lassing as trustee for Thomas Poston, the colored man whom Mr. and Mrs. Lillard raised from a child, and is afflicted with deafness and inability to talk plainly. The trustee is to use the income arising from the $5,000 for the support of Poston. The remainder of the estate is devised to Mrs. B. B. Johnson, sister of testator, during her life, after which it goes to two of Mrs. Johnson's children, Joseph Johnson and her daughter, Mrs. Murray. John M. Lassing, the executor nominated in the will, qualified as such. The will directs him to reduce the entire estate money

Saturday dawned bright and warm, making it an ideal day for an outing, and at an early hour members of the order of Patrons of Husbandry, with large baskets, bulging with everything good to eat that could be devised by good cooks in the several neighborhoods in the county, were seen, with their families, wending their way towards Boone county's popular outing resort, the Harvest Home grounds. The ladies had taken great pains in the preparation of the spread of which everybody present were to partake at the noon hour, and seldom if ever was a finer and more bountiful dinner spread at a public gathering in Boone county. Nothing had been omitted that was calculated to contribute to the success of the occasion, and it was about the most satisfactory Field Day known to the order in this county.

Personal Mention.

James D. Cloud has been quite sick for several days.

J. C. Revill and wife were in the city shopping one day last week.

Ex-County Judge Benjamin Stephens was in town one day last week.

Mr. Albert Howe, of Newport, is the guest of Charles Sebree and family.

Mrs. W. C. Weaver, who was reported sick, last week, has improved very rapidly.

Luther Adams is sojourning in the West again. Not enough excitement hereabouts for him.

Rev. Edgar C. Riley, of Bullittsville, rode the Masonic goat the first heat last Saturday evening.

J. T. Brock, of Chicago, was in town one day last week, enroute to Scott Chambers' near Idlewild.

Dr. Gordon McKim, of Cleveland, Ohio, came in last Saturday to spend a few days with his aunt, Mrs. S. W. Tolin.

Scott Chambers, of Idlewild neighborhood, was in town one morning last week. He said he has fine prospects for a large crop.

Harry Shearer, Lane Riggs, H. G. Blanton and Charles Gurney, of Erlanger, were among the visitors to Burlington last Saturday and Sunday.

Col. Graddy, of Petersburg, came to Burlington last Saturday afternoon to spend the night, and a most delightful rain was falling before 11 p. m.

Mrs. J. G. Furnish, and son, Joseph, of Covington, came out, one day last week, to spend a few days with Mrs. Furnish's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Revill.

F. J. Rue and wife, of Lexington, have been visiting relatives in this county, for a week. Mr. Rue looks like the breezes from off the blue grass agree with him.

Mr. John Stephens, who recently returned from Missouri, was a guest of friends in Burlington, last Saturday night. He has increased immensely in size and is in fine health and spirits.

E. L. Grant, of Bellevue, accompanied by Mr. Strother, of Welch, West Va., made the RECORDER a brief call, Monday. Mr. Strother is a son-in-law of the lamented J. Frank Grant.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rice entertained the following young people from Waterloo and Clore's Ridge neighborhoods: Elbert Clore and Miss Zelma Kelly, Wm. Satchwell and Miss Pearl Stephens, Ira Ryle and Miss Nannie Goodridge, and Miss Grace Clore.

The rain that the farmers had been wishing for all week came last Saturday about 9 o'clock p. m. It was a most delightful shower, and was accompanied by considerable wind but no serious damage resulted. It broke up what it was feared would prove a dry spell of considerable length. Another nice rain followed on Sunday night, and the ground is thoroughly wet, assuring good corn of the early planting, and stopping the tobacco from firing.

Some observing fellow, a Burlington agriculturalist, probably, has discovered that when it rains it is always just three and one-half days before or just that length of time after, a change in the moon. Remember this, as it will enable you to know how to make arrangements to suit the weather during the cropping season.

When Sheriff Allphin came in from Mudlick, last Saturday, that coop of chickens that was tied on his buggy had the friends guessing. Some suspected that he had bought a huckster route in the south end of the county, while others said the chickens were friers and were bought to compose part of the bill of fare at his house during the Institute this week.

J. F. Blyth and wife will have charge of the dining hall at the fair this year. They know how to cater to the demands of the public, and their presence in the hall is a guarantee of good meals and polite treatment. See ad in another column.

A new firm is engaged in the grocery business on the McKim corner—Bert Rouse and Charles Craven, who bought W. C. Weaver out last week. Here is hoping the boys will have success in abundance.

F. P. Walton, of Covington, was in town Monday, reminding his friends that he is yet in the merchant tailoring business at 142 East 4th street, Cincinnati. He took several nice orders for fall suits.

Lost—A black sow—will weigh about 150 pounds—has two rings in her nose. Any information leading to her recovery will be gladly received by O. P. Tanner, Burlington.

They do say that the monster black bear that Noah Delph saw while digging gensenq, a few days since, proved to be a very savage black stump—blackened by fire.

The refreshment and other privileges at the fair did not sell for as much as they brought last year by $30. James Clore rented all the stands.

The rain, last Saturday and Sunday nights were just to the liking of the farmers, and they are all wearing great, broad smiles this week.

J. J. Walton was in town, Monday, soliciting aid to build a bridge across Willoughby creek near the location of the old school house.

One of the leading horsemen in the Blue Grass section has ordered stalls for 18 horses which he will exhibit at the Boone fair.

Another threshing machine man had to call on the RECORDER for needed repairs for his separator, the other day.

Elder H. M. Curry will hold an all day meeting at Mt. Pleasant church next Sunday (August 18th.) All are invited.

A pretty good crowd in town Monday.

Ripe watermelons are due.

Come,
Come,
Come,

The Summer Now is Here.

The season when you want something "different."

What's the matter with some canned Salmon for salad, &c?

We have a nice Alaska Pink at.....10c
3 cans for 25c
Ocean Gem at.....13c
2 cans for 25c
Golden Net at.....15c
Republic at.....18c
Carmello, large can, steak, 20c
Kinney, small can, steak very fine.....13c
2 for 25c
Figaro, small can steak..10c
Veal Loaf for cold lunch..10c
Lunch Tongues for same..15c
Devilled Ham for same.....5 and 10c

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt.
N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington,
COVINGTON, - KY.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

7 Pounds of
Seal Blend Coffee $1
Single lb. 15c.

Best Granulated Sugar, 18 pounds for... $1.00
Pure Ground Pepper per pound.....20c
Jackson's Best Patent Flour, bbl.. $5.50
O. K. Fancy Patent Flour per bbl.... $5.25
Salmon Canned....10 & 12½
Mason Jars, pints.....45c
Mason Jars, quarts.....50c
Mason Jars, ½ gal.....60c
StarTin Cans.....35c

—THE—
HAMILTON
GROCERY CO.,
39 and 41 Pike Street,
COVINGTON, KY.

J. P. HEMPHILL
THE DRUGGIST
at Rising Sun, Ind.,
....Carries a full line of....
DRUGS, PAINTS, OILS AND VARNISHES.
In fact any and all articles kept in a first-class Drug Store, and wants to meet his Kentucky friends.
—CALL AND SEE HIM.—
Yours Respectfully,
J. P. HEMPHILL,
Rising Sun, Indiana.

GOOD MEALS
—AT ALL HOURS.—
I will have charge of the Dining Room at the Florence Fair this year and will serve meals at all hours at reasonable rates.
Patrons will receive prompt and courteous treatment.
J. F. BLYTH.

MEDICURA STOCK FOOD!
Cheapest and best to use. Fully guaranteed. 5 feeds for one cent. Eight cents per month per head. The greatest tonic food and fattener in the world.
FOR HOGS AND CATTLE, It cures and prevents disease. Saves ..... Grain and 40 days time in fattening.
FOR HORSES AND COLTS, A blood purifying Tonic. Expels ..... worms, gives new life and strength.
5 FEEDS FOR 1c for 12 FOWLS. MAKES HENS LAY MORE EGGS.
Your money refunded if it ever fails.

Hay, Grain, Mill Feed,
ALL WAYS KEPT ON HAND.

A New Grocery.
We have added a complete line of Fancy and Staple Groceries and canned goods, which we are selling at the Most Reasonable Prices.
R. B. HUEY & CO.,
WALTON, -- KENTUCKY.

KASPER LEHMANN,
—DEALER IN—
BOOTS and SHOES,
Custom Work Promptly Attended To.
Store: Corner Lexington Pike and Vine Street.
Formerly South Erlanger. - ELSMI

H. G. BLANTON,
FUNERAL DIRECTOR

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
Special Rates to Traveling Men.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
Grocers, Commission & SEED Merchants.
Tested Field and Garden Seeds,
Finest Brands and Grades of FERTILIZERS, LIME, CEMENT AND SALT.
Largest and Best Stock of
GROCERIES IN THE CITY.
Sole Agents for the Celebrated
RARUS and GEM Brands of FLOUR.
When in the City it will pay you to come and see us.
27 & 29 Pike Street, (Phone South 55) 26 & 28 W. Seventh Street
COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.

B. B. ALLPHIN. B. B. HUME.
ALLPHIN & HUME,

Livery and Sale Stables,
First-Class Turnouts for Hire at all Times.
GOOD RAYMOND CITY COAL A SPECIALTY.
WALTON, KENTUCKY.

CEILINGS. SKYLIGHTS. CORNICES.
The Porter Iron Roofing & Corrugating Co
27 and 29 West Front Street,
CINCINNATI, - - OHIO.
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Iron, Steel, Galvanized Felt and Porteroid Rubber Roofing.
Our Agents will give you wholesale p...
M. J. Crouch, Agent for Boone county. Write or see him

THE RECORDER.

W. L. HIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, • • • KENTUCKY.

AUGUST...1905
Sun.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thu.	Fri.	Sat.
		1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10	11	12
13	14	15	16	17	18	19
20	21	22	23	24	25	26
27	28	29	30	31

F. Q. 7th. F. M. 14th. L. Q. 23rd. N. M. 30th.

In the capital of New Zealand one-third of a workman's or a clerk's income goes to the landlord for rent.

Free lunch will be offered as an inducement to men to come to a series of Saturday revival meetings at Moody Bible institute, Chicago.

So large has the foreign population of East London now become that even the official notices outside the police station have to be printed in Yiddish as well as English.

A performance at the Municipal theater, at Halle, Switzerland, had to be suspended the other night while the policeman on duty was ejected. He had fallen asleep at his post, and his loud snoring disturbed the audience.

Messrs. Beardmore, of Glasgow, have laid the first keel of a new British battle ship, to be called the Agamennon. She is the most powerful ship of the first line yet ordered. She will have a displacement of 16,500 tons and be more heavily armored than anything afloat.

There is a railway over the Egyptian desert which runs for 45 miles in a straight line, but this is beaten by one in Australia. The railway from Nyngan to Bourke, in New South Wales, runs over a plain quite level for 126 miles in a mathematically straight line. There is hardly an embankment, not a curve, and only three very slight elevations.

One of the most beautiful diamonds in the world is the regent. It belongs to France. When rough it weighed 410 carats. Its present weight is only 136 carats. Its cutting, which is of great excellence, required two years of work. It was valued in 1791 at 12,000,000 francs. This diamond was purchased in the rough state by the grandfather of William Pitt for 312,000 francs. The duke of Orleans, then regent of France, acquired it in 1717 for the sum of 3,375,000 francs.

Mrs. Annie Rikert, of California, not content with years of prospecting and mining, during which she discovered the Calico silver mines and several valuable gold properties, set to work some time ago to build the San Joaquin and Tuolumne railway through a rough, mountainous country covered with forests. Mrs. Rickert is president of the company, and an excellent president, too. Miss Brainerd is its treasurer, and four of the six directors are women.

Gold and silver bullion, buried under the sea for more than 350 years, is being brought to the surface of the Bay of Mull by divers employed by the duke of Argyll. The search for this fortune, the size of which can only be guessed at, but which report says runs well up into the millions, has been intermittently constant ever since the days when the great Spanish galleon went to the bottom in that secluded bay on the west coast of Scotland, but only now is it meeting with any real success.

The desire expressed by the Japanese envoys that the peace negotiations shall be conducted in the English language once more illustrates the spread of this speech. For the past 300 years French has been the accepted "language of diplomacy among European nations, although of late English has been freely used. The recent ascendency of English is due not so much to its own vigor and elasticity as to the more practical reason that it is becoming almost a universal language and, of course, carries expediency with it.

There are two trade secrets that the outside world, it seems, will never learn. One is a Chinese secret—the making of the bright and beautiful color called vermillion, or Chinese red; the other is a Turkish secret—the inlaying of the hardest steel with gold and silver. Among the Chinese and among the Assyrians these two secrets are guarded well. Apprentices, before they are taken for either trade, must swear a strong oath to reveal nothing of what passes in the workshop. These apprentices, furthermore, must belong to families of standing.

The only two $5-dollar bills in existence have been found. One belongs to an eastern collector and the other to Mrs. Julia Turton, of St. Louis. They are worth $2,000 each. "My mother was a Bryant," said Mrs. Turton, "and the bill was one of several paid to my grandfather, Col. John N. Bryant, who served in the war of 1812, by the father of Mark Twain. [illegible] and [illegible] a connection [illegible] and [illegible] Tennessee, the [illegible] were here, and [illegible] the value."

HAPPENINGS IN ALL PARTS OF THE GLOBE

News of the Past Few Days Collected and Presented in Condensed Form.

PITHY AND POINTED PARAGRAPHS

The Russian-Japanese War in the Far East and Other Interesting Foreign Notes—Doings of the Public Officials.

The Yellow Scourge.

President Roosevelt forwarded to Surgeon General Wyman, of the public health and marine hospital service, a telegram from Gov. Blanchard, of Louisiana, requesting that the United States government take control of the situation in New Orleans. The president directed the surgeon general to take every step to stamp out the yellow fever.

A special from Mena, Ark., says the city council not only refused to quarantine but invited refugees from infected points to go there. Mena is in the Ozark mountains 1,350 feet above sea level.

By official action of the city board of health Knoxville, Tenn., has declared itself open to the world and invited all fever sufferers, whether suspects or not, to come within its gates.

The flagship of the Mississippi patrol squadron, the Grace, and another vessel, the Tipsey, which had been stationed in Lake Borgne canal, were seized by the Louisiana militia, their flags hauled down and the officers and crews placed under arrest.

The Mexican superior board of health reports that there are only four cases of yellow fever in the entire republic. These cases are in the city of Vera Cruz, where they are thoroughly isolated.

Alexandria, La., has capped the climax of all quarantine efforts by putting a ban on telephone and telegraph companies, refusing to allow messages to be received in that town from New Orleans either by telephone or telegraph.

Russo-Japanese War Items.

President Roosevelt's role in the making of peace between Japan and Russia has been played to the end. The fruition of his efforts came to an end in the main salon of the naval yacht Mayflower, entrance to Oyster bay harbor, when the peace envoys, appointed at his suggestion by the warring nations, met and clasped hands, dined together across the presidential board, and, amid booming cannon, steamed slowly out of the harbor en route to Portsmouth, N. H., where the work of the peace conference will formally be begun.

The czar, in replying to an address of clergy from Khaharovsk heartily approves the recommendation to continue the war until the enemy is crushed, and above all not to think of cession of territory or the payment of an indemnity.

It is reported that Czar Nicholas is suffering from a severe attack of nervous prostration and that one of his physicians is in constant attendance to the monarch.

The bulk of the Russian army on Saghalien island surrendered to the Japanese forces on July 31. Among the prisoners who fell into the hands of the Japanese are Gov. Liapnoff, 70 officers and 3,200 men.

The first installment of a fund raised among the officers and soldiers in the field for the rebuilding of the navy, subscriptions for which were voluntarily begun after the battle of the Sea of Japan, have been received at St. Petersburg. Gen. Mistchenko's corps contributed $130,000 and that of Gen. Zerpitsky, the heroes of the Mukden retreat, $76,000.

The Russian government has decided on the issue of another internal loan to the amount of $100,000,000, of which, however, only $75,000,000 may be issued at first.

Miscellaneous News.

The monthly circuation statement issued by the controller of the currency shows that at the close of business July 31, 1905, the total circulation of national bank notes was $503,971,395, an increase for the year of $53,764,507, and an increase for the month of $8,251,589.

President Jordan and Secretary Cheatham, of the Southern Cotton association, issued a statement addressed to the members of the association in which the resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson is demanded. Secretary Wilson said he was not disturbed by the demands for his resignation made by certain officials of the Southern Cotton association and that he heartily approved of the expressed intention of President Jordan, of the association, to go to President Roosevelt with his demands.

Lorman E. Roberts, of New York, was arrested in Chicago. He is alleged to have made thousands of dollars by postal money frauds in 20 eastern cities.

The attempt to increase the insurance rates of the Catholic Order of Foresters at the convention of the international boy, failed. After a long discussion a vote was taken.

Three bomb factories have been discovered at Odessa, and their contents confiscated. The authorities who made the discovery found 67 finished bombs and 200 other bombs in the course of construction.

At the proper time Secretary Wilson will ask for a congressional investigation of his department. That is, he will ask for it after the grand jury has finished its work, if some of his friends do not forestall him.

Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, denies that employes of the forestry service have written articles for magazines prior to the publication of the result of government work in public reports.

According to a bill filed in the common pleas court at Philadelphia, five directors of the Odd Fellows Mutual Life Insurance society of Pennsylvania are charged by Henry F. Walton, the receiver, with wrecking that concern.

Three large insurance companies of New York are to be investigated by the insurance commissioners of Tennessee, Kentucky, Wisconsin and Minnesota as a result of a meeting of eight state insurance commissioners held in Chicago.

The president has appointed William R. Moore register and F. C. Hildreth receiver at the consolidated land office at Phoenix, Ariz. Moore was register of the office at Prescott and Hildreth at Tucson before the three offices were merged.

Gen. James R. Carnahan, major general of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, died at his home in Woodruff place, Indianapolis, Ind., after an illness of two weeks. He was born at Dayton, Ind., November 18, 1841.

Gamblers intent upon playing the races and policemen determined to prevent all race track betting on the high seas furnished on Lake Michigan one of the most unique and spectacular gambling raids ever attempted in this country. The police and gamblers raced around the lake in Illinois, Indiana and Michigan waters. Fourteen gamblers were captured.

Robert W. Criswell, editor of a weekly publication, who was arrested recently on a charge of criminal libel, preferred by Representative Rhinock of Covington, Ky., committed suicide by throwing himself beneath a subway train in New York city.

Mrs. Mary J. Carlisle, wife of former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, died at her country home in West Islip, L. I., after an illness of three weeks.

The preliminary report of Commissioner Yerkes, of the internal revenue bureau, shows that the receipts from all internal revenue sources during the year ended July 30, 1905, amounted to $234,187,976, an increase as compared with the fiscal year, 1904, of $1,284,195.

After one Cossack had been killed on the Novorossisk Vladi Kavkaz railway, strikers advanced menacingly, whereupon the infantry fired, killing 30 of the strikers and wounding 22.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending August 3 number 178, against 197 last week, 179 in the like week of 1904 and 161 in 1903.

Secretary of War Taft and party arrived at Manila on the steamer Manchuria. Their arrival was made the occasion of a gorgeous water pageant. The battleship Ohio, forts and vessels in the harbor fired the regulation salute for the secretary of war.

Russell Sage celebrated his 89th birthday by remaining from his office, spending the day quietly at his country home in Long Island. Mr. Sage is said to be in excellent health.

According to information received by the police, Boston, instead of Paterson, N. J., has been selected as the meeting place of this year's international congress of anarchists.

While in the act of trimming a coffin in a St. Louis coffin-making establishment, George Disch, 49, an employe, was suddenly stricken dead and toppled over into the coffin. Heart disease caused his death.

The Milwaukee county grand jury has returned five more indictments. Among those against whom true bills were returned is Charles F. Pfister, one of Milwaukee's most prominent citizens.

John Comstock, one of the wealthiest men in Central Illinois, is dead at Peoria, Ill. He was born in Taylorville, O., in 1818, and went to Peoria in 1840. During the civil war Mr. Comstock expended large sums of money in fitting out troops to serve in the union armies and was thanked by Gov. Yates.

Sheriff Richardson returned to Iola, Kan., from Keystone, Ia., where he arrested C. L. Melvin, the man who blew up all the Iola joints on July 10 and destroyed $50,000 worth of property. Melvin said he was alone in the work.

Manila's welcome to Secretary Taft and party exceeded all similar demonstrations in the past by either American or Spanish officials. Gov. Gen. Wright's address of welcome at the government house expressed the feelings of Americans and natives on the return of the former governor general and the arrival of Miss Alice Roosevelt.

Mrs. John Lang, the votary of a strang sect in Philadelphia, known as the "Congregation of the Lord," kept the corpse of a woman in her house for three weeks awaiting its resurrection. The body was removed by the authorities.

During the baseball game between Pittsburg and New York J. W. Maher, 44, collapsed in his seat and died. Physicians give the cause as apoplexy, superinduced by excitement of the game.

Martin Strick and his two sons, aged 18 and 22, living ten miles south of Big Stone City, S. D., were overcome by foul air while engaged in cleaning out an old well, and all are dead.

Advices from Hattiesburg, Miss., state that Ed Lewis and "Kid" George, two negroes, were lynched there by a mob. The men were charged with being accessory to the murder of Convict Guard J. G. Smith.

All negotiations which have been pending between the Order of Railway Telegraphers and the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways came to a sudden end when General Manager Horn, of the Northern Pacific, notified the telegraphers of that system that the company's proposition as to the rate of wages it would pay was final and they could accept it or leave the service.

With the telegraphers almost to a man remaining loyal to their union chiefs and the railway officials making every effort to maintain traffic, the telegraphers' strike on the trans-continental systems of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads has taken on the aspect of a war to the finish.

Although conditions approaching a tie-up have not yet developed as a result of the strikers of the telegraphers on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads, increasingly serious delays are being caused in the moving of traffic.

The boycott against America has started at Yokohama, the Chinese refusing to handle freight on the Pacific mail steamer Manchuria for Hongkong. The Chinese will hold a meeting to organize the movement.

In the opinion of prominent growers, the Connecticut peach crop this year will be the largest ever harvested and of unusually fine quality.

Miss Corinne Blackburn, daughter of Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, and W. H. Gale, of New York and Leesburg, Va., were married in Washington in the presence of a small party of relatives and personal friends.

Sheriff Furbee arrived at Fairmont, W. Va., from Sistersville, where he and Deputy Watson arrested Mrs. Helen Payton and Frank Wright, charged with administering poison to the former's husband, Jacob N. Payton, who died mysteriously at Mannington July 17.

Mrs. Rose Catherine Collier, wife of William Collier, of Pittsburg, a lineman, swallowed a dose of rough on rats because her husband went out in the evening to attend a lodge of which he is a member.

John A. Seaton, aged 50, a prominent Cleveland insurance man, dropped dead in a Euclid avenue car while en route to the union depot.

John Boyle, former president of the Indiana Mineworkers' organization, has been appointed a national organizer by President Mitchell and has been order to West Virginia.

One man died of yellow fever at New York's detention hospital at quarantine, making the third case of yellow fever discovered on ships entering New York harbor this summer and the second death.

Gen. Joseph H. Lyon, of Leavenworth, Kan., has been appointed temporary major general of the Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Gen. James R. Carnahan.

Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, and Mrs. Morton had a narrow escape from serious injury when their automobile ran into an Eighth avenue car at 44th street, New York.

A Cotton Belt passenger train struck a party of negro cotton choppers east of Hillsboro, Tex., killing Ray Edwards and his wife and badly mangling Henry Thompson and his wife.

The funeral services of the late Mary J. Carlisle, wife of John G. Carlisle, secretary of the treasury under President Cleveland, were held at West Islip, L. I. The body was then removed to a vault in the rural cemetery at Babylon, where it will rest until fall, when it will be removed to Covington, Ky.

As a result of a battle between two of the big Chinese societies in the Chinese theater, in New York, three Chinamen wer killed, two others probabaly fatally wounded, and many others injured.

H. J. Dudley, 55, an old river man, was found dead in his room, in Memphis, under circumstances which point to suicide. The door was locked, windows pulled down and gas turned on.

W. H. Galland, of Chicago, arrived at Cairo, Ill., and joined the force of health officers, making the number of inspectors now seven besides Dr. Egan, secretary of the state board of health.

A large spectacular parade was held in honor of the visit of Secretary of War Taft and party to Manila. Ten thousand men were in line, including military, marines, sailors, industrials and 30 provincial delegations. There were 50 floats and 80 bands in line. Miss Roosevelt was presented with a gold plate amidst unbounded enthusiasm.

Two men were killed, two severely and six slightly injured in an accident at mine No. 1 of the Union Pacific Coal Co., at Cumberland, Wyo., by a fall of coal.

Gov. Magoon's report for July on the yellow fever situation on the Isthmus shows an improvement as compared with the preceding month. During July there were 29 cases of fever. Since the present outbreak of fever on the Isthmus, which occurred during the latter part of April, there have been 26 deaths.

American Ambassador Conger and family left Mexico City for the United States, the ambassador having two months leave of absence. He will go directly to Washington and it is surmised he will be consulted on the Chinese question.

Hank Majors, a young negro, charged with criminal assault, was sentenced to hang at Waco, Tex.

The 80 miners at the Adventure mine, Houghton, Mich., went on a strike because the management ordered that the men should eat their dinners underground instead of coming to the surface as formerly.

THE STRICKEN CITY.

Marine Hospital Service Takes Control at New Orleans.

The Citizens of the City Pledge Themselves To Put Up $250,000 To Defray the Cost of the Labor and Material.

New Orleans, Aug. 7.—Fever report up to 6 p. m. Sunday: New cases, 28; total cases to date, 533; deaths, 8; total deaths to date, 105; new sub-foci, 2; total sub-foci to date, 93.

New Orleans, Aug. 7.—The fever report Sunday is a great improvement over those during the middle of the week and the fact that there were only two new sub-foci, one up town and one down town, is a source of special encouragement. An effort is being made to determine the number of cases of fever under treatment and allowing ten days, which is a liberal estimate for a patient to either recover or die, it is figured that there are now 233 cases under treatment.

The marine hospital service has not yet assumed control of the local situation, but it is expected to do so Monday. The conditions precedent to their assumption, that the citizens of New Orleans pledge themselves to put up $250,000 to defray the cost of labor and material, has been met.

President Roosevelt and Surgeon General Wyman have both been wired by the citizens committee of New Orleans that all of the funds that the service may require outside of its own stated expenditures will be supplied by the people of the city. This action was taken at noon at a special meeting of the finance committee held in the St. Charles hotel.

It followed the news received from Surgeon White that Surgeon General Wyman had asked for a definite statement of the financial intentions of the people here and had given a definite statement himself of what the marine hospital service could do with the funds at its disposal.

RUSSIAN ENVOYS.

M. Witte and Baron Rosen Arrive at Newport on the Mayflower.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 7.—The converted yacht Mayflower with M. Witte and Baron Rosen on board arrived here late Sunday afternoon, and arrangements were made for M. Witte to continue the journey to Portsmouth, N. H., by train. The Mayflower was expected here about 11 a. m., but was delayed by the thick weather. The dispatch boat Dolphin, which is conveying the Japanese representatives from Oyster Bay to Portsmouth, did not come into the harbor, but anchored off Brenton's reef lightship.

The Mayflower and Dolphin were convoyed by the cruiser Galveston. The cruiser remained at anchor during the Mayflower's stay in the harbor. After supper Mr. Witte and Commander McR. Winslow went to a telegraph station and the former filed a number of dispatches.

A crowd of citizens who recognized the distinguished Russian assembled outside the office. Mr. Witte was much amused when he saw the curious ones. Mr. Witte and Baron Rosen planned to leave on a special parlor car attached to the regular 9:45 train for Boston.

The dispatch boat Dolphin remained off Brenton's reef lightship, and the Japanese representatives did not come ashore. Both vessels encountered a thick fog on the run from Oyster bay.

Owing to thick weather the peace squadron will be unable to reach Portsmouth Monday, and the delay will necessitate a postponement of the opening proceedings for one day.

TRAIN HITS A STREET CAR.

A Child Killed, Six Persons Were Fatally and 15 Others Injured.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 7.—The fast Pittsburg flyer, No. 560, on the Cleveland & Pittsburg railroad, crashed into an eastbound St. Clair street car, killing a child instantly and fatally injured six people while 15 others sustained injuries.

The accident happened without warning, as the conductor had just crossed the railroad tracks to see that the line was clear, and had thrown a safety derailer switch to permit the car to pass. The headlight of the train was not visible nor was its rumbling heard until it was but a short distance from the crossing. The conductor let go the derailer switch in time to throw the rear truck of his car off the track, but not in time to prevent the front end from being struck and the car hurled around until it stood parallel with the railroad track.

The car contained 40 passengers, which were bound for their homes and for amusement resorts along the car line. Only a few escaped uninjured and they were persons occupying the rear of the car.

To Join Peace Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—D. Pokotilow, the Russian minister to China, spent Sunday in St. Paul, on his way to join the peace commission, of which he is an advisory member. Mr. Pokotilow reached St. Paul in the morning, and left at night for the east.

Gen. Roy Stone Expires.

New York, Aug. 7.—Gen. Roy Stone, a veteran of the civil and Spanish wars and a distinguished civil engineer, is dead in his 69th year at his home in Mondham, N. J. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

NAUTICAL KNOWLEDGE.

The Acquisition of Which Would Assuredly Fit One for an Exciting Cruise.

Having been sailing one afternoon with a friend, you notice how simple it is to manage a boat; so you buy one—whether it is a center-board or a fin-keel boat you don't know, and it doesn't make any difference so long as you like the color, says the Chicago Daily News.

Ask half a dozen friends to act as crew. Great care should be exercised in choosing only men who know nothing about sailing, otherwise they might make suggestions as to the management of the boat. Far better is it for you to train the men after your own ideas of sailing—and you stand a much better chance of getting a picture of yourself and your boat into the papers.

After sailing around the harbor a few times without damaging any of the other boats, you will be in a position to invite your girl friends to go sailing. If experienced yachtsmen tell you that your boat will with safety carry ten, invite twenty friends. If you bring them all back you will establish a precedent.

Never postpone a sailing party because of an approaching storm. This would look cowardly, and by all means establish a reputation for daring even if you have to risk the lives of all your friends.

Always carry full canvas—before a squall and during it. Once outside the harbor tie your main sheet down—in hard knots if possible. This will make the trip more exciting.

By carefully following the above rules you will give the newspaper reporters a chance to write columns on "Yachting as the Most Dangerous of Sports" and will also help the life saving crew to earn their salaries.

His Idea of It.

"What is the vermiform appendix?" asked the teacher of the class in anatomy and physiology.

"It's a little curlicue on the inside of you," responded Willie, "that's all right until you find out you've got it, and then you have to get the doctors to take it at"—Chicago Tribune.

Might Have Settled It.

Bright Pupil—Teacher, don't you think I'd better fix over my graduating essay and bring it up to date?

Teacher—It's most too late, Mollie.

"That's too bad. I didn't know when I wrote it there was any trouble between Norway and Sweden."—Kansas City Drovers' Telegram.

Sound as a Dollar.

Monticello, Minn., Aug. 7th.—Mr. J. W. Moore of this place stands as a living proof of the fact that Bright's Disease, even in the last stages, may be perfectly and permanently cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Moore says: "In 1898, three reputable physicians after a careful examination told me that I would die with Bright's Disease inside of a year. My feet and ankles and legs were badly swollen; I could hardly stand on my feet and had given up all hopes of getting cured, when a traveling salesman told me that he himself had been cured of Bright's Disease two years before.

"He said he had taken to his bed and expected to die with it, but that he had been cured by a remedy called Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I commenced taking them at once and I am thankful to say that they saved my life. After a short treatment I was completely restored to good health and I am now as sound as a dollar."

When we see him with a hundred-pound cake on his shoulder walking about half a block around a big house to the back door we have some doubts about liking to be the iceman.—Indianapolis News.

Tell Others About Pusheck's Kuro.

Lots of people would get well if they would take the right medicine. Let them know what this remedy will do for Rheumatism, Weakness, for Blood and Nerves. Dr. C. Pusheck, Chicago. Advice free.

Some men are poor because they are honest, and some are honest because they are rich and can afford to be.—Chicago Daily News.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

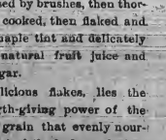
One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease. A certain cure for swollen, sweating, hot, aching feet. At all Druggists, 25c. Accept no substitute. Trial package FREE. Address A. S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

The man who is disappointed in love is a happy fellow compared with the one who is disappointed in matrimony.—Town Topics.

Do not believe Piso's Cure for Consumption has an equal for coughs and colds.—J. F. Boyer, Trinity Springs, Ind., Feb. 15, 1900.

A theory is an impracticable plan of doing something that is impossible.

"The Simple Life"



Proper Food is Really the First Step in Right Living.

One of the evils of our complex modern way of living, is our unnatural and unhealthy foods.

To have really good health and a good stomach it is necessary to eat simple nourishing food. EGG-O-SEE is the ideal food, and reaches the proper requirements in this direction more nearly than any other cereal now on the market.

To make EGG-O-SEE the kernels of the choicest California white wheat are first cleansed by brushes, then thoroughly steam cooked, then flaked and crisped to a maple tint and delicately flavored with natural fruit juice and pure grain sugar.

In these delicious flakes lies the mighty strength-giving power of the whole wheat grain that evenly nourishes every part of the body, and gives physical and mental energy that means splendid health and successful endeavor.

A large package at any grocery 10c

THE EGG-O-SEE CO., Quincy, Ill.

THE WIVES OF ESAU

PART I.

OUR BIBLE STORY by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1906, by J. M. L——)

Scripture Authority:—"And Esau was forty years old when he took to wife Judith the daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Bashemath the daughter of Elon the Hittite: which were a grief of mind unto Isaac and to Rebekah."—Gen. 26:34, 35.

ESAU opened his eyes. A burly stranger was standing over him. Who was this fellow? Was he friend or foe? Where was he? Why was he lying there, the strong and agile Esau? What had happened? His head felt dizzy and every bone and muscle in his body ached, but he tried to think and find answers to all these questions which came rushing upon him.

"Are you badly hurt," the man asked, and again he opened his eyes. The man stooped down and raised him to a sitting position.

"What has happened?" asked Esau with a groan.

"You have fallen down the rocks and are badly bruised, but I guess no bones are broken," replied the other, as he made hasty examination.

Esau glanced at his bow lying broken at his side, and the arrows fallen from his quiver and scattered about. He looked up the face of the rocks to the precipice some twenty or more feet above his head, he saw the rent in the vines and bushes which covered the edge of the rocks made as he had come crashing through, and then he remembered. He had been chasing an antelope, and so intent was he in taking his quarry that a misstep had sent him headlong to the rocks below.

"And the antelope got away," he exclaimed, regretfully, the hunter's ruling passion asserting itself and making him forget for the moment his pain.

"Never mind the antelope. You're in luck to have escaped with only bruises. Come let's see if you can stand."

And extending a hand he helped Esau struggle to his feet, and then looking inquiringly at him, he asked:

Who art thou? Hast thou come far?"

"I am Esau, the son of Isaac, and my people live far to the southwest at Beersheba."

"What, the great shiek Isaac, the son of Abraham?"

"Yea, the same," responded Esau.

"Ah, the story of the greatness and riches of Abraham and Isaac has spread through all the country. But," he added, a shadow of resentment crossing his face, "why are thy people so exclusive? Are not the Hittites and other nations dwelling in the land great in riches and power? Why should Abraham and Isaac and their people continue as strangers in the land and refuse to mingle with us?"

An awkward pause followed during which Esau struggled for an answer. He had a vague realization that it had something to do with the religion of his people. He was familiar with the worship of Jehovah, and had often heard his father and grandfather speak of the false gods of the nations about them and declare that they must have nothing to do with them, but he had never before come face to face with such questions as this stranger had propounded, and for want of better answer, he parried the questions, by asking:

"And art thou a Hittite?"

"I am Beeri, one of the chiefs of the Hittite kingdom. But tell me," he persisted, "why do thy people have so little intercourse with the nations about them?"

"I think it is because our religion forbids," stammered Esau, not understanding just why it should.

"But are not the gods of the Hittites just as good as the gods of Abraham and Isaac? Why should worship separate us?—But come; thou dost need rest and refreshment, after thy cruel fall. It is not far to my home." And stooping down, he gathered up the scattered arrows and replaced them in Esau's quiver, and then started down the path, while Esau followed.

"Thy coming is well timed," said Beeri, as they drew near to the chief's tent, "for the people are gathering for a feast to the gods on the morrow."

A feast to the gods! Esau started, uneasily. What would his father and mother think of his presence at such an affair? He was on the point of saying that he could not remain, when the taunt of Beeri flashed through his mind, and he asked himself:

"Is our God better than the gods of the Hittites? What harm can come from sharing in their feast?"

Beeri noted the hesitation and embarrassment, and asked, in a tone of displeasure:

"You will not refuse to remain?"

"No," hastily responded Esau, too fearful to make the reply he knew he ought to make.

"Good, and here we are," he added, as they reached the tent and the servants came hurrying forward to receive them and make them comfortable.

"Sit you here and rest, while I look after the preparations for the morrow," said Beeri, directing a servant to place a rug for Esau in the entrance to the tent, and then departing.

The tent was large and roomy, more pretentious than any about, and occupied a knoll overlooking the grove where the people were gathering, and in the center of which was the great image around which the feast was to be held the next day.

An unusual commotion at a short distance from where Esau sat drew his attention. A large group of travelers had just arrived, and it was evident from the trappings of the camels and the baggage that they were of some rank. At that moment Beeri came hurring forward, and Esau heard him say:

"Welcome, my lord chief Elon, and thy people."

Scarcely had he spoken his hearty greeting when there came bounding out of one of the tents near by a fair young woman. With a delighted cry she seized in her arms a damsel standing near the man just addressed by Beeri.

"Oh, you did come, didn't you, Bashemath?" she exclaimed, breathlessly. "Father said your father did not think he would bring you, and I was so disappointed."

"Well, I had to coax to come, but now that I am here, we will have such fun, won't we, Judith?" And the two girls turned and walked back towards the tent. Both were young and beautiful, and Esau found himself watching their animated faces and wondering if he would meet them on the morrow at the feast. It was evident that they noted his presence, for after casting shy glances in his direction they lowered their voices to almost a whisper, and then disappeared hastily within the tent.

"Day dreaming, or thinking of that antelope you lost this afternoon?" asked a voice at his elbow. Esau started, so absorbed had he been with his own meditation that he had not heard the footsteps on the soft turf, and he looked up to see Beeri and his friend standing before him.

"This is Chief Elon, head of one of the tribes of the Hittites," Beeri went on, not noticing the embarrassment of Esau. And then turning to the other he continued: "Chief, this is Esau, the son of the great Shiek Isaac."

Both bowed low.

"Ah, it is an unusual honor to have the son of Isaac at one of our feasts," Elon remarked, graciously.

"Yea," broke in Beeri, heartily, "may it be the beginning of closer fellowship between our people and his."

Esau's thoughts reverted to the vision of the two young women, and he responded, with some warmth:

"It may be. Why should it not be so?"

That night, long after quiet had settled down upon the camp, Esau lay in his tent and thought over the strange events which had brought him there. As he followed out each detail of the day's happenings he always came back to the incident of the two young women.

Although 40 years old, he had never before met the woman that specially interested him, in fact, the wild free life which he led in the fields and the mountains took him away from all thought and inclination for female society.

But that night new currents were setting in in his life. New visions were opening up before him. He called the words of Beeri expressing the hope of closer relations between the Hittite tribes and the tribe of Isaac, and he found the thought growing in favor with him. He grew quite enthusiastic as he considered the prestige and power which would come to his people by an alliance with the Hittite people. He would broach the matter to Beeri in the morning. Thus thinking, Esau fell asleep.

The next morning he was astir early. Though stiff and sore from his fall, he sauntered forth, and soon found himself wandering along the bank of the river. Would he meet the young women that day, he wondered. He stood absentmindedly watching the water as it rippled over the stones, when voices were heard approaching and, turning, he beheld the two maidens of his thoughts coming toward the river with their water jars on their heads and chatting merrily. They did not note his presence until almost upon him, and then stopped in an embarrassed sort of way, and half turned, as if tempted to beat a hasty retreat.

And Esau, unused as he was to women and women's ways, felt half inclined to stampede, too, but, resisting the panicky feeling, he stammered out:

"Let me fill your jars for you."

"Oh, thank you," both girls exclaimed, forgetting their shyness in their gratitude, and watching with admiring eyes while the stalwart form of the great hunter bent low over the river's brink and dipped up the water from the cool depths.

"How come you to be abroad so early?" questioned Judith. "Did not the guest of my father rest well?"

"Yes, my fair one," responded Esau; "there was no lack for the comfort of the body, but my mind and heart were much occupied, and roused me early."

"Troubled and anxious to be back among your own people?" she asked, half reproachfully.

"Nay, rather do I begin to dread the thought of coming departure." and Esau looked tenderly at the woman before him.

Evidently not noting the look, she hastily asked:

"And why need you think of going?"

"Would you be pleased to have me remain?" Esau asked, quickly, and looking eagerly into her face.

A deep blush was her only answer, and realizing that she had said more than maidenly modesty would have allowed, she turned quickly and sped back with her waterpot, while Bashemath hastened to follow.

Half amused and half annoyed, Esau watched the girls disappear down the pathway. He was sorry the pleasant and unexpected interview had been cut so short.

"Well," he ejaculated, as he, too, turned and retraced his steps, "it will not be Esau's fault if there is not an alliance with the tribe of Beeri, the Hittite. We will see what Beeri will say."

RECIPROCITY HERE AGAIN.

Hot Weather Subject Brought Up by Republican Dodgers of the Tariff.

We don't know just what it is about the warm weather that makes reciprocity such a tempting subject of discussion, but in the very dog days the question always assumes an unwonted interest and ooks into activity the greatest of forces. Next month in Chicago there will be a national conference on the subject. Avowed advocates of better and freer trade relations with foreign countries will meet harmoniously to discuss and wisely to frame plans and policies for the enlargement of the sphere of our trade activity and make invaluable suggestions as to the method by which the desired end is to be obtained. The newspapers will be charged with news of the reciprocity meeting and loaded with editorial support of the reciprocity plans. Only the New York Press and the periodic publication of the American Protective Tariff league will rehash the old arguments about the fallaciousness of the policy and the destructiveness of the practice. Otherwise there will be complete unanimity of sentiment, says the Detroit Free Press.

A foreigner visiting in America would be impressed with this unanimity of the sentiment. He would say that in a country given up to the rule of majorities and otherwise subscribing to democratic notions a plan in such accord with the views of everyone would be speedily adopted and congress would make haste to ratify the action of such a representative assembly as any reciprocity conference must be. But the foreigner would be mistaken. If he pursued his investigations he would find that the later the session of congress comes the less is the interest in reciprocity until, by the time the matter might be expected o come up for congressional noice, it has been forgotten completely or cast aside while matters of more acute interest, though of much less relative importance, absorbed the attention not only of congress, but of the most ardent advocates of reciprocity also.

Reciprocity is an excellent hot weather subject. It does no harm to discuss it and it does some good. It brings the people in touch with the value and importance of foreign commerce, emphasizes the inequalities and iniquities of the existing tariff schedules, teaches the source of the greatest of all grafts and makes them eager to talk about changing established conditions. It also teaches that, in reality, the majority does not rule or the tariff would have been revised into a sane law long ago. It is quite astonishing that in a country where the government is popular in form, there is one thing which nearly everybody wants, but nobody can get.

FARMERS ARE PLUNDERED.

Agricultural Implement Trust Robs Workers Through the Tariff.

The International Harvester company has been sued by one of its stockholders, who claims that the McCormick company alone has been paid in rebates by the railroads over $3,000,000 and another constituent company of the trust, the Piano company, has received $500,000. The profits of the harvester combine must be enormous, for the profits on each machine is said to be over 50 per cent. after paying all expenses, and the rebates above mentioned increase the regular profits.

If the agricultural department would investigate this trust that plunders the farmers of millions of dollars, instead of getting up worthless statistics on cotton, wheat and corn, the money would be better expended and the evidence could be used to punish the unlawful combination. As the harvester and other agricultural machinery is protected by 20 per cent. tariff duty, there is no competition against the trust. If this tariff duty was removed the price of agricultural machinery would be reduced in like proportion, for the trust would have to compete with foreign made machinery. Nearly all the trusts and combines are protected by the tariff, but the farmers in in the northern states persist in electing republican congressmen who refuse to revise the tariff and some of whom even declare it should be "revised higher."

FROM POLITICAL EXCHANGES.

——Graft in the Washington departments seems to be an endless chain.—Atlanta Constitution.

——The treasury deficit now amounts to $24,000,000. We are glad to report that it is not due to speculation on the part of any of the officials.—Chicago Record-Herald.

——The grafters when convicted say that all men makes mistakes. It is the takes and not the mistakes, for which the courts are after the grafters. —Troy Times (Rep.).

——For United States senators, Chauncey M. Depew and Thomas C. Platt. And they call New York the "Empire state."—Kansas City Star (Ind.).

——Senator Depew will have to utilize his brightest repartee in explaining his connection with the Equitable concern.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

——Minister Bowen is dismissed, but not silenced. Loomis is exonerated, but not exculpated. Whatever is touched by asphalt suffers as a consequence.—Philadelphia Record.

——The secretary of agriculture says that the trouble in that department will make it necessary to have more money in order to reform things. Reform is always worth what it costs and no more.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.).

THE RECIPROCITY FARCE.

Republican Plans for Tariff Revision Only Increase Trust Prices.

There are several ways proposed of revising the tariff for these are republicans who feel so kindly to the trusts that they would revise the tariff higher. That is openly the purpose of the protective tariff league and the plan of authorizing the secretary of the treasury to increase the present high schedule in retaliation for foreign countries raising their tariff to keep out our goods, probably emanated from the league. Other republicans favor a maximum and minimum tariff plan, which would provide a constitutional way of providing for reciprocity, that is, those countries that imposed a low tariff on our products would be allowed to import their products at the minimum rate; while those countries whose tariff was too high to allow us to export to them would be met by the maximum rate here.

That plan would be protested against by some of the protectionists as the reciprocity treaties were, and as the protected interests had influence enough to prevent those treaties from being ratified by the senate it would seem that such a bill would be defeated by the same senators. It will be remembered that after the present tariff bill was prepared in 1897, the reciprocity feature was added and the protected interests were so powerful with the republican politicians that the rate of duties were increased 20 per cent so that the protection granted the special interest would not be decreased if reciprocity treaties were made with foreign countries. The bill providing that the duties should not be decreased over 20 per cent in any reciprocity treaty. Treaties were duly negotiated by the McKinley administration, but not having been ratified by the senate, have never gone into effect, so the high protective duties with 20 per cent added have been collected ever since the passage of the tariff bill in 1897.

The people of the United States, every man, woman and child of them, have been paying this high tariff tax on nearly everything they consume and the trusts having no competition from abroad have been vastly fostered and fattened at the peoples' expense. To overcome this debauch of trust high prices a reasonable revision of the tariff schedule is necessary. On those trust products that the combines are selling cheaper to the foreigner than to our own people, the tariff should be greatly reduced or in some cases abolished altogether. All the tariff taxes should be reduced to a reasonable rate, which would compell the trusts to sell their products at fair prices or competition from abroad, under reduced tariff rates, would compel the trusts to sell cheaper or lose part of the home market.

No tariff revision that does not accomplish this will be permanent and satisfactory and reciprocity and other dodges for reducing the tariff would not help the American people by lowering trust prices.

THE TAXATION IS UNEQUAL.

Railroads and Trusts Pay Nothing for the Support of the Government.

The railroad corporations do not pay any tax for support of the government of the United States, and the railroad magnates pay no more than the ordinary citizen unless they drink more imported wines or cigars. If all the millions that are invested in railroads were taxed, there would be, instead of a deficiency in the treasury, an enormous surplus, for the bonds and stocks of the railroads are returned as amounting to over $13,000,000,000. That sum being greater by nearly $4,000,000,000 than all the bank deposits, including the deposits of the railroads and the trusts. All the money in circulation in the United States is less than $2,500,000,000, or not one-fifth of what the railroads have issued stocks and bonds for, many of which are selling for much above par and some far more than twice as much. The system of taxation that makes the poor man pay as much as the rich man pays for tariff taxes on nearly all he consumes and an internal revenue tax on the tobacco, cigars and cigarettes he smokes and on the beer and whisky he drinks is hardly one to commend itself as a fair distribution of the burdens of government. And, when, on top of this, the railroad corporations and the enormous trust combines pay nothing in taxes for the support of the government, is it any wonder that the people are tired paying these corporations unreasonable rates and profits and demand that congress curb them and protect the public.

The democratic party demands that these inequalities of taxation shall be remedied and one of the main reasons for its defeat in the last three national campaigns has been the enormous campaign funds furnished to the republican party by the untaxed corporations and combines and their millionaire owners. The republican party has built up this system of unequal taxation and, of course, have the active and material aid of the great interests it has protected.

——But if the commercial organizations of the country take concerted action in favor of reciprocity, what kind of leg—if any—does it leave the American Protective Tariff league to stand on?—Indianapolis News (Ind.).

——It is good news that Secretary Root insists upon the retirement of Loomis from the state department. That is a commendable and needed bit of housecleaning. But what is this wild rumor that President Roosevelt will thereupon make Loomis minister to Japan? If the president wishes to insult Japan, it would be better to do it directly.—N. Y. Post.

FROM ALL OVER THE STATE

KENTUCKY PRODUCTS.

Complaints Made That They Are Passed In Statehouse Bids.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 4.—Gov. Beckham wrote to Architect Andrews, of Dayton, O., who will build the Kentucky statehouse, inclosing a complaint from Secretary Hughes, of the Louisville Commercial club, that Kentucky products are discriminated against in the specifications for the new building. The governor directed Mr. Andrews to investigate the complaint, and if found to be true to correct matters at once. If it is found that there has been discrimination it is possible that the bids, which are to be opened next Monday, will be rejected and new ones asked for, or a few days' further time given for supplemental bids to include the Kentucky materials heretofore shut out. It is asserted, however, that no discrimination has been made, except that some kinds of materials may be shut out because of the high quality named in the specifications.

POISONING ATTEMPTED.

A Whole Family Became Ill After Eating Their Dinner.

Owingsville, Ky., Aug. 3.—News has reached here from Ewing, Fleming county, that G. W. Reeves, a farmer, his wife and young daughter, Emily, were mysteriously poisoned and were in a serious condition for some time. Mrs. Reeves is not yet out of danger. The family became ill just after taking a hearty meal, and it is evident that an attempt was made by an enemy to exterminate the family, but there is no clew.

CANTRILL WILL STAY.

His Son Denies That He Will Resign From the Appellate Bench.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 5.—In an interview with Senator J. Campbell Cantrill, he said: "The report that it is the intention of my father to resign from the appellate bench is without foundation or authority. Judge Cantrill is now at Hot Springs and is much improved. He will probably remain there several weeks. There is necessarily a possibility that his health may not enable him to be present at the session of court, but his present state of health does not require him to even consider resigning."

ROAD SUPERVISOR OUSTED.

The County Turnpike Fund Alleged To Be Overdrawn $15,000.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Aug. 5.—The Montgomery fiscal court in a stormy session removed W. W. Eubank, road supervisor, and declared the office vacant. The meeting showed the county turnpike fund to be overdrawn $15,000 and no money. The banks hold the vouchers and unless money is forthcoming suits will be brought. The meeting caused a sensation. Eubank will fight the court and continue to act. Sensational disclosures are promised.

DEFENDED HIS MOTHER.

The Youngster Fired a Shot That Killed His Stepfather.

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 5.—Forest Pate, 17 years of age, shot and killed his stepfather, John Browder, in this county. The boy said his stepfather was advancing on him with a brick when he fired in self-defense. He was arrested, brought to this city and placed in jail. The boy says his stepfather had been abusing his mother and he defended her.

Saw Husband Drown.

Bardwell, Ky., Aug. 5.—In plain sight of the struggles of her husband Mrs. George W. Turney was forced to stand while he sank beneath the waves of Jones lake. Mr. Turney and Miss Lillian Jones were rowing when the boat sprang a leak. Neither could swim. Mrs. Turner, who is a bride of six months, pleaded with Ed Brady and Clint Atkins, who were with her on land, to save the couple. Miss Jones was rescued, but Turney sank.

Was Killed Instantly.

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 4.—Berry Hensley shot and killed Mose Middleton jr., at a place known as Hensley's Schoolhouse Precinct, near the Virginia line. The ball took effect in the right breast, killing him instantly.

Slot Machines Must Go.

Henderson, Ky., Aug. 3.—Sheriff S. A. Young, who a few months ago was appointed sheriff to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Henry Dixon, gave out printed notice that he would strictly enforce the law as to slot machines.

Sues Railway For Damages.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 5.—L. T. Rigsby filed a suit in the circuit court against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co., for $2,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained at hands of employes of that company June 27.

Found Dead in Bed.

Campbellsville, Ky., Aug. 5.—Hon. James E. Durham, 58, was found dead in his bed by his wife at his home near Saloma. His death was without any previous illness. He is survived by his wife and several children.

FIRE AT INDEPENDENCE.

The Shock Caused the Death of An Aged Woman.

Covington, Ky., Aug. 3.—Fire which threatened her life and home gave Miss Millie Edwards, 80, such a shock in her feeble condition that she died, after having been carried safely out of the house in Independence, Ky. She was a pioneer resident of Independence, the seat of Kenton county, and located 12 miles back of Covington. The fire did damage estimated at $12,000 and threatened the destruction of the entire town. The fire originated in the residence of Mrs. Rachel Jones, on the other side of the street from the courthouse, and when discovered it had a firm hold of the building. It was started, presumably, from a leak in a gasoline cook stove in the kitchen.

KILLED PARTNER.

H. A. Rose Is Shot Three Times By H. H. Loving at Paducah.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 4.—A sensational shooting occurred in the office of the Kentucky Mill and Lumber Co., in the Fraternity building here, when H. H. Loving fatally wounded H. A. Rose, the latter being shot three times, once in the forehead, once in the back of the head and once in the side. Both are well-known men, and up to a few days ago were president and vice president of the Kentucky Mill and Lumber Co. It was charged that Rose had been selling the company's lumber by the car load in Chicago and keeping the money, and he was forced to get out of the company. The directors met and elected Loving president in place of Rose.

VIVA VOCE VOTING.

The System Will Be Balloted on By Kentuckians In November.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 4.—A constitutional amendment proposing to change from the secret ballot to the viva voce system of voting will be submitted to the voters of Kentucky at the November election, as provided by an act of the last legislature. Secretary of State McChesney sent out the required official announcement to the Kentucky daily newspapers, and it is barely in time, for the law requires the [illegible] to be [illegible] days before election day. The question has not been discussed by the newspapers, but it is known that a large number of people favor a return to viva voce system of voting.

NEGRO RUNS OVER GIRL.

The Father Tries To Kill Offender, Who Is Jailed.

London, Ky., Aug. 5.—Ed Scaron, a negro, ran his horse over little two-year-old Bessie, daughter of Leander Bryant, in front of his residence. The child is painfully, but not fatally injured. Much excitement followed and the negro was hustled away to jail just in time to escape being mobbed on the streets. The enraged father made desperate efforts to kill the negro.

Instructors For State Guard.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 4.—Gov. Beckham received a telegram from Gen. Ainsworth, military secretary United States army, stating that he has detailed nine non-commissioned officers to act as instructors of non-commissioned officers of the Kentucky State guard during the encampment at Paducah.

Indirect Cause of a Suicide.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 5.—The suicide of Mrs. Mary Hutti Miller, of Louisville, Ky., developed the fact that she was the indirect cause of the death of Charles Morehead in Louisville a year ago, he having committed suicide after being arrested on complaint of the girl.

Her Scalp Torn Off.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 5.—Caught in the shafting by her long hair, Edna Seifried, an operator employed by the Nelson-Bethel Clothing Co., was dragged across her machine until her scalp was torn completely off and her bruised and lacerated body fell to the floor.

Assistant Postmaster Arrested.

Richmond, Ky., Aug. 4.—John Ballard [illegible], assistant postmaster, was arrested here by Inspectors Speer and Hennen, of Cincinnati, on the charge of rifling registered letters. When confronted with the charge Ballard broke down and confessed, it is said.

Veteran Killed By a Car.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 5.—Maj. Thos. Lawson, aged 75, an inmate of the Confederate Veterans' home at Pewee Valley, was struck and instantly killed by a Pewee Valley east-bound passenger train while taking a customary walk along the track.

Neither Responsible or Exonerated.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 5.—The coroner's inquest over the remains of H. A. Rose, who was killed by H. H. Loving, was concluded. Loving was neither held responsible or exonerated. There is considerable surprise over the verdict.

Death Follows a Scratch.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Elizabeth Craig, 58, died at her home near Epperson, this county, from blood poisoning, which developed from a small scratch from a fish bone while she was cleaning fish two weeks ago.

For sale—Good Southdown buck.
Edgar Cropper.

Harnet Carder, in his 82d year, died at the County Infirmary, last Sunday.

For sale—Two good bucks—one yearling, 1 5-year-old; also 2 good horses. J. H. AYLOR, Hathaway.

A. Corbin & Son, Grant, Ky., are selling one of the best grades of Kanawha coal at 12c per bushel.

Report has been received at Belleview that the Str. Alice Brown is quarantined 100 miles below Memphis with a case of yellow fever on board. John Maurer, of Belleview, is one of the pilots on the Brown.

The Ivorywood Trading Boat will be at Hamilton landing, Boone county, from August 14th to the 22d, with a large and varied assortment of glass, tin, queensware and granite, and will take rags, iron and metals in exchange. I will be pleased to have you call and examine my stock. J. W. MOORE, Proprietor.

The Death Penalty.

A little thing some times results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cute or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best salve on earth and will prevent fatality, when Burns, Sores, Ulcers and Piles threaten. Only 25c at all Drug Stores.

W. E. Vest, real estate agent, reports the following sales, made last week:

A. P. Collins' heirs to R. B. Huey, 105 acres—$6,700.

R. B. Huey to L. S. Wolfe, house and lot in Walton—$2,000.

R. T. Fassett to Walter C. Gibbs, house and lot in Walton—$1,800.

Hattie Arnold to C. L. Griffith, lot in Walton—$1,600.

Mike Gurney to M. I. Percivall, 75 acres in Kenton county—$2,500.

A. A. Broch to W. A. Price, 260 acres in Petersburg precinct—$8,500.

TEACHERS OF COUNTY

Gather to Receive Instructions and Ideas on School Work From Prominent Educators.

The annual Institute of Boone County teachers, opened at the Court House last Monday with an unusual attendance for the first day and with prospects of an exceptional week throughout. Many faces which have been seen at former Institutes are in evidence, and also new ones, who are meeting with the teachers of the county for the first time.

The Institute was called to order by the Supt. at 1 p. m. The first on the program was a song, after which the Institute was led in prayer by Rev. Marion Crosley, of Indianapolis, Ind. Supt. Snyder then opened the session with a good talk and emphasized the necessity of all teachers being present, not simply because the law compels such attendance, but from the fact that we owe our pupils the new ideas that we may gather from the Instructor.

Prof. R. A. Burton, of Shelbyville, Ky., was next introduced. In his introductory remarks he mapped out the course which he expects to follow in instructing the teachers, and we are fully in accord with his idea, "Practical Work."

In Prof. Burton's address on spelling he emphasized the fact that it should be taught in all grades. This subject was also ably discussed by Miss Roberts, Elbert Ryle, Rose Adams and Prof. Eubank, the latter being here in the interest of the Southern School Journal.

The following committees were appointed by the Supt. Prof. Ryle, Katie Craig, Lizzie Rogers. Music—Flora Youell, Laura Wolf, Mary Rouse. Legislation—A. M. Yealey, D. M. Bondurant, Omer Waller. Time and place of District Meeting—Blanche Northcutt, Lena Rouse, Lillian Corbin.

The following teachers are enrolled:

A. M. Yealey, Mary Rouse, Rose Adams, Sadie Crisler, Flora Youell, Bettie Dolph, Blanche Northcutt, Katie Craig, Etna McAtee, Josie Madin, Arreida Hind, Elizabeth Rogers, Lola Ward, Mary Balton, Laura Wolfe, Mabel Regenbogen, Lena Rouse, Katie Baker, Lillian Corbin, Lillie Ryle, Grace Anderson, D. M. Bondurant, Paris Akin, Keene Souther, Elbert S. Ryle, Helen L. Dickey, Anna R. Hudson, Grace R. Bullock, Jeannette Chambers, Nannie Chambers, Olivia B. Ransom, John M. Case, Stella Carpenter, Grace M. Russell, Lucy Russell, Carrie Dougherty, Lizzie Roberts, Ollie Rouse, Madge Wood, Harriet Badger, Lizzie Rogers, E. C. Rice, Mrs. E. C. Rice.

A. M. YEALEY, Secretary.

Conditions are very favorable for [illegible] while the reverse [illegible] this year. [illegible] the corn [illegible] more than [illegible] idle for [illegible]

BATTLE AT CYNTHIANA.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

[Continued from last week.]

Capt. Billy Glass, of the Cincinnati Fire Department was ordered to cross the Licking River bridge with his cannon and take a position about 200 yards down the Georgetown pike and open upon Morgan's advance and silence his battery if possible, which order Captain Glass promptly executed, doing excellent service with a few well-directed shots, to such an extent that Morgan was forced to check his advance and change his front by an oblique movement to the right, deploying two heavy columns, who crossed the river above the bridge. To meet this movement Colonel Landram ordered the Captain to recross the bridge and take a position on the Cynthiana side, where he could command the streets as well as the bridge and oppose Morgan's approach either way. By this time the Confederates had crossed the river and entered the town and were coming down the street in a cavalry charge like a Kansas cyclone. Now Billy was a good soldier and a nice clever gentleman, and might perhaps extinguish a fire with a hose over in Cincinnati, but the kind of fire we were having then had to be put out with a gun; while Morgan stood behind his men and fanned the flames, and when you thought you had them under control at one place, they would break out afresh in another are, was a little out of the line of the Captain's business, and not quite up to his liking, and whether he left to get a horse or to reckon accounts with the fellow who told him Morgan wouldn't fight, is left for Captain Billy to state. Whooping and yelling, spreading consternation as they came in range, they opened fire upon Capt. Arthur's Company; the artillery support, which was promptly returned and became quite spirited, emptying several saddles, with loss of several men killed and wounded. The Confederates were invincible because of superiority of numbers and fired with that impetuosity born of desperation, which nothing short of a stone house could check or change its course. We were forced back up the street toward the depot, leaving the cannon and four fine horses belonging to the Cincinnati Fire Department of Cincinnati in possession of the Confederates. Moving slowly, warmly pressed on all sides, contesting the way, the Confederates had now entered the town in force up the streets and down the alleys and apparently coming out of the ground. They came from all directions. Here Major W. O. Smith, of the Seventh Kentucky, (better known as the Race Horse Cavalry), having by superior numbers been forced from his position on the Claysville road north of town, came tumbling down the street to the court house, where he was forced to surrender. Here I noticed a ball rolling upon the pavement. I held my hand down and caught it—also a blister. Having exhausted my supply of ammunition, I placed my fine repeating Colt's rifle up against a house and left it. If the Confederate is yet living who got that rifle, I would be pleased to hear from him. We were now subjected to a consentrated fire from every side, and men went down like grass before the sickle. Colonel Landram was here, there and everywhere, by presence, word and action, encouraging his stringing little band of Spartan heroes to renewed effort and energy; regardless of danger, a stranger to fear, his voice could be heard above the roar and din of battle. Here Billy Clark, one of Morgan's aides, came dashing up to him and demanded his surrender. Mighty armies commanded by great military chieftains, at whose command thrones have crumbled and powerful nations trembled, have been surrendered under less favorable circumstances but not so with Landram, neither were their opportunities his. To Clark's demand Colonel Landram replied: "Sir, I never surrender," and raising his pistol fired two or three shots at Clark in quick succession. I fired immediately afterward, but Clark was reeling in his saddle when I fired and he told me afterward that Col. Landram was the man who shot him. Clark recovered, notwithstanding he had two balls through his body. Being extremely—not warm—but hot, I had divested myself of coat and vest, and would, if allowable, went one or two better. The fighting now on both sides was terrific, the Confederates from the shelter of fences and houses were pouring across, galling fire upon us from all directions. It was here that Thos. Ware, U. S. Commissioner, from that county, was killed, and the gallant Capt. Lafe Wilson fell mortally wounded and died fighting, and here that Captains Rogers and McClintock were wounded, and our late fellow townsmen, Jacob Carver, lost his leg. Three-fourths of the 340 men were now dead, wounded or prisoners; the last ray of hope for success had vanished. To remain longer where we were, meant death; to surrender as we then believed, meant a worse fate. Just then the gallant Colonel Landram said: "Boys, follow me, and we will try to cut our way through the enemy, and make our escape." Suiting the word to the action he led us off from the depot, up through Redmon's pasture. On the hill we encountered a force of Confederates behind fences, tress and hay shocks, which the Colonel ordered us to charge, which we did, routing them effectually. We noticed that we were being pursued by a force from town, who had followed us up the hill. Col. Landram ordered us to fight from behind a fence, which we did, holding them in check until our ammunition gave out. I noticed a Dutchman down on his knees peeping through the fence, with his gun resting on a rail—he had been there sometime. I slapped my hand on his head with an expression that would not look well in print and told him to shoot. Just then a ball struck him in the breast and he fell over dead. I turned to look at Col. Landram, the picture of a General without an army, a King without a country, a Rome without Caesar, as he sat calmly reviewing the situation; with his little army prisoners, wounded, dying and dead at his feet, looking as we then supposed inevitable death in the face, surrounded on all sides with only one possible avenue of escape—one small gap out towards the Millersburg pike, which was being rapidly crossed by two approaching columns of cavalry, completely encircled by the enemy on either flank and in the rear approaching. It was then that the gallant Colonel uttered those memorable words—words that should live on and on in the memory and die with the last one that heard them—at the end of a well-fought battle. With moisture in his eyes the Colonel said: "Boys, we have done all that we can do; If you were only mounted we could cut our way out of here or all die together in the attempt. Take care of yourselves the best you can and I will have to do likewise. If I were only through that fence."

(Continued next week.)

Angels may have wings, but that does not indicate that they will welcome a man milliner.

RICHWOOD.

L. D. Jackson has had his scales repaired.

Dickerson, our telegrapher, is back at his post.

Miss Ida Grubbs is visiting friends at Pittsburg, Pa.

Richwood would like to have a game for next Saturday.

Rabbits and quails seem to be very plentiful at present.

Mrs. Woodford Carpenter has joined her husband at St. Louis.

O. O. Dixon has been nursing several bad boils, the last week.

James Carpenter's horse ran a shaft in his leg and lamed itself badly.

Claud Rice, who was badly hurt in California, is considerably better and will resume his work soon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carpenter, Jasper and Mrs. Boothe and Uncle Sam Dobbins and Mrs. Anna Hammon, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. M. Grubbs.

o o o

LUDLOW.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Davis spent Sunday with Boone county friends.

Misses Anna Fleming and Freda Ehrlich, are at Niagara for a week's stay.

Miss Mary Allison has returned from a delightful visit with friends at Independence.

Miss Mary Hay is the guest, this week, of her grandfather, Thos. Hay, of Bromley.

Mrs. Spencer Aylor and daughter, of Hebron, were guests of Mrs. B. S. Clore, Friday.

J. M. Riggs and wife were visiting their daughter, Mrs. Bert Scott, of Florence, Sunday.

Dr. R. H. Crisler attended the Grange picnic at the Harvest Home ground near Limaburg Saturday.

Blanie Robinson, of Linden street, is spending his vacation with his grandmother, Mrs. Robinson, near Constance.

Union services were held at the Christian church Sunday night, the pulpit being occupied by Rev. J. J. Frances, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

W. T. Hankins, one of the oldest residents of Kenton county, died at his home on North Oak street, last Thursday. The remains were taken to Hebron for interment on Saturday. His wife and one son survive him.

SUICIDE PREVENTED.

The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide had been discovered will interest many. A rundown system or despondency invariably precede suicide and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At the first thought of self-destruction take Electric Bitters. It being a great tonic and nervine will strengthen the nerves and build up the system. It is also a great Stomach, Liver and Kidney regulator. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by all Drug Stores.

C. J. WOLFF,
SPECIALIST FOR
TRUSSES, BRACES, CRUTCHES, Etc.
Personal attention given every case.
Experience 40 years.
13th & Race, opp. Washington Park, Cincinnati, O.

Take the Recorder.

SPECIALS!

As a further introduction of the quality, style and tailoring of Clothing we are offering, the following prices will prevail

$10.00 For a handsome, carefully finished and up-to-date patterns Men's Suits.

$15.00 For Ready-to-wear Tailor Made Suit, like custom work.

$7.50 Men's Coats and Trouser Suit.

Young Men's Suits.....$7.50
Boys' and Children's Suits.....$3.00
Men's Trousers.....$1.00
Children's Trousers.....35c

Merchant Tailoring

Favorable prices to our customers, to introduce what can be made for the money.

Max Herbst & Co.

531 Madison Ave., COVINGTON, KY.
Lucian Rice, Mgr. Near Sixth Street.

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,
Salvage AND Wrecking Contractors
All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.
BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES,
BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.
Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.,
Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.
Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

FREE To All New Subscribers

THE GREAT
AMERICAN FARMER
The Leading Agricultural Journal of the Nation.
Edited by an Able Corps of Writers.

The American Farmer is the only Literary Farm Journal published. It fills a position of its own and has taken the leading place in the homes of rural people in every section of the United States. It gives the farmer and his family something to think about aside from the humdrum of routine duties

Every Issue Contains an Original Poem by Solon L. Goode.

Within the Nex Thirty Days We Offer
TWO FOR THE PRICE OF ONE
The Recorder and American Farmer
Both One Year for $1.50.

This unparalleled offer is made to all new subscribers, and all old ones who pay up all arrears and renew within thirty days.
Sample copies free. Address
BOONE COUNTY RECORDER, Burlington, Ky.

Lithographing Printing
Blank Books
Embossing Engraving
WE ARE AGENTS FOR THE
Courier-Journal Job Printing Co.
Who are doing the best work and at prices that will suit you. Place your order with us and it will receive prompt attention. Illustrated Catalogues and Booklets, Lithographed and Embossed Stationery, Engraved Cards, Invitations, Blank Books, Loose Leaf Ledgers, Etc.
BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

"Always Reliable."
W. N. HIND & CO.
Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,
210-16 W. Fifth Street,
Cincinnati, - Ohio.

JOSEPH HERRMAN,
—DEALER IN—
FANCY GROCERIES,
SMOKED MEATS,
Fruits & Vegetables
Erlanger, Kentucky.
Opp. Erlanger Deposit Bank.
Eggs and Butter exchanged in trade or cash. Boone county trade solicited.
PLEASE CALL AND GET [illegible] CIVILITIES.
Phone—South 1054 Y. [illegible] year. He [illegible]

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections. Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON, E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged. Money to Loan on Real Estate. Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. Vest, Burlington, Ky.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1890.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $0,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000
Surplus,.....$8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, - Walton, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.
AT UNION 1st MONDAY in each month.

Dr. G. M. Terrill,
DENTIST,
Walnut Street.
LAWRENCEBURG, - INDIANA.

B. L. RICE. M. J. CROUCH.
RICE & CROUCH,
REAL ESTATE
And Note Brokers.
Farms Bought and Sold.
Notes Negotiated. Money to Loan.
Office—UNION, KY.

ANTHONY BENTLER,
AUCTIONEER.
19 Covington Avenue,
COVINGTON, - - KY.
Will cry sales anywhere in Boone or Kenton county. Prices reasonable.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1905. NO. 44

County Correspondence.

GASBURG.

Too much rain for tobacco.

Ed Nixon, who has been seriously sick, is able to get around.

Melons are going to market in great numbers, at very moderate figures.

Miss Georgia Parker is making a protracted visit at Home City, with H. Lee Early and family.

Mrs. Tina Cook and sister-in-law, who have been visiting friends and relatives here and in Home City, have returned to their homes in Mexico, Missouri.

A party of ladies and gentlemen from Cincinnati spent Sunday at Split Rock. They brought cameras with them and took a number of pictures of the rocks and cliffs below Woolper.

o o o

GRANT.

Hurrah for Paynter.

Raleigh Akin's wife is very poorly at this writing.

Pepper Smith has just finished prizing Perry Prescott's crop of tobacco.

The shell diggers have taken over 100 tons of shells out of the river near here.

The attendance at the protracted meeting here at the Baptist church has been good.

We extend our congratulations to Eugene Wingate and bride, of Rabbit Hash. May their married life be pleasant and prosperous.

John Presser came near getting his eyes put out one day last week by the explosion of a barrel of lime which he was in the act of opening.

The Y. M. A. A. of Aurora, will play the local club on the home grounds next Saturday. Warsaw defeated Bellevue, last Sundily, 5 to 3.

Capt. John Smith, who lives below town, received by express one day last week, a fine pipe, a present from Harry O. Pulliam, President of the National Base Ball League, who is an intimate friend of the captain. From the style and workmanship of the pipe it must have cost quite a good sum. The Captain says it is the equivalent of a $50 note to him.

o o o

LIMABURG.

O. E. Aylor has a good beef cow for sale.

William Kirkpatrick's little daughter, Georgia, is ill.

Charlie Aylor and wife were guests of T. B. Aylor, Sunday.

Howard Kelly has been on the sick list during the past week.

Miss Mary Nesbit, of Burlington, spent Thursday night and Friday with Misses Sadie and Essie Beemon.

Mrs. Z. Carpenter has returned from her visit to her son, D. L. Carpenter, who will start to Colorado, Monday.

Lloyd Underhill and Beulie Houston, of Covington, were visiting relatives in this neighborhood, last week.

Carl Craven, who is conductor on a street car line in Ohio, made his parents and friends a short visit last week.

E. L. Aylor sold his shoats, which were advertised last week, to Messrs. Bud Carpenter and Lonnie Tanner for $4 per head.

Misses Annie and Myrtie Brown, and Miss Agnes Tanner and James Brown and Ben Clutterbuck, were Sunday guests of L. C. Aora and wife.

Friends of Chas. Craven and Bert Ronse were surprised to hear of their purchasing W. C. Weaver's store. They have the best wishes of everyone for success.

o o o

GUNPOWDER.

The 2nd inst., being the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. John Rouse entertained a large number of their relatives to a dinner, consisting of every delicacy that willing hands could prepare. Everyone spent a pleasant day, and departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Rouse many more such days. The following presents were left by the guests: Handkerchief, Miss Irba Snyder; pair towels, Miss Bettie Clarkson; pair towels, Mrs. Mary Tanner; lambrequin, Mrs. Patsy Tanner; pair towels, E. H. Snyder and wife; pair handkerchiefs, Mr. and Mrs. Will Tuner; apron, Mrs. Mannin; apron, Mr. and Mrs. D. Rouse; handkerchief, James W. Rouse; handkerchief, Miss Hattie Snyder; dress, Mrs. Jennie Rouse; card dish, Mr. George Swim; dress, Mrs. Gracie A. Rouse; cup and saucer, Mr. Eli Tanner; sugar bowl and creamer, Mr. and Mrs. Hanenkamp, of Covington; half dozen fruit dishes, Frank Rouse; $5 in gold, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snyder; $5 in gold, Mr. and Mrs. Mose Rouse; $1 Edward Tanner; $5 in gold, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Rouse; $5 in gold, Mr. John Clarkson; 1 cent in gold, Robert Snyder; fancy picture, Mrs. Frank Meyer and daughter, of Covington; fancy plotnre, Grussel family, of Covington; pair suspenders, Geo. Clarkson; pair fruit dishes, Miss Erma Tanner; creamer, Miss Lyda Tanner; handkerchief box and fancy picture, Mrs. Mary Koop, of Covington; butter dish, Mrs. Kenewig, of Covington; orange bowl, Mr. P. Barlow and wife; pickle dish and jelly dish, Stella Floyd; fancy plate, Miss Ruth Slater; dress skirt, W. H. Barlow and wife; lace bed set, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Rouse; 1 dozen glass fruit dishes, Mr. and Mrs. James Waters.

END OF A BITTER FIGHT.

"Two physicians had a long and stubborn fight with an abscess on my right lung," writes J. F. Hughes of DuPont, Ga., "and gave me up. Everybody thought my time had come. As a last resort I tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. The benefit I received was striking and I was on my feet in a few days. Now, I've entirely regained my health." It conquers all Coughs, Colds and Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed by all Drug Stores. Price 50c, and $1. Trial bottles free.

FRANCESVILLE.

Aug. 14.—We are having good rains in this section.

Mrs. Batterson was the guest of Mrs. Graham, last Friday.

We congratulate Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Hafer on the arrival of a daughter, last Friday.

Harvey and Leslie Aylor, of Hebron, have improved the looks of the church near here.

Mr. William Batterson was repairing Mrs. Nellie Markland's house, a recent purchase in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kilgour entertained Mr. Mannin and family, of North Bend, last Sunday.

Florence Roberts, Edgar Graves, and others, near here, attended the Lawrenceburg fair on Saturday.

Mrs. C. W. McFee and daughter, and Miss Amanda Koons, are visiting friends in Rising Sun, Indiana, this week.

Lightning struck a tree near Chas. Beall's house, killing five sheep for him, three of them being among his best.

Mr. Jerry Estis, of this neighborhood, is marketing some very fine peaches, for which he has received a big price.

We are pleased to hear of the return of Clint Riddell, and hope he is seeking his old haunts again. Here is success to you Clint.

Bro. Charles Brown preached at Sand Run, on Sunday, and will preach on the fourth Saturday and Sunday of this month.

John Baldon threshed most all the wheat in this part of the county and talked of coming back to shuck the corn and cut up the fodder for the farmers with a machine which he attaches to his engine for that purpose.

o o o

GUNPOWDER.

August 14.—Mrs. M. R. Tanner, who was seriously sick with asthma a few days last week, we are glad to report improving.

Mrs. H. L. Tanner is on the sick list.

L. N. Origler, of Florida, is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Jessie Thomson is numbered among the sick.

Joe Williams, of Cincinnati, passed through our burg last Sunday.

A large crowd attended communion services at Hopeful, last Sunday.

William Groger and family, of Kenton county, were guests of O. P. Rouse, Sunday.

John Williams and family, of Union neighborhood, visited C. C. Talbot and sister last Sunday.

Mrs. Susie Utz and grand-daughter, Miss Jessie, were pleasant guests of Mrs. Florence Floyd, last Snnday.

John Aylor, of Limaburg, and Geo. Gordon, of Hebron, were transacting business in this neigbborhood, last Friday.

W. N. Surface attended the Lawrenceburg fair, last week, and brought home a blue ribbon which he got on his fine allpurpose horse.

L. M. Rouse has a pair of very fine Scotch Colly puppies, eligible to register which he will sell for a reasonable price, address him at Union, this county.

A heavy electric storm passed over this neighborhood last Saturday. There was considerable rain accompanied by wind and hail in some places, which did some damage to the growing crops.

The meeting at Hopeful closed last Saturday night. While there were no accessions Pastor Slater put forth quite an effort and did some very able preaching, and we trust that he may yet see good results from his earnest labors.

o o o

MIDWAY.

Hnrrah for Paynter and Lassing.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McIntyre are entertaining relatives from the city.

Thos. Ross has hauled several loads of nice peaches to the city, recently.

John Ryan has been suffering intensely for several days of sciatica rheumatism.

Rev. S. C. Bates, of Harrison, Ohio, was the guest of relatives here from Thursday until Saturday.

A horse belonging to Elsworth Carroll was killed in the pasture, by a falling tree, one day last week.

W. C. Johnson was in the city last Friday getting repairs for his saw-mill, which he will start in a few days.

Daniel Reib, who has been attending the Bible school in Cincinnati, came home Friday to spend his vacation.

Died, on the 8th inst., after a lingering illness of consumption, Amanda Frazier, colored. Interment at the colored cemetery near Beaver.

The friends of Mrs. Leah Fullilove will be glad to hear that her health has improved very much since she went to Mineral Wells, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Moore most charmingly entertained a number of their relatives, last Saturday, it being the anniversary of Mr. Moore's birth.

The concert and ice cream social that was to have come off Saturday night at the Chapel, was postponed until Monday night on account of the inclement weather.

We were sorry to hear of the death of William Long at Erlanger, last Thursday. He was born and raised in Boone, and was a clever fellow and had many friends here.

Some mischievous person has been twisting the telephone wires together, causing considerable inconvenience to Mr. Hughes as well as others. Better be careful, may get caught.

William Wilson returned Saturday night from Lawrenceburg fair. He reports 5 first and 1 second premiums on his horses. He left for Oakley, Monday morning, where he will attend the fair all of this week.

COMMISSARY.

Aug. 12.—He who goes on an occasional spree is better off.

W. I. Rouse threshed 290 bushels of wheat.

Gilley Weisickle transacted business in Aurora the other day.

Bernard Rogers, of near Bellevue, sold a span of mules to Ben Allphin for $260.

Ben Cason, of Middle creek, transacted business in Rising Sun, one day last week.

The Koones graphophone troupe gave an entertainment in Scrapville, at Joe West's, last Saturday night.

Woody Sullivan and wife, of Sullivan Heights, spent last Sunday with Waller Campbell and wife on Woolper.

Old Mr. Weisickle, who has been staying with his son Gilley, went to Petersburg, last Friday, to visit his daughter.

Richard Louden, of Scrapville, and Jesse Louden, of near Bellevue, spent last Saturday with Flave Louden, near Rabbit Hash.

Robert Kites, who lives near Waterloo, is wearing a very pleasant smile because of the arrival of a baby girl at his home last Saturday.

Leonard Hunt and wife, Lewis Smith and best girl, Miss Trimball, all of Cincinnati, were guests of Mr. and T. J. Walton, last Sunday.

Mrs. Granville Hall, who has been visiting Joe West and family for two weeks, returned to their home in Addyston, Ohio, last Tuesday.

Ed Burres and wife spent last Saturday with John Barnes and wife over on Garrison, Mrs. Barnes is Ed's sister. Sunday was spent with Mrs. McMurry, also his sister.

The Middle creek saw mill has been doing considerable business for the last two or three weeks, with H. P. Parsons head sawyer, T. Z. Roberts, offbearer, and Jack Koons, engineer.

The most pleasant task we have in corresponding for the RECORDER is announcing the landing of new subscribers. This week we announce the name of H. P. Parsons, of Middlecreek.

Hubert Parsons, of Cincinnati, whose wife is spending the heated term with his father and mother on Middle creek, came down last Thursday and remained until Saturday with his wife and the old folks.

Misses Grace, Nannie and Julia Louden, of Scrapville, entertained with an icecream social at their home, last Monday night, and a pleasant time was had by all present. They certainly know how to entertain.

William Snelling and wife, of near Rock Spring, made a flying visit early last Friday morning to their son Pode and wife near Aurora. Mr. Snelling returned home that evening but Mrs. Snelling remained until Sunday afternoon.

Omer McGuire attended the Lawrenceburg fair, last Saturday, going on his wheel. He started on Thursday and spent that night in McVille with his uncle, Kirb Ryle. Friday he visited his uncle, Ed Louisker, and Bud Moreland, in New Kentucky, and on Saturday he went to the fair.

Examine your cabbage before using them. Mrs. Jasper McGuire found a worm in a head of cabbage, nearly two feet long. It was about the size of a No. 12 thread, and the color of cabbage. In another head she found one 15 inches in length, and in another she found a bunch containing worms ranging from 1 to 4 inches long.

Robt. and Omer McGuire and sister, Miss Pearl, entertained about thirty friends at their home on Grand View, last Saturday night. The crowd was a jolly one and all enjoyed themselves. The Koon's graphaphone troupe was present and rendered their choice selections. Ice cream, lemonade, pies, cakes, bananas and peanuts were on the bill of fare.

o o o

RABBIT HASH.

Mrs. Frank Scott is threatened with typhoid fever.

Marion Scott is hanling saw logs to build a barn for tobacco.

J. E. Hodges bought some light cattle of J. H. Walton at 3½c per pound.

Mrs. Johns, of Pendleton county, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Hopkins.

Mrs. Lina Hensley, of Petersburg, is visiting her sister Mrs. Chas. Craig in East Bend.

C. G. Riddell has been with his brother Joe most of the time during the latter's illness.

Miss Myra McConnell will start for Danville, this week, to visit her brothers, John and Angle.

Robt. Craig, of Walton, passed through here on his way to visit his sister, Sallie, in Rising Sun, a few days ago.

Mrs. Harriet Walton and her grandson, George, visited relatives and attended the fair in Lawrenceburg, last week.

Mrs. Armstrong, of Constance, was in East Bend the latter part of the week, helping conduct a few days meeting.

Two new cases of typhoid fever in East Bend this week, which makes a total of six cases that have been there this summer.

Mrs. Nettie McConnell, daughter and son, are visiting relatives in this neighborhood, this week, while her husband is in Utah prospecting.

Engene Wingate and Miss Lina Hodges were quietly married in Rising Sun, last Thursday. Both are worthy young people and we extend congratulations and good wishes.

SUICIDE PREVENTED.

The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide had been discovered will interest many. A rundown system or despondency invariably precede suicide and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At the first thought of self-destruction take Electric Bitters. It being a great tonic and nervine will strengthen the nerves and build up the system. It is also a great Stomach, Liver and Kidney regulator. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by all Drug Stores.

WALTON.

The camping crowd returned from Hamilton, Friday.

Mesdames Bryan Zellurs, of Newport, spent Friday with Mrs. Jas. Cross.

On account of the rain the doctors' picnic was held in the opera house.

Mrs. Fannie Zellurs, of Newport, will spend a few weeks with Walton relatives.

Mrs. Martin, of Alexandria, has returned home after a pleasnt visit to friends here.

Miss Hattie Bowlington, left last Saturday for a visit of two weeks with friends at Sonth Fork.

Mrs. Sarah Glenn and son, Roland, returned, Friday, after a week's visit to her sister, Mrs. Ella Crisler, at Sparta, Gallatin county.

The greatest event of the season was the wedding of Miss Grace Norman and Mr. Therlow W. Jones, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Epp Norman, on the evening of the 9th inst. at 8 o'clock. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. T. C. Eston, pastor of Walton Baptist church, on the front veranda, under a large arch beautifully decorated with foliage and smilax. The bride was dressed in white silk baptseat and lace with veil draped with smilax. The groom wore the usual black. Harry Edwards, cousin of the bride, was best man. The brides-maid, Miss Alice Morris, of Louisville, was dressed in white mull and lace. The attendants were Miss Annie Green Hind, dressed in white person lawn; Miss Pauline Curley in flowered net over pink; Hattie Taylor in embroidered net over white. The flower girl, little Marion Johnson, carried a basket of smilax and ferns. After congratulations and admiring the many handsome presents, the bride and groom preceded a large crowd of relatives and friends to the dining room, where refreshments, consisting of pink and white brick cream and cake, were served. The diningroom was beautifully decorated with pink and white ribbons streaming down from a white silk and lace parasol in the center of the ceiling to each corner of the table. The parasol and ribbons were decorated with smilax and ferns, while a pot containing large ferns was in the center of the table. After wishing the bride and groom a happy and prosperous journey through life they were bidden good night, the guests returning to their respective homes, only wishing that they could attend another such wedding.

A handsome wedding on the 2d inst. was that of Miss Lula Jones and Mr. Elisha Hndson, at the Walton Methodist church. It was a brilliant event that had been looked forward to by our society people with much interest. The church was a bower of beauty, made such by its beautiful decoration with palms and trailing smilax, arranged in a most artistic manner. By 8:30 the church was crowded by relatives and friends of the bride and groom, at which time the beautiful and appropriate solo, "Oh, Promise Me!" was rendered in the sweetest of strains by Miss Nellie Surtees, of Covington. This was followed by the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mrs. D. E. Bedinger, who was completely obscured by the decorations, which added much to the effect of the sweet music. Mrs. P. R. Duncan was the matron of honor, and approached the altar by the way of the right aisle, followed by the flower girls, Daisey Pollett and Mary Elizabeth Johnson. Then came the maid of honor, Miss Maud Asberry, attired in beautiful white, and blue silk, and bearing the jewel casket, which contained the wedding ring. She was followed by the bride and groom to the altar, where they turned, as did the ushers, forming a crescent, facing Revs. Hoffman and Pollett, who were standing, when Rev. Hoffman proceeded with the marriage ceremony in a solemn and impressive manner. At the conclusion of the ceremony the ushers, Misses Lucile Hind, Pauline Curley, Louise Green and Marvin Hudson, George Hoffman and Wayne Hind broke rank, and Mr. and Mrs. Hndson in time to a wedding march, retired from the church, at the door which they were greeted by a shower of rice. An elegant reception was tendered at the home of the bride, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hudson left for a tour of the principal eastern cities. The presents were numerous and valuable.

o o o

FLICKERTOWN.

G. C. Voshell, of Aurora, Ind., was here Tuesday.

Clabora Campbell and wife visited at Egbert Nichol's, Sunday.

Geo. Hewitt spent Sunday with his brother, Ben. at Addison, O.

Gaines Brothers sold 35 hogs to a Mr. Smiley, of Indiana, last week.

Mrs. Lou Williams does not improve much. She is dangerously ill.

John Weisickle and family were the guests of Chas. Beemon, Snuday.

Irvin Rue and wife, of Burlington, were guests at Lystra Smith's, Sunday.

Tom Randall is handling Mr. John Smith's peach crop. He has a fine lot of them.

Any one wanting cucumber for pickles can get them at James White's for 25 cents a hundred.

Miss Kittie Burk has returned to her home in Aurora after several weeks visit with relatives here.

C. E. White and family, Chas. Heusley and family, and Hubert White visited J. W. White and wife, Sunday.

E. Barrett and son, of Lawrenceburg, came over one day last week and took a load of peaches home from the farm.

Yannell Cook and Miss Stella Surface, of Dayton, Ohio, were guests of Ben Hensley and family, Saturday night and Sunday.

Tom Hensley and Miss Genie Sebree attended the Lawrenceburg fair and visited William Wafford and wife at Cleves, O., Saturday night and Sunday.

Wanted—To rent a good stock and grain farm. Correspond with Scott Chambers, R. R. 1., Burlington, Ky.

RICHWOOD.

Gilford Anderson has moved to Bankliek.

Robt. Williams is back from Indiana for a long stay.

There does not seem to be much show stock hereabouts.

Harry Soden will take his vacation here for a few weeks.

Ray Byland is off on a camping expedition for two weeks.

Farmers have had a bad time threshing wheat, the past week.

Wm. Lancaster is improv ng his house with a coat of paint.

The local team will play the Walton Juniors here, next Saturday.

Guy Lancaster, of Williamstown, spent a few days here, last week.

The game of ball between Richwood and Florence, Saturday, was postponed on account of rain.

Miss Mary Hall and Geo. Caruthers, of St. Louis; Miss Georgie Woodyard, of California, have been the guests of J. J. Tanner several days.

Three or four chickens got into Folmer's separator, while at J. R. Carpenter's, and were sent through the fan and out the stacker. It is needless to state the results.

o o o

LUDLOW.

Jack Lewis, of West Oak street, is the owner of a new automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hood, of Hebron, were visiting here, Friday.

Mrs. Mace Riggs and grandson are visiting relatives at Dayton, Ohio.

The Misses Rechler are at home from a two weeks' stay at Mackinaw Island.

Chas. Garnett and son, of Boone county, were in town several days last week.

Harry Brown, of the Q. & C., and Senator Flemming are candidates for Mayor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wayman, of Covington, were calling on friends here, Sunday.

Mrs. Anna Robinson and granddaughter have returned from a visit to Pittsburg.

J. T. Gaines and wife and W. P. Cropper, of Idlewild, were entertained by Chester Davis and wife, Sunday and Monday.

Mesdames John Garr, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Sydney Blankenbeker, of Louisville, were pleasant guests of Mrs. Dr. Crisler, one day last week.

Dr. Crisler has returned from a short trip to Hannibal, Mo., where he went to visit his father, Henry Crisler, who has been quite sick. His son, Carlton, took charge of his practice during his absence.

o o o

BELLEVIEW.

Ed Maurer was visiting his parents, last Sunday.

We had from one to two showers of rain each day last week.

Very few from here attended the Lawrenceburg fair, last week.

Edson Riddell, of Burlington, was down Sunday to see his uncle Joe.

Dr. Drake, of Louisville, was here last week prospecting for a location.

James Setters will be in the bottoms this week with his threshing machine.

Ed Beemon, of Hopeful neighborhood, was visiting relatives here, Sunday.

Lewis Stephens and wife, of near Rabbit Hash, were guests of Mrs. Belle Clore, Sunday.

The protracted weeting at the Baptist church is still in progress. No additions to date.

Mesdames Louise and W. L. Riddell, of Burlington, were down, Saturday, to see Joseph Riddell.

The Sunday School at the Christian church was postponed last Sunday on ccount of the illness of Jos. Riddell.

Now boys, come and subscribe for your county paper. It costs only $1.50 and you get a splendid Agricultural paper thrown in.

Tot Rice put in last week trading horses, huggies and cows. When you feel like trading come down and he will accomodate you.

When you want to hear a good sermon, listen to the man who preaches what the Bible says for him to preach, not what he thinks or what will please his listeners.

The corn crop is immense here, stalks are from 16 to 18 feet high, ears a foot long. Tobacco looks fine; potatoes dng and as big as the skin will allow them to grow; water and muskmelons better than they look; tomatoes weigh from one to two pounds; butter beans as big as a silver half dollar, and other truck in proportion. If you do not believe me come and see for yourself.

o o o

BUFFALO.

Misses Stella and Pearl Davrainville, of Newport, are guests of Mrs. J. Q. Elstun.

Misses Lonise Bristow and Jessie Uts called on the visitors at Mr. J. Q. Elstun's last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stephens, of Beech Grove, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stephens, of this place.

Messrs Jesse and Frank Quail have returned to their home on Mt. Adams, after having spent a pleasant fortnight with friends in this vicinity.

Mrs. A. J. Utz, accompanied by Misses Jessie Lee Utz and Stella Davrainville, spent the day very pleasantly with Mrs. Ed Clegg, last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bradford and little daughter Mary, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Aylor and Miss Bertha Shinkle, made a hasty shopping expedition to the city, last Friday.

Mrs. J. Q. Elstun entertained the Foreign and Home Missionary Societies, of the Big Bone Methodist church, at her home last Thursday a week. The societies turned out in full force and covers were laid for twenty-eight.

HATHAWAY.

Robert Moore's infant child is reported better.

Rev. H. A. Maddox preached at Big Bone, last Sunday.

James Arrsmith cut and housed some tobacco last week.

Several from here attended the Lawrenceburg fair, Saturday.

Robt. McNeely was somewhat indisposed a couple of days last week.

The rains of last week have changed the growth of the tobacco crop to some extent.

Elmore Ryle, of Gunpowder creek, has for sale a good work mare that will work anywhere.

H. Aylor, road supervisor, was working the roads in this neighborhood several days last week.

Mrs. Lizzie Williamson, of Connersville, Indiana, was the pleasant guest of Mrs. Florence Smith, last Friday.

Mrs. Sarah White and little grandson, Ellison Rector, spent last Thursday with Mrs. Pearl Brady at Landing.

Master Willie White, of Flickertown, was down on Gunpowder, last Wednesday night, at his grandparents.

Mrs. Vannie Franks returned home from Owen county, one day last week, leaving her sister much improved.

Any business man wanting to advertise in the Farmers' Telephone Directory may apply to John White, of this place.

The writer and family visited Joseph Riddell, of Bellevue, last Friday afternoon, and found him in a bad condition.

Mrs. Emily Mason accompanied by Mrs. B. H. Stephens spent one day last week visiting Mrs. Richard Stephens, of Lick creek.

William S. White went to the city last Wednesday night, with a load of lambs and found the market dull with a poor quality of lambs on the market at this time of the season.

Will Sebree, of Woolper Heights, was down on Gnnpowder at Gustavus A. Ryle's, last Friday, and Sebern Garland, who is here on a visit of a couple of months, went home with Mr. Sebree to spend several days.

o o o

UNION.

Mrs. J. J. Garrison spent Saturday in Covington.

Mrs. C. P. Baker entertained a number of her relatives, last week.

Walter Lassing was visiting his father and mother, last week.

J. W. Williams and family spent Sunday with relatives in Florence.

A number from this place attended the dedication at Erlanger, Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Conner and children spent Sunday with friends at Bullittsville.

Oscar Utz and wife were guests of P. A. Weaverand wife in Walton, Sunday.

Miss Dell Uts, of Florence, spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Miss Elva Uts.

L. H. Voshell and J. W. Conner left, Thursday, for a ten days visit in Atlantic City.

Mrs. Mag Tanner and daughter were guests of Ezra Tanner and wife, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Rachal Rice left, last Thursday, for a visit of several weeks with relatives in Shelby county.

A number of the people of this place attended the graduating exercises at Burlington, last Thursday.

Mesdames Quisenberry, J. A. Hney and Nannie Cronch spent Monday with Mrs. Lee Huey at Big Bone.

Mrs. N. S. Bristow and Miss Alma Baker were guests of friends in Covington, last Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Hoffman, of Covington, have been the guests of Dr. Crouch and wife for several days.

Misses Addie, Sara and Rachel Conner were entertained by Miss Lonise Bristow, last Tuesday and Wednesday.

A number of young people from here were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Rice, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lassing have returned to their home at Nashville, Tenn., after a visit with Dr. and Mrs. Lassing.

Mrs. S. S. Smith entertained Misses Osa Howlett, Rachel Wilson, Virginia Conner and Opha Riley at dinner, last Tuesday.

Joe Huey, Henry Conner, W. W. Conner, M. L. Hedges and T. J. Bristow attended the Lawrenceburg, Ind., fair, last week.

Mrs. Chas. Bradford, Miss Bessie Talbott and Courtney Talbott, of Florence, spent last Tuesday with their sister, Mrs. J. W. Williams.

Messrs. L. H. Voshell, J. W. and W. W. Conner have been beautifying their homes with pretty combinations of wall paper. It's the proper thing to do.

Ezra Blankenbeker was delighted to find himself up even with his work Saturday, so he just sat down and rested free from care or worry. Well, its right.

Any man holding an option on the Ohio river fish crop will do Spencer Smith a favor by saying just when he can buy about 20 pounds of cat or perch at any old price.

Sol Long, who has been constructing a boat at New Richmond, Ohio, was looking after his ginseng interests in Union, Saturday. Sol promises to put a craft on the Ohio that will be a "daisy."

Prof. Collins has purchased a lovely home in Covington and desires to know the very best grass for lawn purposes. Andy is an expert manipulator of the lawn mower, but confesses he's "shy" on varieties of lawn grass.

Under adverse weather conditions during 1903-4 Boone county gave evidence that its soil could endure dryness that would put most any country out of business and still produce enough for people to live on, but at this time—1905—the marvelous fertility and richness of its lands are shown in ways that are pleasing to behold—bringing joy to the people and abundance of provender for stock. Its grands—

For Sale—Lot oholce white seed Rye. Apply to Leonard Kite, at Waterloo.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, • • • KENTUCKY.

M. Combes, who until a short time ago was prime minister of France, is a physician and is again practicing his profession.

J. Howard Larcombe, the one-time associate of the railroad king, Tom Scott, and of Andrew Carnegie, the ironmaster, is a clerk in the pension office at Washington.

American ladies in London have organized a club called the "American Women's Club." They have furnished a club-house, which is conducted exactly like a man's club.

Beneath the floor of a Roman dwelling which a peasant has discovered at Mende, Lozere, in the south of France, was found a casket containing coins dated in the third century.

At Grahamtown, South Africa, a pair of ostriches were sold recently for $5,000, which is a record price. The plucking from the chicks of the pair realized from $50 to $62.50 a bird.

A man with lots of time on his hands has figured that $25,000,000 is spent on cabs in London each year. He further figures that over $7,000,000 of this amount is for tips and overcharges.

Bradley Pratt, a prominent citizen of Rutland, Vt., has just died in that city at the age of 94. His father lived to be 101 years of age, and four surviving brothers and sisters' ages aggregate 333 years.

Australia is considering the introduction of the metric system and a bill providing for its use will be introduced at the next session of the commonwealth parliament. The idea is to make the system permissive for a certain time, reserving the right to make it compulsory at a given period.

H. F. Wilson, the sweet potato king of Oklahoma, last year raised 5,000 bushels of sweet potatoes and this year he will plant 50 acres to that crop. Mustang township is the greatest sweet potato raising region of Oklahoma, and the acreage will be much larger this season than in any previous year.

Although the circus is an institution peculiarly and typically American, over 90 per cent. of the circus performers and specialists are foreigners. In Europe the struggles for existence is so sharp that people will attempt things in which failure means death, and which no American would think of undertaking, in order to fit themselves for the trapeze or the ring of some American circus, where they are certain of a good salary.

President Castro, of Venezuela, has been credited of late with feelings of bitterness toward Americans, but apparently he has not yet blacklisted us all. For at least one citizen of this offending republic he has quite recently displayed a discriminating regard. The American honored with his favor is no other than Gen. Sherman Bell, ex-adjutant-general of Colorado, who states that Castro has proffered him the position of commander of the Venezuelan army.

A Massachusetts judge has officially decided that an umbrella is property and fined a man $10 for appropriating to his own use one belonging to another person. Unless this opinion be reversed by a higher court its effect may be salutary in checking an abuse which has grown chronic of late years and causes much inconvenience, in addition to a certain pecuniary loss. The appropriation of other people's umbrellas has become so common that it has ceased to be a joke.

A resolution whose author is State Senator Edward C. Curtis has passed the Illinois legislature memorializing congress to erect in Washington a "monument to Abraham Lincoln that shall rank among the great monuments of the world, standing as long as this government shall endure, as a memorial in honor of the man who gave his life that government of the people, by the people, and for the people might not perish from the earth." The intention is to have the monument completed by 1909, the centenary of Lincoln's birthday.

The rain cure is now being tried by a number of persons in Austin, Tex., whenever opportunity is offered for taking the treatment. Some of those who have taken it say that it is a panacea for all chronic diseases as well as many of the lesser ills of the body. There is nothing complicated about the rain cure. All that is required of the patient is that he shall stand in the open, with his body bare of all clothing, and let the falling rain pour on him. The sensation is said to be very agreeable and very strengthening to the nerves.

Frank W. Pettygrove, of Seattle, has the penny that named the city of Portland, Ore. On the toss of this coin depended the question whether the Williamette metropolis should be known as Portland or Boston. Twice the coin turned "tails," and the town was named after Portland, Me., the former home of Mr. Pettygrove's father. A. L. Lovejoy, of Massachusetts, a member of the party that laid out Portland, desired to name it Boston, [illegible] most important city in his [illegible] wished to name it [illegible]

IMPORTANT NEWS ITEMS CONDENSED.

Interesting Happenings Boiled Down for the Busy Readers.

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC NOTES.

Government Officials' Doings—Crimes and Casualties—Progress of the War Between Russia and Japan in the Far East.

Yellow Scourge in New Orleans.

Archbishop Chappelle, of New Orleans, who was stricken with yellow fever a few days ago, passed away in that city. Although the venerable prelate was a subject of scientific treatment and had the most assiduous attention, his physique always counted heavily against him.

The Texas state health officer has so far raised the quarantine against Shreveport as to permit of the operation of freight trains. No passenger trains will be run for the present.

An inspection of all passengers arriving at Kansas City from the south for symptoms of yellow fever was ordered by Dr. Sanders, city physician.

Secretary Egan, of the Illinois state board of health, announced that Illinois would not quarantine against Kentucky and Tennessee on account of yellow fever. An inspector has been placed at Brookport.

With the death rate remaining lower than in previous visitations of the fever, the feeling in New Orleans both among the health authorities and the laity continues hopeful. The fever has been prevalent long enough to have assumed a quite virulent type, but instead it is apparently less malignant than it was when it first appeared.

The yellow fever record at New Orleans August 11 is something of an improvement over that of the day before both as to new cases and new points of infection. An unexpected blow was struck at the marine hospital staff when one of the men sent there to assist in the fight against the disease was himself stricken. The victim is Surgeon G. M. Berry. Dr. Berry is a Texas by nativity but has lately been stationed in New York.

Miscellaneous News.

The Norwegian people, in a referendum taken pronounced in favor of the dissolution of the union with Sweden with remarkable, though not unexpected unanimity. The returns show that about one person in three thousand voted against the dissolution.

The 66th name has been added to the list of fatalities due to the explosion of the gunboat Bennington in San Diego harbor July 21.

George H. McCabe, solicitor of the department of agriculture, has been placed at the head of the investigation of the bureau of animal industry by Secretary Wilson, with full authority to probe matters there to the bottom.

Catholic authorities at Wichita, Kan., believe that Rt. Rev. Bishop Theophile Meerschaert, of the Oklahoma and Indian Territory diocese, will be appointed successor to the late Archbishop Chappelle, of New Orleans.

Prof. L. P. Tillman, 28, an aeronaut of Clinton, Ia., fell from a balloon and was instantly killed at Hofton, Kan.

Frequent outbreaks of rioting, calling for drastic action by the police, marked the course of the strike of the Hebrew bakers on the east side, New York.

Gov. Johnston, of Minnesota, has offered his services as mediator in the telegraphers' strike on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads.

The middle section of the big department store of the John G. Myers Co., in Albany, N. Y., collapsed, carrying down with it over 100 persons. Caught in a chaos of brick, plaster and wooden beams were over one hundred men, women and children, which resulted in the death of 13 persons, and probably fatal injury of two others. The cause of the accident will be investigated by a special commission.

John W. Timmons, of Ohio, an ensign in the United States navy, has been advanced to the grade of lieutenant, from July 1, 1905. He is the son-in-law of Vice President Fairbanks.

Secretary of State Elihu Root has sailed for Labrador. He hopes to meet Gov. McGregor, who sailed a few days ago, and will probably cruise along part of the coast with him.

Secretary Taft was the guest of honor at a banquet given by the combined chamber of commerce at the Grand opera house, Manila.

Secretary of War Taft and Miss Alice Roosevelt visited the trade schools in Manila. The degree of honorary president was conferred upon Secretary Taft by the Liceo de Manila.

Oscar Benson, a policeman, shot and killed his brother-in-law, Matthew Mamer, 50, fatally wounded Nicholas Kettem, 50, a clerk in Mamer's jewelry store, Chicago, and then committed suicide.

There were 25 new cases of typhoid fever reported to the health office in Washington August 10, the greatest number for any one day during the present outbreak of typhoid in that city.

Union compositors went on strike in three Detroit book and jobbing shops, the R. L. Polk Printing Co., Raynor & Taylor and Winn & Hammond.

Henry C. S. Hastings and William B. Coates and about 30 other members of the First regiment, New York infantry, volunteers, have sued the United States government for two months' pay for services in the Hawaiian islands during the Spanish-American war.

Warrants were sworn out against four officials and one clerk of the Western bank, Denver, which closed its doors. The men are charged with receiving deposits when they knew the Western bank was insolvent.

At Helena, Mont., Volvo, the bicycle rider with the Barnum & Bailey circus, who jumps the gap during the performance, failed to do the trick there and fell to the ground. Physicians fear he is fatally injured.

The 37 members of the Fiala-Ziegler polar expedition which have returned to safety at Honningsvaag, Norway, are all in good health, despite their privations, trying experiences and their prolonged imprisonment in the arctic, the expedition having been severed from all communication with the outside world since July, 1903.

Bishop Fitzgerald, of the Catholic diocese of Little Rock, Ark., senior bishop of the province of New Orleans, has appointed Bishop Rouxel, of New Orleans, as the temporary successor of Archbishop Chappelle.

The Kansas City inspector of weights and measures tested a number of gallon measures used by the drivers of the Standard Oil Co. in delivering oil and declared after the examination that each 15 out of 21 measures tested lacked one-half pint of holding five gallons.

Prof. Willis L. Moore, of the United States weather bureau, issued a signed statement denying all allegations of graft in the management of the weather station in the Blue Ridge mountains, near Bluemont, Va.

The Glass Bottle Blowers' association and the machine branch of the Glass Manufacturers' association came to an agreement and ended the long conference. Wages and hours same as last year.

The cruiser Galveston which arrived in Hampton Roads, Va., has been assigned by the navy department, at the instance of the state department, to transport Prof. John H. Hollander and his secretary to San Domingo.

Chief of Police Pinkham, of Passadena, Cal., arrested Mace Hitchcock, alias McHenry, and John Caster, alias John W. Roth, at Los Angeles, Cal. They are said to be wanted at Bedford, Ind., the former on the charge of attempted murder and the latter on a minor charge. The men admit their identity.

E. H. Butler, editor and proprietor of the Buffalo Evening News, was robbed of $1,400 in cash and signed checks for $400 as he alighted from a train in the Erie railroad station.

After eight hours of argument the executive heads of the Illinois coal mine operators and of the Illinois branch of the United Coal Workers gave up in despair all attempts to adjust their differences and separated.

The steamer Kanagawa, from Hong Kong, brings news of a plot there to ship 10,000 rifles and 1,000,000 rounds of ammunition to Samar, and other unpacified districts in the Philippines.

A note of warning was sounded against trusts by President Roosevelt in his speech before the Chautauqua assembly. Adequate government supervision of big corporations was strongly urged.

The death of Rr. Adm. Andrew Benham, retired, is reported to the navy department, at Monticello, N. H. He was distinguished in the service, the active period of his duty having taken place 47 years ago.

Orders from Washington have been received at the Philadelphia yard to cease operations and dispense with the services of 600 employes, except those necessary to attend the affairs of the institution when coinage has been stopped.

Failures for the week ending August 11 number 166 in the United States, compared with 167 a year ago, and 19 in Canada, against 33 last year.

All but two of the striking telegraphers on the Wilmar & Sioux Falls division of the Great Northern resumed work on the conditions offered at the time they walked out and traffic has been resumed.

While President Roosevelt's train was standing on the siding at Lakewood, N. J., during the night a thief entered and one of the secret service officers was robbed of a valuable watch, while asleep.

After a consultation with the president, Secretary Bonaparte announced that the formal exercises accompanying the interment of the body of John Paul Jones in the United States will be held next spring.

Gen. Lewis Seasongood, Cincinnati financier, has been appointed member of a committee of ten to call upon M. Sergius Witte, of the Russian peace commission, and ask him to intercede on behalf of oppressed Jews in Russia.

The state board of health has issued a bulletin containing the statement that some 15,000 children under 14 years of age are at work in the cotton mills of North Carolina.

In behalf of the citizens' union a statement was received by Friederich W. Hinrichs calling for the nomination of District Attorney Jerome for mayor of New York by the citizens' union.

The Monongahela coal combines' big towboat Joe B. Williams struck a log six miles below Golconda, Ill., in the Ohio river and sunk without loss of life.

Sir Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador, is confined to his summer residence at Lenox, Mass. Last fall the ambassador injured a knee in a cricket game and recently the knee has troubled him severely.

Three Italians arrived at the mouth of St. Francis river, near Helena, Ark., in a skiff but were not allowed to land. One of their number seemed to be sick. The suspects said their home was in Ohio and that they were bound there.

According to a report received at the navy department ships of the North Atlantic fleet have communicated with one another by wireless telegraph at a distance of about 262 miles.

Suits were brought in the Pulaski (Ark.) circuit court against the Hammond Packing Co., Cudahy Packing Co. and Swift Packing Co. Each corporation is sued for $60,000 penalties and forfeiture of authority to do business in the state.

About 2,200 enthusiasts went to Colma, Cal., to witness the scheduled 25 round go between Gus Ruhlin, the Akron giant, and James McCormick. McCormick was knocked out in the 18th round.

Tom Williams, a mulatto negro, made an attempt to assault a young white girl in a pasture near Sulphur Springs, Tex. Three hours later he was a blazing mass in the public square at Sulphur Springs.

Forest fires are raging in the low lying woods along the south bank of Kootenay river, three miles below Nelson, B. C., and for a stretch of four miles the hillside is aflame. The many scattered ranches are in grave danger.

Mrs. Mary Gender, a widow, 21 years old, lost $3,000 from her safety deposit box in the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, Chicago, and has sworn to a warrant charging Charles C. Hammit with the theft. The money was paid her by a life insurance company after the death of her husband.

Bent on killing herself because her husband demanded that she should do housework at night, in order to let him sleep undisturbed during the day, Mrs. Antony Frank, of Newcastle, Pa., waded into Nashanock creek and was about to drown herself when she was arrested.

The Russian cruiser Pallada, which was sunk at Port Arthur, was refloated.

The Chicago police arrested Henry Hoffman, who they declare is a member of a gang organized to smuggle diamonds into the United States.

Twelve new cases of typhoid fever were reported in Washington City August 11. Since the 1st of July there have been 246 cases. Of these 41 have recovered and 26 have died.

Reports received at Monroe, La., from Eros state that one of the negroes who shot and dangerously wounded J. H. Sanders, of that place, has been lynched. Mr. Sanders is a merchant at Eros, and was acting as quarantine guard when shot.

Andre Roosevelt, second cousin of the president, has announced that he is soon to be married to a St. Louis woman. His bride to be is Miss Adelph Lang, daughter of a well known South St. Louis family.

By the explosion of a gasoline tank on board the ferry Phiydin at South Haven, Mich., several passengers were badly burned and a number who were blown into the water narrowly escaped drowning.

The death of a convict named Liddell, who was being worked at Sugar Hill camp in Bartow county, Ga., has caused the suspension of Deputy Warden Tierce at that place. Information was received at the prison commission's office that he had been whipped to death.

Joseph Garron returned home in Chicago intoxicated and his wife told him to jump into the lake and drown himself. He did.

October 2 was announced as trial day for 24 packers and lawyers and five corporations indicted on charges of combining in restraint of commerce, accepting rebates and interfering with government witnesses at Chicago. Between 15 and 20 fresh subpoenaes, returnable on the date named, were secretly issued and were served.

American surgeons connected with the board of health of Manila declare that they have discovered a positive cure for leprosy. Of 25 cases treated all have improved, six cases being absolutely cured. The method used is a system of x-rays.

Miss Alice Roosevelt was the guest of honor at a grand ball at the government house, Manila, given in honor of the president's daughter by the citizens of Manila.

Despite the sentiment against President Cornelius P. Shea, which has been plainly manifested at various times during the convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, there were enough delegates favorable to his administration to secure his re-election.

An increase of about 6½ per cent. in the wages of blowers and gatherers was made in the scale of the Amalgamated Window Glass Workers' association. The scale will be submitted to the manufacturers, to go into effect September 1 if agreed to.

The long list of murders resulting from the strikes was increased by the assassination of the manager of the Lipiprau iron works. Warsaw, who was shot dwon at his residence by strikers.

The president of the United States, who went to Wilkesbarre, Pa., and made an address to the delegates attending the annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America and the members of the United Mine Workers of America was given a most enthusiastic reception.

Robert Irving, publisher of the New Yorker, was arrested, charged with criminal libel. He was about to start for Newport. Irving was taken at once to the criminal courthouse, arraigned before Magistrate Breen and in default of $1,000 bail was locked up in the Tombs.

TERMS MADE KNOWN.

Japan Wants Reimbursement For Expenses in the War.

Also the Cession of the Island of Sakhalien—Amount of Indemnity Not Fixed, This Being Left to Mutual Adjustment.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 11.—Reimbursement for the expenses sustained in the prosecution of the war and the cession of the island of Sakhalien constitute the main features of the peace conditions handed by Baron Komura to Mr. Witte at the conclusion of the morning session of the plenipotentiaries in the general stores building of the Portsmouth navy yard. Other terms are substantially what the world expected and with one or perhaps two exceptions could probably be ascertained as basis of negotiation. They include the following:

The cession of the Russian leases to the Liatung peninsula, comprising Port Arthur and Dalny. The evacuation of the entire province of Manchuria, the retrocession to China of any privileges Russia may have in the province and the recognition by Russia of the principle of the "open door." The cession to Japan of the Chinese Eastern railroad below Harbin, the main line through Northern Manchuria to Vladivostok to remain Russian property. The recognition of the Japanese protectorate over Korea. The grant of fishing rights to Japan in the waters of the Siberian littoral northward from Vladivostok to the Behring sea. The relinquishment to Japan of the Russian warships interned in neutral ports. Finally, a limitation upon the naval strength of Russia in far eastern waters.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 12.—Russia's reply to the Japanese terms of peace was delivered by Mr. Witte to Baron Komura. The reply is written, there being two texts, one in French, the other in English. Upon the two crucial points, indemnity and the cession of the Island of Sakhallen, the reply is an absolute non possimus. Other points are accepted as basis for discussion while still others are accepted conditionally. The reply is rather long because in enumerating the conditions upon which discussion is admitted and those upon which consideration is declined, reasons and arguments are given. The Japanese plenipotentiaries are expected to ask for an immediate adjournment to examine and prepare this reply. Mr. Witte will probably intimate that the Russian plenipotentiaries expect the Japanese to display much expedition as they (the Russians) have shown in the preparation of their responses.

Silence and secrecy are their watchwords. But if the conditions as submitted constitute their last word hope of peace may be regarded as having disappeared if the feeling reflected in Russian circles is a true criterion. And that no substantial concessions on the main issues will be made is the belief in Russian and Japanese circles.

In the inner camps of both plenipotentiaries the deepest pessimism reigns. Mr. Witte, it is positively known, believes the prospects of an agreement are so remote as to be practically nil. He has no desire to prolong the agony and instead of fencing when the plenipotentiaries come together after the Japanese have had the opportunity to examine the reply, there is strong reason to believe he will not only welcome but will insist upon an immediate discussion of all the proposed bases. So pessimistic is he that he has already been talking to his colleagues of his plans when the rupture comes. Before sailing for home he contemplates a brief visit to Chicago.

That the Japanese terms, in so far as they touch the main points, will not be withdrawn or materially modified is the opinion of the most competent Japanese authority on the ground who will talk for publication, namely, Mr. Julio Kumpei Matsumato, a member of the Japanese parliament, who is here as a financial emissary of Japan.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 14.—No progress was made with the peace negotiations over Sunday. The session of the plenipotentiaries which was to have been held Sunday afternoon was postponed by mutual agreement out of reverence to the fact that it was the holy Sabbath which is universally observed in Russia as a day of rest. It would perhaps not be too much to say that the general feeling is more hopeful in spite of open predictions made by personages connected with both sides of the negotiations that before next Sunday the plenipotentiaries will reach an impasse where a rupture will become inevitable. This pessimistic view is based upon the fact that so far as known the two big barriers to an agreement—indemnity and Sakhalien—remain as high and insurmountable as ever.

The real struggle is only postponed. The main problems are no nearer solution than when the plenipotentiaries met.

Exports of Manufactures.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Statistics compiled by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor show that the exports of manufactures in the fiscal year just ended amounted to $543,62?,297, as against $452,415,921 in the preceding year.

To Investigate Chinese Boycott.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Minister Rockhill and the consular officers in China have been instructed to carefully look into every feature of the boycott of American goods in China and report to the state department.

Their First Cloud.

The young woman in the stern of the little boat had whispered softly the word "Yes."

"But stay right where you are," she added, hastily. "If you try to kiss me you'll upset the boat."

"How do you know?" hoarsely demanded Jack, a horrible suspicion already taking possession of him.—Chicago Tribune.

International.

"The agreement among Italy, Germany and Austria is called a dreibund, isn't it?"

"Yes."

"Well, what's the pact between France and Russia called?"

"A moribund, I suppose!"—N. O. Times-Democrat.

Darwin Refuted.

Father—Yes, my son; according to Darwin, our ancestors were monkeys.

Kindergarten Geoffrey—But, papa, I don't believe that. I shall be an ancestor myself some time, and I'm not a monkey.—Judge.

Gratitude Well Expressed.

Sault St. Marie, Mich., Aug 14th.—Mr. C. L. Smith, painter and decorator, whose home is at 306 Anna street, this city, makes the following statement:—"I was laid up with some kind of pains. Some said it was Lumbago, others Sciatica, and others again Rheumatism. A few of my friends suggested that it was lead poison, but whatever it was it gave me a great deal of pain, in fact, almost completely crippled me. I had to use two canes to walk about, and even then it was a very painful task.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I began the treatment. After I had used the first box I was able to throw away one of the canes and was considerably improved. The second box straightened me up so that I could go about free from pain without any assistance, and very soon after I was completely cured, well and happy, without a pain or an ache. Dodd's Kidney Pills seemed to go right to the spot in my case, and they will always have my greatest praise."

When a man sits at a girl's feet under a tree and plays a banjo to her, she thinks that is the way she would go on doing after they were married and had a dozen children.

To Destroy Slugs on Roses.

After much experimenting with insect powders, sprays, etc., I have learned from a florist a very simple and effective means of keeping rose bushes free from slugs. Use plenty of strong Ivory Soap suds around the roots and on the foliage. This will prevent insects and cause the plants to be perfectly healthy.

ELEANOR R. PARKER.

The apple may have caused man's first fall, but the banana-peel has been working over-time since.—Chicago Chronicle.

I am sure Piso's Cure for Consumption saved my life three years ago.—Mrs. Thos. Robbins, Norwich, N. Y., Feb. 17, 1900.

UNDERSTOOD THE FEELING

But the Business Instinct Rose Supreme Over His Sense of Sentiment.

"Yes," said the artistic-looking man, "I spent three months in Rome, and I never tired of looking at the ruins of the Coliseum. I could have gone out there every day."

"Ruins, eh!" queried one of the other passengers in the train.

"Ruins, sir, with a history. When that Coliseum was erected Rome was in her glory. She was the greatest power on earth. She dominated all Europe. When Rome spoke kings trembled. When Rome sent forth her armies, nations crumbled. All these things came to me as I stood there and looked, and I felt, sir—I felt—"

"Yes, I can imagine how you felt."

"I stood there, and my mind went back hundreds of years, and I felt—"

"I've felt that thing," broke in the other, "and you needn't try to describe it. Only last summer I went back to the home of my boyhood, and I stood there beside the old broken well where I used to drink from the bucket. Yes, I understand just how you felt; but when you got right to it did you happen to ask if there was any market there for cotton bats? We've got a lot on hand, and if there's any chance of selling them over in Rome I'll ship them there."

The artistic man gave him a look of mingled sorrow and disgust, pulled a newspaper from his pocket, and began reading the latest war news.

No Indication Yet.

"And are you going to make a musician of your boy?" asked the friend, as he patted the professor's baby on the cheek.

"I don't know yet," replied the musical man.

"Oh, no, of course you don't! I forgot, he hasn't any hair yet, has he?"—Yonkers Statesman.

HEART RIGHT

When He Quit Coffee.

Life Insurance Companies will not insure a man suffering from heart trouble. The reason is obvious.

This is a serious matter to the husband or father who is solicitous for the future of his dear ones. Often the heart trouble is caused by an unexpected thing, and can be corrected, if taken in time and properly treated. A man in Colorado writes:

"I was a great coffee drinker for many years, and was not aware of the injurious effects of the habit till I became a practical invalid, suffering from heart trouble, indigestion and nervousness to an extent that made me wretchedly miserable myself and a nuisance to those who witnessed my sufferings.

"I continued to drink Coffee, however, not suspecting that it was the cause of my ill-health, till, on applying for life insurance, I was rejected on account of the trouble with my heart. Then I became alarmed. I found that leaving off coffee helped me quickly, so I quit it altogether, and having been attracted by the advertisements of Postum Food Coffee, I began its use.

"The change in my condition was remarkable, and it was not long till I was completely cured. All my ailments vanished. My digestion was completely restored, my nervousness disappeared, and, most important of all, my heart steadied down and became normal, and on a second examination I was accepted by the life insurance Co. Quitting Coffee and using Postum worked the cure." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason, and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Well-

THE WIVES OF ESAU

PART II.

OUR BIBLE STORY by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher

(A Vision Between the Lines of God's Inspired Word.)

(Copyright, 1910, by J. H. Edson.)

Scripture Authority:—"And Esau was forty years old when he took to wife Judith the daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Bashemath the daughter of Elon the Hittite: which were a grief of mind unto Isaac and to Rebekah."—Gen. 26:34, 35.

ALL day long Esau had sought the opportunity of asking for the hand of Judith in marriage, but without avail for either Beeri's many duties took him away just when he was on the point of speaking, or else there were too many about them and the excitement and confusion attendant upon the celebration interfered. All day long the wierd music had sounded in his ears. He had shared in the feasting, he had watched the dancing, and every now and then had caught a glimpse of the fair daughter of Beeri as she circled with the other damsels about the great image, but the opportunity he wanted most eluded him, as though it would hold him long in doubt and give him time to weigh the step he was about to take. Circumstances were kind to him in that they were making it hard for him to take the misstep.

As he saw the people in ecstacy of their excitement about the praises of their gods and bring their offerings and lay them at the feet of the idol, he had time to think and contrast it with the worship of the true God of his fathers. The words: "Great is the god of the Hittites," rang in his ears—for priests and people chanted and shouted the words over and over again—and he had time to recall the words of his father as he had spoken of the God-Jehovah, the God of heaven and earth. More than once his heart had smote him. More than once he had moved about uneasily trying to throw off the feeling of depression which came as a result of conscious violation of the faith and practices of his own people. Over and over again he had been troubled by the thought of what his parents would say. But his heart was rebellious and impatient. He would not listen to the voices speaking within. He resolutely thrust aside the promptings of his better self and declared that he could take the girl without taking her gods. He could have her and leave the heathenish practices of her people behind. But have her he would. Ah, how he quarrelled with himself that day. How he stifled and choked the better self into subjection.

Once while his host was standing at his side and the people in a frenzy were throwing themselves about the altar before the image, Beeri had exclaimed, enthusiastically:

"Is not that impressive?"

And he had nodded assent. And Beeri following up the point gained, asked:

"Have you anything to compare with it in your worship?"

To which he had replied: "Nothing," in a shame-faced sort of way, and thinking that after all the religion of his fathers was too narrow and unyielding and simple.

And late in the afternoon just as the sun was setting the music had stopped and a hush had fallen upon the gathering and then, obeying the example of the priests, all the people had thrown themselves prostrate with their faces towards the image. He had remained standing when he felt a slight pressure on his arm and looking down beheld the form of Judith standing there and motioning him to his knees.

"Come," she whispered, almost sternly, "do not let the wrath of the gods descend upon thee."

And without stopping to think and yielding to her pressure and example he had bowed with the others. But he did not care so much, because his thought was with her and he felt contented because she was at his side, but when he arose to his feet she had slipped away and was nowhere to be seen.

Moved by an impluse to search her out if possible, Esau started forward and almost ran into a party coming in the opposite direction.

"Hello, I have been looking for you," exclaimed the man.

Esau looked up and saw Elon standing before him, and the two girls, Judith and Bashemath, near him.

"And I was just starting out to look for you," he replied, pointing to the girls.

They looked up inquiringly, and Esau continued:

"Where is Beeri? I have been trying all day to get a chance to talk with him. But," he added, "what did you want to see me for?"

"We leave to-night, and I wanted to invite you to return home. Will you go?"

"Thou art kind, indeed, but I must be returning to my own people in the morning, for ere this I fear they are concerned over my long absence."

A relieved look came into the face of Judith, and she whispered something to her friend, while Esau and Elon continued in conversation.

That night after Chief Elon and his followers had taken their departure, Esau found the opportunity to ask Beeri for the hand of his daughter in marriage.

"Yes, on this one condition: That thou wilt take a second wife to thyself of the Hittites. The son of the rich Isaac should never be content with one wife."

"But Isaac, my father, has but one wife, why should Esau, his son, have more."

"It is the custom of the Hittites that the daughter of a chief shall not become the wife of a man who cannot afford more than one wife."

"But why a second wife of the Hittites?"

"So that the Hittites may be assured of their place in the tribe of Abraham and Isaac. Should thou marry wives from other nations the one wife of the Hittites might lose her influence and power, but with two there would be nothing to fear."

Esau paused and thought. What was this step leading him to?

"I agree," at last he said.

"Away so long and you return empty-handed," exclaimed Isaac, in disappointment, when Esau entered his tent after reaching home. "Is thy hand losing its cunning?"

"Nay, father, but it is a wife and not an antelope this time."

"A wife!" exclaimed Isaac, "what meanest thou?"

"I mean that a fair Hittite damsel is to become my wife."

"And how came you to be among the Hittes?" asked Rebekah, who came in at that moment and overheard Esau's last remark.

And while his parents listened with sinking hearts and darkening brows, he told the whole story.

"But, my son," remonstrated the father, "God has forbidden alliance with the heathen nations about. His blessing cannot follow you in such marriage."

"Oh, why need we be so narrow and bigoted? Are not the nations about us rich and powerful, and will not alliance with them strengthen the place of our family in the land?" Esau responded with much show of spirit.

"Yes, but future blessing is sacrificed for seeming present gain. As God forbade thy grandfather Abraham from taking for his son Isaac a wife of the people about him, so he forbids Isaac to permit his sons to marry into the nations about. If thou wouldst marry go to Haran and there pick thee a wife from among thine own people."

"Oh, Esau," cried the weeping mother, "bring not this sorrow upon us. Listen to thy father; do!"

Esau felt annoyed by the storm of protest, and angrily paced back and forth. He could not see why they felt so. He thought the women of the nations about them were as good as any he might find at Haran. He even went so far in his blind unreason as to declare that the nations about them had as good right to have their gods and worship as did they, and as far as he knew they were as apt to be right as were the children of Abraham and Isaac.

"My son, thou shalt not talk so. Leave at once and consider thy words," cried Isaac, now thoroughly aroused.

And Esau arose and departed to his own tent in anger.

The days slipped by and the time drew near when he was to return to claim his bride. He had lived in hopes that his parents would relent and accompany him, for Chief Beeri was planning to make a very great wedding and was proudly counting on the presence of Esau's family.

"And will you not go with me?" said Esau, a dark frown settling upon his face.

"We cannot, my son, and be faithful to our God," replied Isaac, with trembling voice, while tears stood in his eyes, for it was a great grief to him that his favorite son should thus disregard the direct command of God.

"Then I go alone," Esau replied, angrily. And he strode off, while the sorrowing parents watched him out of sight.

"Esau," said his wife Judith, some months after their marriage and return to Beersheba, where the great flocks and herds of Isaac and his sons fed, "I am weary of this strife with thy mother. I am cut off from mine own people and yours refuse to receive me. Let us return to the Hittite country."

"Nay," replied Esau, startled by the woman's unexpected request, "I cannot go while my father lives. I must remain with him that I may receive the eldest son's portion."

"Then bring some of my people here. Oh, that Bashemath were with me. Dost thou remember thy promise to my father? Go and redeem it. Bashemath will come, and the household of Esau will be greater than the household of thy father."

"But if my father objected to one wife of the Hittites, what will he say of two?" asked Esau, anxiously, fearing to stir up more trouble in his family.

"Go and the blessing of the gods of the Hittites will be with thee. As for the god which thy father worships, I know him not."

Thus it came to pass that Esau returned to the land of the Hittites and took Bashemath, the daughter of Elon, to be his wife and brought her back to his father's country, and though there was no welcome for her among his own people, Judith was content, and the two Hittite women sought how they might turn the heart of Esau entirely away from the God of his fathers and follow only the gods which the Hittites worshipped. And thus it transpired that instead of Esau winning his wives to the faith of the God of Abraham and Isaac, they turned his heart after strange gods and made him an alien to the blessing of God, and it became a great and increasing grief to the mind of both Isaac and Rebekah.

SELF-REFORMING TARIFF.

Under Republican Manipulation the Tax on Imports "Tinkers" Itself.

We hear a good deal said these days about the supposed necessity of raising or lowering certain duties, and many people, we fear, have the impression that the only way in which duties can be raised is by a change in the law. Yet as a matter of fact, the duties on carpet wools have been almost doubled within a short time. The law provides that the duty shall be four cents a pound on all carpet wools not costing in excess of 12 cents a pound and seven cents a pound on all carpet wools costing more than 12 cents a pound. Up to a comparatively recent date the prevailing foreign price has been under 12 cents, and so the duty was four cents. But lately the foreign price has been lifted above 12 cents, and so the duty went up with it to seven cents. And it is this latter tax that our carpet makers are now compelled to pay, or an increase from 33 per cent. ad valorem to 58 per cent. And this without a congressional action.

In other words, says the Indianapolis News, congress arranged matters so that the tariff "tinkers" itself. From 33 per cent. to 58 per cent. is a big jump, and one that can not but operate injuriously to our manufacturers. We are exporting fewer carpets than we exported ten years ago under the free wool regime, while we are importing both more carpets and more carpet wools. Our people must have carpets, and our manufacturers must have this foreign wool. But they can get neither without paying a tax on carpet wools which, allowing for the shrinkage, probably amounts to 100 per cent. The manufacturers are not protected, for their foreign trade has fallen off by about 75 per cent.; imports of carpets have increased; and the increase in the importations of foreign wools shows that even the grower is not protected. Who is protected we do not pretend to know. But what we wished to do was to point out how the tariff, even if left alone, reforms itself upward. That is part of the game. In this case wool at eleven cents would pay four cents a pound, while wool at 12½ cents would pay seven cents a pound. The least change in the market would as it has done—almost double the tax on the people. And this is the sort of tax law that business is forced to adjust itself to. Carpet manufacturers can not tell a month in advance whether they shall have to pay a tax of 33 or 58 per cent. on raw wool. Such is the "stability" of a system which, we are told, must not be tampered with lest business conditions be disturbed. Business conditions are always subject to disturbance under such a law.

Of course the wool tariff will not be touched. Nor will any other schedule of the tariff in the near future. The instinct of the standpatters is perfectly sound. They know that "everything depends on something else," and that to remove or greatly reduce one exorbitant and foolish tax would lead to retallation which would make certain radical reductions all round. It is a conspiracy of grab—only it is working out so that the grabbers do not always get what they thought they were going to get. Much is lost through waste and friction, and there is always the danger that the grabbers may begin to grab from one another. But the tariff as a self-raiser is an interesting device.

Farmers Are the Sufferers.

The agricultural department is loaded up with incompetency. Secretary Wilson now admits that the June report of tobacco crop was badly astray. It estimated the acreage increased by 20 per cent. whereas the facts show that it was decreased by about that proportion. It did not need dishonesty to make these errors, the clerks did their sums wrong, that was all, such as making the product of 263x100 come out 263,000. An accumulation of such mistakes make a vast difference in the total. The unfortunate farmers and tobacco growers who contracted to sell their crop at a low price on the strength of the government estimates, must take courage for Secretary Wilson says it will not occur again—perhaps not, but Secretary Wilson is such a jolly optimist that it is hardly safe to trust him. Perhaps a congressional investigation may go to the bottom of the careless system that prevails in the department, but republican congressional investigations are noted for whitewashing.

——"It would be a crime for congress to touch the tariff at this time," is the declaration of Senator Dick, of Ohio. Without doubt it will be another crime in Senator Dick's eyes for congress to meddle with railroad rate legislation. Senator Dick was educated in the Hanna school of politics and looks upon all reforms as crimes, especially when it interferes with liberal contributions from the protected trust or railroad barons to the Ohio campaign fund. "The old flag and an appropriation" is the cry that appeals to Dick.

——The Wall street interests who have been managing the life insurance companies in conjunction with republican politicians seem to have been satisfied with a "rake off"—of about 41 per cent. Their modesty is a wonder to the country at large.

——The tariff is the greatest drawback to the prosperity of the Philippines," we are informed by Gen. Leonard Wood, who has just returned from our island possessions. Yet with this evidence and that of Secretary Taft a republican congress will probably refuse as it has before to apply the remedy.

THE DEATH LIST GROWS.

Twelve Persons Died of the Yellow Scourge in New Orleans Sunday.

New Orleans, Aug. 14.—Following is the official record up to 6 p. m. Sunday: New cases, 50; total cases, 963; deaths, 12; total, 154; new sub-foci, 14; total, 202.

The heavy increase in the number of cases which began four or five days ago is beginning to manifest itself in the death list, which can be expected to grow steadily for the next few days. The number of new cases Sunday seems small in comparison with Saturday's record, 105, but it is really 19 short, as that number of cases were turned in by an inspector just after the hour for closing the report. These will figure in Monday's report.

Among the cases Sunday is Louis Cueullu, jr., cashier of the People's bank, who resides far out on North Johnson street. Another case is Maurice Kenny, ex-councilman and ex-member of the legislature. Two of Kenny's daughters were stricken Saturday. Only five of the new foci are above Canal street.

Patterson, which is the largest center of infection outside of the city, reported three new cases Sunday and the first death.

A TERRIBLE CRASH.

Twelve Persons Killed and 25 Injured in a Railway Wreck.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 14.—A fast eastbound passenger train on the Nickel Plate road collided with a west-bound freight train at Kishman, O., near Vermillion, resulting in the death of 12 persons, while at least 25 others were injured, eight of whom will probably die. The wreck, according to the officials of the company, was caused by a misunderstanding of orders, or neglect to obey them on the part of the crew of the freight.

Aside from the engineer, the men killed on the passenger train were all riding in the smoking car at the head of the train and were mostly foreign laborers in the employ of the Standard Oil Co., on their way from Fort Seneca, O., to Brookfield, O., in charge of a foreman. Engineer C. C. Poole, of the passenger train, was killed at his post while trying to reach for the airbrake, after seeing the headlight of the freight train. His fireman, Haefner, saved himself by jumping.

The high speed of the passenger train threw its locomotive and first three coaches over on the engine of the freight train, telescoping the smoker and the car following. The forward cars of the freight train were splintered by fragments.

EXTRAORDINARY SESSION.

Congress May Not Be Called Together Next November.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Notwithstanding the more or less definite announcement which has emanated from various sources during the last few months, congress may not be called into extraordinary session next November. Indeed, the indications are now that no extraordinary session will be held this year. This statement is made on the authority of President Roosevelt himself. He has not decided the question definitely yet and probably will not reach a determination of it until he shall have returned to Washington the latter part of September. The chances of an extraordinary session appear, however, to be fading.

USED SPRING WATER.

The Battleship Kansas Launched at Camden, N. J.

Philadelphia, Aug. 14.—The battleship Kansas, the largest war vessel ever built in the east, was launched at the yard of the New York Shipbuilding Co., in Camden, N. J. The launching was witnessed by Gov. Hoch, of Kansas, whose daughter, Miss Anna Hoch, acted as sponsor for the ship. Along with the governor was a christening party of 30 Kansans. An unusual feature of the launching was the fact that the vessel was christened with spring water brought from Kansas by Gov. Hoch, instead of the customary bottle of champagne.

LIONS AT LARGE.

They Killed a Workman and Gorged Themselves on His Body.

Blackpool, Eng., Aug. 14.—Two lions, the property of the city, were found loose in the yard adjoining their cage, together with portions of the body of a workingman. It appears that the man on the previous night made the boast that he would enter the lions' cage. Evidently in an attempt to carry out this boast he opened the cage. The animals escaped, and killed him, gorging themselves on his body.

Minister Takahira Attends Church.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 14.—Minister Takahira, the Japanese minister, accompanied by Commander Takeshita, the naval attache of the Japanese legation at Washington, attended the evening service at the Christian church in Kittery, Me.

Sailed for Iloilo.

Manila, Aug. 14.—Secretary of War Taft, Miss Alice Roosevelt and party sailed on the United States army transport Logan for Iloilo. Gov. Gen. Wright, Maj. Gen. Corbin and all the insular commissioners except Commissioner Ide accompanied them.

Anti-Foreign Outbreak Feared.

Shanghai, Aug. 14.—Soo Chow reports that the anti-American boycott is assuming a political character. An anti-foreign outbreak is feared. Only the Northern Chinese authorities are sternly repressing the movement.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

NO POWDER IN CAMP.

Consequently No Salute Was Fired For Gov. Beckham.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 12.—In the presence of 5,000 people Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, accompanied by his staff, reviewed the Second Kentucky regiment. When the regimental band struck up "Dixie" the crowd cheered. The governor was tendered an ovation as he entered the grounds on a fine steed. As the ammunition for the Hotchkiss and Gatling guns failed to arrive the governor's salute was not fired. The ball for the governor, staff and regimental officers took place at the Park Pavilion. It was a society function, witnessed by hundreds of people. The governor and a part of his staff left for Frankfort after the ball. He will come again August 23, and remain until the 28th, to review the First and Third Kentucky regiments. At dinner Gov. Beckham and staff were guests of the hospital doctors. "Camp Yeiser" was attacked at 12 o'clock at night by cavalry and infantry, but only a few shots were fired by the attacking army, which departed on learning the strength of the army which they had charged. After the defense had been formed the general officers, Col. Williams and Gov. Beckham, walked through the lines.

BY CLARENCE H. MACKEY.

A Big Consignment of Horses Will Be Shipped Abroad.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 10.—George Parsons, representing Clarence H. Mackey, is in Kentucky for the purpose of buying a number of thoroughbred horses to be used as jumpers. He visited the Montrose farm of Maj. P. P. Johnston, president of the National Trotting association, who is a breeder of all classes of fine horses. Mr. Parsons proposes to purchase, while here, for an English customer, 20 head of trotting-bred mares and a stallion for exportation. The gentleman, whose name he withheld, is expected here next week to approve of the purchases. It is believed by some turfmen that this will be one of the largest consignments of trotting stock sent to one man in England in some years.

NEW CAPITOL.

The First Work on the Site Will Begin Monday.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 12.—The first work on the new state house under the contract let to the General Supply and Construction Co., will be done Monday, when the work of excavating for the concrete foundation will begin. The company will use every effort to complete the foundations before winter sets in.

The College Addition.

Barbourville, Ky., Aug. 12.—Work is under way on an addition to the administration building at Union college, to cost between $6,000 and $7,000. A heating and lighting plant, to cost $6,000, is also under construction. The $30,000 Speed hall is now complete and is being furnished.

Killed By a Train.

Paris, Ky., Aug. 10.—Raymond McKee, son of W. A. McKee, of this city, attempted to board a moving train at Loogootee, Ind., and was thrown under the wheels. One leg and one arm were severed, causing death in a few hours. The remains were brought here for interment.

Will Import Mares.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 10.—Information has been received here to the effect that Hon. Perry Belmont, who has been traveling in England, has purchased for importation to this country a number of thoroughbred broodmares to be bred to the famous race horse Ethelbert.

Temperance Victory in Harlan.

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 10.—Complete returns from the republican primary held in this county show that W. W. Lewis, cashier of the First State bank, of Harlan, was nominated for county judge by a plurality of over 500. Mr. Lewis was the temperance and good roads candidate.

Suits To Collect Back Taxes.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 11.—Revenue Agent Frank A. Lucas filed 16 suits for back taxes on property aggregating $350,000 in value. The largest suit is against John B. Trice, as administrator of the estate of Stephen B. Trice, claiming taxes for five years on $20,000 worth of property.

Killed By Her Brother.

Springfield, Ky., Aug. 12.—Miss Bessie Auberry, 17 years old, was accidentally shot and killed near here while her small brother was carelessly handling a pistol. The ball penetrated her brain.

Arrived at Williamstown.

Williamstown, Ky., Aug. 11.—Chief of Police Callahan, of Ludlow, arrived here with William Bailey, a fugitive, wanted here on the charge of killing Elmore Henry, at Corinth, Ky., last February. Bailey was captured at the Ludlow Lagoon.

John A. Lafferty Expires.

Cynthiana, Ky., Aug. 11.—John A. Lafferty, aged 74, died at his home at Breckinridge after a protracted illness. Mr. Lafferty was sheriff of the county for one term and was a member of Morgan's command.

JAIL STRONGLY GUARDED.

Mob Violence Is Feared at West Liberty, Morgan County.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Aug. 12.—There is still great excitement at West Liberty, Morgan county, over the assault on Lydia Phipps, the 15 year old daughter of Levi Phipps last week. The four men charged with the crime, Sam Maynard, Boone and Kelly Stacy and Wade Quicksall were brought before the county judge for examination. The jail is strongly guarded for fear of mob violence and the feeling is high against the men. Quicksall is a married man with a family. The girl will likely recover.

BANKS TO BE SUED.

They Have Not Paid Their Taxes on the Basis Fixed.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 11.—Attorney General Hays secured from the state auditor the list of the national banks that have not paid their taxes this year on the basis fixed by the state board of assessment, and will in the next few days file suits against them to recover the taxes and penalties. If the banks pay up, however, before the September term of the Franklin circuit court the suits will not be prosecuted.

PISTOL FIGHT.

Legislator Sam Black Shot and Killed By a Saloonkeeper.

Harrodsburg, Ky., Aug. 11.—Sam Black, a member of the legislature, Policeman William Britton and Walter Stolts, a saloonkeeper, engaged in a pistol fight on Main street. Black was shot through the head and killed instantly, Britton received a bullet through the jaw and Stolts was wounded in the abdomen. Both are in a dying condition. An old grudge is said to have been the cause of the trouble.

Charged With Assault.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 12.—The troubles of Lee Anderson, charged with setting fire to the large barn burned at Elmendorf farm Wednesday night, are coming thick and fast. Friday night he was arrested on a warrant sworn out by George S. Shanklin, charging him with a murderous assault on his son Shelby, the night the fire occurred.

Representative Dalton Injured.

Scottsville, Ky., Aug. 12.—Representative J. E. Dalton, of this place, met with a severe accident while overseeing some repair work at his stock yards in East Scottsville. He accidentally stepped upon a wire nail which entered the ball of the foot, penetrating through between the third and fourth toes.

Adm. Mead's Old Home.

Covington, Ky., Aug. 11.—Rr. Adm. William Whitman Mead, the naval officer in charge of arrangements for the meeting of the peace commissions at Portsmouth, N. H., is an old resident of Covington, having been appointed to the Annapolis academy from this city.

Declared To Be Insane.

Nicholasville, Ky., Aug. 11.—Frank Davis, aged about 45 years, was adjudged insane in the county court and ordered to be taken to the Eastern Kentucky insane asylum at Lexington. Davis has been confined to his bed for 15 years.

Kentucky Teachers Meet.

Middleburg, Ky., Aug. 10.—The teachers of Boyle, Lincoln and Garrard counties are holding a joint teachers' institute at Junction City this week. Over 200 teachers are in attendance. Prof. R. N. Roark, of Lexington, is conducting the meeting.

Edward C. Remme Dies Suddenly.

Newport, Ky., Aug. 10.—Edward C. Remme, one of Newport's most prominent citizens and former cashier of the German National bank, died suddenly at his home, West Third street, this city. His death was altogether unexpected.

Daring Attempt To Escape.

Covington, Ky., Aug. 12.—John Craig, 24, a workhouse convict, made a daring dash for liberty and after successfully dodging a fusillade of shots, plunged into the Licking river. His freedom was of short duration, however, for an hour later he was again in prison.

Old Resident Dead.

Newport, Ky., Aug. 12.—William Lund, a pioneer resident of this city, died at Speers hospital. Cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of death. The deceased was 75 years of age and one of the oldest members of Noah's Dove lodge of Odd Fellows.

Say They Were Counted Out.

Winchester, Ky., Aug. 11.—The democrats who say they were counted out on the last democratic primary held a meeting here and decided to put a full city ticket in the field. They also decided to run a newspaper during the campaign.

Robert B. Nelson Buried.

Newport, Ky., Aug. 11.—The remains of the late Robert B. Nelson were laid to rest in the little burying ground near the Methodist church in Alexandria. He was born in Alexandria in April, 1823, and lived there all his life.

BOONE CO. RECORDER

Wednesday, - - Aug., 16, 1905.

W. L. RIDDELL, - - - Publisher.

ERLANGER.

Miss Clara Tanner with a party of friends was visiting in town, Sunday.

Miss Leah Mitchell, of Ashland, is the guest of relatives here this week.

Miss Matie Tanner is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Dr. Rouse, of Burlington.

Mr. L. L. Edwards leaves for a visit with relatives at Williamstown, this week.

Mrs. Wm. Sarbeck and children have returned from a visit on Walnut Hills.

Miss Virginia Mitchell is visiting her grand-mother Mrs. Noah Clore, of Florence.

Misses Susie Ryle and Katie Wingate were shopping in Cincinnati, last Tuesday.

Miss Jeannette Harnist is having a pleasant stay with her sister, Mrs. John Maloney.

Mr. Albert Cates' saloon, was robbed Sunday night. Quite a sum of money was taken.

Miss Nina Alcote, of Lexington, is the pleasant guest of Miss Sara Madge Taliaferro.

Rev. Logan Vickers, of Ludlow, conducted the evening services at the Baptist church.

Mr. Warner Sayers is at home for a few weeks, after which he will return to college at Lexington.

Mrs. J. L. Lewis, of Ludlow, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Edgar Riggs, several days last week.

Mrs. Shirley Miller, daughter of Judge Fennely, died Saturday evening at her home on Lexington pike.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Withron, nee May Sims, are guests of Conductor Funey, of the Southern Road, at Lexington.

Mr. James Gillen and wife, and Mrs. Rose Finn, daughter, Miss May, were visiting friends in Wallace Place, Sunday.

Misses Ivy and Sophia Buckner and little neices, Alice and Susan Buckner, have returned from a visit with relatives in Lagrange.

Misses Ethel and Florence Marquis, of Florence, were visiting friends here and attended the dedication of the Elsmere Chapel.

PLEASANT VALLEY.

J. G. Vaughn is quite poorly.

Elbert Vaughn and family are the guest of his father.

Miss Kittie Tanner attended the Institute at Burlington, Thursday.

Miss Susie Ryle, of Bellevue, is the guest of her cousin Miss Katie Wingate.

The East Enterprise Fair.

The 54th annual of this popular old fair will be held on the beautiful and spacious grounds at East Enterprise, Indiana, September 5th 6th, 7th and 8th, 1905 and a big lot of money is being spent on it to make the fair one of the best. The special poultry show under the auspices of the poultry clubs of Vevay and Warsaw, Ky., will be held Thursday, Sept. 7th, and it will be worth seeing. $740.00 will be expended in the horse races; $175.00 pacing race, $175.00 trotting race $100 00 running race. Among the special features will be "Fun at the Mill." An old fashioned Dutch grist mill is erected on the ground, and two acrobats who are also funny actors make a lot of fun by ludicrous positions jumping out the windows, etc. "From Horn to Horn" is a mid air flight by the wonderful Melville, who was the drawing card at Barnum & Bailey's great circus. This act alone is worth the 25 cents price of admission to the fair, which is the only charge made. Come Thursday. Send for premium list to Scott Thompson, Secretary, Rising Sun, Indiana, or D. B. Wallace, Warsaw, Ky.

Circuit Court.

The August term of the Boone Circuit Court convened last Monday with Judge John M. Lassing on the bench, and the other court officials at their posts of duty. The grand jury was organized of the following gentlemen:

Elijah Parker, foreman; Malchus Souther, Owen Allen, Ben H. Berkshire, Lystra Smith, L. H. Kelly, Henry Clore, Owen Blankanbeker, B. C. Stephens, T. G. Willis, Geo. L. Smith, E. K. Stephens.

The following attorneys are attending court: Hon. John S. Gaunt, J. C. Clore, J. G. Tomlin Jno. L. Vest, F. E. Curley, T. J. McNeal, Commonwealth's Attorney, F. C. Greene.

A fine of $200 was imposed on the North Kentucky Agricultural Association for suffering gambling on its fair grounds at Florence at the 1904 fair.

The petit juries were empaneled Tuesday morning and are composed of the following gentlemen:

Jury No. 1.—Lewis Clegg, Ab. W. Gaines, N. W. Carpenter, J. W. Williams, E. L. Rouse, Ed Clegg, Wm. White, Jonas Stevens, Will Clore, Ed Botts, Jas. Brown, J. G. Jones.

Jury No. 2.—Jas. D. Petitt, J. L. Kite, R. O. Rouse, H. F. Utz, Hubert Conner, Marcus Ryle, R. K. Aylor, Ed Farrell, C. B. Mason, G. W. Anderson, R. W. Rouse, Ben Hensley.

The grand jury returned two indictments against Geo. Richey, one for murder and one for manslaughter.

A. E. Beemon was adjudged of unsound mind yesterday, and was sent to the asylum at Lakelnad.

A $40 cow belonging to W. C. Weaver, died of milk fever one day last week.

C. H. Acra, of Belleview, has been having good success pushing the RECORDER'S combination offer.

Puts an End to It,

A grievous wail oftimes comes as a result of unbearable pain from overtaxed organs, Dizziness, Backache, Liver complaint and Constipation. But thanks to Dr King's New Life Pills they put an end to it all. They are gentle but thorough. Try them. Only 25c. Guaranteed by all Drug Stores.

PT. PLEASANT.

Aug. 1.—Miss Minta Robinson, of Ludlow, is visiting relatives here.

Mr. John Dolwick and sister, Miss Eva spent Sunday in Columbus, O.

Miss Virginia Riggs spent several days this week with Miss Carrie Ritter in Ludlow.

Miss Lucile Rucker started, Friday, for California, where she will attend the Frisco convention.

The church here will give a watermelon and ice cream social in the church yard, August 26. All are invited.

The infant daughter of Louis Dolwick, of Ashtabula, O., who has been visiting his parents here was very sick, but improved sufficiently to be taken home.

o o o

IDLEWID.

Aug. 14.—The first melons of the season appeared here today.

Rev. Early's sick we are glad to report better.

C. A. Gaines is in Ludlow receiving medical treatment.

Mrs. James T. Gaines entertained with a dinner, last Saturday.

We had the hardest rain this morning we have had this month.

Dr. Marcus Randall, of Louisville, is a guest of Boone county relatives.

Thomas Whitaker bought two new pleasure vehicles from Bradford Bros., of Florence.

Willie, son of Rev. O. M. Huey, of Stanford, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Bert Gaines.

T. E. Randall has been taking care of the Lawrenceburg market with produce off of his farm.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Riley are the only Boone county people attending the Portland, Oregon, fair.

Mrs. Burl Conner, of Union, was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John Stephens, of Bullittsville, last Saturday.

J. T. Gaines and other relatives met Edwin Gaines and wife at Chester Davis' in Ludlow, a few days ago.

J. T. Gaines and wife, and Mrs. E. V. Gaines and daughter, of Louisville, were guest of your correspondent last Wednesday.

Sorry to know that we are to lose our excellent neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Chambers, the farm on which they live having been sold.

Six friends from over on the Miami river were guests of Thomas Whitaker and wife, Sunday, and went to hear Rev. Currey preach. Rev. Currey was their guest also.

Winston Coffman and wife, of Covington, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gaines. They drove down to see the far famed Idlewid hamlet, which has much renown for nothing.

Mrs. N. S. Walton entertained in a most hospitable manner, all the Saratoga friends, last Tuesday, and Mrs. W. L. Cropper did likewise the next day. Among the friends was Mrs. F. P. Walton, of Covington.

For Sale—Four or five Rhode Island Red cockerels. Apply to J. C. Revill, Burlington.

With her advantages of climate and superb waters, the state of Kentucky should stand second to none in its magnificent fish resources. Its ponds, lakes, creeks and rivers should literally teem with the choicest of fish.

In addition to its natural advantages, the fact that the government of the United States engages to stock all bodies of water absolutely free of charge should attract public attention. Just why it has not already had this effect is hard to explain.

There is no more wholesome, toothsome, article of food than a properly prepared fish. It graces the table of a King and is a meal never slighted in the cottage. It is within the reach of the highest and lowest.

Every citizen who owns a pond or a lake, or who has sufficient interest in the matter to desire to stock any stream with the finest game fish, can procure them from the United States government absolutely free of charge. A letter to the Congressman of the district in which the applicant lives, asking for a supply of government fish, will be followed in due course of time by the fish themselves. The government sends out a special fish car loaded with stock-fish for distribution, and all that it asks is that the car be met at the nearest railroad station by those who have asked for the fish. If those who request the fish are in doubt as to the best varieties suitable for their waters, the government will decide, through its experts, this question for them. It is a matter in which the public has all to gain and nothing to lose.

Within a few years every body of water in Kentucky capable of sustaining fish life should literally teem with a magnificent food supply.

Government distribution of fish begins in the summer months and lasts until the early fall. Applications for stock-fish are received at any time, and filled in their order. Every variety of game fish known, suitable for the waters of the various sections of the country, and to the particular characteristic of the streams and waters to be stocked, are furnished by the United states authorities, on demand.

The Times knows of no undertaking, so easily carried out, that would be of more real benefit to everybody than this. The government stands ready to do its part for the mere asking. A letter from the applicant, endorsed by the congressman, is all that is necessary.

Why not stock the waters of Kentucky with the finest fish in the world?—Glasgow Times.

Salvation is more than a sense of satisfaction with ourselves.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

Julia F. West, Admrx, of E. S. West, deceased, pltf. vs Equity. Consolidated cases, Nos. 2448 & 2449. R. K. West &c., defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the April term thereof, 1905, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public sale on Monday, the 4th day of Sept., 1905, at one o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being county court day, upon a credit of 6 and 12 months, the following described property to-wit.

Lying and being in Boone county, Ky., on the waters of Mud Lick and South Fork creeks, and bounded thus. Beginning at a Red Oak stump and Haw bush near Bob's lick, a corner with J. H. Slater; thence n 2½ e 72 poles to a stake, Slater's corner in Mrs. Sarah E. Robert's line; thence n 89½ w 225½ poles to a Beech tree, a corner with W. G. Black in G. M. Moore's line; thence s 1½ w 142 poles to a White Oak tree, Mathew Gordon's corner; thence with his line s 32½ e 14½ poles to a stone; thence s 19½ e 69 3-5 poles to a stone, Gordon's corner, thence n 81½ e 91 poles to a stone, a with William Brown; with his line s 1½ w 12 2 5 poles to a Walnut stump and stone; thence n 89½ e 62 3 5 poles to Brown's line in the Louisville road opposite a stone on the west side; thence n 1½ e 12 3-5 poles to Jesse Wilson's corner in said road, thence s 69 e 60 2-5 poles to a White Ash stump and stone, Wilson's corner in a line of Sam'l Moore's heirs; thence n 1 e 88½ poles to a stone, corner with said heirs; thence s 87½ e 18½ poles to a stone, a corner with Add Miller; thence n 3½ e 38 3-5 poles to a stone, Miller's corner on the upper side of the aforesaid road; thence n 86½ w 42½ poles to the beginning, containing (330 a, 1 r, 12 p) three hundred and thirty acres, one rood and 12 poles.

There is excepted out of the above boundary the following described tract, which was conveyed to James and Annie Allen by deed of date 11th day of July, 1901, and bounded thus: Lying and being in Boone county, Ky., on the east side of the Beaver Lick and South Fork Turnpike road, beginning at a stone north of Bob's Lick and running thence n 2½ e 75 feet to the center of said pike near the bridge; thence with said pike s 79½ w 121 feet, s 15¾ w 200 feet. s 40½ w 369 feet, s 31½ w 328 feet to a point on west side of pike, near barn, s 25½ e 589 feet. s 6½ w 480 feet. s 80½ w 390 feet, s 17½ w 164 feet, s 2 w 250 feet to a point in the center of the pike, a corner with the Jessie Wilson tract; thence with Wilson's line s 89 e 997 feet to a White Oak stump and stone, Wilson's corner in a line of said Moore's heirs; thence n 1 e 1427 feet; thence s 87½ e 305 feet to a stone, corner with Add Miller; thence n 3½ e 967 feet to a stone, Miller's corner on the upper side of the aforesaid road; thence n 87½ w 701 feet to the beginning, containing 51.1) acres, and being same conveyed by E. S. West and wife, Julia F. West, by deed recorded in deed book 45, page 479, Burlington records

(Julia F. West, widow of E. S. West, consents that the above described land may be sold free from her claim to dower therein, and same will be sold free from her dower)

(If, after selling enough of said land to play all claims, costs and allowances in suit No. 2449, there should be a remainder, I will then offer the undivided ½ interest of R. K. West in said remainder, or enough thereof to make $3,108.00, debt, interest and costs in suit No. 2448.)

Or sufficient thereof to produce the sums of money so ordered to be made. For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Amount to be made by sale, $6289.05

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C. C.

Salvage Wrecking Contractors

R. E. BALSLY & CO.,

All kinds of New and Second-Hand Building Material on hand.

BLINDS, DOORS, WINDOW FRAMES and SASHES, BRICK and STONE of all kinds, STONE and IRON FRONTS.

Office and Yards—PLUM & WATER STS.

Phone, Main 4092 X. CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Prompt Attention Given to all Orders.

"Always Reliable."

W. N. HIND & CO.

Carpets, Furniture, Stoves,

210-12 W. Fifth Street,

Cincinnati, - Ohio.

Subscribe for the Recorder

Notice to Taxpayers.

The Taxpayers of Boone County are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the following places to collect 1905 taxes:

Florence, September 14 and October 12.
Verona, September 15, and October 13.
Walton September 16, and October 14.
Petersburg, Sept. 18 and October 16.
Union, September 19, and October 17.
Bellevue, Sept. 20, and October 18.
Big Bone, Sept. 21, and October 19.
Rabbit Hash, Sept. 22, and October 20.
Bullittsville, Sept. 23, and October 21.
Constance, Sept. 25, and October 23.
Beaver Lick, Sept. 26, and October 24.
Gunpowder, October 25.
Richwood, October 26.
Hebron, October 27.

I must settle with the State and County, December 1st, 1905, and to save Penalty and Cost of Advertising your property, I would advise you to pay your Taxes before December 1st. This will be all the notice you will have, and if your property is Advertised, don't think hard of me. I will Commence Advertising January 1st, 1906, and will continue until all Taxes for State and County are Collected. Boys, Remember your Poll Tax and send it in.

R. S. ALPHIN,
Sheriff Boone County, Kentucky.

H. VON LEHMEN,

—HAND-MADE—

Pleasure Wagons & Buggies,

ALSO SECOND HAND

PHAETONS, PLEASURE WAGONS AND SURREYS,

CHEAP.

No. 152 Pike Street,

COVINGTON, - KY.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

DR. T. B. CASTLEMAN,

DENTIST, of Latonia, Ky.

Will be at Burlington on Mondays and Florence on Tuesdays, remainder of the time at my home over Weatherford's Drug Store. My work is all guaranteed to give satisfaction.

PRICES REASONABLE.

Extracting Painless. For reference almost anybody in Boone county.

J. B. Rouse. C. J. Craven.

NEW FIRM

OUR STOCK OF

—NICE, FRESH—

Groceries!

is renewed every week.

We don't pretend to sell away below everybody else, but you will find our prices right.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

taken at the highest market price in exchange for goods.

ROUSE & CRAVEN,

Burlington, Ky.

Notice to Creditors.

Persons indebted to the estate of John Rowland, deceased, must come forward and settle the same, and those having claims against said estate must present them to the undersigned proven according to law.

N. E. RIDDELL, Admr.

F. P. Walton

Successor to PIPER & WALTON,

Merchant Tailor,

142 East Fourth St.,

Cincinnati, - Ohio.

Having purchased the interest of W. E. Piper in the firm of Piper & Walton, I will continue business at the old stand. I solicit a continuance of the past liberal patronage by the friends of the old firm.

Mr. Drexillius has charge of the cutting department, and fit and quality of material are guaranteed in every instance.

Fall and Winter Patterns

are now being received, and you are invited to call and see them and learn the prices. All the latest patterns in stock.

F. P. WALTON,

142 East Fourth St.,

CINCINNATI, - OHIO.

Deposits Earning Interest.

THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK & TRUST COMPANY, Inc.

N. E. Cor. Sixth St. and Madison Avenue,

COVINGTON, KY.

Receives deposits of money subject to withdrawal after a specified time, or subject to check without notice,

ALLOWING INTEREST ON ALL DAILY BALANCES.

Interest is credited semi-annually on the first days of January and July and when the same is not withdrawn it is added to the principal AND DRAWS INTEREST.

It is not necessary to call in person to open an account, as all communications by mail receive prompt attention.

In its several departments, THE COVINGTON SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

Acts as Agent: Collects Rents and Renders Accounts as desired; Loans Money on Approved Security; Rents Safe Deposit Boxes; Administers Estates and Acts as Guardian, Trustees, etc; Attends carefully to Trust Estates of Widows, Minors, Etc.

ALL TRANSACTIONS CONFIDENTIAL.

CAPITAL STOCK, $100.000.

Stockholders' Liability, $100.000.

JNO. P. ERNST, President. JOHN A. SIMPSON, Vice-President
C. W. SIMRALL, Sec'y & Treas.

Long Distance Telephone, South 214.

J. G. BENTLER & SON,

Lexington Pike, ERLANGER, KY.

Practical Horseshoeing, General Blacksmithing and Wagon Repairing of all kinds,

All kinds of Tool Grinding. - Also Bicycle Repairing.

Grinding of all Kinds to Order.

Hay and Grain,

AND ALL KINDS OF MILL FEED,

By Retail or Car Load. Call and Learn Our Prices.

Phone, South 1054 R. call 5.

GEO. J. HELLMAN. JOHN B. BRINKER.

Hellman Lumber & Manufacturing Co.

Successors to Clemens Hellman.

LUMBER DEALERS,

Manufacturers of

Sash, Doors, Blinds and General Millwork.

White and Yellow Pine, Poplar, Oak, Red Cedar, Washington Red Cedar Shingles. Porches, Frames, Mouldings., Etc.

COUNTRY TRADE A SPECIALTY.

Office and Planing Mill:—165 W. 12th St., Cor. Fisk, 'Phone S. 122

H. Quick, Hebron, Ky., Special Agt. COVINGTON, KY.

"A SQUARE DEAL."

THIS famous phrase is the one on which we have built our reputation; only we have called it "BUSINESS HONESTY AND INTEGRITY." We believe in the square deal to every one, and we live up to it. If we said everything we would like to say about our Clothing it might sound like gross exageration.

We will say, however, to any man who is looking for CLOTHING that we give you the Style, Quality Fit, Workmanship

—WE HAVE A NICE LINE OF—

SPRING AND SUMMER SUITS

—BROKEN SIZES. WE SELL—

Men's $7.50 Suits.....now $5.00
Men's $10.00 Suits.....now $7.50
Men's $12.50 Suits.....now $10.00

Boys' and Children's Suits we have reduced accordingly. Men's pants the most select line—$1.00 to $5.00.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET,

Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

A. W. SMITH'S

PHARMACY,

WALTON, - - KY.

See our Crepe Paper Novelties. Dennison's Lunch Sets.

12 Doilies, 12 Knapkins, Table Cloth, 2 yards, 25c

Drink our Delicious Soda Water.

Our Ice Cream is superior. Our Candy is the very best.

High Grade Cigars and Tobacco.

